WORK ORDER

MICROFILM DEPARTMENT

SAWYER UNIVERSITY LIBRARY

Special Collections
in Stanford University Library

5-17-84

ALABAMA NASCAR Auto Directional and Services, Inc.
one reel, 16mm

CHILTON CO. GAZETTE - Thorsby, AL, Chilton Co.
Ap 23-D 31, 1897 280

CHILTON CO. COURIER - Clanton, AL, Chilton Co.
Ja 5-D 14, 1877 112

THE BANNER - Clanton, AL, Chilton Co.
Je-D, 1893; Ap 24-D 27, 1894; Ja 3-Je 20, 1895;
J -D, 1906-1911; Ja 4-Mr 21, 1912

Return to Betty Collins

Photographic reproductions are made by the Stanford University Library only for the benefit of the applicant. Unless the material is in the public domain, it may not be reproduced or distributed in whole or in part and no part of it may be quoted by the applicant except as shown below without the permission of the copyright owner. The applicant assumes all responsibility for any infringement of copyright in the material supplied, whether it be done at the time of copying the material or in the subsequent use of them.

The applicant agrees to make proper acknowledgment to the publication from which the photocopy was made and to the Stanford University Library in the case of manuscript material in its collections. He further agrees to secure permission from the Library in advance to publish any part of such manuscript material.

Microforming Xerox Positive Prints Photo Copies

No. M

Microphographed
by

SAMFORD · UNIVERSITY
DEO ET DOCTRINAE
1842

Harwell Goodwin Davis Library
Samford University
Birmingham, Alabama

Microphotographed
by

SAMFORD UNIVERSITY
DEO ET DOCTRINAE
1842

Harwell Goodwin Davis Library
Samford University
Birmingham, Alabama

ALABAMA NEWSPAPERS

THE BANNER

CLANTON, AL, CHILTON CO.
JA-D 1893; MR 24-D 27, 1894;
JA 6-JE 20, 1895; JA-D, 1896-
1911; JA 4-MR 21, 1912

ALABAMA NEWSPAPERS

THE BANNER

CLANTON, AL, CHILTON CO.

1901

BOUND VOLUMES
DIFFICULT TO FILM PROPERLY

ALL ISSUES NOT AVAILABLE

ORIGINALS ARE DEFECTIVE

Clanton, AL

1901

1898	1899	1900	1901	1902
J 1 8 15 22 29	J 1 8 15 22 29	J 1 8 15 22 29	J 5 12 19 26	J 3 10 17 24 31
F 5 12 19 26	F 2 9 16 23	F 5 12 19 26	F 2 9 16 23	F 7 14 21 28
M 5 12 19 26	M 2 9 16 23 30	M 5 12 19 26	M 2 9 16 23 30	M 7 14 21 28
A 2 9 16 23 30	A 6 13 20 27	A 2 9 16 23 30	A 6 13 20 27	A 4 11 18 25
My 7 14 21 28	My 4 11 18 25	My 7 14 21 28	My 4 11 18 25	My 2 9 16 23 30
Je 4 11 18 25	Je 1 8 15 22 29	Je 4 11 18 25	Je 1 8 15 22 29	Je 6 13 20 27
Jl 2 9 16 23 30	Jl 6 13 20 27	Jl 2 9 16 23 30	Jl 4 11 18 25	Jl 4 11 18 25
Ag 6 13 20 27	Ag 3 10 17 24 31	Ag 6 13 20 27	Ag 1 8 15 22 29	Ag 1 8 15 22 29
S 3 10 17 24	S 7 14 21 28	S 3 10 17 24	S 5 12 19 26	S 2 9 16 23 30
O 1 8 15 22 29	O 5 12 19 26	O 1 8 15 22 29	O 3 10 17 24 31	O 7 14 21 28
N 5 12 19 26	N 2 9 16 23 30	N 5 12 19 26	N 7 14 21 28	N 4 11 18 25
D 3 10 17 24 31	D 7 14 21 28	D 3 10 17 24 31	D 5 12 19 26	D 2 9 16 23 30

Nice Co. Sig.

1903	1904	1905	1906	1907
J 4 11 18 25	J 2 9 16 23 30	J 7 14 21 28	J 4 11 18 25	J 2 9 16 23 30
F 1 8 15 22 29	F 6 13 20 27	F 4 11 18 25	F 1 8 15 22 29	F 6 13 20 27
M 7 14 21 28	M 5 12 19 26	M 4 11 18 25	M 1 8 15 22 29	M 6 13 20 27
A 4 11 18 25	A 2 9 16 23 30	A 1 8 15 22 29	A 5 12 19 26	A 3 10 17 24
My 2 9 16 23 30	My 7 14 21 28	My 6 13 20 27	My 3 10 17 24 31	My 1 8 15 22 29
Je 6 13 20 27	Je 4 11 18 25	Je 3 10 17 24	Je 7 14 21 28	Je 5 12 19 26
Jl 4 11 18 25	Jl 2 9 16 23 30	Jl 1 8 15 22 29	Jl 5 12 19 26	Jl 3 10 17 24 31
Ag 1 8 15 22 29	Ag 6 13 20 27	Ag 5 12 19 26	Ag 2 9 16 23 30	Ag 7 14 21 28
S 5 12 19 26	S 3 10 17 24	S 2 9 16 23 30	S 6 13 20 27	S 4 11 18 25
O 3 10 17 24 31	O 1 8 15 22 29	O 7 14 21 28	O 4 11 18 25	O 2 9 16 23 30
N 7 14 21 28	N 5 12 19 26	N 4 11 18 25	N 1 8 15 22 29	N 6 13 20 27
D 5 12 19 26	D 3 10 17 24 31	D 2 9 16 23 30	D 6 13 20 27	D 4 11 18 25

Circuit Clerk

THE BANNER.

LET THE PEOPLE RULE.

VOL. IX CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY JANUARY 3, 1901 NO. 11

$200 REWARD.

The above reward will be paid to any person or persons for the arrest and conviction of the parties who broke into the Court House and blew open the county safe at Clanton, Ala., on Sunday night, Nov. 25, 1900.

S. M. ADAMS,
Judge of Probate
Clanton, Ala.

ELECTION NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that an election will be held in the Town of Clanton on Monday, January 14th, 1901, for the election of a Mayor and four Councilmen for the Town of Clanton.

I. P. VANDERVOOR, Mayor.
A. C. SMITH, Clerk.

Mass Meeting Beat 8

Stanton, Dec. 26, 1900

A mass meeting of the people of Beat 8, Chilton county, is called to meet at Stanton, on Tuesdy, January 8, 1901, to consider the Stock, Road and Whiskey Laws proposed for our county, an to elect delegates to the mass meeting at Clanton, Jan. 12, 1901.

W. J. RUDDICK.
J. F. JOHNSON.

Mass Meeting Beat 2

A mass meeting is called for beat 2, Friday the 11th, at one o'clock, at Jemison to discuss Sock Law, Road Law and Prohibition Law of Chilton. Let everybod that can, come and let us consier the important measures for our county, and send delegates to Clanton next day.

L. H. REYNOLDS,
C. L. SANGSTON
JOHN JOHN.

TERRIBLE ACCIDENT.

On Monday last Dr. I. B. Adams, a son of Judge S. M. Adams, had the terrible misfortune of being run over by a street car at San Antonio, Texas, where he has been residing for the benefit of his health. Our information is meagre but we understand both legs had to be amputated. Judge Adams left on Tuesday night and sent a telegram this morning saying his son was doing well. We deeply sympathize, with the family in this misfortune.

MARRIED.

On December 26, at the residence of the bride's father near Coopers, Mr. H. A. Harris and Miss Alice Elland were joined in the holy bonds of matrimony, Rev. F. M. Woods officiating. We wish this popular young couple a long and happy life together.

At the residence of Mr. G. W. Wilson, father of the bride, on December 30, Mr. A. F. Mims and Miss A. E. Wilson were happily married, J. J. McDowell J. P., performing the ceremony. We join their many friends in wishing them many years of wedded bliss.

Mr. John C. Gaylor and Miss Lizzie Lodge were married at the residence of the bride at Lomax on January 2, E. B. Deason J. P., performing the ceremony. We wish the happy couple a full measure of domestic felicity.

DR. A. J. MASSEY

the up to date and hustling Dentist, who is well known and popular, will be at Stanton from 7th of January to 12th, 1901. Come promptly, you may never have a better opportunity to have good dental work done.

A Prominent Chicago Woman Speaks.

Prof. Roxa Tyler, of Chicago, Vice-President Illinois Woman's Alliance, in speaking of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, says: "I suffered with a severe cold this winter which threatened to run into pneumonia. I tried different remedies but I seemed to grow worse and the medicine upset my stomach. A friend advised me to try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and I found it was pleasant to take and it relieved me at once. I am now entirely recovered, saved a doctor's bill, time and suffering, and I will never be without this splendid medicine again." For sale by Clanton Drug Co and D. I Deramus, Verbena.

CORRESPONDENCE.

[We are willing to publish our subscribers views at any time, but it must be distinctly understood we do not hold ourselves responsible for these opinions.—Editor.]

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY

Take Laxative Bromo-Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. E. W. Grove's signature is on each box. 25c.

Burwell, Dec. 31, 1900

Editor Banner. Please allow me space in your paper to express my opinion on the stock law. I notice that some of our monied men, who are able to buy big herds of cattle, and furnish pastures for them, are coming down in very broad terms on the poor farmer who is scarcely able to furnish food for his family to subsist upon.

There is but one condition, (and a very poor one it is) in which stock law can benefit the people. If there would be a provision in the law, that the landlord should furnish the renter with a pasture free, it would then be a little benefit to a certain class of people. But if such provision was to be made, it would knock speculation in the head, and that is the chief aim of the propogators of the law. Laws of this nature, should always be made to benefit the largest number of people. It has always been the case that the monied men are working after gain. If they can force the stock law upon the poor class of people, and make a big speculation off the farmer, by either forcing him to sell his stock, or rent a pasture from him, who blames them for it? Just visit the stock law region, and see the poverty stricken cows and horses who could turn over on their backs and saw the roots in two, and you will not want any law.

Those people are like the man going around hunting a job, praying to God he would not get any. They are always going around howling to the poor man to get out of debt, and, at the same time praying to God that they might not, and they think if they can get the stock law, their prayer is surely answered. No, we don't need any such thing and more than that, I don't believe we will have it. Let them howl, Bill Arp says it is healthy. They say it looks like we need stock law or better fences, like that is any of their business. Low fences ought not to trouble them. What will be good for one will not be good for all. You are sadly mistaken when you say that. Perhaps it would be good for you to take a dose of oil to night, and yet it might kill one of your neighbors. So it is with the stock law. It may benefit you five dollars while it would injure your neighbor $1,000.00. Lets have no stock law if you please.

J. E. GOSS.

Stops the Cough and Works off the Cold.

Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets cure a cold in one day. No Cure, No Pay. Price 25 cents.

Verbena, Dec. 22, 1900

Editor Banner. With regard to stock law, I notice that the discussion is being conducted on one side, in the same javaricious vindictive spirit which has characterized the politics of this county for a number of years, branding land owners with tyranny and oppression, hence the continuous confusion. Why not discuss these things in a neighborly, friendly spirit? There are two sides to the stock law question as there are to most of problems. Some men who are accustomdd to living in a stock law country, like it, some oppose it. I know some renters who favor it. I think there are some good men in Chilton county who own farms. It is admitted that some want to domineer, but I think they are the exception, and not the rule. All this slang about farmers wanting to force tenants to rent pastures is preposterous. There is no milk in this neighborhood, summer nor winter, only from cows that are fed. Some say they have stock and no land and they think their stock ought of right, to graze on the other fellow's woodlands. Is that equal rights? In that case, which class imposes on the other? Let us get out of the vindictive, childish rut, and come together as neighbors, having a common interest, and let our motto be the greatest good to the greatest number.

HARDY JONES.

If troubled with a weak digestion, belching, sour stomach, or if you feel dull after eating, try Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. Price, 25 cents. Samples free at Clanton drug store, or D. I. Deramus, Verbena.

Planterville, Dec. 17, 1900

Editor Banner. Will you allow me space in the Banner to say something about the cursed stock law question. Stock law is a bad thing and is the next thing to hell on earth. I have a son and two brothers living in it and they tell me that it puts neighbors to fussing and to quarreling and lawing each other, and often ends in the exchange of bullet. Stock law means no stock at all; it breaks down and bursts up churches and does way with the religion and all civilization. You trace it back to the black belts where it first started, you find the people all at cuts and all involved in law and a preacher can't get a good congregation together to hear a sermon in north Dallas. There has been four families sold out this fall and gone west to get out of the stock law. At Riderville and Stanton there are several poor widow women who has a cow and calf and if stock law is enforced upon them they will be compelled to sell their cow and leave their poor little children crying for milk and butter. Stock law don't suit no one only the large land owners. Hon. L. P. Pounds has a petition from beat 8 with sixty-three names on it again a stock law, and we are now circulating our second petition against it and we respectfully ask the citizens and taxpayers of every beat in the county to join us in getting up petitions against stock law and help us down it. Look at the poor people that will be deprived and cut out of milk, their dependance for a living. We again ask the people all over the county to go to work at once and get up petitions in every beat against stock law and help us keep it out of Chilton county. We don't need it nowhere in Chilton county yet.

M. H. BARNES.

Clanton, Dec 24, 1900

Editor Banner. Seeing so much agitation concerning the stock law and pending road law, I wish to state my views on them. I wish to state that I am opposed to either of them. There has been enough said about the stock law. I notice one writer says the people are about equally divided. I wish to say that those that are in favor of it are in some other part of the country. There is nine out of every ten in my community against it. I see our representative, wishing to serve the people, has spent the greater part of his time in framing a road law that I do not think the people wants or needs. Men that are subject to road duty, are still subject to work roads or pay $3.00, and their property is taxed also, that makes these men subject twice. Older men which have served their time out on road duty, their property is taxed to pay their special tax, and in my opinion the 20 per cent will just only surfice to start with. The present law is enough law if it was more rigidly enforced. If the overseers would put in the time required by law the roads would be in great deal better fix. Now fellow citizens all come out to the meeting on the 12th inst. and express your selves on the three proposed laws before us.

Down with all of them.

Yours, W. A. EDWARDS.

A D p Mystery.

It is a mystery why women endure Backache, Headache, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Melancholy, Fainting and Dizzy Spells when thousands have proved that Electric Bitters will quickly cure such troubles. "I suffered for years with kidney trouble," writes Mrs. Phebe Cherley, of Peterson, Ia., and a lame back pained me so I could not dress myself, but Electric Bitters wholly cured me, and although 73 years old, I now am able to do all my housework." It overcomes Constipation, improves Appetite, gives perfect health. Only 50 c at Clanton drug store.

Thorsby.
LANDS FOR SALE.

$2.50 PER ACRE.

We have for sale a small farm containing 40 acres, of which 30 acres are now under cultivation. Some houses on the place land fenced; a good spring of running water. If this land was located in the Thorsby colony it would be worth $2,000.00. The land is located about four miles west of Thorsby and you may take it for $100 (sold February 16, 1900.)

Gene al Farming Lands for sale. $5.00 to $15.00 per acre.

Unimproved Orchard and Vineyard Lands at $15.00 per acre.

Improved Orchard and Vineyard Lands from $40 to $60 per acre.

Two small farms for Rent; a 7 room Cottage for sale.

Special inducements to merchants and manufacturers in the progressive town of Thorsby, the market center of Chilton county. For further particulars call at the offices of

THE CONCORDIA LAND AND IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION.
THORSBY, ALA.

Riderville, Dec 25, 1900

Editor Banner. I would like space to say a few words in regard to the stock law. As for a general stock law for the entire county I am not in favor of that unless the people want it. Down here in the south west corner of the county there is a small territory where the people want a stock law. They have a petition now pending for same. The men who signed and want this law are men who have due regard for the widow and orphan, and for the poor generally, and we don't think any one ought to feel hard at us for trying to get what we all want. Now, I think a good way to decide the question is to take the territories where the stock law is now in force. I have recently been in one of these territories and the people seem to be doing well. I never saw or heard of a single widow or orphan who had suffered thereby. The poorer class of people generally are still alive and have become satisfied. Men who fought and opposed it bitterly, now speak in its praise. If you want to get the best beef, butter and milk in the country, just go down in the stock law country, spend a few days and you will say it is not half so bad as I heard it was. Now, fellow citizens, if a few localities in the county want a stock law, let us not meddle with it, but attend to that which directly effects us, namely, the selling of whisky in the county, which is a hundred times worse than all the stock law. Whisky is a demon that will destroy our homes, and the soul and body as well.

HENRY BURNS.

The Mother's Favorite.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the mother's favorite. It is pleasant and safe for children to take and always cures. It is intended especially for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough, and is the best medicine made for these diseases. There is not the least danger in giving it to children for it contains no opium or other injurious drug and may be given as confidently to a babe as to an adult. For sale by Clanton Drug Co. and D. I. Deramus, Verbena.

AUCTION SALE OF LANDS

Under and by virtue of the power given by the Will of K. Wells, Deceased, and under and by authority of a Trust Deed executed to us by the Heirs of the said deceased, the undersigned will proceed to sell at the Court House door in Clanton, Alabama, during the legal hours of sale, at public outcry to the highest bidder for case, on the following described property, to-wit,

THURSDAY, JANUARY 7, 1901,

In Chilton County, Se 1-4 of Sw 1-4 Sec. 3, Town ship 21, Range 14. Ne 1-4 of Sec. 10, Town-ship 22, Range 14, E 1/2 of Sw 1-4 Sec 12, Town ship 21, Range 14. E 1-2 of Nw 1-4 Sec 2, township 20, Range 14. Sw 1-4 of Se 1-4 sec 21, Township 20 Range 13. S 1/2 of se 1-4, Nw 1-4 of Se 1-4 and ten acres on the east end of S 1/2 of Sw 1-4, Sec. 13, Township 21, Range 13.

In Autauga County, Sw 1-4 of Ne 1-4 Sec 3, Township 19, Range 16, S 1/2 of Se 1-4 Sec 21, Township 20, Range 14. Nw 1-4 of Ne 1-4 Sec 22, Township 20, Range 14. A acre in sec 22 with mill rocks and all machinery.

MARY WELLS, Executrix.
W. H. WELLS, Sr., Trust Trustee.
WM. WELLS, Jr.

Clanton, Ala., Dec 6, 1900.

WANTED.

FOR SALE.—4 good common cows with first and second calves from one to six weeks old. Apply at THE BANNER office, Clanton.

100 ACRES fine Farm Land, one mile northwest of Thorsby 30 acres well improved land. Good well of water. Can be bought on easy terms. Apply to

J. A. SKINNER, Jemison, Ala.

FARM HANDS Wanted. Good hands $10.00 per month. Apply to I. A. Logan, Clanton, Ala.

A BONA FIDE SALARY—$12 Weekly. Men and women to appoint agents and represent us, some to travel, others for local work. $12 weekly salary and expenses. Old established house, pleasant permanent positions, rapid advancement and increase of wages. Write at once. Address BUTLER & ALGER, Dept. E, New Haven, Conn.

The Best Prescription for Malaria

Chills and Fever is a bottle of GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC. It is simply iron and quinine in a tastless form. No cure—no pay. Price 50c.

Notice of Application to the Legislature.

Notice is hereby given that application will be made by the undersigned to the present session of the Legislature to remove the following described farming lands from within the corporate limits of the town of Clanton:

The Nw 1/4 of the Ne 1/4, sec 2 Tp 21 R 14, owned by J. P. Haynes.

The S 1/2 of the Ne 1/4 of the Nw 1/4 Sec 2 Tp 21, R 14 and in the N 1/2 of the Ne 1/4 of the Nw 1/4, the following piece of land one acre wide across the East end of said North half of the Ne 1/4 of Nw 1/4 owned by J. W. Edwards.

J. W. EDWARDS.
J. P. HAYNES.

The BANNER office is the only Job Printing establishment in Chilton and Coosa counties. We give you best work at lower prices than you can get elsewhere. Give us trial Everything seems to be the object of a trust nowadays. Even the gentle rain forms pools in the streets.

Administrator's Sale.

Under and by virtue of an order and decree of the Hon. S. M. Adams Judge of the Probate Court of Chilton county, Alabama, I, E. Z. Nix, Administrator of the estate of D. H. Davenport, deceased, will sell at public outcry to the highest bidder on the premises on at 12 o'clock noon, upon the following terms: One third cash, one third due in one year and one third due in two years, the following described real estate belonging to said estate, to wit.

MONDAY, JANUARY 7, 1901,

The South half (S 1/2) South-west quarter (SW 1/4) Northwest quarter of the South-west quarter, South-west quarter of the southeast quarter, Section Sixteen, and the East half (E 1/2) the North-west quarter, North-west quarter of the North-west quarter, West half of the North east quarter, West half of the East half of the North-east quarter, section twenty one, North-east quarter, south-west quarter of the south-east quarter, Section twenty, all in Township twenty-two, range thirteen, in Chilton county, Alabama. E. Z. NIX, Administrator of the Estate of D. H. Davenport, deceased.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

TIPTON MULLINS
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW
CLANTON - ALA

WILLIAM M. ADAMS
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW
Practice in all Courts.
Office at the Adams' place
CLANTON - - - ALA

JOHN C. DENNIS
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW
Practice in the Supreme Court of Alabama, and all Inferior Courts.
CLANTON, - - ALA

ROBERT H. KNOX,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,
CLANTON, ALA.
Will practice in all the State and Federal Courts of Alabama.

Dr. D. A. CAMPBELLE,
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.
OFFICE HOURS: Morning 8 till 10, Evening, 3 till 5.
Office at Drug Store CLANTON

Dr. OTTO M. WISEHART,
DENTIST.
OFFICE HOURS. 8 to 12 a.m. and 1 to 5 p.m.
Office over Wright's Store CLANTON

Dr. GEO. A. DENNIS,
SPECIALIST
Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat
OFFICE 20 S. PERRY ST.
Office Hours: 9 to 12 and 2 to 4.
Telephone 494—2 Calls
MONTGOMERY, ALA.

CHURCH DIRECTORY

BAPTIST—Preaching on the first and third sundays at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Sunday-school every sunday at 10 a.m.

Prayer-meeting every Thursday evening at 7 o'clock.

F. M. WOODS, Pastor.

METHODIST—Preaching every second sunday at 7 p.m., and every fourth sunday at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Sunday-school at 10 a.m. every sunday.

Prayer meeting at seven o'clock every Wednesday night.

D. F. ELLISON, Pastor.

CLANTON BARBER SHOP
W. H. TAYLOR, Proprietor.
HAIR CUTTING
SHAVING
SHAMPOOING
In all the Latest City Styles. Reasonable Charges. Prompt Attention.
HOT AND COLD BATHS.
CLANTON

E W Grove

This signature is on every box of the genuine Laxative Bromo-Quinine Tablets the remedy that cures a cold in one day

The Farmers' Mutual Insurance Association of Alabama.

CHARTERED BY SPECIAL ACT OF THE LEGISLATURE.

"BY THE PEOPLE AND FOR THE PEOPLE."

CHILTON COUNTY BRANCH

PRESIDENT: N. J. CALLOWAY, Clanton.
SEC'Y & TREAS.: P. D. WILSON, Clanton.
GENERAL AGENT: WALLACE C. EDLER, Clanton.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

1. H. C. Young
2. Thomas Harrison
3. R. S. McCary
4. D. F. Jacks
5. W. H. Thomas,
6. A. T. Hathcock
7. C. J. Cobern
8. John R. Parnell
9. D. N. Riggins.

Insures farmer's dwellings, outbuildings and contents, and live stock against loss by fire, wind and lightning.

The assessments for the year just closed was only 23c on the $1000 policy.

The cheapest, safest and most sensible method of insurance known to man. For full particulars call on or address the General Agent.

WALLACE C. EDLER, Clanton, Ala.

THE BANNER.

Published Weekly.

CLANTON, - - - ALABAMA.

Kansas is considering whether to restore the death penalty to the statute books. The practical question seems to be whether criminals shall be executed legally or illegally.

Kruger is receiving as great popular ovations in France as Kossuth received in the United States fifty years ago after his unsuccessful efforts for the independence of Hungary. And, as in Kossuth's case, enthusiastic demonstrations of popular sympathy for him will have no practical result.

While two or more expeditions are getting ready to try again to reach the North Pole, Notes and Queries has been figuring on what past expeditions have cost. It finds that during the present century 400 human lives have been sacrificed, $125,000,000 spent and 200 ships lost in the fruitless effort to reach the pole.

Already Russian butter from beyond the Ural Mountains is finding its way into the English market, and according to a report from the British Consul at Riga, arrangements are being made for the quick transportation of butter from western Siberia to connect with the steamship service from Riga to London and Hull.

A distinguished New York penologist, Eugene Smith, estimates the direct annual cost of crime in the United States at $200,000,000. The indirect effects of crime bring the total annual cost to about $400,000,000. The total cost of education in the whole country in 1880 was only one-third the latter figure, amounting to $139,000,000. In the present census returns it is not likely to exceed $200,000,000. Crime, therefore, is twice as expensive to the country at large as the education of all classes of its population.

Professor Koch says he is now convinced that certain kinds of gnats, as well as certain kinds of mosquitoes, convey malarial poison. It is a grievous affliction to the human race that microbes are enabled to take unto themselves wings through the agency of these pestilential insects. If microbes were reasonably quiet and contented, and not migratory; if they were lovers of home and clung to settled habitations, then malarial districts could be clearly defined and mapped out, and those areas of misery and suffering could be shunned and avoided. But with the help of the mosquitoes and gnats malaria, like Satan, is often all abroad.

English is a good language—a beautiful and a strong language—and it is capable of expressing adequately and euphoniously the loftiest sentiments which animates the soul, the most delicate and tender fancies of the poet, the noblest heroic emotions. From grave to gay, from simple to sublime, this tongue has as many forms as there are individual peculiarities of thought, observes the Philadelphia Record. English adapts itself to the wit of Sydney Smith and the humor of Mark Twain; to the splendor of Milton, the grace of Tennyson and the brilliancy of Swinburne. It is a far cry from the suggestive phrases of Coleridge to the cold, clear accuracy of Herbert Spencer. So rich a language could never have been invented.

"Can a woman love a plain man?" is the question just now convulsing the London Gentlewoman and its supposedly gentlewomanly readers. One correspondent, who, as she signs herself "A Mere Girl," probably brings all the weight of years and experience to bear upon the matter, says, "As a rule, girls flirt with the handsome men and marry the plain ones." Another declares, "Women, as a rule, look upon beauty as their own particular property, and resent a beauty man as having poached upon their preserves." A third answers the question with a question: "Is a man ever plain to the woman who adores him?" A fourth, dropping into philosophic platitudes, proclaims the not altogether novel sentiment: "There are several reasons impelling love for man in woman kind. And it can scarcely be asserted that the matter of his personal appearance comes first." With all due respect to the intellects propounding the question, says a writer in New York Sun, we should say that it depends largely on the plain man's ability, if a foreigner, to read his title clear; if an American, upon the size of his bank account. It would be more to the point, anyway, to inquire, "Can a woman love a vain man?"

CUDAHY WARNED BY ABDUCTORS

He Is Advised to Withdraw Reward of $25,000.

GETS A THREATENING LETTER

Request Is Refused and Document Is Turned Over to the Police For Investigation.

A special from Omaha, Neb., says: E. A. Cudahy, the millionaire packer, has received a second communication from the men who kidnaped his son. This time, as formerly, the letter contains a threat, and says in substance that unless he withdraws his offer of $25,000 reward for the arrest and conviction of each of the three bandits they will kidnap another of his children. The letter refers to the failure of the police to get anything like a tangible clew as to the identity of the kidnapers, scoffs at the idea of Pat Crowe being one of them, mentions the ease with which the "first job was pulled off," and concludes by saying that if Mr. Cudahy is as wise as he showed himself in the first instance he will comply with the request and withdraw the reward at once.

This letter is written in pen and ink on the same kind of yellow paper as the first and evidently by the same person. It was found by a servant of the Cudahy household early on the morning of Thursday, December 27th. Some one called up the house by telephone and asked if Mr. Cudahy was in. The servant answered that he was not.

"Well," came the voice over the 'phone, "you go out in the front yard and you will find a letter there near the gate. It is addressed to Mr. Cudahy. See that it is delivered to him personally and to no one else."

The servant went out at once and found a letter. It was in a plain white envelope and was addressed:

"Mr. E. A. Cudahy, Sr., personal and private."

Mr. Cudahy, who was then at his packing house in South Omaha, was summoned home at once. No one was permitted to see the letter at first except Mr. and Mrs. Cudahy. Mr. Cudahy's intention at the time was to keep its contents to himself, as the bandits had requested, but later he thought better of it, as he believed that, in the hands of the police, it would prove a valuable clew.

Mr. Cudahy says he has not withdrawn the reward, nor will he do so. It stands as originally offered.

The address, as well as the letter, is printed in lead pencil. The letter is written on common note paper, ruled with blue ink, which is scarcely traceable. The postmark shows that the letter was mailed at the postoffice at 8 a. m., Saturday, December 22d, showing clearly that one of the gang of abductors was in the postoffice on that date, if the letter had the same origin as the letter demanding the ransom. That the origin was the same is attested by General John C. Cowin, who saw both missives. The letter reads:

"Cudahy: If you value the boy's life at the price of a bullet, you will withdraw the reward at once. And let well anough alone. If you don't do this we will finish the job with a bulet. If any man, whether gilty or innocent is ever arrested, a bulet will close the boy's mouth. You will think of this warning when it is too late—"

The only marked difference between this letter and the letter demanding a ransom is in the greater number of misspelled words. This, however, may be affectation, for it will be observed that the most difficult words are spelled correctly, whereas some of the simple words are misspelled.

"Withdraw" and "reward" are correctly spelled, while the comparatively easy word "guilty" is spelled "gilty."

BOERS SURROUND KIMBERLY.

Provisions Go Up to Famine Prices and Mails Are Cut Off.

Advices from Cape Colony state that Kimberly is almost isolated by Boer raiders. No mails had reached there from December 19th to December 25th. Provisions are at famine prices. The military took charge of all the food stuffs December 22d.

MRS. NATIONS IS OBDURATE.

Refuses to Leave Jail On Bail Furnished By Her Friends.

A special from Wichita, Kan., says: Mrs. Carrie Nations, the W. C. T. U. "joint" wrecker, has refused bail secured by her co-workers. She now says that under no circumstances will she step out of jail uncleared of the charge against her and the W. C. T. U. committee that had taken up the matter has practically abandoned its effort to secure her release.

RASH DEED OF JILTED LOVER.

Attempted to Murder His Former Sweetheart and Commit Suicide.

Robert Morgan attempted to kill a Mrs. Tompkins, a young married woman, near Harrison, Ga., Saturday night, and then put a bullet into his own head, inflicting a very dangerous wound. Neither of the two shots he fired at Mrs. Tompkins struck her.

Morris had been paying attention to Mrs. Tompkins and her marriage to another man was the motive for the attempted murder and suicide.

FAILURES IN LONDON.

Big Financial Corporation Suspends and Many Firms Are Involved.

Advices of Saturday from London stated that the London and Globe finance corporation, limited, had suspended payment. On Friday, when the brokers delivered stock purchased on the London and Globe and asked for payment, they received checks, which were dishonored. This was followed Saturday by the failure on the stock exchange of twelve firms, as follows:

Haggard, Hale & Pixley, Garle & Driver, Douglas, Jr., & Co., Cornfoot Bros., F. A. Cohen, Blockey & Buckingham, Gunn & Aubrey, Richards & Sloper, Baker & Smith, F. C. Watts & Co., Flower & Co. and F. Boully & Co.

The first named is a big firm with important connections. It is feared a number of smaller jobbers will be affected.

While the difficulties of the firms closely connected with the London and Globe division were largely discounted, the repeated fall of the hammer Saturday morning caused a great sensation. It is feared the full list of failures is not yet known.

The failures involve twenty-eight members of the stock exchange and are equally divided among jobbers and brokers. It is generally regarded in the mining market as being the blackest day since the Baring smash, which was disastrous to all departments. This crisis, however, did not extend to other markets, though most of them closed depressed.

The chairman of the London and Globe finance corporation, limited, is the marquis of Dufferin and Ava, the former governor general of Canada and British ambassador to Paris. The failure of the concern of which he is the head adds one more sorrow to the closing chapter of his life, for he is at present preparing to start for South Africa, in company with Lady Dufferin, in consequence of the serious condition of his son, Lord Frederick Temple, the lieutenant in the Ninth Lancers who was wounded a few days ago at Glenfontein. It is scarcely a year ago since Lord Dufferin lost his eldest son, the earl of Ava, who died at Ladysmith. He is now encompassed by family grief and his honored name is dragged in the financial mire.

CAUGHT IN PRAIRIE FIRE.

An Unfortunate Family Is Nearly Wiped Out of Existence.

Some days ago Gottlieb Stacker and family, consisting of a wife and half grown daughter, a married daughter and her husband and babe, left Stillwater, Oklahoma, in wagons to settle on a claim near the Texas line. They arrived at their destination Christmas day and at once put up tents for temporary residence.

When all were asleep a prarie fire enveloped them before they knew it, and in a few moments everything they had was destroyed, and all of them nearly perished. The little babe died and the mother is blinded and may die. The father and son were both badly burned, while the seventeen-year-old daughter will lose both feet and will likely die.

EDUCATORS ADJOURN.

Professor Glenn, of Georgia, Elected President of Association.

The meeting of the Southern Educational association at Richmond was brought to a close Friday night.

The question of the next place of meeting was referred to the executive committee for final action. It lies between Columbia, S. C.; Charleston, S. C.; Asheville, N. C., and Knoxville, Tenn. The following officers were elected:

President, Hon. G. R. Glenn, Atlanta, Ga.; vice president, Chancellor R. B. Fulton, of Mississippi; secretary, Hon. P. H. Claxton, of Greensboro, N. C.; Treasurer, Hon. F. L. Stuart, of Knoxville.

GROVER HUNTING DUCKS.

His Party Is the Guest of Murphy Island, S. C., Gun Club.

Grover Cleveland, Fighting Bob Evans and other sportsmen, arrived at Georgetown, S. C., in a special sleeper at midnight Saturday night. They slept in their car and Sunday morning went by launch to Murphy's Island, where they will for ten days be the guests of the Murphey's Island Gun Club.

SHOALS AN OBSTRUCTION.

When They Are Removed River Navigation Will Be Open.

The Huntsville, Ala., Evening Post prints an interview with Congressman William Richardson in which he says that no satisfactory results will be received from appropriations on the Tennessee river until the Colbert shoals, upon which the sum of $6,000 has been expended, are removed. When this is done, he said, we will have unobstructed navigation from above Florence and Sheffield to the mouth of the river, a distance of more than two hundred miles.

SQUADRON OFF PENSACOLA.

Ships of North Atlantic Fleet Make First Stop On Winter Cruise.

The flagship Kearsarge and battleship Massachusetts of the North Atlantic squadron, Rear Admiral Norman H. Farquhar in command, crossed the bar and entered the harbor at Pensacola, Florida, Saturday noon.

An admiral's salute was fired from the guns at the forts. Other vessels of the fleet arrived later.

KIDNAPPERS BADLY FOOLED

They Steal a Wife and Demand $10 and a Jug of Whisky.

THREE HORSES BURNED.

Boy Hurt by Fireworks--Trunk Sewer in Jefferson County --Other State News.

KIDNAPPED A WIFE.

And Demanded $10 and a Jug of Whisky as Ransome.

A sensational kidnapping occurred near Blountsville on the day before Christmas, and although the ransom asked for the return of a man's wife was only ten silver dollars and a jug of whisky, the price was too much for the bereft spouse, who, in answer to the demand of the abductors, sent them his thanks for their pains and the season's greetings.

The victim of the conspiracy was Mrs. Patsy Strong, who lived with her husband near Holly Pond, a small settlement a few miles distant from this place. On last Monday she came to Blountsville, and late in the afternoon started home afoot, and while trudging along one of the loneliest places on the road she was overtaken by a wagon driven by two men, who were strangers to her, but who invited her to ride with them. When she got into the wagon she was blindfolded, gagged and forced to lie down, and was covered up with old quilts and taken into the mountains.

Christmas day the following note was received by Postmaster Bynum, of this place:

"Camp Hideout, December 25.

Mr. Postmaster, please see old man Strong and let him know his wife Patsy is in our hands an she is safe and sound, and if he will bring us ten dollars in selver and a gallon of good whiskey he can git her. Tel him to go out to the ketchum old place at midnite tonite and turn up the river bank two mile until he come to a outhous and it will have a lite in it and to leve the money and licker in the said house, and his wife will be returned to him in good shape. If he don't do this tel him we will slit his wife's years and he will haf to lead her around through life looking like a marked hog, now Mister bynum, don't fail to attend to this matter and don't you let enny body see this letter."

On receipt of the above the postmaster made haste to see Mr. Strong and revealed to him the contents of the note, whereupon Mr. Strong wrote a note and tied it around the neck of a jug filled with water and found his way to the out-house and left them there. The old man's note read as follows:

"My good friends:

"You think you have brought great trouble on ole Jack Strong, but you haven't. thirty-one years ago I stole patsy from her daddy in gorgy and hit has give me more trouble than all the rest of my steelin. Patsy have been a grate lode on my shoulders and I am much oblige to you fellers for steelin of her and you sertainly have my sympathy. You say you will cut her years if I don't anty—cut and be drat. i leave this noot and jug of sperits. a happy Christmas to you."

The jug of "sperits" turned out to be water, and with a red-headed woman weighing no less than 250 pounds on their hands the kidnappers were no doubt greatly disconcerted.

The woman in the case made her appearance at the Blountsville post office early on the morning of the 26. She besought Postmaster Bynum to take up her case with her husband, whom her captors had told her would not let her return home. Mr. Bynum went out to see Strong, but could not make him feel that it was any part of his duty to submit to the return of the stolen goods. The woman is now at Mr. Bynum's home, and the latter is all torn up and at a loss to know just how to unload his burden.

The census of last June shows a population of 140,000 persons in Jefferson county, an increase of nearly 60,000 over the population of ten years ago. If the same rate of increase is maintained for the next ten years Jefferson county will have 225,000 population in 1910.

Once more the introduction of American methods will revolutionize British traffic. As a result of the visit of a prominent railway official to the United States the directors of his road have decided to substitute for the present lever system of signalling the pneumatic method employed on American roads. The installation of the latter system is now proceeding.

Stable and Three Valuable Horses Burned.

A stable belonging to H. H. Mayberry, of Birmingham, was destroyed by fire at 9 o'clock Saturday morning, together with three valuable horses, four vehicles and several sets of fine harness, the total loss being placed at about $4,000.

The stable was situated in Nineteenth street, South, on the rear end of Mr. Mayberry's lot opposite the residence of W. H. Kettig, and was almost entirely consumed before the fire department could arrive. The fire was discovered by the hostler, who gave the alarm, but because of the combustable material the flames, which were first seen coming out of the roof, spread rapidly, and in less time than it takes to tell the little frame building was wrapped in flames, and in a few minutes was a mass of ruins. The hostler made a heroic effort to save the horses and vehicles, but just as he reached the stable door the roof fell in and his efforts were thwarted.

One of the horses was a fancy roadster valued at $1,000 and was one of the finest horses in the city. The others were a team of carriage horses valued at $600. The vehicles destroyed were a handsome carriage, a drag and two buggies, which with the horses, fittings and building run the loss up to the amount above mentioned.

Jim Paradise Caught.

The arrest of Isaac Paradise by Officers McKee and Keen, of Huntsville, three weeks ago, has resulted in the arrest of Jim Paradise, who, with Isaac, is charged with the murder of a man in Jackson County. Isaac Paradise was arrested on a charge of drunk and disorderly, and in searching him the officers found a letter addressed to Jim Paradise in Clarksville, Red River County, Texas. Sheriff Austin, of Jackson County, went to Texas and returned with his man last Friday night. Two rewards of $175 each were up for the arrest of the men.

Ngero Boy Shot.

Ned Allison, a negro boy, was shot and instantly killed at Merrimack Friday night by unknown parties. He was walking with two women along the street when a bullet struck him between the eyes and killed him. John George and another man named Allison have been arrested on suspicion.

News Items.

The home of Joe Ash, a few miles from Valleyhead, was burned to the ground one night recently. The roof was falling in when the family awoke. Mr. Ash, his wife and twelve children barely escaped. Their household goods were almost wholly destroyed.

Little George Davenport, of Chattanooga, while visiting his cousins in Valleyhead in the early part of the holidays, met with a serious accident. The inside pocket of his coat was filled with fire works which in some way became ignited and were discharged in his face. His neck and chest were badly burned.

A bill is now pending in the Legislature which authorizes Jefferson County to issue bonds for a sanitary sewer of sufficient dimensions to carry off the sewage of all the towns and cities from East Lake to Bessemer. The estimated cost of the sewer is a little over half a million dollars. The sewer will afford drainage for a population of over 600,000 persons.

A bill introduced into Congress by Representative O. W. Underwood providing for an appropriation of $1,750,000 for the building of the Warrior Canal. The House committee on rivers and harbors look with favor upon the bill, but the present Congress is not expected to authorize this expenditure.

The North Alabama Railroad Company has been incorporated with $500,000 and the right of way surveyed from near Cullman through Walker county to Parrish. The Louisville and Nashville is back of this company.

The taxable values of property in Jefferson county increased about $4,000,000 in 1900, the valuation as given into the tax assessor, in round numbers, being $41,000,000.

The British Navy League has arrived at the conviction that Great Britain does not rule the sea any longer. The conviction has been slow in coming, but it seems to be there to stay.

An Atlanta man has been fined $5 for digging in his garden on Sunday. Served him right. He should have been playing golf.

RECENT STATE HAPPENINGS.

Foul Play Suspected.

Sa Cole, a negro who had been making his home in Pratt City for several months, and who had been sick a several days, was found in the backyard of the Midway saloon, near Ideal City, on the morning of December 20th, in a very serious condition. He was carried to his boarding house by some other negroes, and recovered sufficently to walk about some. He went out in the yard while no one was watching him, and not returning soon after, a search was instituted, and he was found in a corner of the yard dead. The cause of his death is not known. The circumstances surrounding it, however, are of a suspicious nature, and it is probable some investigation will be made by his friends. The negro was of a peaceable disposition, and bore a very good character.

Some Appointments.

Circulars issued by the Southern Railway make the following announcements of appointments effective January 1. Mr. H. E. Hutchens is appointed superintendent of the Northern Alabama railroad, vice Mr. R. B. Pegram, resigned. W. H. Peddle, general superintendent of transportation of the Southern Railway. R. B. Pegram, assistant general manager. Mr. H. E. Hutchens, superintendent Memphis division, vice Mr. R. B. Pegram, promoted. Mr. A. Ramseur is appointed superintendent Norfolk division, vice Mr. H. E. Hutchens, transferred.

Broke a Window and Stole a Coat.

Sunday morning at about 7 o'clock some one broke one of the large plate glass windows in Erlick & Lefkovits' establishment in Bessemer and stole a man's coat, which was hanging in the window. No one has been found who saw the deed done, though there must have been a number of people on the street at the time. It will cost $75 to replace the glass.

Sam A. Fowlkes Drops Dead.

Sam A. Fowlkes, one of Selma's most influential citizens and a large real estate and insurance agent, fell dead about noon in front of the undertaking establishment of Jud Brislin, on Water street, from heart failure, on December 31. The deceased was a popular man, and leaves a wife and seven children.

Lanier's Place Filled.

L. D. Campbell, of Courtland, has been appointed Deputy United States Revenue Collector, vice John F. Lanier, who was recently killed. The appointment was made by Collector Bingham.

Items of Interest.

The Etowah County Teacher's Institute will meet at Burn's Academy January 3rd and 4th.

The Talladega County Medical Society will hold its annual meeting Tuesday, January 8, 1901, at Talladega. The society will also give its annual banquet on the evening of that date.

Drs. J. B. Kelly, S. J. McCurry and G. A. Matthews have been appointed a Board of Pension Examiners at Anniston by the United States pension authorities. Heretofore applicants for pensions have had to go to Rome, Ga., for examination.

Christmas casualties at and near Athens included the following: William Bottom, burned in both eyes by premature explosion of cannon cracker; George Rogers, struck in right eye by Roman candle; a little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Pafford was perhaps fatally burned by falling in the fire.

Much interest is taken in the proposed law and order league at Huntsville. A number of people have subscribed to the following obligation: I hereby solemnly promise that so long as I am a member of the Law and Order League of Huntsville and vicinity, I will faithfully observe and obey the law. And I faithfully promise that I will bring to notice of the officers of the League all violations of the law which may come under my observation. I further agree to pay 50 cents as a membership fee, payable on demand within 30 days after this date annually." A meeting will be called this week to perfect organization.

The North Alabama Conference College will assemble for work again after the holidays on January 2. The school has passed the crisis which comes to every institution of the kind and is now rapidly growing to prosperity and influence. The cottage is about ready to begin operations in Owenton, the accommodation for boarders is much increased and all the advantages of the institution are growing.

AGRICULTURAL.

A Useful Tank For a Farm.

The arrangement shown in the cut is very convenient for numerous purposes about a farm. It is a galvanized iron tank with sloping ends to run a couple of wheels through. Attach a tongue to these handles and it can be wheeled anywhere.

A HANDY TANK.

with great ease. [illegible] need [illegible] pigs to root [illegible] manure heap [illegible] sina [illegible] will really [illegible]

Preventing Pork Rust.

When hogs are destined [illegible] be farrowed in March [illegible] Pasture grasses are clean [illegible] ers. Hence there is a [illegible] age in having pigs come [illegible] soon as they are big enough. Feed soaked corn with bran skim milk [illegible] middlings. Plan to secure [illegible] rather than fat at first. Use plenty of salt, lime and wood [illegible] When the pigs are eight [illegible] old wean them. To do this [illegible] pen up the dam and let the pigs [illegible] their usual run in the pasture. [illegible] fer pasture, plenty of skim milk [illegible] little corn is provided. They will [illegible] tinue their growth unchecked [illegible] ready for market when nine [illegible] months old. I find it profitable [illegible] my yearling hogs on grass. [illegible] this time they are given a small [illegible] of corn each day they can be fat [illegible] for market on short notice. Prices [illegible] usually higher during the summer months than in autumn or winter. G., in Orange Judd Farmer.

Wintering Weak Colonies.

Weak colonies are always in most danger of being [illegible] killed, and cannot stand cold as well as strong colonies. Hence they must provide extra fuel for them, than would for stronger ones. It is usually found best to not try to winter weak stocks through the winter. Frequently we have fine valuable queens, that we do not like to lose, and thus would rather take chances on carrying them over if possible. A weak colony that does not nearly fill the hive or broodchamber with bees, should be contracted up in the hive by the use of division boards to the amount of space the swarm will cleverly occupy. A hive of eight frames may be contracted up to five or five frames of comb, with bees in them necessary to carry them through the winter. A division board should be placed on each side, thus leaving a space on each side of the bees. The space should be filled closely with a chaff cushion, and the hive then treated the same as a chaff hive in general.

If winters are not very severe, one can usually take such colonies through and with careful manipulation in spring bring them up to standard requirements, and they will prove profitable. These weak stocks are better to be wintered in a cellar, even then, it will pay to thus use division boards and chaff cushions and thus contract the space in the hives. It is always much better in matters not in what manner we work for bees, to have strong colonies to begin with, and using these weak colonies together till of proper strength, is the rule.

Uniting weak colonies is better done early in autumn, so as it gives them a chance to form their brood nests and the queen a chance to lay some eggs, and hatch out young bees before winter begins. But if this work is neglected until late in autumn it may be done yet to a better advantage than to let the bees remain as they are.—A. H. Duff, (Farm, Field and Fireside.

Planting an Old Orchard.

For the location of the apple orchard select a high piece of ground, for the atmosphere is a few degrees warmer than in the valleys below, which may save the crop after blooming time. For apple trees I do not believe there is much difference in any particular direction of slope before setting the trees, get the ground in first-class condition by manuring and draining. The ground should be deeply plowed and if a hard pan should be broken by subsoiling, and the surface put in first-class condition after any other crop. If the land is anywhere near level plant the trees out at regular distances in straight rows, but the orchard is on a hill, make the rows follow the contour of the hill, because it is much easier to cultivate, and to spray, much more convenient when hauling away the fruit, and a distance to plant depends upon the habit of growth of the trees, the soil, whether the trees are set on level land or a side hill. Where an orchard on a side hill exists may be cleared together, because they are on different elevation and head may develop above those in the rows below.

A great many orchardists set out trees twenty feet apart each way in the expectation thinning them

STATE HAPPENINGS.

...ual Play Suspected.

...ole, a negro who had been ...his home in Pratt City for ...ps.the, and who had been ...veral days, was found in the ...l of the Midway saloon, near ..., on the morning of Decem... in a very serious condition. ...rried to his boarding house ...ther negroes, and recovered ...y to walk about some. He ... in the yard while no one ...ng him, and not returning ..., a search was instituted, ...e found in a corner of the ... The cause of his death is ... The circumstances sur... ...t, however, are of a sus... ...ure, and it is probable ...stigation will be made by ... The negro was of a ...lapidation, and bore a very ...cter.

...me Appointments.

...ssued by the Southern ...ce the following announce... ...pointments effective Jan... ...r H. F. Hutchens is ap... ...tendent of the North... ...railroad, vice Mr. R. B. ...gen. W. H. Peddle, ...erintendent of transporta... ...R. B. ...istant general manager, ...Hutchens, superintendent ...vice Mr. R. B. Pe... ...Mr. A. Ramsour is ...superintendent Norfolk ...ce Mr. H. E. Hutchens.

...Window and Slide a Coat.

...Morning at about 7 o'clock ...oks one of the large plate ...ws in Erlick & Lefkovits' ...nt in Bessemer and stole ...t, which was hanging in ... No one has been found ...o died done, though there ...een a number of people ...e at the time. It will cost ...ac the glass.

...Fwikes Drops Dead.

...Folkes, one of Selma's ...entia citizens and a large ...and insurance agent, fell ...noon front of the under... ...blishment of Jud Brislin, ...street, from heart failure, ...ber 31. The deceased was ...man, and leaves a wife and ...dren.

...der's Plate Filled.

...mpbell, of Courtland, has ...ted Deputy United States ...llector, vice John F. La... ...as recently killed. The ...t was made by Collector ...

...tems of Interest.

...wah County Teacher's In... ...meet at Burn's Academy ...l and 4th.

...dega County Medical So... ...hold its annual meeting ...anuary 8, 1901, at Talla... ...society will also give its ...quet on the evening of ...

...R Kelly, S. J. McCurry ...Matthews have been ap... ...ard of Pension Examiners ... by the United States ...thorities. Heretofore ap... ...pensions have had to go ...n, for examination.

...casualties at and near ...nded the following: Wil... ...n, burned in both eyes by ...xplosion of cannon crack ...Rogers, struck in right eye ...candle; a little daughter ...Mrs. W. M. Pafford was ...ly burned by falling in ...

...rest is taken in the pro... ...d order league at Hunts... ...mber of people have sub... ...e following obligation: ...mnly promise that so ...a member of the Law and ...of Huntsville and vicin... ...faithfully observe and ... And I faithfully prom... ...l bring to notice of the ... League all violations of ...may come under my ... I further agree to pay ...membership fee, payable ...thin 30 days after this ... A meeting will be ...ek to perfect organiza...

...Alabama Conference ...assemble for work again ...ays on January 2. The ...assed the crisis which ...y institution of the kind ...pidly growing to pros... ...fluence. The car line ... to begin operations to ...e accommodation for ...nch increased and al ...of the institution are.

AGRICULTURAL.

A Useful Tank For a Farm.

The arrangement shown in the cut is very convenient for numerous purposes about a farm. It is a square, galvanized iron tank, with sockets on each side to run a couple of handles through. Attach an old barrow wheel to these handles and the tank can be wheeled anywhere and tipped over with great ease. The tank can be used to carry skim milk to calves or pigs, to remove kitchen slops to the manure heap, thus doing away with a sink drain, or for many purposes that will readily occur to any one.

A HANDY TANK.

Producing Pork Hogs.

When meat is desired the pigs should be farrowed in March, April or May. Pasture grasses are cheap pork makers, hence there is a distinct advantage in having pigs come early. As soon as they are big enough feed them soaked corn with bran, skim milk and middlings. Plan to secure growth rather than fat at this time. Give plenty of salt, lime and wood ashes. When the pigs are eight to ten weeks old wean them. To do this I usually pen up the dam and let the pigs have their usual run in the pasture. If clover pasture, plenty of skim milk and a little corn is provided, they will continue their growth unchecked and be ready for market when nine or ten months old. I find it profitable to run my yearling hogs on grass. If during this time they are given a small feed of corn each day they can be fattened for market on short notice. Prices are usually higher during the summer months than in autumn or winter.—J. G., in Orange Judd Farmer.

Wintering Weak Colonies.

Weak colonies are always in the most danger of becoming winter killed, and cannot stand near as much cold as strong colonies. Hence, we must provide extra for them, than we would for stronger ones. It is usually found best to not to try to take weak stocks through the winter, but frequently we have some valuable queens, that we do not like to lose, and thus would rather take chances on carrying them over if possible. A weak colony that does not near fill the hive or broodchamber with bees, should be contracted up in the hive by the use of division boards to the amount of space the swarm will cleverly occupy. A hive of eight frames may be contracted up to four or five frames of comb, with honey in them necessary to carry them well through the winter. A division board should be placed on both sides, thus leaving a space on each side of the bees. The space should be filled up closely with a chaff cushion, and the hive then treated the same as with chaff hive in general. If winters are not very severe, we can usually take such colonies through, and with careful manipulation in spring bring them up to standard requirements, and they will prove profitable. These weak stocks are still better to be wintered in a cellar, but even then, it will pay to thus use the division boards and chaff cushions, and thus contract the space in the hives. It is always much better, it matters not in what manner we winter bees, to have strong colonies to begin with, and uning these weak colonies together till of proper strength, is the rule. Uniting weak colonies is better done early in autumn, so that it gives them a chance to form their brood nest, and the queen a chance to lay some eggs, and hatch so young bees before winter begins. But if this work is neglected until late in autumn it may be done yet, a better advantage than to let them remain as they are.—A. H. Duff, iFarm, Field and Fireside.

Planting an Ale Orchard.

For the location the apple orchard select a high piece of ground, for the atmosphere is a few degrees warmer than in the valley below, which may save the crop at blooming time. For apple trees I not believe there is much difference in any particular direction of slope. Before setting any trees get the ground in first-class condition by manuring and draining. The ground should be deeply plowed and, if a hardpan should be broken by subsoiling, and the surface put in first-class condition for any other crop. If the land is anywhere near level set the trees out at regular distances in straight rows, but the orchard is on a hill, make the rows follow the curvature of the hill, for then it is much easier to cultivate, easier to spray and much more convenient when hauling away the fruit. The distance to plant depends upon the habit of growth of the trees, the soil, whether the trees are set on level land or a side hill. Where an orchard on a side hill the trees may be close together, because they are on different elevation and the head may develop above those in the rows below.

A great many orchardists set the trees twenty feet apart each way with the expectation thinning them out as they begin to crowd, but this requires more nerve than most men possess. A better plan is to set the trees forty feet and utilize the unoccupied space with small fruit or hoed crops or plant a row of dwarf apple trees. The question of variety is one of those perplexing problems that is never definitely solved. It is not advisable to plant largely of those varieties which have never been successfully tested in your own neighborhood. Make up a list of what you want and go to the nursery for it, and although you may not be able to tell whether the trees are true to name, you can see whether they are thrifty and well rooted. A two-year-old tree is most satisfactory.

Spring and fall planting have their advantages and disadvantages, but I prefer fall setting. Under ordinary circumstances the roots will make a little growth, the dirt will be firmly settled around the roots, and there will be less delay in starting into growth. We want the root system well established and at work before any development in the buds or leaves. The most economical use of labor in setting the trees may be had when it is done by four men, two to dig holes, one to hold the tree and place the dirt around the roots while the fourth man throws in the dirt. Carefulness in transplanting is the main secret in making the young trees live. The man who plants the tree should be a practical, painstaking fellow. He should not only know how to plant, but how to prune. All broken and dead roots should be removed with a sloping cut on the under side. After the tree is firmly set then prune the top. Each shoot should be cut back about half and all straggling ones removed. In the spring go over the trees again and cut off the dead ends of the shoots and give to the top the proper form. Young trees should have a mulch of some sort for the first two years.—Ernest J. Riggs, in American Agriculturist.

Some Cow Stall Devices.

New ideas have done away with some of the old-fashioned notions about cattle fastening, and have brought much relief to stock. But all dairymen have not yet reached the most humane and most convenient results. A recent visit to the progressive owner of a dairy farm was productive in securing several points that were new to the writer, and to many others doubtless. They are shown in various cuts given herewith. Figure 1 shows this dairyman's plan for keeping the cow from soiling her flanks when she lies down. A strip of joist two by three inches nailed across the floor of the stall just behind the hind feet of the cow, when she is standing as far up in the stall as she possibly can. This crosspiece is shown at A. The cow cannot lie down upon this piece of wood, so she steps ahead and lies down, all of the droppings thereafter falling behind A. Only a shallow trench is found at D.

PROTECTION FOR THE COW'S FLANKS.

Figure 2 shows an excellent plan for a crib. The hay comes down from the second floor into a slotted receptacle, under which is a place where corn fodder or other material can be placed from the walk in front, the front edge projecting in front of the hay crib to make it more accessible. Here the grain ration can be placed, or a grain bag can be set into this space.

EXCELLENT PLAN FOR A CRIB.

Figure 3 shows how the cows are fastened at this dairy farm. They are not fastened at the neck at all. The stalls are three and a half feet wide, with a chain or rope stretched across the stall behind the cow. The sides of the stall must be high enough and extend back far enough so that the cow cannot turn around in the stall. She can only back out, and this the chain prevents. This seems the most humane cattle fastening imaginable, and it works very satisfactorily in the barn referred to. Of course, the manure is scraped from the rear end of the platform several times a day, though while eating her hay the cow stands well back, where the manure will fall into the gutter. The shallow trench saves the cows from many a slip and jar.—New York Tribune.

ONE WAY TO FASTEN A COW IN A STABLE

Good Roads Notes

Road Building and Road Preserving.

THE agreeable report is current that an extensive system of good roads will presently be constructed in Westchester County, comprising at least sixty miles of macadam. Such work is to be commended anywhere, but it is particularly praiseworthy in such a region as Westchester County, all of which is suburban and most of which is possessed of singular beauty and of exceptional attractiveness as a place of residence. Despite these latter conditions, that county has in some respects been strangely neglected. Its railroad facilities have not been all they might have been, while its common roads, with a few fine exceptions, have been little short of a disgrace to any community within a thousand miles of civilization. The result has been a serious retardment of its growth. It is safe to say that in the last twenty or thirty years scores of thousands of persons have settled in the nearby counties of New Jersey who would have settled in Westchester County, and it is noteworthy that wherever these exist there is a rapid growth of population and of wealth. Such is the case along the Hudson as far as Sing Sing, along the Sound to Port Chester and around Mount Vernon and White Plains. But the Bronx Valley above Mount Vernon, the Sprain Brook Valley and the upper part of the Sawmill River Valley have been almost entirely neglected, although they comprise some of the loveliest parts of the county and lie at the very doors of New York City. As for the bulk of the upper part of the county, north of White Plains, it is still almost entirely devoid of good roads save in a few places where private munificence has supplied them or where the city of New York has built the great "main traveled roads," such as the Bedford road, the Somerstown turnpike and the roads around Amawalk and Lake Waccabuc, are still in a primitive condition. They run through some of the most beautiful country in the world; but it remains unsettled and largely unknown simply for lack of decent means of travel and transportation.

The good roads movement is therefore to be hailed with joy. But it is well to bear in mind that it will be equally necessary to guard the roads after they are built. There are many trolley schemes well formulated, but held in abeyance until these roads are built, and then to be rushed forward for the seizure and practical destruction of the roads. More than one example of such rapacity has been seen in the lower part of the county. Trolley companies have waited until the roads were graded and macadamized and have then taken possession of them, sometimes illegally and forcibly, and made them almost worthless for any purpose save their own. They are planning to do the same with these other roads as soon as they shall be built. Against all such schemes it is desirable to guard the roads in advance. There might well be provisions inserted in the bills for the construction of the roads prohibiting the building of trolley lines upon them. That would not be to exclude trolley lines from the country altogether. These can be built on other roads than those which are thus improved. Let the trolley people grade and improve roads for themselves at their own expense if they want them. When a road is built for driving purposes it is an outrage to divert it to railroad uses.

In course of time Westchester County will probably be covered with a network of electric roads, as indeed all suburban regions will be. It will also, let us hope, be covered with a still closer network of fine macadamized roads for the use of horses and automobile vehicles and bicycles, and these latter should be forever kept free from the encumbrance of the trolleys. Each system will serve its own good purpose, and each should be restricted to its own purpose. There is a league for promoting the building of good roads which has done a valuable work. Whether or not a league is needed for the purpose, there is as valuable and as essential a work to be done for the protection and preservation of the good roads after they have been built. —New York Tribune.

To Test Road Material.

The Secretary of Agriculture has established in the Division of Chemistry a laboratory for testing physically and chemically all varieties of road materials. These substances include rocks of all kinds, gravel, shells, brick, clays and other bodies used in road building in country districts, but do not include materials for municipalities.

Any person desiring to have road materials tested in this laboratory is advised to write to the Office of Public Road Inquiries, Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., for instructions in regard to the methods of selecting and shipping samples.

Specimens will be tested in the order in which they are received, excepting those sent by the special agents of the Department, which will be given preference over all others.

Samples of a miscellaneous nature not taken in accordance with the directions given by the Office of Public Road Inquiries will not be examined.

A full description of the laboratory and its installation and the methods of conducting the tests will be given in a forthcoming publication of the Department.—Martin Dodge, Director.

In Germany a clock has been made that is warranted to go for 9000 years.

HAS HEARD ANTS TALK.

So Thinks a French Naturalist, and His Reasons for His Belief.

Sir John Lubbock, as well as many other scientists, has of course studied the ant, but it has been given to a Frenchman, a M. Forel, to make a discovery as regards ants that proves them to be possessed of an intelligence far greater than has been hitherto supposed.

And this discovery is nothing more or less than that ants are capable of producing sounds intelligible to their fellows, and even audible to our ears—in other words, that they converse with one another.

The way M. Forel proved this was as follows:

He made a glass funnel, one end smaller than the other, which he placed, the small end downward, in the centre of a square of plain glass some six inches wide, fitting closely enough to prevent the little insects from crawling out underneath.

He then took a number of ants in a bunch about the size of an ordinary horse chestnut, free from any foreign substance, and, lifting up the funnel, dropped the cluster of insects inside.

While the ants were still in a state of bewilderment, and before any of them could reach the edge of the glass, the experimenter covered it with another square, similar to the one already in use, which had been surrounded a short distance from its edge by a rim of putty.

This effectually confined the little insects and prevented their being crushed.

The two plates of glass were then pressed together to within, approximately, the thickness of an ant's body, but closer on one side than on the other, so as to hold some fast and incapable of moving, while others could move about in their narrow prison where they liked.

On applying this box of ants to the ear, as though it had been a watch, M. Forel was astonished to hear a regular and continuous buzzing noise, somewhat similar to the sound made by water when boiled in an open vessel, though sometimes a higher note would be struck by one or another of the ants.

Further study of the box of prisoners revealed many interesting facts. The free ants were seen to advance to the sides of the ones that could not move, and to endeavor with all their strength to release the prisoners. It was then that the sounds made by the ants became louder and more stringent. It was evident that these sounds conveyed some meaning, for a palpable difference was to be found in the minute utterances which must have been intelligible to the tiny captives.

Then came the problem, how was the sound made? M. Forel proceeded to at once make minute investigations, and submitted live ants to the scrutiny of a very powerful microscope.

Here, again, an interesting discovery was in store for the investigator. The sides of the little insects were found to be in one particular place rough and scaly, resembling—though, of course, on a tiny scale—the teeth of a saw. It was by rubbing this that the ant made the sound that had rewarded the scientist's research.

M. Forel then took a couple of ants and confined them in the glass box already described, imprisoning the one and giving the other liberty to move.

The ant that had free use of his limbs became at once intensely excited. It rushed about, making what must have been—taking into consideration the comparative size of a man and an ant—a terrible noise. The modulations of the insect's mode of expression were plainly heard by the scientists.

Then, having apparently exhausted an exceedingly copious vocabulary, the ant, in despair of liberating its companion, dashed at it and killed it. This was evidently to the insect the only course left open.—Chicago Chronicle.

Gambling Resorts in Switzerland.

One need not travel to Monte Carlo or other gambling resorts to be relieved of any superfluous cash, for there are dozens of places in Switzerland, known by the name of kursaals, where a "customer" will be accommodated.

Although the play is limited by the law, highest stakes are winked at, and one's losses—for one invariably loses, with an 8 to 1 chance against him at the race-horse game—may easily run into four figures during the evening. Some sensational facts have come to light concerning the kursaal in Geneva, which is one of the best of its kind in Switzerland. The proprietor lately informed a correspondent that he could not possibly afford to run his theatre and side shows and engage well known artistes at a huge salary unless he could recoup himself from the takings of the gaming tables.—London Daily Mail.

Crows to Be Used in Warfare.

According to a Berlin correspondent, a modest little society in Germany is apparently pinning its faith to the crow, in succession to the almost universally used pigeon, as a carrier of war news. The pigeon fly experiments which Germany carried out on British soil some time ago—sending huge crates of birds to Dover for the purpose—were not wholly successful, bad weather preventing many of the birds from reaching their quarters again, and many were shot by persons in search of dinner. It is claimed with truth that very few people would shoot crows for food, and that when liberated from a beleaguered place the enemy would be more likely to allow them to fly past unmolested and unsuspected than would be the case with pigeons.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

The way to get a population of 250,000 by 1910 is to begin right now.

A Scotchman has bought an Alaskan island and proposes to embark in the business of raising skunks. Oh! those uncanny Scots.

A Boston burglar resented very vigorously the charge that he was only a "peeping Tom." Which shows that there is still honor even among thieves.

A girl is not of age in Pennsylvania until she is 21 years old. Before that age the consent of her parents is necessary to secure a marriage license.

Former King Milan wants an American wife. It may be hoped that no sensible Yankee girl will marry a king out of a job, and a hard winter at hand.

Fame is queer. Through the suicide of a man the public learns that a woman of whom hardly anybody ever before heard is "famous" in two continents.

Should Holland and Portugal come to blows the noise of the war dogs will not be the deep mouthed bay of giant mastiffs, but rather the squeak of tiny toy terriers.

Surgical skill is enlarging its lines by adding to its industry the furnishing of new mouths. What good will that do unless new tongues and fresh brains are also put in?

The Boston telephone girl who has just come into $400,000 by a lucky streak in the Klondike can now afford to quit her old haughty ways, come down to earth and be like other folks.

A man was found guilty in England the other day of attempting to murder his wife by pouring paraffine over her clothing and setting fire to it. The court sentenced him to twelve months' hard labor.

A Chicago physician advances the theory that men over 35 years of age do not need exercise. It is not likely that it will be generally accepted. It deprives too many golf players of their best excuse.

Texas used to have a state geologist, but his office was abolished in 1894. An effort is now being made to have the position re-established, though the Texas Academy of Science has done much to explore and publish the mineral and geological resources of the state.

The Emperor of Austria displays a remarkable degree of common sense in the treatment of his son, the heir presumptive to the throne. The boy is thirteen years old and has just been sent to the public schools of Vienna, with a view to making him acquainted with the people.

There is such a thing as overdoing it, as a New York real estate man has found out to his sorrow. It seems that a piece of property which was listed with him to sell was afterwards withdrawn because when the owner read his advertisement he could not bear to part with such a perfect home.

There are, within the limits of the United States exclusive of Alaska and the new island possessions, nearly 573,905,000 acres of vacant government land, besides 145,122,000 acres in Indian reservations, forest reserves, national parks, reservoir sites and military reservations, or for some other reason reserved for settlement.

The Australian postal authorities are endeavoring to devise a method whereby the great delays in the transmission of mails, caused by protracted droughts, may be obviated. During the dry season the dusty deserts of Queensland and other sections of the country are impassable even for camels.

The determination of the United States to make a strenuous effort to build up a mercantile marine proportionate to the magnitude of the foreign commerce of the country is beginning to cause anxiety in shipping and other circles in Great Britain. The London Post, although it expresses no actual alarm, warns British manufacturers, ship owners and statesmen of the danger which is facing Great Britain.

An insanity expert named Dr. Goodwin Brown, of New York City, appeared before the industrial commission to advocate more restrictive legislation to keep out pauper and insane immigrants. He intimated that local officials in foreign countries encouraged the emigration of insane and impecunious persons to the United States in order to relieve their municipalities from the burden of supporting them, and as a consequence it cost the state of New York more than $1,000,000 a year to support foreign-born insane persons. He made the startling declaration that 50 per cent. of all the patients in the hospitals and insane asylums of New York were aliens and many of them were not even naturalized. He asserted that similar conditions would be found in Chicago, Buffalo, St. Louis, Cleveland and other western cities.

OUR BUDGET OF HUMOR

LAUGHTER-PROVOKING STORIES FOR LOVERS OF FUN.

The Reason. Two Paisley dies dat—His Conjecture—Their Flight Worse—A Happy Balance—Too High—Hurried—His Preference—Being His Best, Etc., Etc.

"There is plenty of room at the top,"
Said the poet, a little ornate;
And he chuckled with glee
As he said: "Don't you see,
That's the reason I live in an attic."
—Philadelphia Record.

His Conjecture.

Myer—"I wonder what causes concussion of the brain?"

Gyer—"A collision between two trains of thought, I suppose."—Chicago News.

Their Flight Worse.

"He's been talking golf so much lately he seems to be actually going crazy."

"Gracious! Then what must be the condition of the people he's been talking to!"

A Happy Exit.

"Tubbs is somewhat of a snob, isn't he?"

"Snob? Say, he'd die happy if he could get run over by a millionaire's automobile."

Too High.

"D'Auber doesn't care so much about 'high art' as he used to."

"No, the last thing he exhibited was styled by the committee."—Philadelphia Press.

Hurried.

The Idler—"How would you like to live a hundred years?"

The Busy Man—"I'd like to, but I am afraid I couldn't find the time."—Indianapolis Press.

His Preference.

"Do you boil your water before drinking it?"

"Boil it? Well, I guess not. I'd rather drink a menagerie than a cemetery any day."—Life.

Being His Best.

"Lester, dear," said Mrs. Giddings, anxiously, to her husband, "I don't like that cough of yours."

"I'm sorry," replied Giddings, "but it is the best I have."—Tit-Bits.

Unready.

"Every avenue to success is now open to you!" said Fate.

"And I haven't a decent street dress to my name!" faltered Woman, tears dimming her eyes.—Detroit Journal.

Quiet Protests.

"Well, I wonder how this marriage happened to be brought about?"

"They simply fell in love with each other."

"How unromantic!"—Denver News.

The Shadow.

"What profession does your friend follow?"

"That of the light-fingered gentry."

"You don't mean it!"

"Yes; he's a detective."—Catholic Standard and Times.

Not Any For Him.

Cholly—"Ole Chappie, why don't you have a pair of these rubber heels put on your shoes?"

Fweddy—"It would be too much trouble to keep them inflated, deah boy."—Chicago Tribune.

Further Proof of His Ability.

"Yapp has greatly misrepresented his assets to the counsel for his creditors."

"Well, that's only additional proof that his lie-abilities are great."—Philadelphia North American.

Sure to Object.

"If we could see ourselves as others see us," began Miss Quotem, "we should—"

"Very promptly inform them that they were mistaken," interrupted Mr. Flyppe.—Baltimore American.

Touching.

Here the fellow borrowed $10 of me.

"Your friendship is pure gold!" he cried.

I wrung his hand.

"Don't mention it!" I protested. "Your Midas touch would turn anybody's friendship to gold!"

Then I laughed boisterously.

The Hail That Failed.

"All hail!"

Everybody hailed.

But he to whom their acclamations were directed passed them with sternly averted face.

So it was the people walked home, for he was none other than the policeman of the last car.—Detroit Journal.

Finding Fault Early in the Game.

Bride—"You can't imagine how faithful Jack is to me, he is so selfish, mother."

Mother (sympathetically)—"Why, what does he do?"

Bride—"He always wants to go out to the theatre, and things like that, just the very time when I want to stay home!"—Collier's Weekly.

Quite True.

"You disapprove of some of the conventional fictions?"

"I do," answered Miss Cayenne.

"And yet I have heard you exclaim to a number of people, 'I am delighted to see you!'"

"The remark was perfectly true in each case. I shouldn't care to be blind, you know."—Washington Star.

The Deluded Canine.

"The dog is one of the most intelligent of animals," remarked Willie Washington.

"So I have heard," answered Miss Cayenne.

"And he is the most loyal admirer a man can have."

"Yes... I never could quite reconcile those two assertions."—Washington Star.

THE BANNER.

Printed and Published Every Thursday at Clanton, Chilton County, Ala.

Entered at the postoffice at Clanton, Ala., as second-class mail matter.

"Here shall the press the people's rights maintain,
Unawed by influence and unbribed by gain.
Here patriot truth her glorious precepts draw,
Pledged to religion, liberty and law."

Subscription, yearly - - - $1.00
Invariably in Advance.

Address all communications to
THE BANNER,
Clanton, Ala.

GOVERNOR Sanford, we are glad to say, has recovered from his recent illness, and has assumed the duties of his office.

HON. Ignatius Donnelly, late candidate for Vice-President of the United States on the middle-of-the-road ticket, died suddenly at Minneapolis Wednesday morning.

ALL the Populist members of the State Senate of Colorado, eight in number, entered the caucus of the Democratic members and announced their intention to join the Democratic party.

FROM all we can learn, the Beat meetings to discuss the Stock, Road and Prohibition laws will be well attended, and the county convention at Clanton on the 12th instant promises to be a notable one.

ONCE in a century backward subscribers can well afford to come forward, and the best time in a century is at the beginning. Good resolutions are good, and good papers are equally good. Start this century right, no matter how you finish it.

King Cotton has resumed his sceptre. It has been a great year for the South, as well as for the whole country. It was not long ago—not more than two years—that the cotton growing industry was depressed so much that urgent cries went up through the South for diversifying the planting and reducing the acreage of the staple. Now cotton has come up again with emphasis, and stands as the most important factor in our non-manufactured exports of 1900. In November alone we exported $41,500,000 worth of cotton, and in eleven months $270,000,000. These totals show increases of $15,000,000 for the month and $105,000,000 for the eleven months over 1899. In the month the total of all exports increased but $13,000,000, and for the eleven months $180,000,000. The importance of cotton to the whole is seen plainly from these figures.—Boston Transcript.

As respects the trans-Isthmian ship canal, the full report of the Walker commission is going to be available for the guidance of Congress. Probably the commission will take the ground that it would be practicable to build the Panama Canal, but that for the purposes of the United States the Nicaragua route would be preferable. American sentiment, so far as it has now been formed, is clearly in favor of the Nicaragua route. The public is also in favor of the ownership of the canal by the United States Government and its construction out of the national treasury. Let us hope that the opinion will prevail that it is neither dignified nor safe for the sovereign government of the United States to construct a great public work like this canal upon alien soil. Whatever the initial difficulties may be, the only simple and clear solution of all questions involved in the future control of the canal lies in the acquisition by our Government of full sovereignty over such a strip of land as may be needed for canal purposes. We have made some annexations of territory under President McKinley's administration; but none that could be compared in importance with the annexation of the requisite strip of territory in Central America. Sooner or later, such annexation is bound to come, and it will be much better to accomplish it in advance of the construction of a costly canal than to bring it about by force at some future period. To succeed in such a piece of negotiation would count for more, in the estimation of future generations of Americans, than any other of the diplomatic achievements of Mr. McKinley.—Review of Reviews.

ATLANTA CONSTITUTION

The Atlanta Constitution wants good agents everywhere. Men who will get out and canvass and hustle for new business. Many who have to go over their own and adjoining counties on business can take the Constitution along as the best side line. Country doctors, tax collectors, rural route mail carriers, nursery men, farmers and good workmen, could all realize among these prizes and make their commission besides. A fair salary proposition for any man.

The Weekly Constitution makes special feature of its agricultural page, which is presided over by Colonel R. J. Redding, director of the Georgia experiment farm, and a man who is recognized as an expert on all agricultural topics. He gives a full page every week on agricultural matters. A page is devoted to the women and a page to children, these two departments being presided over by Mrs. William King.

The Constitution has just completed the 31st year of its existence, Clark Howell being the editor and Colonel W. A. Hemphill its business manager. Its ame is a household word in every Southern State, from Vergmia to Texas. It has always been in especially close touch with the agricultural masses of the South, and having reached a circulation which carries it into 150,000 homes it has won a unique distinction which ranks it among the greatest of American weekly newspapers.

The Constitution will send a sample copy of its great Weekly free to any one sending his own name and the name of six neighbors, on a postal card.

Every man should take his county newspaper before anything else, and next to this he should take a good general newspaper, such as The Constitution. His county paper gives him the local home news, which is not supplied by a newspaper furnishing the general news from all parts of the country and from all over the world. Before a man seeks information from the outside, he should first feel sure that he is being kept posted on what is going on at home. When, however, the opportunity is offered to get the best weekly newspaper in this country with your home paper, the inducement is such as to elicit prompt response from our readers.

We will be glad to receive clubbing subscription with this paper and The Constitution, and if there are any who are now subscribers to this paper, who wish to take the Constitution also, we will be glad to receive subscriptions to the latter and forward item, having authority from that paper that to do so. The Constitution should be in every southern home!

Forrest as a Negro Minstrel.

From almost the beginning of American stage history there were negroes of the minstrel variety impersonated on the stage, though it was not until about 1840 that they were organized into bands. Some of the greatest actors of later days had their experience as minstrels, among them Joe Jefferson and Edwin Forrest.

Forrest was given a negro "song and dance" act to do when he was very young, and after he had studied it up he asked where was the "old negro lady" that was to act his assistant in the piece. The management tried several of the women who were members of the company, but none of them would consent to blacken up, and, in fact, they were very indignant over the proposition. The actor, however, was not easily discouraged, and on the night of the first performance he blackened up and went around the corner to an old negro woman who did his washing.

"Hello Dinah," he said on entering. "How yo' be et feelin dis bery fine ebenin?"

"Hello, yo'," replied the African lady. "'Pears to me yo' am er bery fresh nigger."

"Taz no nigger," answered Forrest, and then, time being rather short, he assumed his natural voice and told Dinah, much to her surprise, that he was Forrest, the actor, and that he wanted her to go on the stage with him that night and laugh loudly at frequent intervals, which was all the female part called for. The two made a great hit and were kept on for some time, which goes to show that Forrest might have been a good minstrel had he been of an ambitious nature.—Saturday Evening Post.

Brought Good Fortune.

A small item in his own paper lately brought amazing good fortune to Editor Chris. Retter, of the Saginaw (Mich.) Post and Zeitung. He and his family had the Grip in its worst form. Their doctor did them no good. Then he read that Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds was a guaranteed cure for La Grippe and all Throat and Lung troubles; tried it and says: "Three bottles cured the whole family. No other medicine on earth equals it." Only 50c and $1.00 at Clanton drug store. Trial bottle free.

HOMEWARD BOUND.

In mid Ocean, Oct. 2, 1900

We left Naples on Sept. 18. The whole day I had spent in watching the poor emigrants come aboard. About 600 came over with us.

I saw many good byes. I saw one strong man kissing his old mother, his young sisters, his strong brothers, his own dear wife, and last and tenderly his little children farewell. It seemed as if his very heart would break. He would go to the ship's side and then back again on the warf to the iron picket fence that surrounded the pier and ask that his little ones be handed over the fence for yet another kiss. I had thought my home parting sad, but let us compare. I left home voluntarily with my way paid the whole way and back again, and a competent guide to see after my baggage, hire my carriage, and in short, I had nothing to do but do as I was told.

Sheer poverty and awful taxes and low wages, drive the poor man from church and priest ridden and military oppressed Italy, to seek a better land to win bread in. He is not able to take them; he must go himself first, make the money and send back for them. I looked at this scene and others of like nature, until I was not quite sure it was Mt. Vesuvius I saw over the bay, and there was no mist of condensed ether in the beautiful Italian sky overhead.

As much as was my sympathy for the poor man, I did not forget my country. This emigration must stop. These people simply conquer the population of our already crowded "street veneered" cities. If we want any emigrants at all, we want some who will till the soil. I, for one, have got enough of all kinds for one hundred years, any way.

What constitutes an insult, do you know? I have always contended it was foolish to get mad, and the mere calling you an ugly name by a bad man was no reason at all to get mad, for if he was incorrect you knew it, and he lied if he knew it. I am more than ever confirmed in this opinion now, by several experiences on this trip, and one in particular, that occurred on board ship. A young American called to an Italian, "say here," to attract his attention for some purpose I do not know what. Failing to attract his attention, he whistled, as we often do in America. This set the Italian on fire, and a war was narrowly averted. It is a deadly insult in Italy to whistle at any one. It is a gross discourtesy to ask a German to let you light your cigar by the fire on his.

You know what is considered the gross insult in the South of the United States of America, while in the North, they call each other that unmentionable name with impunity. You can call the Arab any "old thing" you wish, and he will answer you by saying "I am your good friend," but just speak disrespectfully of his ancestors and you will get "a scrap" quicker than a minute. So it goes and after all, custom and not sense makes insult.

We have a nice lot of passengers aboard our steamer. There are two young ladies of New York City, also one young man and a man and wife, all of whom are artists, who have been studying in the picture and statuary quarries of Italy to improve themselves in their art.

Italy is the acknowledged birth place of the artist, nor has its people lost their tastes and cunning in that line and however much its degeneracy in other respects. It was quite amusing to me to see them show each other copies of some of the great masters where the picture or statue as the case might be, was represented in the genuine nude style so common in Italy and France, and point out with great animation its pretty points as they appeared to their higher and more cultivated taste. While a few feet away two ministers of our party kept a pair of bangus fixed right then, while I knew they were thinking up some "thunder" to turn loose on the subject when they got safely back to the village church they had left back in the hills of Mississippi and Texas.

There was one thing certain these Yankee girls lack no sense when it comes to footwear. You never see one unless she has on a shoe with a sole quite as heavy as the soles on my shoes, and they can walk a fellow down too, if he ain't a good one.

I am now nearing the shore of my native land. We will be in New York harbor to-day. I humbly thank the good Lord that I have passed through all these lands that were a dreamland to me before, and I too, like W. A. Whittle, do not remember how long ago the ambition first came to me that my first money to spare, and time too, should be expended in this way. It was an awful struggle to pull myself away from my clinging wife, and innocent little children (my wife never consenting for me to go) and trust my life on so perilous a journey, when I knew I had pledged at the altar to cleave unto her, and only, and thereby binding myself to the offspring from such union, but I felt in my heart that my purpose was good and God was good, and that He would bless it and so He has, and my heart is full of joyful satisfaction that it is now finished, and I shall, in 58 hours, be with them again, and always until He calls.

I have written under many difficulties all the way through. Often on the running train, the rocking steamship, in the crowded writing rooms of the hotels, where many things were to distract my attention, and I feel that I could have made things plainer and more entertaining, had my opportunities been better, but what I lack in that particular, let my many discomforts weigh as against it, while I bid you, one and all, an affectionate letters writer good bye.

T. U. CRUMPTON.

Set Out of an Increase of His Pension.

A Mexican war veteran and prominent editor writes, "seeing the advertisement of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, I am reminded that as a soldier in Mexico in '47 and '48, I contracted Mexican diarrhoea and this remedy has kept me from getting an increase in my pension for on every renewal a dose of it relieves me." It is unequaled as a quick cure for diarrhoea and is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by Clanton Drug Co. and D. I. Deramus, Verbena.

REGISTER'S SALE

The State of Alabama,
Chilton County.

In Chancery at Clanton, Alabama, 7th District, Northeastern Chancery Division.

John P. Nix, Complainant, vs. Geo. W. Hodgens, Defendant.

By virtue of a Decree rendered at the Fall Term, 1900 of the Chancery Court for Chilton County, Alabama, in said cause, I shall proceed to sell to the highest and best bidders for cash at Public Auction, at the Court House door in Clanton, within the legal hours of sale on the following described property, to wit: Ne ¼ of Ne ¼ of Section 31, Township 22 North, Range 13 East, to satisfy said Decree.

MONDAY, JANUARY 7th, 1901.

W. E. STEWART, Register.

It Girdles the Globe.

The fame of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, as the best in the world, extends around the earth. It's the one perfect healer of Cuts, Corns, Burns, Bruises, Sores, Scalds, Boils, Ulcers, Felons, Aches, Pains and all Skin Eruptions. Only infallible Piles cure. 25c a box at Clanton drug store.

A man isn't necessarily a gardener because he is able to remove a widow's weeds.

It's Easy To Take

Thin, pale, anæmic girls need a fatty food to enrich their blood, give color to their cheeks and restore their health and strength. It is safe to say that they nearly all reject fat with their food.

SCOTT'S EMULSION OF COD LIVER OIL WITH HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME & SODA

is exactly what they require; it not only gives them the important element (cod-liver oil) in a palatable and easily digested form, but also the hypophosphites which are so valuable in nervous disorders that usually accompany anæmia.

SCOTT'S EMULSION is a fatty food that is more easily digested than any other form of fat. A certain amount of flesh is necessary for health. You can get it in this way.

We have known persons to gain a pound a day while taking it.

50c. and $1.00, all druggists.
SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, New York.

Gone Democratic.

Cold weather will soon be here and you will need wraps, we have them to suit all.

A good wrap for 50c; a better one for 75c; a nice shoulder cape silk lined and fur around the neck, black plush only $1.50; a large plush cape, one that will cost you $7.50 to $10.00 in a city, our price only $5; we have them to suit all, come and see for yourself.

CLOTHING, well, we can fit your boys, husbands, fathers, grand-fathers and all boy's suits from 75c up, men's suits from $5 up.

A nice line of DRESS GOODS from 25 to 75c per yard, outings in pink, blue, cream, and other colors 10c per yard; checks 5c; sheeting, 4½c; calicoes, 5c, a nice quilt top for 40 cents.

Children's shoes 25c up; men's shoes from $1 to $3.50. Ladies' shoes from 75c to $1.00.

Fascinators from 25 to 75c, any color, infant hoods, 25c up; men's hats from 75c up $3.00, water proof in black, blue, brown, 52 inches wide, double width, only 50c per yard. 1 pound of good soda for 5 cents, and everything kept in a first-class store at the same rate; we carry nothing but reliable goods and anything that is not as represented we will make it right. Thanking our host of customers for their liberal patronage, we stand ready to serve you with first class goods at a small profit. Yours for business,

SARTOR & KICKER,
CLANTON.

THE WHITE HOUSE

at Washington, the home of the President, is one of the finest buildings in the land, and the white store house at Clanton carries the finest stock of

GENERAL MERCHANDISE

to be found in this part of the country. We carry a fine line of Groceries, Clothing, Shoes, etc., and will treat you well.

J. B. DOWNS, Clanton.

C. R. MULLINS

AGENT FOR THE LIVERPOOL & LONDON & GLOBE FIRE INSURANCE OF ENGLAND. THE LONDON & LANCASHIRE FIRE INSURANCE CO. OF NEW YORK (formerly represented by W. L. Sampey). THE ÆTNA ACCIDENT INSURANCE CO. OF HARTFORD, CONN. THE OLD MUTUAL BENEFIT LIFE INSURANCE CO. OF NEWARK, N.J. AND THE SINGER MANUFACTURING CO., the largest Sewing Machine Company in the world.

We know you are interested in the problem of getting full value for the money you spend no matter what the outlay is for. I will not presume to advise you along all lines, but when it comes to buying a Sewing Machine for yourself and family I am in a position to offer some valuable suggestions. For over fifty years the Company has done nothing but study the needs and requirements of the people in the matter of Sewing Machines, and our large business is proof that we are making and furnishing what they want. The styles are the very best, unsurpassed in lasting qualities and, best of all, the prices are reasonable, and the terms within the reach of all. We are placing our machines in the leading families all over the land and if you want the best looking, the lightest running and the finest set of attachments ever bought, call for the High Arm Singer. You will find a complete stock of these machines at the Singer Office, Clanton.

Machines from $5.00 to $55.00 for cash or on time. Needles, Bands, Cams, Shuttles and Attachments, and the best and only genuine Machine Oil manufactured, every bottle bearing the Singer trade mark. 10, 15 and 20 cent bottles.

My regular office days are Saturdays and Mondays. For further particulars call on or address

C. R. MULLINS,
SINGER OFFICE, CLANTON.

A WHOLESALE HOUSE FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE CONSUMER

We save you the Retailer's profit. We sell direct to the People at the same price that your Retailer pays for his goods. We buy direct from the Manufacturer and pay cash for our goods. You can buy one bottle from us at the same price your Retailer pays per dozen. $1 preparations, 500 75c. 50c preparations, 25 to 40c. 25c preparations, 10 to 20c. 15c preparations, 7 to 12c. 10c preparations, 6 to 8c.

OUR WHISKEY DEPARTMENT

Is the best in the State. All whiskey sold 25 per cent less than you can buy from any other firm. Try a quart of our J. MARTIN'S 5 YEAR OLD VIRGINIA RYE at 75c, if you are not satisfied that it is equal to any brand you buy elsewhere for $1, we will refund your money. Send us your orders. Ware your friend and guarantee everything we sell.

COLLIER DRUG CO. 1926 1st Avenue BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

NEW AND BIGGER STOCK!

To meet the increased demands of our business we are now laying in a NEW and full line of

CLOTHING, HATS, SHOES, ETC.

all in the Latest Styles and Newest Fashions.

OUR GROCERIES and GENERAL MERCHANDISE are of the finest grades and always fresh.

OUR PRICES ARE BASED ON THE SMALLEST MARGIN OF PROFIT.

WE SHALL BE PLEASED TO SERVE YOU

KEMP & GILES, Clanton Ala.

$10,000 TO BE GIVEN AWAY!

WOULD YOU LIKE TO TRY FOR IT?

If so, write THE WEEKLY ADVERTISER, Birmingham, Alabama, and they will send you the list of prizes and the conditions upon which you may get one of their great prizes to be given away during next May.

TOWN ITEMS

Circuit court stops around February first Monday in Clanton, first Monday in Montevallo, second Monday in Columbiana, third Monday in November.

...TON COTTON MART

...ly 8 cents.

...date last year 6½ cents.

...EIVED TO DATE: 1900 1899

...d & Co. 2143 2696
1775 1971
328 318
345 320
4589 5303

...al . . . . .

...C. Brown, of Montevallo, ...town this week.

...Johnson has returned to ...college.

...com V. McMorries left ...den last Sunday.

...young people had an enjoyable ...tainment at Mr. Sam Smith's ...day night.

...ler R. H. Kelly was in ...dnesday.

...L. Stewart is returning ...daughter who is in college ...eo, Ky.

...Horn, of Thorsby, was a visitor here Monday.

...lair Taylor, of Billingsley, ...he city Sunday.

...Gruddy, of Thorsby, visited ...Monday.

Thornton Dudley, of Sag ...visiting the family of Mr. ...ndley.

...S. Johnson, has returned ...edical college at Mobile.

...is out and take it to Clan... store and D. I. Deramus, ...and get a free sample of ...lain's Stomach and Liver ...the best physic. They al... ...disorders of the stomach, ...ess and headache.

Wallace C. Edlet has re... from Birmingham, where ...en for three days attend... meeting of the 32nd degree.

...ollowing teachers in Chil... ...ty successfully passed the ...mination: Thomas Wil... ...lbert Ryland, Miss Gatie ...iss Kate Garner and Miss ...rner.

A. L. Pattillo, of Verbena, ...isitor here last Thursday.

Assessor Mims and Collector ...rd finished their last year's ...Monday.

Wm. Luther, of Mountain ...was among our welcome ...Saturday.

...P. Smith, of Coosa, paid ...ts here a visit last week.

...d Mrs. J. T. Cooley have ...from a visit to Talladega.

...itizens of Clanton will hold ...y election on Friday, 4th ...nominate a mayor and four ...men.

...C. Conner, of Dillive, is ...friends here this week.

...W WHAT YOU ARE TAKING

...ou take Grove's Tasteless ...nic because the formula is ...printed on every bottle ...that it is simply Iron and ...in a tasteless form. No ...o Pay. 50c.

...iff Gullahorn has returned ...isit to his sister in South ...

...L. Marcus, whose case ...ges has been so long in the ...nd who was awarded $6000 ...rcuit court of Shelby coun... ...ion is in possession of that ...the Supreme Court having ...the verdict of the circuit ...

Wm. Robinson and Misses ...obinson and Catherine Cou... ...Kellyton, Coosa county, ...iting friends here this week.

...ew double storehouse of J. ...s and T. S. Phillips is ...rapid progress toward com...

...ge licenses have been issued ...by the Probate Judge to ...persons.

...F. Varden and Miss Ma... ...chley; Mr. A. F. Mims ...A. E. Wilson; Mr. C. B. ...Miss Mary E. Young; ...Gay and Miss Amanda ...tt; Mr. John C. Gaylor ...Lizzie Ledge.

...d. W. J. Jones and Lela ...

Blown to Atoms.

...d idea that the body some... ...ds a powerful, drastic, ...pill has been exploded; ...King's New Life Pills, ...perfectly harmless gent... ...ate liver and bowels to ex... ...nous matter, cleanse the ...and absolutely cure Consti... ...and Sick Headache. Only ...Clanton drug store.

...ric.

...l soon be here and you will ...e them to suit all.

...better one for 75c. a nice shoulder cape ...neck, black plush only $1 50; a large ...$7 50 to $10 00 in city, our price ...all, come and see for yourself ...can fit your boys, husbands, fathers, ...ts from 75c up, men's suits from $5 up ...GOODS from 5c to 75c per yard, outings ...per yard, checks 5c; shoe ...equal top for 50 cents ...men's shoes from $1 to $3 50. Ladies' ...75c, any color, infant hoods, 25c up ...water proof in black, blue, brown, $2 ...5c per yard. 1 pound of good ... ...best-class store, at the same rate; ...good and anything that is not as O K ...our host of customers for their ...ready to serve you with first class goods ...for business.

...R & KICKER,

CLANTON.

...HITE HOUSE

...he President, is one of the finest build... ...te ...re house at Clanton carries the ...

MERCHANDISE

...the country. We carry a fine line of ...c., and will treat you well.

...DOWNS, Clanton.

...MULLINS

...L & LONDON & GLOBE FIRE INSUR... ...LONDON & LANCASHIRE FIRE ...NEW YORK, formerly represented by ...L. Sampey. ...URAN CE CO. OF HARFORD, CONN. ...IFE INSURANCE CO. OF NEWARK, N.J. ...FACTURING CO. the largest Sewing ...company in the world.

...ted in the problem of getting full value ...atter what the outlay is for. I will not ...ll lines, but when it comes to buying a ...nd family I am in a position to offer ...for over fifty years the Company has ...eds and requirements of the people in ...s, and our large business is proof that ...what they want. The styles are the ...ting qualities and, best of all, the ...terms within the reach of all. We are ...ading families all over the land and if ...ughtest running and the finest set of ...for the High Arm Singer. You will ...machines at the Singer Office, Clanton. ...$100 for cash or on time. Needles, ...chments, and the best and only genu... ...ed, every bottle bearing the Singer ...bottles.

Saturday and Mondays. For further ...

...MULLINS,

...SINGER OFFICE CLANTON.

...E FOR THE BENEFIT OF ...CONSUMER

...er's profit. We sell direct to the ...t your Retailer pays for his goods, ...anufacturer and pay cash for our ...ttle from us at the same price your ...preparations, 500 75c. 50c pre... ...eparations, 50 to 60c. 15c prepar... ...ations, 6 to 8c.

...EY DEPARTMENT

...whiskey sold 25 per cent less than ...rm. Try a qua of our J. MAR... ...at 75c, if you're not satisfied ...ou buy elsewhere for $1, we will ...your orders. Ware your friend ...sell.

...CO. 1926 1rst Avenue BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

...GER STOCK!

...meet the increasing demands of our ...we are now laying in a NEW and ...of

...OTHING, HATS, ...SHOES, ETC.

...Latest styles and Newest Fashions.

...ROCERIES and GENERAL MER... ...DISE are of the finest grades and always fresh.

...ON THE SMALL MARGIN ...PROFITS

...TO SEE YOU

...LES, Clanton Ala.

...E GIVEN AWAY!

...E TO TRY IT?

...ADVERTISER Birmingham, Ala. ...list of prizes, terms & conditions ...their great prize be given away

...TOWN ITEMS

...chasers' court meets second ...in February, first Monday in ...Monday in June, second ...in July, second Monday in Au... ...first Monday in November.

...TON COTTON MART

...day 9 cents.

...same date last year 6⅞ cents

...CEIVED TO DATE:	1900	1899
...rd & Co.	2145	2696
...	1775	1871
...	328	318
...	345	270
...tal	4593	5155

...C. Brown, of Montgom... ...in town this week.

...Johnson has returned to ...college.

...ascom Y. McMorries left ...den last Sunday.

...young people had an enjoy... ...rtainment at Sheriff Coo... ...day night.

...elor R. B. Kelly was in ...dnesday.

...T. Stewart has returned ...daughter who is in college ...non, Ky.

...Horn, of Thorsby, was a ...visitor here Monday.

...Clair Taylor, of Billingsley, ...the city Sunday.

...Grimsley, of Thorsby, visited ...Monday.

...Thornton Dudley, of Sag... ...visiting the family of Mr. ...udley.

...N. S. Johnson, has returned ...edical college at Mobile.

...his out and take it to Clap... ...g store and D. I. Deramus, ...s, and get a free sample of ...rlain's Stomach and Liver ...the best physic. They al... ...disorders of the stomach, ...ness and headache.

...Wallace C. Edler has re... ...from Birmingham, where ...been for three days attend... ...meeting of the 32nd degree ...

...following teachers in Chil... ...nty successfully passed the ...mination: Thomas Wil... ...Albert Ryland, Miss Gatie ...Miss Kate Garner and Miss ...mer.

...A. L. Pattillo, of Verbena, ...visitor here last Thursday.

...Assessor Mims and Collect... ...ard finished their last year's ...n Monday.

...Wm. Luther, of Mountain ...was among our welcome ...Saturday.

...J. P. Smith, of Coosa, paid ...nts here a visit last week.

...nd Mrs. J. T. Cooley have ...d from a visit to Talladega.

...citizens of Clanton will hold ...ry election on Friday, 4th ...nominate a Mayor and four ...men.

...D. C. Conner, of Dilive, is ...friends here this week.

...OW WHAT YOU ARE TAKING

...you take Grove's Tasteless ...onic because the formula is ...printed on every bottle ...g that it is simply Iron and ...e in a tasteless form. No ...No Pay. 50c.

...Cliff Gullahorn has returned ...visit to his sister in South ...a.

...R. L. Marcus, whose case ...ages has been so long in the ...and who was awarded $6000 ...circuit court of Shelby coun... ...soon be in possession of that ...the Supreme Court having ...the verdict of the circuit ...

...Wm. Robinson and Misses ...Robinson and Catherine Con... ...Kellyton, Coosa county, ...iting friends here this week.

...new double storehouse of J. ...ns and T. S. Phillips is ...rapid progress toward com...

...age licenses have been issued ...k by the Probate Judge to ...owing persons. ...E. F. Varden and Miss Ma... ...Atchley; Mr. A. F. Mims ...s A. E. Wilson; Mr. C. B. ...d Miss Mary E. Young; ...n Gay and Miss Amanda ...ort; Mr. John C. Gaylor ...s Lizzie Lodge. ...ed. W. J. Jones and Lela ...

Blown to Atoms.

...old idea that the body some... ...eeds a powerful, drastic, ...e pill has been exploded; ...King's New Life Pills, ...e perfectly harmless gent... ...ulate liver and bowels to ex... ...noxious matter, cleanse the ...and absolutely cure Consti... ...and Sick Headache. Only ...Clanton drug store.

FALL GOODS

Now on sale and daily arriving a large and varied stock of goods. Prices as low as can be made on get at le merchandise and we spare no efforts to please you. Give us a call and let us figure with you on any thing you want to buy. Coffins kept in stock and also trimmings for home made coffins.

E. M. PINCKARD & CO

Why try to stick things with something that doesn't stick? Buy MAJOR'S CEMENT; you know it sticks. Nothing breaks away from it. Stick to MAJOR'S CEMENT. Buy once, you will buy forever. There is nothing as good; don't believe the substitutes.

MAJOR'S RUBBER and MAJOR'S LEATHER. Two separate companies—the best, based on having them. ESTABLISHED 1876. 15 cent 25 cents per bottle at all druggists.

MAJOR CEMENT CO., NEW YORK CITY.

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 21581.
Department of the Interior,
Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.
December 3rd 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Clerk of the Circuit Court, at Clanton, Ala., on January 12th, 1901, viz: Thomas J. Wyatt, Homestead entry, No. 30,-520, for the Sw ¼ of the Se ¼ of Section 30, Tp 22 s of R 16 east.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: John Oaks, Mitch Bates, Lon Bates, Ben Wyatt, all of Clanton, Ala.

ROBERT BARKER, Register.

How the Burmese Make Fire.

One day a Burmese messenger brought me a note. While he was waiting for the reply, I observed an object something like a toy's popgun suspended around his waist. On asking what it was he showed me that it was an implement for producing fire. It was a rude example of a scientific instrument employed by lecturers at home to illustrate the production of heat by suddenly compressed air. A piston fitted into the tube; the former was hollowed at the lower end and smeared with wax to receive a piece of cotton or tinder, which when pressed into it adhered. The tube was closed at one end. Placing the piston at the top of the tube, with a smart blow he struck it down and immediately withdrew it with the tinder on fire, the sudden compression of the air having ignited it. I was so much struck with the scientific ingenuity of this rude implement that I procured it from the Burman and sent it to the Asiatic society of Bengal, with a short description of its uses.—"Recollections of My Life," by Surgeon General Sir John Fryer.

Sensitive.

Sophy (s... ...cepted Mr. Charles Fleetwood ... ...ft before—Does Mr. Fleetwood ... ...on as being a sensitive man, Pauline?

Pauline (who doesn't know of the engagement—fractious, no! A man who has been rejected by 14 girls within six months and gets fat on it cannot be sensitive. Why, Sophy, what's the matter?

She had fainted.—London Fun.

Everyone to His Taste.

And I am pleased to say that your taste and Everyone's taste can be suited at my Store, where you will find the

choicest Line of Fancy Groceries

AND CANNED GOODS

Always Fresh and New. I have no old Stock.

Dry Goods, Hats, Shoes, Gents Furnishing Goods, Fancy line of Shirts and Underwear, Notions, Hardware and General Merchandise.

Yours to serve faithfully and well,

B. H JONES, CLANTON

Everything New.

NEW STOREHOUSE

BRAND NEW STOCK

We positively will carry none of our old stock into our new building, and for the next Thirty Days we are offering

BARGAINS IN EVERYTHING

now in our old storehouse. We are determined to clear out the last piece of old stock. Come and see us.

WILSON & BRO.

CLANTON.

A Business EDUCATION is absolutely necessary to the young man or young woman who would win success in life. This being conceded, it is of first importance to get your training at the school that stands in the front rank—

BRYANT & STRATTON BUSINESS COLLEGE,
LOUISVILLE, KY.

Bookkeeping, Shorthand, Telegraphy. Seven experienced teachers, each one a specialist in his line. Graduates of the school are preferred Business Houses.

Write for a beautiful book giving testimonials from graduates occupying prominent positions all over the United States, it will be mailed to you FREE.

There are other schools than ours, but none can offer our facilities. School open all year, students can enter at any time.

NEW ROYAL

High-arm Light running. Warranted 10 years. $28 and $32.

Some secondhand machines from $5 up. Send me 25 cents in silver or stamps and an old needle for sample and I will send you 1 doz. needles to fit your machine.

REPAIR WORK GUARANTEED.

L. D. POPWELL,
CLANTON.

THE NEW ENGLAND WATCH. nickle case, stem wind and stem set warranted for 12 months. Delivered anywhere with a silk cord of plate chain for $2.75. Try one if you want a good time piece cheap.

L. D. POPWELL, Clanton.

The Russians.

An Englishman in Russia says the "we may dislike Russia as we will and perhaps must, but there is no denying that the men and women of Russia are good lookers." The men are "tall and well built." The "women, especially those of the upper classes, have a grace and fascination that is all their own." The writer adds: "I am tired of hearing English people say that this is all show and that if I knew them better I should be greatly disappointed. Behind good looks and refined manners I have found the depth and sincerity of the Scotch combined with the wit and humor of the Irish."

Serious Complaint.

Askit—Whatever became of that patient of yours you were telling me about some time ago?

Dr. Sokum—Oh, he's got a complaint now that's giving me a great deal of trouble.

Askit—Indeed! What is it?

Dr. Sokum—It's about the amount of my bill.—Philadelphia Press.

Bad Form.

Mrs. Highflower—Don't forget, my dear, that in conversation the interest must not be allowed to flag.

Clara—But I'm sure I do my best, mamma.

"Maybe so, but while the pianist was playing I thought once or twice that I detected you listening to him."—Life.

Scholastic Acuteness.

"Professor, how did you come to pose to me in the face of my continued indifference?"

"I proceeded on the general proposition that whatever a woman seems to be she isn't."—Chicago Record.

"KRUMP'S KORNER."

The owner of this Korner has again returned to it, after wandering many days in foreign lands older, uglier and we trust a little wiser in some respects. He rejoices at his return, and would be glad to see all of the good and bad people of Chilton county. I only ask don't all of you come same day, as I have not got enough to go round for dinner. I have enough yarns however to make up shortness in grubb. Come to see me anyhow and we will talk it over, and no charge for the yarns. Please remember I keep all things the farmer needs, and I will sell him

A sewing machine, a wagon, or a buggy,
A suit, a hat, a pair shoes or a knife,
Or he can call himself very lucky,
If he will just bring his wife.

Yours for health,

T. U. CRUMPTON

MAPLESVILLE, ALA.

Wamben & Peterson

CONTRACTORS AND BUILDERS

HOUSE MOVING A SPECIALTY

—DEALER IN—

ALL BUILDING MATERIALS—SASH, DOORS, BLINDS, MANTELS, ETC.

OFFICE ON JONES ST OPPOSITE BICE'S

THORSBY.

—CALL AT THE—

CASH STORE

FOR BARGAINS,

THORSBY, ALA.

OUR CASH PRICES SUBJECT TO CHANGE WITHOUT NOTICE.

15 lbs. Granulated Sugar	81.00	2 bushel sack Meal	1.20
1 bbl Red Seal Patent Flour	4.50	1 gal water white 150 fire test oil	18
½ bbl " " " "	2.75	1 lb Ham	15
24 lb sack " " " "	60	Whole Ham, per pound	13
1 bbl Straight Family Flour	3.50	Bacon and Bulk	10-12
14 lb sk Family Flour	50	1 lb Lard	10
100 lbs Bran	1.10	50 lbs Lard	4.50

We are handling Minneapolis Flour. Soda Crackers and Sweet Crackers, Ginger Snaps, Cheese, Lemons. Irish Potatoes always in stock. Also best Dried Fruits in the market. Also handle Roller Champion and I. E. M. Flour.

Dry Goods, Clothing, Hardware and the very best Staple and Fancy Groceries.

Fresh Fish and Oysters every Saturday.

We take Eggs, Butter, Corn, Meal, Fruit and Chickens at the highest market price in exchange for goods.

Yours to please,

A. M. JOHNSON, Manager

ALABAMA BIBLE SOCIETY

MONTGOMERY, ALA.

Bibles at Cost for Cash

Bibles at Cost for Cash

BIBLES. BIBLES.

The Alabama Bible Society wishes to supply you with Bibles. You can get from us any style binding or type at the publishers' cost price. We do not sell except for CASH. Wright.

Subscribe for The Banner. $1.00 a year.

BILL ARP'S LETTER

Bartow Man Witnesses Happy Reunion of His Progeny.

BOYS ARE AT HOME FOR HOLIDAYS

Enjoys Watching the Grandchildren Play With Their Toys Sent By Santa Claus. The Christmas Dinner.

This Christmas is like "lengthened sweetness long drawn out" at our house, for the boys have gathered from the four corners and brought their love and their rations with them. New York brought a huge box of decorations for the Christmas tree. It was beautiful beyond description. Dolls of silk and satin and paper, all covered with glittering spangles—little angels with pearly wings suspended by threads of invisible rubber, golden harps and hearts and wreaths of spun glass in rainbow colors—scores of little waxen candles to illuminate the scene. Oh, it was like a fairy vision, and every limb and twig of the stately long leaf pine was burdened with Christmas gifts for old and young.

There were twenty-four of the family present, and it took half the night to untie and unfold the surprises, for all were remembered over and over again by old Santa. Yes, all, even to the venerable old patriarch—the "Paterfamilias," the antique ancestor, for he brought me a ball and a monkey jack and some candy, because he had heard that I was the boy—the only boy—about the house. But later on I discovered a silk cap and a pair of slippers, some handkerchiefs and an inkstand that the little grandchildren can't spill the ink out of if they do turn it over. Little Mary Lou, who is Jessie's child, got so many dolls and pretty things that she looked tired and, drawing a long breath, said: "Ganpa, it's too much, and I can't hardly stand it."

There were toys and books, and vases and perfumes, and baskets and gloves, and jewels and other gifts too numerous to mention. Mexico brought a beautiful hand-woven castilian shawl for my wife, and she struts around as lithe and gayas Eden's garden bird. "My boy brought it from Mexico," she says, forty times a day. "My boy and my children" are always on the tip of her tongue. Well, that's all right. They are her boys, sure enough, and she knows it. There may be some doubt, sometimes, about who is the father of a child, but everybody knows who is its mother.

Downstairs has all been clothed with mistletoe and holly. Geraniums from the pit are placed all around, and some beautiful roses lift up their lovely forms from beautiful vases that old Santa Claus brought. Bunches of mistletoe hang from every chandelier, and every time these merry, mischievous girls find me standing under one, they slip up unawares and claim a kiss. Even Mrs. Arp lost her normal dignity and coming slyly behind me, suddenly wrapped the drapery of her castillian shawl around me and claimed a mistletoe kiss from my connubial lips.

But the old marble clock that for nearly fifty years has stood upon the mantel ticking the moments and recording the hours as they pass did not stop on Christmas night, and at midnight the happy group retired to rest and happy dreams. Next day came the feast—the Christmas dinner. Every leaf was placed on the long extension table. At each end was a large, well-browned, well-done turkey and all the intermediate space crowded with luxuries for the inner man and woman. Eighteen of the family were the welcome guests at the table, while six of the infantiles surrounded a smaller one nearby. I never asked a blessing with a more grateful heart, for Providence has been kind, and since last we met no affliction or calamity has befallen us.

Verily, the lines have fallen to us in pleasant places. Would that all our kindred and friends—yes, would that every family in the land—the rich and the poor—could have a like happy and unclouded Christmas. As I survey the happy scene it is enough to look upon the serenity of the maternal ancestor as she gazes fondly upon her boys—yes, her boys, who have come so far to give her joy and comfort. Oh, ye boys—ye young men and middle-aged, whom fortune or fate has removed far from a good old mother's tender care and solicitude, don't forget her yearnings, and if you cannot go to her at least once a year, write to her every month and comfort her with your loving letters. The papers are full of crimes of all descriptions, but in my opinion there is none that will more surely provoke the curse of God than for a man to neglect or distress his mother.

Yesterday the boys with their mother and sisters visited the old homestead—the farm in the country, where our children grew up to manhood and womanhood—where these scattered boys worked and plowed and planted and reaped where they had sown; where they labored hard by day and hunted coons and 'possums by night; where they went to the naboring mill and fished in the pond while the grist was grinding; where Carl and Jessie went to school and crossed the creek on a slender footlog, and gathered haws and maypops and wild strawberries on the way. These boys and their sisters wanted to revisit the old scenes and drink water from the same old gushing spring.

These boys wanted to see the old meadow where the big trees stood in their majesty—the oak trees that we had named for Roscoe Conkling and Blaine, and the big sycamore that was named for Voorhees, the tall sycamore of the Wabash.

They wanted to see the old barnyard where they used to tease old Pete, the Merino ram and incite him to rear on his hind legs and run to butt them as they presented their posteriors in a defiant and provoking manner. Sometimes they got out of his way just in time, but ever and anon they dident, and he sent them on their winding way scratching the ground on their allfours. They wanted to see the grave of old Bows, that good old dog whom they loved. I did not go for there was no room, and as I am the boy, I had to stay at home and take care of Jessie's children.

Well they came back in due time and it was amusing to me to hear them tell how everything had changed within these dozen years; how the house seemed to have sank into the ground a foot or two and the farm had shrunk up and the fields were smaller and the hills lower and the shade trees shortened at the top. I've been through all that before, and was not surprised. Interspersed with our daily and nightly pleasures we have music, good music, classical music of the great masters and minstrel music with choruses from all the band and even my wife, Mrs. Arp, was constrained to play the "Caliph of Bazdad" with her first-born daughter—her daughter.

Music is our family's gift, for they all play on something, and all have voices for harmony of sweet sounds. This gift, I suppose comes from their mother, and her touch upon the ivory keys is still as delicate as when she was a lassie of sixteen. I used to think that I, too, had a melodious voice, and some times would venture to hist the tune in Sunday school when the tune hister was absent and like the crow who tried to sing, I thought I did it finely. Nobody else ever told me so, and one day my wife said that my voice was a little cracked and if she was me she would not try to raise the tunes in the church any more. It was a revelation that shocked me, and I have never sang in church since, nor anywhere else. There are voices in church choirs of the same kind, but nobody will tell them. They are called falsetto.

Farewell Chsistmas—farewell old Santa Claus—while we all rejoice, let us not forget that Christmas commemorates the birth of the Savior of men—the nativity of Kris Kringle, which means "the little Christ child." It is well enough to rejoice, but we should at the same time reflect and be grateful.—BILL ARP in Atlanta Constitution.

NEWSY CLEANINGS.

Germany has thirty-three cities with populations exceeding 100,000.

Oxford won the football match with Cambridge, by two goals to a goal and a try.

Norway's Secretary of State has proposed an independent Consular service for Norway.

The Vassar College catalogue just issued shows sixty-seven professors and 700 students.

Germany has just held its first national exhibition of roses near Berlin. There were over 4000 entries.

Thomas Parker, a British gold-hunter, was frozen to death near the mouth of the White River, in the Klondike.

An international association for the furtherance of the exploration of Central Asia is being formed at St. Petersburg.

The weather in Stockholm, Sweden, is the mildest that has been known there for many years at the Christmas season.

A party from the United States Geodetic and Coast Survey has sailed for Manila to chart the Philippine archipelago.

The French Government has offered the cross of the Legion of Honor to Lieutenant W. S. Sims, former United States naval attache at Paris.

Sixty American Socialist Democrats have landed at Wellington, New Zealand, attracted by settlement conditions under the advanced legislation there.

Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, Chancellor of the Exchequer, and Sir Matthew White Ridley, Home Secretary in the last British Cabinet, have been elevated to the peerage.

There are now in the United States about 1268 lines of traveling post-offices, having a total length of 178,960 miles, and requiring the services of 8794 clerks, who in crews traveled 200,672,785 miles.

Any one who has had the pleasure of being greeted boisterously by an affectionate Great Dane can imagine what a powerful aid he would be to highway robbers, if only some of them were sharp enough to put one to such work. It has finally been done, and, of course, in Paris. There is a gang of footpads in that city which has been causing much trouble. Its modus operandi was simple, but very effective. The leader of the gang owned a huge Great Dane named Turk. Turk would be taken out in the evening with his pals, and when the victim came along he would jump at him. Of course, the victim would go down in a heap, and moreover would be scared to death, although the dog would never bite him. While down and half unconscious with fright, the gentlemen who owned the dog would clean out his pockets. This is a great improvement on the lead pipe or sandbag, because none of the victims suffered except from fright and loss of his money and valuables.

THE COURT OF NEW IDEAS.

Scheme by Which a Great Corporation Finds Out Its Men of Brains.

John D. Rockefeller is said to have originated a plan by means of which the Standard Oil Company has discovered some of its brightest and best men. A person familiar with the details of it describes it thus:

"The Standard Oil management looks upon its enormous force of men as practically divisible into two classes; first, the ordinary, every day clerk, who is a good, faithful clerk, very much like the thousands of clerks in the employ of other corporations, a steady-going trustworthy fellow, who is all right in his place, but will never be anything more important or anything original. The other class is made up of the bright fellows, those who are inquisitive, confident of their ability to do harder and better things or the same things better, the fellows with ideas in their heads that they are bound to try on somebody. These men the Standard Oil management is constantly watching for. Let us say that one of them has an idea. He presents it to his chief. That chief or head of the department is glad to listen to the young man with the idea and hear all about the scheme. If he likes it he goes to the one next higher in authority, and so the proposition comes before the right committee of the company.

"'What will it cost to try this one?' they ask.

"'Well, $5000,' if that is the sum, or '$10,000,' if that happens to be the sum.

"The committee then decides whether the new plan shall be tried or not, whether it is likely to be an improvement in the methods of accounting, or shipping, or specializing, or perfecting the work, or whether it is a really new scientific idea; and I tell you there are hundreds cropping up in this same Standard Oil management. The question for the committee is, in short, whether this new idea will help the Standard Oil Company to make some more money somehow, or to save some, which, of course, amounts to the same thing.

"Let us say that it has decided to try the experiment. If it works, and it is put to the test under the management of the young man himself, the future of that man is secure. If he has an idea and he succeeds with it, he keeps right on climbing. If the idea proves to be a bad one, or to have been badly carried out, though well enough conceived, the young man steps back into the ranks of the thousands of clerks, and his superior officers, especially the committee before which his other idea has gone, haven't quite so much time as before to listen to him."—New York Sun.

The Carriage Dog.

It is commonly believed that the spotted carriage dogs, once so frequently kept in England, were about the most useless creature of the dog kind, maintained only for show and fashion. This is a mistake. They were used at a time when a traveling carriage carried, besides its owners, a large amount of valuable property, and the dogs watched the carriage at night when the owners were sleeping at country inns. We feel that we owe an apology to the race of carriage dogs. They are not useless even now, but, on the contrary, very useful animals, and no one appreciates them more than the coachman of whose horses they are the inseparable companions. The coachman of the late Prince Batthyani told the writer that these dogs were the best of aids in training spirited young carriage horses. The horse constantly looked out for the dog as it ran by its side, paid attention to it, and was so much engaged in thinking of its stable companion, the dog, that it was far less nervous, fidgety, and shy than when taken out alone. One of his dogs was, in his phrase, the "pride of the park." Some readers may remember this dog. It used to place itself exactly beneath the pole chains when the carriage was driven out, and, trotting fast, would maintain its place there to an inch either in the park or in the streets in the crowd of a London season. In the stables, which were large, the carriage dog always had one favorite horse, which he slept with. But when the stud was sent into the country by road, he mounted guard at the door of the inn stables at night, and sometimes refused to let the indigenous ostlers and groom enter or to go near the rugs and harness.—The Cornhill.

Motor Cars Threaten England's Peace.

The prevalence of motor cars opens up a very awful vista in the future. Some people cannot bear the sound of railways; they dislike the din, rattle and dust. But what is to be done with motor cars causing the same annoyance along every rural road? No longer can children play in country lanes, or the quiet pedestrians gather wayside flowers; no longer can the nursemaid go for a stroll with the baby in the perambulator, or the lame man warm himself in the sunshine. The whole of England will be one vast railway track, the silence of the fields broken by shrill whistles and harsh rumbling sounds, while the dust flies around in clouds, blinding and confusing those who presume to attempt to admire the beauties of nature.—London Sphere.

Patriotic Mrs. Ward.

Mrs. Margaret Ward, the widow of Barney Ward, of Allentown, was the mother of eight children, each of whom was born on the Fourth of July—the first in 1860 and the last in 1877.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

REV DR. TALMAGE

DISCOURSE BY THE EMINENT DIVINE LAST SUNDAY.

Subject: The Mission of Christ—It Was to Teach the World That God is Love—The Sympathy and Compassion of the Almighty King.

(Copyrighted.)

WASHINGTON, D. C.—In this discourse Dr. Talmage describes in a new way the assertions made for the world's disentanglement and deliverance. His text is I. John iv, 16, "God is love."

Perilous undertaking would it be to attempt a comparison between the attributes of God. They are not like a mountain range, with here and there a higher peak, nor like the ocean, with here and there a profounder depth. We cannot measure infinities. We would not dare say whether His omnipotence or omniscience or omnipresence or immutability or wisdom or justice or love is the greater attribute. But the one mentioned in my text makes deeper impression upon us than any other. It was evidently a very old man who wrote the chapter from which I take the text. John was not in his dotage, as Professor Eichhorn asserted, but you can tell by the repetitions in the epistle and the rambling style, and that he called grown people "little children," that the author was probably an octogenarian. Yet Paul, in midlife mastering an audience of Athenian critics on Mars Hill, said nothing stronger or more important than did the venerable John when he wrote the three words of my text, "God is love."

Indeed, the older one gets the more he appreciates this attribute. The harshness and the combativeness and the severity have gone out of the old man, and he is more lenient and, aware of his own faults, is more disposed to make excuses for the faults of others, and he frequently ejaculates, "Poor human nature!" The young minister preached three sermons on the justice of God and one on the love of God, but when he got old he preached three sermons on the love of God and one on the justice of God.

Far back in the eternities there came a time when God would express one emotion of His nature which was yet unexpressed. He had made more worlds than were seen by the ancients from the top of the Egyptian pyramid, which was used as an observatory, and more worlds than modern astronomy has catalogued or descried through telescopic lens. All that showed the Lord's almightiness, but it gave no demonstration of His love. He might make fifty Saturns and 100 Jupiters and not demonstrate an instant of love. That was an unknown passion and the secret of the universe. It was a suppressed emotion of the great God. But there would come a time when this passion of infinite love would be declared and illustrated. God would veil it no longer. After the clock of many centuries had run down and worlds had been born and demolished, on a comparatively obscure star a race of human beings would be born and who, though so bountifully provided for that they ought to have behaved themselves well, went into insurrection and conspiracy and revolt and war—finite against infinite, weak arm against thunderbolt, man against God.

If high intelligences looked down and saw what was going on, they must have prophesied extermination—complete extermination—of these offenders of Jehovah. But, no! Who is that coming out of the throneroom of heaven? Who is that coming out of the palaces of the eternal? It is the Son of the Emperor of the universe. Down the stairs of the high heavens He comes till He reaches the cold air of a December night in Palestine, and amid the bleatings of sheep and the lowing of cattle and the moaning of camels, and the banter of the herdsmen, takes His first sleep on earth, and for thirty-three years invites the wandering race to return to God and happiness and heaven. They were the longest thirty-three years ever known in heaven. Among many high intelligences what impatience to get Him back? The infinite Father looked down and saw His Son slapped and spit on and supperless and homeless, and then, amid horrors that made the noonday heavens turn black in the face, His body and soul parted. And all for what? Why, allow the Crown Prince to come on such an errand and endure such sorrow and die such a death? It was to invite the human race to put down its antipathies and resistance. It was because "God is love."

Now, there is nothing beautiful in a shipwreck. We go down to look at the battered and split hulk of an old ship on the Long Island or New Jersey coast. It excites our interest. We wonder when and how it came ashore, and whether it was the recklessness of a pilot or a storm before which nothing could bear up. Human nature wrecked may interest the inhabitants of other worlds as a curiosity, but there is nothing lovely in that which has foundered on the rocks of sin and sorrow. Yet it was in that condition of moral break up that heaven moved to the rescue. It was loveliness hovering over deformity. It was the lifeboat putting out into the surf that attempted its demolition. It was harmony pitying discord. It was a living God putting His arms around a recreant world.

The schoolmen deride the idea that God has emotion. They think it would be a divine weakness to be stirred by any earthly spectacle. The God of the learned Bruch and Schleiermacher is an infinite intelligence without feeling, a cold and cheerless divinity. But the God we worship is one of sympathy and compassion and helpfulness and affection. "God is love."

In all the Bible there is no more consolatory statement. The very best people have in their lives occurrences inexplicable. They are bereft or persecuted or impoverished or invalided. They have only one child, and that dies, while the next door neighbor has seven children, and they are all spared. The unfortunates buy at a time when the market is rising, and the day after the market falls. At a time when they need to feel the best for the discharge of some duty they are seized with physical collapse. Trying to do a good and honest and useful thing, they are misrepresented and belied as if they had practiced a villainy. There are people who all their lives have suffered injustices. Others of less talent, with less consecration, go on and up, while they go on and down. There are in many lives riddles that have never been explained, heartbreaks that have never been healed. Go to that man or that woman with philosophic explanation, and your attempt at comfort will be a failure, and you will make matters worse instead of making them better. But let the oceanic tide of the text roll in that soul, and all its losses and disasters will be submerged with blessing, and the sufferer will say, "I cannot understand the reason for my troubles, but I will some day understand. And they do not come by accident. God allows them to come, and 'God is love.'"

But for this divine feeling I think our world would long ago have been demolished. Just think of the organized wickedness of the nations! See the abominations continental! Behold the false religions that hoist Mohammed and Buddha and Confucius! Look at the Koran and the Shastra and the Zend-Avesta, that would crowd out of the world the Holy Scriptures! Look at war, digging its trenches for the dead across the hemispheres. See the great cities with their behemoth of destroyed manhood and womanhood! What blasphemies assail the heavens! What malediction strikes the centuries! What processions of crime and atrocity and woe encircle the globe! If justice had spoken, it would have said: "The world deserves annihilation, and let annihilation come." If omnipotence had spoken, it would have said: "I have always been opposed to wickedness and always will be opposed to it. The world is to me an offensive infinite and away with it!" If omniscience had spoken it would have said: "I have watched that planet with minute and all comprehensive inspection, and I cannot have the offense longer continued." If truth had spoken it would have said: "I declare that they who offend the law must go down under the law." But divine love took a different view of the world's obduracy and pollution. It said: "I pity all those woes of the earth. I cannot stand here and see no assuagement of those sufferings. I will go down and reform the world. I will medicate its wounds. I will calm its frenzy. I will wash off its pollution. I will become incarnated. I will take on My shoulders and upon My brow and into My heart the consequences of that world's misbehavior. I start now, and between My arrival at Bethlehem and My arrival from Olivet I will weep their tears and suffer their griefs and die their death. Farewell, My throne. My crown. My scepter. My angelic environment. My heaven, till I have finished the work and come back." God was never conquered but once, and that was when He was conquered by His own love. "God is love."

In this day, when the creeds of churches are being revised, let more emphasis be put upon the thought of my text. Let it appear at the beginning of every creed and at the close. The ancients used to tell of a great military chieftain who, about to go to battle, was clad in armor, helmet on head and sword at side, and who put out his arms to give farewell embrace to his child, and the child, affrighted at his appearance, ran shrieking away. Then the father put off the armor that caused the alarm, and the child saw who he was and ran into his arms and snuggled against his heart. Creeds must not have too much iron in their make up, terrorizing rather than attracting. They must not hide the smiling face and the warm heart of our Father, God. Let nothing imply that there is a sheriff at every door ready to make arrest, but over us all and around us all a mercy that wants to save and save now.

If one paragraph of the creed seems to take you, like a child, out of the arms of a father, let the next paragraph put you in the arms of a mother. "As one whom his mother comforteth so will I comfort you." Oh, what a mother we have in God! And my text is the lullaby song to us when we are ill or when we are maltreated or when we are weary or when we are trying to do better or when we are bereft or when we ourselves lie down to the last sleep. We feel the warm cheek of the mother against our cheek, and there sounds in it the hush of many mothers, "God is love."

Out of vast eternity He looked forward and saw Pilate's criminal courtroom and the rocky bluff with three crosses and the lacerated body in mortuary surroundings, and heard the thunders toll at the funeral of heaven's favorite, and understood that the palaces of eternity would hear the sorrow of a bereft God.

What do the Bible and the church liturgies mean when they say, "He descended into hell?" They mean that His soul left His sacred body for awhile and went down into the prison of moral night and swung back its great door and lifted the chain of captivity and felt the awful lash that would have come down on the world's back, and wept the tears of an eternal sacrifice, and took the bolt of divine indignation against sin into Himself and, having vanquished death and hell, came out and came up, having achieved an eternal rescue if we will accept it.

Read it slowly, read it solemnly, read it with tears, "He descended into hell." He knew what kind of pay He would get for exchanging celestial splendor for Bethlehem caravansary, and He dared all and came, the most illustrious example in all the ages of disinterested love.

Yes, it was most expensive love. There is much human love that costs nothing, nothing of fatigue, nothing of money, nothing of sacrifice, nothing of humiliation. But the most expensive movement that the heavens ever made was this expedition salvatory. It cost the life of a King.

It put the throne of God in bereavement. It set the universe aghast. It made omnipotence weep and bleed and shudder. It taxed the resources of the richest of all empires. It meant angelic forces detailed to fight forces demoniac. It put three worlds into sharp collision—one world to save, another to resist and another to destroy. It charged on the spears and rang with the battleaxes of human and diabolic hate.

Had the expedition of love been defeated the throne of God would have fallen, and Satan would have mounted into supremacy, and sin would have forever triumphed, and mercy would have been forever dead. The tears and blood of the martyr of the heavens were only a part of the infinite expense to which the Godhead went when it proposed to save the world.

Alexander the Great, with his host, was marching on Jerusalem to capture and plunder it. The inhabitants came out clothed in white, led on by the high priest, wearing a miter and glittering breastplate on which was emblazoned the name of God, and Alexander, seeing that word, bowed and halted his army, and the city was saved.

And if we had the love of God written in all our hearts and on all our lives and on all our banners at the sight of it the hosts of temptation would fall back, and we would go on from victory unto victory until we stand in Zion and before God.

Leander swam across the Hellespont guided by the light which Hero the fair held from one of her tower windows, and what Hellesponts of earthly struggles can we not breast as long as we can see the torch of divine love held from the tower windows of the King! Let love of God to us and our love to God clasp hands this minute. O ye dissatisfied and distressed souls who roam the world over looking for happiness and finding none, why not try this love of God as a solace and inspiration and eternal satisfaction? When a king was crossing a desert in caravan, no water was to be found, and man and beast were perishing from thirst. Along the way there were strewn the bones of caravans that had preceded. There were harts or reindeer in the king's procession, and some one knew their keen scent for water and cried out, "Let loose the harts or reindeer." It was done, and no sooner were these creatures loosened than they went scurrying in all directions looking for water, and soon found it, and the king and his caravan were saved, and the king wrote on some tablets the words, which he had read some time before, "As the hart panteth after the water brooks so panteth my soul after Thee, O God."

Some have compared the love of God to the ocean, but the comparison fails, for the ocean has a shore, and God's love is boundless. But if you insist on comparing the love of God to the ocean put on that ocean four swift sailing craft and let one sail to the north and one to the south and one to the east and one to the west, and let them sail on a thousand years, and after that let them all return, and none one hail the fleet and ask them if they have found the shore of God's love, and their four voices would respond: "No shore! No shore to the ocean of God's mercy!"

THE SABBATH

INTERNATIONAL LESSON FOR JANUARY

Subject: Jesus Anointed (Matt. xxvi., 6-16—Golden Text, xiv., 8—Memory Verses, 6, 7—Commentary on the Day's Lesson.

6. "In Bethany." This beautifully situated village southeast of Jerusalem on the slope of the Mount of Olives, visited by Christ, and it was spent several nights of the last week. "In the house of Simon the leper." Simon was a very and is applied to some persons in the New Testament had evidently been a leper and been cured by Jesus. Tradition Simon was the husband of Martha, or Martha John tells us that Martha Lazarus was one of them table with him.

"Came unto Him a tells us that this woman she sat in the presence of her yet more deeply worshiping feelings of Mary could not strained. "Alabaster box." was in an alabaster bottle, was made with a long narrow says "she brake the box the flask. The seal which prevent from evaporating had moved; it was on this occasion. "Very precious ointment." ment we are to understand perfume than what we commonly ointment. John says Mary ointment. This was a Roman twelve ounces. This was worth or denarii, silver coins worth seventeen cents each, hence, it was worth, between $45 and would be equivalent to ten amount at the present time. in His head." John says she the feet of Jesus. There is neither contradiction nor diversity between the evangelists. Mary ointment over His head and the feet. John notices the anointing of feet, not only as the act of gratitude and the mark of deepest But from its unusual character anointing of the head was not so The anointing showed first, Christ; second, her love for House was filled with the odor ment, and to-day the church are filled with heavenly fragrance ever loving deeds are performed. "Sat at meat." In taking these Eastern people reclined on one's side. "When His disciples saw though originated with Judas urged it until others of the disciples to his ideas. So often working from selfish motives, by arguments gets good men to him in opposing things that good. The wolf puts on the sheep ing. Thus usually the opposition wears a shaft of virtue; religion posed in the name of liberty; fa name of free thought; prohibition name of temperance. To what There is no benefit in such a law diture. Whenever there is a splendid self-forgetfulness there a Judas to sneer and murmur at 9. "Given to the poor." Mark murmur against the woman, words and manner were also a on Christ Himself, because He mitted it to occur. How often ity serve as a cloak for covetousness is sometimes robbed of His rights the pretense of devoting what is to some charitable purpose, to which was no intention ever to give it.

10. "Jesus perceiving it." Or understood their murmurings. trouble ye the woman?" According John's account, Jesus said, alone." It was the language of rebuke. Jesus was indignant at the risy of Judas and the dull perception the others. "A good work upon was a high act of a noble soul, its noblest emotions. It is a "good to show our love and esteem for 11. "Ye have the poor always you." This act of Mary's will fere with your care of the poor. do good for them at any time. we do for Christ the more we the poor. It is not the want but the want of love that allows to suffer. It is the successors and not of Judas who really care poor. "Me—not always." Christ presence was about to be removed them. What they did for Him done quickly.

12. "On My body." On His on His feet. "She did it to prepare for burial" (R. V.) Whether Mary stood Christ's approaching death tended it so we cannot tell, but His construction upon it and thereby what He had so frequently them regarding it. She was Him in advance of time. Too words of esteem are not uttered time of the burial, while the living soul has been obliged to plod on life without so much as a "God bless from any one. One writer says: friends have alabaster boxes full perfume of sympathy and affection away, which they intend to be my body, I would rather they bring them out in my weary and hours, that I may be cheered while them."

13. "This gospel shall be preached." Another remarkable proof of the science of Christ. God has so disposed ters that this has continued as regular as the ordinances of heaven a memorial of her." This act of formed by Mary to her Lord before the entire Christian world.

14. "Judas Iscariot." Judas regarded as an infamous man, his base and his motives vile; yet he to-day bargain away their Lord honors and pleasures of this world to the chief priests." This was a time for the traitor to carry out ed designs. Much people had not only to see Jesus, but to see

15. "What will ye give me?" was his god; the love of filthy causing his ruin. Let us take warning is not the lack of money, but the money that is the "root of all evil." ty pieces of silver." This was the a slave. See Ex. 21: 32; also Zech. According to the Oxford Teachers Judas received the paltry sum of

16. "Sought opportunity." His to deliver Christ into the hands of cers privately. His act was premeditated and so much the more dastardly as

---

Indian Commissioner Jones's ment that the red man is as as he was in 1492 is being show that Lo's supposed ex tion by the pale face is a fallacy think how much more numerous ought to have been by this time other circumstances.

Spain is preparing to get a navy again. But this time the sea force of a very power.

AN IDEAL PAPER.

Children in German Factories.

Automobile Patriotism.

Indian Commissioner Jones's Letter of Resignation.

manhood and wom-
...ence upon the ch-
...scene of crime and
...over the globe. It
...would have said
...much also of hal-
...and of heavy eyes
...of hours spent
...people in all
...

THE SABBATH

INTERNATIONAL LESSON FOR JANUARY

Subject: Jesus Anointed (Matt. xxvi. 6-16—Golden Text, 6—Memory Verses, 7, 8—Memory Verses, 10-13—Lesson Story on the Day's Events).

"In Bethany." This village is situated about ... of Jerusalem on the ... of Olivet, ... and it was ... nights at the home ... In the house of ... as a very ... in some fifty ... New Testament ... a leper, ... Jesus. A ... the fat ... be ... Martha was ... Martha serv ... them ... Him a wom ... woman was ... presence of her ... worship ... Mary ... and no ... "Let her alone." ... battle, or ... narrow ... It would ... had ... undertake to ... way. It would ... born. ... run on a busi ... not leading the ... have run for po ... with them. poli ... money in the till. ... would be a paper ... enterprise as our ... papers at present ... the news. You take ... In all papers they ... ful. Now, when the ... is observed with re ... matters as is observed ... papers, then people are ... what they are reading. ... papers will give you only ... to their side upon ... question. They will not ... the ... Telling only a part ... truth is often equivalent to telling ... It may conceal that ... essential you should know ... to get at the whole truth. ... half suppresses the rest.

... papers labor to tell you ... of the truth. When I say par ... papers, it may not be simply in ... to matters of politics, it may ... gard to other matters just as ... Whenever a paper is run for the ... on an interest it will hold ... as much as will stand in the ... the promotion of that interest, ... it be politics or whether it be ...

... let me tell you what I mean. ... people lead the press, rather than ... the people. The partisan pa ... taking the position that they ... regard to a broad spirit and ... minded candidate in the com ... municipal campaign because the ... are going to demand it and the ... know it. ... papers here in New York ... day are fighting Platt with all ... might. Not a great while ago ... were standing up for him. Platt ... same now that he was then. ... such influence have such papers ... the people? ... things show that the papers ... willing to shift their sails accord ... the wind that is blowing, and ... that they are not animated ... faithfulness and an irreversible ... impulse. ... what we want is a newspaper with ... a moral purpose, which is un ... able and unpurchasable, and then ... be a power. What we want is ... newspaper with convictions—con ... ts that are deep enough to run ... underneath below the stratum ... present circumstances—a paper ... tone will not be affected either ... small or great patronage."—New World.

Children in German Factories.

... there were employed in the ... of Prussia 423,764 women ... girls. Of these, 525 were under ... years of age; 46,831 between ... and sixteen; 148,331 between ... and twenty-one years, and ... over twenty-one years of age; ... of these women and girls were ... in the Prussian cotton mills. ... the same year no less than ... children between six and four ... years were employed in Prussian ... mills. The official report states ... some parts of Saxony little ... and girls of four and five years ... been employed. The Prussian ... of the Interior has taken the ... vigorous steps against the ... of these little children, and a ... of manufacturers have been ...

Autocartic Patriotism.

... practice of autocaring is becoming ... more and more fashionable at the ... says the Autocar. There was ... automobile race at some sports held ... grounds, a suburb of Capetown. ... created great excitement, and ... Alfred Milner went round the ... twice in the winning car, while ... and played "God Save the Queen" ... "Rule, Britannia," and the whole ... cheered the ... off.

His Letter of Recommendation.

... young man from Bowling Green, ... applied for work in a store lo ... some distance from his home. ... handed the following letter of ... recommendation and was engaged on ... spot: "I have found him indus ... truthful, intelligent and sober. ... observed also that his services ... the house were satisfactory to ... wife, and anyone who can get ... along with her is a peach."

Indian Commissioner Jones's ... ment that the red man is as numerous as he was in 1492 is being ... show that Lo's supposed extinction by the pale face is a fallacy. ... think how much more numerous ... ought to have been by this time ... other circumstances.

Spain is preparing to get ... a navy again. But this time ... be the sea force of a very ... power.

AN IDEAL PAPER.

... Says Endowment Fund ... Be Established.

... makes the statement ... of wealthy men has ... the establishment ... City of an "ideal" newspaper ... declares that an endowed ... also a possibility for New ...

... those," he said, "who ... considering the matter ... a journal for the purpose ... the truth and suffi ... it, so that it will ... in telling the truth. ... being considered the ... establishing an endowed ...

... to be a fact in this ... theatre as a rule cannot ... unless there is more ... which is objection ... a first-class theatre ... by its being ... to the average ... consideration ... ground covered by ... It would be ... in resources. ... undertake to ... way. It would ... born. ... run on a busi ... not leading the ... have run for po ... with them. poli ... money in the till. ... would be a paper ... enterprise as our ... papers at present ... the news. You take ... In all papers they ... ful. Now, when the ... is observed with re ... matters as is observed ... papers, then people are ... what they are reading. ... papers will give you only ... to their side upon ... question. They will not ... the ... Telling only a part ... truth is often equivalent to telling ... It may conceal that ... essential you should know ... to get at the whole truth. ... half suppresses the rest.

... papers labor to tell you ... of the truth. When I say papers, it may not be simply in ... to matters of politics, it may ... gard to other matters just as ... Whenever a paper is run for the ... on an interest it will hold ... as much as will stand in the ... the promotion of that interest, ... it be politics or whether it be ...

... let me tell you what I mean. ... people lead the press, rather than ... the people. The partisan pa ... taking the position that they ... regard to a broad spirit and ... minded candidate in the com ... municipal campaign because the ... are going to demand it and the ... know it. ... papers here in New York ... day are fighting Platt with all ... might. Not a great while ago ... were standing up for him. Platt ... same now that he was then. ... such influence have such papers ... the people? ... things show that the papers ... willing to shift their sails accord ... the wind that is blowing, and ... that they are not animated ... faithfulness and an irreversible ... impulse. ... what we want is a newspaper with ... a moral purpose, which is un ... able and unpurchasable, and then ... be a power. What we want is ... newspaper with convictions—con ... ts that are deep enough to run ... underneath below the stratum ... present circumstances—a paper ... tone will not be affected either ... small or great patronage."—New World.

WHAT TO DO WITH PRINTS.

The Best Plan For Exhibiting the Rank and File.

The best prints may be put in albums or sketch books, and this last plan, according to Grant Duncan, in the Amateur Photographer, is the best plan for the rank and file. The big prints, enlargement or direct, we like to frame if they are worth the expense. And then comes that large class of prints which we use for standing about the room, on the mantelpiece, round the glass over the fire, along the tops of frames of pictures, etc., in any corner we can find. But this class soon becomes so numerous that there are no longer odd corners vacant for their reception, then what is to be done with them.

MEANS OF EXHIBITING PRINTS.

It is a very simple plan, as will be seen. The requisites are simple. They are twine, stout paper, red office tape, accotine and a knife. If it is a single mount we have to deal with we proceed as follows: Lay the mount on its face and mark points at equal distances from top edge and sides. Take the tape and cut off two pieces an inch long, bend them into loops and paste them to the back of the mount just over the points marked before, the ends pointing toward the bottom of the mount. Over these ends and across them paste two small strips of the paper and leave the whole to dry and set (Fig. 1). When the paste has set take the twine and tie to the loops, a sufficient to make the mount hang as desired. When two or more are to hang together on the same twine to form a set the only difference is that the tape loops are not used. Instead, tie knots in the twine, and place the knots over the points marked before them, paste strips of paper across the twine just above the knots (Fig. 2). One advantage of arranging prints this way is that the dust does not get on the face of the prints. The more decorative scheme is to arrange appropriate colored ribbon in this way, and the effect in the hands of an artistically inclined person is fine (Fig. 3).

MANILA MONUMENT.

Classic Column of California Granite For San Francisco.

A San Francisco correspondent writes: The Battle of Manila Monument Committee has given its approval to the design submitted by George T. Brewster, the New York sculptor.

The design is a classic column, surmounted by a winged figure. It is conventional, and, while little originality is shown by the sculptor, the shaft will be one of classic beauty.

MANILA STATUE FOR SAN FRANCISCO.

The committee decided that seventy-six feet, the proposed height, was not enough, and the sculptor will be asked to increase the height. The committee is also anxious that the material used be California granite. Another change suggested is that bronze tablets, commemorative of Dewey's victory, be placed on the faces of the base.

Makes Hair Grow

Perhaps your mother had thin hair, but that is no reason why you must go through life with half-starved hair. If you want long, thick hair, feed it. Feed it with Ayer's Hair Vigor, the only genuine hair food you can buy.

Your hair will grow thick and long, and will be soft and glossy.

Ayer's Hair Vigor always restores color to gray hair; it keeps the scalp clean and healthy, and stops falling of the hair.

One dollar a bottle.

If your druggist cannot supply you, send us $1.00 and we will express a bottle to you, all charges prepaid. Be sure and give us your nearest express office.
J. C. AYER CO., Lowell, Mass.

Send for our beautiful illustrated book on The Hair. Free.

No crop can be grown without Potash. Supply enough Potash and your profits will be large; without Potash your crop will be "scrubby."

Our books, telling about composition of fertilizers best adapted for all crops, are free to all farmers.
GERMAN KALI WORKS,
93 Nassau St., New York.

LIBBY'S

6 Plates of Soup, 10c.

A 10-ct. can of Libby's Premier Soup makes six plates of the best soup you ever tasted.

If there was a way to make soup better, we would learn it—but there isn't.

Oxtail	Mulligatawny
Turtle	Mock Turtle
Chicken	Chicken Gumbo
Tomato	Vegetable

Ready-Made Soups.

One can will make you a convert.

Libby, McNeill & Libby, Chicago

Write a postal for our free book, "How to Make Good Things to Eat."

FREE ELECTRIC BELT OFFER

WITH TERRIBLE SPOT WEARING TRIAL in your own home, we furnish the genuine and only REINHARDT ALTERNATING CURRENT ELECTRIC BELTS to any reader of this paper. No money in advance; very low cost; positive guarantee. COSTS ALMOST NOTHING compared with most all other treatments. Cures when all other electric belts, appliances and remedies fail. QUICK RELIEF for more than 38 ailments. ONLY SCIENTIFIC CURE for all nervous diseases, weaknesses and disorders. For complete sealed confidential catalogue, cut this ad out and mail to us.
SEARS, ROEBUCK & CO., Chicago.

DROPSY NEW DISCOVERY; gives quick relief and cures worst cases. Book of testimonials and 10 days' treatment Free. Dr. H. H. GREEN'S SONS, Box B Atlanta, Ga.

USE CERTAIN COUGH CHILL CORN CURE. 25c. Sold by all druggists.

THE MILNER & KETTIG CO.

Machinery, Engines and Boilers

Write for Prices and Catalogue.

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

Trailing Skirts Unlawful.

If the law be observed, women with trailing skirts will soon be novelties in Vienna, as the local council has directed all women frequenting the public parks and gardens to hold up their skirts if they would otherwise trail them on the ground. The reason for this measure is rather puerile. The notice states that these inclosures are devoted to the recreation of persons desirous of escaping from the dusty town, and therefore the authorities object to the dust being swept into heaps by the trailing skirts.

Lots of men lose the thousands they have gained because of an insatiate pursuit after another hundred.

Alabama Increases Her Territory.

Alabama has quietly increased her territory by 200,000 acres of valuable timber land. The strip is on the state's southern boundary, and by right belonged to Alabama for nearly seventy years. In 1826 a survey was made to fix the boundary, but ten years later it was discovered that the eastern boundary line was a mile too short on the Chattahoochie river. For some unknown reason no attention was paid to this second survey, and the whole thing was forgotten. Recently some allusion to it was found in old records, the question was looked up, and after the government land office had passed upon it the strip became a recognized part of the state of Alabama.

Sanctimonious Modern Pharisees.

An untold amount of real humiliation and suffering is inflicted upon men and women striving to serve God in the church, by a lack of appreciation of their point of view. Put yourself in their places. Would not you resent being an object of disapproval, or, when the case is bettered, an object of charity? Would you enjoy feeling that your hat, your coat, your dress and your children's clothes were matters of comment, and that the parish felt that the money paid your husband must be spent to please it and not yourself?—"A Minister's Wife," in the October Ladies' Home Journal.

Best For the Bowels.

No matter what ails you, headache to a cancer, you will never get well until your bowels are put right. CASCARETS help nature, cure you without a gripe or pain, produce easy natural movements, that you just 10 cents to start getting your health back. CASCARETS Candy Cathartic, the genuine, put up in metal boxes, every tablet has C. C. C. stamped on it. Beware of imitations.

The mind of the bigot is like the pupil of the eye; the more light you pour upon it the more it will contract.—O. W. Holmes.

The Best Prescription for Chills and Fever is a bottle of GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC. It is simply iron and quinine in a tasteless form. No cure—no pay. Price 50c.

She—I will be frank with you and acknowledge that you do not, like many men I know, assume to be perfection.
He—No; but I'm very near it.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.
F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Hall's Family Pills are the best.

It is mockery to pray that your children may be gathered home in eternity while you do nothing to keep them at home in time.

Indigestion is a bad companion. Get rid of it by chewing a bar of Adams' Pepsin Tutti Frutti after each meal.

An American has erected a number of steam pumps on the Jordan, and is now supplying churches in the United States and in Europe with genuine Jordan water.

To Cure a Cold in One Day

Take LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE TABLETS. All druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c.

The 200 Boer prisoners at Camp Deadwood, St. Helena, have a thriving Christian Endeavorer society. It was started at Camp Simontown, South Africa. Sometimes over 1,000 attended.

PUTNAM FADELESS DYE produces the fastest and brightest colors of any known dye stuff. Sold by all druggists.

When a woman caller begins the conversation by praising her hostess' cooking, the hostess should throw out a torpedo net; it means that she is to be asked to bake for a church social.

Piso's Cure is the best medicine we ever used for all affections of throat and lungs.—WM. O. ENDSLEY, Vanburen, Ind., Feb. 10, 1900.

Trinity College, Washington, D. C., the first Catholic institution for the higher education of women, was recently dedicated with imposing ceremonies.

LaFayette College, LaFayette, Ala.

This institution has just closed its first terms under its new President, Dr. E. R. Eldridge, who so successfully organized and managed the Troy Normal College for 11 years. The first term's enrollment is nearly up to the full session enrollment in former years, and the second term to open Jan. 2d, and the third to open March 25th, will each add many, so that it is expected the total current year's enrollment will be a half more than ever before in the college's history. The course of study was made two years higher for graduation and a post graduate course of two years was added still, so that requirements and privileges are very high under a strong faculty of above twenty members. This college is striving to give the best at the very lowest rate, with provision, under certain limitations, to earn part of the expense money. LaFayette, Alabama, is noted for health too.

TWO TRAVELLING SALESMEN wanted for 1901 in each of the following states: Ala., Miss., La., Ga. & Tenn. Experience not necessary, but must be hustlers.
Steady employment with good chances of promotion.
Address, with references &c.,
THE MOROTOCK TOBACCO WORKS,
DANVILLE, VA.

THE DISCOVERER OF
Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound
The Great Woman's Remedy for Woman's Ills.

No other medicine in the world has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement.

No other medicine has such a record of cures of female troubles or such hosts of grateful friends.

Do not be persuaded that any other medicine is just as good. Any dealer who asks you to buy something else when you go into his store purposely to buy Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, has no interest in your case. He is merely trying to sell you something on which he can make a larger profit. He does not care whether you get well or not, so long as he can make a little more money out of your sickness. If he wished you well he would without hesitation hand you the medicine you ask for, and which he knows is the best woman's medicine in the world.

Follow the record of this medicine, and remember that these thousands of cures of women whose letters are constantly printed in this paper were not brought about by "something else," but by

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound,
The Great Woman's Remedy for Woman's Ills.

Those women who refuse to accept anything else are rewarded a hundred thousand times, for they get what they want—a cure. Moral—Stick to the medicine that you know is Best.

When a medicine has been successful in restoring to health more than a million women, you cannot well say without trying it, "I do not believe it will help me." If you are ill, do not hesitate to get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once, and write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for special advice. It is free and helpful.

An Odd Trade Mark And It's Origin.

The above singular combination is the trade-mark adopted by the Paris Medicine Company of St. Louis and is used in their advertisements of Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic. To the many people who may be interested to know the origin of this odd trade-mark, the following information is given:

In the spring of 1888, the little two year old son of Mr. E. W. Grove was taken quite sick with malaria. Mr. Grove, knowing the virtue of his own medicine, commenced giving him Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic. He had taken this prescription only a few days until quite a favorable change was noted, in fact, he grew so rosy, healthy and plump, that Mrs. Grove in describing his condition to her husband, remarked "Grove's Tonic makes our baby as fat as a pig". This led Mr. Grove to thinking that the expression "as fat as pigs" used in connection with babies, was a very common one, and suggested to him the idea of combining a child's face with a pig's body, with wording as above, "Grove's Tonic makes children as fat as pigs". It is an attractive trade-mark, and the remedy it represents—Grove's Tonic—is regarded by the public as being the very best prescription for Malaria, Chills and Fever. The record of the Paris Medicine Company shows that Nine Thousand gross—Ninety carloads—of Grove's Tonic have been sold this year from Jan. 1st, 1900, and as "orders are truly a good index of a medicine's worth" no one can doubt the virtue of Grove's Tonic. Druggists all sell Grove's Tonic on a no cure, no pay basis, for fifty cents a bottle.

Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup Safest surest cure for all throat and lung troubles. People praise it. Doctors prescribe it. Quick, sure results. Refuse substitutes. Get Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

Am. N.U. No. 1 1901.

"La Creole" Will Restore those Gray Hairs

"La Creole" Hair Restorer is a Perfect Dressing and Restorer. Price $1.00

THE BANNER

OUR CLUBBING RATES

For $1.50 we will send you THE BANNER and either of the following papers for one year:

Atlanta Constitution	$1.80
New York World (3 papers every week)	$1.50
Cosmopolitan (America's Leading magazine)	$1.50
Silver Knight National Watchman	$1.50
Birmingham Age-Herald	$1.25
Home and Farm	$1.10

Job Printing cheap at THE BANNER office

AT REDUCED PRICES

CLANTON DRUG STORE

Dr J S JOHNSON, Jr., Proprietor.

DEALER IN

DRUGS. : MEDICINES : PATENT : MEDICINES

TOILET ARTICLES, PAINTS.

PRESCRIPTIONS CAREFULLY PREPARED DAY & NIGHT

CLANTON, ALABAMA.

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS is the one important magazine in the world giving in its pictures, its text, in its contributed articles, editorials and departments, a comprehensive, timely record of the world's current history. Not the enumeration of mere bare facts, but a comprehensive picture of the month, its activities, its notable personalities, and notable utterances. The best informed men and women in the world find it indispensable.

There are many readers in your locality who have yet to learn of its existence. We wish to establish active agents in every city and township in the country. We will pay liberally for energetic effort in the subscription field. Leisure moments can be utilized with substantial increase of income. Make a list of the persons in your locality who should have the "Review of Reviews," and send to us for agent's terms, sample copies, and working outfit. Then solicit their subscriptions. It is a compliment to approach a person with a subscription proposition for the "Review of Reviews," and consequently orders are easily secured. This is the active subscription season. Make application at once, naming your references.

Price, 25 cents a number. $2.50 a year.

THE REVIEW OF REVIEWS COMPANY,

15 Astor Place, New York City.

An $8.00 Dictionary for $2.00

The New Werner Edition of Webster's Dictionary.

Hearty and unanimously endorsed. We offer you the best dictionary ever put on the market at a low price. This is an American Dictionary of the English Language, containing the whole substance of the first edition, the entire contents and improvements of the second edition, to which is prefixed an introductory dissertation on the history, origin and construction of the language of Western Asia and Europe with an explanation of the principles on which languages are formed. This work contains every word that Noah Webster ever defined, and the following SPECIAL FEATURES: An Appendix of 10,000 words, Pronouncing Vocabulary of Scripture Names, Greek and Latin Proper Names, Modern Geographical Names, Dictionary of Antonyms and Synonyms, Dictionary of Familiar Allusions, Lexicon of Foreign Phrases, Dictionary of Abbreviations, etc., etc., together with 4 BEAUTIFUL COLORED PLATES, showing in their actual colors the Flags of the Various Nations, U.S. Naval Flags, Pilot Signals of Various Nations, Yacht Club Signals, and Shoulder Straps for Officers. THIS IS NOT THE CHEAP LOOK but a beautifully printed edition on fine paper with thousands of valuable additions of aid to all students of modern science. It is a grand educator of the masses, now offered to our readers in a sumptuous style in keeping with its great value to the people. Bound in Tan Sheep with a beautiful cover design and sold at the small price of $2.00, make it the handsomest, low-priced Dictionary ever published. For every day use in the office, home, school and library, this Dictionary is unequaled. Forwarded by express upon receipt of our special offer price, $2.00. If it is not as represented you may return it to us at our expense and we will refund your money. Write us for our special illustrated book catalogue, quoting the lowest prices on books.

Address all orders to THE WERNER COMPANY,

Publishers and Manufacturers, AKRON, OHIO

[The Werner Company is thoroughly reliable.—Editor.

W. I. MULLINS

—DEALER IN—

GENERAL MERCHANDISE, PLANTATION SUPPLIES AND COUNTRY PRODUCE.

Dry Goods, Clothing, Hats, Boots and Shoes.

FURNITURE AND COFFINS

N. B. A full line of Burial Clothes and all necessary Undertakers' Goods constantly kept in stock.

CLANTON, : : : : ALA.

CHEAPEST MAGAZINE IN THE WORLD.

ONE DOLLAR PER YEAR

Author of "Little Lord Fauntleroy."
. . . I am reading THE NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW weekly with the greatest pleasure. To a wearing person with less time to give to literature than the large literary output of the day requires, it assumes the proportions of a book. The London Saturday Review and THE NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW really form my chief intellectual nourishment. FRANCES HODGSON BURNETT.
The New York Times Saturday Review, $1 per annum. Send your name for free sample copy.

Author of "The Man with the Hoe."
. . . I often say to my literary friends that if I could subscribe for only two literary weeklies THE NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW would be one of them. It should be a delight and a profit to every book lover, be he an author, a publisher, a seller, or a buyer. EDWIN MARKHAM.
The New York Times Saturday Review, $1 per annum. Send your name for free sample copy.

Editor of The Ladies' Home Journal.
. . . Nothing so full and so satisfactory in the way of a literary paper has ever been so successfully carried out in this country as THE SATURDAY REVIEW of THE NEW YORK TIMES. It is now indispensable the paper which a person interested in books or literary matters must have if he would keep advised. EDWARD BOK.
The New York Times Saturday Review, $1 per annum. Send your name for free sample copy.

From Miss Helen Gould.
. . . While I am glad to write a line or two in appreciation of THE NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW, I feel that the periodical hardly needs such commendation, as its work speaks for itself. HELEN MILLER GOULD.
The New York Times Saturday Review, $1 per annum. Send your name for free sample copy.

Princeton's Professor of English.
. . . It gives me pleasure to state that your NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW is filling a long-felt need in modern American literary criticism. T. H. W. HUNT.
The New York Times Saturday Review, $1 per annum. Send your name for free sample copy.

Author of "Literary Landmarks."
. . . I am so dependent upon THE NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW that I have it sent to me wherever I may be, on either side of the Atlantic. It seems to tell me everything I want to know about current books and their makers, and when and in the way I want to know it. LAURENCE HUTTON.
The New York Times Saturday Review, $1 per annum. Send your name for free sample copy.

Prominent Author and Editor.
. . . Here in Bermuda, where I am passing the Winter, I miss many things to which I have been accustomed in the States, but do not miss THE NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW. You will, I believe, I have journeyed well with the weekly contribution, without which, as a writer and a lover of books, I should indeed be a castaway on a desert isle of the sea. NOAH BROOKS.
The New York Times Saturday Review, $1 per annum. Send your name for free sample copy.

Professor of English at Cornell.
. . . THE NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW has become quite indispensable to me in my professorship. Its criticisms are soundly based and altogether what one desires in the way of a succinct characterization of a work. HIRAM CORSON.
The New York Times Saturday Review, $1 per annum. Send your name for free sample copy.

Author of "The Choir Invisible."
. . . THE NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW has created for itself a peculiar and enviable place. The curious reader appreciates it or overlooks it in his own idle, admirably planned and able edited it is at once a guide and an inspiration. JAMES LANE ALLEN.
The New York Times Saturday Review, $1 per annum. Send your name for free sample copy.

Poet Laureate Director, Letter Librarian.
. . . THE NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW seems to have supplied a decided want. This fact cannot be too widely made known to all who would keep abreast with critical opinion. We need it, indeed, with somewhat the same explanatory of an urgency of gentle souls. FREDERICK SANDERS.
The New York Times Saturday Review, $1 per annum. Send your name for free sample copy.

Author of "Wake Robin."
. . . I look upon THE NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW as the most important enterprise undertaken by a daily newspaper in many years. It gives literature and art their due prominence, and recognizes them as great factors in a people's life. JOHN BURROUGHS.
The New York Times Saturday Review, $1 per annum. Send your name for free sample copy.

Author of "My Study Fire."
. . . I think you have achieved a distinct success on high lines. I am constantly hearing about THE NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW from the best sources. HAMILTON W. MABIE.
The New York Times Saturday Review, $1 per annum. Send your name for free sample copy.

An Eminent Woman Poet.
. . . THE NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW is a weekly pleasure, for it keeps me so fully advised of all that is going on in the world of letters. I admire your fairness and your hospitality. LOUISE CHANDLER MOULTON.
The New York Times Saturday Review, $1 per annum. Send your name for free sample copy.

Author of "When Knighthood Was in Flower."
. . . Permit me to say that, in my opinion, THE NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW is doing more for literature and art than any publication of which I know. Continued beginning. Especially is this true in the West, where people interested in such matters are only just beginning to find out. CHARLES MAJOR.
The New York Times Saturday Review, $1 per annum. Send your name for free sample copy.

Editor of Harper's Weekly.
. . . I consider THE NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW worthy of the highest commendation. It is the first thing I look for in my copy of the Saturday Times, and I very rarely happen that I do not read it through from beginning to end. It is also interesting to me as a writer of books and as an editor of a weekly publication, but I have found it of extreme value in the pursuit of my duties as a Trustee of the Cleveland Public Library. JOHN KENDRICK BANGS.
The New York Times Saturday Review, $1 per annum. Send your name for free sample copy.

Author of "The Lady or the Tiger."
. . . THE NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW is to me very much like a fine club, where I hear people talk about books and the people who write them. If a man has no literary friends or associates, let him read THE NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW, if he has every week, let him read it all the same, so that he may be able to talk with profit to himself and them. FRANK R. STOCKTON.
The New York Times Saturday Review, $1 per annum. Send your name for free sample copy.

An Author and a Publisher.
. . . As far as I am in a position to judge, the information that has been presented to the reading public from week to week in THE NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW concerning the literature of the day has been more comprehensive, better proportioned, and more trustworthy than has ever before been attempted by any newspaper on either side of the Atlantic. GEORGE HAVEN PUTNAM.
The New York Times Saturday Review, $1 per annum. Send your name for free sample copy.

Professor of English at Dartmouth.
. . . I am a frequent reader of that varied and interesting miscellany, THE NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW, and am very likely, as in the case of its last issue, to cut and mark half a dozen things in it for use in my classroom or elsewhere. CHARLES F. RICHARDSON.
The New York Times Saturday Review, $1 per annum. Send your name for free sample copy.

Professor American History, Cornell.
. . . I have come to depend on THE NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW for my weekly supply of information as to the world's doings in the sphere of books in our own tongue. Its reports on that matter having, as I think I find, the primary virtues of fullness, accuracy, and fairness. MORES COIT TYLER.
The New York Times Saturday Review, $1 per annum. Send your name for free sample copy.

Author of "Little Rivers."
. . . THE NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW is conducted along the lines of a genuine criticism. It distinguishes clearly between a review and an advertisement. It has already achieved success; I hope it will win an ever-widening prosperity. HENRY VAN DYKE.
The New York Times Saturday Review, $1 per annum. Send your name for free sample copy.

Author of "Richard Carvel."
. . . A reliable literary monitor is an absolute necessity, and therefore I look forward weekly with eagerness to THE NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW. Its contents must be gratifying to all lovers of literature. WINSTON CHURCHILL.
The New York Times Saturday Review, $1 per annum. Send your name for free sample copy.

THE NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW.

Buffalo's Hopes and the Exposition.

The Hon. Conrad Diehl, mayor of Buffalo, the home of the Pan-American Exposition, has great faith in the success of the enterprise and is more than pleased with the progress that is being made on the work of construction. He says: "I frequently drive out there and look over the buildings. It is phenomenal the rapidity with which the work is carried forward. The men who are directing the Exposition affairs are shrewd calculators, and they are going to make this enterprise the wonder of the world. Outsiders are becoming enthusiastic over it. Thousands of people who did not go to the World's fair at Chicago will come to the Pan-American. Let everybody prepare to receive them and give them a good time."

Pan-American in the Carolinas.

The work the publicity bureau has been doing in the state of North Carolina in arousing an interest throughout that state in the Pan-American Exposition is having a good effect also in South Carolina, where the press is anxious that North Carolina should not surpass South Carolina in representation at the Pan-American. Charleston, S. C., is planning to hold a fair in 1902, and it is urged that the best way to call attention to it will be through a fine exhibit at the Pan-American. It is thought that the state of South Carolina and the Charleston Exposition company should jointly make an exhibit at the Exposition in Buffalo.

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &c.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents.

Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York

Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

Jumbo.

We are having some [illegible] er for the last of the [illegible]

Mr. T. H. Williams [illegible] matoche, Texas, glad[illegible] hearts of his parents and [illegible] a visit home Christmas.

Mrs. Virgie Vines [illegible] Texas, is visiting her pa[illegible]

Prof. Thomas Willi[illegible] ing a few days with his [illegible] tlugh Williams.

Messrs. W. C. Evans [illegible] Williams visited rela[illegible] friends at Coalmie this [illegible] report a nice time.

Messrs. Peyton Pa[illegible] Cleud Jones visited re[illegible] friends at Verbena Christ[illegible]

Mrs. Emmer Evans [illegible] holiday's with friends [illegible]

Mr Eugene Conner [illegible] boro, Texas, and Miss E[illegible] cus, of Clanton, visited [illegible] relatives here last week.

Mr. A. C. Barnes and [illegible] Clanton, were pleasan[illegible] here last week. News [illegible]

FREE BLOOD CU[illegible]

An offer paying faith to [illegible]

Is your blood pure? A[illegible] [illegible]? Does your skin [illegible] burn? Have you Pimples [illegible] Aching Bones or [illegible] zema? Old Sores? Ha[illegible] [illegible]? Rheumatism? Fe[illegible] Catarrh? Are you pa[illegible] [illegible] your blood with B. B. [illegible] (Blood Balm). It m[illegible] Blood Pure and Rich, he[illegible] sore and gives a clear [illegible] healthy skin. Deep seat[illegible] like ulcers, cancer, ear[illegible] Painful Swellings, Rh[illegible] are quickly cured by B[illegible] made especially for all [illegible] Blood and Skin Troubles [illegible] it drains the Poisons and [illegible] out of the Blood and entir[illegible] to the symptoms can ob[illegible] give it a trial. It cures [illegible] ease to stay. Thoroughly te[illegible] 30 years. Sold at drug [illegible] $1 per large bottle, 6 large [illegible] (full treatment) $5. Be [illegible] bottle reads Botanic Blood [illegible] so sufferers may test it, a t[illegible] dle given away absolute[illegible] Write for it. Address B[illegible] BALM CO. Atlanta, Ga. [illegible] to-day. Describe trouble [illegible] medical advice given.

THE DIXIE HOME

ONLY AGRICULTURAL AND [illegible] PER PUBLISHED IN ALABA[illegible]

A live and up to date Fa[illegible] Home Journal, with a [illegible] Farm, Dairy, Horticulture [illegible] Stock, Poultry Departmen[illegible] and general news. The o[illegible] ricultural Journal publishe[illegible] hams. It gives all the news [illegible] Industrial Development [illegible] South. Every family shoul[illegible] Subscription price $.50 per [illegible]

In order to introduce the [illegible] to new readers, we will se[illegible] new subscribers one year f[illegible] Sample copies free.

Best advertising medium [illegible] South.

Dixie Home Publishing Co[illegible] Birmingham.

SPECIAL LOW RAT[illegible]

Via UNION PA[illegible] ROAD every Tue[illegible] Utah, Montana, [illegible] Washington. For [illegible] [illegible] Agent, General [illegible] St. Louis.

THE BEST WAY TO [illegible]

SOUTH AND SOUTH-WEST.

NORTH AND NORTH-[illegible]

Via THE

L. & N.

LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE

The Through Cars

Of this line pass Clinton daily, [illegible] through Montgomery, Mobile and New Orleans.

Connecting with all points [illegible]

TEXAS AND THE WEST.

Line running through to New Orleans, Evansville, Louisville, Cincinnati and St. Louis.

Connecting for all points in [illegible]

NORTH AND NORTH-W[illegible]

Before purchasing tickets to any [illegible] write the Agent of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad at Clanton, A[illegible] C. P. Atmore, G. P. A., Louisville.

The Banner is [illegible] leading paper of Cl[illegible] ton county and has [illegible] largest circulati[illegible] Advertisers should t[illegible] notice of this fact.

Subscribe for the BANNER.

[illegible] IX

A TRIP TO THORSBY

[illegible] few days ago I had a [illegible] sant trip to the flourishing [illegible] Thorsby. [illegible] was a beautiful [illegible] like day and the country [illegible] looked wonderfully well [illegible] days though I knew [illegible] pretty well, and so did the [illegible] business street is composed [illegible] Mr. W. C. Esker proved [illegible] and until I came to the conclusion that Thorsby was a far more [illegible] portant place than I had conceived it. Why, you have to travel [illegible] and to see Thorsby, and I [illegible] fess you will see more substantial and elegant homes and [illegible] about streets within the confines [illegible] that new town than you will see [illegible] the same area anywhere in Cha[illegible] county. And I was surprised [illegible] so much land cleared and [illegible] nted with vines and fruit trees [illegible] ere is much more money invested [illegible] in Thorsby than many of [illegible] agine. Then again I was [illegible] med that quite a number of people [illegible] from the Northwest have [illegible] dy purchased vineyard tracts [illegible] and have them now planted [illegible] while the plants are maturing [illegible] owners retain their old homes [illegible] the Northwest, but as soon as the [illegible] nts are old enough to bear, the [illegible] owners will bring their families [illegible] and make their homes here [illegible] of which means much to Chilton county. We had an excellent [illegible] ner at the Concordia hotel [illegible] here we were waited upon by the [illegible] Misses Howard. Then I had [illegible] look in at the postoffice which [illegible] as neat as a new pin, and reflects [illegible] dit to the town. The stores [illegible] med to be well stocked and have [illegible] flourishing look about them. [illegible] ct the whole town of Thorsby [illegible] oks as if it was prospering. [illegible] as an eye-opener to me, I thoroughly enjoyed the trip and learned [illegible] a good deal, and when you want a day's outing combining [illegible] easure and instruction, take [illegible] dvice and go and take a look around Thorsby.

DEATH OF Mr J. R. KEMP.

On Friday night last Mr. J. [illegible] Kemp passed away at his home [illegible] west end of Clanton, after [illegible] w weeks sickness. He was [illegible] an of robust physique and [illegible] d constitution, and his friends [illegible] nd hoped that he would be able [illegible] overcome this illness. But [illegible] who knows best willed otherwise [illegible] nd at the age of 50 called [illegible] Kemp home. He was a man [illegible] terling qualities, conscientious [illegible] all his dealings, and his strict [illegible] grity and honesty endeared him [illegible] all with whom he came in [illegible] act. Chilton county has lost [illegible] its best citizens. He leaves [illegible] widow and five grown children [illegible] mourn the loss of a good husband [illegible] nd father; may the Lord be with [illegible] hem in their affliction. The funeral [illegible] took place on Sunday morning [illegible] Rev. F. M. Woods preaching [illegible] ery effective sermon in the [illegible] st church which was crowded [illegible] its utmost capacity. He was buried [illegible] with Masonic honors, having been [illegible] member of that fraternity [illegible] any years, while one the large [illegible] congregations ever assembled [illegible] Clanton paid their last tribute [illegible] respect to a worthy man and [illegible] en.

Prof. Corderie Dies Far From H[illegible]

[illegible] ladstone, Garland County, A[illegible] January 16. [illegible] To the Sheriff of Chilton county, Ala., or anybody that may be concerned:

This is to inform you that a gentleman by the name of J. [illegible] Corderie, who said he was [illegible] Chilton county, came here and [illegible] taken sick on January 8. He [illegible] with fever January 14. He [illegible] no names nor left any request. [illegible] he has any relatives or friends please send this to them and [illegible] them to answer, and I will give [illegible] in particulars. His trunk, [illegible] is belongings, is at M. C. Milton's where he died. Direct your letters [illegible] J. A. Carrwood, Gladstone, [illegible]

THE BANNER.

LET THE PEOPLE RULE.

VOL. IX — CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY JANUARY 10, 1901 — NO. 12

$200 REWARD.

The above reward will be paid to any person or persons for the arrest and conviction of the parties who broke into the Court House and blew open the county safe at Clanton, Ala., on Sunday night, Nov. 25, 1900.

S. M. ADAMS,
Judge of Probate.

Clanton, Ala.

ELECTION NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that an election will be held in the Town of Clanton on Monday, January 14th, 1901, for the election of a Mayor and four Councilmen for the Town of Clanton.

J. P. VANDERVEER, Mayor.
A. C. SMITH, Clerk.

Mass Meeting Beat 2.

A mass meeting is called for beat 2 Friday the 11th, at one o'clock, at Jemison to discuss Stock Law, Road Law and Prohibition Law of Chilton. Let everybody that can, come and let us consider the important measures for our county, and send delegates to Clanton next day.

L. H. REYNOLDS,
C. L. LANGSTON
JOHN CONN.

Stanton.

Dr. Massey, of Birmingham, has been with us this week. Mrs. Sandy and family, of Riderville, and relatives a visit here Sunday. Mr. Sam Reynolds, of Dry Valley, was a pleasant visitor here last Sunday. Mr. C. W. Plant, of Verbena, was in the city Sunday. Messrs. Felix and Frazier Fitts were in town one day last week. Mr. T. D. Parnell has purchased the Macon house and moved his family last week. Mrs. Macon has moved to her residence. Messrs. Gant, R. H. Nelson, L. L. Culver, and Misses Lee Ella Parker, Lula Culver and Sammie Nelson enjoyed a pleasant visit to Marbleville last Sunday evening. Mr. Huff, of Perry, has purchased the lath mill here and will move his family to Stanton in a few days. Mr. Charlie Cox, of Riderville, has secured a position at the furniture shop. Mrs. Cox has purchased the Callen lot next to Mr. S. R. Letcher's and will erect a dwelling shortly. A mass meeting was held here last Tuesday for the purpose of electing delegates to the meeting at Clanton, Jan. 12. Messrs. W. M. Wilson and John Dennis, of Clanton, were in town Tuesday on business. Mr. C. L. Mullins, of Clanton, was in the town Tuesday. We regret to state that Mrs. S. R. Letcher and Mrs. E. Dunsmore are both quite sick.

STAN.

DR. A. J. MASSEY

Up-to-date and hustling Dentist who is well known and popular will be at Stanton from 7th of January to 12th, 1901. Come early, you may never have a better opportunity to have good dental work done.

MARRIED.

At the residence of the bride's parents on the 2d inst. Mr. John Green and Miss Amanda Devenport were happily united, Rev. J. M. Ward performing the ceremony. The best wishes for their future career goes out to the happy young couple.

Governor Samford has appointed J. L. Hayes a Justice of the Peace for Beat 3.

Eminent Chicago Woman Speaks.

Mrs. Roxa Tyler, of Chicago, ex-President Illinois Woman's Club, in speaking of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, says: "I suffered with a severe cold this winter which threatened to run into pneumonia. I tried different remedies but I seemed to grow worse. A medicine upset my stomach. A friend advised me to try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and I found it was pleasant to take and it relieved me at once. I am now fully recovered, saved a doctor's bill, time and suffering, and I shall never be without this splendid medicine again." For sale by Clanton Drug Co. and D. I. Deramus, Verbena.

CORRESPONDENCE.

[We are willing to publish our subscribers views at any time, but it must be distinctly understood we do not hold ourselves responsible for these opinions.—EDITOR.]

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY

Take Laxative Bromo-Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. E. W. Grove's signature is on each box. 25c.

Jemison, Dec. 31, 1900

Editor Banner.—Please allow me space in your paper to say a few words about Stock and Road laws and all other laws of the county that does not infringe on the rights of other counties. In my judgment we need no stock law, as to the roads, our laws are alright; the roads just need work and under any law they must be worked or they will be no better; and the people of Chilton must do the work, other people are not concerned in it, and we had just as well work them as pay for it. The reason why we need no stock law is that there is so much woodland yet, that we can turn out our cattle in the spring and they do well till winter without feed. Someone said the fences was bad if their fence is bad let them split rails and build them up, and cultivate inside and pasture outside instead of a stock law and building the fence around their cattle and cultivating outside; it is easier to fence cattle out than to fence them in.

With due respect to Bro. Pounds and others in the legislature, I do not think that local laws ought to be made by them. I admit that we need representatives, but not for local laws. I think that as our commissioners are scattered over the county and are citizens of the county and officers of it, they ought to have the right and power over the local laws; they are at home and interested in this county and its welfare; when the general assembly is not, because they do not live under the local laws of this county.

Now dear reader think of it, if the local laws of this county were in the hands of our commissioners it would be altered or amended by us who are concerned in it, and not by men of other counties who do not have to abide by our local laws; these men of other counties legislating for us and do not know anything about us and our interest is what ails us now. I say stop it and do it now. Someone may say that our commissioners are not competent of doing the work. With due respect to past legislators, where in the name of common sense and high heaven is their competency and where has it been manifested? Now, I say take local laws out of their hands and bring home to the commissioners, or raise the salary of representatives high enough to induce our best men to fill the office. I think that the honorable L. H. Reynolds will agree that the salary is too small. Success to the Banner and its many readers.

JOSEPH H. THOMAS.

Stops the Cough and Works off the Cold.

Laxative Bromo-Quinine Tablets cure a cold in one day. No Cure No Pay. Price 25 cents.

Kincheon, Dec. 30, 1900

Mr. Vinson, in piece to the Banner recently seemed to have forgotten the fact that Beat 6 is quite a large scope of country. His statement that everybody in Beat 6 was bitterly opposed to the stock law, it is at the most an unauthorized assertion. I live in Beat 6, and am highly in favor of the stock law. These are my reasons: First, because all progressive countries have the stock law: second, because we want to better our grade of stock, and under what better regime than the stock law can we hope to acquire it? third, the cost of fencing the average farm consumes about one-fifth of the clear profit from year to year. Is there anything but the stock law that will enable the farmer to keep this hard earned money in his pocket. The answer is inevitable. My views are not so broad as some of the anti-stock law fellows. I differ my own opinion on the matter, and would be glad of an expression from some farmer in another part of Beat 6. As for me and mine, we want to save our money, our muscles and our will, and turn them to better account than mauling rails. Exercise is the life of the brain, but we are going to have a gymnasium in connection with our school, and boys during vacation can take a little exercise each day under prescribed rules, and grow up to be as manly men as the world has ever developed. Success to the Banner.

FAIR PLAY

If troubled with a weak digestion, belching, sour stomach, or if you feel dull after eating, try Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. Price, 25 cents. Samples free at Clanton drug store, or D. I. Deramus, Verbena.

Jemison, Dec. 29, 1900

There is being a great deal written and said about better schools in our county. The Legislature will meet and legislate, the educators will write, and the institute will meet and talk on this important question, and never a word said in regard to music being taught in our common schools until the Legislature of Alabama says to the teachers of her common schools to teach the science and art of music in their schools, just so long will Alabama remain behind in educational matters. No young man or young lady can ever claim to be educated that does not understand something of the theory of music, and no teacher, no matter what grade he may make, is a competent teacher unless he understands something of the science and art of music, and knows how to teach it. Music should be a part of the public school curriculum. To teach a child and not teach him music is to give him a one sided education, you leave one of the five senses entirely undeveloped that of hearing and appreciating pleasant sounds. The emotional nature is worth far more than the intellectual nature, and in the study and practice of music we cultivate this nature, it is the one thing that elevates a man from the real to the ideal life that is to come. Music lightens our burdens, brightens our homes, lessens our cares and elevates our societies, therefore the knowledge of music is a necessity and a duty we owe our school as well as a golden privilege. The Legislature of Alabama should make the study of music part of the public school curriculum. J.B.N.

A Deep Mystery.

It is a mystery why women endure Backache, Headache, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Melancholy, Fainting and Dizzy Spells when thousands have proved that Electric Bitters will quickly cure such troubles. "I suffered for years with kidney trouble," writes Mrs Phebe Cherley, of Paterson, Ia., and a lame back pained me so I could not dress myself, but Electric Bitters wholly cured me, and although 73 years old, I now am able to do all my housework." It overcomes Constipation, improves Appetite, gives perfect health. Only 50c at Clanton drug store.

Poplar Springs.

Mr. Edgar Patterson visited relatives near Salem Sunday.

Misses Annie and Bessie Harris have returned from a pleasant visit to relatives in Autauga. Mr. J. B. Jones, of Lomax, visited relatives here Sunday. Messrs. J. N. and W. A. Goss attended the temperance meeting at Clanton Friday night. Some of our close observers say that from all appearance there will be more weddings in the community soon. Chills are troubling some of our people at present.

NEW COMER.

The Mother's Favorite.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the mother's favorite. It is pleasant and safe for children to take and always cures. It is intended especially for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough, and is the best medicine made for these diseases. There is not the least danger in giving it to children for it contains no opium or other injurious drug and may be given as confidently to a babe as to an adult. For sale by Clanton Drug Co. and D. I. Deramus, Verbena.

Thorsby.
LANDS FOR SALE.
$2.50 PER ACRE.

We have for sale a small farm containing 40 acres, of which 30 acres are now under cultivation. Some houses on the place; land fenced; a good spring of running water. If this land was located in the Thorsby colony it would be worth $1200.00. The land is located about four miles west of Thorsby and you may take it for $100. (Sold February 16, 1900.)

Gene al Farming Lands for sale, $5.00 to $15.00 per acre.

Unimproved Orchard and Vineyard Lands at $15.00 per acre.

Improved Orchard and Vineyard Lands from $40 to $60 per acre.

Two small farms for Rent; a 7 room Cottage for sale.

Special inducements to merchants and manufacturers in the progressive town of Thorsby, the market center of Chilton county. For further particulars call at the offices of

THE CONCORDIA LAND AND IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION.
THORSBY, ALA.

Thorsby, Ala., Dec. 31, 1900

By the common law—that is, the original law of the states, no man is bound to fence his own land against the stock of another; but by that law, the owner of beasts is bound to restrain them, and is answerable for any damage which they commit upon the lands of another. The beauty of this law is that it is just to all concerned—ideas to the contrary notwithstanding.

Some of the writers on the wrong side have questioned our christian spirits and feelings of fellowship; some have gone so far as to accuse some of the promoters of a base idea. There are no grounds for any of these. The idea of making money renting pastures, I'm sure had never entered the mind of a single promoter. People broad minded and liberal enough to see as these men do, are above such small or mean thoughts. As for it being only a few large land owners in favor of the law, that is a mistake. The majority of the promoters are small land owners with little or no means but an eye to justice and right. Suppose it was only the large land owners in favor of it. They would only be contending for their just rights and protection. When the poor man's cow is out running at will, whose grass is she eating? Her owner's? No, she's beating his neighbor out of that much. This last remark was brought out by some of the pitiful excuses already given on the other side. This is a mighty poor county; but it would be in a pitiful condition if it were not for a few broad minded men who have forged ahead, even under such adverse circumstances. Has the county, in general, got to remain poor and behind in such matters just because the poorest people seem to prefer that condition? If the progressively inclined can't prosper then the others are cut off, but let some prosper and all their neighbors reap benefits therefrom.

One writer said that those in favor of stock law don't know what it is. He got mixed up. We in favor of stock law, or at least the majority of us, have never lived under any other kind of law until we came here. We know it is good and can't be improved upon. We want to get it here so you can enjoy it and we will make Chilton county among the best counties in the State. Chilton can go there if you will release some of the bondages that are holding her down. This fence business and 50 cent fruit trees are the main blocks in the way. We can't put the land in cultivation if we have to fence it. We can't plant large orchards with trees bought from fruit tree agents. Chilton county has hundred of acres of good farming lands that would be put into cultivation within a few years after we got stock law. Chilton county can grow finer fruit and earlier fruit, and make more money out of it than any other section as soon as the people learn that trees don't cost over 5 or 10 cents each, and will plant in larger quantities.

P. C. SMITH.

Subscribe for The Banner.

WANTED.

200 ACRES at $5.00 per acre. Titles perfect. Plenty of water on the place. Fine reed brake for pasture. One mile north of Thorsby. J. A. SEAGOS, Jemison, Ala.

FARM HANDS Wanted. Good hands $10.00 per month. Apply to I. A. Logan, Clanton, Ala.

FOR SALE. A complete entertainment outfit, consisting of 1 Stereoptican, 1 Optograph or moving picture machine, 1 Calcium light apparatus, 1 gas making outfit, 1 set Views Spanish American war, 5 50 ft. Films for Optograph. All new. Also 1 horse and spring wagon. Full particulars of C. Nally, Randolph, Ala.

A BONA FIDE SALARY—$12 Weekly. Men and women to appoint agents and represent us, some to travel, others for local work. $12 weekly salary and expenses. Old established house, pleasant permanent positions, rapid advancement and increase of wages. Write at once. Address BUTLER & ALGER, Dept. E, New Haven, Conn.

The Best Prescription for Malaria

Chills and Fever is a bottle of GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC. It is simply iron and quinine in a tasteless form. No cure—no pay. Price 50c.

Notice of Application to the Legislature.

Notice is hereby given that application will be made by the undersigned to the present session of the Legislature to remove the following described farming lands from within the corporate limits of the town of Clanton:

The Nw ¼ of the Ne ¼, Sec 2 Tp 21 R 14, owned by J. P. Haynes.

The S ½ of the Ne ¼ of the Nw ¼ Sec 2 Tp 21, R 14 and in the N ½ of the Ne ¼ of the Nw ¼, the following piece of land one acre wide across the East end of said North half of the Ne ¼ of Nw ¼ owned by J. W. Edwards.

J. W. EDWARDS.
J. P. HAYNES.

Billingsley.

Our town is progressing nicely, we have eight stores now. Mr. G. W. Taylor of Huckabee, has opened a nice stock in his handsome new store, and Mr. Escoe, of Verbena has opened in the Gullahorn store. There is also talk of a saw mill being put up here.

Mr. M. Thompson has visited his old home in Camden, S. C., recently. Rev. A. J. Preston of Prattville filled his regular appointment at the Baptist church last Sunday and preached two splendid sermons; he is one of the best preachers of the State. All should hear him. Mr. J. P. Willis spent the holidays at Jones' switch.

Mr. L. C. Taylor visited Huckabee last week. Mr. and Mrs. Jones Vernon of West Calera visited the family of W. K. Vernon last week.

Miss Bessie Wilkins and Josie May Marlar visited Adams last Friday. E. W. Price went to Kingston recently. Ed Gartman of Clanton was a visitor here Sunday. Mr. E. M. Jackson went to Haynes last Sunday. There will be services at the Methodist church next Sunday at 11 o'clock by the pastor, Rev. W. B. Dennis.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

TIPTON MULLINS
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW
CLANTON - ALA

WILLIAM M. ADAMS
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW
Practice in all Courts.
Office at the Adams' place
CLANTON - - - ALA

JOHN C. DENNIS
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW
Practice in the Supreme Court of Alabama, and all Inferior Courts.
CLANTON, - - ALA

ROBERT H. KNOX,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,
CLANTON, ALA.
Will practice in all the State and Federal Courts of Alabama.

Dr. D. A. CAMPBELLE,
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.
OFFICE HOURS: Morning 8 till 10, Evening, 3 till 5.
Office at Drug Store — CLANTON

Dr. OTTO M. WISEHART,
DENTIST.
OFFICE HOURS. 8 to 12 a.m. and 1 to 5 p.m.
Office over Wright's Store — CLANTON

Dr. GEO. A. DENNIS,
SPECIALIST
Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat
OFFICE 20 S. PERRY ST.
Office Hours: 9 to 12 and 2 to 4.
Telephone 491-2 Calls.
MONTGOMERY, ALA.

CHURCH DIRECTORY

BAPTIST—Preaching on the first and third sundays at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Sunday-school every sunday at 10 a.m.

Prayer-meeting every Thursday evening at 7 o'clock.

F. M. WOODS, Pastor.

METHODIST—Preaching every second sunday at 7 p.m., and every fourth sunday at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Sunday-school at 10 a.m. every sunday.

Prayer-meeting at seven o'clock every Wednesday night.

D. F. ELLISON, Pastor.

CLANTON BARBER SHOP
W. H. TAYLOR, Proprietor.
HAIR CUTTING
SHAVING
SHAMPOOING
In all the Latest City styles. Reasonable Charges. Prompt Attention.
HOT AND COLD BATHS.
CLANTON

E. W. Grove

This signature is on every box of the genuine Laxative Bromo-Quinine Tablets the remedy that cures a cold in one day

The Farmers' Mutual Insurance Association of Alabama

CHARTERED BY SPECIAL ACT OF THE LEGISLATURE.

"BY THE PEOPLE AND FOR THE PEOPLE."

CHILTON COUNTY BRANCH

PRESIDENT: N. J. CALLOWAY, Clanton.
SEC'Y & TREAS.: P. D. WILSON, Clanton.
GENERAL AGENT: WALLACE C. EDLER, Clanton.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

1. H. C. Young
2. Thomas Harrison
3. R. S. McCary
4. D. F. Jacks
5. W. H. Thomas
6. A. T. Hathcock
7. C. J. Cobern
8. John R. Parnell
9. D. N. Riggins.

Insure farmer's dwellings, outbuildings and contents, and farm stock against loss by fire, wind and lightning.

The assessments for the year just closed was only 23c on the $1000 policy.

The cheapest, safest and most sensible method of insurance known to man. For full particulars call on or address the General Agent.

WALLACE C. EDLER, Clanton, Ala.

THE BANNER.

LET THE PEOPLE RULE.

VOL. IX — CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY JANUARY 10, 1901 — NO. 12

Judge of Probate

$200 REWARD.

The above reward will be paid to any person or persons for the arrest and conviction of the parties who broke into the Court House and blew open the county safe at Clanton, Ala., on Sunday night, Nov. 25, 1900.

S. M. ADAMS,
Judge of Probate.

Clanton, Ala.

ELECTION NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that an election will be held in the Town of Clanton on Monday, January 14th, 1901, for the election of a Mayor and four Councilmen for the Town of Clanton.

J. P. VANDERVEER, Mayor.
A. C. SMITH, Clerk.

Mass Meeting Beat 2.

A mass meeting is called for beat 2 Friday the 11th, at one o'clock, at Jemison to discuss Stock Law, Road Law and Prohibition Law of Chilton. Let everybody that can, come and let us consider the important measures for our county, and send delegates to Clanton next day.

L. H. REYNOLDS,
C. L. LAWSTON
JOHN COBB.

Stanton.

Dr. Massey, of Birmingham, has been with us this week. Mrs. Grady and family, of Riderville, and relatives a visit here Sunday. Mr. Sam Reynolds, of Dry Valley, was a pleasant visitor here last Sunday. Mr. C. W. Plant, of Selma, was in the city Sunday. Messrs. Felix and Frazier Fitts were in town one day last week. Mr. T. D. Parnell has purchased the Macon house and moved his family last week. Mrs. Macon has moved to her residence. Messrs. Gant, R. H. Nelson, L. L. Parker, and Misses Lee Ella Parker, Lula Culver and Sammie Nelson enjoyed a pleasant visit to Marion while last Sunday evening. Mr. Huff, of Perry, has purchased the lath mill here and will move his family to Stanton in a few days. Mr. Charlie Cox, of Riderville, has secured a position at the furniture shop. Mrs. Cox has purchased the Callen lot next to Mr. S. R. Letcher's and will erect a dwelling shortly. A mass meeting was held here last Tuesday for the purpose of electing delegates to the meeting at Clanton, Jan. 12. Messrs. W. M. Wilson and John Dennis, of Clanton, were in town Tuesday on business. Mr. C. Mullins, of Clanton, was in the town Tuesday. We regret to state that Mrs. S. R. Letcher and Mrs. E. Dunsmore are both quite sick.

STAN.

DR. A. J. MASSEY

Up-to-date and hustling Dentist who is well known and popular will be at Stanton from 7th of Jan. to 12th, 1901. Come quickly, you may never have a better opportunity to have good dental work done.

MARRIED.

At the residence of the bride's parents on the 2d inst. Mr. John Grant and Miss Amanda Devenport were happily united. Rev. J. M. Ward performing the ceremony. Best wishes for their future career goes out to the happy young couple.

Governor Samford has appointed J. L. Hayes a Justice of the Peace for Beat 3.

Eminent Chicago Woman Speaks.

Mrs. Roxa Tyler, of Chicago, President Illinois Woman's Club, in speaking of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, says: "I suffered with a severe cold this winter which threatened to run into pneumonia. I tried different remedies but I seemed to grow worse. No medicine upset my stomach. A friend advised me to try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and I found it was pleasant to take and it relieved me at once. I am now fully recovered, saved a doctor's bill, time and suffering, and I shall never be without this splendid medicine again." For sale by Clanton Drug Co. and D. I. Deramus, Verbena.

CORRESPONDENCE.

[We are willing to publish our subscribers views at any time, but it must be distinctly understood we do not hold ourselves responsible for these opinions.—EDITOR.]

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY

Take Laxative Bromo-Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. E. W. Grove's signature is on each box. 25c.

Jemison, Dec. 31, 1900

Editor Banner.—Please allow me space in your paper to say a few words about Stock and Road laws and all other laws of the county that does not infringe on the rights of other counties. In my judgment we need no stock law, as to the roads, our laws are alright; the roads just need work and under any law they must be worked or they will be no better; and the people of Clifton must do the work, other people are not concerned in it, and we had just as well work them as pay for it. The reason why we need no stock law is that there is so much woodland yet, that we can turn out our cattle in the spring and they do well till winter without feed. Someone said the fences was bad if their fence is bad let them split rails and build them up, and cultivate inside and pasture outside instead of a stock law and building the fence around their cattle and cultivating outside; it is easier to fence cattle out than to fence them in.

With due respect to Bro. Pounds and others in the legislature, I do not think that local laws ought to be made by them. I admit that we need representatives, but not for local laws. I think that as our commissioners are scattered over the county and are citizens of the county and officers of it, they ought to have the right and power over the local laws; they are at home and interested in this county and its welfare; when the general assembly is not, because they do not live under the local laws of this county.

Now dear reader think of it, if the local laws of this county were in the hands of our commissioners it would be altered or amended by us who are concerned in it, and not by men of other counties who do not have to abide by our local laws; these men of other counties legislating for us and do not know anything about us and our interest is what ails us now. I say stop it and do it now. Someone may say that our commissioners are not competent of doing the work. With due respect to past legislators, where in the name of common sense and high heaven is their competency and where has it been noted out? Now, I say take local laws out of their hands and bring home to the commissioners, or raise the salary of representatives high enough to win once our best men to fill the office. I think that the honorable L. L. Reynolds will agree that the salary is too small. Success to the Banner and its many readers.

JOSEPH H. THOMAS.

Stops the Cough and Works off the Cold.

Laxative Bromo-Quinine Tablets cure a cold in one day. No Cure No Pay. Price 25 cents.

Kincheon, Dec. 30, 1900

Mr. Vinson, in piece to the Banner recently seemed to have forgotten the fact that Beat 6 is quite a large scope of country. His statement that everybody in Beat 6 was bitterly opposed to the stock law, it is at the most an unauthorized assertion. I live in Beat 6, and am highly in favor of the stock law. These are my reasons: First, because all progressive countries have the stock law: second, because we want to better our grade of stock, and under what better regime than the stock law can we hope to acquire it? third, the cost of fencing the average farm consumes about one-fifth of the clear profit from year to year. Is there anything but the stock law that will enable the farmer to keep this hard earned money in his pocket. The answer is inevitable. My views are not so broad as some of the anti-stock law fellows. I differ my own opinion on the matter, and would be glad of an expression from some farmer in another part of Beat 6. As for me and mine, we want to save our money, our muscles and our will, and turn them to better account than mauling rails. Exercise is the life of the brain, but we are going to have a gymnasium in connection with our school, and boys during vacation can take a little exercise each day under prescribed rules, and grow up to be as manly men as the world has ever developed. Success to the Banner.

FAIR PLAY

If troubled with a weak digestion, belching, sour stomach, or if you feel dull after eating, try Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. Price, 25 cents. Samples free at Clanton drug store, or D. I. Deramus, Verbena.

Jemison, Dec. 29, 1900

There is being a great deal written and said about better schools in our county. The Legislature will meet and legislate, the educators will write, and the institute will meet and talk on this important question, and never a word said in regard to music being taught in our common schools until the Legislature of Alabama says to the teachers of her common schools to teach the science and art of music in their schools, just so long will Alabama remain behind in educational matters. No young man or young lady can ever claim to be educated that does not understand something of the theory of music, and no teacher, no matter what grade he may make, is a competent teacher unless he understands something of the science and art of music, and knows how to teach it. Music should be a part of the public school curriculum. To teach a child and not teach him music is to give him a one sided education, you leave one of the five senses entirely undeveloped that of hearing and appreciating pleasant sounds. The emotional nature is worth far more than the intellectual nature, and in the study and practice of music we cultivate this nature, it is the one thing that elevates a man from the real to the ideal life that is to come. Music lightens our burdens, brightens our homes, lessens our cares and elevates our societies, therefore the knowledge of music is a necessity and a duty we owe our school as well as a golden privilege. The Legislature of Alabama should make the study of music part of the public school curriculum. J.B.N.

A Deep Mystery.

It is a mystery why women endure Backache, Headache, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Melancholy, Fainting and Dizzy Spells when thousands have proved that Electric Bitters will quickly cure such troubles. "I suffered for years with kidney trouble," writes Mrs Phebe Cherley, of Paterson, Ia., and a lame back pained me so I could not dress myself, but Electric Bitters wholly cured me, and although 73 years old, I now am able to do all my housework." It overcomes Constipation, improves Appetite, gives perfect health. Only 50c at Clanton drug store.

Poplar Springs.

Mr. Edgar Patterson visited relatives near Salem Sunday.

Misses Annie and Bessie Harris have returned from a pleasant visit to relatives in Autauga. Mr. J. B. Jones, of Lomax, visited relatives here Sunday. Mesrs. J. N. and W. A. Goss attended the temperance meeting at Clanton Friday night. Some of our close observers say that from all appearance there will be more weddings in the community soon. Chilas are troubling some of our people at present.

NEW COMER.

The Mother's Favorite.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the mother's favorite. It is pleasant and safe for children to take and always cures. It is intended especially for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough, and is the best medicine made for these diseases. There is not the least danger in giving it to children for it contains no opium or other injurious drug and may be given as confidently to a babe as to an adult. For sale by Clanton Drug Co. and D. I. Deramus, Verbena.

Thorsby.
LANDS FOR SALE.
$2.50 PER ACRE.

We have for sale a small farm containing 40 acres, of which 30 acres are now under cultivation. Some houses on the place; land fenced; a good spring of running water. If this land was located in the Thorsby colony it would be worth $1200.00. The land is located about four miles west of Thorsby and you may take it for $100. (Sold February 16, 1900.)

Gene al Farming Lands for sale, $5.00 to $15.00 per acre.

Unimproved Orchard and Vineyard Lands at $15.00 per acre.

Improved Orchard and Vineyard Lands from $40 to $60 per acre.

Two small farms for Rent; a 7 room Cottage for sale.

Special inducements to merchants and manufacturers in the progressive town of Thorsby, the market center of Chilton county. For further particulars call at the offices of

THE CONCORDIA LAND AND IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION.
THORSBY, ALA.

Thorsby, Ala., Dec. 31, 1900

By the common law—that is, the original law of the states, no man is bound to fence his own land against the stock of another; but by that law, the owner of beasts is bound to restrain them, and is answerable for any damage which they commit upon the lands of another. The beauty of this law is that it is just to all concerned—ideas to the contrary notwithstanding.

Some of the writers on the wrong side have questioned our christian spirits and feelings of fellowship; some have gone so far as to accuse some of the promoters of a base idea. There are no grounds for any of these. The idea of making money renting pastures, I'm sure had never entered the mind of a single promoter. People broad minded and liberal enough to see as these men do, are above such small or mean thoughts. As for it being only a few large land owners in favor of the law, that is a mistake. The majority of the promoters are small land owners with little or no means but an eye to justice and right. Suppose it was only the large land owners in favor of it. They would only be contending for their just rights and protection. When the poor man's cow is out running at will, whose grass is she eating? Her owner's? No, she's beating his neighbor out of that much. This last remark was brought out by some of the pitiful excuses already given on the other side. This is a mighty poor county; but it would be in a pitiful condition if it were not for a few broad minded men who have forged ahead, even under such adverse circumstances. Has the county, in general, got to remain poor and behind in such matters just because the poorest people seem to prefer that condition? If the progressively inclined can't prosper then the others are cut off, but let some prosper and all their neighbors reap benefits therefrom.

One writer said that those in favor of stock law don't know what it is. He got mixed up. We in favor of stock law, or at least the majority of us, have never lived under any other kind of law until we came here. We know it is good and can't be improved upon. We want to get it here so you can enjoy it and we will make Chilton county among the best counties in the State. Chilton can go there if you will release some of the bondages that are holding her down. This fence business and 50 cent fruit trees are the main blocks in the way. We can't put the land in cultivation if we have to fence it. We can't plant large orchards with trees bought from fruit tree agents. Chilton county has hundred of acres of good farming lands that would be put into cultivation within a few years after we got stock law. Chilton county can grow finer fruit and earlier fruit, and make more money out of it than any other section as soon as the people learn that trees don't cost over 5 or 10 cents each, and will plant in larger quantities.

P. C. SMITH.

Subscribe for The Banner.

WANTED.

200 ACRES at $5.00 per acre. Titles perfect. Plenty of water on the place. Fine reed brake for pasture. One mile north of Thorsby. J. A. SKAGGS, Jemison, Ala.

FARM HANDS Wanted. Good hands $10.00 per month. Apply to I. A. Logan, Clanton, Ala.

FOR SALE. A complete entertainment outfit, consisting of 1 Stereoptican, 1 Optograph or moving picture machine, 1 Calcium light apparatus, 1 gas making outfit, 1 set Views Spanish American war, 5 50 ft. Films for Optograph. All new. Also 1 horse and spring wagon. Full particulars of C. Nally, Randolph, Ala.

A BONA FIDE SALARY—$12 Weekly. Men and women to appoint agents and represent us, some to travel, others for local work. $12 weekly salary and expenses. Old established house, pleasant permanent positions, rapid advancement and increase of wages. Write at once. Address BUTLER & ALGER, Dept. E, New Haven, Conn.

The Best Prescription for Malaria

Chills and Fever is a bottle of GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC. It is simply iron and quinine in a tastless form. No cure—no pay. Price 50c.

Notice of Application to the Legislature.

Notice is hereby given that application will be made by the undersigned to the present session of the Legislature to remove the following described farming lands from within the corporate limits of the town of Clanton:

The NW ¼ of the NE ¼, Sec 2 Tp 21 R 14, owned by J. P. Haynes.

The S ½ of the NE ¼ of the NW ¼ Sec 2 Tp 21, R 14 and in the N ½ of the NE ¼ of the NW ¼, the following piece of land one acre wide across the East end of said North half of the NE ¼ of NW ¼ owned by J. W. Edwards.

J. W. EDWARDS.
J. P. HAYNES.

Billingsley.

Our town is progressing nicely, we have eight stores now. Mr. G. W. Taylor of Huckabee, has opened a nice stock in his handsome new store, and Mr. Escoe, of Verbena has opened in the Gullahorn store. There is also talk of a saw mill being put up here.

Mr. M. Thompson has visited his old home in Camden, S. C., recently. Rev. A. J. Preston of Prattville filled his regular appointment at the Baptist church last Sunday and preached two splendid sermons; he is one of the best preachers of the State. All should hear him. Mr. J. P. Willis spent the holidays at Jones' switch.

Mr. L. C. Taylor visited Huckabee last week. Mr. and Mrs. Jones Vernon of West Calera visited the family of W. K. Vernon last week.

Miss Bessie Wilkins and Josie May Marlar visited Adams last Friday. E. W. Price went to Kingston recently. Ed Gartman of Clanton was a visitor here Sunday. Mr. E. M. Jackson went to Haynes last Sunday. There will be services at the Methodist church next Sunday at 11 o'clock by the pastor, Rev. W. B. Dennis.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

TIPTON MULLINS
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW
CLANTON - ALA

WILLIAM M. ADAMS
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW
Practice in all Courts.
Office at the Adams' place
CLANTON - - - ALA

JOHN C. DENNIS
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW
Practicing in the Supreme Court of Alabama, and all Inferior Courts.
CLANTON, - - ALA

ROBERT E. KNOX,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,
CLANTON, ALA.
Will practice in all the State and Federal Courts of Alabama.

Dr. D. A. CAMPBELLE,
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.
OFFICE HOURS: Morning 8 till 10. Evening, 3 till 5.
Office at Drug Store — CLANTON

Dr. OTTO M. WISEHART,
DENTIST.
OFFICE HOURS. 8 to 12 a.m. and 1 to 5 p.m.
Office over Wright's Store — CLANTON

Dr. GEO. A. DENNIS,
SPECIALIST
Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat
OFFICE 22 S. PERRY ST.
Office Hours: 9 to 12 and 2 to 4.
Telephone 491—2 Calls.
MONTGOMERY, ALA.

CHURCH DIRECTORY

BAPTIST—Preaching on the first and third sundays at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Sunday-school every sunday at 10 a.m.

Prayer-meeting every Thursday evening at 7 o'clock.

F. M. WOODS, Pastor.

METHODIST—Preaching every second sunday at 7 p.m., and every fourth sunday at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Sunday-school at 10 a.m. every sunday.

Prayer-meeting at seven o'clock every Wednesday night.

D. F. ELLISON, Pastor.

CLANTON BARBER SHOP
W. H. TAYLOR, Proprietor.
HAIR CUTTING
SHAVING
SHAMPOOING
In all the Latest City styles. Reasonable Charges. Prompt attention.
HOT AND COLD BATHS.
CLANTON

E. W. Grove
This signature is on every box of the genuine Laxative Bromo-Quinine Tablets the remedy that cures a cold in one day

The Farmers' Mutual Insurance Association of Alabama

CHARTERED BY SPECIAL ACT OF THE LEGISLATURE.

"BY THE PEOPLE AND FOR THE PEOPLE."

CHILTON COUNTY BRANCH

PRESIDENT: N. J. CALLOWAY, Clanton.
SEC'Y & TREAS.: F. D. WILSON, Clanton.
GENERAL AGENT: WALLACE C. EDLER, Clanton.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

1. H. C. Young
2. Thomas Harrison
3. R. S. McCary
4. D. F. Jacks
5. W. H. Thomas
6. A. T. Hathcock
7. C. J. Coburn
8. John R. Parnell
9. D. K. Riggins.

Insures farmer's dwellings, outbuildings and contents, and live stock against loss by fire, wind and lightning.

The assessments for the year just closed was only 23c on the $1000 policy.

The cheapest, safest and most equitable method of insurance known to man. For full particulars call on or address the General Agent. WALLACE C. EDLER, Clanton, Ala.

THE BANNER.

Published Weekly.

CLANTON, - - - ALABAMA.

A leading physician says no work should be performed before breakfast. Of course, he naturally makes an exception in the matter of cooks.

The Japanese Government is said to be considering the advisability of inflicting capital punishment by means of suffocation. It is proposed to place the subject in an airtight chamber and then exhaust the air from the box by means of a pump.

Perhaps it will be rather a surprise to know that there are 500 miles of the 20,000 miles of street railway in the United States yet operated by horses, and the wonder will be still greater when it is known that one of these roads is in New York City.

Another experimentalist, seventy years old, announces that he has discovered the secret of perpetual motion. Perpetual motion is like the contemplation of infinity. Too much indulgence ends in insanity. And no discovery in the world is too stupendous for a cracked brain.

The pressure of the trade competition during the last decade has prompted Great Britain to utilize an extraordinary method of impressing foreign traders with their superiority. The new scheme is to scatter broadcast over the commercial world British experts in the matters of trade, to lecture on British manufactures in every important commercial centre of the globe.

The only London paper which referred in its editorial columns to Secretary Gage's annual report is the Express, which hazards an opinion that in a century or so the staple industry of England and Europe will be that of carrying raw material across the Atlantic for the manufacturers of the United States, and bringing back foodstuffs, with such a proportion of manufactured goods as the Old World can afford to pay for.

The authorities whose duty it is to enforce the game laws of Kansas recently had reason to suspect that some market hunters were illegally shipping quail from Washington, but the gathering of evidence was found to be an almost impossible task. Finally the officers borrowed a pointer dog and took it to the freight depot, and the animal promptly centred its attention upon a large egg case. The case was opened, and under its two top layers of eggs were found several dozen quail. The lawbreakers were located without difficulty upon a reference to the railroad company's books, and arrests promptly followed.

Children who come to St. Louis schools with dirty faces are no longer sent home to complete their toilets, but are escorted to wash-rooms in the basement, where they are under the eyes of the janitor. Under the old plan, the children sent home often played truant for the balance of the day, or were detained at home by their offended and indignant mothers. As this class of children most need the benefits to be had from the schools the new plan was adopted. The children take kindly to the idea and revel in the abundance of water, soap, and clean towels. This step taken, it is thought that a long-continued agitation for the introduction of bath-tubs in the St. Louis school buildings will score an early success.

The nervous side of the racehorse is very interesting. To do the best work he is capable of the thoroughbred must be trained to a very fine edge, and when in that condition the least thing out of the ordinary disturbs him. Horsese have been known to be white with foam twenty minutes after starting on a railroad journey, and car sickness has killed many a fine racer. Thoroughbreds in training are used to certain handlers and if any one else comes around they do not like it. This is partly the result of the lavish attention which these men bestow upon their charges. At the racetrack they sleep in apartments fitted up for them in the stables. Not only do the stable boys, grooms, rubbers and jockeys do this, but also the high salaried trainers whose work makes the great racing machines of the present day. They watch the animals under their care constantly. They will run to a stall like a mother to the bedside of her child at the slightest unusual disturbance during the day or night. They know just what to do in emergencies and they are able to do the proper thing promptly and well.

GIRL HORRIBLY BUTCHERED.

Made Desperate Fight For Honor Against Would-Be Ravisher.

Miss Nellie Morris, aged nineteen, handsome and accomplished, was attacked and killed with a razor at Hackney, Morgan county, Ohio, Friday night by Walter A. Weinstock, aged eighteen years, who lived near her home.

She was going home across the fields when Weinstock met her and made indecent proposals to her. She immediately started to run. He grabbed her and threw her to the grond. She screamed and fought hard, finally getting to her feet.

Weinstock drew a razor from his pocket and cut her across the neck, severing the neck muscles and laying bare the jugular vein. Miss Morris grabbed the razor with her hands and they were cut into pieces. Her dress was torn from her in shreds and when people arrived she was almost naked. She died from the effects of her wounds shortly after the assault.

She was the daughter of Benjamin Morris, a business man of Marietta, and was prominent in society in Marietta and Parkersburg. Weinstock was grabbed by a crowd of men, who bound him with ropes, hand and foot, and removed him to a building, where more than 1,500 gathered to "guard" him.

KILLED BY WHITECAPS.

Negro Failed to Leave When Notified And Was Foully Murdered.

On the Darnell place, ten miles west of Fairburn, Ga., near the Chattahoochee river, Sterling Thompson, a prominent negro politician, and quite well-to-do, was assassinated in his own house.

About ten days ago the negro received a written notice to leave the county in ten days. Thompson paid little attention to it, and declared his intention of remaining.

Later on a party of masked men called at the negro's house and deliberately proceeded to riddle him with bullets and buckshot.

ACTIVITY IN PHILIPPINES.

Roving Bands of Insurgents Give Our Soldiers Plenty of Work.

Generals Wheaton and Bates report many small captures, the destruction of insurgent camps and the seizure of supplies, animals and other necessities. Among the captures in Smith's district was Colonel Techon, the insurgent governor of Tarlac.

General Grant is personally in command of a mounted expedition in the mountains of southern Pampangas, which, he says, is the only locality where the insurgents are in force in his district.

FINAL DRAFT OF BILL.

House Rivers and Harbors Committee Finishes Up Its Work.

The river and harbor committee of the house has completed the final draft of the river and harbor bill. The appropriations and contracts provided for in the measure were given out just before the holiday recess, but the preliminary surveys provided were not completed until Wednesday. They include the following:

Florida—Key West harbor with a view to determining the most practicable channel through the northwest entrance; Charlotte harbor, with a view to extending twelve-foot channel to railroad wharf at Punta Gorda; Hillsboro bay, upper Chipola river, Blackwater upper east bays, with view to uniform channel depth from Milton to gulf; New river and Apalachicola river, with view to constructing channel to connect the same.

Georgia—Skiddaway barrows, Chatham county, for channel connecting Isle of Hope with Burnside river; Chubbs creek and Plantation creek, with view to providing channel seventy-five feet wide.

South Carolina—Black river, to secure three feet in upper and twenty feet in lower river; inner Winyah bay, to secure twenty feet from Georgetown to shore line of Black and Waccamaw rivers.

QUEEN HONORS ROBERTS.

Bestows an Earldom and Makes Him a Knight of the Garter.

Field Marshal Lord Roberts arrived at Cowes, Isle of Wight, Wednesday, and drove immediately to Osborne house, where the queen bestowed on him an earldom, with a special reminder for his daughters. He was also made a Knight of the Garter.

A large crowd awaited him at the pier. He landed from the royal launch at 3:30 p. m., which was the signal for deafening shouts of welcome. Princess Beatrice, in her capacity as the governor of the Isle of Wight, and the Duke of Connaught, representing the queen, awaited Lord Roberts. He was warmly greeted and the party started in royal carriages for Osborne house. The route was lined with troops and thronged with cheering sight-seers.

Lord Roberts stopped on his way at the town hall of East Cowes, where eulogistic addresses of welcome were presented to him. He then resumed his drive and entered the grounds of Osborne house by the Prince of Wales' entrance, and proceeded up the troop-lined avenue to her majesty's Isle of Wight residence. After a hearty reception in the council chamber by a number of princes and princesses, Lord Roberts was ushered into the presence of the queen. His audience with her majesty was quite private.

One of the paradoxes of life insurance is that the richest men, who need it least, carry the largest amount of it

EIGHT SUFFOCATED IN A HOTEL FIRE

Of Twenty-Seven Guests, Nineteen Escape.

CUT OFF BY CLOUDS OF SMOKE

Bodies Found Scattered Through Halls By Firemen--Occurred In Minneapolis.

Eight men lost their lives in a fire at Minneapolis Sunday morning. The fire had its origin in the rear of the Standard Furniture store. The men were overtaken by an immense volume of smoke in the Harvard hotel, which occupies the second, third and fourth floors of the building, and death in every instance was due to suffocation. When the men were found in various parts of the house a man named Erickson was dead and the seven others were unconscious. The fire was discovered by Charles Hanson, and he and the night clerk set about to awaken the lodgers. In several instances it was necessary to break in the doors. What took place in the rooms and narrow, dark hallways will never be known. Every man rushed for his own life. Nineteen of the twenty-seven lodgers were successful, but the others were unable to beat their way through the oil smoke and fell in their tracks where they were found by the firemen. Many of those who escaped came staggering out on the snowy sidewalk like drunken men, barely making their way through the smoke and heat and partially clad. Several had the most narrow escapes. The loss on the building and contents will not exceed $3,000. The dead are:

Nathaniel Perly, sixty years old.
C. J. Skidmore, forty-five years old.
J. S. Bently, fifty-five years old.
B. Scofield, forty-five years old.
George Rudey, forty-five years old.
Michael Monahan, seventy-five.
J. N. Frickson, of Alexandria, Minn., twenty-five years old.
—— Jacobson, laborer, about fifty years old.

The injured are: Henry cotton, badly cut about hands.

TO BETRAY ABDUCTORS.

Cudahy Receives Letter Containing Promise of Information.

A letter has been turned over to Chief Donahue, of the Omaha police department, in which an offer is made to deliver certain information to him regarding the abduction of young Cudahy, upon his compliance with certain conditions.

The chief and Mr. Cudahy evidently considered the letter authentic, and of enough importance to justify a reply, because the following advertisement appeared in the columns of a local paper Sunday morning:

"Your request, asked for in letter mailed at Lincoln on January 4th, to be answered before January 7th, will be granted. "E. A. CUDAHY,
"J. A. DONAHUE."

TWO YEARS IN TRANSIT.

Letters Mailed In Rome, Ga., In 1899 Just Reach Washington.

A peculiar defect in the efficiency of the postoffice department developed at Washington Saturday by the receipt of two letters by Georgia congressmen which were mailed in Rome, Ga., on April 11, 1899. Where the letters have been since that day has not been determined.

W. J. Cooper, of Rome, desired to be placed on the pension roll. He wrote to Congressman Maddox, of the Seventh district, and Congressman Livingston, of the Fifth district. The letters are stamped as having been mailed on the date stated. Nearly two years has passed since the letters were posted.

Boers Release Prisoners.

A London special says that the Boers have released the members of the Liverpool regiment captured at Helvetia on December 29.

Ten Hours Too Long.

The miners of the Star mine at Aspen, Colo., have struck because of an attempt of the owners to enforce a ten hour day system.

HARD ON KIDNAPERS.

Bill Before Nebraska Legislature Calls For Capital Punishment.

A Lincoln, Neb., dispatch says: Senator Ransom, of Omaha, introduced in the state senate Wednesday a bill to make kiknaping under certain conditions punishable by death. It provides for three grades of punishment. For simple kidnaping, three to five years in the penitentiary; for kidnaping and extorting money, a life term in prison, and for kidnaping and threatening injury to the victim, hanging.

NEW CONNECTING LINK

Will Be Built By Southern From Tennessee to Kentucky.

Information has reached Knoxville, Tenn., that the Southern railway would at once begin the construction of a line of road from Jellico to Burgin, Ky., a distance of 105 miles.

A preliminary survey was made some time ago. The construction of the connecting link from Burgin to Jellico will obviate the necessity of the Southern railway using the Cincinnati Southern in connecting its lines in Kentucky.

STUDENTS PUNISHED.

Faculty of Georgia Technological Institute Demonstrates Their Authority.

The faculty of the Georgia Technological school at Atlanta met Friday afternoon to take cognizance of the organized disobedience of the seniors in entering into a compact not to return to school on December 31st.

The entire faculty was present, and one by one the eighteen seniors were brought before their preceptors to undergo a searching examination. The men confessed without hesitation to having signed the agreement to stay away in violation of the rules of the school until January 2d. They offered no excuse for their action except an occasional murmur against the decision of the faculty that the men should return to duty on December 31st.

After listening to the statements of the seniors, the faculty took but a very few minutes to arrive at a decision, and under their action the following textile students are suspended from the institution until March 30th, while their diplomas are withheld until December 31, 1901:

L. C. Swords, Madison; E. W. Camp, Moreland; Wade Langston, Atlanta; L. F. Brown, Atlanta; A. S. Mead, Decatur; W. D. Hughes, Twiggs county.

The only remaining student in the textile department of the senior class is J. G. Johnson, son of Colonel Lindsay Johnson, of Rome, Ga. Young Johnson escaped the heavy punishment inflicted on his classmates on the ground that he did not take part in the former mutiny in which the textile students were engaged.

The remaining students of the senior class are suspended until the first Saturday in February, while their degrees will be withheld until the first Saturday in November. The men who undergo this punishment are as follows: W. P. Sullivan, Savannah; J. F. Towers, Rome; B. W. Holtzclaw, Perry; J. S. Waterman, Macon; W. J. Holman, Fayetteville, Tenn.; W. Newsome, LaGrange; D. O. Dougherty, Atlanta; J. W. Moore, Hapeville; George Merritt, Macon; L. P. Benjamin, Atlanta; E. Gay, Atlanta.

Under the wholesale punishment inflicted on the senior class by the faculty of the Technological school it is probable that no effort to hold a commencement this year will be attempted, for of the eighteen men who would have graduated in June not one will be entitled to a diploma before the first Saturday of next Novvmber.

TO CONTEST WILL.

Felders Will Have to Fight in Courts For Their Fortunes.

At Nashville, Tenn., Thursday, after the probating of the will of Millionaire Samuel Murphy, his widow, Anna H. Murphy, appeared in court and adopted Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Felder, thus making them the heirs of the millions that were left to the widow.

The late Dr. John A. Murphy, of Cincinnati, was a brother of Samuel Murphy, who also formerly resided here. The widow of Dr. John A. Murphy still resides here, and it was expected that her two daughters would become the heirs of Samuel Murphy. These nieces are Mrs. Edwin Gardner, Jr., of Nashville, and Mrs. John Kilbreth, Jr., of New York, and it is claimed that they had been told by their uncle, Samuel Murphy, that they would become his heirs after the death of his widow.

It is charged now that Samuel Murphy made a different will just before he died, and that Mr. and Mrs. Felder were adopted a week after his death while Felder was made co-executor of the will without bond. In the petition to adopt Mr. and Mrs. Felder, the widow is said to have stated in court at Nashville that Samuel Murphy during his life gave his brother, Dr. John A. Murphy, of Cincinnati, over $500,000.

Mrs. John A. Murphy, in published interviews, states that the amount was less than $100,000, and mostly in real estate, which has since greatly depreciated. She and her daughter has retained eminent counsel at Cincinnati to contest the will and the adoption of Mr. and Mrs. Felder and other counsel will be retained at Nashville for the litigation.

WORLD'S MONEY SUPPLY.

According to Mint Director's Report the Amount Has Doubled.

An increase of more than 100 per cent in the money of the world within less than a generation is one of the most interesting exhibits of the annual report of the director of the mint. The total stock reported in 1873 was about $4,600,000,000, of which more than half was in paper money not fully covered by metallic reserves.

The situation at the beginning of 1900 showed a total monetary stock of about $11,600,000,000, of which only little more than one-fourth was in uncovered paper money. Director Roberts finds that, while the total money supply of the world has increased about $7,000,000,000, the increase in gold money since 1873 has been about $3,600,000,000; in silver about $2,750,000,000, and in uncovered paper only about $650,000,000.

The quantity of silver money, which was at its maximum of about $4,250,000,000 at the beginning of 1896, has since been somewhat reduced by the sale of silver by Germany and its retirement in other countries.

American firms are going to build five great battleships for Russia.

FRANCHISE SCARE STARTED IN HOUSE

Republicans are Seeking Pertinent Information.

DIRECTED AT SOUTHERN STATES

Abridgement of Electoral Franchise the Bone of Contention. Democrats Aroused.

A Washington special says: Like the proverbial bolt of lightning from a clear sky, there was precipated upon the house of representatives Thursday an entirely unexpected storm in the shape of a resolution fathered by Representative Shattuc, of Ohio. The resolution was as follows:

Whereas, In order that the apportionment of membership of the house of representatives may be determined in a constitutional manner, therefore, be it

Resolved, By the house of representatives that the director of the census be directed to furnish to this house at the earliest possible moment the following information:

1. The total number of male citizens over 21 years of age in the several states of the union.

2. The total number of male citizens of the United States over 21 years of age who by reason of state constitutional limitations or state legislation are denied the right of suffrage, whether such denial exists on account of illiteracy, on account of pauperism, on account of polygamy or on account of property qualifications or on any other reason.

"Resolved, further, That the speaker of the house of representatives be authorized and directed to appoint a select committee of five members who shall investigate the question of alleged abridgement of the elective franchise, for any of the causes mentioned, in all the states of the union in which constitutional or legislative restrictions on the rights of suffrage are claimed to exist, said committee shall be authorized to send for persons and papers to administer oaths to witnesses and hearings at such places as in the judgment of the committee the desired information can best be had. The committee is also authorized to employ a stenographer and such other clerical and expert assistance as it may deem necessary. The expenses of the investigation to be paid out of the contingent fund of the house of representatives over vouchers and approved by the chairman of said committee."

Representative Olmstead introduced the resolution.

The issue was precipitated quite unexpectedly. The leaders had decreed that the reapportiontment bill should be taken up, but before it could be called Mr. Olmstead, of Pennsylvania, offered as a matter of privilege a resolution reciting the alleged abridgement of the suffrage in Louisiana, Mississippi, South Carolina and North Carolina, and directing the committee on census to investigate and report the facts to the house in order that a constitutional basis of representation could be established for these states.

The leaders on the Democratic side sought in vain to heat off the resolution with points of order, but the speaker ruled against them. They then began a filibuster, openly avowing that they would fight every proposition looking to the reduction of representation from the southern states to the bitter end. Several of the Republicans were seemingly in sympathy with them, and their indifference to the fate of the Olmstead resolution in the end gave the opposition the victory. Many of them quietly paired with absent Democrats, leaving their absent colleagues unpaired.

As a result, when the question of consideration was raised against the resolution it was defeated—81 to 83. Although the vote was a strict party vote, two Republicans, Landis, of Indiana, and Mann, of Illinois, answered present, but did not vote. But the story of the defeat is found in the absentees on both sides who were unpaired. Thirty-two Republicans were absent and unpaired against sixteen of the opposition.

The Republicans failing to show a quorum, the house adjourned.

OUTRAGE BY WHITECAPS.

Negroes Near Nellyville, Mo., Warned to Make Themselves Scarce.

A gang of white men, disguised as whitecaps, visited a number of negroes near Nellyville, Mo., Wednesday night, riddled their houses with bullets, wrecked their furniture and gave five colored men notice to leave the country within twenty days, or they would be revisited, their homes burned and the occupants hanged.

REQUISITION IS REFUSED.

Alabama Governor Turns Down Application For Good Reasons.

Gov. Samford, of Alabama, refused requisition papers for B. G. Douglas, alias Eldridge Williams, arrested at Butte, Mont., charged with attempting to murder his wife and who confessed to having killed James Boswell of Wetumpka, Ala., in 1897, and afterwards escaped, pending his trial. The governor's grounds for refusal was that the indictment had been lost or stolen and all pages of court records on which a record of the case had been made had been surreptitiously torn from the books since the escape of Williams.

THE NEWS EPITOMIZED

WASHINGTON ITEMS.

Minister Conger has been instructed to urge the arbitration of the distribution of China's indemnity should the diplomats fail to agree.

The Navy Department ordered the gunboat Scorpion to La Guayra, Venezuela.

Captain McDonald, who shot himself in the Department Auditor Morris in his office, is dead.

Because of failure to care for the machinery, the Navy Department is unable to send a torpedo flotilla with the North Atlantic squadron.

OUR ADOPTED ISLANDS.

There is unprecedented activity everywhere around the 477 American posts in the Philippines. Scouting parties and small expeditions are striking rapidly day and night.

The Philippine Commission has completed the preparation of a general municipal government bill.

The total custom receipts in Cuba for the eleven months ended November 30, 1900, were $14,549,647.98.

The municipal treasurer of Havana, Cuba, is short in his accounts $13[illegible].

General Wood will visit Washington in the latter part of January to consult in regard to the Cuban constitution, which will be ready then.

An active campaign was carried on by the Fortieth Infantry during December in Northern Mindanao, P. I.

Many prominent natives were arrested in Manila as alleged insurgents under General MacArthur's recent proclamation.

Senor Nunez, Civil Governor of Havana, Cuba, pronounced against the legality of the Dady sewering and paving contract.

General Wood gave the first formal reception and ball in the Palace, Havana, since he became Governor General of Cuba. More than 1000 persons attended.

DOMESTIC.

Edwin G. Bedford died near Paris, Ky., aged eighty-six years. He was a noted breeder of short-horn cattle. He paid the highest price ever given for a short-horn, $36,000, for a bull at the New York Mills sale in 1876.

The Railroad Commissioners issued an order compelling the Boston Elevated Railway Company to equip street cars in Boston with vestibules.

The consolidation of all the street railways of Detroit, Mich., under the name of the Detroit United Railway Company, with a capital of $12,500,000, was effected.

Two heavy freight trains on the Vazoo and Mississippi Valley railroad, both double-headers, met in a collision near Hays Station, Miss. Six men of the eight in the crews were killed.

A burglar robbed the house occupied by James Wilson, eighty-five years old, near New Haven, Penn., and attacking Miss Marion Morgan, her grandfather.

James Gibbons, a nephew of Cardinal Gibbons, a student at the Charity Hospital, was waylaid and killed in New Orleans, La., by two highwaymen.

Mrs. Margaret Ertell, who shot George Degee in Brooklyn, declared in court she was not sorry she had killed him.

Forty-six tons of gold and silver were received at the Seattle Assay office in 1900.

In a crusade against saloons in Ithaca, N. Y., by the Anti-Saloon League, photographs were taken, showing violation of the law in nearly every liquor store in town.

All the Populist members of the Colorado State Senate, eight in number, entered the caucus of the Democratic members and announced their intention to join the Democratic party.

Warren F. Putnam, former president of the National Granite Bank, of Exeter, N. H., who was sentenced to serve five years in the prison at Concord, in 1896, was released, 208 days of his sentence having been commuted for good behavior.

Forty-five thousand dollars in Government bonds were found in a tin box in a hut, near Fletcher, Ohio, occupied by Ypsilanti Smith, a hermit, who died a few days ago.

The original estate of $9,000,000 which was left by Mr. Pullman when he died, October 19, 1897, was increased by the management of his executors to almost $15,000,000.

Experiments made at the Chicago University have convinced medical men that salt in the blood causes palpitations.

The income of ninety-four railways in Pennsylvania in the fiscal year was $29,477,181. Forty-twenty companies paid dividends.

FOREIGN.

Lieutenant-General Pochhammer, the German army, was killed by an electric car in Berlin.

Negotiations for the settlement of German claims for damages done during the war have been begun with the United States for some time but have not reached a definite conclusion.

The Latin-American Medical Congress was opened at Valparaiso, Chile, under the presidency of Francisco Herboso, Secretary of Public Instruction.

A dispatch from Vladivostock says famine threatens the Amur and Maritime provinces. The crops there have had and the railways cannot be used for the transportation of food to the inhabitants.

The United States training ship Yorktown arrived at Tangier, Morocco. The American representatives will visit the Morocco court in February.

The Boers continued their raids in Cape Colony, and grave fears are entertained in regard to the safety of the British.

Snow fell heavily over central Germany, severely interrupting railway traffic.

The London banking house of Schnelne, Hischmann & Co., has gone into bankruptcy, with liabilities of more than $600,000.

GARDEN AND FARM

ITEMS OF INTEREST ON AGRICULTURAL TOPICS.

Keeping Vegetables Fresh—Raising Chickens—Grain Fertilizers—Freezing Ice on the Farm—Winter Treatment of Vines—Like Produces Like—Etc., Etc.

KEEPING VEGETABLES FRESH

A good method of keeping roots, potatoes and vegetables fresh is to cover the small lots wanted for daily use with sand. Put them in a box or basket and pour sand over them. Sweet potatoes especially can be kept in a cool place in this way.

RAISING CHICKENS.

Always set two or three hens at the same time. Furnish feed and water. When they hatch, give the chicks to one mother, and set the other hens again. They will hatch two or three broods, if given plenty to eat and drink. Feed the chicks clean, sweet food, and furnish fresh drink the same as you would for a week old child. When old enough for grain, sprinkle a little air-slacked lime on the grain to prevent lice. I have raised over 300 chicks in this way.—G. E. Diller, in the Farmer's Voice.

GRAIN FERTILIZERS

In the Southern States there are many who use cotton seed meal as a fertilizer to furnish nitrogen, in preference to using nitrate of soda, or any other of the fertilizing materials that contain nitrogen, as tankage, dried blood or fish waste. But it is one of the peculiarities of this meal and of cottonseed meal that when used as a food for milch cows it increases the milk, improves its quality, and then returns to the manure heap almost as much nitrogen as it had before being digested. Much the same thing may be said of the phosphoric acid in wheat bran, and in this way they are cheap foods when properly used.

FREEZING ICE ON THE FARM.

We will all acknowledge that it is a handy and convenient thing to have a good supply of ice on hand during the hot Summer months, but as a great many farmers do not possess a pond, or live too far away from one, their supply of ice during the Summer is oftentimes limited.

A good plan for such people to take advantage of is to make a number of boxes of inch boards, make them small enough to allow the amount of water that they will hold to freeze in one night. In the morning a little warmth will be all that is needed to get the ice out of the boxes, and should the boxes be too small place as many as you want to on top of one another the next night, and after pouring a sufficient amount of water over them, let them stand until the next morning, and you will have cakes of ice of a size exactly suited to your tastes.

These blocks may be put away in any ordinary ice-house and cared for just the same as ice from a pond. They will keep just as good as the blocks of pond ice, and there is every reason to believe that the ice would be purer.—New York Weekly Witness.

WINTER TREATMENT OF THE VINES.

At the approach of cold weather the grape vines are pruned, unfastened from the trellis and laid flat upon the ground. They may be held in this position by simply placing stones upon the ends, and they will safely pass the winter anywhere except at the extreme north. Where the winters are usually very severe the vines should also be covered with soil, straw or litter of some sort, and perhaps this may be desirable with tender vines anywhere in the extreme north.

Tender raspberries and blackberries have to be treated in a similar manner, but the cane, being more brittle and more easily injured than grape vines, needs careful handling and gradual bending while undergoing the operation. A good practice is to throw one or two shovelfuls of soil against the canes on one side, and bend them over this by a sort of curve. The tops are laid upon the ground near the next tool of canes and held there by another one or two shovelfuls of soil. Two persons can do this work very conveniently and quickly, and when growers learn to depend more on these simple modes of giving winter protection than on the chances of a mild winter, or supposed hardiness of plants, they will have little to complain of in winter killing, and cease to place such an excessively great value on the ability of grapes, raspberries, etc., to endure the winter without such means of protection.—F. H. Sweet, in Agricultural Epitomist.

LIKE PRODUCES LIKE.

When the greater part of our Carman No. 3 potatoes had the vines all dead and dried down I noticed two rows at the sides of the patch green, rank and luxuriant. These two rows stood out sharp, distinct and clear from the rest of the patch, and I thought they must be a different variety; but when Frank said they were Carman No. 3 like the rest, I replied: "Why, what in the world should make just two rows so green and thrifty, while all the rest, with only a hill here and there, are dead and dried up?"

"Why, don't you remember, Mr. Joe, you told us last year to pick out for the hills that were green when we [illegible] ready to dig, [illegible] a plant it by the [illegible] if enough of the "[illegible] one two rows."

There it was, a [illegible] such. The vines were very much [illegible] the ground is heavy [illegible] stoles underneath [illegible] might be almost [illegible] an illustration [illegible] with a vengeance [illegible] sult of careful [illegible] single season. [illegible] ngs in Bee Culture.

TREATMENT OF [illegible]

The pea crop [illegible] value has recently [illegible] during the last [illegible] the ravages of [illegible] Various methods [illegible] to overcome the [illegible] ing treating the [illegible] or carbon bisulphide [illegible] holding the seed [illegible] bugless peas with [illegible] treatments are a [illegible] less pea growers [illegible] to propagate the [illegible] even those who [illegible] combat his attacks [illegible]

The weevil [illegible] last of May or [illegible] temperature of [illegible] as soon as the [illegible] swell to provide [illegible] of the species [illegible] on the outside of [illegible] tened there by a [illegible] quickly hardens [illegible] readily seen on [illegible] month of June [illegible] tieth of an inch [illegible] slender in form [illegible] Sometimes a [illegible] found on a single [illegible] hatches out, drops [illegible] works its way [illegible] The hole in the [illegible] there is then no [illegible] presence of the [illegible] The color of the [illegible] low, with a shade [illegible] are often many [illegible] than there are [illegible] only one to a [illegible] The larvae contains [illegible] bumnious part [illegible] touches the life [illegible] tality of the [illegible] reaching maturity [illegible] to the outside [illegible] the thin hull [illegible] passes into the [illegible] remains in the [illegible] lowing spring [illegible] ture weevil. [illegible] black color, [illegible] on its back and [illegible]

In sections [illegible] pea bug prevails [illegible] feed should be [illegible] sulphide as soon [illegible] At this season [illegible] stroyed in the [illegible] they have [illegible] damage. The [illegible] to use an air [illegible] say ten or twelve [illegible] oil barrels may [illegible] ever is used, [illegible] dish on top of [illegible] bon bisulphide [illegible] is sufficient for [illegible] as nearly air [illegible] leave for three [illegible] cal will have [illegible] entire space [illegible] vessel not occupied [illegible] stroying every [illegible] out injury to [illegible] out on the bar [illegible] the gas to escape [illegible] flammable, and [illegible] approached with [illegible] any other fire [illegible] in this way will [illegible] make better [illegible] untreated for [illegible] Practical Farmer.

VA[illegible]

Stock should [illegible] or drink dirty [illegible] feeding, instead [illegible] for the farm [illegible] time.

It hardly [illegible] when they are [illegible] principal reason [illegible] try to keep [illegible] condition.

It's a good [illegible] cure the ills [illegible] don't want [illegible] experience [illegible] gotten in the [illegible]

It is consid[illegible] alike and [illegible] either of the [illegible] variety that [illegible] different [illegible]

Any farmer [illegible] that the best [illegible] a look around [illegible] he will soon [illegible] ers are the best [illegible]

Fig [illegible]

It is true [illegible] ton is not a [illegible] by very many [illegible] man who [illegible] lows it into [illegible] furniture is [illegible] cient Egyptians [illegible] Hebrews [illegible] This fact is [illegible] recent finds [illegible] a sarcophagus [illegible] Rakkara, in [illegible] Abrahams [illegible] the mummies [illegible] the collar [illegible] with care [illegible] buttons is [illegible] able to last [illegible] it probably [illegible] ago.

VIEWS OF INTEREST ON AGRICULTURAL TOPICS.

Keeping Vegetables Fresh—Raising Chickens—Grain Fertilizers—Freezing Ice on the Farm—Winter Treatment of Vines—Like Produce Like—Etc., Etc.

KEEPING VEGETABLES FRESH.

A good method of keeping roots, potatoes and vegetables fresh is to cover the small lots wanted for daily use with sand. Put them in a box or basket and pour sand over them. Sweet potatoes especially can be kept in a good place in this way.

RAISING CHICKENS.

Always set two or three hens at the same time. Furnish feed and water. When they hatch, give the chicks to one mother and set the other hens again. They will hatch two or three broods. Give plenty to eat and drink. Feed stale cake, clean, sweet food, and fresh drink the same as you would for a week old child. When old enough for grain sprinkle a little air-slaked lime on the grain to prevent gapes. I have raised over 300 chickens in this way.—G. E. Diller, in the Epitomist.

GRAIN FERTILIZERS.

In the Southern States there are many who use cotton seed meal as a fertilizer to furnish nitrogen, in preference to using nitrate of soda, or any other of the fertilizing materials that contain nitrogen, as tankage, dried blood or fish waste. But it is one of the peculiarities of this meal and of linseed meal that when used as a food for milch cows it increases the milk, improves its quality, and then returns to the manure heap almost as much nitrogen as it had before being digested. Much the same thing may be said of the phosphoric acid in wheat bran, and in this way they are cheap foods when properly used.

FREEZING ICE ON THE FARM.

We will all acknowledge that it is a handy and convenient thing to have a good supply of ice on hand during the hot Summer months, but as a great many farmers do not possess a pond, or live too far away from one, their supply of ice during the Summer is oftentimes limited.

A good plan for such people to take advantage of is to make a number of boxes of inch boards, make them small enough to allow the amount of water that they will hold to freeze in one night. In the morning a little warmth will be all that is needed to get the ice out of the boxes, and should the blocks be too small place as many as you want to on top of one another the next night, and after pouring a sufficient amount of water over them, let them stand until the next morning, and you will have cakes of ice of a size exactly suited to your tastes.

These blocks may be put away in any ordinary ice house and cared for just the same as ice from a pond. They will keep just as good as the blocks of pond ice, and there is every reason to believe that the ice would be purer.—New York Weekly Witness.

WINTER TREATMENT OF THE VINES.

At the approach of cold weather the grape vines are pruned, unfastened from the trellis and laid flat upon the ground. They may be held in this position by simply placing stones upon the ends, and they will safely pass the winter anywhere except at the extreme north. Where the winters are usually very severe the vines should also be covered with soil, straw or litter of some sort, and perhaps this may be desirable with tender vines anywhere at the extreme north.

Tender raspberries and blackberries are to be treated in a similar manner, but the cane, being more brittle and more easily injured than grape vines, needs careful handling and gradual bending while undergoing the operation. A good practice is to throw one or two shovelfuls of soil against the canes on one side, and bend them over this by a sort of curve. The tops are laid upon the ground near the next stool of canes and held there by another one or two shovelfuls of soil. Two persons can do this work very conveniently and quickly, and when growers learn to depend more on these easy modes of giving winter protection than on the chances of a mild winter, or supposed hardiness of plants, they will have little to complain of winter killing, and cease to place such an excessively great value on the ability of grapes, raspberries, etc., to endure the winter without such means of protection.—F. H. Sweet, in Agricultural Epitomist.

LIKE PRODUCES LIKE.

When the greater part of our Carman No. 3 potatoes had the vines all dead and dried down I noticed two rows at the sides of the patch green, rank and luxuriant. These two rows stood out sharp, distinct and clear from the rest of the patch, and I thought they must be a different variety; but when Frank said they were Carman No. 3, like the rest, I replied:

"Why, what in the world should make just two rows so green and thrifty, while all the rest, with only a hill here and there, are dead and dried up?"

"Why, don't you remember, Mr. Root, you told us last year to pick out all the hills that were green when we got ready to dig, and save the seed and plant it by itself? And we saved out enough of the 'green tops' to make these two rows."

There it was, a wonderful object lesson. The vines of these two rows were very much larger, and the way the ground is heaving up with big potatoes underneath it looks as if there might be almost double the crop. Here is an illustration that like produces like "with a vengeance." It is all the result of careful selection for just one single season.—A. I. Root, in Gleanings in Bee Culture.

TREATMENT OF PEAS FOR BUGS.

The pea crop, which we so much value, has received a serious setback during the last few years by reason of the ravages of the pea bug or weevil. Various methods have been attempted to overcome this pest, such as late sowing, treating the seed with hot water or carbon bisulphide, and in some cases holding the seed for two years so that bugless peas would be sown. These treatments are all good, but since the insect travels by flight, so long as careless pea growers allow infested crops to propagate the intruder, so long will even those who sow clean seed have to combat his attacks.

The weevil makes its appearance the last of May or June, according to the temperature of the season, and is ready as soon as the young peas begin to swell to provide for the continuation of the species. The eggs are deposited on the outside of the pods and are fastened there by a viscid substance that quickly hardens. These eggs can be readily seen on the pods during the month of June. They are about a thirtieth of an inch in length, long and slender in form, of a deep yellow color. Sometimes a dozen or more will be found on a single pod. The larva soon hatches out, drills through the pod and works its way into the young berry. The hole in the pod soon grows up, and there is then nothing to indicate the presence of the inhabitants within. The color of the larvae is a deep yellow, with a shiny black head. There are often many more larvae on the pod than there are peas within, but there is only one to a berry. The rest perish. The larvae continues to feed on the albuminous part of the pea, but rarely touches the life germ, so that the vitality of the berry is not destroyed. On reaching maturity it eats a round hole to the outside of the pea, leaving only the thin hull to enclose it, and then passes into the pupa state. It usually remains in this condition until the following spring, then to become the mature weevil. The weevil is of a rusty black color, with several gray spots on its back and wing-cover.

In sections of the country where the pea bug prevails, the peas intended for feed should be treated with carbon bisulphide as soon as threshed in the fall. At this season the insects are thus destroyed in the embryo stage before they have done the peas much damage. The method of treatment is to use an air-tight box that will hold, say ten or twenty bushels, or old coal-oil barrels may be used instead. Whichever is used, fill with peas, and set a dish on top of the peas, containing carbon bisulphide. One ounce of the liquid is sufficient for a bushel. Close the lid as nearly air-tight as possible, and leave for three days, when the chemical will have evaporated and filled the entire space from top to bottom of the vessel not occupied with the peas, destroying every germ of insect life without injury to the peas. Turn the peas out on the barn floor, which will allow the gas to escape. The gas is very inflammable, and therefore should not be approached with a lighted lantern or any other fire. Peas treated in the fall in this way will produce clean seed and make better feed than if allowed to go untreated for a few months.—The Practical Farmer.

VARIOUS NOTES.

Stock should not be compelled to eat or drink dirty food or water. Such feeding, instead of realizing a profit for the farmer, is a dead loss every time.

It hardly pays to doctor chickens when they are sick, and this is the principal reason why farmers should try to keep their poultry in a healthy condition.

It's a good thing to know how to cure the ills of different stock, but you don't want to get the information by experience. It costs too much when gotten in that manner.

It is considered that a mixture of alsike and red clover is preferable to either of these varieties alone, as each variety thrives best under somewhat different conditions.

Any farmer who has not thought that the best stock pays should take a look around his neighborhood, and he will soon find that the best farmers are the ones who invariably keep the best stock.

Finding a Collar Button.

It is true that the elusive collar button is not an invention of recent times, by very many centuries. The modern man who, with bended dignity, follows it into dark corners and under furniture is doing exactly what the ancient Egyptians did long before the Hebrews went into the land of the Nile. This fact is proved conclusively by the recent finding of a bone collar stud in a sarcophagus that had been buried at Sakkara, in Egypt, about the time that Abraham appeared on earth. While the mummified remains of the owner of the collar button have to be handled with care to preserve their form, the button is as good as it ever was, and able to lead a chase today, as well as it probably did thousands of years ago.

Girls' Schools in France.

Since 1880 66 colleges for girls have been established in France. Before that time there were no municipally supported schools for the higher education of girls. Of the 68 institutions 48 are lyceums and 28 are colleges. The lyceums all take day pupils, and there were 8431 enrolled last year. The colleges had 3593 pupils. Girls of the wealthier families still are educated in convents, however, as being most exclusive.

Sachets in Frocks.

Let me remind you that there is hardly anything which so aids a dainty toilet as a faint and elusive perfume. This can be easily obtained by making large satchets to be laid in one's frocks while they are not in use, or, better still, satchet powder may be used in the lining of the bodices and also about the edge of skirts for housewear, which gives a most delightful result. Floral leaves for perfuming the bath give a fragrance to the skin for hours after using.—Vogue.

New Feather Boas.

There is an entirely new departure in feather boas. The new boa is a sort of mixed affair, like all fashionable furs and neck trimmings this year. The upper section is made of the orthodox ostrich feathers, but this only reaches about to the bust, and from there down the boa is subdivided into a mass of tails of irregular length. These are made of short pin feathers from the breast or stomach of the bird and are ornamented at the ends with feather balls and tassels. Sometimes a black ostrich boa is trimmed with green and black cock's feathers. Gray is still the favorite color, but a new shade of russet promises to be much worn with the stylish castor and "cafe au lait" gowns.

Fantastic Fancies.

Aiglon belts are of colored leather, green, blue, gray, scarlet, yellow or lilac, in suede, morocco, and other leathers. They have wide buckles of leather set in frames of brass or silver, finely chased and chiselled. Myrtle and laurel leaves and the eagle's head between outstretched wings are the usual decoration. Sarah Bernhardt wears one of these ceintures—ceintures are a fad of Sarah, and she wears them invariably low in front to accentuate her lithe, slender figure.

A luxuriously useful trifle is a deerskin reticule, with initials of the wearer wrought in pearls, coral, diamonds or turquoises.

The perfume shops have a new freak. Knots of flowers are tied with ribbons of the same color to the necks of the flasks of the perfume, to indicate the contents. Violets, heliotrope, lily-of-the-valley, etc., make very ornamental labels.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

Cultivating Attractiveness.

A woman can make or mar her attractiveness. She can, by an utter disregard of hygienic laws, and a neglect of toilet accessories, lose entirely that charm of face and form that nature obviously intended should be hers. It will do no woman harm to know that a few drops of soothing lotion will transform a pair of rough hands into soft, white ones; that systematic care of the complexion will keep it smooth and ward off wrinkles, and that an eagerness to read clever books and to know things, and a lively interest in the current events of the day, will brighten the eyes as nothing else can, except it be the sympathy of the man she loves. The woman possessing this knowledge is far more charming and attractive than she in whose path no beautifying whims have ever come. And the woman who applies this knowledge is the one who will develop into the entertaining, interesting grandmother of the next generation, as dainty and as youthful as was the mother of the past generation.

Collar Trimmings.

Cloak and coat collar are very much trimmed on the inside with shirred silks. The shirrings have tucks so as to give them a full and becoming surface, and increase the collar warmth, also.

This suggests at once a desirable way to render the collar of a cape or coat needing to be furbished up a bit. It is also a serviceable idea to copy the new high collars, which have the novelty of having one part imposed upon the other in this way.

Instead of the high collar in one piece that we are familiar with, the first collar is only about half its former height, but a fitted flaring upper section is added, as the fitted bottom flounce is added to a skirt on the very same principle.

This upper part of the collar is ruched on the edge, and sometimes has a double silk ruffle, standing up on the edge of which there is some other narrow edge trimming. This all makes for a high, dressy framing-in of the face, and is most comfortable during our winter winds.

New Winter Hats.

A stylish hat has a crumpled crown of shrimp pink mirror velvet, and a brim lined with the same, with a flat rosette resting on the hair on the left side, where it is caught with a paste buckle. The edge of the brim is draped with black chiffon, embroidered with black chenille, and long black ospreys curve over the hat on either side.

An exquisite picture hat is made of black velvet, trimmed with long black ostrich feathers of the finest quality, and black moire antique ribbon. The brim is edged with gathered velvet, and is bent into the most becoming curves. In the centre there are aigrets of ostrich feather, and the moire ribbons are folded round the crown.

A toque has the new flat crown of folded chiffon to match the sable brim in color, and it is covered with ecru lace in raised design of rose petals. The scalloped edge of the design wraps over on to the fur. At the back there is a scarf of chiffon, with sable tails on the ends, which hang over on to the hair at the back, and in front there is a long gilt buckle, set with black crystals.

A Woman's Duck Farm.

The chicken farm is a thoroughly exploited occupation for women, but the duck farm has the comparative merit of novelty. Miss Frances E. Wheeler, of a little town in New York state, is the proprietor of the farm, and finds it a paying investment.

Miss Wheeler was a stenographer, but too steady work at the typewriter caused her hands to become disabled for some time, and it became necessary to do something else. The little home near Lake Champlain was on the banks of a tiny river; and not far away was a large summer-resort. Discovering that the hotel found it difficult to procure fancy ducklings, Miss Wheeler saw her opportunity, and installed an artificial incubator. The first season 300 ducklings were supplied to the summer resort. This season more than 1200 have been sold. The present "plant" comprises three incubators, each of 360 eggs capacity.

Miss Wheeler has done much of the work herself, having only one man to help her, and attends to all business details. The ducks are fed with such cleanliness and special care that they command fancy prices because of their superior flavor.

Manual Training for Girls.

A girl may begin to study manual training after the excellent kitchen-garden system; she will enjoy the setting of tiny tables and the hanging out of dolls' washing, and the making of little beds, and at the same time she will be learning neatness and order, accuracy of touch, and a dainty way of doing housework. Sewing, too, that discipline through which every girl must pass, may be redeemed from drudgery, and made a pastime if it is regarded as a part of an education in handicraft, and taught so as to awaken an interest in it. The old way used to be to set a girl a daily task of a seam; later, to teach her to cut out and make garments for herself of stiff muslin, which she usually moistened with her tears. Today a teacher is found who gathers a little group of children and gives them regular lessons; hemming is done on one square of cloth, back-stitching on another, and overcasting on a third. To make button-holes, even, in company, robs them of half their terrors. It is not so important that a child should know how to make garments as how to sew. If she knows that, the making will come later. But it should never be forgotten that sewing is not the only form of handicraft with which a girl should be familiar. She, like the boy, should learn to make things of wood and leather and metal for the development of both head and hands.—Harper's Bazar.

How to Dress.

The very latest idea is to dress to suit the furniture in your room—or, vice versa, to furnish your rooms, to harmonize with your dresses. Thus, if your drawing-room is decorated in shades of rose, your gowns for home wear must be in similar shades. Whether we are to refurnish our rooms when we want to change the color of our gowns, Dame Fashion does not say. But anything for novelty, no matter what the cost!

Until a woman reaches the age of 30 she may wear just what she pleases in regard to colors, style, and shape of garments. After that age she must be more careful, and give a little thought to her complexion and figure before deciding upon her gowns. After 40 still more judgment is needed, especially in colors. Well preserved women who desire to look young make a mistake when they array themselves in bright colors in the daytime. At night vivid tints may not be unbecoming, but worn in the sunlight they accentuate every mark of age.

Nature teaches us a lesson in color which it would be well for us to heed. In early youth, the light soft tints of spring; in early womanhood the glowing hues of summer; in autumn, rich, dark tones; in winter, the pure white and gray shades that are in perfect harmony with old age. Few people relegate black to its proper place in feminine attire. Its adoption is properly supposed to be specially suited to the elderly, or those past the bloom of youth. This is a mistake. Only women still in the glory of fresh flesh tints look their best in black. Those who are passe should avoid it as much as possible or cover it with creamy lace. This, of course, does not apply to the Dresden shepherdess type of lady, whose delicate coloring and snow-white curls are thrown into relief by the somber hue of rich black satin or stiff brocade, with its softening accompaniment of lapets and fichu of honiton or venice point. Alas! that nowadays this poor old lady should be so rare!—Trenton (N. J.) American.

Saved Her the Trouble.

"Do I make myself plain?" asked the angular lecturer on "Woman's Rights," stopping in the middle of her discourse.

"You don't have to, mum," replied a voice from the rear: "Providence done it for you long ago."—Pick-Me-Up.

Remedy For Creaky Shoes.

If you wish to cure your shoes of a tendency to creak which, once shown, lasts as long ordinarily as the shoes themselves, put them into a shallow dish in which you have placed a small amount of sweet oil, or even melted lard. Allow the soles of the shoes to remain in the oil during the night. Not only will the objectionable noise cease but the shoes will also be made proof against the wet.

Tact in the Sick Room.

Sympathy must not be overworked, nor fail to lend itself to that denial which is often a real kindness. The temptation to humor a sick friend or relative in every whim is often irresistible. But true tact, however, may generally find a way by which the patient seems to have every indulgence he desires, yet in truth have nothing but that which the one in charge desires to give him. While the will of the watcher must always be dominant, it should never be so obstrusively; the patient should be ruled so gently that he does not know he is being ruled. At times, of course, the patient will ask for something in such a way that he cannot be led from the subject or be made to think that after all he does not want that particular thing. Then a direct "no" must be given him; and a quiet, persistent refusal to meet unreasonable and harmful demands will not weaken, but rather make stronger the ties between the invalid and the watcher. Strength and sweetness combined will work wonders in holding such a situation.—Mary R. Baldwin, in the Woman's Home Companion.

Nursery Temperature.

During the first cool days, especially when clouds and rain give added gloom, the temperature of the nursery must have extra attention. The fires that are started "to take off the morning chill," are often allowed to increase the temperature, until the nursery threatens to become a sort of hot-bed—a dangerous state of affairs at any time, and especially at this changeable season.

When the temperature is too high, it causes general relaxation, and excites the nervous system of the little ones; and it is said to favor the development of convulsive and nervous diseases. It also renders a child more liable to catch cold. But with due regulation of the temperature from the time the early fires are first started in the nursery, many winter troubles may be avoided.

During the first few chilly weeks it should be kept comfortably and equably warm. It should not be allowed to go below sixty-five degrees, and if there is a very young baby it is better to keep it at about seventy degrees from the first starting of the fire, in the early fall.

Excessive heat and closely ventilated rooms are as bad as draughts to a child's health. Open fireplaces insure a certain amount of ventilation, but are injurious if they are allowed to produce cold draughts. A large screen should be placed by the nursery door to intercept cold currents of air from chilly halls.

All fireplaces should be fenced in with an iron or wire grating, and care should be taken to avoid exposing an infant to the heat and glare of a bright fire.—Philadelphia Record.

Waffles—One quart of milk, one quart of flour, three heaping teaspoonfuls of baking powder, six heaping tablespoonfuls of butter, one saltspoonful of salt, one egg. Melt the butter in the milk, put the salt and baking powder into the flour, mix all well together and last of all add the egg, which should be well beaten. Bake in waffle irons.

Pink Delight—Into the whites of two eggs beaten stiff, beat two tablespoonfuls of sugar and one cup of juice off of canned strawberries or strawberry preserves. If juice is very sweet the sugar may be omitted. Set on ice until thoroughly chilled. Serve in glasses, placing a spoonful of strawberry preserves in each. This simple dessert will delight the eye as well as the palate.

Compote of Quinces—For a compote of quinces peel, quarter and core six that are ripe and sound and boil them in water enough to keep them from burning until they are tender. Remove the pieces of fruit and make a syrup of one-half cupful of water and one-half cupful of sugar. Then add the fruit and boil for five minutes. Remove the quinces to a glass dish and boil the syrup until it is thick. When it is cool pour it over the quinces.

Roast Goose—Pluck, singe and carefully wash and wipe the goose, put it into a kettle of boiling water and boil for one hour, then remove from the kettle, lay it in a dripping pan and fill within a dressing prepared as follows: Put four large onions into boiling water, simmer five minutes, add ten sage leaves and let them remain two minutes longer; then take both out, chop them very fine, add one quarter of a pound of bread crumbs, and one-half tablespoonful of butter, one egg beaten light and pepper and salt to taste. Mix thoroughly. Bake from one to one and one-half hours, according to the size of the goose.

SCIENCE AND INDUSTRY.

Dr. Rosy has an article in a Lyons medical paper in which he recommends as a simple but effective cure for a cold in the head, pouring cologne on a handkerchief and snuffing up the fumes two or three minutes repeatedly as soon as the first symptoms are noted.

The attraction of gravitation diminishes in proportion to the square of the distance. Theoretically its influence in the case of a planet would extend to an unlimited distance. But as a matter of fact this influence would become imperceptible at an interval depending on the size of the body.

Probably the largest casting ever made in this country was run into the moulds recently at a Milwaukee foundry. The casting is to be the bed-plate for a blowing engine for a Pittsburg concern, and it weighs 110,000 pounds, all in one piece. In making it the workmen were required to pour 126,000 pounds of metal.

It is found that the phosphorescence of decaying wood is due to minute bacteria of vegetable growth, instead of being primarily chemical as hitherto supposed. The mycelium (analogous to the roots of higher plants) of a fungus from decaying pine has been cultivated in a decoction of beech bark and agar-agar (gelatinous substance obtained from seaweed) and the result was a white growth which was brilliantly luminous in the dark. This shows that it is not the decay which produces the so-called phosphorescence.

Mr. Armand Goutier reports to the Paris Academy of Science that he has demonstrated the presence of free hydrogen in the air as an unfailing constituent. He reaches the conclusion that pure air contains normally about two ten-millionths of its volume of uncombined hydrogen. A certain proportion of hydrocarbon gases also exists in the air, but they exist as an impurity and not as an essential constituent. These hydrocarbon gases emanate from marshes, fermenting soil, decaying animal and vegetable remains, chimneys, etc. They are relatively large in quantity in the air of populous cities and almost absent in the air of high mountains.

The Rev. J. M. Bacon thus describes in a letter to the London Times the experimental combination of ballooning and wireless telegraphy, which was tested at the recent British association meeting at Bradford: "We took a lofty flight, and for 90 minutes' space sailed away over Wakefield, Barnsley and so on for Sheffield, attaining an altitude of almost a mile, at which height it would certainly be impossible for a balloon to be hit in warfare save by a blundering shot. We were in constant communication with our base and could have minutely described every feature visible over the wide area below, and practically every feature was revealed. We looked down every breathing hole of the hidden mines over which we passed, searched the recesses of the woods, and could have counted every furnace for 10 miles around, and all the while we were receiving constant assurance from distant Bradford, that the line was clear."

Value of Gutta Percha.

Gutta percha is often confounded with india rubber, but it is utterly different. It comes from a family of trees that grow only in a small area about the Malay peninsula and have not yet been successfuly raised elsewhere. The sap is not to be gotten by tapping, as with maple syrup, but the tree must be cut down and the juice pressed out by beating with heavy mallets. The gum hunters get some two or three pounds from an average tree that is from 30 to 40 feet high and about 30 years old, and, as no young trees are planted to replace those felled, the source of supply will be a serious question in the near future. The crude gum comes to the market in lumps that are sometimes worked into grotesque shapes, and must be purified from sawdust, sand, stones and other foreign matters with which the wily Chinese dealers adulterate it. The lumps are put into "devilling" machines that tear them to bits and throw the shreds into troughs of water that free the gum from impurities and leave it almost pure.—Washington Star.

Origin of the Bubonic Plague.

The origin of the bubonic plague is shrouded in obscurity. It is now quite certain that it was prevalent in Greece and Italy during the early wars, gaining a foothold under Nero, Aurelius, Galius and Justinian, but it was not a sweeping factor in the mortality of the world till about the year 1350, when no less than 25 million persons perished of the plague in Europe alone, and in 1720 some 40,000 fell victims in France.

A Massive Gold Cup.

The massive gold cup presented to the city of Dublin by Queen Victoria, in commemoration of her recent visit, is of gold throughout, weighs 160 ounces, and stands 2 feet in height. The pedestal is of black marble, inlaid with gold. The depth of the cup itself is 15 inches, and the circumference of the top 5 feet.

Vast quantities of shelled eggs are exported from Russia in hermetically sealed tins, and are drawn off through a tap. One tin holds from 1000 to 1500 eggs. The eggs must be carefully selected, as a bad one would spoil all the others in the can.

THE BANNER.

Published and Published Every Thursday at Clanton, Chilton County, Ala.

Entered at the postoffice at Clanton, Ala., as second-class mail matter.

"Here shall the press the people's rights maintain,
Unawed by influence and unbribed by gain,
Here patriot truth her glorious precepts draw,
Pledged to religion, liberty and law."

Subscription, yearly . . . $1.00
Invariably in Advance.

Address all communications to
THE BANNER,
Clanton, Ala.

OUR NEW CENTURY OFFER

THE BANNER finished the last century in excellent condition, but we wish to commence the new with a large number of new subscribers, and for that purpose have much pleasure in making the following offer:

The Banner one year (52 papers) for 75 cents.

The Banner one year and the N. Y. World Almanac and Encyclopedia for 1901, over 600 pages, $1.00

The Banner and Home & Farm, both papers one year for $1.00

The Banner and Birmingham Age Herald, both papers one year for $1.25

The Banner and Thrice-a-Week World—four papers every week for one year for $1.50

The Banner and Montgomery Advertiser, both papers one year for $1.50

The Banner and Atlanta Constitution and Home & Farm—all three for one year for $1.50

The Banner and Atlanta Constitution and your choice of a number of other periodicals—all three for 1 year for $1.50

The Banner and American Monthly Review of Reviews—both one year for $2.75

THE Congressional reapportionment bill passed the House Tuesday. It increases the number of Congressman from 357, the present number, to 386 and went through by a vote of 165 to 102. Not a single state loses a representative but the following make gains: Illinois, New York and Texas three each; Minnesota, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, two each, and Arkansas, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Florida, Louisana, Massachusetts, Mississippi, Missouri, North Carolina, North Dakota, Washington, West Virginia and Wisconson, one each. The bill requires all districts to be compact and contigious and all additional representatives shall be elected at large until the legislature redistricts the state.

STOPPED THE ESCAPE.

On Tuesday night Marshal Morgan arrested Henry Jackson, colored, who escaped from the McRee farm in Lowndes county last June. He was placed in the county jail, and on Wednesday morning when Mr. McRee came up he went with the Marshal to identify the prisoner. As soon as they entered the jail it was seen something was wrong. The prisoner had forced open the lower part of a door and Jackson had crawled through and was in the open corridor. They covered him with their pistols and compelled him to return to his cell. The other prisoners, one white and two colored, were put back into their cells, and a general jail delivery was averted.

A Parson's Pun.

A writer in The Cornhill Magazine credits the late Canon Bingham with the following bit of wit:

He was driving one day with other clergy to a clerical meeting, when the conversation turned upon the meaning of the two places they were nearing, Wool and Wareham, in the county of Dorset.

"How do you account for the origin of these names, Canon Bingham?" asked one of the party.

"Don't you know this is a sheep county," replied the canon, "and at Wool you wool the sheep and at Wareham you wear 'em?"

Extent of Florist Industry.

The florist business in the United States is by no means an unimportant industry. It is estimated that the retail value of flowers sold annually is $12,500,000 and of potted plants $10,000,000. There are no less than 10,000 establishments in the United States devoted to the growing of plants under glass.—Chicago Chronicle.

CORRESPONDENCE

San Antonio, Texas, Jan. 7, 1900

Editor Banner.—Please give me space to say a few words to the people at home, as I am unavoidably detained here attending my son, J. B. I suppose that most of our people have heard by this time of his great misfortune in street car accident Dec. 31, 1900. He lost both feet, and while I long to be at home and attending to my business, and to meet with the people on the 12th inst., I have no idea that I will be able to reach home that soon, I must wait until I can bring my boy with me.

I have passed through many trials, but all of them will not compare with this one that is on me now, and I want to be remembered in the prayers of my brethren in Alabama, while I sit beside the bed of my boy who has suffered so much, and who will never walk again. I am coming home the first day that I can leave, but can't tell when, and wishing all our people a happy and prosperous year, and hoping that after all, "over all these wide extended plains there shines one eternal day." I am yours in love, S. M. ADAMS.

Thorsby, Jan. 9, 1901

Editor Banner—Please allow me a few words concerning the questions of Stock law, Road law and the whisky or saloon question, and I shall dispose of the last first by saying that I think that everybody knows that I am opposed to saloons uncompromizingly, and regard the so-called dispensary as being no better, and I would resign my seat in the Legislature before I would vote for either, but I do think that under proper restrictions that domestic wine should be allowed to be made and sold, but space here forbids me to give all my reasons in support of such law.

Now, as to the road law there seems to be no great difference of opinion among the people, as all agree that we need a law that will insure the better working of public roads and to equalize the burden. But these things will all be discussed on next Saturday, and I only wish to disabuse the mind of my friend W. A. Edwards, who quoted me as saying that I had devoted all my time in the Legislature in framing the road bill. Now, if he had not have read so carelessly he would have understood better, for I said "at a time." For his benefit I will say at such times as the body was not in session, but I made it a point, as all the members will tell you, that I was generally at my desk, and I endeavored to acquaint myself with every measure proposed and voted according to what appeared to be right, on bills of either local or general character. Now, Mr. Editor, I must say that I am somewhat disappointed in my ideas of referring questions to the people to discuss, owing to the fact that when men wish to express themselves on any question they seem to forget that all questions have two sides and that other people have the same right to their opinion as we have and that we have no right to impugne another's motives simply because our opinions differ, and again it seems to me that there is much more fuss than feathers over the stock law question. So far as I know there seems to be a vast majority of the people opposed to it, and it would not matter whether my personal views were for or against I should oppose any measure that an undoubted majority opposed, and so far I have seen but little disposition to force local measures in counties where the people did not want it, and again it is the surest way in the world to get what you don't want by unduly agitating the matter, and arouse the animus of the opposition so they will exercise themselves to a much greater length than they would otherwise go. So let's allow both sides to speak and then endeavor to overcome them by more weighty arguments of reason, instead of of making charges of a nature to imbitter the feelings of others, and thus lose all hope of converting them to your own ideas, and as we grow older we should become more reasonable and less vindictive. Yours to serve

L. B. POUNDS.

Brought Good Fortune.

A small item in his own paper lately brought amazing good fortune to Editor Chris. Reitter, of the Saginaw (Mich.) Post and Zeitung. He and his family had the Grip in its worst form. Their doctor did them no good. Then he read that Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds was a guaranteed cure for La Grippe and all Throat and Lung troubles; tried it and says: "Three bottles cured the whole family. No other medicine on earth equals it." Only 50c and $1.00 at Clanton drug store. Trial bottles free.

HOME AGAIN.

Maplesville, Oct. 5, 1900

I read a book written by W. A. Wilkie once, and he left me in Venice, Italy. It was a book of travel, and somehow I always felt that he got lost, or I got lost from him, hence my excuse for this portrait, (not being a poem), I had to give one) and in order that my readers won't have the same uncomfortable feeling about me I send these lines with my home address. I reached my home at 2 a.m., Oct. 6, having had no message from my wife since Aug 7.

Was she and my three little ones still in this world? I did not know. I reached home in the night, at 2 a.m. I walked to my home, it was still standing, my heart in my mouth, my soul murmured a thank God, but were they in it came next; I steadied my beating heart. I laid down on the floor of the porch, my three heavy valises, as if making ready unwittingly for another burden; my soul still ready, said: "Thy will be done." Fearful and fearing, I knocked. I heard noise within and a husky broken voice say, "Tom have you come at last?" She indeed was yet here. Only those who have wandered long and wandered far can know my joy. The children, wife, I said at the door, still here, there was my cup of joy complete, and my prayer heard. One was sick next day, my oldest boy. In five days I had again to say for him, Thy Will again be done, for He took him.

T. U. CRUMPTON.

What Attracts Them.

"It is perfectly natural," said one whose own business takes him about more or less, "that a man should be interested wherever he may be in things pertaining to his own business. I know I am in mine. When I strike a strange place, I like to go through the quarter where they carry on the business that I am engaged in and see how they run things in it there. But I have lately met with two illustrations of this sort of thing that seemed to me to be rather curious as well as interesting.

"Talking with a New York paint manufacturer about paint of a certain kind, the paint man said incidentally that he had seen paint of that color on walls in Pompeii. Oddly enough, the other curious illustration arose out of the same ancient city. A New Yorker engaged in the manufacture of lead pipe said, incidentally to something that he was telling me about lead pipe, that he had found in Pompeii lead pipe in fair condition, this pipe, while covered with an incrustation that had gathered upon it in the long time it had been buried, yet cutting with as bright and perfect a cleavage as though it had been made yesterday instead of many centuries ago.

"These two things interested somewhat the paint man and the lead man respectively, and they certainly interested me."—New York Sun.

Ebony was esteemed as an article of luxury by the ancients. In India it was employed by kings for sceptres and images and as it was supposed to annul the power of poisons was often made into drinking cups.

Help... Nature

Babies and children need proper food, rarely ever medicine. If they do not thrive on their food something is wrong. They need a little help to get their digestive machinery working properly.

SCOTT'S EMULSION OF COD LIVER OIL WITH HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME & SODA

will generally correct this difficulty.

If you will put from one-fourth to half a teaspoonful in baby's bottle three or four times a day you will soon see a marked improvement. For larger children, from half to a teaspoonful, according to age, dissolved in their milk, if you so desire, will very soon show its great nourishing power. If the mother's milk does not nourish the baby, she needs the emulsion. It will show an effect at once both upon mother and child.

50c. and $1.00, all druggists.
SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, New York.

ATLANTA CONSTITUTION

The Atlanta Constitution wants good agents everywhere. Men who will get out and canvass and hustle for new business. Many who have to stay over their own and adjoining counties on business can take the Constitution a long as the best side line. Country doctors, tax collectors, rural route mail carriers, nursery men, farmers and good workmen, could all realize among these prizes and make their commission besides. A fair salary proposition for any man.

The Weekly Constitution makes special feature of its agricultural page, which is presided over by Col Joel R. J. Reddine, director of the Georgia experiment farm, and a man who is recognized as an expert on all agricultural topics. He gives a full page every week on agricultural matters. A page is devoted to the women and a page to children, these two departments being presided over by Mrs. William King.

The Constitution has just completed the 31st year of its existence, Clark Howell being the editor and Colonel W. A. Hemphill its business manager. Its name is a household word in every Southern State, from Virginia to Texas. It has always been in especially close touch with the agricultural masses of the South, and having reached a circulation which carries it into 150,000 homes it has won a unique distinction which ranks it among the greatest of American weekly newspapers.

The Constitution will send a sample copy of its great Weekly free to any one sending his own name and the name of six neighbors, on a postal card.

Every man who can take his county newspaper, before anything else, and next to this he should take a good general newspaper, such as The Constitution. His county paper gives him the local home news, which is not supplied by a newspaper furnishing the general news from all parts of the country and from all over the world. Before a man seeks information from the outside, he should first feel sure that he is being kept posted on what is going on at home. When, however, the opportunity is offered to get the best weekly newspaper in the country with your home paper, the inducement is such as to elicit prompt response from our readers.

We will be glad to receive clubbing subscription with this paper and The Constitution, and if there are any who are now subscribers to this paper, who wish to take the Constitution also, we will be glad to receive subscriptions to the office and forward them, having authority from that paper that to do so. The Constitution should be in every southern home!

Best Out of an Increase of His Pension.

A Mexican war veteran and prominent editor writes, "seeing the advertisement of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, I am reminded that as a soldier in Mexico in '47 and '48, I contracted Mexican diarrhoea and this remedy has kept me from getting an increase in my pension for on every renewal a dose of it restored me." It is unequalled as a quick cure for diarrhoea and is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by Clanton, Drug Co. and D. I. Deramus, Verbena.

Her Sacrifice.

The Rev. Cyrus T. Brady says in his book of missionary reminiscences: "I was once preaching about missions, urging the congregation to make some sacrifice for the missionary cause and indicating to them several methods by which they could follow my advice. Among other things I suggested that they refrain from purchasing any book which they very much desired and donate the money to me instead for my missionary work. I happened to have perpetrated a book myself.

"You will therefore understand my feelings when a very bright woman in the congregation came up to me and handed me $1 with the remark, 'I had intended to buy your book and read it, Mr. Brady, but I have concluded to follow your advice and give you the money for missions instead.'

"I accepted the situation gracefully and told her I would lend her my own copy of the book to read. She smiled and thanked me, and as she did so I voiced my thought in this way, 'But after all Mrs. B., there does not seem to be any sacrifice on your part in this transaction, for you have the happy consciousness of having given the money for missions and yet have the book as well.'

"'No sacrifice?' she replied. 'Why, I have to read the book!'"

It Girdles the Globe.

The fame of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, as the best in the world, extends round the earth. It's the one perfect healer of Cuts, Corns, Burns, Bruises, Sores, Scalds, Boils, Ulcers, Felons, Aches, Pains and all Skin Eruptions. Only infallible Pile cure. 25c a box at Clanton drug store.

Gone Democratic.

Cold weather will soon be here and you will need wraps, we have them to suit all.

A good wrap for 50c; a better one for 75c; a nice shoulder cape silk lined and fur around the neck, black plush only $1.50; a large plush cape, one that will cost you $7.50 to $10.00 in a city, our price only $5; we have them to suit all, come and see for yourself

CLOTHING, well, we can fit your boys, husbands, fathers grand-fathers and all boy's suits from 75c up; men's suits from $5 up

A nice line of DRESS GOODS from 20 to 75c per yard; outing in pink, blue, cream and other colors 10c per yard; checks 5c; sheeting, EE, 5c; calicoes, 5c; a nice quilt top for 50cents

Children's shoes 25c up; men's shoes from $1 to $3.50. Ladies shoes from 75c to $3.00

Fascinators from 25 to 75c, any color; infant hoods, 25c up; men's hats from 75c up $3.50; water proof in black, blue, brown, 54 inches wide, double width, only 50c per yard. 1 pound of good yarn for 5 cents, and everything kept in a first-class store at the same rate. We carry nothing but reliable goods and anything that is not all O.K. we will make it alright. Thanking our host of customers for their liberal patronage, we stand ready to serve you with first-class goods at a small profit. Yours for business,

SARTOR & KICKER,
CLANTON

THE WHITE HOUSE

at Washington, the home of the President, is one of the finest buildings in the land, and the white store house at Clanton carries the finest stock of

GENERAL MERCHANDISE

to be found in this part of the country. We carry a fine line of Groceries, Clothing, Shoes, etc., and will treat you well.

J. B. DOWNS, Clanton.

C. R. MULLINS

AGENT FOR THE LIVERPOOL & LONDON & GLOBE FIRE INSURANCE OF ENGLAND. THE LONDON & LANCASHIRE FIRE INSURANCE CO. OF NEW YORK, formerly represented by W. L. Sampey.
TRAVELERS ACCIDENT INSURANCE CO. OF HARTFORD, CONN.
THE OLD MUTUAL BENEFIT LIFE INSURANCE CO. OF NEWARK, N. J.
AND THE SINGER MANUFACTURING CO., the largest Sewing Machine Company in the world.

We know you are interested in the problem of getting full value for the money you spend no matter what the outlay is for. I will not presume to advise you along all lines, but when it comes to buying a Sewing Machine for yourself and family I am in a position to offer some valuable suggestions. For over fifty years the Company has done nothing but study the needs and requirements of the people in the matter of Sewing Machines, and our large business is proof that we are making and furnishing what they want. The styles are the very best, unsurpassed in lasting qualities and, best of all, the prices are reasonable, and the terms within the reach of all. We are placing our machines in the leading families all over the land and if you want the best looking, the lightest running and the finest set of attachments ever brought, call for the High Arm Singer. You will find a complete stock of these machines at the Singer Office, Clanton.

Machines from $5.00 to $65.00 for cash or on time. Needles, Parts, Oils, Shuttles and Attachments, and the best and only genuine Machine Oil manufactured, every bottle bearing the Singer trade mark. 10, 15 and 20 cent bottles.

My regular other days are Saturdays and Mondays. For further particulars call on or address

C. R. MULLINS,
SINGER OFFICE CLANTON.

A WHOLESALE HOUSE FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE CONSUMER

We save you the Retailer's profit. We sell direct to the People at the same price that your Retailer pays for his goods. We buy direct from the Manufacturer and pay cash for our goods. You can buy one bottle from us at the same price your Retailer pays per dozen. $1 preparations, 50 to 75c. 50c preparations, 25 to 40c. 25c preparations, 10 to 20c. 15c preparations, 7 to 12c. 10c preparations, 6 to 8c.

OUR WHISKEY DEPARTMENT

Is the best in the State. All whiskey sold 25 per cent less than you can buy from any other firm. Try a quart of our J. MARTIN'S 5 YEAR OLD VIRGINIA RYE at 75c, if you are not satisfied that it is equal to any brand you buy elsewhere for $1, we will refund your money. Send us your orders. We are your friend and guarantee everything we sell.

COLLIER DRUG CO. 1926 First Avenue BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

NEW AND BIGGER STOCK!

To meet the increasing demands of our business we are now laying in a NEW and full line of

CLOTHING, HATS, SHOES, ETC.

all in the Latest styles and Newest Fashions. Our GROCERIES and GENERAL MERCHANDISE are of the finest grades and always fresh.

OUR PRICES ARE BASED ON THE SMALLEST MARGIN OF PROFIT.

WE SHALL BE PLEASED TO SERVE YOU

KEMP & GILES, Clanton, Ala.

$10,000 TO BE GIVEN AWAY!

WOULD YOU LIKE TO TRY FOR IT?

If so, write THE WEEKLY ADVERTISER, Montgomery, Ala., and they will send you the list of prizes, and the conditions upon which you may get one of their great prizes to be given away during next May.

TOWN ITEMS

Chancery Court meets second Monday in February, first Monday in April, third Monday in June, second Monday in August and first Monday in November.

CLANTON COTTON MART

Price to-day 8¼ cents.

Same date last year 7 cents

Receipts to date:	1900	1899
Pickard & Co.	2182	2718
Mullins	1798	1881
Wilson	353	318
Downs	348	270
Total	4681	5187

Miss L. E. Morgan returned home Sunday after a pleasant visit to friends in Birmingham.

Mr. John Garner of Montevallo was in town Wednesday.

Mr. J. G. Gay of Valley Creek was a visitor here Saturday.

Mr. J. A. Skaggs of Jemison was in town last Friday.

Mr. W. F. Maddox of Jemison was one of our visitors Monday.

Mr. P. C. Smith of Thorsby was in town Monday.

Rev. A. T. Clark of Shelby made a welcome visit Tuesday.

Mr. Rush Vines, who has been confined to his room, we are glad to see is able to be out again.

Mr. J. M. Collins of Birmingham was in town this week.

Cut this out and take it to Clanton drug store and D. I. Deramus, Verbena, and get a free sample of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, the best physic. They all disorders of the stomach, biliousness and headache.

Mr. Jasper Giles of Lily gave us a pleasant call Tuesday.

Mr. G. F. Martin of Stanton was a visitor here Friday.

Mr. John F. Peterson of Thorsby was in the city Monday.

LOST a yellow spotted hound, ears marked with an old coon crop. About ten years old. Finder will be rewarded by returning to J. Reese, Clanton, Ala.

Mr. J. R. Kemp, we are sorry to learn is very sick.

Mr. O. O. Roper has moved into his new residence in the east end of town.

Mr. W. McKinney has removed his family to Lomax.

Mr. Wilson & Bro. are getting new goods into their new store.

Mr. J. McRee of Lowndesboro was in Clanton Wednesday.

Mr. E. Nally of Randolph was in town here Tuesday.

KNOW WHAT YOU ARE TAKING

When you take Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic because the formula is plainly printed on every bottle that it is simply Iron and Quinine in a tasteless form. No Cure, No Pay. 50c.

Marriage licenses have been issued by the Probate Judge to the following persons.

Mr. W. L. Williams and Miss Annie Skinner; Mr. H. J. Deavers and Miss Annie C. Hornsby.

Mr. K. W. Mitchell and Miss Fidelia Alford Williams.

Mr. E. Jones.

Sportland.

Rev. W. J. Armstrong preached an interesting sermon to a large crowd at Macedonia. The improvement of our country are great interest in churches, schools, also farming for the coming of the new century.

Mr. Hicks and McKee are doing work in their respective lines.

A footway at the ford of Yellow is being built at an expense of $30 for the benefit of the students of Flint Hill academy.

Miss E. Robinson, of Marble Valley, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Mahan. Miss Annie has returned from Quitman where she was attending school.

Sunshine was in Sportland last Sunday in the presence of two of Jumbo's best men, Messrs. Ross Mullins and Young. Mr. G. W. will leave soon on a western trip. We are pleased to have Mr. Young and lovely young wife in our midst. We cannot express our gratitude to Mrs. Olivia Giles for the untiring effort on her part to establish our Beer Wishes.

Down to Atoms.

The idea that the body some-times is a powerful, drastic, purgative pill has been exploded; Dr. King's New Life Pills, perfectly harmless gentlemen, act on the liver and bowels to expel the morbid matter, cleanse the system and absolutely cure Constipation and Sick Headache. Only 25c at Clanton drug store.

Dry Goods
Calicoes
Sheeting
Percale, one yard wide
Black Sateen
Bleaching
Cotton Checks
Ticking
Gingham, best

Clothing
The biggest line for the money ever known

Hats
Men's first-class Hats, $
Men's Men's Men's
Caps

Come and see us from this month on. We will be in the First National Bank building.

W.

you will shoulder caps
$1 50; a large ity, our price urself ands, fathers, ts from $3 up yard, outings
ecks 5c, sheet
y 5c. Ladies'
goods, 25c up, line brown, 5c
d good wide the same rate is not all O. K.
ners for their st class goods

HER,
CLANTON.

the finest brand nton carries the

BENEFIT OF
l direct to the
for his goods.
y cash for our me price your 75c. 50c pre-
c. 15c prepar-

ENT
r cent less than of our J. MARe not satisfied for $1, we will are your friend

First Avenue
MINGHAM, ALA.

CK!
g demands of our ng in a NEW and

HATS ETC.
d Newest Fashions
GENERAL MERe finest grades
fresh.
LLEST MARGIN
RVE YOU
nton, Ala.

N AWAY!
ER IT?
Montgomery, Ala.
and the condition
to be given away

TOWN ITEMS

Commissioners' Court meets second Monday in February, first Monday in April, third Monday in June, second Monday in August, and first Monday in November.

CLANTON COTTON MART

Price today 9¼ cents.

Same date last year 7 cents

Receipts to date:	1900	1899
Pinchard & Co.	2182	2718
Mullins	1798	1881
Wilson	353	318
Thomas	346	270
Total	4681	5187

Miss L. E. Morgan returned home Sunday after a pleasant visit to friends in Birmingham.

Mr. John Garner of Montevallo was in town Wednesday.

Mr. J. G. Gay of Valley Creek was a visitor here Saturday.

Mr. T. A. Skaggs of Jemison was in town last Friday.

Mr. W. F. Maddox of Jemison was one of our visitors Monday.

Mr. P. C. Smith of Thorsby was down Monday.

Rev. A. L. Clark of Shelby made a welcome visit Tuesday.

Mr. Rush Vines, who has been confined to his room, we are glad to say is able to be out again.

Mr. J. M. Collins of Birmingham was in town this week.

Cut this out and take it to Clanton drug store and D. I. Deramus, Jr., and get a free sample of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, the best physic. They also cure disorders of the stomach, biliousness and headache.

Mr. Jasper Giles of Lily gave us a pleasant call Tuesday.

Mr. G. F. Martin of Stanton was a visitor here Friday.

Mr. John F. Peterson of Thorsby was in the city Monday.

LOST a yellow spotted hound, ear marked with an old coon. About ten years old. Finder will be rewarded by returning to J. L. Rouse, Clanton, Ala.

Mr. J. R. Kemp, we are sorry to say, very sick.

Mr. O. O. Roper has moved into his elegant new residence in the south end of town.

Mr. J. W. McKinney has removed his family to Lomax.

Mr. M. Wilson & Bro. are getting in new goods into their new store house.

Mr. P. McRee of Lowndesboro was in Clanton Wednesday.

Mr. C. Nally of Randolph was in our city here Tuesday.

KNOW WHAT YOU ARE TAKING

When you take Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic because the formula is plainly printed on every bottle that it is simply Iron and Quinine in a tasteless form. No Cure No Pay. 50c.

Marriage licenses have been issued this week by the Probate Judge to the following persons.

W. L. Williams and Miss Mattie Kinner, Mr. H. J. Deavers and Miss Annie C. Hornsby.

Messrs. K. W. Mitchell and J. L. Finney, Alford William and Mary E. Jones.

Sportland.

Mr. W. J. Armistrong preached an interesting sermon to a large crowd last at Macedonia. The element of our country are taking great interest in churches and schools, also farming for the beginning of the new century.

Messrs. Hicks and McKee are doing work in their respective lines. A footway at the ford of Pine Creek is being built at an expense of $30 for the benefit of the students at Flint Hill academy.

Mrs. E. Robinson, of Marble Valley, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Mahan. Miss Annie Mahan has returned from Quinlan, where she was attending her relatives. Sunshine was the over Sportland last Sunday in the presence of two of Jumbo's boys, Messrs. Ross Mullins and Hooks Young. Mr. G. W. Hooks will leave soon on a western trip. We are pleased to have Mr. Hooks' kind and lovely young wife with us in our midst. We cannot express our gratitude to Mrs. Olivia Williams for the untiring effort in her part to establish our school. BEST WISHES.

Blown to Atoms.

The idea that the body somewhere needs a powerful, drastic, purgative pill has been exploded; Dr. King's New Life Pills, the perfectly harmless gentle laxative, regulate the liver and bowels to expel poisonous matter, cleanse the system and absolutely cure Constipation and Sick Headache. Only 25c at Clanton drug store.

FALL GOODS

Now on sale and daily arriving a large and varied stock of goods. Prices as low as can be made on reliable merchandise and we spare no efforts to please you. Give us a call and let us figure with you on anything you want to buy. Coffins kept in stock and also trimmings for home made coffins.

E. M. PINCHARD & CO

Why try to stick things with something that doesn't stick? Buy MAJOR'S CEMENT; you know it sticks. Nothing breaks away from it. Stick to MAJOR'S CEMENT. Buy once, you will buy forever. There is nothing as good; don't believe the substitutes.

MAJOR'S RUBBER and MAJOR'S LEATHER. Two separate companies this year. Insist on having them. STANDARD 1876. 15 and 25 cents per bottle at all druggists.

MAJOR CEMENT CO., NEW YORK CITY.

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 21581.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Montgomery, Ala. December 3rd 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Clerk of the Circuit Court, at Clanton, Ala., on January 12th, 1901, viz: Thomas J. Wyatt. Homestead entry, No. 30,580, for the Sw ¼ of the Se ¼ of Section 30, Tp 22 n of R 16 east.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: John Oaks, Mitch Bates, Lon Bates, Ben Wyatt, all of Clanton, Ala. ROBERT BARNES, Register.

What stops Neuralgia? Dr. Miles' Pain Pills.

An Apt Answer.

The dangers associated with the fishing industry on the Newfoundland banks are many and grave. Foremost among them is that the dories may be upset while fishing, which involves the almost inevitable loss of their occupants. Callous captains secure themselves from the necessity of going, frequently order their men out when the weather does not warrant it, and disasters are the result. One of these brutal skippers was aptly answered last year by a bank man of whose courage or capacity there was no question.

"Out with you!" shouted the captain. "Hurry up there! It's a fishing day."

"Oh, no, skipper," replied the dory man. "It's too stormy today for a boat to fish."

"Nonsense, man," rejoined the skipper. "If my old grandmother from Provincetown was here today, she'd get her dory out."

"Then, skipper," said the man, "if her grandson will come out with me now I'll haul my trawl."

It is needless to say no dories were launched from that schooner on that date.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Insincerity.

"Our civilization demands a greater or less degree of mendacity," remarked the abstruse person. "We are constantly encountering some empty phrase, some conventional remark, which is absolutely devoid of sincerity."

"That's right," answered the book agent. "That's perfectly true. I am reminded of it every time I walk up to the front step where there is a doormat with the word 'welcome' on it."—Washington Star.

NEW ROYAL.

High-arm Light running. Warranted 10 years. $28 and $32.

Some secondhand machines from $8 up. Send me 25 cents in silver or stamps and an old needle for sample and I will send you 1 doz. needles to fit your machine.

REPAIR WORK GUARANTEED.

L. D. POPWELL. CLANTON.

THE NEW ENGLAND WATCH, nickle case, stem wind and stem set warranted for 12 months. Delivered anywhere with a silk cord of plate chain for $2.75. Try one if you want a good time piece cheap.

L. D. POPWELL, Clanton.

The BANNER office is the only Job Printing establishment in Chilton and Coosa counties. We give you best work at lower prices than you can get elsewhere. Give us trial

"KRUMP'S KORNER."

The owner of this Korner has again returned to it, after wandering many days in foreign lands older, uglier and we trust a little wiser in some respects. He rejoices at his return, and would be glad to see all of the good and bad people of Chilton county. I only ask don't all of you come same day, as I have not got enough to go round for dinner. I have enough yarns however to make up shortness in grubb. Come to see me anyhow and we will talk it over, and no charge for the yarns. Please remember I keep all things the farmer needs, and I will sell him

A sewing machine, a wagon, or a buggy,
A suit, a hat, a pair shoes or a knife,
Or he can call himself very lucky,
If he will just bring his wife.

Yours for health,

T. U. CRUMPTON

MAPLESVILLE, ALA.

HELP WANTED

to reduce my big stock of goods.

I have just returned from the Northern markets, where I purchased some Extraordinary Bargains

and am now offering the good People of Chilton such values as they have never known before.

READ THESE PRICES:

Dry Goods

Calicoes	from 4 cts up
Sheeting	from 5 cts up
Percale, one yard wide	7c
Black Sateen	8½
Bleaching	from 5 cts up
Cotton Checks	5c
Ducking	per yard 9c
Ginghams, best	per yard 5c

Clothing

The biggest line for the least money ever known.

Hats

Men's first-class Hats, $1 50 hat for	$1.00
Men's	75 cts hat for .0
Men's	50 cts hat for 35
Men's	25 cts hat for 15
Caps	10

Shoes

Ladies' Shoes, Spring heel, Tan	$1.00
Ladies' Oil grain	$1.00
Ladies' Fine Shoes, a $2.00 shoe	$1.35

Men's Shoes....a $2.00 shoe for ..$1.45

Trunks, Valises, &c.

Gent's Furnishings

Shirts, White Linen bosom	each 25c
Linen Collars, any shape	each 5c
Celuloid Collars	each 5c
Hosiery	from 5 cts up
Suspenders	from 5 cts up
Handkerchiefs	3 for 5 cts and up
Neckwear, 250 styles, a 50c Tie for	25c
Umbrellas, $1 value for	65c

Notions

Best Assorted Ribons at half price

Lace, 50c value	25c
Corsets, 50c value	35
Corsets, 35c value	22
Ladies' Belts	from 5 cts up
Suspenders, a 50c pair	20
Towels	from 10 cts up
Pearl Buttons	1 dozen for 5c
Garterwear	per yard 5c

GROCERIES

Come and select what you want from this mammoth stock.

First Come, First Served!

YOURS TO PLEASE,

W. KANTER, Clanton

Wamben & Peterson

CONTRACTORS AND BUILDERS

HOUSE MOVING A SPECIALTY

—DEALER IN—

ALL BUILDING MATERIALS—SASH, DOORS, BLINDS, MANTELS, ETC.

OFFICE ON JONES ST OPPOSITE BICE'S

THORSBY.

—CALL AT THE—

CASH STORE

FOR BARGAINS,

THORSBY, ALA.

OUR CASH PRICES SUBJECT TO CHANGE WITHOUT NOTICE.

15 lbs. Granulated Sugar	$1.00	2 bushel sack Meal	1.20
1 bbl Red Seal Patent Flour	4.50	1 gal water white 150 fire test oil	18
½ bbl " " " "	2.25	1 lb Ham	15
24 lb sack " " "	60	Whole Ham, per pound	13
1 bbl Straight Family Flour	3.50	Bacon and Bulk	10-12
14 lb sk Family Flour	50	1 lb Lard	10
100 lbs Bran	1.10	50 lbs Lard	4.50

We are handling Minneapolis Flour. Soda Crackers and Sweet Crackers, Ginger Snaps, Cheese, Lemons, Irish Potatoes always in stock. Also best Dried Fruits in the market. Also handle Roller Champion and I. E. M. Flour.

Dry Goods, Clothing, Hardware and the very best Staple and Fancy Groceries.

Fresh Fish and Oysters every Saturday.

We take Eggs, Butter, Corn, Meal, Fruit and Chickens at the highest market price in exchange for goods.

Yours to please,

A. M. JOHNSON, Manager

Everyone to His Taste.

And I am pleased to say that your taste and Everyone's taste can be suited at my Store, where you will find the

choicest Line of Fancy Groceries

AND CANNED GOODS

Always Fresh and New. I have no old Stock.

Dry Goods, Hats, Shoes, Gents Furnishing Goods, Fancy line of Shirts and Underwear, Notions, Hardware and General Merchandise.

Yours to serve faithfully and well,

B. H. JONES, CLANTON

FREIGHT TRAINS COME TOGETHER

Collision on the L. & N. Near Parkwood Station.

SHOOTING IN BIRMINGHAM.

Wants the Birthday of Lee Made a Legal Holiday--Other State News.

A WRECK ON THE L. & N.

Fireman Killed and Other Trainmen Injured—Was Caused by Disregard for Orders.

Two freight trains on the Louisville and Nashville road collided one mile south of Parkwood and about seven or eight miles south of Birmingham at 8:40 o'clock Saturday morning. One man was killed and several others more or less seriously injured.

Fireman Robert Howard, colored, was internally injured and died shortly after being brought to Birmingham.

Engineer G. Y. Horton was slightly injured.

Engineer Chase slightly hurt.

Flagman McDuffy, nose broken.

Fireman J. Wilson, slightly injured.

Brakeman Nix, colored, slightly hurt.

The collision occurred on a steep grade about a mile south of Parkwood, and is said to have been caused by the failure of the conductor on the southbound train to observe orders to meet the second section of No. 28, northbound, at Parkwood. Both trains were making slow time when they met and to this cause is due the small loss of life and the light damage to the trains. Both engines were wrecked, but only a few cars were torn up.

As soon as information of the collision was received in the office of the superintendent in Birmingham a wrecking train and Superintendent Welch and Assistant Superintendent Galloway together with the surgeon of the road, went to the scene. The injured men were at once brought to Birmingham and taken to St. Vincent's Hospital.

Alf Dorsey Shoots at Jasper Bryant.

At 8:30 Saturday night pedestrians on Twentieth street, between First and Second avenues, Birmingham, were startled by five pistol shots fired in rapid succession, then a flying figure darted across the street and disappeared up First alley, hotly pursued by another figure.

The first figure was Alf Dorsey, colored, who works at the Pennsylvania hat store, and the second one was that of Policeman John Tomlin.

The trouble began in Jackson's tailor shop over an argument as to how the word "one" was spelt, Dorsey, whose ideas of orthography were somewhat muddled by drink, insisted that one was spelt w-o-n. Jasper Bryant, who was standing around quietly chewing tobacco, said that one was spelt o-n-e. Dorsey then drew a dollar from his pocket and offered to bet Bryant that his way of spelling one was the one and the only one. Bryant took the bet, but while he was fumbling around in his pockets hunting for a dollar Dorsey dropped his dollar on the floor. "Pick that up," he said to Bryant. "I didn't put it down and I ain't gwine ter pick it up," answered Bryant. Dorsey thereupon drew a revolver and began to shoot. He fired five shots into different parts of the room. Seven people were in the room but none were hurt. One of the bullets grazed Bryant's arm, or as Bryant expressed it, "it burnt him." Having emptied his revolver Dorsey dashed downstairs and out into the street. People seeing a man running with a revolver in his hand gave him the right of way. Officer John Tomlin, who had been attracted to the spot by the shooting, started in pursuit, but Dorsey was the best "sprinter" and disappeared in the darkness of First alley.

Alabama Presented With Colors.

The wife of Captain Brownson, on behalf of her mother, has presented the battleship Alabama with colors.

New Brick Plant.

The new plant of the Copeland Brick Company at East Birmingham is about completed. An entire new equipment of the latest machinery has been put in and when in operation the new plant will have a daily capacity of about 100,000 brick. The new plant cost about $20,000.

U. C. D. Wants the Birthday of Lee Made a Legal Holiday.

At a meeting of the Tuscaloosa Chapter of the Daughters of the Confederacy on January 4, letters were ordered to be written Representatives Foster and Brandon and Senator Geo. D. Johnston, requesting them to lend their aid to the effort to secure an appropriation from the state to aid in the erection of monuments to the heroic dead on those battlefields which have been converted into national parks by the government, and requesting them to vote to make the birthday of General Robert E. Lee a legal holiday in Alabama. The name of the chapter was also changed from the Tuscaloosa Chapter to the "R. E Rodes Chapter."

The Daughters expect to present on next Memorial Day crosses of honor to about two hundred veterans of the lost cause.

Coal Miners Will Probably Get Advance in Wages.

It is more than likely that there will be an advance of two and a half cents a ton in the price paid for mining coal in the Birmingham district, beginning January 1. The price for December was 62½ cents, but the advance in the price of iron in December brought the average up to $11, which, it is believed, will entitle the miners to the maximum limit, 55 cents per ton. The miners' committee inspect the iron sales books of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Company on the first of each month, and if they find that the average selling price of iron is $11 for all grades they will then receive the maximum for digging coal.

Talladega Furnace.

Eugene Zimmerman, owner of the Talladega pig iron furnace and the Birmingham and Atlantic Railroad, was in the city Saturday. He said that he saw no reason why business should not be good throughout this year. The present conditions are favorable for heavy business and the iron market is firm and the demand good. He stated that the furnace at Talladega, now idle, would be put in blast by the first of February. This furnace was banked last fall for the purpose of repairing and overhauling it. It is now in better condition than ever before and when it starts up will make about 100 tons of iron a day.

Iron Roofing Company.

The plant of the Alabama Metal Roofing Company, in Birmingham, is nearing completion and will be ready to go in operation within two or three weeks. When completed it will melt about twenty tons of iron a day, which it will convert into corrugated roofing, ceiling, siding and similar material. It is owned and operated by O. E. Smith, Haskins Williams and Mr. West, the latter taking the management of the works.

It is the intention of the owners of the plant to add machinery for making iron and steel wheelbarrows, coal scuttles, shovels and similar articles at an early date.

Bible Conference.

A Bible conference will begin at the Parker Memorial Baptist Church in Anniston, Jan. 15th, and continue until the 17th inst.

Hundreds of delegates from all over Calhoun and adjoining counties will be in attendance.

Two of the most noted ministers in the south will also be there. They are Dr. R. J. Willingham, chairman of the Baptist Foreign Mission Board, and Dr. W. H. Kerfoot, chairman of the Baptist Home Mission Board.

Big Coal Contract.

A contract has been practically closed by which B. H. Wood & Sons of New Orleans, will take 150,000 tons of coal from the Walker county mines, delivery to be made between February 1st, 1901, and February 1st, 1902. The parties to the contract are B. H. Wood & Sons, of New Orleans, and the Sloss-Sheffield Steel and Iron Company, the Virginia and Alabama Coal Company, the Deer Creek Coal Company, Southern Coal and Coke Company and the Southern Railway.

Mail Carrier Charged With Opening Love Letters.

William H. Weaver, a mail carrier between Huntsville and Hoy, was arrested Saturday on the charge of destroying mail, and after a trial before Commissioner Conway, was bound over to court on a bond of $500. A man named Holden is the prosecutor, claiming that Weaver opened one of his letters and exposed the contents to ridiculing friends.

POCKET TELEGRAPHY.

Some Business and Domestic Complications Hitherto Unforeseen.

If in the near future an electric bell concealed about the person of a man in the street is heard to ring, and he draws from his pocket a small case, listens to it, and then hurries off, it must not hastily be assumed that he is mad. The probability will be that he has just received a message by wireless telegraphy.

Such things are not yet, but that they may be is not so very wide an assumption from a demonstration which took place yesterday at the Crystal Palace. In wireless telegraphy there are several Richmonds in the field. Best known is, of course, Marconi's system. But on Saturday Sir William Preece described to the British Association a system which he claims to be both earlier and simpler, and which may be used for telephony as well as telegraphy. Yesterday the first item at the Cafe Chantant of the Crystal Palace was an exhibition of Mr. Rosenberg's system. The chief point of difference between this and Marconi's method is in a slight but important alteration in the construction of the coherer, which arrests, as they travel through the air, the Hertzian waves on which all wireless telegraphy depends. Otherwise, the apparatus is much the same, and for long distances Mr. Rosenberg depends on vertical poles, just as Marconi and Sir William Preece do. Mr. Rosenberg uses an induction coil, supplied with electricity from an accumulator; a Morse keyboard is fitted to enable him to make or break the current at will, and the message is sent as usual, by means of an oscillator. It is taken at the required spot by an instrument containing the coherer, a small brass tube filled with nickel filings, and a receiver, from which the message may be printed on tape in the usual way. This was demonstrated to the interested audience at the Cafe Chantant to their complete satisfaction. But with a view to obtaining further information, the representatives of the press present afterwards accompanied Mr. Rosenberg to the press room of the Crystal Palace and discussed the matter more at length. Mr. Rosenberg's claim is that he has provided a practical system which is clear of Marconi's patents and which can be much cheaper. With only the apparatus used yesterday and with no vertical poles, he maintains that he can telegraph two miles; with poles he can send messages forty miles, and is engaged on an automatic repeating device which shall enable them to be sent on indefinitely. But in the course of conversation he mentioned an interesting fact. When he leaves his office to lunch in a restaurant, a couple of hundred yards off, he takes with him a little box containing the receiving apparatus. This he sets on the table beside him, and if the bell rings, he knows that he is wanted at the office, even though his clerks might not be aware where he was, and he can receive a message from them.

Whether this introduces a new boon or a new terror to life cannot be hastily decided. It is not too much to suppose that before long the receiving apparatus might be improved and reduced in size, so that a man could easily carry it in his pocket; and the range of the message may be increased up to, say, half a dozen miles. Then the business man may carry his receiver about with him, and be in touch with his office all day.—London Telegraph.

Argeatine Wants Japanese Farmers.

A novel experiment in colonizing is about to be made in the Argentine Republic. It has been found that the French, German and English immigrants for the most part have selected the cities and large centres of population for their residence. In these places they have got control of many industries and take a leading share in the commerce of the country. The Italians have been engaged heavily in river navigation, while the stream of Irish, which used to supply the demands for agricultural labor, filled up the ship yards and supplied the labor of the docks, flows no more. Some French, Swiss and German peasants have founded agricultural colonies, and in certain places the Russians and Poles form the bulk of the rural population.

But the Argentine government has decided that none of these nations supplies, in sufficient numbers, a rural population for the development of the country, and have decided to import Japanese farmers. A great concession has been given in the province of Formosa for the first colony and arrangements have been made to bring over 20,000 Japanese farmers and settle them there.

German Luggage Stamps.

In order to simplify the transportation of small boxes or trunks by the railroad in Prussia, the Administration has just inaugurated a system of trunk stamps similar to postage stamps. As far as Frankfort and Mayence, trunks or parcels weighing from 1 to 63 pounds now need only to have a stamp stuck on them and to be handed in at the station.

There are two divisions, one for distances of under 65 miles, the other for longer distances, and in each division three rates—namely, for packages weighing less than 15 pounds; between 15 and 20, and between 20 and 65. The stamps issued are 5 cents, 10 cents, 20 cents and 40 cents. All such parcels are sent by express. The time of transport is guaranteed to be not longer than ten hours for 65 miles. For an additional payment of 10 cents the package will be delivered to the addresses within an hour of the arrival of the train.

France spends $30,000,000 a year on timber.

REV DR. TALMAGE

DISCOURSE BY THE EMINENT DIVINE LAST SUNDAY.

Subject: Apples of Gold—An Appropriate Word May Decide One's Destiny—The Power of Little Things—Value of Sympathy.

(Copyright 1900.)

WASHINGTON, D. C.—In this discourse Dr. Talmage shows an open door for any one who desires to be useful, and illustrates how a little thing may decide one's destiny. The text is Proverbs xxv, 11 (revised version), "A word fitly spoken is like apples of gold in baskets of silver."

A filigree basket loaded with fruit is put before us in the text. What is ordinarily translated "pictures" ought to be "baskets." Here is a silver network basket containing ripe and golden apples, pippins or rennets. You know how such apples glow through the openings of a basket of silver network. You have seen such a basket of fruit on many a table. It whets the appetite as well as regales the vision. Solomon was evidently fond of apples, because he so often speaks of them. While he writes in glowing terms of pomegranates and figs and grapes and mandrakes, he seems to find solace as well as lusciousness in apples, calling out for a supply of them when he says in another place, "Comfort me with apples." Now you see the meaning of my text, "A word fitly spoken is like apples of gold in baskets of silver."

You see, the wise man eulogizes just one word. Plenty of recognition has there been for great orations—Cicero's arraignment of Catiline, the phillippics of Demosthenes, the five days' argument of Edmund Burke against Warren Hastings, and Edward Irving's discourses on the Bible and libraries full of prolonged utterance—but my text extols the power of one word when it refers to "a word fitly spoken."

This may mean a single word or a small collection of words—something you can utter in one breath, something that you can compact into one sentence. "A word fitly spoken"—an encouraging word, a kind word, a timely word, a sympathetic word, an appropriate word. I can pass right down the aisle of any church and find between pulpit and front door men whose temporal and eternal destinies have been decided by a word.

I tell you what is a great crisis in every man's history. It is the time when he is entering an occupation or profession. He is opposed by men in middle life because they do not want any more rivals, and by some of the aged because they fear being crowded off and their places being taken by younger men. Hear the often severe and unfair examinations of young lawyers by old lawyers, of young doctors by old doctors, of young ministers by old ministers. Hear some of the old merchants talk about the young merchants. Trowels and hammers and scales often are jealous of new trowels and new hammers and new scales. Then it is so difficult to get introduced. How long a time has many a physician had his sign out before he got a call for his services and the attorney before he got a case! Who wants to risk the life of his family to a young physician who got his diploma only last spring and who may not know measles from scarlatina, or to risk the obtaining of a verdict for $20,000 to an attorney who only three years ago read the first page of Blackstone?

How is the young merchant to compete with his next door bargain maker, who can afford to undersell some things because he can more than make it up by the profit on other things or has failed three times and had more money after each failure? How is that mechanic to make a livelihood when there are twice as many men in that trade as can in hard times find occupation? There are this very moment thousands of men who are just starting life for themselves, and they need encouragement—not long harangue, not quotation from profound book, not a page, not a paragraph, but a word, one word, fitly spoken.

Why does not that old merchant, who has been forty years in business, go into that young merchant's store and say, "Courage?" He needs only that one word, although, of course, you will illustrate it by telling your own experience and how long you waited for customers, and how the first two years you lost money, and how the next year, though you did better, illness in your household swamped the surplus with doctor's bills. Why does not that old lawyer go into that young lawyer's office just after he has broken down in making his first plea before a jury and say that word with only two syllables, "Courage?" He needs only that one word, although, of course, you will illustrate it by telling him how you broke down in one of your first cases, and got laughed at by court and bar and jury, and how Disraeli broke down at the start, and how hundreds of the most successful lawyers at the start broke down. Why do not the successful men go right away and tell those who are starting what they went through, and how their notes got protested and what unfortunate purchases they made, and how they were swindled, but kept right on until they reached the golden milestone? Even some who pretend to favor the new beginner and say they wish him well put obstacles in his way.

There are so many men who have all the elements of usefulness and power except one—courage. If you can only under God give them that, you give them everything. In illustrating that one word show them that every man that ever amounted to anything had terrific struggle. Show him what ships Decatur had to fight, and what a mountain Hannibal had to climb, and what a lame foot Walter Scott had to walk with, and that the greatest poet who ever lived—Milton—was blind, that one of the grandest musicians of all the ages—Beethoven—was deaf, and that Stewart, in some respects the greatest merchant that America ever saw, began in his small store, dining on bread and cheese behind the counter in a snatched interregnum between customers, he opening the store and closing it, sweeping it out with his own broom and being his own errand boy. Show them that within ten minutes' walk there are stores, shops and factories and homes where as brave deeds have been done as those of Leonidas at Thermopylae, as that of Horatius at the bridge, as that of Colin Campbell at Balaklava. Tell them what Napoleon said to his staff officer when that officer declared a certain military attempt to be impossible. "Impossible!" said the great commander. "Impossible is the adjective of fools!"

Show them also that what is true in worldly directions is more true in spiritual directions. Call the roll of prophets, apostles and martyrs and private Christians from the time the world began and ask them to mention one man or woman greatly good or useful who was not depreciated and flailed and made a laughing stock. Racks and prisons and whips and shipwrecks and axes of beheadment did their worst, yet the heroes were more than conqueror. With such things you will illustrate that word "courage," and they will go out from your presence to start anew and right, challenging all earth and hell to the combat.

The word "courage," fitly spoken with compressed lips and steel grip of the hand and an intelligent flash of the eye—well, the finest apples that ever thumped on the ground in an autumnal orchard and were placed in the most beautiful basket of silver network before hom appetites could not be more attractive.

Furthermore, a comforting word fitly spoken is a beautiful thing. No one but God could give the inventory of sick beds and bereft homes and broken hearts. We ought not to let a day pass without a visit, or a letter, or a message, or a prayer consolatory. You could call five minutes on your way to the factory; you could have a half hour earlier in the afternoon and fill a mission of solace; you could brighten a sick room with one chrysanthemum; you could put a postscript to a letter that would bring the joys of heaven to a soul; you could send your carriage and give an afternoon airing to an invalid or a neighboring street; you could loan a book with some chanters most adapted to some particular misfortune. Go home today and make out a list of things you can do that will show sympathetic thoughtfulness for the hardly bestead. How many dark places you might illumine! How many tears you could stop or, if already started, you could wipe away! How much like Jesus Christ you might get to be! So sympathetic was He with beggary, so helpful was He for the fallen and so stirred was He at the sight of dropsy, epilepsy, paralysis and ophthalmia that, whether He saw it by the roadside, or at the sea beach, or at the mineral baths of Bethesda, He offered relief. Cultivate genuine sympathy. Christlike sympathy. You cannot successfully dramatize it. False sympathy Alexander Pope sketches in two lines:

"Before her face her handkerchief she spread To hide the flood of tears she did not shed."

There are four or five words which fitly spoken might soothe and emancipate and rescue. Go to those from whose homes Christ has taken to Himself a loved one and try the word "reunion," not under wintry sky, but in everlasting springtide; not a land where they can be struck with disease, but where the inhabitant never says, "I am sick;" not a reunion that can be followed by separation, but in a place "from which they shall go no more out forever." For emancipation and sighing, immortal health. Reunion, or if you like the word better, anticipation. There is nothing left for them in this world. Try them with heaven. With a chapter from the great book open one of the twelve gates. Give them one note of seraphic harp, one flash from the sea of glass, one clatter of the hoofs of the horses on which victors ride. That word reunion or anticipation fitly spoken— Well, no fruit heaped up in silver baskets could equal it. Of the 2000 kinds of apples that have blessed the world not one is so mellow or so rich or so aromatic, but we take the suggestion of the text and compare that word of comfort fitly spoken to apples of gold in baskets of silver.

Or the man astray may have an unhappy home, and that is enough to wreck any one. We often speak of men who destroy their homes, but do not say anything about the fact that there are thousands of wives in American who by petulance and fretting and inconsideration and lack of economy and all manner of disagreeableness drive their husbands into dissipation. The reason that thousands of men spend their evenings in clubhouses and taverns is because they cannot stand it at home. I know men who are thirty-year martyrs in the fact that they are awfully married. That marriage was not made in heaven.

Without asking divine guidance they entered into an alliance which ought never to have been made. That is what is the matter with many men you and I know. They may be very brave and heroic and say nothing about it, but all the neighbors know.

Now, if the man going wrong has such domestic misfortune be very lenient and excusatory in your word of warning. The difference between you and him may be that you would have gone down faster that he is going down if you had the same kind of conjugal wretchedness.

Besides that, you had better be merciful in your word of warning, for the day may come when you may need some one to be lenient and excusatory to you. There may be somewhere ahead of you a temptation so mighty that unless you have sympathetic treatment you may go under. "Oh, no," says some one; "I am too old for that." How old are you? "Oh," you say, "I have been so long in active business life that I am clear past the latitude of danger." There is a man in Sing Sing penitentiary who was considered the soul of honor until he was fifty years of age, and then committed a dishonesty that startled the entire commercial world.

In mentioning fine arts people are apt to speak of music and painting and sculpture and architecture, but they forget to mention the finest of all the fine arts, the art of doing good, the art of helping others, the art of saving men.

An art to be studied as you study music, for it is music in the fact that it drives out moral discord and substitutes eternal harmony. An art to be studied like sculpture, for it is sculpture in the fact that it builds a man not in cold statue, but in immortal shape that will last long after all pentelican marble has crumbled.

An art to be studied as you study architecture, for it is architecture in the fact that it builds for him a house of God, eternal in the heavens. But an art that we cannot fully learn unless God helps us. Ourselves saved by grace divine, we can go forth to save others, and with a tenderness and compassion and a pity that we could not otherwise exercise we can pronounce the warning word with magnificent result.

The Lord said unto the prophet Amos, "Amos, what seest thou?" and he answered, "A basket of summer fruit." But I do not think Amos saw in that basket of summer fruit anything more inviting and luscious than many a saved man has seen in the warning word of some hearty, common sense Christian adviser, for a word fitly spoken is "like apples of gold in baskets of silver."

So also is a word of invitation potent and beautiful. Who can describe the drawing power of that word, so small and yet so tremendous, "Come?" It is a short word, but its influence is as long as eternity; not a sesquipedalian word spreading its energy over many syllables, but monosyllabic. Whether calling in wrong direction or right direction many have found it irresistible. That one word has filled all the places of dissipation and dissolutions that curse the earth. Inquire at the door of prisons what brought the offender there and at the door of almshouses what brought the pauper there, and at the door of the lost world what was the cause of the incarceration, and if the inmates speak the truth they will say, "The word 'come' brought us here." Come and drink. Come and gamble. Come and sin. Come and die. Pronounce that word with one kind of inflection, and you can hear in it the tolling of all the bells of conflagration and woe.

The chief baker in prison in Pharaoh's time saw in dream something quite different from apples of gold in baskets of silver, for he said to Joseph, "I was also in a dream, and, behold, I had three white baskets on my head, and in the uppermost basket there was all manner of baked meats for Pharaoh, and the birds did eat them out of the baskets on my head." Joseph interpreted the dream and said it meant that the chief baker should be beheaded, and the birds would eat his flesh. So many a man has in his own bad habits omens of evil that peak at him and foretell doom and death.

THE SABBATH SCH

INTERNATIONAL LESSON COM FOR JANUARY 13.

Subject: The Triumphal Entry. xxi., 1-17—Golden Text: Matt. —Memory Verses, 9-11—Comm on the Day's Lesson.

1. "Drew nigh." This was commonly called Palm Sunday. His disciples left Bethany and toward Jerusalem. "Bethphage." cation of this town is not known; it was between Bethany rusalem. "Sent two disciples." to have been Peter and John. left Bethany Jesus sent three ahead.

2. "The village." Bethphage. find." Here we have a wonderful of Christ's prescience in very ters. Taking the different gether, Jesus says, 1. Ye shall with its mother. 2. Both would 3. They would find them as they the village. 4. At a place where met. 5. No man had sat upon 6. The owners will question When told that the Lord hath them they will let them go. "A her." The other accounts colt only, and do not refer to its Our Lord chose an animal on man had sat. "Loose them." mals were tied; and so men are "tied" by pleasure, or greed, or habit, or the gordian knot ness.

3. "Straightway he will send." Our Lord did not beg, but colt, therefore this should be as the promise of returning 11: 3 (R. V.), makes this straightway He will send him again, marg.) hither.

4. "Might be fulfilled." motive of Jesus merely to and did He turn out of the purpose? Rather, let us the right thing to do at this necessary in order to fulfil for Him to offer Himself, on portunity, to the Jews as 5. "The daughter of Sion." "Behold." Give attention and astonishment and wonder. cometh." Jesus Christ is over the church (Psa. 2: 6), cepted by the church. He to rule in thee, to rule for head over all things to "Meek." When a king great is expected, and tions are made. But in this ferent. Christ appears in not in His majesty. He for Zion's sake. "And colt." It would appear that He sat upon both the mother, but the other plain that He sat on the colt. "lowly" (Zech. 9: 9); of humility over pride and deur, of poverty over meekness and gentleness over malice."

6. "Did as Jesus commanded." a blessing it would be if every Jesus commanded them, to question or suggest a 7. "Their clothes." loose outer garments on the Jesus thereon, thus acknowl be their King.

8. "A very great crowds were present at the the time of Nero a census was it was ascertained that there 000 Jews present at this feast. many from Galilee who knew sonally, and great numbers tracted to Bethany, excited by resurrection of Lazarus. "Ga way." An Oriental mark of reception of kings on their cities. "Branches from the was a demonstration of their rying palm and other branch blematical of success and victo

9. "Hosanna." Hosanna into Greek letters of the He "Save, we pray." Psa. 118: a shout of, "Salvation! Salv used as an expression of prai lelujah." The disciples praised God with a loud voi 37, 38), and the Pharisees cealed disgust asked Him to But Jesus replied, "If these their peace the stones would cry out." Jesus here grant a license to rejoice and shout "The son of David." A co sion for the Messiah. "In In the highest degree, in strains, in the highest heaven

10. "Was moved." "Was V.) The word in the origin "convulsed" or "stirred" as quake, or by a violent wi this?" Well may we, as well this question.

11. "This is Jesus." A the Saviour, the Deliverer. "The prophet of Nazareth." referred to by Moses. Deut. we might add, He is the C of God, the living Word.

12. "Into the temple." next day, Monday. Mark 1 and His disciples went ba on Sunday night. This w cleansing of the temple; o public acts, three years b to purge His Father's hous 17. The court of the Gent braced several acres, had b a market for the sale of t doves that the foreign Jew fer in sacrifice. "Cast out instance He used a "sc cords," now His word is ey-changers." Pilgrims bro the coinage of their own Egyptian, Greek, as the and their money either wa Palestine, or, as being symbols of heathen worsh received into the treasury

13. "It is written." "A den of thieves." Th right enough in itself, bu verted the use of the evidently were robbing charging extortionate pri

14. "He healed them." of all the people He per derful cures. He now c use of the temple.

15. "Were sore displ ers saw that they were His growing popularity. dren had taken up the singing His praises; the after Him. John 12: 19.

16. "Hearest Thou They were anxious to them, but, instead, Jesus 8: 2 to show that even mony with the Scripture

17. "To Bethany." to Bethany to-day.

Movable schools is and a good one. It the demand for rooms supply, or that temp needed while building After trying tempo destroying them wh has been adopted houses of three or tions, which are p down at small cost.

Cures Asthma

Do you know what it is to the asthma? Or have ever seen one suffer with The hard struggle for air, spasmodic breathing, the spent in the chair, all story of terrible suffering.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

only cures asthma; also chitis, hoarseness, weak whooping-cough, croup, coughs, night coughs, cold colds.

Three sizes: 25c., 50c., $1.00.

druggist cannot supply you, send us one will express a large bottle to you prepaid. Be sure and give us your express office. Address, J. C. AYER CO. Mass.

Electrical Cooking in Utica.

suite of apartment houses in Utica, N. Y., is provided throughout with electrical cooking utensils, consisting of a round platters, or "stoves," and a broiler. When not they can be stowed away, leaving no outward trace of the use to the room is put. The air is not and the apartment is kept cooler. The same apartments provided with electric curling heaters, which are much appre

Cronje and the Fish.

London servant girl was sent on of Cronje's surrender to the monger's for fresh herrings. rang with the news, but mind her business, and "They've got Cronje," re the fish monger, as he wrapped "five for threepence." Home maiden, and laid her purchase her mistress. "Here they are, she exclaimed; "but I don't how they'll do. The fish monger 'd got cronje!"

THE CHANGE OF LIFE

most important period in a woman's existence. Owing to modern of living, not one woman in and approaches this perfectly change without experiencing of very annoying and sometimes painful symptoms.

dreadful hot flashes, sending surging to the heart until it ready to burst, and the faint that follows, sometimes with if the heart were going to stop, are symptoms of a dangerous nervous trouble. Those not are just so many calls from for help. The nerves are cry-for assistance. The cry should heard in time. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was prepared to meet the needs of woman's at this trying period of her life. Builds up the weakened nervous system and enables a woman to pass the change triumphantly.

MRS. JENNIE NOBLE.

a very sick woman, caused by Change of Life. I suffered with hot flashes and fainting spells. I was unable to go on the street, my head troubled me so. I was encouraged by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—MRS. JENNIE 310 Keyser St., Germantown, Pa.

N. N. U. No. 2 1901.

CERTAIN COUGH CHILL CURE. 25 50 75

DON'T RUIN YOUR STOMACH WITH

Hunyadi Ja

IS A NATURAL LAXATIVE MINERAL

Endorsed and used by the most prominent in the world as the best and safest ordered stomach, biliousness, liver troubles, rheumatism.

It Cured Constip

Take one-half glassful on arising in the morning, you will feel the remarkable effects in

ASK for the full name Hunyadi Janos. | LOOK

Sole Exporters, Firm of Andreas Saxlehner, Budapest.

La Creole Will

La Creole Hair Restorer

BATH SCHO

L LESSON COMM
ANUARY 13.

Triumphal Entry, Golden Text: Matt. xxi. 9. Commentary on Lesson

[illegible] This was the [illegible] Sunday Jesus [illegible] Bethany and journeyed [illegible] Bethphage. The [illegible] not definitely [illegible] Bethany and [illegible] Sunday [illegible] After [illegible] discipleship [illegible]

Bethphage "Ye [illegible] wonderful in [illegible] minutes [illegible] account [illegible] shall find [illegible] and be [illegible] they [illegible] were two [illegible] upon the [illegible] "A colt hath [illegible] its [illegible] mental [illegible] which [illegible] The [illegible] send him [illegible] borrow him. [illegible] make a clear [illegible] send him hither. Was the way [illegible] fulfil a prophecy [illegible] that [illegible] time. His [illegible] in this [illegible] as their Master [illegible] Son." The [illegible] and [illegible] wonder "The [illegible] appointed [illegible] do, and [illegible] Bethany and [illegible] Sunday [illegible] After [illegible] discipleship [illegible]

Bethphage "Ye [illegible] wonderful in [illegible] minutes [illegible] account [illegible] shall find [illegible] and be [illegible] they [illegible] were two [illegible] upon the [illegible] "A colt hath [illegible] its [illegible] mental [illegible] which [illegible] The [illegible] send him [illegible] borrow him. [illegible] make a clear [illegible] send him hither. Was the way [illegible] fulfil a prophecy [illegible] that [illegible] time. His [illegible] in this [illegible] as their Master [illegible] Son." The [illegible] and [illegible] wonder "The [illegible] appointed [illegible] do, and [illegible] Bethany and [illegible] Sunday [illegible] After [illegible] discipleship [illegible]

Bethphage "Ye [illegible] wonderful in [illegible] minutes [illegible] account [illegible] shall find [illegible] and be [illegible] they [illegible] were two [illegible] upon the [illegible] "A colt hath [illegible] its [illegible] mental [illegible] which [illegible] The [illegible] send him [illegible] borrow him. [illegible] make a clear [illegible] send him hither. Was the way [illegible] fulfil a prophecy [illegible] that [illegible] time. His [illegible] in this [illegible] as their Master [illegible] Son." The [illegible] and [illegible] wonder "The [illegible] appointed [illegible] do, and [illegible] Bethany and [illegible] Sunday [illegible] After [illegible] discipleship [illegible]

ures Asthma

Do you know what it is to [illegible] the asthma? Or have [illegible] ever seen one suffer with [illegible] The hard struggle for air, [illegible] spasmodic breathing, the [illegible] spent in the chair, all [illegible] a story of terrible suffering.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

[illegible] cures asthma; also [illegible] hoarseness, weak [illegible] coughing cough, croup, [illegible] night coughs, [illegible]

Three sizes. 25c., 50c., $1.00.

[illegible] copy you send us one [illegible] a large bottle to you, [illegible] Describe and give us your [illegible] Address, J. C. AYER CO., Mass.

Electrical Cooking in Utica.

[illegible] apartment houses in Utica [illegible] throughout with [illegible] cooking utensils, consisting [illegible] pots, pans, or "stoves," [illegible] When not [illegible] stowed away, leaving [illegible] of the use to [illegible] put. The air is not [illegible] apartment is kept [illegible] The same apartments [illegible] with electric curling [illegible] which are much appre-

Cronje and the Fish.

[illegible] servant girl was sent on [illegible] Cronje's surrender to the [illegible] fishmongers for fresh herrings. [illegible] rang with the news, but [illegible] handed her business, and [illegible] "They've got Cronje," re[illegible] the fish monger, as he wrapped [illegible] for threepence." Home [illegible] the maiden and laid her purchase [illegible] her mistress. "Here they are," [illegible] she exclaimed, "but I don't [illegible] how they'll do. The fish monger [illegible] they'd got Cronje!"

THE CHANGE OF LIFE

[illegible] most important period in a woman's existence. Owing to modern [illegible] of living, not one woman in [illegible] and approaches this perfectly [illegible] change without experiencing [illegible] of every annoying and some[illegible] painful symptoms. [illegible] dreadful hot flashes, sending [illegible] rushing to the heart until it [illegible] ready to burst, and the faint [illegible] that follows, sometimes with [illegible] as if the heart were going to [illegible] or good are symptoms of a dan[illegible] nervous trouble. Those hot [illegible] are just so many calls from [illegible] for help. The nerves are cry-

MRS. JENNIE NOBLE.

[illegible] for assistance. The cry should [illegible] not in time. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was prepared to meet the needs of woman's [illegible] at this critical period of her life. [illegible] weakened nervous [illegible] and enables a woman to pass [illegible] change triumphantly. [illegible] a very sick woman, caused [illegible] of life. I suffered with hot [illegible] and fainting spells. I was [illegible] on the street, my head [illegible] I was en[illegible] to Lydia E. Pinkham's [illegible] Compound." MRS. JENNIE [illegible] Keyser St., Germantown, [illegible]

[illegible] N. Y., No. 2 1901.

ERTAIN COUGH CHILL CURE CURE. 25 50 15

Chrysanthemums.

From the flowery land of Japan there is a wrinkle to be learned about the keeping of their national flower. The chrysanthemum is with us in profusion now, and will be during the next three months. So let us take the advice of our little Jap friends as to the keeping of the cut flowers. Light a piece of wood (not a match, because of the sulphur in it), and with it burn the stalks. Flowers thus treated will last fresh for several weeks—no small consideration when the beautiful blossoms are dear.

Best For the Bowels.

No matter what ails you, headache to a cancer, you will never get well until your bowels are put right. CASCARETS help nature, cure you without a gripe or pain, produce easy natural movements, cost you just 10 cents to start getting your health back. CASCARETS Candy Cathartic, the genuine, put up in metal boxes, every tablet has C. C. C. stamped on it. Beware of imitations.

Grace—"I thought you were never going walking with that 'Snaggs?' Nell—"I wasn't; but I've got a beautiful new cloak, and I just had to go walking."

STATE OF OHIO, CITY OF TOLEDO, } ss
LUCAS COUNTY.

FRANK J. CHENEY makes oath that he is the senior partner of the firm of F. J. CHENEY & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of CATARRH that cannot be cured by the use of HALL'S CATARRH CURE.

FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.

SEAL } A. W. GLEASON, Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials, free.

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

She—"Just imagine! Suppose you were so immensely wealthy that you couldn't possibly spend your income. What would you do?" He—"Marry you."

A new electric motor for automobiles has been devised which restores energy to the storage battery when the vehicle is running down hill.

To Cure a Cold in One Day

Take LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE TABLETS. All druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c.

In a ton of Dead Sea water there are 187 pounds of salt; Red Sea, 93; Mediterranean, 85; Atlantic, 81; English Channel, 72; Black Sea, 26; Baltic, 18, and Caspian Sea, 11.

Millions Use Carter's Ink

which is sure proof of its excellent quality. Is made chemically accurate. Therefore the best.

The American Federation of Labor declines to tackle the servant girl question, thereby showing a proper appreciation of its own strength. No single organization can handle the subject.

We refund 10c. for every package of PUTNAM FADELESS DYE that fails to give satisfaction. Monroe Drug Co., Unionville, Mo. Sold by all druggists.

Mrs. Jones—Oh, doctor, is my husband still irrational?

Dr. Dosem—Extremely so. When I told him your mother was coming to-morrow he smiled.

The Best Prescription for Chills

and Fever is a bottle of GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC. It is simply iron and quinine in a tasteless form. No cure—no pay. Price 50c.

Every mother believes her baby is so nice that lots of wicked people are waiting for an opportunity to steal it.

One of the tasks of Chinese children beginning their education is that of learning the A B C at three years old.

Happiness cannot be bought, but one of the great hindrances to its attainment can be removed by Adams' Pepsin Tutti Frutti.

A man under forty is at a disadvantage in that he cannot excuse his attentions to young women on the ground that they are "fatherly."

Piso's Cure cannot be too highly spoken of as a cough cure.—J. W. O'BRIEN, 322 Third Ave., N., Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 6, 1900.

Somebody has asked whether a duel has ever been fought in the air. One of the most curious of duels, says Tit-Bits, was the balloon duel in France, which was fought in 1808. The combatants were M. de Grandpre and M. le Pique, who had quarreled—about a lady, of course. This lady was one Mlle. Tirevit, an actress at the Imperial Opera. On the appointed day M. de Grandpre entered the car of one balloon, with his second, and M. le Pique, with his second, mounted the other in the Garden of the Tuileries, before an immense crowd of admiring spectators. When all was ready the ropes were cut, and the balloons shot upward for a distance of about half a mile above the earth. The wind being light, they were able to keep the distance of about eighty yards between each other with which they started. On reaching the agreed altitude the signal was given to fire, M. le Pique missed, but M. de Grandpre's ball went through the silk of the other balloon, which immediately collapsed. The car descended with frightful velocity, and both M. le Pique and his second were dashed to pieces. The balloon of the victor continued to ascend, and M. de Grandpre came back to earth some leagues from Paris.

DON'T RUIN YOUR STOMACH WITH MEDICINE.

Hunyadi János

IS A NATURAL LAXATIVE MINERAL WATER.

Endorsed and used by the most prominent physicians in the world as the best and safest remedy for disordered stomach, biliousness, liver troubles, gout and rheumatism.

It Cures Constipation!

Take one-half glassful on arising in the morning and you will feel the remarkable effects in half an hour.

ASK For the full name "Hunyadi János." | LOOK at the label, Blue with Red Centre Panel.

Sole Exporter, Firm of Andreas Saxlehner, 130 Fulton St., N.Y.

Insomnia Wrecks the Nerves.

Dr. Greene's NERVURA Makes Health.

INSOMNIA is a forerunner of nervous prostration; what organism is strong enough to stand up under the strain of sleepless nights? It is plain that nothing in the world can possibly take the place of restful sleep, yet many try to eke out an existence without this sustaining power. Their nerves are in such a state of tension that sleep is an impossibility, or at best is a series of hideous dreams. It is not strange that physical and mental weakness, amounting soon to complete prostration, follows inability to sleep. There is no let up to the strain. Vital forces are drawn upon, confirmed invalidism results.

The recuperative power of natural sleep is wonderful. Complete physical and mental exhaustion gives place, after a few hours of quiet slumber, to a full renewal of energy. The fatigue of body and mind disappears entirely while all the muscles are strong and the nerves absolutely calm.

Sleep is the indication given by Nature as a guide to human plans to restore health. It shows that there are inherent in the wonderful human organism powers of recuperation which must have opportunity to assert themselves. Based on this clear demonstration, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy was constructed by Dr. Greene to help Nature combat the ills that attack men and women. What no amount of powerful drugs could possibly accomplish, can be successfully and promptly effected by healthy blood and nerves, the kind of blood which flows in strengthening flood to every portion of the body, the condition of nerves which permits awakened Nature to seize its opportunity to restore to perfect health.

Dr. Greene's NERVURA FOR THE BLOOD AND NERVES.

Mrs. FLORENCE TAYLOR, of 4 Courtland Place, Bridgeport, Conn., writes:

"For four years I was troubled with nervous debility and hysteria in a most aggravated form. It caused sleeplessness and mental depression, and for months I was confined to my bed. My constitution wasted and I totally lost my appetite. I had many doctors, but they failed to give me any relief. I was advised to try Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. I was in a terrible condition when I began its use, and almost immediately there was a wonderful change came over me. I regained my appetite, the dizziness in my head departed; it renewed my interest in life and made me feel, in fact, like another person. After taking six bottles I thankfully proclaimed myself strong and well. Those six bottles did for me what hundreds of dollars and numerous physicians failed to do."

Dr. Greene's Nervura is the Remedy that Cures.

Full explanation of these matters given by Dr. Greene on request, without charge. Dr. Greene's address is 35 West 14th Street, New York City. Consultation with him either by call or letter is absolutely free.

WINCHESTER FACTORY LOADED SHOTGUN SHELLS

"New Rival," "Leader," and "Repeater."

Insist upon having them, take no others and you will get the best shells that money can buy.

ALL DEALERS KEEP THEM.

To produce the best results in fruit, vegetable or grain, the fertilizer used must contain enough Potash. For particulars see our pamphlets. We send them free.

GERMAN KALI WORKS,
93 Nassau St., New York.

DROPSY NEW DISCOVERY; gives quick relief and cures worst cases. Book of testimonials and 10 days' treatment Free. Dr. H. H. GREEN'S SONS, Box B Atlanta, Ga.

Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup

Cures a cough or cold at once. Conquers croup, bronchitis, grippe and consumption. 25c.

Ball-Bearing Watch.

One of the most ingenious devices at the Paris fair is to be seen in the Swiss watch factory exhibit and consists of a ball-bearing pocket timepiece. The principle has already been applied to the driving wheel of the clockmaker's throw and also for the winding arbor of clocks. Its application to a watch, however, with satisfactory results requires exceedingly fine mechanism and minute balls. The watch was made by Leon Gruet, a foreman of a Parisian watch concern. In it the arbors roll on steel balls of two sizes. It is spoken of by competent authorities as one of the most interesting horological exhibits.

We can always depend on having friends in need—their need.

"SALZER'S SEEDS WILL MAKE YOU RICH"

This is a daring statement, but Salzer's seeds bear it out every time.

Combination Corn. Greatest corn on earth. Will positively revolutionize corn growing.

Billion Dollar Grass. Greatest marvel of the age. 18 tons of hay per acre. First crop six weeks after sowing.

What Is It? Catalogue tells.

FOR 10c. STAMPS and this NOTICE we mail big seed catalog, 10 Grain Samples including above, also Spelta (60 lbs. per A.) Oats, (250 bushel per A.) Rape, Barley, (175 lbs. per A.) Peas, etc. Write with $10. to get a start.

John A. Salzer Seed Co. La Crosse, Wis.

FREE ELECTRIC BELT OFFER

WITH TEN DAYS' FREE WEARING TRIAL in your own home, we furnish the genuine and only HEIDELBERG ALTERNATING CURRENT ELECTRIC BELTS to any reader of this paper. No money in advance; very low cost; positive guarantee. COSTS ALMOST NOTHING compared with most all other treatments. Cures when all other electric belts, appliances and remedies fail. QUICK CURE for more than 30 ailments. ONLY SURE CURE for all nervous diseases, weaknesses and disorders. For complete sealed confidential catalogue, cut this advt. and mail to us.

SEARS, ROEBUCK & CO., Chicago.

TWO TRAVELLING SALESMEN wanted for 1901 in each of the following states: Ala., Miss., La., Ga. & Tenn. Experience not necessary, but must be hustlers.

Steady employment with good chances of promotion.

Address, with references &c.,

THE MOPOTOCK TOBACCO WORKS, DANVILLE, VA.

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION 25 CTS.

Doctors Recommend Individual Beds.

Physicians declare one-half the diseases flesh is heir to are contracted by sleeping two in a bed. It is only too true. There is a poison constantly arising from each body, which the other inhales. Two single beds, placed side by side, will do away with much of the bad effect, and yet one need not feel that they are really alone.

Experiments made by German physicians have shown that about 25 per cent of all school children have some defect in their hearing.

SKIN TORTURES

And every Distressing Irritation of the Skin and Scalp Instantly Relieved by a Bath with

Cuticura SOAP

And a single anointing with CUTICURA, the great skin cure and purest of emollients. This treatment, when followed in severe cases by mild doses of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, to cool and cleanse the blood, is the most speedy, permanent, and economical cure for torturing, disfiguring, itching, burning, bleeding, scaly, crusted, and pimply skin and scalp humors with loss of hair ever compounded.

Millions of Women

USE CUTICURA SOAP, assisted by Cuticura Ointment, for preserving, purifying, and beautifying the skin, for cleansing the scalp of crusts, scales, and dandruff, and the stopping of falling hair, for softening, whitening, and soothing red, rough, and sore hands, for baby rashes, itchings, and chafings, in the form of baths for annoying irritations and inflammations, or too free or offensive perspiration, in the form of washes for ulcerative weaknesses, and many sanative antiseptic purposes which readily suggest themselves to women and mothers, and for all the purposes of the toilet, bath, and nursery. No amount of persuasion can induce those who have once used these great skin purifiers and beautifiers to use any others. CUTICURA SOAP combines delicate emollient properties derived from CUTICURA, the great skin cure, with the purest of cleansing ingredients and the most refreshing of flower odors. No other medicated soap ever compounded is to be compared with it for preserving, purifying, and beautifying the skin, scalp, hair, and hands. No other foreign or domestic toilet soap, however expensive, is to be compared with it for all the purposes of the toilet, bath, and nursery. Thus it combines in ONE SOAP at ONE PRICE, viz., TWENTY-FIVE CENTS, the BEST skin and complexion soap, the BEST toilet and BEST baby soap in the world.

Complete External and Internal Treatment for Every Humor.

Cuticura THE SET, $1.25

Consisting of CUTICURA SOAP (25c.), to cleanse the skin of crusts and scales and soften the thickened cuticle, CUTICURA OINTMENT (50c.), to instantly allay itching, inflammation, and irritation, and soothe and heal, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT (50c.), to cool and cleanse the blood. A SINGLE SET is often sufficient to cure the most torturing, disfiguring, itching, burning, and scaly skin, scalp, and blood humours, with loss of hair, when all else fails. Sold throughout the world.

La Creole Will Restore those Gray Hairs

"La Creole" Hair Restorer is a Perfect Dressing and Restorer. Price $1.00.

THE SABBATH SCH

INTERNATIONAL LESSON COM FOR JANUARY 13.

Subject: The Triumphal Entry, xxi., 1-17—Golden Text: Matt. —Memory Verses, 9-11—Comm on the Day's Lesson.

1. "Drew nigh." This was commonly called Palm Sunday. His disciples left Bethany and toward Jerusalem. "Bethphage." cation of this town is not known; it was between Bethany rusalem. "Sent two disciples." to have been Peter and John. left Bethany Jesus sent three ahead.

2. "The village." Bethphage. find." Here we have a wonderful of Christ a prescience in very mi ters. Taking the different gether, Jesus says, 1. Ye shall with its mother. 2. Both would 3. They would find them as they the village. 4. At a place where met. 5. No man had sat upon When told that the Lord hath them they will let them go. "A er." The other accounts men colt only, and do not refer to its our Lord chose an animal on whi man had sat. "Loose them." mals were tied, and so men's are "tied" by pleasure, or greed, or habit, or the gordian knot of ness.

3. "Straightway he will send." Our Lord did not beg, but borro colt, therefore this should be as the promise of returning him. 11:3 (R. V.), makes this clear straightway He will send him again, marg.) hither.

4. "Might be fulfilled." Was motive of Jesus merely to fulfil a and did He turn out of the way purpose? Rather, let us see that the right thing to do at this time, necessary in order to fulfil His for Him to offer Himself, on this portunity, to the Jews as their

5. "The daughter of Sion." "Behold." Give attention and astonishment and wonder. "Th cometh." Jesus Christ is appoin over the church (Psa. 2:6), ac cepted by the church. "He comes to rule in thee, to rule for the heal over all things to the "Meek." When a king comes great is expected, and great de tions are made. But in this case ferent. Christ appears in His not in His majesty. He is ready for Zion's sake. "And sitting colt." It would appear from that He sat upon both the col mother, but the other accounts plain that He sat on the colt. "lowly" (Zech. 9:9); "it was the of humility over pride and wor deur, of poverty over affluence meekness and gentleness over malice."

6. "Did as Jesus commanded." a blessing it would be if every Jesus commanded them, without to question or suggest a differe

7. "Their clothes." They sp loose outer garments on the co Jesus thereon, thus acknowledg be their King.

8. "A very great multitud crowds were present at the Pa the time of Nero a census was it was ascertained that there w 300 Jews present at this feast. many from Galilee who knew sonally, and great numbers ha trated to Bethany, excited by resurrection of Lazarus. "Garm way." An Oriental mark of h reception of kings on their en cities. "Branches from the tr was a demonstration of their rying palm and other branche blematical of success and victor

9. "Hosanna." Hosanna is into Greek letters of the Heb "Save, we pray." Psa. 118:25 a shout of "Salvation! Salvat used as an expression of praise lelujah." The disciples re praised God with a loud voic 37, 38), and the Pharisees cealed disgust asked Him to re But Jesus replied, "If these their peace the stones would cry out." Jesus here grants a license to rejoice and shout "The son of David." A com sion for the Messiah. "In th In the highest degree, in strains, in the highest heavens.

10. "Was moved." "Was (V.) The word in the origina "convulsed" or "stirred" as quake, or by a violent wind this?" Well may we, as well this question.

11. "This is Jesus." And the Saviour, the Deliverer. "The prophet of Nazareth." referred to by Moses. Deut. we might add, He is the Ch of God, the living Word.

12. "Into the temple." next day, Monday. Mark 11: and His disciples went back on Sunday night. This wa cleansing of the temple; one public acts, three years bef to purge His Father's house. 17. The court of the Gentil braced several acres, had bee a market for the sale of th doves that the foreign Jews fer in sacrifice. "Cast out." instance He used a "secon cords," now His word is suff ex-changers." Pilgrims brou the coinage of their own co Egyptian, Greek, as the co and their money either was Palestine, or, as being stam symbols of heathen worship received into the treasury

13. "It is written." "A den of thieves." The right enough in itself, but verted the use of the Lor evidently were robbing charging extortionate price

14. "He healed them." of all the people He perfor derful cures. He now sh use of the temple.

15. "Were sore displea ers saw that they were His growing popularity. dren had taken up the singing His praises; the after Him. John 12:19.

16. "Hearest Thou wh They were anxious to hav them, but, instead, Jesus Ps. 8:2 to show that even mony with the Scriptures.

17. "To Bethany." to Bethany to lodge.

Movable schools is and a good one. It oft the demand for room supply, or that tempora needed while building After trying temporary destroying them when has been adopted houses of three or fo tions, which are put down at small cost.

ures Asthma

Do you know what it is to the asthma? Or have ever seen one suffer with The hard struggle for air, spasmodic breathing, the ts spent in the chair, all a story of terrible suffering.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

nly cures asthma; also nchitis, hoarseness, weak s, whooping-cough, croup, er coughs, night coughs, hard colds.

Three sizes: 25c., 50c., $1.00.

r druggist cannot supply you, send us one and we will express a large bottle to you, rges prepaid. Be sure and give us your t express office. Address, J. C. AYER CO., Mass.

Electrical Cooking in Utica.

roup of apartment houses in Uti- Y. is provided throughout with cal cooking utensils, consisting ree round platters, or "stoves," en and a broiler. When not d they can be stowed away, leav- o outward trace of the use to the room is put. The air is not d and the apartment is kept cooler. The same apartments rovided with electric curling heaters, which are much appre-

Cronje and the Fish.

ondon servant girl was sent on y of Cronje's surrender to the ish monger's for fresh herrings. own rang with the news, but Jane minded her business, and nly. "They've got Cronje," re- d the fish monger, as he wrapped "five for threepence." Home e maiden, and laid her purchase her mistress. "Here they are, " she exclaimed; "but I don't how they'll do. The fish monger ey'd got cronje!"

HE CHANGE OF LIFE

most important period in a wo- existence. Owing to modern s of living, not one woman in sand approaches this perfectly l change without experiencing of very annoying and some- ainful symptoms.

e dreadful hot flashes, sending ot surging to the heart until it ready to burst, and the faint that follows, sometimes with as if the heart were going to r good, are symptoms of a dan- nervous trouble. Those hot are just so many calls from for help. The nerves are cry-for assistance. The cry should led in time. Lydia E. Pink- vegetable Compound was pre- o meet the needs of woman's at this trying period of her life. lds up the weakened nervous and enables a woman to pass nd change triumphantly.

MRS. JENNIE NOBLE.

as a very sick woman, caused ge of Life. I suffered with hot and fainting spells. I was to go on the street, my head k troubled me so. I was ured by Lydia E. Pinkham's ble Compound." MRS. JENNIE 5010 Keyser St., Germantown, Atty. N. C. No. 2 1901.

ERTAIN COUGH CHILL CORN CURE. 25 50 $1.00

DON'T RUIN YOUR STOMACH WITH MEDICINE.

Hunyadi János

IS A NATURAL LAXATIVE MINERAL WATER.

Endorsed and used by the most prominent physicians in the world as the best and safest remedy for disordered stomach, biliousness, liver troubles, gout and rheumatism.

It Cures Constipation!

Take one-half glassful on arising in the morning and you will feel the remarkable effects in half an hour.

ASK For the full name "Hunyadi János." | LOOK at the label. Blue with Red Centre Panel.

Sole Exporter, Firm of Andreas Saxlehner, 130 Fulton St., N.Y.

Chrysanthemums.

From the flowery land of Japan there is a wrinkle to be learned about the keeping of their national flower. The chrysanthemum is with us in profusion now, and will be during the next three months. So let us take the advice of our little Jap friends as to the keeping of the cut flowers. Light a piece of wood (not a match, because of the sulphur in it), and with it burn the stalks. Flowers thus treated will last fresh for several weeks—no small consideration when the beautiful blossoms are dear.

Best For the Bowels.

No matter what ails you, headache to a cancer, you will never get well until your bowels are put right. CASCARETS help nature, cure you without a gripe or pain, produce easy natural movements, cost you just 10 cents to start getting your health back. CASCARETS Candy Cathartic, the genuine, put up in metal boxes, every tablet has C. C. C. stamped on it. Beware of imitations.

Grace—"I thought you were never going walking with that Snaggs?" Nell—"I wasn't; but I've got a beautiful new cloak, and I just had to go walking."

STATE OF OHIO, CITY OF TOLEDO, } ss.
LUCAS COUNTY.

FRANK J. CHENEY makes oath that he is the senior partner of the firm of F. J. CHENEY & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of CATARRH that cannot be cured by the use of HALL'S CATARRH CURE.

FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.

SEAL } A. W. GLEASON, Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials, free.

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

She—"Just imagine! Suppose you were so immensely wealthy that you couldn't possibly spend your income. What would you do?" He—"Marry you."

A new electric motor for automobiles has been devised which restores energy to the storage battery when the vehicle is running down hill.

To Cure a Cold in One Day

Take LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE TABLETS. All druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c.

In a ton of Dead Sea water there are 187 pounds of salt; Red Sea, 93; Mediterranean, 85; Atlantic, 81; English Channel, 72; Black Sea, 26; Baltic, 18, and Caspian Sea, 11.

Millions Use Carter's Ink

which is sure proof of its excellent quality. Is made chemically accurate. Therefore the best.

The American Federation of Labor declines to tackle the servant girl question, thereby showing a proper appreciation of its own strength. No single organization can handle the subject.

We refund 10c for every package of PUTNAM FADELESS DYE that fails to give satisfaction. Monroe Drug Co., Unionville, Mo. Sold by all druggists.

Mrs. Jones—Oh, doctor, is my husband still irrational?

Dr. Dosem—Extremely so. When I told him your mother was coming to-morrow he smiled.

The Best Prescription for Chills

and Fever is a bottle of GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC. It is simply iron and quinine in a tasteless form. No cure—no pay. Price 50c.

Every mother believes her baby is so nice that lots of wicked people are waiting for an opportunity to steal it.

One of the tasks of Chinese children beginning their education is that of learning the A B C at three years old.

Happiness cannot be bought, but one of the great hindrances to its attainment can be removed by Adams' Pepsin Tutti Frutti.

A man under forty is at a disadvantage in that he cannot excuse his attentions to young women on the ground that they are "fatherly."

Piso's Cure cannot be too highly spoken of as a cough cure.—J. W. O'BRIEN, 322 Third Ave., N., Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 6, 1900.

Somebody has asked whether a duel has ever been fought in the air. One of the most curious of duels, says Tit-Bits, was the balloon duel in France, which was fought in 1808. The combatants were M. de Grandpre and M. le Pique, who had quarreled—about a lady, of course. This lady was one Mlle. Tirevit, an actress at the Imperial Opera. On the appointed day M. de Grandpre entered the car of one balloon, with his second, and M. le Pique, with his second, mounted the other in the Garden of the Tuileries, before an immense crowd of admiring spectators. When all was ready the ropes were cut, and the balloons shot upward for a distance of about half a mile above the earth. The wind being light, they were able to keep the distance of about eighty yards between each other with which they started. On reaching the agreed altitude the signal was given to fire, M. le Pique missed, but M. de Grandpre's ball went through the silk of the other balloon, which immediately collapsed. The car descended with frightful velocity, and both M. le Pique and his second were dashed to pieces. The balloon of the victor continued to ascend, and M. de Grandpre came back to earth some leagues from Paris.

Insomnia Wrecks the Nerves.

Dr. Greene's NERVURA Makes Health.

INSOMNIA is a forerunner of nervous prostration; what organism is strong enough to stand up under the strain of sleepless nights? It is plain that nothing in the world can possibly take the place of restful sleep, yet many try to eke out an existence without this sustaining power. Their nerves are in such a state of tension that sleep is an impossibility, or at best is a series of hideous dreams. It is not strange that physical and mental weakness, amounting soon to complete prostration, follows inability to sleep. There is no let-up to the strain. Vital forces are drawn upon, confirmed invalidism results.

The recuperative power of natural sleep is wonderful. Complete physical and mental exhaustion gives place, after a few hours of quiet slumber, to a full renewal of energy. The fatigue of body and mind disappears entirely while all the muscles are strong and the nerves absolutely calm.

Sleep is the indication given by Nature as a guide to human plans to restore health. It shows that there are inherent in the wonderful human organism powers of recuperation which must have opportunity to assert themselves. Based on this clear demonstration, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy was constructed by Dr. Greene to help Nature combat the ills that attack men and women. What no amount of powerful drugs could possibly accomplish, can be successfully and promptly effected by healthy blood and nerves, the kind of blood which flows in strengthening flood to every portion of the body, the condition of nerves which permits awakened Nature to seize its opportunity to restore to perfect health.

Mrs. FLORENCE TAYLOR, of 4 Courtland Place, Bridgeport, Conn., writes:

"For four years I was troubled with nervous debility and hysteria in a most aggravated form. It caused sleeplessness and mental depression, and for months I was confined to my bed. My constitution wasted and I totally lost my appetite. I had many doctors, but they failed to give me any relief. I was advised to try Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. I was in a terrible condition when I began its use, and almost immediately there was a wonderful change came over me. I regained my appetite, the dizziness in my head departed; it renewed my interest in life and made me feel, in fact, like another person. After taking six bottles I thankfully proclaimed myself strong and well. Those six bottles did for me what hundreds of dollars and numerous physicians failed to do."

Dr. Greene's Nervura is the Remedy that Cures.

Full explanation of these matters given by Dr. Greene on request, without charge. Dr. Greene's address is 35 West 14th Street, New York City. Consultation with him either by call or letter is absolutely free.

Dr. Greene's NERVURA FOR THE BLOOD AND NERVES.

WINCHESTER

FACTORY LOADED SHOTGUN SHELLS

"New Rival," "Leader," and "Repeater."

Insist upon having them, take no others and you will get the best shells that money can buy.

ALL DEALERS KEEP THEM.

To produce the best results in fruit, vegetable or grain, the fertilizer used must contain enough Potash. For particulars see our pamphlets. We send them free.

GERMAN KALI WORKS,
93 Nassau St., New York.

DROPSY NEW DISCOVERY; gives quick relief and cures worst cases. Book of testimonials and 10 days' treatment Free. Dr. H. H. GREEN'S SONS, Box B Atlanta, Ga.

Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup

Cures a cough or cold at once. Conquers croup, bronchitis, grippe and consumption. 25c.

Ball-Bearing Watch.

One of the most ingenious devices at the Paris fair is to be seen in the Swiss watch factory exhibit and consists of a ball-bearing pocket timepiece. The principle has already been applied to the driving wheel of the clockmaker's throw and also for the winding arbor of clocks. Its application to a watch, however, with satisfactory results requires exceedingly fine mechanism and minute balls. The watch was made by Leon Gruet, a foreman of a Parisian watch concern. In it the arbors roll on steel balls of two sizes. It is spoken of by competent authorities as one of the most interesting horological exhibits.

We can always depend on having friends in need—their need.

"SALZER'S SEEDS WILL MAKE YOU RICH"

This is a daring statement, but Salzer's seeds bear it out every time.

Combination Corn. Greatest corn on earth. Will positively revolutionize corn growing.

Billion Dollar Grass. Greatest marvel of the age. 15 tons of hay per acre. First crop six weeks after sowing.

What Is It? Catalogue tells.

FOR 10c. STAMPS and this NOTICE we mail big seed catalog, 10 Grain Samples including above, also Spelta (60 lbs. per A.) Oats, (350 bushel per A.) Rape, Barley, (172 lbs. per A.) Peanut, etc. Worth $10, to get a start.

John A. Salzer Seed Co. La Crosse, Wis.

FREE ELECTRIC BELT OFFER

WITH TEN DAYS' FREE WEARING TRIAL in your own home, we furnish the genuine and only HEIDELBERG ALTERNATING CURRENT ELECTRIC BELTS to any reader of this paper. No money in advance; very low cost; positive guarantee. COSTS ALMOST NOTHING compared with most all other treatments. Cures when all other electric belts, appliances and remedies fail. QUICK CURE for more than 30 ailments. ONLY SURE CURE for all nervous diseases, weaknesses and disorders. For complete sealed confidential catalogue, cut this advert and mail to us.

SEARS, ROEBUCK & CO., Chicago.

TWO TRAVELLING SALESMEN wanted for 1901 in each of the following States: Ala., Miss., La., Ga. & Tenn. Experience not necessary, but must be hustlers.

Steady employment with good chances of promotion.

Address, with references &c.,

THE MOROTOCK TOBACCO WORKS, DANVILLE, VA.

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. 25 CTS. CONSUMPTION

Doctors Recommend Individual Beds.

Physicians declare one-half the diseases flesh is heir to are contracted by sleeping two in a bed. It is only too true. There is a poison constantly arising from each body, which the other inhales. Two single beds, placed side by side, will do away with much of the bad effect, and yet one need not feel that they are really alone.

Experiments made by German physicians have shown that about 25 per cent of all school children have some defect in their hearing.

La Creole Will Restore those Gray Hairs

"La Creole" Hair Restorer is a Perfect Dressing and Restorer. Price $1.00.

SKIN TORTURES

And every Distressing Irritation of the Skin and Scalp Instantly Relieved by a Bath with

Cuticura SOAP

And a single anointing with CUTICURA, the great skin cure and purest of emollients. This treatment, when followed in severe cases by mild doses of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, to cool and cleanse the blood, is the most speedy, permanent, and economical cure for torturing, disfiguring, itching, burning, bleeding, scaly, crusted, and pimply skin and scalp humors with loss of hair ever compounded.

Millions of Women

USE CUTICURA SOAP, assisted by Cuticura Ointment, for preserving, purifying, and beautifying the skin, for cleansing the scalp of crusts, scales, and dandruff, and the stopping of falling hair, for softening, whitening, and soothing red, rough, and sore hands, for baby rashes, itchings, and chafings, in the form of baths for annoying irritations and inflammations, or too free or offensive perspiration, in the form of washes for ulcerative weaknesses, and many sanative antiseptic purposes which readily suggest themselves to women and mothers, and for all the purposes of the toilet, bath, and nursery. No amount of persuasion can induce those who have once used these great skin purifiers and beautifiers to use any others. CUTICURA SOAP combines delicate emollient properties derived from CUTICURA, the great skin cure, with the purest of cleansing ingredients and the most refreshing of flower odors. No other medicated soap ever compounded is to be compared with it for preserving, purifying, and beautifying the skin, scalp, hair, and hands. No other foreign or domestic toilet soap, however expensive, is to be compared with it for all the purposes of the toilet, bath, and nursery. Thus it combines in ONE SOAP at ONE PRICE, viz., TWENTY-FIVE CENTS, the BEST skin and complexion soap, the BEST toilet and BEST baby soap in the world.

Complete External and Internal Treatment for Every Humor, Consisting of CUTICURA SOAP (25c.), to cleanse the skin of crusts and scales and soften the thickened cuticle, CUTICURA OINTMENT (50c.), to instantly relieve itching, inflammation, and irritation, and restore health, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT (50c.), to cool and cleanse the blood. A SINGLE SET is often sufficient to cure the most torturing, disfiguring, itching, burning, and scaly skin, scalp, and blood humors, with loss of hair, when all else fails. Sold throughout the world.

Cuticura THE SET, $1.25

THE BANNER

OUR CLUBBING RATES

For $1.50 we will send you THE BANNER and either of the following papers for one year:

Atlanta Constitution	$1.50
New York World (3 papers every week)	$1.50
Cosmopolitan (America's Leading magazine)	$1.50
Silver Knight National Watchman	$1.50
Birmingham Age-Herald	$1.25
Home and Farm	$1.10

Job Printing cheap at THE BANNER office

AT REDUCED PRICES

CLANTON DRUG STORE.

Dr J S JOHNSON, Jr., Proprietor.

DEALER IN

DRUGS. : MEDICINES : PATENT : MEDICINES, TOILET ARTICLES, PAINTS.

PRESCRIPTIONS CAREFULLY PREPARED DAY & NIGHT

CLANTON, ALABAMA.

Everything New.

NEW STOREHOUSE

BRAND NEW STOCK

We positively will carry none of our old stock into our new building, and for the next Thirty Days we are offering

BARGAINS IN EVERYTHING

now in our old storehouse. We are determined to clear out the last piece of old stock. Come and see us.

WILSON & BRO.

CLANTON.

W. I. MULLINS

—DEALER IN—

GENERAL MERCHANDISE, PLANTATION SUPPLIES AND COUNTRY PRODUCE.

Dry Goods, Clothing, Hats, Boots and Shoes.

FURNITURE AND COFFINS

N. B. A full line of Burial Clothes and all necessary Undertakers' Goods constantly kept in stock.

CLANTON, : : : : : ALA.

Subscribe for The Banner. $1.00 a year.

Two Publishers on to the Goat.

"You may go into the goat business and educate the people of the bubble west to eat goat meat," said Wiley G. Cox yesterday, "but you will not learn from books what my father learned from experience," and then Mr. Cox gave away a trick of the trade.

"The man who goes in for Angoras will find that it is true they will jump anything under 300 feet high and climb a sapling. They will get at the neighbor's wash as sure as it goes on the line, and there will be lingerie to pay for. But if you would be on the safe side and keep the billy there turn him up and cut away the little creeper that you will find at the bottom of the hoof. It will not hurt him to lose it, but it ruins his ambition as a mountebank. It will save lots of trouble to have a chiropodist get at the Angora with a nail trimmer."

Goat meat cannot be distinguished from mutton ordinarily. In every car of sheep that comes from New Mexico there are sure to be from two to a dozen goats in the lot. They all go to the same block at the packers, and the good wife who takes home goat's chops for lamb chops is never the wiser. Nor is the butcher. A goat is only a goat when he has his pelt on. After that he is a sheep.—Kansas City Journal.

An Expert.

"Blowhard is always boasting of his driving abilities."

"It comes natural to him. He has been handling the ribbons behind the counter at Grumpsicker's for six years or more."—Rider and Driver.

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &c.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents.

Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York

Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

He Believed the Sign.

It was a newly opened furnishing store, and one window was roughly with neckties and cravats of the brilliancy. Confidently they displayed in gilt letters, "Any article 50c from the window." To where the man walked in and requested to see "bright pink and green plaid with each blue in the front row" the salesman disarranged the front after some considerable trouble brought out the desired object.

"Rather loud, isn't it?" remarked Smithson.

The affable salesman was in a photo record. "Certainly it is very

"I thought so. You needn't put it back."

"Very well, sir," and the man began to wrap up the thing of beauty in a bed of tissue paper. "Anything else today, sir?"

"Oh, I don't want it," said Smith. "Salesman know you advertise, but there taken from the window. When this hideous thing offends my every taste I thought I'd ask you to remove it, that's all. Good day."

Then that salesman philosophically and with much fervor.

ECZEMA, ITCHING HUMORS, PIMPLES CURED BY B. B.

Battle Rose to Sufferers

Does your Skin Itch and Burn? Distressing Eruptions on face, neck, even feel ashamed to be seen in company? Do scabs and scales fall from the skin, Hair or Scalp? Have Eczema? Skin Sore and Crusty? Rash form on the skin? Pimples? Pain in the skin? Boils? Pain in Bone Joints? Swollen Joints? Aching Limbs? All Run Down? Pale? Old Sores? Eating Ulcers? To cure in shortest time B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm) makes the foul pure and rich. B. B. B. will cause the sores to heal, nothing of eczema to stop from the skin to run one clean and sweet. B. B. B. is just the medicine you have been looking for. Long tested for thirty years. Doctors are advised to try B. B. B. For sale by druggists at $1 per large bottle; six large bottles for $5 (enough to cure most cases). Be sure to ask for Botanic Blood Balm. Complete directions with each bottle. Sufferers may test it at a trial given away. Write for free advice. Address BLOOD BALM CO., Atlanta, Ga. Describe your trouble. Free medical advice.

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS is the one important magazine in the world giving in its pictures, its text, in its contributed articles, editorials and departments, a comprehensive, timely record of the world's current history. Not the enumeration of mere bare facts, but a comprehensive picture of the month, its activities, its notable personalities, and notable utterances. The best informed men and women in the world find it indispensable.

There are many readers in your locality who have yet to learn of its usefulness. We wish to establish active agents in every city and township in the country. We will pay liberally for energetic effort in the subscription field. Leisure moments can be utilized with substantial increase of income. Make a list of the persons in your locality who should have the "Review of Reviews," and send to us for agent's terms, sample copies, and working outfit. Then solicit their subscriptions. It is a compliment to approach a person with a subscription proposition for the "Review of Reviews," and consequently orders are easily secured. This is the active subscription season. Make application at once, sending your references.

Price, 25 cents a number. $2.50 a year.

THE REVIEW OF REVIEWS COMPANY,

13 Astor Place, New York City.

They banish pain ONE GIVES RELIEF.

R·I·P·A·N·S

No matter what the matter is, one will do you good, and you can get ten for five cents.

CHEAPEST MAGAZINE IN THE WORLD.

ONE DOLLAR PER YEAR

Author of "Little Lord Fauntleroy."

* * * I am reading THE NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW weekly with the greatest pleasure. It is a working person with live time to live in Massachusetts the large library outside of the city requires, in carrying the proper items of a book. THE LONDON SATURDAY REVIEW and THE NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW really form my chief journalistic educators. FRANCES HODGSON BURNETT.

The New York Times Saturday Review, $1 per annum. Send your name for free sample copy.

Author of "The Man with the Hoe."

* * * I often say to my literary friends that if I could subscribe for only two literary weeklies THE NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW would be one of them. It should be a delight and a profit to every book lover, be he an author, a publisher, a seller, or a buyer. EDWIN MARKHAM.

The New York Times Saturday Review, $1 per annum. Send your name for free sample copy.

Editor of The Ladies' Home Journal.

* * * Nothing so full and so satisfactory in the way of a literary paper has ever been so successfully carried out in this country as THE SATURDAY REVIEW of THE NEW YORK TIMES. It is now indispensable to me, as a paper which a person interested in books or literary matters must have if he would keep advised. EDWARD BOK.

The New York Times Saturday Review, $1 per annum. Send your name for free sample copy.

From Miss Helen Gould.

* * * While I am glad to write a line or two in appreciation of THE NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW, I feel that the periodical hardly needs such commendation, as its work speaks for itself. HELEN MILLER GOULD.

The New York Times Saturday Review, $1 per annum. Send your name for free sample copy.

Princeton's Professor of English.

* * * It gives me pleasure to state that your NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW is filling a long-felt need in modern American literary criticism. T. H. W. HUNT.

The New York Times Saturday Review, $1 per annum. Send your name for free sample copy.

Author of "Literary Landmarks."

* * * I am so dependent upon THE NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW that I have it sent to me wherever I may be, on either side of the Atlantic. It seems to tell me everything I want to know about current books and their makers, and when and in the way I want to know it. LAURENCE HUTTON.

The New York Times Saturday Review, $1 per annum. Send your name for free sample copy.

Prominent Author and Editor.

* * * Here in Bermuda where I am running the Winter, I miss many things to which I have been accustomed "in the States," but I do not miss THE NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW. Why not? Because I have provided myself with that weekly publication, without which, as a writer and a lover of books, I should indeed be a castaway on a distant isle of the sea. NOAH BROOKS.

The New York Times Saturday Review, $1 per annum. Send your name for free sample copy.

Professor of English at Chicago.

* * * THE NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW has become quite indispensable to me in my professorship. Its selections are wonderfully based and altogether what one desired in the way of a succinct chronicle of events. HIRAM CORSON.

The New York Times Saturday Review, $1 per annum. Send your name for free sample copy.

Author of "The Choir Invisible."

* * * THE NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW has created for itself a peculiar and controlling place. The serious reader receives it or overlooks it to his own loss. Admirably planned and ably edited it is at once a guide and an inspiration. JAMES LANE ALLEN.

The New York Times Saturday Review, $1 per annum. Send your name for free sample copy.

Forty Years Librarian, Astor Library.

* * * THE NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW seems to have won a conspicuous place. This fact cannot be too widely made known to all who avail book students with current affairs. We need it, indeed, with congested the paper expectancy of an Argus of goodly girth. FREDERICK SANDERS.

The New York Times Saturday Review, $1 per annum. Send your name for free sample copy.

Author of "Wake Robin."

* * * I look upon THE NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW as the most important editorial undertaking in a daily newspaper in many years. It gives literature and art their due prominence, and recognizes them as great factors in a people's life. JOHN BURROUGHS.

The New York Times Saturday Review, $1 per annum. Send your name for free sample copy.

Author of "My Study Fire."

* * * I think you have achieved a distinct success on high lines. I am constantly hearing about THE NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW from the best sources. HAMILTON W. MABIE.

The New York Times Saturday Review, $1 per annum. Send your name for free sample copy.

An Eminent Woman Poet.

* * * THE NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW is a weekly pleasure. For it keeps me so fully advised of all that is going on in the world of letters. I admire your fairness and your hospitality. LOUISE CHANDLER MOULTON.

The New York Times Saturday Review, $1 per annum. Send your name for free sample copy.

Author of "When Knighthood Was in Flower."

* * * Permit me to say that, in my opinion, THE NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW is doing more for literature and art than any publication of which I know. Furthermore, I believe that your usefulness is just beginning. Especially is this true in the West, where people interested in such matters are only just beginning to find your paper. CHARLES MAJOR.

The New York Times Saturday Review, $1 per annum. Send your name for free sample copy.

Editor of Harper's Weekly.

* * * I consider THE NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW worthy of the highest commendation. In the first place I look for in my copy of THE SATURDAY TIMES, and it very rarily happens that I do not read it through from beginning to end. It is not only interesting to me as a writer of books and as an editor of a weekly publication, but I have found it of extreme value in the pursuit of my duties as a Trustee of the Bordentown Public Library. JOHN HENDRICK BARNS.

The New York Times Saturday Review, $1 per annum. Send your name for free sample copy.

Author of "The Lady or the Tiger?"

* * * THE NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW is to me very much like a literary club, where I hear news about books and the people who write them. If a man has a literary friend or acquaintance, let him read THE NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW, if he has money, let him read it all the same, so that he may be able to talk with profit to himself and them. FRANK R. STOCKTON.

The New York Times Saturday Review, $1 per annum. Send your name for free sample copy.

An Author and a Publisher.

* * * As far as I am in a position to judge, the information that has been presented to the reading public from week to week in THE NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW concerning the literature of the day has been more comprehensive, better proportioned, and more trustworthy than has ever before been attempted by any newspaper on either side of the Atlantic. GEORGE HAVEN PUTNAM.

The New York Times Saturday Review, $1 per annum. Send your name for free sample copy.

Professor of English at Dartmouth.

* * * I am a frequent reader of that varied and interesting miscellany, THE NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW, and am very likely, as is the case of its best issues, to cut and mark half a dozen things in it for use in my classroom or elsewhere. CHARLES F. RICHARDSON.

The New York Times Saturday Review, $1 per annum. Send your name for free sample copy.

Professor American History, Cornell.

* * * I have come to depend on THE NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW for my weekly supply of information as to the world's doings in the sphere of books in our own tongue. Its reports on that matter having, as I think I find, the primary virtues of fullness, accuracy, and fairness. MORSE COXT TYLER.

The New York Times Saturday Review, $1 per annum. Send your name for free sample copy.

Author of "Little Rivers."

* * * THE NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW is conducted along the lines of a gentle criticism. It distinguishes clearly between a review and an advertisement. It has already achieved success; I hope it will win an ever-widening success. HENRY VAN DYKE.

The New York Times Saturday Review, $1 per annum. Send your name for free sample copy.

Author of "Richard Carvel."

* * * A reliable literary mentor is an absolute necessity, and therefore I look forward weekly with expectancy to THE NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW. Its common sense is gratifying to all lovers of literature. WINSTON CHURCHILL.

The New York Times Saturday Review, $1 per annum. Send your name for free sample copy.

THE NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW.

$200 REWARD.

The above reward will be paid to any person or persons for the arrest and conviction of the party who broke into the Court House and blew open the county safe at Clanton, Ala., on Sunday Nov. 25, 1900.

S. M. ADAMS,
Judge of Probate.

Clanton, Ala.

OVERSEERS AND APPORTIONERS.

Out of the fact that the Commissioners Court in November, 1900, the old blank in the Apportioners, which years instead of four, their terms have misled many of Apportioners. I wish to call to Road Apportioners and that their term is four instead of two.

At any time any of the Apportioners will send me their commissions I make the correction and them read four years instead

S. M. ADAMS,
Judge of Probate.

Jasmine.

Some of the young people of attended preaching at Sunday. Rev. W. B. delivered the sermon.

Was the doll party? Always. I am glad to hear of our girls won the prize. Enjoyable at residence of Mr. Chandler we are glad to hear nice indeed.

L. P. Mills is improving after a serious attack of la-

G. Probst has returned after spending the holidays sister in Birmingham.

Ethel Johnson is back to again after giving her home visit.

S. Catts, of Verbena, was community delivering pictures Saturday, of which several. Our literary school good. SUNSHINE.

FIRE

Clanton, Jan. 15, 1900

Sunday evening last, fire destroyed a barn on J. W. Cox's about 1½ miles east of Clanton. building was full of cotton and fodder, nothing saved. fire unknown. Mr. Cox his loss at $100.00.

Insurance. This is the usual cases of this kind. No insurance. It is criminal carelessness for a man to neglect such ordinary precaution as to provide against need. He must do this times are pleasant, not wait storm is upon him. There than one way of "putting rainy day." It is right and for neighbors to "help one but if a man will not bind to help his neighbor, in need, how can he expect himself if misfortune should him? Organization is an way of giving assistance of mishap, it takes from all, proportion that they are likely receive, and renders aid to sufferer in a form that he can to the best advantage. In loss by Fire, Lightning or this Organization is called Farmer's Mutual Insurance tion" (see advertisement in per). Take heed and trim lamps while it is yet day. Mr. cured his remaining property week. W. C. E.

THE DIXIE HOME.

ONLY AGRICULTURAL AND HOME PAPER PUBLISHED IN ALABAMA

A live and up-to-date Farm, Home Journal, with a department Farm, Dairy, Horticulture, Stock, Poultry Department, and general news. The only agricultural Journal published in Alabama. It gives all the news of Industrial Development of the South. Every family should take it. Subscription price $.50 per year.

In order to introduce the Journal to new readers, we will send to new subscribers one year for 50c. Sample copies free.

Best advertising medium in the South.

Dixie Home Publishing Co.
Birmingham, Ala.

SPECIAL LOW RATES

via UNION PACIFIC ROAD every Tuesday to Colorado, Utah, Montana, Idaho, Oregon, Washington. For particulars address J. F. Agler, General Agent, St. Louis.

THE BEST WAY TO THE SOUTH AND SOUTHWEST, NORTH AND NORTHWEST IS VIA THE

L. & N.

LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE

The Through Car Line

On this line pass Cars daily, through Montgomery, Mobile and New Orleans.

Connecting with all points

TEXAS AND THE WEST

Also running through to Nashville, Louisville, Cincinnati and St. Louis.

Connecting for all points in

NORTH AND NORTHWEST

Before purchasing tickets to any point write the Agent of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad at Clanton, or C. P. Ammon, G. P. A., Louisville, Ky.

Eminent Chicago Woman Speaks.

Mrs. Roxa Tyler, of Chicago, President Illinois Woman's Club, in speaking of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, says: "I suffered with a severe cold this winter which threatened to run into pneumonia. I tried different remedies but I seemed to grow worse. A medicine upset my stomach. A friend advised me to try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and I was pleased to take and it relieved me at once. I am now entirely recovered, saved a doctor's bill, time and suffering, and I never be without this splendid medicine again." For sale by Drug Co. and D. I. Durham, Druggists.

The Banner is the leading paper of Clanton county and has the largest circulation. Advertisers should take notice of this fact.

Subscribe for the Banner.

See Dr. Miles' Nervine Plasters for WEAKNESS. All druggists sell them.

Unfortunate indeed is he who loses his paper and never finds it again.

Judge of Probate

THE BANNER.

LET THE PEOPLE RULE.

IX CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY JANUARY 17, 1901 NO. 13

He Believed the Sign.

It was a newly opened furni[illegible] store, and one window was replen[illegible] with neckties and cravats of glo[illegible] brilliancy. Confidently they anno[illegible] in gilt letters, "Any article [illegible] from the window." So when [illegible] in and requested to see [illegible] bright pink and green shirt with [illegible] blue in the front row" the p[illegible] salesman disarranged the front [illegible] after some considerable trouble brought the desired object.

"Rather loud, isn't it?" remarked the gentleman.

The affable salesman was in [illegible] quiet accent. "Certainly it is striking."

"I thought so. You needn't put it back."

"Very well, sir," and the man [illegible] to wrap up the thing of beauty [illegible] pride of finest paper. "Anything else, sir?"

"Oh, I don't want it," said Smith. "Only you know you advertise, 'Any article taken from the window,' and this hideous thing offends my aesthetic taste. I thought I'd ask you to remove it, that's all. Good day."

Then that salesman philosophized affably and with much fervor.

ECZEMA, ITCHING HUMOR, PIMPLES CURED BY B. B. B.

Bottle Free to Sufferers.

Does your Skin Itch and Burn? Do you feel ashamed to be seen in company? Do scabs and scales form on the skin, Hair or Scalp? Have Eczema? Skin Sore and Cracked from the skin? Pimples? Pain in the Skin? Boils? Pain Joints? Swollen Joints? Sore Throat? All Run Down? Old Sores? Eating Ulcers? Do cure to stay cured? B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm) makes the blood pure and rich. B. B. B. will cause the sores to heal, nothing else will stop the itch in two minutes and B. B. B. is just the Medicine you have been looking for. B. B. B. is a tonic tested for twenty years. Doctors are advised to try B. B. B. For sale by druggists at $1 per large bottle; six large bottles for $5 (enough to cure most cases). To prove that Blood Balm Cures Blood Poisoning we send free direct to sufferers a trial bottle free. Write for free BLOOD BALM CO., Atlanta, Ga. Describe your trouble and receive medical advice free.

THE DIXIE HOME.

ONLY AGRICULTURAL AND HOME PAPER PUBLISHED IN ALABAMA.

A live and up to date Farm Home Journal, with a good Farm, Dairy, Horticulture, Stock, Poultry Department, and general news. The only Agricultural Journal published in Alabama. It gives all the news of Industrial Development of the South. Every family should read it. Subscription price $.50 per year. In order to introduce the Journal to new readers, we will send to new subscribers one year for 50c. Sample copies free.

Best advertising medium in the South.

Dixie Home Publishing Company, Birmingham, Ala.

SPECIAL LOW RATES via UNION PACIFIC ROAD every Tuesday to Colorado, Utah, Montana, Idaho, Oregon, Washington. For particulars address J. F. Agler, General Agent, St. Louis.

THE BEST WAY TO THE SOUTH AND SOUTHWEST, NORTH AND SOUTH-WEST IS VIA THE

L. & N.

LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE

The Through Cars

On this line pass Cars daily, through Montgomery, Mobile and New Orleans,

Connecting with all points

TEXAS AND THE WEST

Trains running through to Nashville, Evansville, Louisville, Cincinnati and St. Louis, Connecting for all points in

NORTH AND NORTH-WEST

Before purchasing tickets to any point write the Agent of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad at Clanton, Ala. C. P. Ammen, G. P. A., Louisville, Ky.

The Banner is the leading paper of Chilton county and has the largest circulation. Advertisers should take notice of this fact.

Subscribe for the Banner.

Use Dr. Miles' Nerve Plasters for WEAKNESS. All druggists sell them.

$200 REWARD.

The above reward will be paid to any person or persons for the arrest and conviction of the parties who broke into the Court House and blew open the county safe at Clanton, Ala., on Sunday night, Nov. 25, 1900.

S. M. ADAMS,
Judge of Probate.

Clanton, Ala.

TO OVERSEERS AND APPORTIONERS.

On account of the fact that the Commissioners Court in November, placed the old blank in application of the Apportioners, which says 2 years instead of four, their actions have misled many of the apportioners. I wish to call attention to Road Apportioners and Overseers that their term is four years instead of two.

At any time any of the Apportioners will send me their commissions I will make the correction and send them read four years instead of two.

S. M. ADAMS,
Judge of Probate.

Jasmine.

Quite a number of the young people of this place attended preaching at Mt. Hebrey Sunday. Rev. W. B. Mitchell delivered the sermon.

What was the doll party? All we guess. I am glad to hear that one of our girls won the prize.

Mr. Sociable at residence of Mr. Jno. Chandler we are glad to hear was nice indeed.

L. P. Mills is improving slowly after a serious attack of la-grippe.

J. G. Probst has returned home after spending the holidays with his sister in Birmingham.

Miss Ethel Johnson is back to school again after giving her home a visit.

J. S. Catts, of Verbena, was in our community delivering entertainment pictures Saturday, of which we hear several. Our literary school is good. SUNSHINE.

FIRE

Clanton, Jan. 15, 1900

Last Sunday evening last, fire destroyed a barn on J. W. Cox's place about 1½ miles east of Clanton. The building was full of cotton seed and fodder, nothing saved. Cause of fire unknown. Mr. Cox estimates his loss at $100.00.

No insurance. This is the usual case in cases of this kind. No insurance! It is criminal carelessness for a man to neglect such an ordinary precaution as to provide against possible need. He must do this when times are pleasant, not wait until the storm is upon him. There is more than one way of "putting up for a rainy day." It is right and proper for neighbors to "help one another" but it is a man will not bind himself to help his neighbor in the hour of need, how can he expect himself if misfortune should overtake him? Organization is an easy way of giving assistance in misfortune, it takes from all, a proportion that they are likely to receive, and renders aid to the sufferer in a form that he can use to the best advantage. In case of loss by Fire, Lightning or Tornado, this Organization is called "Farmer's Mutual Insurance Association" (see advertisement in this paper). Take heed and trim your lamps while it is yet day. Mr. Cox insured his remaining property last week. W. C. E.

Eminent Chicago Woman Speaks.

Mrs. Rosa Tyler, of Chicago, ex-President Illinois Woman's Club, in speaking of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, says: "I suffered with a severe cold this winter which threatened to run into pneumonia. I tried different remedies but I seemed to grow worse instead. The medicine upset my stomach. A friend advised me to try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and I found it was pleasant to take and relieved me at once. I am now entirely recovered, saved a doctor bill, time and suffering, and I never be without this splendid medicine again." For sale by Clanton Drug Co. and D. I. Deramus, Verbena.

U

Fortunate indeed is he who loses his temper and never finds it again.

CORRESPONDENCE.

[We are willing to publish our subscribers views at any time, but it must be distinctly understood we do not hold ourselves responsible for these opinions.—EDITOR.]

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY

Take Laxative Bromo-Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. E. W. Grove's signature is on each box. 25c.

Clanton, Jan. 6, 1901

Editor Banner.—I see quite a litigation has sprung up over the contemplated stock law for Chilton county, and I beg your kind indulgence for a few remarks on the subject. First, I would ask who would such a law benefit, the question answers itself—benefit to the special few and detrimental to the masses. I note someone in a card last week addressing the renters of Chilton told them the land lord would not charge them rent on a pasture. That man must have been a large land holder for such remarks do not emanate from same men who do not own large tracts of land. My dear friends, who by force of circumstances has been thrown in line with the poverty stricken wretches like I, take warning, when those special few who controls the wealth of the county, calls on you and pictures to you the grand advantages that a stock law will give you; it will eliminate that bungleson work of splitting rails, hauling and building fences and no more destruction of your growing crop; but turn a deaf ear to them. They are only trying to infatuate you, they have long since deposited their conscience and principle in the archives of perdition; hence they will obliterate the last hope of a living for the poor widow and orphans and the unfortunate poor men. There are some counties that a stock law can be profitably applied to, but not Chilton. A conservative estimate will place at least three-fourths of the county in primeval forest. It is much easier to enclose one acre than three, and if we had a stock law very little of the land which is not enclosed would then be for those who are able to enclose sufficient pasturage for their stock are exceptions and not numbered with the masses. The poor man who peradventure owns a few head of cattle can turn them out on the range, giving them unrestricted territory and they will thrive likewise your hogs. But Bro, you be misled by that special few who are advocating stock law for self interest, and eliminate these broad liberties you now exercise in building your stock roam whatsoever they will on the land of the rich or poor, has since it is not enclosed, and you will then bring your cattle and tie them to a stake and watch that flesh which they have so unnatural in the forest without cost to you vanish for want of food. You will then be compelled to dispose of her. Now, where are you? You are then where all other poor men are—in a stock law county. No cattle, no hogs and can't have any, while thousands of acres of grass is growing up and being cut down by jack frost and acorns falling and decaying, while all this under the present circumstances is profitably utilized. Friends, near three thousand years ago a wise man said that he that opressed the poor shall surely come to want, but those who greed for gain heed not the warning. That proverb is not applicable to man's administration here on earth. Dives looked upon the poor man who lay at his gate in scorn and disdain. Though Dives died a rich man, but he woke up in want, and I fear my friends that those who have planned and premeditated the elimination and destruction of the poor man's last resort to replenish his needs, will for their depredations against the poor, some day strike hands with Dives and co-opperate with him in the cries for one drop of water on their parching tongue in the depths of perdition throughout eternity. The rich have always tried to oppress the poor and the poor man does not progress much in the knowledge of these facts and how to avert them. The iron hand of oppression is yearly pressing downward on the poor man. It is a natural instinct instinct in man to long for wealth and an honest poor man will be a thief when he begins to accumulate wealth. Now, friends be considerate, meditate over this question before voting on it, don't be infatuated by demagogy, and don't vote for a stock law, it will ruin you.

R. A. ALDRIDGE.

If troubled with a weak digestion belching, sour stomach, or if you feel dull after eating, try Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. Price, 25 cents. Samples free at Clanton drug store, or D. I. Deramus, Verbena.

Thorsby, Dec, 31, 1900

These stock law opponents are the people who pay agents ten to twenty times the value of an article. The man who will oppose stock law under such conditions as exist here, is standing in his light and hindering the progress and welfare of his country. He thinks his ideas are liberal but he doesn't go deep enough. My friends, think—think deeply—if you will go far enough you will find that you are selfish in this matter.

I feel sorry for these "poor widows and orphans," that our opponents depend upon for their position. I am looking out for them when I favor stock law, they won't suffer more than they will if we won't get stock law. The Lord will provide for them any way. The fact that these people are dependant upon the lands of their neighbors shows that something is wrong. This fence business must be the trouble. In stock law counties where it is properly enforced, we don't find so many dependant people. One writer said go to a stock law county and ask some old farmer about it. That's what I wish you would all do, if you will go to a farmer that is an honor to his community. There might be a very few who would talk against it, but I am always glad they are somebody else's neighbor. They would not have stock law if the majority did not believe it better.

The existing fence law is keeping a good many good settlers from locating here, and if it continues many here now will leave. I, for one, will want to go to better fields—not simply because I can't have stock law here, but because I don't care to live in a county that is trying to stand still. It is against the law of nature for anything to remain in one condition; it must either decay or grow, and Clanton or any other county can't grow very much without stock law, it must decay—and excuse me—that's not pleasant. The golden rule is my motto, and the only reason I want to make money now, is to be more able and efficient in my work of promoting progressive modes of agriculture and extending the moral condition of this county. My personal interest, I always keep in the background, for I know if the county makes money, I will get my share. Is it true, that the majority of the people in Chilton county are dependent upon the cow and hog that roam over their neighbor's lands for a living? That is a pitiful condition. The poorest county in the State. Or do the writers mean that the more independent are in the majority, but must let the minority rule? Stock law is just and right and better for all who are Christians. We have more contention and trouble here in one year about stock and fences than I heard of during the ten or twelve years I lived under stock law. I owned several head of cattle and tied them out on the roadsides, and they did better and gave more milk than they do here where they take so much exercise to find some grass already overrun with stray cattle. It is true, and I'm glad of it, our stock would improve under stock law. Instead of milking four or six scrub cows for one pound of butter per day one ordinary good cow would give over one pound per day, and it will be worth 25 or 30 cents where the other pound is hardly worth 15 cents. And instead of killing 75 and 100 lb. hogs at 14 months old, we would have 200 lb. hogs at nine months old.

If those opposed to stock law want to always stay in the rut and poor, let them huddle together for company and sympathy. We can fence them out and make something out of this county.

But we are all too fast. The bill

(continued on 3rd col. page 4)

Thorsby.

LANDS FOR SALE.

$2.50 PER ACRE.

We have for sale a small farm containing 40 acres, of which 30 acres are now under cultivation. Some houses on the place; land fenced; a good spring of running water. If this land was located in the Thorsby colony it would be worth $1200.00. The land is located about four miles west of Thorsby and you may take it for $100. (Sold February 16, 1900.)

General Farming Lands for sale, $5.00 to $15.00 per acre.

Unimproved Orchard and Vineyard Lands at $15.00 per acre.

Improved Orchard and Vineyard Lands from $40 to $60 per acre.

Two small farms for Rent; a 7 room Cottage for sale.

Special inducements to merchants and manufacturers in the progressive town of Thorsby, the market center of Chilton county. For further particulars call at the offices of

THE CONCORDIA LAND AND IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION.
THORSBY, ALA.

Macedonia.

Mr. John Merchant and Miss Minnie Ward were married at the residence of Mr. John P. Nix on Sunday before Xmas. May they live long and be happy. Mr. James Nix was re-elected superintendent of the Sunday school with Mr. A. Glass assistant. Mr. Monroe Hubbard's new house, near his father's, Mr. T. J. Hubbard, is nearing completion. This side of Beat 3 goes solid against the local, stock and whiskey laws. X. Y. Z.

Lomax.

Mrs. Wm. Lodge and daughter, Miss Lottie, of Mountain Creek, visited relatives and friends here Tuesday. Mr. C. J. Stewart, of Clanton was among our pleasant visitors Wednesday. Mr. J. W. McKinney has removed his family from Clanton to this place; we cordially welcome them to our town. Mr. W. H. Smith will return to his home in McHenry, Miss., Saturday; we regret to see him go.

We are sorry to say aunt Martha Collins is quite ill, she has been confined to her bed for several weeks. Our young folks attended a fruit supper at the residence of Mr. Bussey; they report a nice time; the dining room was beautifully decorated in holly and cedar. The Misses Bussey know how to entertain and as usual acquitted themselves on this occasion.

One of the prettiest weddings that has occurred at Lomax was that of Miss Lizzie Lodge and Mr. John C. Gaylor which took place at the home of the bride's parents, E. B. Deason J. P. officiating. The bride was gowned in a handsome traveling costume. There were no attendants; it was a quite wedding only a few relatives and friends present. We congratulate the groom on his good fortune, he has won for his bride one of Chilton's fairest, loveliest young ladies and we wish for them a long and happy voyage on life's sea.

Kincheon.

On January 8, a warrant was sworn out by Rev. T. J. Deason for the arrest of a negro named John Wiley for using a stick on his son, Benjamin Deason, and threatening to shoot him if he didn't give him some tobacco. This occurred near the residence of Mr. J. R. Billingsley. The negro was arrested by Mr. J. W. Billingsley and carried before J. J. Owen, J. P., for trial. Being out of his jurisdiction the negro was bound over to a higher court and placed in jail at Clanton to await trial for his misdeeds.

The Mother's Favorite.

"Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the mother's favorite. It is pleasant and safe for children to take and always cures. It is intended especially for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough, and is the best medicine made for these diseases. There is not the least danger in giving it to children for it contains no opium or other injurious drug and may be given as confidently to a babe as to an adult. For sale by Clanton Drug Co. and D. I. Deramus, Verbena.

WANTED.

200 ACRES at $6.00 per acre. Titles perfect. Plenty of water on the place. Fine reed brake for pasture. One mile north of Thorsby. J. A. SKAGGS, Jemison, Ala.

FOR SALE. A complete entertainment outfit, consisting of 1 Stereoptican, 1 Optograph or moving picture machine, 1 Calcium light apparatus, 1 gas making outfit, 1 set Views Spanish-American war, 5 50 ft. Films for Optograph. All new. Also 1 horse and spring wagon. Full particulars of C. Nally, Randolph, Ala.

MONEY to Loan on good real estate. Apply to X. Y. Z., care of the Banner, Clanton, Ala.

A BONA FIDE SALARY—$12 Weekly. Men and women to appoint agents and represent us, some to travel, others for local work. $12 weekly salary and expenses. Old established house, pleasant permanent positions, rapid advancement and increase of wages. Write at once. Address BUTLER & ALGER, Dept. E, New Haven, Conn.

The Best Prescription for Malaria

Chills and Fever is a bottle of GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC. It is simply iron and quinine in a tasteless form. No cure—no pay. Price 50c.

Program Sunday-School Convention for Beats 1 and 2 at the Methodist church, Jemison, Sunday, Jan. 20 1901, commencing 1:30 p.m.

Common needs of the Sunday-school and common sense remedies. "Needs" started by W. H. Conway and C. B. Northcutt. "Remedies" suggested by others interested. Possibilities of Sunday-school work in 20th century, Profs. J. M. Collier, A. J. Neugent. The teacher and the class, Mrs. P. C. Smith, Prof. J. Stroud. Talks limited to ten minutes. Election of new officers will close program.

P. C. SMITH, Pres.
Mrs. B. W. SILSBEE, Sec.

Shoults

We are having some nice weather these times, have had lots of rain. Plenty of talk about road law in the parts; some say we need a new road law, but I think less talk and more work on the roads would be better at the present.

Timber business has taken the place of farming in these diggins.

Mr. J. D. McGee and daughter, Mrs. Settles, visited our town this week. Mr. John Ingram and wife, of Long Branch, visited the family of Mr. Ellis Sunday. We regret to say our Sunday-school is about froze out. BIG IKE.

Brought Good Fortune.

A small item in his own paper lately brought amazing good fortune to Editor Chris. Reitter, of the Saginaw (Mich.) Post and Zeitung. He and his family had the Grip in its worst form. Their doctor did them no good. Then he read that Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds was a guaranteed cure for La Grippe and all Throat and Lung troubles, tried it and says: "Three bottles cured the whole family. No other medicine on earth equals it." Only 50c and $1 00 at Clanton drug store. Trial bottles free.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

TIPTON MULLINS
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW
CLANTON - ALA

WILLIAM M. ADAMS
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW
Practice in all Courts.
Office at the Adams' place
CLANTON - - - ALA

JOHN C. DENNIS
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW
Practice in the Supreme Court of Alabama, and all Inferior Courts.
CLANTON, - - ALA

ROBERT H. KNOX,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,
CLANTON, ALA.
Will practice in all the State and Federal Courts of Alabama.

Dr. D. A. CAMPBELLE,
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.
OFFICE HOURS: Morning 8 till 10, Evening, 3 till 5.
Office at Drug Store CLANTON

Dr. OTTO M. WISEHART,
DENTIST.
OFFICE HOURS. 8 to 12 a.m. and 1 to 5 p.m.
Office over Wright's Store CLANTON

Dr. GEO. A. DENNIS,
SPECIALIST
Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat
OFFICE 28 S. PERRY ST.
Office Hours: 9 to 12 and 2 to 4.
Telephone 494—2 Calls.
MONTGOMERY, ALA.

CHURCH DIRECTORY

BAPTIST—Preaching on the first and third sundays at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Sunday-school every sunday at 10 a.m.

Prayer-meeting every Thursday evening at 7 o'clock.

F. M. WOODS, Pastor.

METHODIST—Preaching every second sunday at 7 p.m., and every fourth sunday at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Sunday-school at 10 a.m. every sunday.

Prayer-meeting at seven o'clock every Wednesday night.

D. F. ELLISON, Pastor.

CLANTON BARBER SHOP
W. H. TAYLOR, Proprietor.
HAIR CUTTING
SHAVING
SHAMPOOING
In all the Latest City Styles. Reasonable Charges. Prompt Attention.
HOT AND COLD BATHS.
CLANTON

E. W. Grove

This signature is on every box of the genuine Laxative Bromo-Quinine Tablets the remedy that cures a cold in one day

The Farmers' Mutual Insurance Association of Alabama.

CHARTERED BY SPECIAL ACT OF THE LEGISLATURE.

"BY THE PEOPLE AND FOR THE PEOPLE."

CHILTON COUNTY BRANCH

PRESIDENT: N. J. CALLOWAY, Clanton.
SEC'Y & TREAS.: P. D. WILSON, Clanton.
GENERAL AGENT: WALLACE C. EDLER, Clanton.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

1. H. C. Young
2. Thomas Harrison
3. R. S. McCury
4. D. F. Jacks
5. W. H. Thomas
6. A. T. Hathcock
7. C. J. Cohern
8. John R. Parnell
9. D. N. Riggins

Insures farmer's dwellings, outbuildings and contents, and live stock against loss by fire, wind and lightning.

The assessments for the year just closed was only 23c on the $1000 policy.

The cheapest, safest and most sensible method of insurance known to man. For full particulars call on or address the General Agent WALLACE C. EDLER, Clanton, Ala.

THE BANNER.

Published Weekly.

CLANTON, - - - ALABAMA.

Nothing less than the invention of an automatic horse will bring the automobile up to date.

A Boston ordinance provides that any citizen may forbid street musicians from playing their instruments within three hundred feet of his residence, and may call upon the police to enforce the prohibition.

Of the 3753 Finns who came to the United States during the previous year only seventeen were sent back; only sixty-two were unable to read and write, and only fourteen were said to be likely to become public charges.

Over in London literary people are discussing the comparative value of the novel and the short story. Times change. Nobody would have dreamed of proposing any such question in the days of Dickens and Thackeray, and Reade and Collins.

A paraffin lamp has been invented by an expert of Dublin for the purpose of lighting buoys. The lamp has been tested and found to afford a brilliant light for three months without attention. Those who go down to the sea in ships will have additional cause for thanking the inventing genius of man.

Enforced military duty, even in France, does not seem to be relished. During the recent military maneuvers in that country numbers deserted and crossed the border into Italy. On one day eight men from the same regiment deserted, preferring exile for several years to the prospect of completing their military service.

The famous stallion Axtell, which has now been sold for $14,700, fetched the record price of $100,000 eleven years ago when he was a three-year-old. However, he has earned $240,000 for his owners meanwhile, not to mention the price which he now brings as a fourteen-year-old. Oh, yes, there's big money in good horseflesh.

It will not be many years until Zululand will be fully in the civilized belt. Immense coal fields have recently been discovered, many of them forty-five feet in depth. The coal is said to be of prime quality. In addition to the coal it is generally supposed that minerals in great variety abound throughout the country.

It is said that 20,000 people will winter in Nome and contiguous camps. How many of them will never see another summer is a matter of rather serious conjecture. Still the preparations go on in the States for immigration to that section next summer, and it is more than probable that the death rate will be overbalanced by the newcomers.

The most difficult features to imitate in Uncle Sam's bank notes, whether national or of the greenback variety, is the water mark. The counterfeiter effects this by placing the note under a heavy die. The simplest, and possibly the only way to ascertain if the mark is genuine, is by dampening the same with a sponge. If genuine the water-mark will stand out stronger; if counterfeit it will almost, if not entirely, disappear.

New Zealand's latest legislative novelty is a "fair-rent" bill which has just been circulated by the Government. The intention of the bill is to set up boards with power to fix the rent payable for any land or buildings. If a tenant is dissatisfied with the rent fixed by his landlord, he may apply to the "fair-rent" board of the district, and under the bill the board will have the power to fix the rent which the proprietor could legally demand. The boards are to consist of three members, with a magistrate as president. Fair rent is defined by the bill as follows: In the case of agricultural or pastoral land, such a rent as a tenant using or cultivating in a husbandmanlike manner can fairly be expected to produce from the land over and above the necessary cost of cultivation and production, and also reasonable interest on capital invested in stock and working plant, and also above the reasonable maintenance of himself and his family or of such of them as are living and being maintained on the land. In the case of town, suburban or village lands, such a rent as a tenant can fairly be expected to pay having regard to its site, buildings and business advantage.

PRIEST POISONED.

Is Given Fatal Dose of "Knockout Drops" While In An Intoxicated Condition.

Robert Bryan, alias "Sailor Bob," alias "Jack Harris," wanted in Philadelphia for complicity in the murder there, on Friday night last, of Rev. Father Rigel, a prominent Catholic priest, was arrested in New York Thursday night. He made a confession, implicating several others, whose names were not divulged. On the night of the murder there went to Bryan's saloon in Philadelphia a man, whose name Bryan gives, but which is withheld, accompanied by three companions, one a priest, the Rev. Father Rigel. The latter was very much intoxicated.

The four men gave frequent orders for beer, which the priest always insisted on paying for. Each time he paid he displayed a large roll of bills. He was so intoxicated that he dropped bills on the floor. The men struck his hands and made him drop more. Bryan admits getting $19 in that manner, and asserts that others got more. This continued for some time, when the men left the room. He returned with a small vial which Bryan says was filled with laudanum and chloral. Two glasses of beer were poured out, one of which was drugged. Bryan says that after the priest had taken the beer the man who had drugged him admitted he was going to rob the priest.

Bryan then said that he could not allow that in his place, and made the men take the priest out of the room. He says he knew nothing further about the affair until Saturday morning, when he was told that the body of the priest had been found in the hallway of the house next door. Bryan said that he became frightened and left town.

It is said that Bryan was arrested for highway robbery in 1897, and his picture is in the rogue's gallery under the name of Jack Harris.

Father Rigel was buried at Philadelphia. Over fifty priests attended the funeral, the services being held at the church of which he was the pastor.

SENSATIONAL INJUNCTION.

Atlanta Street Car Company Claims Title to a City Avenue.

Declaring that the franchise granted by the Atlanta city council and aldermanic board to the Atlanta Rapid Transit company on Hunter street and Cherokee avenue was not legal, the Atlanta Railway and Power company applied to the superior court of Fulton county for an injunction to compel the Rapid Transit company to stop its work of laying track on the line of the Grant park route.

Judge Lumpkin issued a temporary injunction and ordered that the Atlanta Rapid Transit Company show cause before him on the morning of the 19th why this order should not be made permanent.

The most significant and interesting part of the paper presented to the judge was as follows:

"Your petitioner is the owner of all the property composing the entire width of said Cherokee avenue from Georgia to Augusta avenue, and of half the width of said avenue from Augusta avenue to Atlanta avenue, to which said city of Atlanta has never acquired title; that the title to same is in your petitioner, who is in possession of same, and to which, by virtue of said franchise, granted as aforesaid, the said Atlanta Rapid Transit Company has acquired no right whatever."

REPRESENTATIVE CLARK DEAD.

House Members Honor Memory of New Hampshire Colleague.

The desk of Representative Clarke, of New Hampshire, who died Wednesday night at his home, was shrouded in black and covered with flowers when the house met Thursday.

By unanimous consent the bill to revise and codify the postal laws of the United States was made a special order after the disposal of the rivers and harbors bill.

The house then went into committee of the whole and resumed consideration of the rivers and harbors bill. Mr. Shackelford, of Missouri, protested against the action of the committee in abolishing the Missouri river commission.

At 4:05 o'clock as a further mark of respect to Representative Clark, the house adjourned.

COULDN'S STAND DISGRACE.

Ex-Postmaster, Arrested For Misappropriating Funds, Commits Suicide.

At Longview, Texas, Thursday, Samuel Flanagan, formerly postmaster of the town, committed suicide by drinking prussic acid, while in charge of a Deputy United States Marshal. Flanagan, who was a well known Republican politician, was charged with misappropriating postoffice funds.

Wicked Swede's Bloody Deed.

At Jamaica Plain, Mass., Thursday Sevante Anderson, a Swede, shot and killed his wife and probably fatally wounded his mother and five-year-old boy. He then killed himself.

ANDREE'S WILL MADE PUBLIC.

His Instructions Were to Open the Document at End of 1900.

Prof. Andree's will, which he gave instruction should be opened at the end of 1900 in case he had not returned from his balloon expedition to the north pole, has been opened and read at Vienna, Austria. It was accompanied by a series of letters from prominent scientists encouraging him in the dangerous enterprise and one from M. DePouvielle, warning him against it.

PEACE COMMITTEE ROUGHLY TREATED

British Envoys Flogged and Shot By Boers.

RULES OF WARFARE VIOLATED

Act Arouses England and Demand Is Made For Measures of Vengeance.

The war office at London has received the following dispatch from Lord Kitchener:

"PRETORIA, Sunday, January 13.—About 1,000 Boers crossed the line, attacking both Zuurfontein and Kaalfontein stations, but were driven off. They are being pursued by a cavalry brigade."

Lord Kitchener reports several skirmishes at different points, with trifling British losses, and adds:

"Three agents of the peace committee were taken as prisoners to DeWet's laager, near Lindle, January 10th. One, who was a British subject, was flogged and then shot. The other two, burghers, were flogged by DeWet's orders."

The brief report of the fate of the three members of the peace committee, who were sent to see General DeWet, excites the deepest indignation on all sides. One or two papers express a hope that Lord Kitchener has been misled by false Kaffir reports, but it is generally felt that he would not have reported the matter to the war office without undoubted evidence.

The Daily Mail heads the report with the word "Murder," and disclaims against any further attempt to coax into submission.

"DeWet has placed himself outside the pale of humanity," says the Daily Mail, "and not proclamations, but large reinforcements, must be our watchword."

The Morning Post says: "This marks the point where the guerilla phase ends and the bandit phase begins."

All the papers appeal strongly to the government to hurry forward reinforcements, since it is evident that the Boer leaders have now become desperate and conciliation is quite useless.

JAILS ARE FULL.

Many Filipino Prisoners Sentenced to Hang or Serve Long Terms of Confinement.

An Associated Press dispatch from Manila says: Since the expiration of the period within which amnesty was granted to captured insurgents, the insurrectos have been sent to Manila in batches of dozens, scores and hundreds. It is but a month since the military government began retention of prisoners of war and already the quarters fitted up to hold them are filled.

Liberty gained formerly simply by swearing allegiance to the United States was looked upon by the insurgents as so easy of attainment that the yankees were set down as being simple indeed for being so lenient. Within the past few weeks, however, the insurgents have been learning that sterner war measures are in force, and at present 1,500 insurgents are in confinement in Manila, exclusive of several hundred natives, so-called, political prisoners, most of whom may also be classed as insurgents.

The question as to what is to be done with these prisioners of war appears to be wholly undetermined.

On the other hand copies of general orders received from the Philippines at Washington show that a large number of native Filipinos have been convicted for murder and other crimes and sentenced to be hanged or long terms of imprisonment.

Centennarian Dies.

James B. Ireland, centenarian, died at his home at Skillman, Hancock county, Ky., Sunday. He was born June 4, 1797, and had lived in three centuries. Had he lived until the 4th of next June he would have been 104 years old.

ST. JOHN'S SUCCESSOR.

Captain "Bunch" McBee Is Named to Fill Seaboard Vacancy.

Captain V. E. McBee, better known as "Bunch" McBee, general superintendent of the Seaboard Air Line railway, has been appointed vice president and general manager of the system to succeed Everitt St. John, recently resigned.

It is reported, however, that the appointment is believed to be temporary, President John Skelton Williams when asked about the matter, declined to say whether Mr. McBee's appointment was permanent or not.

Captain McBee has been with the Seaboard for many years.

LECTURER SPRINGS SENSATION.

Declares Book "Uncle Tom's Cabin" Brought On Civil War.

F. Hopkins Smith, author, artist and lecturer of New York, caused a sensation in a lecture held before the Newton Club at Boston Thursday night by his ascribing the civil war to the false light on southern life given by Harriet Beecher Stowe's book, "Uncle Tom's Cabin." He charged that it was the most vicious book ever issued from the press.

CHINAMEN SIGN NOTE

Powers Now Have Right of Way In Straightening Out Troubles.

An Associated Press dispatch from Pekin says: The joint note of the powers has been finally signed by the Chinese peace commissioners, Prince Ching signed Saturday, and Li Hung Chang, who is better, signed it Sunday.

It is understood that the malady from which Li Hung Chang is suffering is Bright's disease. He was feeling worse Saturday and therefore postponed the affixing of his signature, but Prince Ching was hopeful that he would be able to sign Sunday, which proved to be the case.

Prince Ching has protested to the court against the appointment, said to be contemplated, of Viceroy Chang Chih Tung as a plenipotentiary in the place of Li Hung Chang. He thinks the latter's advice absolutely essential, although he believes it might be advisable to appoint a third plenipotentiary for China and reiterates his desire for the appointment of Sheng, who would be acceptable to the foreigners.

So far as Chang Chih Tung is concerned the envoys who know him personally say that, while he is strongly anti-foreign and has never made any secret of his likes and dislikes, they believe he would be a satisfactory representative of the Chinese, and there would not be any objection to him on the score of his recent utterances. Indeed, some of the ministers think it would be wise for China to make Chang Chih Tung a plenipotentiary.

Most of the envoys have received word from their governments that the negotiations must be conducted in Pekin, on the ground that for various reasons other places suggested would be objectionable.

The Russians say they will formally turn over the railroad to the Germans immediately.

M. De Giers, the Russian minister, objects to the British attitude in refusing to permit the Russians to distribute rice and wheat to destitute Chinese in the British section.

The Italian consul at Shanghai, in explaining the presence of Italian warships at San Mun bay, says they went there for target practice.

A French force is reported to have defeated a body of boxers west of Pao Ting Fu, killing a thousand.

COURT CLERK ARRESTED.

Big Shortage Found In His Accounts. Sensation In Nashville.

Walter S. Rainey, circuit court clerk of Davidson county, Tennessee, was arrested at Nashville Sunday morning on a charge of embezzling in office. The warrant was issued upon application of a Baltimore company, which is on Rainey's bond for $10,000, respectively in the first and second circuit courts.

Some days ago Judges Bonner and Childress, of the two courts, on information of alleged irregularities in office, suspended Clerk Rainey and ordered an investigation of his books. The committee appointed made a formal report Saturday. The substance of this report was that a shortage to the amount of $25,315 had been found.

INIMICAL TO ROADS.

Texas Labor Organizations Have Significant Bill Before Legislature.

A measure likely to create consternation in railroad circles was read in the Texas legislature at Austin Saturday. It is the handiwork of the railroad labor organization and provides that no railroad engineer is eligible to operate a freight engine until he has served two years as a fireman, while he can not operate a passenger engine until he has served two years as a fireman and two on a freight engine.

It is construed that the object of the passage of such a law as this is with a view of handicapping railroads to such an extent that they cannot possibly protect themselves in case of strikes.

SENATOR DAVIS EULOGIZED.

Solons of Upper House Honors Memory of Dead Colleague.

No legislative business of importance was transacted by the senate Saturday. The session was devoted to services held in memory of the late Senator Cushman K. Davis, of Minnesota.

American Furniture In Demand.

An order was recently filled by the Acme Furniture Company of Chattanooga, Tenn., for a car-load of furniture for Natal, South Africa; one car for Dublin, Ireland, and two cars for Havana, Cuba. There was considerable competitive bidding for the orders.

Confederate Vets to Dine.

The Confederate veteran camp of New York will hold its eleventh annual dinner in honor of the memory of Robert E. Lee at the Waldorf Astoria on January 18.

CHANDLER IS "RETIRED."

New Hampshire Legislators Nominates Judge Burnham For Senator.

A special from Concord, N.H., says: Judge Henry E. Burnham, of Manchester, was nominated on the first ballot for United States senator by the Republican members of the legislature, defeating William E. Chandler and four other candidates.

Chandler received 47 votes; Burnham 198, with others scattering.

The Democrats nominated Charles F. Stone as their candidate for United States senator.

COURT DECISION AGAINST NEELY

Ex-Postal Director Must Face a Cuban Jury.

ISLAND IS FOREIGN TERRITORY

Highest Tribunal In the Land Passes Upon the Celebrated Extradition Case.

The United States supreme court Monday rendered a decision in the Neely extradition case. The court held that Neely was subject to extradition and must be surrendered to the Cuban authorities.

The court held that Cuba is foreign territory, our purpose in the war with Spain being to free the Cubans from Spanish domination.

The decision was based upon the act of June 6, 1899, which act was held to be constitutional.

Justice Harlan handed down the court's opinion, which was unanimous, and immediately after the opinion was concluded an order was issued requiring that the mandate case be issued at once.

The opinion embraced a complete review of the case, explaining Neely's crime and arrest and his effort to prevent extradition to Cuba. The opinion also detailed the laws relating to extradition and quoted the act of June 6, 1899, extending the provisions of section 527 of the revised statutes to foreign countries, which is occupied by or under the control of the United States, so as to make the law cover, among other crimes, embezzlement in such countries.

Relating that the circuit court for the southern district of New York to which an application for a writ of habeas corpus had been made, had rendered a decision adverse to Neely's claims Justice Harlan said he had them appealed to this court on the ground that the act of June 6, 1899, was unconstitutional. Entering then upon his reasoning on the case, Justice Harlan said there was no dispute that on the 6th of June, 1900, when the act under which this proceeding is brought became a law Cuba was "under the control of the United States" and "occupied by the government."

"This court," he said, "will take justifiable notice that such were at the date named, and are now the relations between this country and Cuba. So that the applicability of the above act to the present case—and this is the first question to be examined—depends upon the inquiry whether within its meaning Cuba is to be deemed a foreign country or territory."

Announcing the court's conclusions on the status of Cuba, Justice Harlan said:

"The facts above detailed make it clear that Cuba is foreign territory within the meaning of the act of June 6th, 1900. It cannot be regarded in any constitutional, legal or internal sense a part of the territory of the United States.

"While by the act of April 25th, 1898, declared war between this country and Spain, the president was directed and empowered to use our entire land and naval forces as well as the militia of the several states to such an extent as was necessary to carry the act into effect, that authorization was not for the purpose of making Cuba an integral part of this country but for the purpose of compelling the relinquishment by Spain of its authority and government in that island, and withdrawal of its forces from Cuba and Cuban waters.

"The legislative and executive branches of the government by the joint resolution of April 20, 1898, expressly disclaimed any purpose to exercise sovereignty, jurisdiction or control over Cuba except for the pacification thereof and asserted the determination of the United States that object being accomplished to leave the government and control of Cuba to its own people. All that has been done in relation to Cuba has had that end in view, and so far as the court is informed by the public history of the relations of this country with that island nothing has been done inconsistent with the declared object of the war with Spain."

GRAND JURY INDICTS GIBSON.

Case of Indiana Contractor and Gov. Longino Goes to Courts.

The Hinds county, Miss., grand jury Monday afternoon returned an indictment against J. E. Gibson, the Indiana building contractor arrested several weeks ago on the charge of attempting to bribe Governor Longino to use his influence to secure for him the new statehouse contract. Gibson is in the city under a $5,000 bond. His case will not be disposed of until the criminal docket is taken up.

FOR MURDER OF A GIRL.

Three Men Are Placed On Trial For Life at Paterson, N. J.

At Paterson, N. J., the trial of Walter T. McAllister, Andrew Campbell and William A. Death, three of the four men accused of the murder of Jennie Bosschieter, a mill girl of Paterson, under revolting circumstances, commenced Monday.

George J. Kerr, the fourth man under indictment, was not in court, as he has been granted a separate trial on the ground that he was not present when the fatal dose was administered to the girl.

GEORGIA'S VOTE

Electors Meet In Atlanta State to Bryan—R[illegible] Elected Messenger.

The presidential electors chosen at the November e[illegible] in the senate chamber at t[illegible]itol at noon Monday and [illegible]gia's 13 votes for William [illegible] Bryan for president and [illegible]venson for vice president o[illegible] States.

Hon. W. T. Revill, of [illegible] Meriwether county, was [illegible]senger to take the vote to W[illegible] and Colonel Steve W. P[illegible]lania, secretary.

The following electors [illegible] roll call: State at large, [illegible]ville, Atlanta; Augustus [illegible]pont; First district, W. W[illegible] Savannah; Second, C. W. [illegible] Tifton; Third, W. C. [illegible] Jefferson; Fourth, Ben F[illegible]lin, Greenville; Fifth, E[illegible] Atlanta; Sixth, J. M. Stric[illegible]lin; Seventh, J. P. Jack[illegible]ton; Eighth, A. G. M[illegible]well; Ninth, J. J. Kimsey [illegible] Tenth, T. E. Massengale [illegible] Eleventh, A. E. Cochran, [illegible]

The balloting resulted [illegible]mous vote being cast for W[illegible]nings Bryan for president, [illegible] E. Stevenson for vice pres[illegible] United States.

The main interest in th[illegible] centered in the election of [illegible]ger to take Georgia's vote [illegible]ington. The candidates w[illegible] R. Phillips, of Jefferson, [illegible] Greer, of Bibb, and W. [illegible] Meriwether. Four ballots [illegible] before a choice was made.

The messenger receives [illegible] mile each way for taking [illegible] Washington, or a total of [illegible] for the trip.

Mr. Revill, who was cho[illegible]ger, is one of the oldest [illegible] prominent Democrats in the [illegible] editor of the Meriwether Vi[illegible] has rendered his party valu[illegible] and his election as messen[illegible]ceded to be a just reward.

FRENCH-VANDE[illegible]

Young Millionaire Weds [illegible]er Playmate at New[illegible] Brilliant Ceremo[illegible]

Although in the depth [illegible] Newport, R. I., the well kn[illegible]ing place, took on a semb[illegible] summer gaiety Monday bec[illegible] wedding of Alfred Gwynne V[illegible] probably the most wealthy [illegible] generation of the Vanderb[illegible] and Miss Elsie French, a [illegible] Newport girl and former p[illegible] the bridegroom, the daught[illegible] Frederick Orme French, a [illegible] the city for many years.

The ceremony took place [illegible] the Zabriski Memorial ch[illegible] John, the Evangelist, far up [illegible] north part of the city, on [illegible] shores of Narragansett bay [illegible] center of Newport's fashion[illegible] far removed from the socia[illegible] Bellevue avenue. Miss Fr[illegible] the choice of her own place [illegible] and her old home for the sce[illegible]rnage, instead of selecting [illegible] pretentious but less familiar [illegible]ings which would have bee[illegible] New York. Under these [illegible] the hundred or more gu[illegible] forced to make a journey to [illegible] quiet at this time of the year [illegible] secure country village.

The festivities, however, [illegible] suffer from these unusua[illegible]stances. The church, which [illegible]orated with gorgeous lavish[illegible] only about half filled with g[illegible] invitations having been limi[illegible]atives and close friends of th[illegible]

The wedding was as orn[illegible] highest forms of the Episcop[illegible] could make it.

A reception followed at [illegible]view, the home of the bride[illegible] The scene was then transfer[illegible] Breakers, the Vanderbilt [illegible] residence, where an elabor[illegible]tion was tendered the young[illegible]

The total value of gifts is [illegible] at more than one million d[illegible] is probably the handsomest [illegible] costly list ever given to a [illegible] wealth even in this country [illegible] presents.

ADVANCE IN PEAN[illegible]

"Goober" Planters of Virg[illegible] Happy Through Short [illegible]

The Virginia peanut mar[illegible] a phenomenal advance. Th[illegible] the prime product in eastern [illegible] which has been very low of [illegible] within a few days past show[illegible] a cent a pound for all grad[illegible] advance means an instant p[illegible] peanut raising section of half [illegible] dollars. There is no speci[illegible] for the increase, but the pe[illegible] are jubilant at the prospect [illegible] their stock at such a notable [illegible]

POSTAL COMMITTEE RE[illegible]

Suggest That Books, Samp[illegible] Etc., Be Taken From Secon[illegible]

The postal commission of [illegible] and senate, which has been i[illegible]ing postal matters for the [illegible] years, made its report Mond[illegible] commission unanimously re[illegible] favor of excluding from sec[illegible] matter mail rate, first, book[illegible] or unbound; second, newsp[illegible] sold sent by a news agent to [illegible] news agent or returned to the [illegible]ers; third, sample copies of [illegible]pers above a certain small [illegible] portion of the circulation.

GEORGIA'S VOTE

Electors Meet In Atlanta State to Bryan--Re Elected Messenge

The presidential electors chosen at the November el in the senate chamber at th itol at noon Monday and gia's 13 votes for William Bryan for president and Ad venson for vice president of States.

Hon. W. T. Revill, of Meriwether county, was el senger to take the vote to W and Colonel Steve W. Pos lania, secretary.

The following electors a rollcall: State at large, T Atlanta, Augustus D First district, W. W. Savannah, Second, C. W. Fifth, Edg Atlanta, Sixth, J. M. Strick Seventh, J. P. Jackso Eighth, A. G. McC Ninth, J. J. Kimsey, Tenth, J. E. Massengale, Eleventh, A. L. Cochran, E The balloting resulted in the electors being cast for W Sullivan for president, Stevenson for vice preside United States.

The main interest in the centered in the election of a to take Georgia's vote right. The candidates w R. Phillips, of Jefferson; Greer, of Bibb, and W. T. Meriwether. Four ballots w before a choice was made.

The messenger receives 25 mile each way for taking th Washington, or a total of al for the trip.

Mr. Revill, who was chose ger, is one of the oldest prominent Democrats in the editor of the Meriwether Vi has rendered his party valia and his election as messeng ceded to be a just reward.

FRENCH-VANDER

Young Millionaire Weds H er Playmate at Newp Brilliant Ceremony

Although in the depth o Newport, R. I., the well kno ing place, took on a semblan summer gaiety Monday becau wedding of Alfred Gwynne Va probably the most wealthy of generation of the Vanderbil and Miss Elsie French, a Newport girl and former pl the bridegroom, the daughte Frederick Orme French, a r the city for many years.

The ceremony took place a the Zabriski Memorial chur John, the Evangelist, far up north part of the city, on shores of Narragansett bay, center of Newport's fashion far removed from the social Bellevue avenue. Miss Fre the choice of her own place o and her old home for the scen riage, instead of selecting pretentious but less familiar ings which would have been New York. Under these c the hundred or more gue forced to make a journey to quiet at this time of the year secure country village.

The festivities, however, suffer from these unusual stances. The church, which orated with gorgeous lavish only about half filled with g invitations having been limite atives and close friends of th

The wedding was as orna highest forms of the Episcop could make it.

A reception followed at view, the home of the bride's The scene was then transferr Breakers, the Vanderbilt residence, where an elabora tion was tendered the young

The total value of gifts is at more than one million do is probably the handsomest costly list ever given to a wealth even in this country presents.

ADVANCE IN PEANU

"Goober" Planters of Virg Happy Through Short C

The Virginia peanut mark a phenomenal advance. Th the prime product in eastern which has been very low of within a few days past shown a cent a pound for all grade advance means an instant pr peanut raising section of half dollars. There is no specif for the increase, but the pe are jubilant at the prospect their stock at such a notable

POSTAL COMMITTEE RE

Suggest That Books, Sample Etc., Be Taken From Secon

The postal commission of t and senate, which has been in ng postal matters for the years, made its report Mond commission unanimously re favor of excluding from sec matter mail rate, first, book or unbound; second, newsp old sent by a news agent to news agent or returned to the ers; third, sample copies of pers above a certain small portion of the circulation.

WOMAN'S REALM

IC WOMEN'S WORK.

For Defense of Legations, Quite Cannons Roared.

Archbishop Mrs. Conger and ladies of the legation offered linen and portieres for use. Ladies ruthlessly cut up delicately embroidered draperies and rugs, while those who charge of the fortifications and messengers asking for one of the mission la just in I'm a new supply of and some of the native holding it and knowing brought it to her. This material was used, as like material, linen sheets and were cut up without com regard to all sense of cost, sense of beauty, seemed to the sole desire to furnish a contribution to human sides these beautiful things official there were also used materials such as old Mon hangings to Sedan chairs of old Chinese clothing. were cut out and sometimes foreign ladies unused to in delicate work. However, ladies were greatly assist Chinese girls of the mission and by the women of the fam native Christians. Of the for were some 150. Beside the brought from the foreign were great rolls of cotton of silk and brocade satin, these stores. The Chinese at wear special garments. those were used the long, eyes being well suited to the of bag making. It was a con prise that new supplies from sources came in each day as housekeeping committee and worked in the diet kitchen strictly hard worked, being busy and exhibited an in in planning and preparing ap edibles that was marvelous. materials were horseflesh called oatmeal, coarse wheat flour and a dried rice. These were the sta materials. There was a small of canned meats, which was an occasional relish. The and all delicacies were re for the babies and the sick. the missionaries told me she ch day to another part of the in constant danger of flying to get a slice of white bread sick baby. The woman having baked a loaf each day, not use of her family, but for the there were three ladies on ding committee of housekeep the ladies took their turns in after the cooking, serving, ta ing, etc. As there were sev this family they were divided messes. And it was necessa have three of each of the As the dining room was also and sleeping room, it required work to keep it in presentable n. One of the hardest things was the utter impossibility of quiet. There were times when unsafe for any one to be out building, and all work had to with a large number in the Outside was the roar of artil side, three busy sewing ma and women and children, and at work, besides all the men uired outside on the fortifica r at the mill. This constant and impossibility to be alone— ore wearing upon the nervous than any amount of work.—Weekly.

Light Felt Hats Popular.

Assumes every color. Quite re a taste was developed for pale plored, sky blue and mauve of t shades. This does not mean, r, that there is any decrease in mand for chalky white and pale and for the many shades of medium and dark browns. The positive tones most in vogue rs are "Coquelicot" and "Paur and a dark, dull green, which ot figure on the color card of eason, and which may be de d as a much darker shade of the ght greens sampled under the of "exposition" and "univer Pale blue and pink felts make ing dressy hats for young girls. of these of the soft formless intended to be worn off the face ry simply trimmed; as, for in with a breadth of liberty silk ch, twisted round the crown and passing over the brim in front astened to a narrow coronet of by a small bunch of flowers. auve hats have a somewhat less ul appearance. One is of a Par t; the brim is caught back by ade of miroir velvet to match, also encircles the crown, and the sts on a coronet in which are ed two half-open roses of a Bor tint, with a few brown leaves. the edge of the brim, the head on the velvet torsade, is a mar in.—Millinery Trade Review.

Care of the Finger Nails.

ngliest hands can be improved tle careful attention is given to ils. The paring of them is important, they should be brilliantly polished, and, of course, the appearance of the milk white crescents is one of the chief features of a pretty finger nail. The shape in which the nails are cut should depend to a certain extent on the shape of the finger tips, but filbert shaped nails are generally considered the most beautiful. Manicuring will do much to beautify the hands, and if but one hour a week is given up to the care of them excellent results may be expected. Every day, after washing, the flesh at the base of the nail should be pressed back.

Lemon is one of the best mediums to use for removing stains from nails, and orange wood sticks should be employed for cleaning the skin beneath the nails. Rough hands will be improved by being rubbed with a soaped nailbrush daily. Brittle nails need the application of a stiff toilet cream nightly.

After the nails have had their daily brush and clea they should be polished with a chamois pad. Rough powders are sold for the purpose of giving a pretty pink tinge to the nails. When these are used they should be sprinkled over the nail before it is polished with the pad.

America's Grand Old Woman.

At the great bazar of the Woman Suffrage Association, which was held in Madison Square Garden, in New York City, one of the chief attractions was the presence of Mrs. Elizabeth Cady Stanton.

Sharp of intellect, keen of mind, and impressive in speech as ever, Mrs. Stanton is rounding out her long and important life in a golden age of fruition and consummation. Debarred now from public speaking, and from more than occasional presence at gatherings at which she was once the personal leader and vivifying inspiration, Mrs. Stanton still exerts a far-reaching influence. From the big mahogany armchair in which her delightful apartment overlooking Riverside Drive and the Hudson beyond, she sits enthroned, more commanding than many a figure embodying the inheritance of a dynasty, the venerable woman watches the world's events as they pass, keeping a sharp eye on those that relate to the efforts to which she has given her life, and almost equally interested in everything that pertains to the development of her race. She often dictates strong, vigorous utterances for publication, and every day her afternoons are spent with her secretary, writing and answering letters and attending to the innumerable details of a still active life.

One who meets Mrs. Stanton now, with her eighty-five years completed a few days ago, feels like paraphrasing Gladstone's title and calling her the Grand Old Woman. Like Gladstone, she has fought many battles, scored victories and suffered some defeats. Like him, too, she has never known when she was beaten, counting successful opposition merely a temporary backset, to counteract which renewed effort must be made. Like, Gladstone, too, physical disability has not weakened close interest in public affairs, nor, for a single moment, made her think that everything is not worth while. Rich in memories and retrospect, it is a privilege to have her draw upon them in her listener's interest. She has none of the garrulity of age. She will condense the struggle of years in a phrase, though her eye will kindle and her voice thrill over the recollection of what the accomplishing has cost her.—Harper's Bazar.

Take Children Into Partnership.

A lady was recently speaking of her plan to keep all business cares and anxieties from the knowledge of her children—keeping everything depressing out of their life, she called it—that they might be free to enjoy themselves as long as possible, with no feeling of trouble or responsibility. "But will that really add to their happiness in the long run?" asked an older mother, dissentingly. "We have always tried to take our children into partnership—to have them share our plans and interests, and let them know what we are trying to do and what we have to live on. It seems to me that successes are more valued if they come as something one has hoped for and helped to work for, and retrenchments are more easily borne if they are intelligently agreed upon in the family council instead of forced upon the younger members with only the bald statement that we cannot afford this or that. It strengthens the family tie if the children feel that it is our home, our business and our interest; if they know that their opinion is considered and that their votes count; it is a means of education in wisdom, self-control and unselfishness. Life's best good for all of us lies in its discipline; not in escaping its burdens, but in learning how to bear them.—Leslie's Weekly.

New Styles in Hats.

All the new hats are shallow at the back and stand out a good deal in front, but toques will be very fashionable, and the black velvet picture hat of moderate size is certain to be popular. Panne is also used for toques and for bows in straw and crinoline hats. All bows, whether of silk or velvet, are stiffened by the edges being stitched in many rows, and frequently the stitching is in a different color, such as heliotrope or pale blue on violet, amber or pink, or white on black, but the color is invariably repeated beneath the brim, either in flowers or in choux of silk or chiffon.

The deaf mute is the man who wants a little hear below.

FATIGUE IN ANIMALS.

Eating of Over-Hunted Game Is Attended With Risk.

The eating of "high" game is undoubtedly attended with risk, and the poisonous effects are probably due to the toxins produced in the earlier stages of the putrefactive process, says a writer in the London Lancet. The advantage, of course, of hanging game is that the flesh becomes tender and decidedly more digestible than when it is quite fresh. The ripened process, however, may mean the elaboration of the toxins. It has been stated that the production of the characteristic flavors of game is related directly to the amount of sulphureted hydrogen or sulphur-alcohol set free, but it is rather repulsive to think that the delicate flavor of game is dependent upon that invariable product of decomposition of rotten eggs—sulphureted hydrogen. The smell evolved during cooking of "high" game is even more disgusting. Fresh game sometimes sets up mysterious poisonous symptoms, which have been attributed to the fact of the game having been overhunted game, which, when injected into a healthy animal, have produced marked poisonous effects. There is no doubt that fatigue products under certain circumstances are also elaborated in the human body and give rise to a species of self-poisoning, characteristic symptoms of which are headache, stupor and gastric and intestinal pains. The flesh of overwarm cattle may prove poisonous from the same cause.

This curious formation of poisonous products in the flesh of animals through a state of terror or exhaustion is a question well worth considering in relation to the wholesomeness of animal foods, and emphasizes the importance of slaying animals intended for food in the most humane way.

WISE WORDS.

From love which is founded upon an illusion, there may be an awakening; but for love which sees its objects as they are, and still goes on loving them, there is no conceivable cure either in this world or the world to come.

Hope is the mainspring of human action; faith seals our lease of immortality; and charity and love give the passport to the soul's true and lasting happiness.

Among the lights which lie through the shadows of life the brightest is love, and the love of little children, perhaps, has the sweetest shine of all.

Some of the best lessons we ever learn we learn from mistakes and failures. The error of the past is the wisdom and success of the future.

Happiness is built up, step by step, on the common-sense principles of self-control, self-denial, and persistent effort.

Happiness is to the heart what sunlight is to the body, and he who shuts out either is an enemy to society.

We grow narrow in our views when we do not welcome thoughts and natures remote from our own.

Courage, like cowardice, is undoubtedly contagious, but some persons are not liable to catch it.

Pleasure is like a cordial; a little of it is not injurious; but too much destroys.

Good manners and good morals are sworn friends and fast allies.

Maine's Gray Squirrel Question.

The varying abundance of gray squirrels in the Maine woods is something that has puzzled hunters and naturalists for a great many years. Some seasons they will be fairly plentiful, so that a gunner may get as many as five of six in an outing of a few hours. Again, a man may walk in the woods for weeks and never so much as catch a glimpse of one. For the past two years there were none to speak of in Maine. This year not a few have been noticed, particularly about orchards and in old-growth beech woods, where the nuts were plentiful.

The question for hunters and naturalists to decide is whether these squirrels are gaining or diminishing in numbers, taking one year wth another. The man commonly known as the oldest resident, says that gray squirrels were as numerous as red ones fifty and seventy-five years ago. Then, men in middle life say there were no gray squirrels twenty and thirty years ago. Now we have a fair number some years and none during the intervening years.—Daily Kennebec (Me.) Journal.

Longest Elevator Run.

The contract recently awarded for an electric elevator for the Washington Monument covers the highest single lift elevator in the world. The rise is exactly 498 feet, and though the total ascent of the Eiffel tower elevator is greater, this is accomplished by means of a number of stages. With a maximum load of thirty-five persons in the Washington Monument car the guaranteed speed is 100 feet per minute. It would, therefore, under these circumstances, take five minutes to complete the trip. — Philadelphia Record.

Anecdotal.

Observing that the waves had broken up his bridge of boats, Xerxes gave instant commands that the sea be scourged with whips.

"In order symmetrically to develop the anecdotal side of my character," explained the King to his wondering courtiers.

This version of the incident shows clearly that the Persian monarch had far fewer bats in his belfry than he has hitherto been credited with.—Detroit Journal.

Decorative Ferns.

Boston ferns, and the sword variety particularly, have lately sprung into high favor in the up-to-date home as a decorative plant, quite equaling, if not surpassing, for the moment the vogue of the palm.

The Young Daughter's Room.

A dainty and pleasant room to which the young daughter of the house lays special claim is furnished in this way: The walls are papered with white paper strewn with apple blossoms, and have a frieze of the faintest tone of green. The woodwork is green and the hangings of old-fashioned cretonne with apple blossom pattern and lined with sateen to match the pink of the blossoms. The furniture, simple and pretty, is forest green in tone, and the stained wood floor is covered with a pink and green rug.

When the Cat Travels.

A novel method to insure the comfort and safety of a cat, while traveling, was seen on an incoming train one day last week. The pet kitten was not as usual immured in the darkness and stuffiness of a box or basket. Instead, it was sewed in a bag of stout ticking, made about eighteen inches square. At one side the little head was thrust through, the seam closing snugly but not too tight at either side of the neck. In this way the kitten's body was perfectly free inside the roomy bag, and the bright eyes could see the friendly faces about, while all chance of sudden flight was prevented. A loop of broad tape served as a strap handle, which the young owner slung over one shoulder on leaving the car, and carried her pet with ease and satisfaction to both.

A Dinner For $1.50.

A dollar-and-a-half dinner will be found ample for one or two more than the five or six persons provided for, and one need not feel embarrassed at the sudden arrival of a guest if one has a meal such as this:

Cream of beet soup	20
Veal cutlet, breaded, with tomato sauce	35
Pease, potatoes	20
Lettuce salad, crackers and cheese	20
Caramel pudding with whipped cream	20
Coffee	10
	$1.20

This leaves a margin of thirty cents, which may be used for flowers or the little extras of the dinner table, salted almonds, jelly, olives or bonbons, or it may be laid away for such staples as olive oil or fancy cheese, or some relish to be used in an emergency.

Such a menu may be varied at pleasure. For instance, if you have guests you may add another course and have a more elaborate sweet, using the whole of your $1.50 and economizing a trifle on other things. If you omit the cheese with the salad and save a little on your dessert you will have forty cents to spend on your fish course. If crabs are cheap, as they should be in the autumn, these will be delicious deviled and served in their shells. If you are where you cannot get them, you can have timbales of any fish in market. Canned salmon, hot, with sauce tartare is always nice, or you can have a very simple course by serving large sardines broiled on toast. Canned lobster of a good brand may be converted into lobster a la Newburgh and served in ramekins (individual baking dishes), or you can have creamed oysters.—Harper's Bazar.

Oatmeal Crackers—To one pint of fine oatmeal add one gill of water; work a few minutes with a spoon; turn out a dough-board well covered with dry oatmeal; roll out to one-sixth of an inch in thickness, and cut into squares with a knife. Bake in a very slow oven. If desired, a heaping tablespoonful of desiccated cocoanut may be added. This cracker is one form of the Scotch "bannock."

Minced-Meat Turnovers—Sift one cup of entire wheat flour, one teaspoonful of baking powder and one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt into a bowl. Rub in one tablespoonful of butter and milk enough to moisten and make a dough that will roll easily. Roll out on a floured board and cut with a five-inch patty cutter. Put a tablespoonful of minced meat on one-half of the round. Fold the other half and pinch the edges together. Bake about twenty minutes.

Sponge Cake (a fine old-fashioned recipe)—Beat two cups granulated sugar with the yolks of six eggs until light and foamy; add gradually four tablespoonfuls cold water; stir in, beating all the time, two scant cups of sifted flour; when well beaten fold in carefully and lightly the whites of the eggs, which have been beaten to a stiff froth with one-quarter teaspoonful of salt; bake in a moderate oven, not allowing it to brown until it has risen all that it will; flavor with one teaspoonful of lemon extract.

FARM LABORER HOARDS A FORTUNE

Death of a Man Whose Only Interest In Life Was to Save Money—Left $50,000.

By the death of Victor Williams at the home of his nephew in Depauville, Northern New York has lost one of its most eccentric characters. He never received more than the wages of a laborer, and yet by hoarding that which he earned and investing it, he accumulated a fortune variously estimated at from $50,000 to $100,000.

The only interest the man found in life was saving money, and this he enjoyed as most men enjoy spending money. He worked on farms as a laborer for his board and what money he could get, and he saved every cent. As his little hoard accumulated he would put it out at interest, loaning it on farms where he had worked and the value of which he knew to a certainty. Few men ever saw him spend a cent, and none ever saw him take a chance. As the years rolled by farm titles came to him, and he hoarded land as he had hoarded money. When the income from his farms and mortgages would have given him a living much better than that enjoyed by his neighbors, he still continued to work and to save. Hundreds of acres of splendid farming land were his absolutely, and he had mortgages on many more.

In the latter years of his life this strange man worked less, as he was obliged to devote more of his time to the collection of rent and interest. At least twice a year he would start on his long trip collecting, always walking, despite the fact that he had long outlived the allotted threescore years and ten. Over one arm he carried a pair of cowhide boots and in these he carried his money and securities. At the end of each trip he would come to Watertown to deposit his money, for he had none of the miser's distrust of banks.

In all these years no man has ever been able to say that Victor Williams was not scrupulously honest, and there was never a shadow on his integrity. He would wrong no man and would allow no man to wrong him, and above all things despised a man who would not keep a promise.

Victor Williams was born at Point Peninsula, New York, about eighty-five years ago. He had some educational advantages, and was naturally bright. At one time he taught school in the town of Lyme, and it was thought that he contemplated a professional career. Those few who remember him in those days say that he was bright in conversation and well dressed. There is a story, now almost a legend, that he was disappointed in love, and from that time his only interest in life was the accumulation of money.

Woodcock Imported From Japan.

"I dined not long since with a friend who is a great epicure, and who treated me to a novel dish," said Mr. H. Humphrey Read, a gentleman who stands high in the social and business circles of Philadelphia. "The feature of this dinner, was woodcocks that came all the way from Japan, and I want to say that the long voyage and necessary refrigeration in no wise detracted from the toothsome qualities of the birds. In truth, they were delicious, and compared favorably with our finest home-grown game.

"This friend gets them regularly during the season, but at a cost that seems ruinously extravagant. He is willing to pay the price, however, for he maintains that there is nothing in the way of wild fowl on this continent comparable to the woodcock from the land of the Mikado."—Washington Post.

Failure of the Display of Leonids.

The display of Leonids has been very disappointing, only a few having been seen. It is probable that their orbit has become changed, taking them further away from us. Assistant Professor Wendell, of Harvard University, says that unless during the next thirty-three years there shall be another change in the orbit of the meteors, bringing them back near the earth, we shall see no more of the ancient November shower of Leonids. The few which have been seen this year were stray meteors which had wandered out of the regular path. The principal cause of the change in the orbits of the Leonids is that there has been some disturbance in space which has brought a large body near the path of the Leonids, thus exerting an attraction on them and causing them to change their orbit.—Scientific American.

Stole the Old Man's Coffin Boards.

Joseph Sims, the old man of Cuckoo, Louisa County, who had prepared the boards for his coffin in anticipation of approaching death, has much improved. About three weeks ago some cruel thief stole these boards. Mr. Sims determined that his preparations for burial should not be interfered with. He therefore prepared other boards for his casket, and these he had placed beneath the mattress of the bed in which he sleeps. Mr. Sims is believed to be 102 years old. He was for a long time believed to be only eighty-two, but records have recently been found which indicate that he was born in 1798.—Baltimore Sun.

Small Horses For the Army.

The experience of the British in South Africa is said to have demonstrated the superiority of small horses to the larger as draft animals in the field of hostilities. They can go longer without food, it is said, can do just as much work and make a smaller target for the enemy.—Chicago Chronicle.

SECOND CENTURY GOSPEL.

German Egyptologists Examining an Interesting Papyrus.

An interesting papyrus is now being examined at the Strasburg Library. It was purchased in a fragmentary condition from Cairo merchants early in 1899 and has already proved of the first importance. According to German Egyptologists and theological savants the fragments are pages of a missing Gospel which was rejected as unauthentical in the third century but was widely accepted in the second.

The papyrus dates from the fifth century, but the character of the Greek words which are textually reproduced proves that the original manuscript belongs to the second century. A feature is the very close connection apparently existing between it and the Logia of Christ, the recovery of which three years ago caused a sensation. It is suggested that both are practically pages of the same manuscript, namely, "The Version of the Gospel According to the Egyptians."

As to the result of five years' work, another fine papyrus roll in the British Museum has just been published. It was written between 70 and 80 A. D., and is a collection of folk legends current in Egypt at that tim . The hero of the stories is Siosiris, son of Khamuas, Priest of Memphis. Many of the passages suggest that it is an adaption of the story of Christ as told by His disciples, and if so, it is certainly the earliest record known, being less than twenty years after the introduction of Christianity into Egypt by St. Mark in 67 A. D.

Siosiris was a miraculous child. His mother's name was revealed to his father in a dream in which these words were spoken to him: "His name shall be Siosiris, for he shall do many marvels in Egypt." He is described as being great, big and strong. He went to school, rivalled the scribe who taught and began to talk to the scribes in the House of Life.

All the land wondered at him, saying: "Behold the boy who reached twelve years of age and there was no scribe in Memphis who could equal him in reading, writing and magic."

Siosiris takes his father to Hades, where the cycles of the Land of Death are described. Here, also, are many stories of Jewish-Christian origin; for example, the story of the rich man and Lazarus. The doctrine of future punishment, not found in Egyptian rituals, is here clearly stated. Later is an account of a contest between Siosiris and the magicians of Ethiopia, which is strangely reminiscent of the story of Moses. One magician says: "Cast my spell upon Egypt and cause the people to pass three days and nights without seeing light." Even the story of Moses and the bullrushes is given. One magician rebukes the other as follows: "Art thou not Hor, the son of Negress, whom I saved in the reeds of Ra?"

WORDS OF WISDOM.

Conduct is three-fourths of life.

It takes only one to end a quarrel.

Every noble work is at first impossible.

The best hearts are always the bravest.

It matters not how a man dies, but how he lives.

Wealth is not his that has it, but his that enjoys it.

Confidence is a plant of slow growth in an aged bosom.

Increased means and increased leisure are the two civilizers of man.

Economy is half the battle of life; it is not so hard to earn money as to spend it well.

The reason most people are poor is because they spend their money before they get it.

There is nothing settled in manners, but the laws of behavior yield to the energy of the individual.

It is not what he has, nor even what he does, which expresses directly the worth of a man, but what he is.

He who has a thousand friends has not one to spare, and he who has one enemy shall meet him everywhere.

A feverish ambition to accumulate a fortune, which may be called our national distemper, is incompatible with peace of mind.

Deceit and falsehood, whatever conveniences they may for a time promise or produce, are in the sum of life, obstacles to happiness.

A sentiment is a conviction which has been worked over in the heat of emotion, and then laid away in the mind to shape action when occasion calls and there is no time to think.

First White Woman in Boston.

Anne Pollard was the first white female that trod upon the soil of Boston. Hudson's Point, now the head of Charlestown bridge, but formerly the site of the old ferry, was probably the first place where Anne left the impress of her foot. Her portrait, at the age of 103 years, is in the possession of the Massachusetts Historical Society, and her deposition at the age of eighty-nine years was used to substantiate the location of Blackstone's house.

The Mark of Genius.

A stage-struck aspirant approached an actor-manager lately.

"Well," asked the gent of the furbished coat, "what 'er your qualifications?"

"Oh," replied the youth meditatively, "I don't know, quite; but," he added quickly, "I can go a long time without food."

The manager saw that the youth had the root of the matter in him, and he was engaged.—Topical Times.

THE BANNER.

Printed and Published Every Thursday at Clanton, Chilton County, Ala.

Entered at the postoffice at Clanton, Ala., as second-class mail matter.

"Here shall the press the people's rights maintain,
Unawed by influence and unbribed by gain,
Here patriot truth her glorious precepts draw,
Pledged to religion, liberty and law."

Subscription, yearly . . . $1.00
Invariably in Advance.

Address all communications to
THE BANNER,
Clanton, Ala.

OUR NEW CENTURY OFFER

THE BANNER finished the last century in excellent condition, but we wish to commence the new with a large number of new subscribers, and for that purpose have much pleasure in making the following offer:

The Banner one year (52 papers) for 75 cents.

The Banner one year and the N. Y. World Almanac and Encyclopedia for 1901, over 600 pages, $1.00

The Banner and Home & Farm, both papers one year for $1.00

The Banner and Birmingham Age Herald, both papers one year for $1.25

The Banner and Thrice-a-Week World—four papers every week for one year for $1.50

The Banner and Montgomery Advertiser, both papers one year for $1.50

The Banner and Atlanta Constitution and Home & Farm—all three for one year for $1.50

The Banner and Atlanta Constitution and your choice of a number of other periodicals—all three for 1 year for $1.50.

The Banner and American Monthly Review of Reviews—both one year for $2.75

Hon. John H. Parker Announces.

In this issue of The Herald Hon. John H. Parker announces that he will be a candidate for Delegate to the Constitutional Convention from this Senatorial District. The people of Elmore county all know John Parker and know that he is eminently well qualified to fill most creditably the office to which he aspires. He was the nominee to the Convention which Gov. Johnston killed, and it appears most fitting that he should receive the nomination this time. He is a safe man for the people of the counties of Elmore, Chilton and Shelby to send to the Convention from this Senatorial District.—Wetumpka Herald

THE State executive committee of the Democratic party of Alabama met at Montgomery on Tuesday, and the following business was done:

1. Call State Convention to meet in this city on March 19th.
2. County Committees to meet February 28th to call beat meetings or primaries as they may determine.
3. Beat meetings and primaries to be held March 9th to select delegates to county convention.
4. County Convention or primaries to be held March 14th.
5. Representation of each county the same as in the last Democratic convention.
6. The qualification of voters the same as in last election—only Democrats, those who voted State ticket in last election, being allowed to participate.
7. Convention made a party measure.

The municipal election at Clanton on Monday was a hotly contested one, both sides putting out their utmost strength.

There were two tickets in the field, one headed by J. P. VanDerveer for Mayor, with W. I. Mullins, E. M. Pinckard, Tipton Mullins, and G. Higgins for Councilmen, and the other headed by Leroy Watts for Mayor, with W. T. Callen, Dr. W. E. Stewart, W. A. Middleton and Dr. E. A. Matthews for Councilmen.

The first named ticket proved the successful one, VanDerveer receiving 11 more votes than Watts, and his ticket coming out in the same way, G. Higgins leading the entire ticket by three votes.

THE constitutional convention is beginning to be the prominent feature, and candidates are figuring on their chances of election.

NO CHANGE WANTED.

On Saturday last, promptly at 11 o'clock, the court house at Clanton was farely well filled pursuant to call, to discuss the Stock, Road and Prohibition laws of this county.

L. H. Reynolds was elected chairman, and Frank Crichton secretary. The roll was called and every beat in the county responded, but there was only one delegate from Beat 8.

Stock law was first taken up, and J. R. Vinson, of Beat 6, made a motion that Representative L. B. Pounds, be instructed to inform the Legislature that stock law was not needed in Chilton county.

Representative Pounds remarked he would in any case oppose stock law because he was impressed with the fact that a majority of our people were opposed to it. He said he had seen no disposition on the part of the Legislature to run any measure, local in its nature, over the wishes of the people.

W. B. Strock of Beat 5 offered an amendment that the question of stock law be referred to the different sections of the county. A discussion then arose as to how a vote should be taken, some arguing that where beat meetings had been held and properly accredited delegates sent they should be allowed to cast the full vote of the meetings they represented. It was finally decided that every man present shall be entitled to vote. W. H. Conway said Beat 1 held a meeting at which 47 was present and only 1 was in favor of stock law. J. F. Johnson said in Beat 8 about 60 met and only 1 was in favor of stock law. Albert Thompson of Beat 5 moved that Mr. Strock's amendment be tabled, and it was so ordered.

The vote was then taken, the result being 185 voted against the proposed stock law, and 2 for it.

The next subject for discussion was the prohibition law. J. R. Vinson, of Beat 6, made a motion that our representative be instucted to imform the Legislature that no change is desired in the prohibition law of Chilton county.

Rev. F. M. Woods was called for and made a strong and vigorous speech in behalf of prohibition. He was followed by Profs. R. A. Rasco and E. Y. McMorries, and L. H. Reynolds, C. L. Langston and others, all opposing any change in the prohibition law.

W. C. Edler explained that the proposed change so far as Thorsby was concerned had nothing to do with whiskey, it was merely to give the grape-growers an opportunity to dispose of the pure juice of the grape.

Representative Pounds, speaking of domestic wines, said he thought it would be an improvment to reduce the quantity which might be sold to one gallon, and that it should be sold under the man's own lable with a guarantee that it contained nothing but the pure juice of the grape.

The vote was then taken, 169 voting in favor of no change in the prohibition law, and one favoring a change.

Road law was next on the program, and E. H. Parrish of Beat 4, made a motion that our present road law remain just as it is.

W. H. Conway, of Beat 1, argued that the existing law was deficient and a change was needed. W. S. Cox of Beat 1 and J. R. Vinson opposed any change.

L. B. Pounds explained the provisions of the road law he had prepared and spoke in favor of its adoption.

M. F. Lett said the old system had failed and we needed a new and better system.

W. A. Mims of Beat 9 was in favor of the proposed change, and John Strock of Beat 5 pleaded for us to get out of the rut and into the better system.

A. L. Glasscock of Beat 2 thought we were doing pretty well as we were, and R. J. Williams of Beat 3 spoke in favor of no change.

W. H. Conway moved an amendment that we accept the new road law prepared by Representative Pounds, but on motion of Elijah Mims, of Beat 9, the amendment was tabled.

L. H. Reynolds said he was not in favor of the Pounds bill, and thought by each beat purchasing some road plows and paying the overseers one dollar per day, the present law would do very well.

The vote was then taken, 56 voting in favor of the road law remaining as it is, and 35 voting for a change.

The meeting then adjourned at 2 p. m.

Hon. Tipton Mullins, one of the Presidential Electors of the State, went and cast his vote at the capitol on Monday.

Mr. W. F. Claughton, of Verbena, has been reappointed watchman at the capitol. He's a good man in the right place.

CORRESPONDENCE

(continued from 3d col. page 1)

introduced by Mr. Langston and others, was only to shut up the hogs, goats and sheep, and wouldn't affect cattle and horses. As the value of the hogs, goats and sheep raised in Chilton county in ten years won't pay the cost and expense of fencing against them them three years, then there is no sense in opposing that bill. My friends start over again and think, think. P. C. SMITH.

Stops the Cough and Works off the Cold.

Laxative Bromo-Quinine Tablets cure a cold in one day. No Cure No Pay. Price 25 cents.

Verbena, Jan. 14, 1900

Editor Banner.—Having attended the mass meeting at Clanton last Saturday and being deeply impressed with the workings of said meetings, I hope, as I am comparatively a stranger in your county, your numerous readers will pardon me for being so assuming. You are doubtless aware that a constitutional convention will assemble in Montgomery this summer. This body should be composed of our best men. Personal animosities and political bias should yield to our better judgment in the selection of members; and men best fitted for the work should be selected. And in looking over the list of those suggested, or those to be suggested, as far at least as I am informed, I find the names of some good men, but I think for superiority and intellectual endowments the Hon. L. H. Reynolds, his great worth as a citizen, his knowledge of his people, his usefulness as a citizen, his courage, both personal and political life, are well known to the people of this county, and we, the voters of precinct No. five, now take the liberty (without his knowledge) to suggest him as a candidate from this county. P. S. Let us hear from the voters of the county.

J. I. GRANT.

A Deep Mystery.

It is a mystery why women endure Backache, Headache, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Melancholy, Fainting and Dizzy Spells when thousands have proved that Electric Bitters will quickly cure such troubles. "I suffered for years with kidney trouble," writes Mrs. Phebe Cherley, of Peterson, Ia., and a lame back pained me so I could not dress myself, but Electric Bitters wholly cured me, and although 73 years old, I now am able to do all my housework." It overcomes Constipation, improves Appetite, gives perfect health. Only 50c at Clanton drug store.

Mr. J. W. Collins, of Thorsby, butchered three hogs weighing one thousand and twenty pounds. The largest weighed five hundred and two pounds.

Getting Thin

is all right, if you are too fat; and all wrong, if too thin already.

Fat, enough for your habit, is healthy; a little more, or less, is no great harm. Too fat, consult a doctor; too thin, persistently thin, no matter what cause, take Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil.

There are many causes of getting too thin; they all come under these two heads: over-work and under-digestion.

Stop over-work, if you can; but, whether you can or not, take Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, to balance yourself with your work. You can't live on it—true—but, by it, you can. There's a limit, however; you'll pay for it.

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil is the readiest cure for "can't eat," unless it comes of your doing no work—you can't long be well and strong, without some sort of activity.

The genuine has this picture on it, take no other.

If you have not tried it, send for free sample, its agreeable taste will surprise you.
SCOTT & BOWNE Chemists, 409 Pearl Street, New York.
50c. and $1.00; all druggists.

ATLANTA CONSTITUTION

The Atlanta Constitution wants good agents everywhere. Men who will get out and canvass and hustle for new business. Many who have to go over their own and adjoining counties on business can take the Constitution along as the best side line. Country doctors, tax collectors, rural route mail carriers, nursery men, lawyers and good workmen, could all realize among these prizes and make their commission besides. A fair salary proposition for any man.

The Weekly Constitution makes special feature of its agricultural page, which is presided over by Colonel R. J. Redding, director of the Georgia experiment farm, and a man who is recognized as an expert on all agricultural topics. He gives a full page every week on agricultural matters. A page is devoted to the women and a page to children, these two departments being presided over by Mrs. William King.

The Constitution has just completed the 31st year of its existence, Clark Howell being the editor and Colonel W. A. Hemphill its business manager. Its name is a household word in every Southern State, from Virginia to Texas. It has always been in especially close touch with the agricultural masses of the South, and having reached a circulation which carries it into 150,000 homes it has won a unique distinction which ranks it among the greatest of American weekly newspapers.

The Constitution will send a sample copy of its great Weekly free to any one sending his own name and the name of six neighbors, on a postal card.

Every man should take his county newspaper before anything else, and next to this he should take a good general newspaper, such as The Constitution. His county paper gives him the local home news, which is not supplied by a newspaper furnishing the general news from all parts of the country and from all over the world. Before a man seeks information from the outside, he should first feel sure that he is being kept posted on what is going on at home. When, however, the opportunity is offered to get the best weekly newspaper in this country with your home paper, the inducement is such as to elicit prompt response from our readers.

We will be glad to receive clubbing subscription with this paper and The Constitution, and if there are any who are now subscribers to this paper, who wish to take the Constitution also, we will be glad to receive subscriptions to the latter and forward item, having authority from that paper that to do so. The Constitution should be in every southern home!

Beat Out of an Increase of His Pension.

A Mexican war veteran and prominent editor writes, "Seeing the advertisement of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, I am reminded that as a soldier in Mexico in '47 and '48, I contracted Mexican diarrhoea and this remedy has kept me from getting an increase in my pension for on every renewal a dose of it restores me." It is unequalled as a quick cure for diarrhoea and is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by Clanton, Drug Co. and D. I. Doramus, Verbena.

Sportland.

The heavy rains the past week caused quite a hindrance of the mail distribution at school.

Mr. E. Smith, of Goodwater, arrived 9th inst. and joined Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Smith in a visit to relatives in Fayetteville, Tenn. We wish the old people a glorious visit as they will meet with brothers whom they have not seen since 1865. Mr. Henry Cox while squirrel hunting the other day saw a very fine deer in Mr. Jas. Smith's field. Hurrah for Sportland. Mr. Bill Smitherman at one shot killed three wild geese and crippled the fourth sufficiently for its capture the other day. Mrs. Lucy Mckee visited quincey last week.

We advise that Messrs. Gray & Downs, of Clanton, order another car of mules to supply the unlimited desire for them for our high-minded farmers. Miss Turner Mullins we are delighted to say is up again from a severe attack of la-grippe. Mr. Eugene Connell, of Texas, who drummed on dry goods in Texas, is visiting here. May the Banner ever survive. SPORT.

It Girdles the Globe.

The fame of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, as the best in the world, extends round the earth. It's the one perfect healer of Cuts, Corns, Burns, Bruises, Sores, Scalds, Boils, Ulcers, Felons, Aches, Pains and all Skin Eruptions. Only infallible Piles cure. 25c a box at Clanton drug store.

Gone Democratic.

Cold weather will soon be here and you need wraps, we have them to suit all.

A good wrap for 50c; a better one for 75c; a nice shoulder silk lined and fur around the neck, black plush only $1.50; plush cape, one that will cost you $7.50 to $10.00 in a city, our only $5; we have them to suit all, come and see for yourself.

CLOTHING, well, we can fit your boys, husbands, grandfathers and all boy's suits from 75c up; men's suits from

A nice line of DRESS GOODS from 20 to 75c per yard; in pink, blue, cream and other colors 10c per yard; checks 5c; ing, EE, 5c; calicoes, 5c; a nice quilt top for 50cents.

Children's shoes 25c up; men's shoes from $1 to $3.50; shoes from 75c to $3.00.

Fascinators from 25 to 75c, any color; infant hoods, men's hats from 75c up $3.50, water proof in black, blue, inches wide, double width, only 50c per yard, 1 pound of for 5 cents, and everything kept in a first-class store at the we carry nothing but reliable goods and anything that is we will make it alright. Thanking our host of customers liberal patronage, we stand ready to serve you with first at a small profit. Yours for business.

SARTOR & KICKER
CLAN

THE WHITE HOUSE

at Washington, the home of the President, is one of the finest ings in the land, and the white store house at Clanton can finest stock of

GENERAL MERCHANDISE

to be found in this part of the country. We carry a fine Groceries, Clothing, Shoes, etc., and will treat you well.

J. B. DOWNS, Clanton

C. R. MULLINS

AGENT FOR THE LIVERPOOL & LONDON & GLOBE FIRE INSURANCE OF ENGLAND. THE LONDON & LANCASHIRE FIRE INSURANCE CO. OF NEW YORK, formerly represented by W. L. Sampey. THE ETNA ACCIDENT INSURANCE CO. OF HARTFORD, CONN. THE OLD MUTUAL BENEFIT LIFE INSURANCE CO. OF NEW JERSEY AND THE SINGER MANUFACTURING CO., the largest Sewing Machine Company in the world.

We know you are interested in the problem of getting full for the money you spend no matter what the outlay is for, I presume to advise you along all lines, but when it comes to Sewing Machine for yourself and family I am in a position some valuable suggestions. For over fifty years The Company done nothing but study the needs and requirements of the people the matter of Sewing Machines, and our large business is the we are making and furnishing what they want. The styles are very latest, unsurpassed in lasting qualities and, best of all, prices are reasonable, and the terms within the reach of all. placing our machines in the leading families all over the land you want the best looking, the lightest running and the finest attachments ever bought, call for the High Arm Singer. You and a complete stock of these machines at the Singer Office, Clanton. Machines from $5.00 to $65.00 for cash or on time. Needles, Cams, Shuttles and Attachments, and the best oil and genuine Machine Oil manufactured, every bottle bearing the trade mark. 10, 15 and 20 cent bottles.

My regular office days are Saturdays and Mondays. For full particulars call on or address

C. R. MULLINS,
SINGER OFFICE CLANTON

A WHOLESALE HOUSE FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE CONSUMER

We save you the Retailer's profit. We sell direct to the People at the same price that your Retailer pays for his goods. We buy direct from the Manufacturer and pay cash for our goods. You can buy one bottle from us at the same price you Retailer pays per dozen. $1 preparations, 50 to 75c. 50c preparations, 25 to 40c. 25c preparations, 10 to 20c. 15c preparations, 7 to 12c. 10c preparations, 6 to 8c.

OUR WHISKEY DEPARTMENT

Is the best in the State. All whiskey sold 25 per cent less than you can buy from any other firm. Try a quart of our J. M. TIP'S 5 YEAR OLD VIRGINIA RYE at 75c, if you are not satisfied that it is equal to any brand you buy elsewhere for $1, we will refund your money. Send us your orders. We are your friends and guarantee everything we sell.

COLLIER DRUG CO. 1926 First Avenue BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

NEW AND BIGGER STOCK!

To meet the increasing demands of business we are now laying in a NEW full line of

CLOTHING, HATS, SHOES, ETC.

all in the Latest styles and Newest Fashions. Our GROCERIES and GENERAL MERCHANDISE are of the finest grade and always fresh.

OUR PRICES ARE BASED ON THE SMALLEST MARGIN OF PROFIT.

WE SHALL BE PLEASED TO SERVE YOU

KEMP & GILES, Clanton, Ala.

$10,000 TO BE GIVEN AWAY

WOULD YOU LIKE TO TRY FOR IT?

If so, write THE WEEKLY ADVERTISER, Montgomery, Ala., and they will send you the list of prizes, and the conditions upon which you may get one of their great prizes to be given away during next May.

TOWN ITEMS

[illegible] to-day 9 cents.

[illegible] same date last year 7 cents.

[illegible] receipts to date:

	1900	1899
Pickard & Co.	2196	2729
Mullins	1828	1993
Wilson	560	318
Downs	550	270
Total	4734	5310

Mrs. B. F. Markwood, of Oakfield, Fla., was a visitor here Sat[illegible]

Miss Mollie Davis, of Boseman, visited Clanton Saturday.

Mrs. Langston, of Jemison, was in town Monday.

Miss Minnie Muse, of Jemison, is spending a few days with friends here.

Mrs. Ollie Robinson and son John B. have returned home to Birmingham after a pleasant visit to friends in Clanton.

Mrs. F. W. Duke, of Prattville, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Phipps.

Mr. F. W. Duke, of Prattville, was a visitor here last week.

Mr. W. H. S. Dorsey, of Atlanta, visited Clanton Tuesday.

Mrs. S. A. Blassingame is visiting Boseman this week.

Mr. Scott Chesnutt, of Birmingham, is in town.

Mrs. A. E. Evans and daughter, Miss Fretch, have returned home from Birmingham.

Cut this out and take it to Clanton drug store and D. I. Doramus, Verbena, and get a free sample of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, the best physic. They also cure disorders of the stomach, biliousness and headache.

Miss Angelina Smith, of Coosa, is visiting her grandparents here, Mr. and Mrs. Patric Smith.

Judge Adams returned from Texas last Sunday. We are glad to say that his son, J. B., doing as well as possible after his accident.

Mr. Ira Champion, of Montgomery, was in town Wednesday.

Mr. Felix Eiland, of Thorsby, was a visitor here this morning.

There will be a horse-swapping convention at Clanton on Saturday, January 26.

Mr. E. E. Connell, formerly of Texas, and recently of Texas, will leave for Havannah, Cuba, in a few days.

Rev. F. A. Gibson has again been called to his former charge at Selma, Ala.

Messrs. Sartor & Kicker have dissolved partnership, Mr. Kicker retiring, while Mr. W. H. Sartor will continue the business at the old stand.

Mr. J. W. Franzen, of Thorsby, was in town this morning.

Mr. J. R. Kemp, we regret to say, is in a very low state.

YOU KNOW WHAT YOU ARE TAKING when you take Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic because the formula is plainly printed on every bottle, showing that it is simply Iron and Quinine in a tasteless form. No Cure, No Pay. 50c.

Marriage licenses have been issued this week by the Probate Judge to the following persons.

Floida Merchant and Miss Nellie Cox; Monroe D. Lawrence and Miss Ebby E. Fox; Mr. W. S. Turner and Miss Zella G. Chambers.

New Salem.

The fruit supper at Mr. Bussey's was a decided success. Mr. R. M. Smith, of Bessemer, has been down a few days hunting. Mr. Walter Hill, who has been spending a while with home folks has returned to his work in Montgomery. Come again Walter, we are always glad to see you. Miss Carrie Mims has returned home from a pleasant visit to friends and relatives at Gordo. Miss Katie Hill entertained a number of her friends Sunday night. We must congratulate our young people for attending Sunday-school every Sunday; we are glad to have such a nice and flourishing school.

SCRIBBLER.

Blown to Atoms

The old idea that the body sometimes needs a powerful, drastic, cathartic pill has been exploded; Dr. King's New Life Pills, which are perfectly harmless gently stimulate liver and bowels to expel poisonous matter, cleanse the system and absolutely cure Constipation and sick Headache. Only 25c at Clanton drug store.

on be here and you em to suit all.

one for 75c; a nice shoulder
, black plush only $1.50;
$7.50 to $10 on in a city, o come and see for yourself
t your boys, husbands, om 75c up, men's suits from 5 from 20 to 75c per yard;
ers 10c per yard, checks 5c;
nd top for 50 cents
shoes from $1 to $3 50; L
any color, infant hoods, er proof in black, blue, bro
c per yard 1 pound of goo
a first-class store at the sam and anything that is not a our host of customers fo serve you with first-class isiness.

KICKER, CLANT

E HOUSE

sident, is one of the finest e house att Clanton can

RCHANDISE
untry. We carry a fine
I will treat you well.

OWNS, Clanton

LLINS
ONDON & GLOBE FIRE INS
ION & LANCASHIRE FIR
DOK, formerly represented by ipes
E CO. OF HARTFORD, CON
SURANCE CO. OF NEWARK
URING CO., the largest Sewing
in the world

the problem of getting fall hat the outlay is for. I w but when it comes to buy nly I am in a position to r fifty years the Company
l requirements of the peo our large business is pro ey want. The styles are qualities and, best of all within the reach of all. W lanchise all over the land
t running and the finest
High Arm Singer. You
es at the Singer Office, Cla er cash or on time. Ne ts, and do not and only ery bottle bearing the S ays and Mondays. For fur

LLINS,
SINGER OFFICE CLANTON

FOR THE BENEFIT
UMER
rofit. We sell direct to th Retailer pays for his good turer and pay cash for ou om us at the same price you rations, 50 to 75c. 50c pr ions, 10 to 20c. 15c prepa
6 to 8c.

EPARTMENT
ey sold 25 per cent less tha
Try a quart of our J. Ma
5c, if you are not satisfie y elsewhere for $1, we w orders. We are your frien

O. 1926 First Avenue
BIRMINGHAM, A

R STOCK!
the increasing demands o are now laying in a NEW

HING, HATS
OES, ETC.
est styles and Newest Fash
RIES and GENERAL are of the finest gra nd always fresh.

THE SMALLEST MAR
IT.
D TO SERVE YOU
S, Clanton, Ala

GIVEN AWA
D TRY FOR IT!
ERTISER, Montgomery,
of prizes, and the condit
reat prizes to be given a

TOWN ITEMS

Commissioners' court meets second Monday in February, first Monday in May, first Monday in August, second Monday in October and first Monday in November.

CLANTON COTTON MART

Price to-day 9 cents.
Same date last year 7 cents

Receipts received to date:	1900	1899
Pinckard & Co.	2196	2729
Mullins	1828	1893
Wilson	360	318
Devaughn	350	270
Total	4734	5210

Mrs. B. F. Markwood, of Oakfield, Fla., was a visitor here Saturday.

Miss Mattie Davis, of Bozeman, visited Clanton Saturday.

Mrs. Langston, of Jemison, was down Monday.

Miss Minnie Muse, of Jemison, is spending a few days with friends here.

Mrs. Olive Robinson and son, Mr. B. Robinson, returned home to Birmingham after a pleasant visit to friends in Clanton.

Mrs. J. W. Duke, of Prattville, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Phillips.

Mr. E. W. Duke, of Prattville, was a visitor here last week.

Mr. S. H. S. Dorsey, of Atlanta, visited Clanton Tuesday.

Mrs. S. Blassingame is visiting in Bozeman this week.

Mr. Scott Chestnutt, of Birmingham, is down.

Mrs. A. E. Evans and daughter, Miss Fred, have returned home from Birmingham.

Cut this out and take it to Clanton drug store and D. I. Deramus, Verbena, and get a free sample of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, the best physic. They also cure disorders of the stomach, dizziness and headache.

Miss Angelina Smith, of Coosa, is visiting her grandparents here, Mr. and Mrs. Patric Smith.

Judge Adams returned from Texas last Sunday. We are glad to say his son, J. B., doing as well possible after his accident.

Mr. Ira Champion, of Montgomery, was in town Wednesday.

Mr. Felix Eiland, of Thorsby, was a visitor here this morning.

There will be a horse-swapping convention at Clanton on Saturday, January 26.

Mr. E. E. Connell, formerly of Verbo, and recently of Texas, will leave for Havannah, Cuba, in a few days.

Rev. F. A. Gibson has again been called to his former charge at Verbo, Ala.

Messrs. Sartor & Kicker have dissolved partnership, Mr. Kicker retiring, while Mr. W. H. Sartor will continue the business at the old stand.

Mr. J. W. Franzen, of Thorsby, was in town this morning.

Mr. J. R. Kemp, we regret to learn is in a very low state.

YOU KNOW WHAT YOU ARE TAKING when you take Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic because the formula is plainly printed on every bottle showing that it is simply iron and quinine in a tasteless form. No Cure, No Pay. 50c

Marriage licenses have been issued this week by the Probate Judge to the following persons.

Mr. Florida Merchant and Miss Ellie Cox; Monroe D. Lawrence and Miss Ebby E. Fox; Mr. W. S. Turner and Miss Zella G. Chambers.

New Salem.

The fruit supper at Mr. Bussey's was a decided success. Mr. R. M. Smith, of Bessemer, has been down for a few days hunt. Mr. Walter Hill who has been spending a while with home folks has returned to his home in Montgomery. Come again Walter, we are always glad to see you. Miss Carrie Mims has returned home from a pleasant visit to friends and relatives at Gordo. Miss Katie Hill entertained a number of her friends Sunday night. We must congratulate our young people for attending Sunday-school every Sunday; we are glad to have such a nice and flourishing school.

SUBSCRIBER.

Blown to Atoms

The old idea that the body sometimes needs a powerful, drastic, purgative pill has been exploded; Dr. King's New Life Pills, which are perfectly harmless gently stimulate liver and bowels to expel poisonous matter, cleanse the system and absolutely cure Constipation and Sick Headache. Only 25c at Clanton drug store.

FALL GOODS

Now on sale and daily arriving a large and varied stock of goods. Prices as low as can be made on reliable merchandise and we spare no efforts to please you. Give us a call and let us figure with you on anything you want to buy. Coffins kept in stock and also trimmings for home made coffins.

E. M. PINCKARD & CO

Why try to stick things with something that doesn't stick? Buy MAJOR'S CEMENT; you know it sticks. Nothing breaks away from it. Stick to MAJOR'S CEMENT. Buy once, you will buy forever. There is nothing as good; don't believe the substitutes.

MAJOR'S RUBBER and MAJOR'S LEATHER. Two separate cements—the best. Insist on having them. ESTABLISHED 1876. 15 and 25 cents per bottle at all dealers. MAJOR CEMENT CO., NEW YORK CITY.

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &C.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

Dust of the sea is one of the mysteries which perplex sailors. No matter how carefully the decks of sailing ships may be washed down in the morning an enormous quantity of dust can be swept up at night.

What's in a Name?

Although the present fashion of christening children with family surnames is much to be commended for many reasons, it carries with it some awful possibilities unknown in the days of Mary Anns and John Henrys. A glance at the following list, each name of which is genuine, will illustrate sufficiently well the possibilities of nomenclature resting with parents in their choice of names for the men and women of tomorrow:

Edna Broker Mothershead, Marian English Earle, Sawyer Turner Somerset, Will W. Epp, Nealon Pray Daily, Benton Killin Savage, Owen Taylor Money, Ima Little Lamb, Broker Husbands Hart, R. U. Phelan-Goode, Marje A. Bachelor, May Truss Upp, Will Waits Wither, Waring Green Cotes, Ira Winchester Rifle, Etta Lotta Hammond-Dagger, Barber Cutting Mann, Weir Sick O'Bryan, Makin Loud Noyes, Hurd Copp Cumming, Rodenor Pullman Karr, Doody Spies Sourwine and Knott Worth Reading.—Life.

The Temple of Zeus.

All that remains of the great temple of Zeus, which was 700 years in building, is to be found about 150 yards from the foot of the Acropolis at Athens. The ruins consist of 13 columns of the Corinthian order 6½ feet in diameter and 60 feet high. It was the second largest temple erected by the Greeks, one superior to it in size being the temple of Diana at Ephesus. According to a legend, its foundation was built by Deukalion, the Greek Noah, who from this point witnessed the waters of the flood subside. An opening in the ground is said to be the orifice through which the flood disappeared.

NEW ROYAL.
High-arm Light running. Warranted 10 years. $28 and $32.

Some secondhand machines from $8 up. Send me 25 cents in silver or stamps and an old needle for sample and I will send you 1 doz. needles to fit your machine.

REPAIR WORK GUARANTEED.

L. D. POPWELL,
CLANTON.

THE NEW ENGLAND WATCH, nickle case, stem wind and stem set warranted for 12 months. Delivered anywhere with a silk cord of plate chain for $2.75. Try one if you want a good time piece cheap.

L. D. POPWELL, Clanton.

The BANNER office is the only Job Printing establishment in Chilton and Coosa counties. We give you best work at lower prices than you can get elsewhere. Give us trial

"KRUMP'S KORNER."

The owner of this Korner has again returned to it, after wandering many days in foreign lands older, uglier and we trust a little wiser in some respects. He rejoices at his return, and would be glad to see all of the good and bad people of Chilton county. I only ask don't all of you come same day, as I have not got enough to go round for dinner. I have enough yarns however to make up shortness in grubb. Come to see me anyhow and we will talk it over, and no charge for the yarns. Please remember I keep all things the farmer needs, and I will sell him

A sewing machine, a wagon, or a buggy,
A suit, a hat, a pair shoes or a knife.
Or he can call himself very lucky,
If he will just bring his wife.

Yours for health,

T. U. CRUMPTON

MAPLESVILLE, ALA.

Wamben & Peterson
CONTRACTORS AND BUILDERS

HOUSE MOVING A SPECIALTY

—DEALER IN—

ALL BUILDING MATERIALS—SASH, DOORS, BLINDS, MANTELS, ETC.

OFFICE ON JONES ST OPPOSITE BICK'S

THORSBY.

—CALL AT THE—

CASH STORE
FOR BARGAINS,

THORSBY, ALA.

OUR CASH PRICES SUBJECT TO CHANGE WITHOUT NOTICE.

15 lbs. Granulated Sugar	$1.00	2 bushel sack Meal	1.20
1 bbl Red Seal Patent Flour	4.50	1 gal water, white 150 fire test oil	18
½ bbl " " " "	2.25	1 lb Ham	15
24 lb sack " " "	60	Whole Ham, per pound	13
1 bbl Straight Family Flour	3.50	Bacon and Bulk	10-12
¼ lb sk Family Flour	50	1 lb Lard	10
100 lbs Bran	1.10	50 lbs Lard	4.50

We are handling Minneapolis Flour. Soda Crackers and Sweet Crackers, Ginger Snaps, Cheese, Lemons, Irish Potatoes always in stock. Also best Dried Fruits in the market. Also handle Roller Champion and I. E. M. Flour.

Dry Goods, Clothing, Hardware and the very best Staple and Fancy Groceries.

Fresh Fish and Oysters every Saturday.

We take Eggs, Butter, Corn, Meal, Fruit and Chickens at the highest market price in exchange for goods.

Yours to please,

A. M. JOHNSON Manager

HELP WANTED

to reduce my big stock of goods.

I have just returned from the Northern markets, where I purchased some Extraordinary Bargains

and am now offering the good People of Chilton such values as they have never known before.

READ THESE PRICES:

Dry Goods

Calicoes	from 4 cts up
Sheeting	from 5 cts up
Percale, one yard wide	7c
Black Sateen	8½c
Bleaching	from 5 cts up
Cotton Checks	5c
Ducking	per yard 9c
Gingham, best	per yard 5c

Clothing

The biggest line for the least money ever known.

Hats

Men's first-class Hats, $1.50 hat for	$1.00
Men's	75 ct hat for 50
Men's	50 ct hat for 35
Men's	25 ct hat for 15
Caps	10

Shoes

Ladies' Shoes, Spring heel, Tan	$1.00
Ladies' Oil grain	$1.00
Ladies' Fine Shoes, a $2.00 shoe	$1.35

Men's Shoes.... a $2.00 shoe for ..$1.45

Trunks, Valises, &c.

Gent's Furnishings

Shirts, White Linen bosom	each 35c
Linen Collars, any shape	each 5c
Celluloid Collars	each 5c
Hosiery	from 5 cts up
Suspenders	from 5 cts up
Handkerchiefs	3 for 5 cts and up
Neckwear, 250 styles, a 50c Tie for	25c
Umbrellas, $1 value for	65c

Notions

Best Assorted Ribbons at half price
Lace, 5c value	2c
Corsets, 75c value	35
Corsets, 35c value	22
Ladies' Belts	from 5 cts up
Scissors, a 50c pair	20
Towels	from 10 cts up
Pearl Buttons	1 dozen for c
Garterwear	per yard 5c

GROCERIES

Come and select what you want from this mammoth stock.

First Come, First Served!

YOURS TO PLEASE,

W. KANTER, Clanton

Everyone to His Taste.

And I am pleased to say that your taste and Everyone's taste can be suited at my Store, where you will find the

choicest Line of Fancy Groceries

AND CANNED GOODS

Always Fresh and New. I have no old Stock.

Dry Goods, Hats, Shoes, Gents Furnishing Goods, Fancy line of Shirts and Underwear, Notions, Hardware and General Merchandise.

Yours to serve faithfully and well,

B. H. JONES, CLANTON

BILL ARP'S LETTER

Bartow Man Says World Is Growing More and More Sinful.

COMPARES PRESENT WITH OLD TIMES

Appalling Increase In Murders and Suicides—Touches Upon the Question of Slavery.

"Sorrow endureth for a night, but joy cometh in the morning." I started to write my weekly letter last night, but I was not in a calm and serene frame of mind, and concluded to put it off till morning. I had read the morning paper that was unusually full of crimes and sin and misery, and when the evening papers came there was another catalogue of calamities, and I felt sad and depressed. When will these things stop? But I am no weeping prophet nor does the public care to read the lamentations of Jeremiah as a matter of choice. And so I have waited until sleep and rest revived me and the bright sun of the morning dispelled the mists and the gloom.

But how can an old man help comparing the present with the past? Memory is his capital stock—and his best recreation. If I was now in my teens I would be better reconciled to things as they are—to modern manners and customs and to the sin and crime of this fast and reckless age. Our young people cannot realize that there ever was a better time and a better people. Therefore they give the morality of the past no thought and the crime of the present no great concern. They look upon the fearful catalogue in the daily papers as our normal condition and many join in it to keep up with the procession.

Some apologists say that there is not much difference between now and then, but that it appears so because of the telegraph and the ten thousand newspapers that spread the news. The records of the courts tell the truth and they prove that according to the white population of our state there are ten murders to where there was one fifty years ago. There are twenty-five divorce cases to one and in our cities there are forty times as many burglaries, larcenies and shooting scrapes. The number of suicides does not appear in the courts, but the increase is not less than a hundred to one. Jefferson said that the influence of great cities was pestilential to good morals.

Just think of it. In the little city of Atlanta there were over 10,000 arrests during the past year. The nineteenth century leaves us this record as a legacy and our great concern is what are we going to do about it. Our lamentation is that the people have gotten used to it and reconciled to its continuance. It is looked upon as the normal condition of public morals and human affairs. Old men, old editors and old preachers cry aloud and spare not, but the young generation do not seem to be greatly concerned. Young men, young women and even old women commit suicide somewhere every day and the editors tell us of it in the press dispatches and pass on without comment.

What an awful condition of mental distress it must be that provokes the deliberate sacrifice of one's own life. I fear we are getting hardened to the presence of crime—hardened by daily contact with it; hardened like the rich of New York are to the misery and crime in her tenement houses and to the miserable beggars on her streets. They see them every day and pass them by without a sign, but they send large monies down here to educate a lot of lazy negroes they have never seen. What a fool, what a fanatic, what a hypocrite is human nature.

This reminds me to answer a letter of inquiry from an old Democrat who lives in New Hampshire. He wishes to know who was responsible for the slave trade that peopled this country with negroes. Some of his neighbors insist that the south did it, while the north protested against it, and New England was especially hostile to it. "How long, ah, Cataline, will thou abuse our patience?" How long will the descendants of the Puritans cover up their own iniquity? My friend will find in Appleton's American Cyclopedia, fourteenth volume, the best history of slavery and the slave trade ever published. In that he will find that slave traders from Portugal brought the first cargo of twenty negroes and landed them at Jamestown, Virginia, in 1620.

Shortly after this most of the northern colonies engaged in it and Indians were enslaved as well as negroes. The son of King Philip was sold as a slave at Plymouth in the year 1686. The slave trade between the northern colonies and Africa was carried on with vigor until 1776. In that year it was resolved by the continental congress that no more slaves should be imported. In 1788 congress extended the traffic to 1808, but the state of Georgia refused to ratify the extension and in 1798 enacted the most prohibitory laws against it.

The feeling against the traffic was stronger in the southern states than in the northern. Some of the northern states continued to carry it on long after it had been prohibited. And as late as 1841 Judge Story of Massachusetts charged the grand jury of Boston that their people were "steeped up to their eyebrows in the infamous slave trade with Africa." But New England could not make the service of the slaves profitable and so sold them to Virginia and the Carolinas and to South America as late as 1847.

When her ships could no longer dodge the pursuers from England and France the traffic came to an end and then began the howl of the abolitionists against the south for keeping them in slavery—the very negroes whose ancestors they sold to us. This is history and it is also history that after 1776 never did a slave ship land on a southern coast save once, and that was the case of the "Wanderer," who tried to land a cargo of 300 near Savannah and was seized and confiscated.

This is enough of slavery and those responsible for it. The nineteenth century has left us some good, some signal blessings, and chief among them is the great advance in the social condition of woman and the general recognition of her equality with man in most all civil rights. Unless she chains herself to a brute she is no longer a slave, but stands up side by side with her husband. Her demands for herself and her children now find a respectful audience in courts and legislatures (except, perhaps, that last miserable abortion called the Georgia legislature), and no great newspaper could pass without giving a good part of its columns for their pleasure and comfort.

Woman is fast coming to the front as mistress of the situation. In every Diogenes hoed a boy swearing on the street and he hurried off with his ruffians with them. But they got paid for it sooner or later.

A good mother writes me from Atlanta about the mutiny at the Tech, and says that the trouble with the boys of this day is the lack of discipline at home. They are not taught obedience in their early youth, and they grow up without restraint and imagine they know as much or more than parents or teachers. That is so, of course, and every parent knows it, and that accounts for many of the crimes and misdeeds that bring trouble to parents. Instead of children fearing their parents, most parents fear their children, and dread to have a rupture with them. But they get paid for it sooner or later.

Diogenes hoed a boy swearing on the street and he hurried off with his ruffians with them. But they got paid for it sooner or later.

A good mother writes me from Atlanta about the mutiny at the Tech, and says that the trouble with the boys of this day is the lack of discipline at home. They are not taught obedience in their early youth, and they grow up without restraint and imagine they know as much or more than parents or teachers. That is so, of course, and every parent knows it, and that accounts for many of the crimes and misdeeds that bring trouble to parents. Instead of children fearing their parents, most parents fear their children, and dread to have a rupture with them. But they get paid for it sooner or later.

Diogenes hoed a boy swearing on the street and he hurried off with his cane and found the father and mauled him. If he was living here now he would be kept busy mauling parents, and I reckon the fathers of those Tech boys would catch a few strokes. If a teacher has not the hearty co-operation of the parent the boy had better be sent home.—BILL ARP, in Atlanta Constitution.

LABOR WORLD.

About 1,500,000 persons are employed in the coal mines of the world.

Linen weavers of Westphalia and the Rhine will reduce output and advance prices.

Printers of Lebanon, Penn., will demand wages of twenty cents per hour after March 1.

All the coal miners in Northern Colorado have quit work, demanding increased wages.

Last year there were forty fatal and seventy-five non-fatal accidents in the Hazleton (Penn.) mining region.

On January 1 the Pennsylvania Railway pensioned 400 employes who have grown old in faithful service.

The Alabama coal miners, 10,000 in number, have received an advance of two and a half cents per ton for digging coal.

The wages of motormen and conductors on the United Traction Company, at Reading, Penn., have been increased fifteen per cent.

Notices of a fifteen per cent. reduction in wages have been posted at the twenty-nine blast furnaces in the Mahoning and Shenango valleys.

Assemblyman Samuel Prince will introduce bills in the New York Legislature for body executions on employers in suits for wages not exceeding $50, and for additional factory inspectors.

At a meeting of the German Trades League in Philadelphia the Barbers' Association reported that a wholesale crusade against Sunday opening would be started in February. Every effort will be made to enforce the law.

All disputed points between the National Metal Trades Association and the International Association of Machinists were settled at a conference in New York City. The two organizations have an agreement to end all disputes by a permanent board of arbitration.

In the recent municipal election in London very little interest was taken by women, although large numbers of them were entitled to vote for the county councillor. It is reported that not more than 22 percent of those entitled to vote cast their ballots.

The old-fashioned method of robbing a bank by blowing open the safe is becoming less and less in vogue. The first step now is to become a confidential employe.

In two instances recently robbers have been foiled because of their inability to blow safes open with dynamite. The safe-maker will now have to rest a while and give the inventor of explosives a chance to catch up.

People are still trying to find out how to prolong their days. Yet the oldest man in the world is in a New Jersey poor-house.

REV. DR. TALMAGE

DISCOURSES BY THE EMINENT DIVINE LAST SUNDAY.

Subject: The Outlook Inspiring — A Far Look Into the Future—Marvelous Advances Predicted — Religion and Science in the Next Hundred Years.

[Copyrighted 1901.]

WASHINGTON, D. C.—In this discourse Dr. Talmage tells something of what he expects the next hundred years will achieve, and declares that the outlook is most inspiring; text, II Samuel xxiii, 4, "A morning without clouds."

"What do you expect of this new century?" is the question often asked of me, and many others have been plied with the same inquiry. In the realm of invention I expect something as startling as the telegraph and the telephone and the X-ray. In the realm of poetry I expect as great poets as Longfellow and Tennyson. In the realm of religion I expect more than one Pentecost like that of 1857, when 500,000 souls professed to have been converted. I expect that universal peace will reign, and that before the arrival of the two thousandth year gunpowder will be out of use except for blasting rocks or pyrotechnic entertainment. I expect that before this new century has expired the millennium will be fully inaugurated. The twentieth century will be as much an improvement on the nineteenth century as the nineteenth century was an improvement on the eighteenth. But the conventional length of sermonic discourse will allow us only time for one hopeful consideration, and that will be the redemption of the cities.

Pulpit and printing press for the most part in our day are busy discussing the condition of the cities at this time, but would it not be healthfully encouraging to all Christian workers and to all who are toiling to make the world better if we should this morning, for a little while, look forward to the time when our cities shall be revolutionized by the gospel of the Son of God, and all the darkness of sin and trouble and crime and suffering shall be gone from the sky, and it shall be "a morning without clouds?"

Every man has pride in the city of his nativity or residence if it be a city distinguished for any dignity or prowess. Caesar boasted of his native Rome, Virgil of Mantua, Lycurgus of Sparta, Demosthenes of Athens, Archimedes of Syracuse and Paul of Tarsus. I should have suspicion of base heartedness in a man who had no escepcial interest in the city of his birth or residence—no exhilaration at the evidence of its prosperity, or its artistic embellishments, or its scientific advancement.

I have noticed that a man never likes a city where he has not behaved well! People who have a free ride in the prison van never like the city that furnishes the vehicle. When I find Argos and Rhodes and Smyrna trying to prove themselves the birthplace of Homer, I conclude right away that Homer behaved well. He liked them, and they liked him. We must not war on laudable city pride or with the idea of building ourselves up at any time to try to pull others down. Boston must continue to point to its Faneuil Hall and to its superior educational advantages; Philadelphia must continue to point to its Independence Hall, and its mint and its Girard College; New York must continue to exult in its matchless harbor, and its vast population, and its institutions of mercy, and its ever widening commerce; Washington must continue to rejoice in the fact that it is the most beautiful city under the sun.

If I should find a man coming from any city, having no pride in that city, that city having been the place of his nativity or now being the place of his residence, I would feel like asking him right away: "What mean thing have you been doing there? What outrageous thing have you been guilty of that you do not like the place?"

Every city is influenced by the character of the men who founded it. Romulus impressed his life upon Rome. The pilgrim fathers will never relax their grasp from New England. William Penn left a legacy of fair dealing and integrity to Philadelphia, and you can now, any day, on the streets of that city, see his customs, his manners, his morals, his hat, his wife's bonnet and his meeting house. So the Hollanders, founding New York, left their impression on all the following generations. So this capital of the nation is a perpetual eulogy upon the Washington who founded it.

I thank God for the place of our residence, and, while there are a thousand things that ought to be corrected and many wrongs that ought to be overthrown, while I thank God for the past, I look forward this morning to a glorious future. I think we ought—and I take it for granted that you are interested in this great work of evangelizing the cities and saving the world—we ought to toil with the sunlight in our faces. We are not fighting in a miserable Bull Run of defeat. We are on the way to final victory. We are not following the rider on the black horse, leading us down to death and darkness and doom, but the rider on the white horse, with the moon under His feet and the stars of heaven for His tiara. Hail, conqueror, hail!

I know there are sorrows and there are sins and there are sufferings all around about us, but as in some bitter cold winter day when we are thrashing our arms around us to keep our thumbs from freezing we think of the warm spring day that will after awhile come, or in the dark winter night we look up and see the northern lights, the widows of heaven illumined by some great victory, just so we look up from the night of suffering and sorrow and wretchedness in our cities, and we see a light streaming through from the other side, and we know we are on the way to morning—more than that, on the way to "a morning without clouds."

I want you to understand, all you who are toiling for Christ, that the castles of sin are all going to be captured. The victory for Christ in these great towns is going to be so complete that not a man on earth, or an angel in heaven, or a devil in hell will dispute it. How do I know? I know it just as certainly as God lives and that this is holy truth. The old Bible is full of it. The nation is to be saved; of course all the cities are to be saved. It makes a great difference with you and with me whether we are toiling on toward a defeat or toiling on toward a victory.

Now, in this municipal elevation of which I speak I have to remark here will be greater financial prosperity than our cities have ever seen. Some people seem to have a morbid idea of the millennium, and they think when the better time comes to our cities and the world people will give their time up to psalm singing and the relating of their religious experience, and as all social life will be purified there will be no hilarity, and as all business will be purified there will be no enterprise. There is no ground for such an absurd anticipation. In the time of which I speak, where now one fortune is made there will be a hundred fortunes made. We all know business prosperity depends upon confidence between man and man. Now, when that time comes of which I speak, and all double dealing, all dishonesty and all fraud are gone out of commercial circles, thorough confidence will be established, and there will be better business done and larger fortunes gathered and mightier successes achieved. The great business disasters of this country have come from the work of gilded speculators and infamous stock gamblers. The great foe to business is crime. When the right shall have hurled back the wrong, and shall have purified the commercial code, and shall have thundered down fraudulent establishments, and shall have put into the hands of honest men the keys of business, blessed time for the bargain makers. I am not talking an abstraction; I am not making a guess; I am telling you God's eternal truth.

In that day of which I speak taxes will be a mere nothing. Now our business men are taxed for everything; city taxes, county taxes, State taxes, United States taxes, stamp taxes, license taxes, manufacturing taxes—taxes, taxes, taxes! Our business men have to make a small fortune every year to pay their taxes. What fastens on our great industries this awful load? Crime, individual and official. We have to pay the board of the villains who are incarcerated in our prisons; we have to take care of the orphans of those who plunged into their graves through beastly indulgence; we have to support the municipal governments, which are expensive just in proportion as the criminal proclivities are vast and tremendous. Who supports the almshouses and police stations and all the machinery of municipal government? The taxpayers.

But in the glorious time of which I speak grievous taxation will all have ceased. There will be no need of supporting criminals; there will be no criminals. Virtue will have taken the place of vice. There will be no orphan asylums, for parents will be able to leave a competency to their children; there will be no voting of large sums of moneys for some municipal improvement, which moneys, before they get to the improvement, drop into the pockets of those who voted them; no oyer and terminer kept up at vast expense to the people, no impaneling of juries to try theft and arson and murder and slander and blackmail; better factories; grander architecture; finer equipage; larger fortunes; richer opulence. "A morning without clouds."

In that better time also coming to these cities the churches of Christ will be more numerous, and they will be larger, and they will be more devoted to the service of Jesus Christ, and they will accomplish greater influences for good. Now it is often the case that churches are envious of each other, and denominations collide with each other, and even ministers of Christ sometimes forget the bond of brotherhood. But in the time of which I speak, while there will be just as many differences of opinion as there are now, there will be no acerbity, no hypercriticism, no exclusiveness.

In our great cities the churches are not to-day large enough to hold more than a fourth of the population. The churches that are built—comparatively few of them are fully occupied. The average attendance in the churches of the United States to-day is not 400. Now, in the glorious time of which I speak there are going to be vast churches, and they are going to be all thronged with worshipers. Oh, what rousing songs they will sing! Oh, what earnest sermons they will preach! Oh, what fervent prayers they will offer! Now, in our time what is called a fashionable church is a place where a few people, having attended very carefully to their toilet, come and sit down—they do not want to be crowded, they like a whole seat to themselves—and then, if they have any time left from thinking of their store, and from examining the style of the hat in front of them, they sit and listen to the sermon warranted to hit no man's sins, and listen to music which is rendered by a choir warranted to sing tunes that nobody knows! And then, after an hour and a half of indolent yawning, they go home refreshed. Every man feels better after he has had a sleep!

But all these wrongs are going to be righted. I expect to live to see the day. I think I hear in the distance the rumbling of the King's chariot. Not always in the minority is the church of God going to be, or are good men going to be. The streets are going to be filled with regenerated populations.

What will you do with those who fleece that young man, getting him to purloin large sums of money from his employer—the young man who came to an officer of my church and told the story and frantically asked what he might do? Nothing.

God's love will yet bring back this ruined world to holiness and happiness. An infinite Father bends over it in sympathy. And to the orphan He will be a Father, and to the widow He will be a husband, and to the outcast He will be a home, and to the poorest wretch that today crawls out of the ditch of his abomination, crying for mercy, He will be an all pardoning Redeemer.

The rocks will turn gray with age, the forests will be unmoored in the hurricane, the sun will shut its fiery eyelid, the stars will drop like blasted figs, the sea will heave its last groan and lash itself in expiring agony, the continents will drop like anchors in the deep, the world will wrap itself in sheet of flame and leap on the funeral pyre of the judgment day, but God's love will never die. It shall kindle its suns after all other lights have gone out. It will be a billowing sea after all other oceans have wept themselves away.

It will warm itself by the blaze of a consuming world. It will sing while the archangel's trumpet peals and the air is filled with the crash of breaking sepulchers and the rush of the wings of the rising dead. Oh, commend that love to all the cities and the morning without clouds will come!

I know that sometimes it seems a hopeless task. You toil on in different spheres, sometimes with great discouragement. People have no faith and say: "It does not amount to anything. You might as well quit that." Why, when Moses stretched his hand over the Red Sea it did not seem to mean anything especially. People came out, I suppose, and said, "Aha!" Some of them found out what he wanted to do. He wanted the sea parted. It did not amount to anything, this stretching out of his hand over the sea! But after awhile the wind blew all night from the east, and the waters were gathered into a glittering palisade on either side, and the billows roared as God pulled back on their crystal bits. Wheel into line, O Israel! March, march! Pearls crashed under feet, flying spray gathers into rainbow arch of victory for the conquerors to march under, shout of hosts on the beach answering the shout of hosts amid sea, and when the last line of the Israelites reach the beach the cymbals clap, and the shields clang, and the waters rush over the pursuers, and the swift fingered winds on the white keys of the foam play the grand march of Israel delivered and the awful dirge of Egyptian overthrow.

So you and I go forth, and all the people of God go forth, and they stretch their hand over the sea, the boiling sea of crime and sin and wretchedness. "It doesn't amount to anything," people say. Doesn't it? God's winds of help will after awhile begin to blow. A path will be cleared for the army of Christian philanthropists. The path will be lined with the treasure of Christian beneficence, and we will be greeted to the other beach by the clapping of all heaven's cymbals, while those who pursued us and derided us and tried to destroy us will go down under the sea, and all that will be left of them will be cast high and dry upon the beach, the splintered wheel of a chariot or thrust out from the foam, the breathless nostril of a riderless charger.

"I am so Glad you are well, Dear Sister."

This picture tells its own story of sisterly affection. The older girl, just budding into womanhood, has suffered greatly with those irregularities and menstrual difficulties which sap the life of so many young women.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound can always be relied upon to restore health to women who thus suffer. It is a sovereign cure for the worst forms of female complaints,—that bearing-down feeling, weak back, falling and displacement of the womb, inflammation of the ovaries, and all troubles of the uterus or womb. It dissolves and expels tumors from the uterus in the early stage of development and checks any tendency to cancerous humors. It subdues excitability, nervous prostration, and tones up the entire female system.

Could anything prove more clearly the efficiency of Mrs. Pinkham's Medicine than the following strong statement of Grace Stansbury?

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I was a sufferer from female weakness for about a year and a half. I have tried doctors and patent medicines, but nothing helped me. I underwent the horrors of local treatment, but received no benefit. My ailment was pronounced ulceration of the womb. I suffered from intense pains in the womb and ovaries, and the backache was dreadful. I had leucorrhœa in its worst form. Finally, I grew so weak I had to keep my bed. The pains were so hard as to almost cause spasms. When I could endure the pains no longer, I was given morphine. My memory grew short and I gave up all hope of getting well. Thus I dragged along. To please my sister I wrote to Mrs. Pinkham for advice. Her answer came, but meantime I was taken worse and was under the doctor's care for a while.

GRACE B. STANSBURY

"After reading Mrs. Pinkham's letter, I concluded to try her medicine. After taking two bottles I felt much better; but after using six bottles I was cured. All of my friends think my cure almost miraculous. I thank you very much for your timely advice and wish you prosperity in your noble work, for surely it is a blessing to broken-down women. I have full and complete faith in the Lydia E. Pinkham Vegetable Compound."—GRACE B. STANSBURY, Herington, Kansas.

$5000 REWARD Owing to the fact that some skeptical people have from time to time questioned the genuineness of the testimonial letters we are constantly publishing, we have deposited with the National City Bank, of Lynn, Mass., $5,000, which will be paid to any person who will show that the above testimonial is not genuine, or was published before obtaining the writer's special permission.—LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO.

LIBBY'S MINCE MEAT In our mammoth kitchen we employ a chef who is an expert in making mince pies.

He has charge of making all of Libby's Mince Meat.

We don't practice economy here. He uses the choicest materials. He is told to make the best mince meat ever sold—and he does.

Get a package at your grocer's—enough for two large pies. You'll never use another kind again.

LIBBY, McNEILL & LIBBY
Chicago

Write for our booklet, "How to Make Good Things to Eat."

Two hundred bushels of potatoes remove eighty pounds of "actual" Potash from the soil. Unless this quantity is returned to the soil, the following crop will materially decrease.

We have books telling about composition, use and value of fertilizers for various crops. They are sent free.

GERMAN KALI WORKS,
93 Nassau St.,
New York.

Man Eats Dead Cells.

Prof. B. Tyler of Indianapolis says that human life would average three or four times longer than it does if people would reject the senseless practice of cooking their food. Animals and fowl live much longer in proportion to the period of full development than man. Says Prof. Tyler: "Man, for some unknown reason, eats dead cells (cooked cells) to replace the dead cells that have been separated from the body. In cooking food all the acids and gases so necessary for the conservation and preservation of idea health escape with the steam, and the food retains a greater supply of acid lime and other such substances than nature requires for the amount of food taken into the system."

DYSPEPSIA
yields to Nature's medicine,

CRAB ORCHARD WATER

It easily cures Dyspepsia and all stomach, liver, kidney and bowel disorders. As unrivalled aperient and laxative; invigorates and tones the whole system. A natural water of the highest medicinal value, concentrated to make it easier and cheaper to bottle, ship and use. A 6-oz. bottle is equal to 2 gallons of unconcentrated water.

Sold by druggists everywhere. Crab apple trade mark on every bottle.

CRAB ORCHARD WATER CO., Louisville, Ky.

Am. N. U. No. 5. 1901.

SEEDS WE WILL GIVE YOU A $4 FARM Collection of Seeds FREE of money cost, asking only that you show our Seeds to your friends for us at their homes. MONEY in advance. Write our postal now for this offer and we will Mail You the Seeds at once and will also send Catalog, Full Instructions, and 12 Due Bills for distribution among your friends in order to induce them to buy seeds of you. Address T. J. RIVES CO. RICHMOND, VA. A GOOD GIFT of Clothing Given for Selling 100 Packets.

If afflicted with sore eyes, use | Thompson's Eye Water

HERMIT'S NIGHT-CAPS.

Valuable Almanac Free.

LIPTON'S LUCK.

Speculators Not Aware of the Scheme Until Too Late.

Shipbuilding in Germany.

Talk About It

That's always the way with our Hair Vigor. When persons use it they are always so highly pleased with it that they tell their friends about it.

If your hair is short, too thin, splits at the ends, is rough, or is falling out, our Hair Vigor will perfectly satisfy you.

If your hair is just a little gray, or perfectly white, Ayer's Hair Vigor will bring back to it all the dark, rich color it had years and years ago.

One dollar a bottle.

If your druggist cannot supply you, send us $1.00 and we will express a bottle to you, all charges prepaid. Be sure and give us your nearest express office.

J. C. AYER CO., Lowell, Mass.

Send for our handsome book on The Hair.

Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup

...you are
...ister."

...f sisterly affection. The ...hood, has suffered great... ...strual difficulties which ...n.

...table Compound can ...alth to women who thus ...e worst forms of female ...ling, weak back, falling ...mmation of the ovaries, ...omb. It dissolves and ...e early stage of develop... ...cancerous humors. It ...ation, and tones up the ...ore clearly the of... ...Medicine than the ...f Grace Stansbury?

...r from female weakness for ...s and patent medicines, but ...s of local treatment, but re... ...ed ulceration of the womb, ...ese pains in the womb and ...ache was dreadful. I had ...st form. Finally, I grew so ...my back. The pains were so ...nic spasms. When I could ...nger, I was given morphine, ...rt and I gave up all hope of ...I dragged along. To please ...rs. Pinkham for advice. Her ...centrine I was taken worse ...ctor's care for a while. ...Mrs. Pinkham's letter, I con... ...edicine. After taking two ...better; but after using six ...All of my friends think my ...as. I thank you very much ...e and wish you prosperity ...for surely it is a blessing to ...mplete faith in the Lydia ...ad."—GRACE B. STANSBURY.

Owing to the fact that some skeptical people have from time to time questioned the genuineness of the testimonial letters we are constantly publishing, we have ...al City Bank of Lynn, Mass., $5,000, ...person who will show that the above ...or was published before obtaining the ...—LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO.

Man Eats Dead Cells.

...B. Tyler of Indianapolis say... ...uman life would average thre... ...times longer than it does ...would reject the senseless prac... ...cooking their food. Animals ...wl live much longer in propor... ...the period of full development ...an. Says Prof. Tyler: "Man, ...ne unknown reason, eats dead ...ooked cells) to replace the dead ...hat have been separated from ...dy. In cooking food all the ...nd gases so necessary for the ...ation and preservation of ideal ...escape with the steam, and the ...tains a greater supply of ash ...d other such substances than ...requires for the amount of food ...nto the system."

DYSPEPSIA

...ds to nature's medicine.

CRAB ORCHARD WATER

...tly cure Dyspepsia and all stomach, ...idney and bowel disorders. An un... ...d aperient and laxative, invigorates ...ous the whole system. A natural ...f the highest medicinal value, com... ...ed to make it easier ...heaper to bottle, ...nd use. A fine, ...e equal to 5 gallons ...ndensed water. ...y druggists every... ...Crab Apple trade ...every bottle.

TRADE MARK

...ORCHARD WATER CO., Louisville, Ky.

Am. N. U. No. 3. 1901.

OS WE WILL GIVE YOU A ... FARM Collection of SEEDS ...f money cost, asking only that you ... ...of Vegetable Seeds for us at 5c each. ...in advance. Write us a postal now ... and we will Mail You the 6 Packets ...and will also send Catalog, Full Instructions ...and 12 Due Bills for distribution among ...ends in order to induce them to buy ...for you. ADDRESS T. J. KING ... ...OND, VA. A GOOD SUIT ... ...r Selling 100 Packets.

...with ...use | Thompson's Eye Water

HERMIT'S NIGHT-CAPS.

...ling Women Bequeaths of Them Dainty Garments.

Reading (Pa.) special Philadelphia North American: Miss Catharine ...shore, a hermit, aged 86 years, was ...ecently found dead in her little home ...n Bethel township. She left a will, ...n which she bequeathed her personal ...property to her four nieces—Mrs. J. F. ...Kutzinger, Mrs. Elias Binner, Mrs. ...mar Lengle and Mrs. Daniel Hollenbach. The executors investigated today ...and found that the old woman had ...converted her savings into wearing apparel. The larger portion had been ...made in her own hands, representing ...the work of years. The property consisted of 111 frilled night caps, 24 calico sunbonnets, 2 milk bonnets, 22 pairs ...of assorted calico and gingham aprons, ...27 homespun chemises, 22 muslin ...chemises, 36 calico handkerchiefs, 14 ...white handkerchiefs, 16 colored handkerchiefs, 10 calico shoulder capes, 12 ...colored and black silk shoulder shawls, ...beautifully figured, 61 petticoats, 3 ...heavy black shawls, 1 heavy cloak, ...with velvet collar, 33 calico sacks, 4 ...pairs of stockings, 20 calico dresses, ...and ...

Valuable Almanac Free.

We have received a copy of the new almanac for 1901 published by the Royal Baking Powder Co. It is an artistic and useful book, and will be of interest to housekeepers. A noteworthy feature of the almanac is a prediction of the weather for every day of the year by Professor DeVoe, who correctly prophesied the great Galveston cyclone and other important meterological events. We are authorized to say that any woman reader of this paper can secure a copy without cost by sending a request to the company at 100 William street, New York.

LIPTON'S LUCK.

Speculators Not Aware of the Scheme Until Too Late.

Sir Thomas Lipton is reported to have cleared $350,000 by a pork deal in Chicago. It has also been said that Lipton had so firm a hold on Chicago pork that he might have doubled his winnings had he been so minded. The Chicago pork speculators are puzzled to know how the thing was done. They had supposed themselves to know a thing or two about the pork market, and yet they let this stranger beat them out of $350,000. This stranger made a corner in October pork, which raised the price from $11 to $20 a barrel. While this operation was going on there was plenty of pork in the country. The pork speculators whose business it was to know where and at what figure pork was held did not suspect what was going on until they were called upon to fill their contracts at Mr. Lipton's own price. This pork operation may inspire a doubt in the minds of yachtsmen if Mr. Lipton's expressed determination to carry the America's cup back with him, if he can do so by fair means, may mean more than it was supposed to mean when the warning note was uttered.—San Francisco Bulletin.

Shipbuilding in Germany.

Consul Winter reports from Annaberg, Oct. 2, 1900: "During the past ten years, ship building in Germany has become a great industry. Old wharves have been torn away and new and larger ones constructed in their places. The present capacity of all the wharves does not meet the demands of the German merchant marine. Many orders must still be placed in foreign countries. At present twenty-two ships are being built in England for Hamburg alone. During the first half of the present year the dock owners and shipbuilders of Stettin, Kiel, Flensburg, and Bremen have increased their capital stock on the whole by $1,378,000. Many new enterprises are being planned. In the neighborhood of Nordenham, on the Lower Wesel, large wharves are being projected. A wharf for Stralsund is being planned which will cost nearly $1,000,000. It is also reported that a German-Belgian syndicate will build a wharf in Antwerp under the auspices of the Bremen Vulcan works. The German merchant marine now numbers 1,209 steamers of 2,159,919 tons.

Talk About It

That's always the way with our Hair Vigor. When persons use it they are always so highly pleased with it that they tell their friends about it.

If your hair is short, too thin, splits at the ends, is rough, or is falling out, our Hair Vigor will perfectly satisfy you.

If your hair is just a little gray, or perfectly white, Ayer's Hair Vigor will bring back to it all the dark, rich color it had years and years ago.

One dollar a bottle.

If your druggist cannot supply you, send us $1.00 and we will express a bottle to you, all charges prepaid. Be sure and give us your nearest express office.

J. C. AYER CO., Lowell, Mass.

Send for our handsome book on The Hair

Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup Safest, surest cure for all throat and lung troubles. People praise it. Doctors prescribe it. Quick, sure results. Refuse substitutes. Get Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

Good Roads Notes

Better Highways Desired.

THE desire for better American highways has expressed itself more or less vigorously for many years. A general sentiment that the roads should be materially improved has long prevailed in the North and East and in some of the States, as in New Jersey, there has been a continuous and in some degree successful effort on the part of associations and officials to bring the farmers to an understanding of the value of good roads. Not until the League of American Wheelmen formed a subordinate organization, however, did the work assume a definite, national character, and even then cycling interests were exclusively represented by this movement. A little later the Department of Agriculture undertook systematically the education of the farmers into full appreciation of the economy of better highways. Then good road organizations began to appear here and there without particular reference to either the agricultural or the cycling interests, and the movement received an additional impetus when the automobile began to be adopted for general use. Now for the first time all these factors for road improvement have been assembled into a single organization, capable, if rightly directed, of concentrating the sentiment in favor of this reform and producing practical results. It was formed at Chicago under the name of the National Good Roads Association, and it is designed to represent the various national, industrial, transportation, wheelmen and automobile associations of the country, which are working to the end of better roads.

This list indicates what a force is available for the reform. It doubtless represents several million people directly and many other millions indirectly. The wheelmen are not so numerous as formerly, perhaps, and it may be that the automobilists have not yet grown sufficiently in numbers to make good the deficiency due to the falling off in the wheel's popularity. But the two factors are earnest and will in the aggregate increase in the near future. Meanwhile the farmers have attained to a better understanding of their own interests than ever before and are rapidly learning the value of a smooth, hard highway and of broad tires. State laws are being enacted, and although Federal laws may be impossible of adequate enforcement, even if passed, the national influence is being increasingly exerted toward the attainment of a system of highways in all parts of the country which will bear comparison with those of Europe.

It is easy to understand why the good roads movement has been so slow in this country. Only a few score of years ago much of the land was in wilderness, many of the cities were on the frontier and the farms were mere clearings in the forest. Even later came the period when the railroads were a novelty, competing with stage coaches, rumbling and laboring through the mire of the pioneer's dilapidated turnpike. When the railroad was perfected and the stage coach was abandoned in the main the thought of the people was turned for a time from the subject of roads. It was necessary only to get goods to the railroad station to insure a speedier journey than ever before. It required another evolution to point the moral that there was perhaps even greater economy in the perfection of the comparatively short haul from the farm to the railroad. The Civil War did much to retard appreciation of this truth, and meanwhile the farmer became accustomed to his surroundings and was slow to adopt new methods.

The function of this new organization is to accelerate the sentiment which has been produced out of these untoward conditions. With all our mechanical advancement during the century now closing there remains for the twentieth century this fundamental work of providing decent pathways of internal commerce.—Washington Star.

A Century Behind the Times.

Aroused by his discovery of the quality of Chicago streets, Mr. Patullo addressed the recent good roads convention in Chicago as follows:

"What surprises me is that, while the United States is undergoing a wonderful development and is taking the steel and iron business away from England and Germany, where it has been specialized for years, you are only just now thinking if you will be able to emerge from the semi-barbarism of poor roads. In your country and in mine they are no better than they were a century ago. I am satisfied that if one-half or one-third of the subventions given to railroads had been spent on rural highways the farmer and the business man would be better off than they are to-day.

"I believe that it is to the rural highways of the country that you must look to get away from the extortions of railroads. Improved vehicles, steam and electric, which before long will traverse all our highways, will enable you to compete with the railroads and where the rates are too high bring them to terms by carrying your own produce to market."

A brisk trade in fox skins is springing up between France and Italy. The latter country during 1899 exported 4000, mostly from around Rome. Foxes are plentiful in Italy.

Evidence of Meanness.

"Mean!" exclaimed the borrowing neighbor. "She's the meanest woman I ever knew. Why, in the week since she's moved in I have only borrowed a little salt, some flour, a few eggs, a bit of coffee, some ice, a tiny bit of baking powder, a broom, a loaf of bread, a hammer, a few tacks and a half-peck of apples, and she had the nerve today to put up on her back door the sign 'Groceries at retail.' Wouldn't that shock you?"—Chicago Post.

To Cure a Cold in One Day

Take LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE TABLETS. All druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c.

Every mother believes her baby is so nice that lots of wicked people are waiting for an opportunity to steal it.

When a man forgets to ask his wife if she needs any money it is a sign the honeymoon is on the wane.

PUTNAM FADELESS DYES do not stain the hands or spoil the kettle. Sold by all druggists.

Comrie, in Perthshire, Scotland, has had more earthquakes in the last century than any other place north of the equator.

Have you ever experienced the joyful sensation of a good appetite? You will if you chew Adams' Pepsin Tutti Frutti.

There are two reasons why the average woman does not trust the average man: one is because she doesn't know him and the other is because she does.

The Best Prescription for Chills

and Fever is a bottle of GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC. It is simply iron and quinine in a tasteless form. No cure—no pay. Price 50c.

One consolation a man with an incurable disease has is, that he is not bored by life insurance agents.

I do not believe Piso's Cure for Consumption has an equal for coughs and colds.—JOHN F. BOYER, Trinity Springs, Ind., Feb. 15, 1900.

"Didn't he once say he would never speak to you again?" "Yes, but he saw I had a cold and he couldn't resist the temptation to tell me of a sure cure."—Boston Journal.

Worth Knowing.

A teaspoonful doses of Crab Orchard Water night and morning will cure the most obstinate cases of constipation.

This Horrid Man Listened.

A number of women in town have formed a Suffer in Silence club, and at a recent meeting their complaints were heard two blocks away.—Atchison Globe.

Catarrh Cannot be Cured

With local applications, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surface. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years, and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing catarrh. Send for testimonials free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Props., Toledo, O.
Sold by druggists, price 75c.
Hall's Family Pills are the best.

TOO TIRED TO STIR!

Weary Women Get Strength and Vigor from Dr. Greene's Nervura.

SHE had planned to go out with her husband, but her strength failed her.

Her nerves were excited all day, and when night came she just couldn't find the courage.

It is the old story of weakness and nervousness taking the pleasure out of life and filling it with discontent and suffering. It is not honest fatigue resulting from the daily task; it is weariness born of weakness and ill health.

The ideal strengthener for weak women is Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. It builds them up in every way by toning up the blood and strengthening the nerves. Nothing else in the world can do Nervura's work. It seeks out the weak spots and strengthens them. It enriches the blood and gives it a healthy circulation, thus putting new life into the entire body.

Strength to overcome the general discouragement is followed by the ambition to be well. A few nights of sound, refreshing sleep brings a new sensation of acquired strength. How ready now is this woman for every duty and every plan for pleasure! The new color in her cheeks shows the potent work of the vegetable elements in Nervura. This woman is now a cured woman, and such transformations are occurring in every community through the use of Dr. Greene's Nervura. If you are run-down and discouraged, here is the certain help.

Dr. Greene's NERVURA FOR THE BLOOD AND NERVES.

MRS. OLIVER WILSON, of Northboro, Mass., says:

"I was suffering from nervousness, caused by female weakness and nervous prostration. I was so nervous and weak I could not go up a common pair of stairs without stopping to rest, and troubled to sleep at night. I took Dr. Greene's Nervura and have obtained my old elastic step around the house. After creeping around for two years, hardly able to do anything, it has proved a boon to me truly."

READ DR. GREENE'S OFFER.

Dr. Greene's advice is free to all who seek it, either by personal call at his office, 35 W. 14th Street, New York City, or by letter through the mail. All who are broken in health should call or write without delay to Nervura's discoverer for free counsel.

Bilious--Got a Cold?

You're bilious, got a cold, you have a throbbing sensation in your head, a bad taste in your mouth, your eyes burn, your skin is yellow with dark rings under your eyes, your lips are parched and you feel ugly and mean, as if you wanted to kick a lame infant or kill a canary bird. Your system is full of bile not properly passed off, and what you need is a cleaning up inside. Don't continue being a bilious nuisance to yourself and those who love you, but send out at once for a box of CASCARETS and work off the cold while you sleep.

Be sure you get CASCARETS! Don't let them sell you a fake substitute.

...cers December 4, 1783.

"I have used your valuable CASCARETS and find them perfect. Couldn't do without them. I have used them for some time for indigestion and biliousness and am now completely cured. Recommend them to every one. Once tried, you will never be without them in the family."
EDW. A. MARX, Albany, N. Y.

A movement is on foot in New York to ...

Cascarets

BEST FOR BOWELS AND LIVER.

THEY WORK WHILE YOU SLEEP

THIS IS CCC THE TABLET

10c. 25c. 50c.

NEVER SOLD IN BULK.

DRUGGISTS

GUARANTEED TO CURE all bowel troubles, appendicitis, biliousness, bad breath, bad blood, wind on the stomach, bloated bowels, foul mouth, headache, indigestion, pimples, pains after eating, liver trouble, yellow complexion and dizziness. When your bowels don't move regularly you are getting sick. Constipation kills more people than all other diseases together. It is a starter for the chronic ailments and long years of suffering that come afterwards. No matter what ails you, start taking CASCARETS today, for you will never get well and be well all the time until you put your bowels right. Take our advice; start with CASCARETS today, under an absolute guarantee to cure or money refunded.

GUARANTEED TO CURE: Four years ago the first box of CASCARETS was sold. Now it is over six million boxes a year, greater than any similar medicine in the world. This is absolute proof of great merit, and our best testimonial. We have faith, and will sell CASCARETS absolutely guaranteed to cure or money refunded. Go buy today, two 25c boxes, give them a fair, honest trial, as per simple directions, and if you are not satisfied after using one 25c box, return the empty box and the other unused box to us by mail, or the druggist from whom you purchased it, and get your money back for both boxes. Take our advice, no matter what ails you, most ailments Health will quickly follow and you will know the day you first started that one of CASCARETS. Book free by mail. Address STERLING REMEDY CO., New York or Chicago.

Winner of Unique Election Bet.

Tom Williams, president of the California Jockey club, is the winner of a unique election bet. He will distribute among the various orphan asylums of San Francisco a car load of sweet potatoes, which W. L. Ashe lost to him on a wager that his brother, R. Porter Ashe, would defeat Julius Kahn in the race for congress.

Mother Eve may have invented curiosity, but she is the only woman on record who never turned around to see what the other woman had on.

Paid Bet in Kisses.

Samuel Weldon of Fifty-sixth street, Brooklyn, bet Miss Louise Davidson, a neighbor, a box of fine kid gloves against three kisses that McKinley would be elected. The kisses were to be delivered in Miss Davidson's home in the presence of a number of friends. Sunday night the young woman kept her agreement. At first she appeared somewhat bashful, and Wilson offered to cancel the wager. Miss Davidson would not consent, however, and after some hesitation gave the kisses, while her fiends cheered.—New York World.

FREE ELECTRIC BELT OFFER

WITH TEN DAYS' FREE WEARING TRIAL in your own home, to men under the age of 45 only. REMARKABLE AUTHENTIC GERMAN ELECTRIC BELT to any reader of this paper. No money in advance; not a penny in advance; no security. DOES ALMOST ANYTHING CLAIMED FOR ANY BELT. Cures without medicine, all nervous troubles, lost vitality, lame backs, rheumatism, and kidney troubles. Belt with most all other treatments. Does not burn or blister like belts, appliances and supposed fakes. SEND FOR more than testimonials. ONLY ONE CURE for all and you claim, weakness and disease, free, complete sealed confidential catalogue, explained and illustrated. SEARS, ROEBUCK & CO., Chicago.

DROPSY NEW DISCOVERY; gives quick relief and speedy cures worst cases. Book of testimonials and 10 days' treatment Free. Dr. H. H. GREEN'S SONS, Box B, Atlanta, Ga.

USE CERTAIN COUGH CHILL CURE CURE. 25c. 50c. $1.

150 KINDS For 16 Cents

...JOHN A. SALZER SEED CO. La Crosse, Wis.

"La Creole" Will Restore those Gray Hairs

"La Creole" Hair Restorer is a Perfect Dressing and Restorer. Price $1.00

THE BANNER

OUR CLUBBING RATES

For $1.50 we will send you THE BANNER and either of the following papers for one year;

Atlanta Constitution	$1.50
New York World (3 papers every week)	$1.50
Cosmopolitan (America's Leading magazine)	$1.50
Silver Knight National Watchman	$1.50
Birmingham Age-Herald	$1.25
Home and Farm	$1.10

Job Printing cheap at THE BANNER office

AT REDUCED PRICES

CLANTON DRUG STORE.

Dr J S JOHNSON, Jr., Proprietor.

DEALER IN

DRUGS. : MEDICINES : PATENT : MEDICINES.

TOILET ARTICLES, PAINTS.

PRESCRIPTIONS CAREFULLY PREPARED DAY & NIGHT

CLANTON, ALABAMA.

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS is the one important magazine in the world giving in its pictures, its text, in its contributed articles, editorials and departments, a comprehensive, timely record of the world's current history. Not the enumeration of mere bare facts, but a comprehensive picture of the month, its activities, its notable personalities, and notable utterances. The best informed men and women in the world find it indispensable.

There are many readers in your locality who have yet to learn of its usefulness. We wish to establish active agents in every city and township in the country. We will pay liberally for energetic effort in the subscription field. Leisure moments can be utilized with substantial increase of income. Make a list of the persons in your locality who should have the "Review of Reviews," and send to us for agent's terms, sample copies, and working outfit. Then solicit their subscriptions. It is a compliment to approach a person with a subscription proposition for the "Review of Reviews," and consequently orders are easily secured. This is the active subscription season. Make application at once, naming your references.

Price, 25 cents a number. $2.50 a year.

THE REVIEW OF REVIEWS COMPANY,

13 Astor Place, New York City.

They banish pain and prolong life. ONE GIVES RELIEF.

R·I·P·A·N·S

No matter what the matter is, one will do you good, and you can get ten for five cents.

Everything New.

NEW STOREHOUSE

BRAND NEW STOCK

We positively will carry none of our old stock into our new building, and for the next Thirty Days we are offering

BARGAINS IN EVERYTHING

now in our old storehouse. We are determined to clear out the last piece of old stock. Come and see us.

WILSON & BRO.

CLANTON.

W. I. MULLINS

—DEALER IN—

GENERAL MERCHANDISE, PLANTATION SUPPLIES AND COUNTRY PRODUCE

Dry Goods, Clothing, Hats, Boots and Shoes.

FURNITURE AND COFFINS

N. B. A full line of Burial Clothes and all necessary Undertakers' Goods constantly kept in stock.

CLANTON, : : : : : ALA.

Subscribe for The Banner. $1.00 a year.

1901 WORLD ALMANAC AND ENCYCLOPEDIA.

A Statistical Volume of Facts and Figures Containing Over 600 Pages.

OVER 1,000 TOPICS. OVER 10,000 FACTS.

SPECIAL FEATURES—

The census of 1900. National and State election returns. Four centuries of American progress. Political record of 1900 (conventions and platforms). American rule in the Philippines. New governments of Porto Rico and Hawaii. Polar exploration in 1900. Conclusion of the South African war. Pan-American Exposition of 1901. China—Its present condition and status among nations. Roster of general officers of the Regular U. S. Army, 1789—1900.

A Political Register.

Facts that every patriot and voter ought to know.

Standard American Annual.

Price 25 cts. Postpaid to any address THE WORLD, Pulitzer Bldg., New York.

Headache and Neuralgia cured by Dr. MILES' PAIN PILLS. "One cent a dose."

Alabama Fertilizer the Standard.

Our most reckless competitor will only claim that what he is selling is "Just as good" as the celebrated ALABAMA FERTILIZER, but it is not so. For 21 years the ALABAMA has stood at the head of the fertilizer class. With cotton at current good prices it is more important than ever to use the best fertilizer. The ALABAMA is the standard of excellence, and only those whose interest dictate the statement assert otherwise.

Without extra cost to the consumer we ship all ALABAMA FERTILIZER in the CELEBRATED MUMMIA VEGETABLE FIBRE PRESERVED BAGS, which are cold and weather proof, thus avoiding any loss in handling. These bags, after thorough investigation and practical tests, have been indorsed by the Alabama Agricultural Department, who recommend their use by the farmers of our State. Steamer agents on certain water routes have given notice that they will only receive for shipment fertilizer sacked in these celebrated bags, thereby insuring both themselves and their consignees from loss in handling.

One of the exhibits at the recent Good Roads Procession which attracted the attention of all was a wagon drawn by six well fed oxen containing 34 bales of cotton produced on 5½ acres of land, made from Russell Improved big boll cotton by the use of ALABAMA FERTILIZER.

Customers Protected by Trade Mark.

The law requires every sack of fertilizer sold in the State to have the word ALABAMA branded on each sack offered for sale in the State.

To protect both ourselves and our customers we have our trade mark on every sack of ALABAMA FERTILIZER, we also tag each MUMMIA VEGETABLE FIBRE PRESERVED BAG. Our Trade Mark is copyrighted, the Bag is patented, and we will prosecute any infringement on either. See that the Trade Mark and Tag are on each sack. Be careful to get what you pay for.

Pure high grade Acid Phosphate and Genuine German Kainit always on hand and sold at no higher price than other goods of the same grade.

A Testimonial From High Authority.

Captain S. B. Trapp, President of the Board of Inspectors of the Alabama Convict Bureau, who is well and favorably known throughout the South (particularly in Alabama), whose able management of the convict system of our State has met with the approval of all, himself a farmer of twenty years' experience, has the following words of commendation to say in regard to the Celebrated Alabama Fertilizer:

Executive Department of Alabama,
Convict Bureau.
Montgomery, Nov. 30, 1900.

I consider the ALABAMA FERTILIZER the best manufactured. I have raised and seen others raise large crops of cotton and corn by its use.

In my opinion the farmer who invests in it, will succeed in making larger crops of cotton and corn at less cost for fertilizers than one who buys and uses acid phosphate, kainit and cottonseed meal in any proportion or quantity whatsoever.

My conclusions are arrived at after an experience of twenty years in the use of fertilizers—during which long period I have used many kinds of fertilizers.

The MUMMIA VEGETABLE FIBRE PRESERVED BAGS, in which the ALABAMA FERTILIZER is put up, is one of the greatest blessings to all, and none better than the farmer can appreciate and value the cessation of loss in wasting, rotting of bags and vexation by having to resack fertilizers put up in the ordinary bag. I have seen some Mummia Bags used two seasons, which is the strongest possible proof of their singular and superior merit.

S. B. TRAPP, President.

The Record of Alabama Fertilizer.

It has produced nearly four bales of cotton on one acre of poor sandy upland.
One hundred and thirty-two bushels of corn on one acre of poor sandy upland.
Two thousand and forty-one bushels of corn on twenty acres of poor upland.
Land and corn accurately surveyed and measured by competent disinterested and honorable men.
It is the oldest brand now sold in Alabama, and is just the same as it always has been. Every one of the 49 premiums given during a series of years, through the COMMERCIAL AND INDUSTRIAL ASSOCIATION, for the greatest yield of cotton and corn on a specified area of land, was awarded to farmers who used exclusively the ALABAMA FERTILIZER.

THE ALABAMA FERTILIZER COMPANY,

Montgomery, Ala.

An Old Time Sheffield Election.

The only contest which occurred at Gatton within historic memory was curious enough. Sir Mark Wood, who had been one of its members for many years, had, on his elevation to the peerage in 1813, seen Sir William Congreve, the inventor of the famous "Congreve rocket." The latter resigned in 1816, and the burgess whished his son to fill the vacancy.

There were only three voters in the constituency, Sir Mark, his son and a butler, named Jennings, but as the latter was away and the butler had quarrelled with his master an opportunity was afforded for a singular revenge. Jennings refused to second Sir Mark's nomination of his son and proposed himself, and a deadlock was averted only by Sir Mark coming to terms with the refractory butler, whose nomination he seconded in order to induce him to act as seconder to his son.

Matters being thus put formally right, Sir Mark arranged with Jennings that the former's vote should be alone given, and the final state of the poll at Gatton's only known contest stood thus: Wood (Tory), 1; Jennings (Whig), 0.—Westminster Gazette.

BLOOD POISON CURED BY B. B. B.

Bottle Free to Sufferers.

Deep-seated, obstinate cases, of a kind that have resisted doctors, hot springs and patent medicine treatment, quickly yield to B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm), thoroughly tested for 30 years. Have you mucous patches in the mouth? Sore Throat? Eruptions? Eating Sores? Bone Pains? Itching Skin? Swollen Glands? Stiff Joints? Copper Colored Spots? Chancres? Ulceration on the body? Hair and eyebrows fall out? Is the skin a mass of boils, pimples and ulcers? If so, this wonderful B. B. B. special will completely change the whole body into a clean, perfect condition, free from eruptions, and skin smooth with the glow of perfect health. B. B. B. drains the poison out of the system so the symptoms cannot return. B. B. B. builds up the broken down constitution and improves the digestion. Sufferers may test B. B. B. a trial bottle will be given away free of charge.

B. B. B., for sale by druggists at $1 per large bottle, or 6 large bottles (full treatment) $5. Complete directions with each bottle. Be sure the bottle reads Botanic Blood Balm. For trial bottle, address BLOOD BALM CO., Atlanta, Ga. Describe trouble and Free medical advice given.

A TRIP TO THORSBY.

Few days ago I had a very pleasant trip to the thriving town of Thorsby. It was a beautiful day and the country looked wonderfully well. I had thought I knew Thorsby well, and so I did so far as business street is concerned. But when Mr. W. C. Esker pilloried me until I came to the conclusion that Thorsby was a far more important place than I had considered. Why, you have to travel to see Thorsby and I must say you will see more substantial and elegant homes and wider streets within the confines of this town than you will see in any other area anywhere in Chilton county. And I was surprised at how much land cleared and planted with vines and fruit trees. Thorsby than many of us. Then again I was informed that quite a number of people from the Northwest have actually purchased vineyard tracts and have them now planted, and while the plants are maturing, they retain their old homes in the Northwest, but as soon as the children are old enough to bear, then they will bring their families and make their homes here, which means much to Chilton county. We had an excellent dinner at the Concordia hotel, where we were waited upon by the Misses Howard. Then I had a talk at the post office which was great as a new pin, and is a credit to the town. The stores all seem to be well stocked and had a thriving look about them. In fact the whole town of Thorsby seemed to be if it was prospering. It was an eye-opener to me, I thoroughly enjoyed the trip and learned a good deal, and when you have a day's outing combining pleasure and instruction, take my advice and go and take a look at Thorsby.

1,000,000 RELIEVED WOMEN

WINE OF CARDUI

has brought permanent relief to a million suffering women who were on their way to premature graves. Mrs. Elizabeth was fast sinking in health, when Wine of Cardui performed a "wonderful cure" in her case. She suffered with the agonies of falling of the womb, leucorrhœa and profuse menstruation. The weakly appearance of the woman for two months adjoined her vitality until she was a physical wreck. Her nervous system gave way. Then came the trial of Wine of Cardui and the result. Mrs. Elizabeth's experience ought to encourage Wine of Cardui to suffering women in cases of burning discomfort.

WINE OF CARDUI

is within the reach of all. Women who have suffered, and yet have not tried it for a bottle of Wine of Cardui, can do so and take a reputation if the dared you.

Mrs. Wynn Stewart, Fourth Station, N. C., writes: "Wine of Cardui and Thedford's Black-Draught have proved invaluable to me. My health was bad, I had a great deal of falling of the womb and leucorrhœa, and my doctor advised that I take Wine of Cardui. I took two bottles and it cured me. I also used Black-Draught and found it the best medicine I ever used for liver troubles. I can recommend Wine of Cardui and Black-Draught to all suffering women as the best medicines for the purpose they are intended for, and I will be happy to answer any inquiries about them. I am perfectly well."

DEATH OF Mr. J. R. KEMP.

Friday night last Mr. J. R. Kemp passed away at his home in the east end of Clanton, after a few weeks sickness. He was a robust physique and splendid constitution, and his friends hoped that he would be able to overcome this illness. But He knows best willed otherwise. At the age of 62 called Mr. Kemp home. He was a man of good qualities, conscientious in his dealings, and his strict integrity and honesty endeared him to those with whom he came in contact. Chilton county has lost one of its best citizens. He leaves a wife and five grown children to mourn the loss of a good husband and father; may the Lord be with them in their affliction. The funeral took place on Sunday morning, Rev. J. M. Woods preaching a very effective sermon in the Baptist church which was crowded to its utmost capacity. He was buried with Masonic honors, having been a member of that fraternity for many years, while one of the largest and most imposing ever assembled in Clanton paid their last tribute of respect to a worthy man and citizen.

THE BEST WAY TO THE SOUTH AND SOUTH-WEST, NORTH AND NORTH-WEST IS VIA THE

L. & N.

LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE R. R.

The Through Cars

Of this line pass Calera daily, running through Montgomery, Mobile and New Orleans.

Connecting with all points in TEXAS AND THE WEST.

Also running through to Nashville, Evansville, Louisville, Cincinnati and St. Louis.

Connecting for all points in the NORTH AND NORTH-WEST.

Before purchasing tickets to any point write the Agent of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad at Clanton, Ala., or C. P. Atwood, G. P. A., Louisville, Ky.

Murderie Dies Far From Home.

Stone, Garland County, Ark., January 16, 1901.

Sheriff of Chilton county, or anybody that may be concerned:

This is to inform you that an old man by the name of J. M. Murderie, who said he was from Chilton county, came here and was sick on January 8. He died never January 4. He gave no kin nor left any request. If any relatives or friends hand this to them and tell them to answer, and I will give all particulars. He has a trunk, with belongings, is at J. C. Milton's, where he died. Direct your letter to Carrwood, Gladstone, Ark.

THE BANNER.

LET THE PEOPLE RULE.

VOL. IX — CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY JANUARY 24, 1901 — NO. 14

A TRIP TO THORSBY.

Few days ago I had a very pleasant trip to the thriving town of Thorsby. It was a beautiful spring like day and the country looked wonderfully well. I had heard much of Thorsby and I knew Thorsby was well, and so I did so far as business street is concerned. Mr. W. C. Edler piloted me around until I came to the conclusion that Thorsby was a far more important place than I had considered. Why, you have to travel some to see Thorsby, and I must say you will see more substantial and elegant homes and well kept streets within the confines of this new town than you will see in the same area anywhere in Chilton county. And I was surprised at so much land cleared and fenced with vines and fruit trees. There is much more money invested in Thorsby than many of us imagine. Then again I was informed that quite a number of people from the Northwest have already purchased vineyard tracts and have them now planted, while the plants are maturing, owners retain their old homes in the Northwest, but as soon as the vines are old enough to bear, then owners will bring their families and make their homes here. This which means much to Chilton county. We had an excellent dinner at the Concordia hotel, at which we were waited upon by the Misses Howard. Then I had a walk in at the postoffice which looked as neat as a new pin, and is a credit to the town. The stores all seemed to be well stocked and had a thriving look about them. In fact the whole town of Thorsby looks as if it was prospering. It was an eye-opener to me, I thoroughly enjoyed the trip and learned a good deal, and when you want a day's outing combining pleasure and instruction, take my advice and go and take a look all around Thorsby.

DEATH OF Mr J. R. KEMP.

On Friday night last Mr. J. R. Kemp passed away at his home in the west end of Clanton, after a few weeks sickness. He was a man of robust physique and splendid constitution, and his friends hoped that he would be able to overcome this illness. But He knows best willed otherwise. At the age of 62 called Mr. Kemp home. He was a man of strong qualities, conscientious in his dealings, and his strict integrity and honesty endeared him to all with whom he came in contact. Chilton county has lost one of its best citizens. He leaves a widow and five grown children to mourn the loss of a good husband and father, may the Lord be with them in their affliction. The funeral took place on Sunday morning, Rev. F. M. Woods preaching a very effective sermon in the Baptist church which was crowded to its most capacity. He was buried with Masonic honors, having been a member of that fraternity for many years, while one the largest congregations ever assembled in Clanton paid their last tribute of respect to a worthy man and citizen.

Corderie Dies Far From Home.

Gladstone, Garland County, Ark., January 16, 1901

To the Sheriff of Chilton county, Ala., or anybody that may be concerned:

This is to inform you that an old gentleman by the name of J. M. Corderie, who said he was from Chilton county, came here and was taken sick on January 8. He died with fever January 14. He gave no names nor left any request. If he has any relatives or friends take hand this to them and tell them to answer, and I will give all particulars. His trunk, with belongings, is at M. C. Milton's, where he died. Direct your letter to W. CUTTWOOD, Gladstone, Ark.

CORRESPONDENCE.

[We are willing to publish our subscribers views at any time, but it must be distinctly understood we do not hold ourselves responsible for these opinions.—EDITOR.]

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY

Take Laxative Bromo-Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. E. W. Grove's signature is on each box 25c.

Clear Creek, January 19, 1900

Editor Banner.—As I have never asked for space in your paper I will try to write a few lines about stock law. I never did live in a stock law and I have seen very few stock law and they were shabby and I have some neighbors that have lived in it and they know what it is and they don't want it. Now, Mr. Smith has said a heap about the poor man's cow eating the other man's grass; my cows eats my neighbor's grass and his cow eats my grass. Those people that can't live in Chilton without a stock law can go to it, and we can stay in Chilton. Stock law makes neighbors fall out and law each other and kill each other and turn out each other's stock and I don't see where it improves morals or value.

DRY VALLEY.

Thorsby, Jan. 23. 1901

Editor Banner.—Will you be so kind as to give me space in your columns to say a few words to the merchants and business men of Clanton. I feel an interest in Clanton, and the merchants are my friends and they are doing well and I hope to see them continue to do well, but I will say that in my judgment if the merchants sit still and allow the charter to be amended so as to allow the sale of whiskey in Clanton it means the death of Clanton. The people know what the open saloon has meant in Clanton and in Chilton county, and I can say for one that if I can find a trading point where they do not sell whiskey, and Clanton sells it I will move my business and I am confident that the people in my community will do the same thing, and I appeal to the merchants of Clanton in their own interest and in the interest of the entire people not to allow this evil enthroned and backed by licensed law. I think that I know the merchants of Clanton can prevent this thing if they will, and I beg you to take due notice and govern yourselves accordingly. JOSEPH BURNETT.

Lily.

We are having some nice weather now, and the farmers are making preparations for another crop.

Several of the young people of this community enjoyed an entertainment given by Miss Velma White on Saturday night last.

Prof. G. L. Speer, of this place, is progressing nicely with his school now. Misses Londie and Cora Malone have returned home after a pleasant visit to their sister, Mrs. Vanderslice, of Perry. Rev. D. F. Ellisor preached an excellent sermon at the M. E. Church last Sunday p.m. We are glad to have him with us for another year. Rumor hath it we are soon to hear the wedding bells in this community again. Success to the Banner. SUB.

Mrs. Maymie Veazey and Miss Maymie Rasberry visited Mr. J. S. Wright and Mr. Clint Veazey last week. Miss Della Blalock is visiting her sister. Mr. B. O. Latham, who has been visiting his father and friends, has returned to his home in Hill county Texas.

When muscadines were ripe a pig that belonged to R. L. Deavenport got fastened in a fence crack and staid there one week before he found it; it is now in the smoke house. Mr. J. C. Edwards and family are well pleased with the large doll. The farmers are talking stock law, and road law, and a car load of guano for cotton. Too much cotton makes sorry fences, too much corn makes bread plentiful. Yours for more or less cotton, a few less or more bushels of corn, a good fence and better roads. G. F. B. H.

Subscribe for The Banner.

Maplesville.

The fine weather has encouraged farmers to make a start towards another crop.

Mr. Coaker, from Coosa county, has moved his family to this place and has started his plows to work.

There are Rumors of several new dwelling houses going up in this town soon

Mr. Hudson, from Uniontown, will give us the new Maplesville paper this week.

We regret the death of Mr John Wallace's little girl, she was sick only a few days.

Rev. P. G. Maness preached at Stanton last Sunday.

Mrs. Laportas and Miss Gilmer were the guests of Mrs. Fannie Parnell.

The street fair in Selma is over; several of the ladies are suffering from colds contracted at the fair.

Mr. Ramsey has a bad time fixing the big gridge over Mulberry; bad roads in this part of the county. SUBSCRIBER.

On Tuesday night the post-office at Maplesville was burglarized and the safe blown open.

If troubled with a weak digestion, belching, sour stomach, or if you feel dull after eating, try Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. Price, 25 cents. Samples free at Clanton drug store, or D. I. Deramus, Verbena

Jasmine.

Everything is very quiet in this part of the world, no news at all.

One of our young men, Mr. C. P. Berry, left last Saturday for his home in North Carolina. We wish the young fellow much pleasure and prosperity. Mr. E. J. Vinson and family have left this place and moved to his farm near the B. C. church in the eastern part of this county. We are glad to learn Mrs. Ped Willis is still improving after lingering sometime with a spell of fever. The young men of Jasmine will soon organize a string band and it will go by the name of the Jasmine String Band. Prof. H. A. Askins is getting along splendid with his school at this place. Jasmine is a little sawmill town but we must say we have the best school and the best teacher of any place in this country.

Misses Ira and Alpha Heaton, of Vine Hill, paid the family of Mr. E. J. Rawlinson a pleasant visit last Saturday. Mr. Courtney and Miss Ethel Johnson visited Pletcher last Sunday. Mr. B. L. Grace has his turning lathe in good running order and you just ought to see what dandy columns he is turning. BAD BOY.

Stanton.

Farmers are busy hauling out fertilizer preparing for another crop.

Messrs. Crump Graham and Cal Foshee paid us a visit Sunday.

Rev. P. G. Maness filled his regular appointment here Sunday.

Mr. Ples Gay, of Valley Creek, was with us Sunday.

We regret to state that Mr. Brigg Sexton is very low.

Mr. Lee Hayes was in the city Monday.

Mr. Will Smitherman's house caught on fire Monday, supposed to have caught from the stove.

Quarterly meeting at the M. E. church next Sunday.

Rev. Little will also fill his appointment at the Presbyterian church. STAN.

Shoults.

Health is good in our community at the present. Farmers are very backward in the way of farming, some oats are being sown in some places; don't hear much talk about fertilizers yet guess people ain't going to plant much cotton this year.

The home of Rev. P. G. Maness was made happy by the arrival of a bouncing baby boy. Mr. C. W. Shoults is running a piling job at Maplesville. Mr. J. D. McGee and daughter have returned to their home at Catoosa, Ala., Sunday.

Mr. J. H. Shoults and wife visited the family of Mr. J. P. Merchant Sunday. Mr. N. W. Latham, of Little, Texas, was in our town this week. My eyes and the latter part of Bill Arp's letter had a collision last week, or was the type set bottom side up. BIG IKE.

Thorsby.

LANDS FOR SALE.

$2.50 PER ACRE.

We have for sale a small farm containing 40 acres, of which 30 acres are now under cultivation. Some houses on the place; land fenced; a good spring of running water. If this land was located in the Thorsby colony it would be worth $1200.00. The land is located about four miles west of Thorsby and you may take it for $100. (Sold February 16, 1900.)

General Farming Lands for sale, $5.00 to $15.00 per acre.

Unimproved Orchard and Vineyard Lands at $15.00 per acre.

Improved Orchard and Vineyard Lands from $40 to $60 per acre.

Two small farms for Rent; a 7 room Cottage for sale.

Special inducements to merchants and manufacturers in the progressive town of Thorsby, the market center of Chilton county. For further particulars call at the offices of

THE CONCORDIA LAND AND IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION.

THORSBY, ALA.

PROGRAM TEACHERS' INSTITUTE

to be held at Verbena Feb. 22nd, and 23d.

FRIDAY, 10 a.m. Devotional Exercises.

10:30 a.m. Welcome Address, F. B. Baldwin. Response, J. W. Moore.

11 a.m. Attention, J. M. Collier, L. E. Byrum.

11:30. Current History, Judson Strock, H. L. Davis.

1:30 p.m. The Teacher and Sickness, W. M. Riddle, Albert Grant.

2. Incentives to study, Thos. Williams, Wm. Luther.

2:30. Best method of Reading, Prof. Williams, H. A. Askins.

3:30 Why we teach Geography, Miss Ida Horn, Miss Mary Moody.

7:30. Lecture, Dr. E. R. Eldridge of Lafayette.

SATURDAY, 9:30 a.m. Requisites to successful teaching, G. L. Speer, Mrs. A. G. Dunlap.

10. Why should the State Educate her children and to what extent? R. A. Rasco, J. W. Dennis.

10:30. Graded Studies for Common Schools, R. E. R. Hicks, A. J. Neugent, Prof. Ryland.

11. Lecture, S. J. Cole of Birmingham.

1:30 p.m. Opening the Query box. Members of the Institute or others interested are at liberty to present any question which they would like to hear discussed.

We would like to see every teacher in the county at this Institute. We expect some able speakers, among them Dr. E. R. Eldridge, of Lafayette, State Supt. John W. Abercrombie and others.

Committee—J. M. Collier, G. L. Speer, A. J. Neugent, Thos. Williams, E. C. Jones, Judson Strock.

J. W. MOORE, County Supt.

TO ROAD OVERSEERS AND APPORTIONERS.

On account of the fact that the Commissioners Court in November, 1898, used the old blank in appointing the Apportioners, which reads two years instead of four, their commissions have mislead many of the Apportioners. I wish to call attention to Road Apportioners and Overseers that their term is four years instead of two.

At any time any of the Apportioners will send me their commission I will make the correction and make them read four years instead of two.

S. M. ADAMS,
Judge of Probate.

A Prominent Chicago Woman Speaks.

Prof. Roxa Tyler, of Chicago, Vice-President Illinois Woman's Alliance, in speaking of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, says: "I suffered with a severe cold this winter which threatened to run into pneumonia. I tried different remedies but I seemed to grow worse and the medicine upset my stomach. A friend advised me to try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and I found it was pleasant to take and it relieved me at once. I am now entirely recovered, saved a doctor's bill, time and suffering, and I will never be without this splendid medicine again." For sale by Clanton Drug Co. and D. I Deramus Verbena.

WANTED.

200 ACRES at $6.00 per acre. Titles perfect. Plenty of water on the place. Fine reed brake for pasture. One mile north of Thorsby. J. A. SKAGGS, Jemison, Ala.

FOR SALE. A complete entertainment outfit, consisting of 1 Stereoptican, 1 Optograph or moving picture machine, 1 Calcium light apparatus, 1 gas making outfit, 1 set Views Spanish American war, 5 50 ft. Films for Optograph. All new. Also 1 horse and spring wagon. Full particulars of C. Nally, Randolph, Ala.

MONEY to Loan on good real estate. Apply to X. Y. Z., care of the Banner, Clanton, Ala.

A BONA FIDE SALARY—$12 Weekly. Men and women to appoint agents and represent us, some to travel, others for local work. $12 weekly salary and expenses. Old established house, pleasant permanent positions, rapid advancement and increase of wages. Write at once. Address BUTLER & ALGER, Dept. E, New Haven, Conn.

The Best Prescription for Malaria Chills and Fever is a bottle of GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC. It is simply iron and quinine in a tastless form. No cure—no pay. Price 50c.

$200 REWARD.

The above reward will be paid to any person or persons for the arrest and conviction of the parties who broke into the Court House and blew open the county safe at Clanton, Ala., on Sunday night, Nov. 25, 1900.

S. M. ADAMS,
Judge of Probate.

Clanton, Ala.

Brought Good Fortune.

A small item in his own paper lately brought amazing good fortune to Editor Chris. Reitter, of the Saginaw (Mich.) Post and Zeitung. He and his family had the Grip in its worst form. Their doctor did them no good. Then he read that Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds was a guaranteed cure for La Grippe and all Throat and Lung troubles; tried it and says: "Three bottles cured the whole family. No other medicine on earth equals it." Only 50c and $1 00 at Clanton drug store. Trial bottles free.

CHESTNUT LION

A Fine Tennessee Jack 15 Hands high, Full of Life, a Fine Breeder and Sure Foal-Getter, will stand at JEMISON, ALA, this Season.

W. C. EVANS, Proprietor, JEMISON, ALA.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

TIPTON MULLINS
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW
CLANTON - ALA

WILLIAM M. ADAMS
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW
Practice in all Courts.
Office at the Adams' place
CLANTON - - - ALA

JOHN C. DENNIS
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW
Practice in the Supreme Court of Alabama, and all Inferior Courts.
CLANTON, - - ALA

ROBERT H. KING,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,
CLANTON, ALA.
Will practice in all the State and Federal Courts of Alabama.

Dr. OTTO M. WISEHART,
DENTIST.
OFFICE HOURS. 8 to 12 a.m. and 1 to 5 p.m.
Office over Wright's Store CLANTON

Dr. GEO. A. DENNIS,
SPECIALIST
Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat
OFFICE 22 S. PERRY ST.
Office Hours: 9 to 12 and 2 to 4.
Telephone 424—2 Calls
MONTGOMERY, ALA.

CHURCH DIRECTORY

BAPTIST—Preaching on the first and third sundays at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.

sunday-school every sunday at 10 a.m.

Prayer-meeting every Thursday evening at 7 o'clock.

F. M. WOODS, Pastor.

METHODIST — Preaching every second sunday at 7 p.m., and every fourth sunday at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.

sunday-school at 10 a.m. every sunday.

Prayer-meeting at seven o'clock every Wednesday night.

D. F. ELLISOR, Pastor.

CLANTON BARBER SHOP
W. H. TAYLOR, Proprietor.
HAIR CUTTING
SHAVING
SHAMPOOING
In all the Latest City Styles. Reasonable Charges. Prompt Attention.
HOT AND COLD BATHS.
CLANTON

E. W. Grove

This signature is on every box of the genuine Laxative Bromo-Quinine Tablets the remedy that cures a cold in one day

The BANNER office is the only Job Printing establishment in Chilton and Coosa counties. We give you best work at lower prices than you can get elsewhere. Give us a trial

The Farmers' Mutual Insurance Association of Alabama.

CHARTERED BY SPECIAL ACT OF THE LEGISLATURE.

"BY THE PEOPLE AND FOR THE PEOPLE."

CHILTON COUNTY BRANCH

PRESIDENT: M. J. CALLOWAY, Clanton.
SEC'Y & TREAS.: P. D. WILSON, Clanton.
GENERAL AGENT: WALLACE C. EDLER, Clanton.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

1. H. C. Young
2. Thomas Harrison
3. R. S. McCary
4. D. F. Jacks
5. W. H. Thomas
6. A. T. Hathcock
7. C. J. Coburn
8. John R. Parnell
9. D. N. Riggins.

Insures farmer's dwellings, outbuildings and contents, and live stock against loss by fire, wind and lightning.

The assessments for the year just closed was only 23c on the $1000 policy.

The cheapest, safest and most sensible method of insurance known to man. For full particulars call on or address the General Agent WALLACE C. EDLER, Clanton, Ala.

THE BANNER.

Published Weekly.

GLANTON, - - - ALABAMA.

An Illinois man has sued a woman who declined to marry him for the car fare he expended in going to see her. This is very small business. He should have walked and sued her for footwear and doctor's bills.

A fireman in Pennsylvania in the act of being married broke away at the sound of an alarm and ran to a fire. The blaze on Hymen's altar, however, was fierce enough to bring him back in a hurry.

Out of the wilderness of dietary theories in which we are now roaming bewildered—raw meat, raw wheat and all—we may emerge into a gastronomic Canaan of content. But the man who is inclined to let well enough alone will watch the other fellow experimenting and himself stick to the diet that "agrees with him."

There is no cause for immediate alarm at the statement of an eminent mathematician that in 10 centuries the population of the United States will exceed 40,000,000,000. This would be a density, counting our present area, of over 11,000 to a square mile. Even if any of us should live till that day there would possibly be no scarcity of provisions.

A New York judge has decided that a diamond collar button is an article of jewelry and not personal attire, and that it must be left in the safe if a hotel is to be responsible for it. If New York City is shocked by the appearance of men without collars in transit from hotel offices to their rooms this judge will be entirely to blame.

In Europe there continues to be considerable discussion of the exhaustion of forest resources. A late review of the wood imports and exports of France and other countries, in the Revue Scientifique, leads to the conclusion that a wood famine is soon coming. The problem is less acute in the United States, where reforestation is urged chiefly for climatic purposes, but the prospect of a wood famine has been considered even here.

While naval authorities in Europe and America are cogitating over and experimenting in desultory fashion with wireless telegraphy, little Japan has bought two complete Marconi plants, with an effective radius of 125 miles for immediate installation on two first class Japanese cruisers. Among nations, as in lesser political or domestic organizations, it sometimes happens that the latest comer runs most swiftly and eagerly in the unending race of material progress.

Through investigations by the United States fish commission, conducted on the New England coast, it has been shown that the cultivation of clams for the market, as oysters are cultivated, is, under certain conditions, a practicable and profitable industry. This is valuable information, in view of the rapid depletion of the soft, or, as it is commonly known, the long-neck clam, along the New England shores. Success in the culture is largely a question of a proper food supply, and much depends also on the nature of the ground. Clams will not thrive in a purely sandy bottom; neither will they grow in a soft mud. The bottom must be a mixture with just sand and mud enough to make a firm bed. They will set best, it was found, where there is a rapid current, which keeps any sediment from settling. The current, too, brings more food.

The assertion of Professor Nathaniel Schmidt of Cornell university at the New York State Conference of religion in New York City that he did not believe that the average Sunday school teacher was competent to teach a Sunday school class calls attention to the plan, already in operation to some extent, of employing paid teachers for such work. Within a few days the pastor of a Boston church, where the system of hiring trained teachers for Sunday school instruction has been tried, reported enthusiastically in its favor. In some of the wealthy congregations in and near New York City, there are already paid Sunday school teachers, especially those who have charge of infant classes. By the Boston experiment it was found that good story tellers were the most successful of the paid teachers. The hearty applause that Professor Schmidt received would seem to indicate that an effort to train or secure really competent Sunday school teachers would be a move in the religious field that would command instant approval.

QUEEN VICTORIA IS NO MORE

England's Idolized Ruler Passes To the Great Beyond.

THE GREATEST REIGN IN WORLD'S HISTORY CLOSES

Whole Continent Plunged Into Deepest Sorrow which will Find an Echo From the Civilzed World.

Queen Victoria, beloved ruler of England, is no more. After lingering many hours between life and death—suffering from paralysis—the end came peacefully early Tuesday morning, at Osborne House of Cowes, Isle Wight.

Some time before her dissolution the queen lapsed into unconsciousness and death stole over her like sleep.

The flag which floats over Osborne House was at once dropped to half-mast, advising the anxious throng which crowded the grounds of the palace of the sad fact that the queen was dead.

The bulletins were posted and flashed throughout the kingdom and all parts of the world.

The prince of Wales (heir apparent) and other members of the royal family were gathered at the bedside when dissolution took place.

The scene was a most dramatic and pathetic one.

Thus ended the longest, most prosperious and glorious reign Great Britain has ever known.

QUEEN VICTORIA.

Victoria, queen of great Britain and Ireland and empress of India, was born at Kensington palace, May 24, 1819. She was the only child of Edward, duke of Kent, the fourth son of George III. and Princess Victoria Mary Louisa, of Saxe-Coburg-Saalfeld. She became heir presumptive to the throne of England on the accession of her uncle, William IV., in 1830, since neither George IV., Frederic or William had surviving children to succeed them. On the death of William IV., June 20, 1837, she became queen of England, and her uncle Ernest, duke of Cumberland, succeeded to the throne of Hanover, as by the Salic law she could not inherit that crown. The crowns of England and Hanover had been worn by the same person for 123 years, or since the accession of George I., in 1714; they now became separated. Queen Victoria was crowned at Westminster abbey on June 28, 1838. She was but little over the legal age of 18 years when she became queen.

On February 10, 1840, she married her cousin, Prince Albert, of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha, one of the German states. Parliament voted him the title of prince consort, a bill of naturalization, January 21, 1840, gave him the rights and privileges of an English citizen, and an annuity of £30,000 was granted him for life.

On March 16, 1861, the queen's mother, the duchess of Kent, died. On December 14, 1861, the prince consort died. The queen's grief at her husband's death was so intense that for over fifteen years she did not appear in public or at any court ceremonial, though she did not neglect her duties as sovereign.

Her life of semi-seclusion was passed at Windsor castle or at her summer residence, Balmoral castle, in Scotland. The prince consort was very much endeared to the English people by his practical public spirit and a genuine zeal in all enterprises for the benefit of the people in science, art and along more modern lines of thought and action. He was made a field marshal, knight of the garter, chancellor of the University of Cambridge and invested with other high titles and functions. His business foresight was excellent. He is said to have invested the queen's funds most judiciously in London suburban property and otherwise, so that her private fortune has long been the largest of all owned by the crowned heads of the world. He exercised a wise influence over the queen, without obtrusive dictation.

Queen Victoria bore four sons and five daughters. Victoria Adelaide (1840) married (1858) the crown prince of Prussia, who became emperor of Germany. His brief reign of only about one year was followed by William II, the present "war lord of Europe," Queen Victoria's grandson. His son, Victoria's great-grandson, has attained his legal majority and is now crown prince of Germany.

Albert Edward, prince of Wales (1841) married in 1863 to Princess Alexandra of Denmark.

Alice (1843) married in 1862 to Prince Louis of Hesse-Darmstadt.

Alfred (1844) married in 1874 to Grand Duchess Marie of Russia, only daughter of Czar Alexander II. In 1866 was created duke of Edinburgh, earl of Kent and Ulster. In 1893 succeeded his uncle, Duke Ernst, as ruler of the duchy of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha. Died at Rosenau castle, Coburg, July 30, 1900. He was succeeded by the duke of Albany, son of the late Prince Leopold, Queen Victoria's youngest son.

Helena (1846) married in 1866 Prince Christian of Schleswig-Holstein.

Louise (1848) married in 1871 to Marquis of Lorne.

Arthur (1850) duke of Connaught, was appointed to succeed General Sir Evelyn Wood in command of Aldershot military district August 12, 1893.

Leopold (1853), deceased.

Beatrice (1857), Queen Victoria's youngest daughter, married Prince Henry of Battenberg, now governor of the Isle of Wight.

In April, 1876, Queen Victoria was authorized by an act proposed by M. Disraeli to assume the title of empress of India. On January 1, 1877, she was formally invested with the title at a magnificent convention of Indian princes, rajans and state officials, held near Delhi, and was so proclaimed at Calcutta, Bombay and Madras. This act closed the existence of the East India Company that had founded and practically governed this mighty Indian empire for two and a half centuries.

Queen Victoria outlived all the members of the privy council and all of the peers holding titles at the time of her ascension. During her reign there have been eleven lord chancellors, ten prime ministers, five archbishops of Canterbury and six of York. In the United States there have been seventeen presidents. In Canada ten viceroys. In France one king, one emperor and six presidents. On the throne of Prussia five kings. In Russia three czars.

"CHRISTIANIZED" COUNCILMEN.

Neglected Civil Duties In Their Religious Enthusiasm.

Because a majority of the city councilmen of Hiawatha, Kas., refused to leave a religious revival meeting and attend the regular weekly council meeting, S. Hunter, mayor, tendered his resignation. Unable to secure a quorum to transact business, he sent a sheriff to the revival to compel the councilmen to present themselves at the city hall. A majority sent word that they "had to attend the revival and could not come."

GIGANTIC LUMBER COMPANY.

Concern Organized in Tennessee to Saw Up 50,000 Acres.

The Tennessee Lumber Manufacturing Company was organized at Bristol Thursday. Pennsylvania capitalists are interested in the enterprise, the leaders being W. S. and A. W. Sheafer, J. M. Edwards and J. W. Beecher, of Pottsville, Pa., and C. J. St. John, of Bristol. The company has 50,000 acres of timber land in Johnson county, Tenn. It will erect a large lumber plant capable of sawing 75,000 feet daily.

PUGILISTIC CODE

Of Military Academy Is Deeply Probed By Investigating Committee.

The congressional committee at West Point, N. Y., probed deep into cadet fighting traditions Friday. Cadet Lynch, of New York, was thoroughly examined by the committeemen, as he is looked upon as the authority on fighting at the academy. When General Dick began to question he became argumentative and shook his finger at the chairman several times when parrying some of the general's mild reproofs.

At times he leaned across the table which separated him from the chairman's table while he spoke in an insolent manner to the general. He upheld the West Point fighting code, and declared that he would fight any man of his size and weight, and said that any man who would not do likewise was not fit to join the army. General Dick exhibited a good deal of forbearance, but finally gave up his questioning in unconcealed disgust after he had given the "fistic expert" a sound piece of advice.

For the first time during the investigation it was shown Friday that there are cadets in the first class who, from the time they entered as plebes, have been opposed to hazing and fighting. Cadet Clarke, of Illinois, testified to this, and said that these practices should be abolished. He was complimented by Mr. Driggs, who said that Clarke was a credit to the academy.

Cadet Douglass MacArthur, who on Thursday strenuously denied having convulsions of hysteria on the occasion of his being violently exercised during the summer encampment of 1899 at the West Point military academy, was called again by the congressional investigation committee and was examined at great length.

RIOTERS SUBDUED

Presence of Troops at Corbin, Kentucky, Puts a Quietus On Feudists.

The presence of the soldiers at Corbin, Ky., had a quieting effect on the citizens or Corbin, and the troops being no longer needed, withdrew Friday night. While members of the Whites and Shotwells are still in Corbin under arms, they are not being interferred with by the soldiers, as they say they have no intention of precipitating trouble.

With the arrest and removal to the Williamsburg jail of five members of the Shotwells and Rollo White, who shot the father of the Shotwell boys on Wednesday last, no further trouble is anticipated. The funerals of the three persons killed Wednesday took place Friday. James Shotwell was buried at his old home, near Rockhold. The sons attended the funeral guarded by soldiers. Sutton Farris was laid to rest near Corbin and Susan Cox, at Grays.

Judge Wilder, acting coroner, began the investigation in the dynamiting of the White store, and the killing of the Cox woman and Sutton Farris. He had before him several witnesses, including Roch White, proprietor of the store which was wrecked, and in which he and Bill White were guarding their brother, who had killed old man Shotwell. White did not know any of the participants in the rioting, and the investigation was not completed. The men wounded by the explosion which wrecked the White store are doing well, their injuries not having been as serious as at first reported.

GET THIRTY YEARS.

Three Murderers of Jennie Bosschelter Get Off Lightly.

Walter C. McAllister, Andrew J. Campbell and William A. Death, three of the four persons indicted for the death of Jennie Bosschieter, a mill girl of Paterson, N. J., who was murdered on the night of October 18th last, were adjudged guilty of murder in the second degree.

According to the New Jersey law, the maximum penalty for the prisoners is thirty years imprisonment. The jury took fourteen ballots.

When the verdict was announced the prisoners exhibited neither elation nor relief. Judge Dixon thanked the jury, and said he believed the verdict a just one.

STUDENT THROWN IN LAKE.

Trouble In Sanford University Breaks Out In New Phase.

The feeling against those who have been condemning the action of Prof. Jordan, of Stanford University, broke out Thursday afternoon among the students. C. D. Montgomery, a junior from the University of Kansas, was seized by a party of fifty or more students and carried to a lake back of the university and thrown in. The water was about five feet deep and Montgomery had no difficulty in getting to shore.

The feeling against Montgomery was caused by his radical talk condemning Dr. Jordan and the university management.

PROMINENT WOMAN SUICIDES.

Widow of Member of Virginia Bar Tires of Earthly Existence.

Mrs. Annie E. Craig, of Staunton, Va., the widow of a distinguished member of the Virginia bar and herself a member of a prominent family, committed suicide early Thursday morning by hanging herself. Wrapping a rope, used for hoisting coal to the upper back porch, around her neck several times, she tied it securely and rolled over the railing.

A GLAD WELCOME TO SENATOR QUAY

His Advent on the Floor Causes Demonstration.

FLOWERS IN GREAT PROFUSION

Hearty Applause and the Glad Hand Freely Given the Victorious Pennsylvanian.

Matthew Stanley Quay, re-elected as a senator from Pennsylvania took the oath of office in the senate Thursday. Mr. Quay had been assigned to the second seat in the back row on the Republican side, the desk formerly occupied by Mr. Hanna, of Ohio.

An hour before the senate convened beautiful floral presents began to be piled on and around the senator's desk. By the time the senate was called to order, the messengers had found it impossible to place to advantage any more of the floral offering.

Not in the history of the senate has a single senator been the recipient of such a profusion of flowers, beautiful in themselves and lavishly elaborate in their arrangement, as the Pennsylvania senator received on this occasion. One of the handsomest pieces was a huge keystone arch of white immortelles, the keystone being of deep red immortelles. It was several feet in height and bore the words: "The Verdict of the People." The flowers were sent to the capitol literally by the wagon load, and it was found impossible to display them in the senate chamber. Many of them were allowed to remain in the corridors.

Just before the senate convened Mr. Quay entered the chamber. As he was recognized by his friends tremendous applause swept over the crowded galleries. It was prolonged for a full half minute. Meantime, Mr. Quay was receiving the cordial congratulations of his colleagues on the floor of the senate.

By this time the senate chamber was thronged by senators and others entitled to the privilege of the floor of the senate. Scores of members of the house had come to the senate side of the capitol to witness the inductment of Mr. Quay into office, among them practically the entire Pennsylvania delegation.

As soon as the senate had convened Mr. Penrose presented the credentials of Mr. Quay and requested that the oath of office be administered to his colleague. As no objection was offered Mr. Penrose escorted Mr. Quay to the desk of the president pro tempore, Mr. Frye. Before taking the oath Mr. Quay shook hands cordially with Mr. Frye.

The president pro tem previously had announced to the people in the galleries that no applause or demonstrations of approval or disapproval would be permitted. Thus no demonstration occurred when Mr. Quay had taken the oath. After he had signed the roll at the desk of the secretary he retired to his seat, where he was overwhelmed with congratulations. Within a few minutes hundreds of people had left the floor and galleries, the floral offerings had disappeared from the chamber and the senate had resumed its wonted appearance.

BECKHAM SENDS TROOPS.

Bloody Riot In Corbin, Kentucky, Was of Large Proportions.

Colonel R. D. Williams, with a composite company of Kentucky state militia numbering eighty men, under command of Captain Henry Hutchinson, with Lieutenant James Dodd, with one section of battery A, ten men with one gatling gun, left Franklin Thursday night for Corbin, in Whitley county, the scene of the wholesale murder and riot of Wednesday night. The militia are under sealed orders from Governor Beckham and will report to sheriff Sutton, of Whitley county, for duty in the maintainance of peace and gaurding the prisoners.

Steel Trust on Tapis.

The first steps in the formation of a $2,000,000 combination of four existing steel and wire companies were taken Thursday afternoon at a secret meeting in the offices of the Federal Steel company in New York.

BRITONS RAISE THE BLACK FLAG.

"Stop the War" Committee Passes a Red-Hot Resolution.

The "stop the war" committee at London has passed the following resolution:

"Orders which a British officer reports he personally received reveal the adoption by Lord Roberts and Lord Kitchener of a policy having for its aim the extermination of a heroic nationality by starving its women and children and the deliberate massacre of unarmed prisoners."

The latter clause alludes to General Kitchener's alleged secret orders to General Dewet's pursuers to take no prisoners.

MRS. NATION RELEASED.

County Attorney Will Not Prosecute Erratic Saloon Wrecker.

A dispatch from Wichita, Kan., says: The county attorney has dismissed the charge against Mrs. Carrie Nation. He says:

"The mind of the defendant is much impaired and she labors under a delusion to such an extent as to be irresponsible. Further confinement in jail would not improve her condition of mind."

WE HAVE TURNED FROM OLD PATHS

Such Is the Declaration of Ex-President Cleveland.

AT HOLLAND SOCIETY DINNER

"There Is Need of Dutch Conservatism to Steady Popular Impulse," He Says.

The Holland Society in New York held its sixteenth annual dinner at the Waldorf Astoria Thursday night. The Rev. Dr. Henry Van Dyke, president of the society, presided. To his right sat ex-President Cleveland. There were 600 persons present.

Mr Cleveland prefaced his remarks with an acknowledgement that on occasions as this he was a stranger and pleaded as an excuse the burden of great responsibilities in his office and the need of "Dutch conservatism to steady popular impulse" he referred to "this time of heady national heedlessness."

Mr Cleveland said in part:

"The question is suggested whether in present conditions this conservatism characterizes the country and guides the sentiment of our people. There can be but one answer to this question. Conservatism has in no degree been jauntily cast aside or condemned as opposed to our country's welfare and glory. A venturesome voyage has been entered upon without count of cost and without chart or compass. The tried and sure features of our liberty and national life have been discredited. Reverence for our national traditions has been relaxed and satisfaction with our country's mission has been undermined.

"War, even with the world's most advanced civilization, may still be at times necessary and justifiable, but the demoralization that follows in its train can never be evaded. It leaves bloody instructions, which, in a country whose citizens do the fighting, will not fail to leave their impress for a time upon public and private life in time of peace.

"Thirty years after the close of our war for the preservation of the Union a treaty of arbitration was formed between the United States and Great Britain which, if completed, would have gone far toward removing the pretext of war between the two countries. This treaty failed of confirmation in the senate of the United States. Less than five years passed and English speaking champions of peace and arbitration are still operating on parallel lines—one in the Philippines and the other in South Africa—longer for peace and arbitration. Both are killing natives in an effort to possess their lands.

"This indicates a sad relapse from our case it is a most serious one. If England succeeds in her attempt in South Africa, she will but add another to her list of similar acquisitions. The brave host will be subjugated in the cause of our engagement in a similar venture in another quarter will miss the expression of American sympathy which we are accustomed to extend to those who struggle for home, life and independence.

"On the other hand, with success of our subjugating effort a new, strange and exceedingly perilous situation will be forced upon us. We can't govern the Philippines, and after conquering them can probably govern them as a distinguished bishop has said, the question is not what we shall do with the Philippines, but what the Philippines will do to us.'

"Our country will never be the same again. For weal or woe, we have already irrevocably passed beyond old lines.

"The problem is a momentous one. In the mid-st of reckless tumult and the confused rage of national pride and bloodiness, let it be proven that American freedom and popular rule cannot perish except through the madness of those who have taken their keeping, and by the blood sacrifice of our fathers, by the achievements of the free institutions they established, by our glorious victories of peace and by our reliance on the promise of God, let Dutch conservatism enjoin upon our people a faithful discharge of their sacred trust."

USURER REMEMBERS NEGROES

Noted London Shylock Directs Poor Be Looked After.

Samuel Lewis, the London money lender and usurer, who died a few days ago, left £4,000,000 ($20,000,000), all of which goes, under his will, to his widow with the exception of £100,000 which is divided among relatives.

In his will he expressed a wish that his widow should give in his name £400,000 to provide dinners for the poor of all creeds, £250,000 to the Prince of Wales hospital fund, £100,000 to the Jewish board of guardians of London, £200,000 to various hospitals.

MISS ROCKEFELLER A BRIDE

Multi-Millionaire's Daughter Weds Chicago Lawyer.

Miss Rockefeller, daughter of John D. and Mrs. John D. Rockefeller, was married Thursday afternoon at the residence of her parents in New York city, to E. Parmlee Prentice, a lawyer of Chicago. The reception was attended only by relatives, school friends of the bride and intimates of Mrs. Rockefeller's friends.

ARP'S LETTER

Wedding Bells Are a Joyful Sound to Bartow Philosopher.

MATRIMONIAL VENTURES

Some of the Needful Provisions, and Other Interesting Features of a Regulation Wedding.

Wedding bells have been ringing here for some time. Their joyous music always excites the good people and everybody talks about the coming event. Mothers, wives and daughters are specially interested, for it is the lady who has most at stake who has most at stake who has most at stake

WE HAVE TURNE FROM OLD PA

Such Is the Declarati Ex-President Clevel

AT HOLLAND SOCIETY ME

"There Is Need of Dutch servatism to Steady Pop Impulse," He Says.

The Holland Society in Ne held its sixteenth annual di the Waldorf Astoria Thursday The Rev. Dr. Henry Van Dyke dent of the society, presided. right sat ex President Cle There were 600 persons presen

Mr Cleveland prefaced his with an acknowledgement that occasions as this he was a serv and pleaded as an excuse the of great responsibilities in t and the need of "Dutch conser to steady popular impulse. ferred to this time of headl tional heedlessness."

Mr Cleveland said in part:

"The question is suggested er in present conditions this atism characterizes the con guides the sentiment of our There can be but one answer question. Conservatism has degree been jauntily cast as condemned as opposed to our try's welfare and glory. A voyage has been entered upon count of cost and without chart pass. The tried and sure foun of our liberty and national ha have been discredited. Rever our national traditions has be laxed and satisfaction with our try's mission has been undermi

"War, even with the worl vanced civilization, may still be times necessary and justifiable the demoralization that follow train can never be evaded. It bloody instructions, which, in try whose citizens do the fighti not fail to leave their impre time upon public and private time of peace.

"Thirty years after the clos war for the preservation of the a treaty of arbitration was form between the United States and Britain which, if completed, have gone far toward removing pretext of war between the two ries. This treaty failed of co tion in the senate of the United Less than five years passed and English speaking champions of and arbitration are still operat parallel lines—one in the Phil and the other in South Africa— onger for peace and arbit Both are killing natives in an e possess their lands.

"This indicates a sad relapse, ur case it is a most serious co England succeeds in her atte South Africa, she will but add o her list of similar acquisiti rave host will be subjugated a ause of our engagement in a enture in another quarter th iss the expression of America athy which we are accustomed end to those who struggle for n fe and independence.

"On the other hand, with suc ur subjugating effort a new, nd exceedingly perilous situati e forced upon us. We can co e Philippines, and after conq em can probably govern the distinguished bishop has said: uestion is not what we shall d e Philippines, but what the P ines will do to us.'

"Our country will never be th gain. For weal or woe, we h eady irrevocably passed beyo d lines.

"The problem is a momentou the mid-st of reckless tumult e confused rage of national nd bloodiness, let it be proc at American freedom and p le cannot perish except throu adness of those who have th eir keeping, and by the blo crifice of our fathers, by the hievements of the free instit ey established, by our glorio ries of peace and by our relia e promise of God, let Dut rvation enjoin upon our p thful discharge of their ast."

USURER REMEMBERS NE

ted London Shylock Directe Poor Be Looked After.

Samuel Lewis, the London nder and usurer, who died ys ago, left £4,000,000 ($2 0), all of which goes, under hi his widow with the except 00,000 which is divided amo es.

In his will he expressed a at his widow should give in h me £400,000 to provide dw the poor of all creeds, £250, e Prince of Wales hospital 00,000 to the Jewish board of ns of London, £200,000 to th s hospitals.

MISS ROCKEFELLER A BR

iti-Millionaire's Daughter Chicago Lawyer.

Miss Rockefeller, daughter Mrs. John D. Rockefeller rried Thursday afternoon idence of her parents in New , to E. Parmlee Prentice, a yer of Chicago. The recepti ended only by relatives, ool friends of the bride and Mrs. Rockefeller's friends.

ARP'S LETTER

ing Bells Are a Joyful Sound o Bartow Philosopher.

OF MATRIMONIAL VENTURES

es the Needful Trousseau and her Interesting Features of a Regulation Wedding.

ding bells have been ringing here for some time. Their always excite the good people erybody talks about the coming s. Mothers, wives and daughe specially interested, for it is ride who has most at stake about to surrender everything to er But hope is stronger than d the women all rejoice in it ish the good work to go on. nsect and discuss every phase new relationship and crowd the or the home where the knot is ed with anxious and eager in-

The bridal trosseaus and the g gifts have especial considera- d are carefully inspected. What rence between man and woman such things What a difference n my wife and I. It was of concern to me whether the apparel cost a thousand dollars ndred Just so she was dress- good taste and wore a few pretty ents was enough for me.

e to see a pretty woman dressed ay that you can tell pretty well uch of her is clothes and how is flesh and blood. Padding and ets may fool a man in a new stance, but a home girl can't ybody We see them ride and nd stand up and sit down and ound and we can measure them e David Harum measured a

The modern style of dress is more pleasing to men than the le of hoop skirts and bustles. g is lacking now but to shorten ir walking frocks so that they drag behind and sweep up the lks with all their filth of cigar s and quids and bacteria and rated germs of expectorated ption When I see a girl's dragging along I suspect that pigeon-toed or box-ankled and to hide it. My wife never wore that way in her life, for she a number two shoe and steps deer.

It is a woman's nature to love ent. She cannot help it and it n. John Wesley tried to cure her the discipline, but he couldent line about ornaments and jewelry her finery is a dead letter. I have ted that may be he was so hard wife about such things, and why she quit him. What a ble time those women had in ys of the Puritans when a pretty d to wear a plain black dress to a home-made straw hood like a coal scuttle on her head, t an ear ring nor a breast pin en a string of glass beads around ck.

creator adorned the earth with and studded the heavens with He gave the birds their beauplumage and taught them to sing r pleasure. There are diamonds mines and pearls in the ocean course they were made for wo- We men care nothing about hings. I wouldent give ten dol- r a bushel of them, but my wife nto rapture over them and would verything she has got for them, her children and may be me.

man is a curious and peculiar n. I have been studying them ty years and don't fully under- them yet. They are very near and very dear to us, but very un- their devotional nature; their f the beautiful; their long suf- under trial and adversity. They lingly and eagerly to the mar- altar when they know that theirs the peril and theirs to be all the nd care and grief that inevita- mes to a wife and mother. I pondered over all this and if I woman and had only a man's in- and emotions I would not mar- man upon earth.

is the God-given maternal in- that persuades and forces a wo- to marry. She will launch her upon the stream and take her es to jump the waterfalls. She harry even against her judgment e pleadings of her friends. She not realize the force of this ma- instinct, but it impels and con- her. My little granddaughters perfectly happy with their dolls, play with them by day and sleep them by night. A little four- old said to me last night, "Gam- on't take dolly away from me till fast asleep." Little boys care g about dolls. They want balls rums and firecrackers and guns ething that will make a noise.

man loves a woman and marries but there is not a particle of pa- instinct influencing him. The mother hugs her first born to osom and is happy. The young takes the advent of the child as her of course, but not of choice, rse of time the little one grows avor and he becomes attached to d even proud of it, but there is ternal instinct. The true woman to be a mother. She is not con- with one child. She wants another mother and another. Two chil- double her love and therefore her iness, and finally when she has no little one to fondle, her maternal laps over to her grandchildren, he would claim them if she could. Wilcox wrote a lamentation on Decay of the Maternal Instinct in New England," asserting that the women up there did not wish for children, and there was hardly a household that had more than one or two—just enough to inherit the father's estate.

When that decays everything else decays. A town or city or a state without children—a natural complement of children—is on the down grade. To arrest or impede the coming of children is a violation of the law of God.

The earth must be peopled by honorable marriage. Milton says "Hail, wedded Love—true source of human offspring." And again he says of marriage, "It is the sum of earthly bliss." Other cynical old poets make sport of it and call it a "lottery." An institution where those who are out wish to get in and those who are in wish to get out." Some of our modern poets ask the question, "Is marriage a failure?" and discuss it in prose and poetry. Well, suppose that it is, what is to be done about it? Who is going to stop it? How shall the earth be peopled when we all die off? What kind of incubators do they propose to substitute?

Emerson says "All the world loves a lover," and that is why the good people of every community flock to witness a marriage ceremony. Everybody loves the happy couple then and wishes them joy. Will he be kind to her, and there is a smothered thought in every mother's mind.

Dr. Gaines of the Agnes Scott Institute gave us a discourse the other day on the importance of educating our girls. It was deeply entertaining and convincing. How comes it that six times as much money is invested in giving our boys a high education as there is for our girls? Who are our educators at home and in our public schools? Sixty-six per cent. of all the teachers in Georgia are women and they should have the best opportunities to fit them for their vocation.

Who teaches the children until they can go to school. The mothers—the patient loving mothers all over the land, while the fathers are in the field, the counting room, the workshop, or maybe at the club or the billiard table. Why should the female colleges be neglected by the state? Who are doing the most good in the school room, the church, the Sunday school or by the fireside in the establishing and perpetuating morality and virtue among the children? Is it the boys who come from college or the girls who cannot go, but have to be content with such education as they can get at home.

Well, the good doctor gave us food for thought, and when he closed I felt a wish that I was rich so that I might enable every good girl to get a higher education than she can get at home. When will we have a legislature that will have heart enough to give to woman all of her rights? The marriageable girls ought to form a trust and vow to marry nobody until their rights were recognized. If it wasent for the maternal instinct they would.—BILL ARP, in Atlanta Constitution.

The annual report of the English commissioners of prisons, which has just been published, gives some instructive criminal statistics. The English prisons act of 1898 made a number of changes in existing methods, all of them tending toward a lessening of severity. Among other changes corporal punishment was much restricted and the prison dietary improved. The present report shows that instead of leading to the immediate increase of minor offenses, which was predicted by many, there has been a considerable decrease in this form of crime, and there are now 4632 less convicts in English prisons than there were a year ago, the figures being for 1900, 169,367, and for 1899, 173,999. The number of prisoners received during the year per 100,000 of the population were, in England, 581; in Ireland, 839, and in Scotland, 1386.

A Massachusetts leather man predicts an easing down of the price of sole leather very soon, on account of the invention of a New England genius. Sole leather grows on beasts in very limited quantities, and it is hard to get enough of it. The invention is to use leather scraps of all sorts for the manufacture of good, serviceable sole leather. The scraps are worthless for all practical purposes, and generally rot in the streets and alleys. But a machine has been devised that tears them into shreds and makes them into pulp, which is run out under great pressure in continuous sheets of good sole leather. A fall in the price of sole leather is predicted as the result of this discovery of a way to use the scraps.

Zadkiel, in his illustrious astrological almanac, proscribes several days in each month as days on which it is advisable to "avoid superiors." But here comes Rev. Edward Everett Hale with some new rules of conduct, one of which is, "Talk every day with a man whom you know to be your superior." Probably it will be the better part of wisdom to subscribe to Dr. Hale's precept. He is a notorious optimist, a man of unusually confident tomorrows, and his present advice is but another application of his old rule, "Look up and not down."

HUMAN HAIR ODDITIES.

IT GROWS SIX OR SEVEN INCHES IN A YEAR.

About 120,000 Hairs in the Normal Scalp —Blond Hair is the Finest and Most Thickly Set—Gray Hairs Have Air Bubbles.

"It is a popular notion, sedulously fostered by the barbers who get an extra fee for singeing, that the hair is a tube, and that when it is cut off it bleeds, and the natural vitality of it dribbles out into the atmosphere. I think people have often been shown the hollowness of hairs when they have looked at them through a microscope. If you can overcome your conviction that all this world affords is hollow and unsubstantial and are able to understand that most people looking through a microscope can see exactly what they are told they will see, you will be pleased to hear that the human hair is a solid bundle of epithelial cells, the inner ones being rather more loosely packed like pith. Gray hairs have air bubbles in their outer layers. Blond hair is the finest and most thickly set. Black hair is less so, and red hair is the coarsest and most sparsely planted. The human hair is not a perfect cylinder and the flatter it is the more natural curl it has, and, being affected by dampness, the more it kinks up. The hair grows six or seven inches in a year, but the reason why a woman's hair is not five feet longer to-day than it was ten years ago is that each person seems to have a definite normal length beyond which the hair refuses to grow even if you put on the very best lotion you can buy for a dollar a bottle. When a hair thinks it is about long enough it drops out and you find it stuck fast on the soap-dish or the stationary washbowl, wriggling with delight at your efforts to pick it off with your wet fingers.

It does not discourage a hair to be plucked out by the roots, as ladies who have a tendency to grow mustaches will bear me out. It simply gets angry and comes in again coarser than ever. That is because what keeps the hair going is something that cannot very well be got at from the surface of the skin. It is a little papilla, 1-180th of an inch long, away down at the bottom of the hair tube. Nothing that can be dabbed on the skin can get down there either to harm or help it. The only way to remove such hair is to make up your mind to spend money and to have an unpleasant time. Go to a physician and let him kill off the growth of each hair with an electric needle. I hope you will enjoy yourself. It is like tattooing in its sensations. There have been some ladies that have removed mustaches from their lips—I mean their own mustaches—by taking a needle and heating it in the flame of a lamp and thrusting it into each individual hair gland and so killing the papillae. They get it red hot, you know, and they also get tiny particles of lamp black on the needle, and it leaves a delicate tattooing effect that is very striking. I don't know why it is that I want to laugh about this, because you know it is not a bit funny to the girl to have her lip hurt so and then find out that in taking away the mustache that she might have shaved off every day, she has left an artificial mustache that nothing can remove. It is really a serious matter, but I always want to laugh just the same.

"In some diseases of the scalp such as favus it is necessary to pluck out the hairs in order to get at the skin, and it is on record that one little girl had to have 70,000 of them pulled out by the roots before she got well. As there are only about 120,000 in the whole scalp, and this was only one little patch, it is easy to see that plucking out a hair does not mean the ultimate extinction of hair on that spot.

"Beard appears to grow at the same rate and to follow the sale rules of personal conduct as the hair of the head. So if a man began shaving when he was sixteen and lives to be seventy years old, he will have cut more than a little bit off the top. If he could keep in position all he has thrown away, a head of hair thirty-five feet long and beard twenty-seven feet long, all in one bunch, would enable him to travel with a circus summers and sit in a store window to advertise a hair restorer in the winter. I don't know but he could get into the United States Senate, although I hear that they don't run so much to whiskers there now as they did a while ago."—Harvey Sutherland in Ainslee's.

Jim Fisk's Flagship.

Stripped of her ornaments and bereft of her old-time splendor, says the Providence Journal, the once magnificent, new, stanch, commodious and palatial steamer Providence, flagship of "Jim" Fisk's fleet, and one of the queens of the sound, now lies at the Lonsdale wharf, to be the home of rats and slowly rot away. The old steamboat came to this port yesterday and made her last dock. Unable to compete with the latter day floating hotels that float so fast over the green waters between Long Island and the Connecticut shore, the old Providence has crawled off to die, and her last days will be spent in this city that gave her name.

The state of Ohio expends $14,000,000 annually on its 1,200,000 school children. Of this fund Cincinnati pays $1,000,000.

Every cloud may have a silver lining, but every opportunity is not golden.

REV DR. TALMAGE

DISCOURSE BY THE EMINENT DIVINE LAST SUNDAY.

Subject: Entering the Gate—Exultant Admission Awaits Those Who Have Lived For Others, While the Bigot and Penurious Will Barely Squeeze Through.

(Copyright 1901.)

WASHINGTON, D. C.—In a very novel way Dr. Talmage in his discourse describes what may be expected in the next world by those who here bend all their energies in the right direction; text, II Peter i, 11, "For so an entrance shall be ministered unto you abundantly."

Different styles of welcome at the gate of heaven are here suggested. We all hope to enter that supernal capital through the grace that is ready to save even the chief of sinners, but not now. No man healthy of body and mind wants to go now. The man who hurls himself out of this life is either an agnostic or is demented, or finds life insufferable, and does not care where he lands. This is the best world we ever got into, and we want to stay here as long as God will let us stay. But when the last page of the volume of our earthly life is ended we want enrollment in heavenly citizenship. We want to get in easily. We do not want to be challenged at the gate and asked to show our passports. We do not want the gatekeeper in doubt as to whether we ought to go in at all. We do not want to be kept in the portico of the temple until consultation is made as to where we came from and who we are and whether it is safe to admit us, lest we be a discord in the eternal harmonies or lower the spirit of heavenly worship. When the Apostle Peter in the text addresses the people, "For so an entrance shall be administered unto you abundantly," he implies that some will find admission into heaven easy, rapturous and acclamatory, while others will have to squeeze through the gate of heaven, if they get in at all. They will arrive anxious and excited and apprehensive and wondering whether it will be "Come!" or "Go!" The Bible speaks of such persons as "scarcely saved," and in another place as "saved as by fire," and in another place as escaped "by the skin of the teeth."

Carrying out the suggestion of my text, I propose to show you what classes of Christians will get into heaven with a hard push and those who will bound in amid salutations infinite. In the first class I put that man who gets into the kingdom of God at the close of a life all given to worldliness and sin. Years ago he made the resolution that he would serve himself and serve the world until body, mind and soul were exhausted, and then, just before going out of this life, would seek God and prepare to enter heaven. He carries out his resolution. He genuinely repents the last day or the last hour or the last minute of his life. He takes the last seat in the last car of the last train bound heavenward. His released and immortal spirit ascends. Not one wing bears down toward him with a welcome. No sign of gladness at his arrival. None there obligated to him for kindness done or alms distributed or spiritual help administered. He will find some place to stay, but I do not envy that man his heaven. He got in, but it was not an abundant entrance.

Sometimes in our pulpits we give a wrong turn to the story of the dying thief to whom Christ said: "This day shalt thou be with Me in paradise." We ought to admire the mercy of the Christ that pardoned him in the last hour, but do not let us admire the dying thief. When he was arrested I think his pockets were full of stolen coin and the coat he had on his back was not his own. He stole right on until he was arrested for his crimes. He repented, and through great mercy arose to paradise, but he was no example to follow. What a gigantic meanness to devote the wondrous equipment of brain and nerve and muscle and bone with which we are endowed, these miracles of sight and hearing and speech, to purposes unworthy or profane and then, through hasty repentance at the last enter heaven. Cheating God all one's lifetime and then taking advantage of a bankrupt law and made free of all liabilities. I should think that some men would be ashamed to enter heaven.

Again, the bigot will not have what my text calls an abundant entrance. He has his bedwarfed opinion as to what all must believe and do in order to gain celestial residence. He has his creed in one pocket and his catechism in another pocket, and it may be a good creed and a good catechism, but he uses them as sharp swords against those who will not accept his theories. You must be baptized in his way or come to him through apostolic succession or be foreordained of eternity or you are in an awful way. He shrivels up and shrivels up and becomes more splenetic until the time of his departure is at hand. He has enough of the salt of grace to save him, but his entrance into heaven will be something worth watching. What do they want with him in heaven, where they have all gone into eternal catholicity, one grand commingling of Methodists and Baptists and Episcopalians and Lutherans and Congregationalists and Presbyterians and a score of other denominations just as good as any I have mentioned? They all join in the halleluiah chorus, accompanied by harpers on their harps and trumpeters on their trumpets, "Worthy is the Lamb that was slain to receive blessing and riches and honor and glory and power."

Denominations of Christians on earth were necessary in order to better work and to suit preferences, as an army must be divided into regiments, yet one army; as a neighborhood must be divided into families, though one neighborhood. But there is no need for such divisions in heaven, and therefore all belong to one denomination of sainthood. What will be the bigot's amazement when he sees seated side by side on the banks of the river of life Calvin and Arminius, Archbishop Cranmer and some dissenting preacher of the gospel who never graduated, one who on earth was a robed and surpliced ecclesiastic, and a backwoods minister who in the log cabin meeting house preached in a linen duster? Among the great surprises of heaven for the bigot will be the celestial friendliness of those who on earth opposed each other in wrathiest polemics. He will get through the gate, for he has a spark of divine grace in his heart, but there will not be an inch of room to spare on either side of him. It will not take long for heaven to educate him into a glorious big heartedness.

Again, the penurious Christian will not have an abundant entrance. Perhaps he was not converted until all his habits of tight fistedness were fixed beyond recovery. The people who are generous were taught to be generous in childhood. You can tell from the way that boy divides the apple what his characteristics for generosity or meanness will be for the next eighty years if he lives so long. If he eat it all himself while others look wistfully on, he will be a Shylock. If he give half of it to some one who has no apple he will be an ordinarily generous man. If he give three-fourths of it to another, he will be a Baron Hirsch or a George Peabody.

For thirty years this man has been practicing an economy which prided itself on never passing a pin without picking it up, and if he responded at all in church would put on the collection plate so insignificant a coin that he held his hand over it so that no one could discover the smallness of the denomination. Somewhere in the drive or station of his life, during a revival of religion, he became a Christian. He is very much changed in most respects, but his old shrivling acquisitiveness still influences him. To extract from him a gift for an orphanage or a church or a poor woman who has just been burnt out is an achievement.

But the day is coming for that penurious Christian's departure from the world. He has an awful struggle in giving up his Government securities. The attorney who drew his last will and testament saw how hard it was for him to leave his farm or his storehouse or investments, especially those that in the markets are called gilt-edged. Those that yield only three per cent. he easily resigns to the care of his executors, but those that yield eight or nine or ten per cent., how can he give them up while the market is still rising? Bolstered up in bed, knowing he has got to sign it, he reads the document over and over again, and then, with a manner that seems to say, "Well, if I must I must," he signs his name to that surrender of his last farthing of earthly possessions. He enters heaven, but he has not an abundant entrance.

But that brings me to the other thought of my text, that there are those who will when they leave this life bound into heaven amid salutations infinite. "For an entrance shall be administered unto you abundantly." Such exaltant admission will await those who enter heaven after on earth living a life for others and without reference to conspicuity.

I asked the manager of an insane asylum in Kentucky, "From what class of persons do you get most of your patients?" and he said, "From farmers' wives." I asked the same question of the manager of an insane asylum in Pennsylvania and the same question of the manager of an insane asylum in Massachusetts and got the same reply. "We have on our rolls for treatment more farmers' wives than persons coming from any other class." That answer will be a surprise to some. It was no surprise to me.

Well, this man of consecrated affluence is about to go out of this world. He feels in brain and nerve the strain of the early struggles by which he won his fortune, and at sixty or seventy years collapses under the exhaustions of the twenties and thirties of his lifetime. When the morning papers announce that he is gone there is excitement not only on the avenues where the mansions stand, but all through the hospitals and asylums and the homes of those who will henceforth have no helper. But the excitement of sadness on earth is a very tame affair compared with the excitement of gladness in heaven. The guardian angel of that good man's life swept by his dying pillow the night before and on swift wing upward announced that in a few hours he would arrive, and there is a mighty stir in heaven. "He comes!" cries seraph to seraph. The King's heralds are at the gates to say, "Come, ye blessed," and souls who were saved through the churches that good man supported and hundreds who went up after being by him helped in their earthly struggle will come down off their thrones and out of their palaces and through the streets to hail him into the land which they reached some time before through his Christian philanthropy. Now, that is what I call an abundant entrance. You see, it is not necessary to be a failure on earth in order to be a success in heaven.

But I promise that all those who have lived for others and been truly Christian, whether on a large scale or a small scale, will have illustrious introduction into the unpearled gateway. Here and there in some large family you see an attractive daughter who declines marriage that she may take care of father and mother in old days. This is not an abstraction. I have known such. You have probably known such. There are in this world womanly souls as big as that. They cheerfully endure the whimsicalities and querulousness which sometimes characterize the aged and watch nights when pneumonia is threatened and are eyes to the blind and sit in close rooms lest the septuagenarian be chilled and count out the right number of drops at the right time.

After years of filial fidelity on the part of this self sacrificing daughter the old folks go home. Now the daughter is free from marital alliance, but the damask rose in her cheek is faded, and the crow's feet have left their mark on the forehead, and the gracefulness is gone out of the figure, and the world calls her by a mean and ungallant name. But, my Lord and my God, surely Thou wilt make it up for that girl in heavenly reward! On all the banks of the river of life there is no castle of emerald and carbuncle richer than that which awaits her. Its windows look right out upon the King's park, and the white horses of the chariot are being harnessed to meet her at the gate, and if there are no others to meet her father and mother will be there to thank her for all she did for them when their strength failed and the grasshopper became a burden, and they will say: "My daughter, how kind you were to us even until the last! How good it is to be together in heaven! That is the King's chariot come for you. Mount and ride to your everlasting home!" Now, that is what I call an abundant entrance.

Know right well that in whatever station of life you now move, and whether your intellectual faculty be brilliant or dull, and your worldly resources opulent or poor, you may have at the gate of heaven jubilant and triumphant reception. All soldiers cannot be Hannibals and Marlboroughs, all admirals cannot be Duponts and Farraguts, all authors cannot be Bacons and Southeys, neither can all Christians be Pauls and Richard Cecils. Do your best right where you are, asking God's help, and you will not only win glorious admission, but you will make all your life in heaven a grander and higher life.

Oh, child of God, if you had never thought of it before, I present the startling fact that you are now deciding not only the style of your heavenly reception, but the grade of your association and enjoyment of the world without end. Are you satisfied with yourself that you can afford to throw away raptures and ignore heavenly possibilities and elect yourself to lower status and classify yourself amid the less efficient when you may mount a higher heaven?

While I thus discourse I am aware that some have not taken the first step toward heaven, and they feel like Jacob Strawn, who took some ministers of the gospel on the top of his house to show his farms, reaching in every direction as far as eye could see. He was asked how many acres he owned, and he replied, 40,000. "How much is it worth per acre?" was asked, and he replied, "Fifty dollars, at least." "Then," said the minister, "you are worth $2,000,000." "Yes," said Strawn, "and I made it all myself." Then the minister said, "You have shown me these earthly possessions, and now will you look up yonder," pointing to the heavens. "How much do you own up there?" and Strawn answered, with tears in his eyes, "Oh, I am afraid I am poor up there." Alas, how many there are who have acquired all earthly prosperities and advantages, but have no treasures in heaven. They are poor up there.

But I am to-day chiefly addressing those who are started for heaven and would have them know that while we are apt to speak of a Lamphier, the founder of Fulton street prayer meetings, as having an abundant entrance, and Thomas Welch and Fletcher, the glorious preachers of the gospel, as having an abundant entrance, you also, if you live and serve the Lord and fulfill your mission, whether it be applauded or unknown, will have when your work on earth is ended and you are called to come up higher an easy, a blissful, an enrapturing, an abundant entrance.

CONKLIN'S NUGGETS

JUST A GIRL'S WAY.

A maiden with an anxious heart
Sat waiting patiently;
At every sound she gave a start,
Exclaiming: "Ah! 'tis he!"

At last he came and sat and sat,
And when she loomed in sight
She cried: "I'd quite forgotten that You said you'd come to-night."
—Chicago Times-Herald.

USEFUL.

"Then you are not ashamed of your humble origin?"

"Oh, no; it's part of my political capital."—Chicago Record.

GETS IT.

"Variety," said the man who never thinks for himself, "is the spice of life."

"I envy you," said Miss Cayenne.

"You envy me what?"

"Your enjoyment of this climate."—Washington Star.

ONE AT A TIME.

The Editor—Heavens, man! It needs to be cut down!

The Author—If I thought that was the only objection—

The Editor—Well, cut it down, and I'll look for another!—Puck.

AN IMPORTANT DIFFERENCE.

Hewitt—That girl in the print dress is a poem.

Jewett—She differs from most poems.

Hewitt—How is that?

Jewett—Most poems don't get into print.—Brooklyn Life.

THE MOTIVE IN DOUBT.

"Do you think Mrs. Outdoors likes golf?"

"I don't know. The other day she was poking the fire with her husband's pet driver. I can't decide whether it was sentiment or revenge."

TOO MUCH.

"I wish to tell you a stdry I have just heard," said Squilldig to McSwilligen. "You'll simply die of laughter."

"But I don't want to be tickled to death," objected the latter.—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

THE CAUSTIC CRITIC.

The young author was reading from his manuscript.

"At this," he read, "Maude De Vere drew herself up."

"Where did she get the pulley?" asked the caustic critic.—Chicago Post.

WHEN FRIENDS MEET.

Tess—I thought you said May Nagger married a good-natured man.

Jess—So she did.

Tess—Nonsense! I met him last evening and I thought he was cross as a bear.

Jess—Well, he's been married to May nearly four months now, you know.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

THE CYNICAL PERSON.

"Did you ever meet a woman who insisted on forever talking about herself?" asked the Young Thing.

"No," said the Cynical Person. "Any I have come in contact with insisted on talking about their neighbors."—Philadelphia Record.

MYSTERY.

I fairly trembled with joy to think of my enemy's discomfiture.

"You will bring the foul crime home to him," I hissed.

"No; we merely deliver it f. o. b.!" said the detective, very mysteriously.

At this my brain reeled.—Detroit Journal.

A BUSINESS PROPOSITION.

Her Father—You have been paying attentions to my daughter. You haven't proposed yet?

His Lordship—Not yet, sir.

Her Father—Now, let us come right down to business. What will you take not to propose?—Brooklyn Life.

DEPENDS ON THE SEX.

"Why do you say that bonnet is adorable?" he demanded, irritably. "That's not the word to use. You might as well say it is lovable, and you can't love a bonnet."

"You can't," she replied, quietly, "but I can."—Chicago Post.

WELL INFORMED.

"Is the correspondent of that publication a well-informed man?"

"I should say so!" was the answer. "Half the time he's the only person in the world who knows whether what he tells is true or not."—Washington Star.

The people of Berlin are now joying the benefit of a uniform car fare of two and a half any distance within the limits great city.

Stock.

During the past century lives, $125,000,000 and been lost in frullless
the north pole.

Fur-Shirts
Hardware

Talk of send-America is many for
-lly and well.
It is no
525 Ney being how

HIS, CLANTON

THE BANNER.

Printed and Published Every Thursday at Clanton, Chilton County, Ala.

Entered at the postoffice at Clanton, Ala., as second-class mail matter.

"Here shall the press the people's rights maintain,
Unawed by influence and unbribed by gain,
Here patriot truth her glorious precepts draw,
Pledged to religion, liberty and law."

Subscription, yearly - - - $1.00
Invariably in Advance.

Address all communications to
THE BANNER,
Clanton, Ala.

OUR NEW CENTURY OFFER

THE BANNER finished the last century in excellent condition, but we wish to commence the new with a large number of new subscribers, and for that purpose have much pleasure in making the following offer:

The Banner one year (52 papers) for 75 cents

The Banner one year and the N. Y. World Almanac and Encyclopedia for 1901, over 600 pages, $1.00

The Banner and Home & Farm, both papers one year for $1.00

The Banner and Birmingham Age Herald, both papers one year for $1.25

The Banner and Thrice-a-Week World—four papers every week for one year for $1.50

The Banner and Montgomery Advertiser, both papers one year for $1.50

The Banner and Atlanta Constitution and Home & Farm—all three for one year for $1.50

The Banner and Atlanta Constitution and your choice of a number of other periodicals—all three for 1 year for $1.50

The Banner and American Monthly Review of Reviews—both one year for $2.75

THE Legislature reconvenes next Tuesday, the 29th instant.

THE Chilton county road law may not need mending, but certainly some of our roads do.

IF you want to get a determined crowd in Chilton county all you need to do is to talk stock law. That'll fetch 'em.

WE received a money order from Randolph last Saturday, but the sender omitted to say who it was from or what it was for. Will be glad to have further particulars.

A MEETING of the citizens of Clanton has been called for Friday night, 25th inst., at the court house for the purpose of discussing the general interests of the town. Everybody is invited.

PROHIBITION continues a prominent feature in Clanton, and there is a diminution in the number of jugs openly received lately. If our Prohibition friends can convince every man in the county that whiskey is the best left alone we will rejoice with them. But conviction is one thing and Prohibition is another.

WILLIAM Jennings Bryan's new paper, "The Commoner" made its first appearance on Wednesday. It starts with 50,000 paid up subscriptions from all parts of the Union. Mr. Bryan will shortly make a tour of Europe for the purpose of studying conditions there and publishing a series of articles on them in his paper.

THE Creek Indians in the Indian Territory are up in arms and are threatening the whites. Federal troops have been called for and bloodshed is feared. The Commissioner of Indian Affairs receiv- a dispatch from Agent Shoen- of Muskogee, I. T., advising the serious trouble among ks and urging immediate to quell the outbreak. t says that the disap- Indians known as have established a elected officers, n have murder- and intimi- warrants of k Indians, nts.

DEATH OF QUEEN VICTORIA.

Victoria, Queen of Great Britain and Ireland, and Empress of India, is no more. A noble life is ended, and not only the four hundred millions of British subjects mourn, but in sympathy with them the civilized world deplores the loss of a good woman. For nearly sixty-four years Victoria has been the nominal head of the great British empire, the reins of power really being in the hands of the premier and cabinet. But while the actual power of the soverign is very limited under the workings of the British government, the influence which can be exerted by the sovereign is of immense importance; and in this respect Queen Victoria was an ideal woman. Her influence was never used to attempt to thwart the will of the people. This is one reason why she was adored and venerated by all classes of her subjects in every part of the empire. But above this she was a womanly woman. She loved her home and children, and set an example as wife and mother which compels the admiration and respect of all true men and women. She was a woman of sound common sense and wise discretion. When we consider how closely allied she was to nearly all the reigning families of Europe, and how the interests and petty jealousies of each of them had to be humored and parried to avoid international complications, it needed a woman of exceptionally firm mind and even temperament to hold them in check. Such a woman was Queen Victoria, and there is no telling how often, by her tact and clear judgment, she kept the empire free from trouble. she is gone, and in her place Edward VII reigns. No longer will the British people sing "God save the Queen," but in its stead "God save the King."

THE PRESS

Rev. M. A. Matthews, of Jackson, Tenn., one of the ablest ministers of the South, preached a sermon recently on "The Press." Among other good things he said:

"The press is the world's greatest benefactor, the unfortunate's greatest protector, humanitie's greatest defender, societie's keenest pleasure and commerce's most effectual promoter. God bless the press. May He be praised for giving to the world this indispensible handmaid to the public. It is wise to use the press freely.

"The newspaper is the only ultimate and profitable medium through which to advertise. The press belongs to God, and never before in the history of the world did it so fully realize that as it does today. It is doing the evangelist work with every issue of the paper.

"Let the church support with prayer and money this God ordaining agent. The man who refuses to pay his subscription, after he has received the paper, should be excommunicated and made to sit in total darkness for one year."

Stops the Cough and Works off the Cold.

Laxative Bromo-Quinine Tablets cures cold in one day. No Cure No Pay. Price 25 cents.

Waddy Warbles.

Miss Bettie Young paid Union a flying visit Sunday. Mr Sampey Driver paid us a visit Sunday.

Miss Nora Littlefield and cousin visited here Wednesday. Rev Thomas preached to a large crowd Sunday. Miss Claud Willis is spending a few weeks with her sister in Baltic. Miss Lizzie Willis has gone to spend the winter with her sister in Texas. Mr. Harvey Sorrell was a pleasant visitor here Sunday. Mrs Laura Cleckler visited here Saturday. Mr. Frank Robinson is in the city again. Messrs. Littleton & Blow are now ready for business. They are sawing lumber at cash prices. SWEETHEART.

The Mother's Favorite.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the mother's favorite. It is pleasant and safe for children to take and always cures. It is intended especially for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough, and is the best medicine made for these diseases. There is not the least danger in giving it to children for it contains no opium or other injurious drug and may be given as confidently to a babe as to an adult. For sale by Clanton Drug Co. and D. I. Deramus, Verbena.

EVENING IN FAIRYLAND.

What a transformation will come at night! In the daylight picture, the artist uses heavy, dark paint to give shadow effect on various parts of the buildings; but at night, the unbroken gloom is of greater density, and under the brilliancy of the electric illumination, new and startling effects are created. The outlines of the domes, the towers and the turrets against the sky disappear when night settles, and in the place of these familiar outlines, comes the circles, the semi-circles, horizontal and perpendicular lines and the brilliant bursts of illumination from the myriads of electric lights placed with great skill and artistic effects. Truly, this night scene of the Pan-American Exposition is destined to be one of the most remarkable ever witnessed by humanity. It will be beautiful beyond description. Incandescent lamps will be used to create the effect, and these will give a softness, a delicacy, a beauty to the lines and figures that all will appreciate. Under the influence of their light many features about the various buildings, which, during the day, passed almost, if not quite unnoticed, will be brought into prominence. The illumination to the square foot of space at the Pan-American Exposition will be greater than at any previous Exposition, which is itself suggestive of the many wonderful effects that will be accomplished by the use of the transmitted electric power from Niagara Falls. The thousands of incandescent lamps to be used on the domes, the towers and the turrets will give a starriness to the night picture that one will love to linger and look at, while the exterior illumination of the general surface of the buildings will add to the thorough enjoyment of all. Concealed lamps deftly hidden by the skilled electrician, will cast their rays so that the visitor will think he is looking upon a figure that is transparent, while the fact will be that the light rays are wholly on the surface. As mysterious as is electricity equally fascinating and beautiful will be the electrical effect at the Pan-American Exposition.

A Deep Mystery.

It is a mystery why women endure Backache, Headache, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Melancholy, Fainting and Dizzy Spells when thousands have proved that Electric Bitters will quickly cure such troubles. "I suffered for years with kidney trouble," writes Mrs. Phebe Cherley, of Peterson, Ia., and a lame back pained me so I could not dress myself, but Electric Bitters wholly cured me, and although 73 years old, I now am able to do all my housework." It overcomes Constipation, improves Appetite, gives perfect health. Only 50c at Clanton drug store.

You can count your friends by your dollars.

Rheumatism.

Nobody knows all about it; and nothing, now known, will always cure it.

Doctors try Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, when they think it is caused by imperfect digestion of food. You can do the same.

It may or may not be caused by the failure of stomach and bowels to do their work. If it is, you will cure it; if not, you will do no harm.

The way, to cure a disease is to stop its cause, and help the body get back to its habit of health.

When Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil does that, it cures; when it don't, it don't cure. It never does harm.

The genuine has this picture on it, take no other.

If you have not tried it, send for free sample, its agreeable taste will surprise you.

SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, 409 Pearl St., N. Y.

50c. and $1.00; all druggists.

ATLANTA CONSTITUTION

The Atlanta Constitution wants good agents everywhere. Men who will get out and canvass and hustle for new business. Many who have to go over their own and adjoining counties on business can take the Constitution along as the best side line. Country doctors, tax collectors, rural route mail carriers, nursery men, farmers and good workmen, could all realize among these prizes and make their commission besides. A fair salary proposition for any man.

The Weekly Constitution makes special feature of its agricultural page, which is presided over by Colonel R. J. Redding, director of the Georgia experiment farm, and a man who is recognized as an expert on all agricultural topics. He gives a full page every week on agricultural matters. A page is devoted to the women and a page to children, these two departments being presided over by Mrs. William King.

The Constitution has just completed the 31st year of its existence, Clark Howell being the editor and Colonel W. A. Hemphill its business manager. Its name is a household word in every Southern State, from Virginia to Texas. It has always been in especially close touch with the agricultural masses of the South, and having reached a circulation which carries it into 150,000 homes it has won a unique distinction which ranks it among the greatest of American weekly newspapers.

The Constitution will send a sample copy of its great Weekly free to any one sending his own name and the name of six neighbors, on a postal card.

Every man should take his county newspaper before anything else, and next to this he should take a good general newspaper, such as The Constitution. His county paper gives him the local home news, which is not supplied by a newspaper furnishing the general news from all parts of the country and from all over the world. Before a man seeks information from the outside, he should first feel sure that he is being kept posted on what is going on at home. When, however, the opportunity is offered to get the best weekly newspaper in this country with your home paper, the inducement is such as to elicit prompt response from our readers.

We will be glad to receive clubbing subscription with this paper and The Constitution, and if there are any who are now subscribers to this paper, who wish to take the Constitution also, we will be glad to receive subscriptions to the latter and forward them, having authority from that paper that to do so. The Constitution should be in every southern home!

Bent Out of an Increase of His Pension.

A Mexican war veteran and prominent editor writes, "seeing the advertisement of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, I am reminded that as a soldier in Mexico in '47 and '48, I contracted Mexican diarrhoea and this remedy has kept me from getting an increase in my pension for on every renewal a dose of it restored me." It is unequalled as a quick cure for diarrhoea and is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by Clanton, Drug Co. and D. I. Deramus, Verbena.

Poplar Springs.

Rev. W. J. Armstrong filled his regular appointment at Concord Sunday. Had a good congregation.

Mr. Edgar McKee, of Sylacauga, is at home now.

Mr W P. Partillo, of Jumbo, visited friends near here Sunday.

Preparations for farming are going on in our community.

Some of our boys have been bird thrashing, report a total failure No more. NEW COMER.

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 31711.
Department of the Interior.
Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
January 18th, 1901.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Clerk of the Circuit Court, at Clanton, Ala., on March 2nd, 1901, viz: John W. Oaks, Homestead entry, No 30673, for the Nw ¼ of Section 32, Township 22 north of Range 16 east.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz.: J. W. Jones, W. C. B. Wyatt, T. J. Wyatt, W. E. Bates, all of Clanton, Ala.

ROBERT BARBER, Register.

It Girdles the Globe.

The fame of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, as the best in the world, extends round the earth. It's the one perfect healer of Cuts, Corns, Burns, Bruises, Sores, Scalds, Boils, Ulcers, Felons, Aches, Pains and all Skin Eruptions. Only infallible Pile cure. 25c a box at Clanton drug store.

Gone Democratic.

Cold weather will soon be here and you need wraps, we have them to suit all.

A good wrap for 50c; a better one for 75c; a nice shoulder silk lined and fur around the neck, black plush only $1.50; plush cape, one that will cost you $7.50 to $10.00 in a city, only $5; we have them to suit all, come and see for yourself.

CLOTHING, well, we can fit your boys, husbands, grand-fathers and all boy's suits from 75c up; men's suits from

A nice line of DRESS GOODS from 20 to 75c per yard, in pink, blue, cream and other colors 10c per yard; checks 5c, ing, EE, 5c; calicoes, 5c, a nice quilt top for 40cents.

Children's shoes 25c up; men's shoes from $1 to $3.50; shoes from 75c to $3.00

Fascinators from 25 to 75c, any color; infant hoods, men's hats from 75c up $3.50, water proof in black, blue, inches wide, double width, only 50c per yard; 1 pound of candy for 5 cents, and everything kept in a first-class store at the lowest we carry nothing but reliable goods and anything that is not we will make it alright. Thanking our host of customers for liberal patronage, we stand ready to serve you with first-class at a small profit. Yours for business,

SARTOR & KICKER
CLANTON

THE WHITE HOUSE

at Washington, the home of the President, is one of the finest buildings in the land, and the white store house at Clanton contains finest stock of

GENERAL MERCHANDISE

to be found in this part of the country. We carry a fine stock of Groceries, Clothing, Shoes, etc., and will treat you well.

J. B. DOWNS, Clanton

C. R. MULLINS

AGENT FOR THE LIVERPOOL & LONDON & GLOBE FIRE INSURANCE OF ENGLAND, THE LONDON & LANCASHIRE FIRE INSURANCE CO. OF NEW YORK, formerly represented by W. L. Sampey.

THE ETNA ACCIDENT INSURANCE CO. OF HARTFORD, CONN. THE OLD MUTUAL BENEFIT LIFE INSURANCE CO. OF NEWARK, N. J. AND THE SINGER MANUFACTURING CO., the largest Sewing Machine Company in the world.

We know you are interested in the problem of getting full value for the money you spend no matter what the outlay is for. I presume to advise you along all lines, but when it comes to buying a Sewing Machine for yourself and family I am in a position to give some valuable suggestions. For over fifty years the Company has done nothing but study the needs and requirements of the people in the matter of Sewing Machines, and our large business is proof that we are making and furnishing what they want. The styles are the very latest, unsurpassed in lasting qualities and, best of all, the prices are reasonable, and the terms within the reach of all. In placing our machines in the leading families all over the land we know if you want the best looking, the lightest running and the most useful attachments ever bought, call for the High Arm Singer. You will find a complete stock of these machines at the Singer Office, Clanton.

Machines from $5.00 to $65.00 for cash or on time. Needles, Cams, Shuttles and Attachments, and the best and only genuine Machine Oil manufactured, every bottle bearing the trade mark. 10, 15 and 20 cent bottles.

My regular office days are Saturdays and Mondays. For full particulars call on or address

C. R. MULLINS,
SINGER OFFICE CLANTON

A WHOLESALE HOUSE FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE CONSUMER

We save you the Retailer's profit. We sell direct to People at the same price that your Retailer pays for his goods. We buy direct from the Manufacturer and pay cash for goods. You can buy one bottle from us at the same price your Retailer pays per dozen. $1 preparations, 50 to 75c. 50c preparations, 25 to 40c. 25c preparations, 10 to 20c. 15c preparations, 7 to 10c. 10c preparations, 6 to 8c.

OUR WHISKEY DEPARTMENT

Is the best in the State. All whiskey sold 25 per cent less than you can buy from any other firm. Try a quart of our J. M. TIP'S 5 YEAR OLD VIRGINIA RYE at 75c, if you are not satisfied that it is equal to any brand you buy elsewhere for $1, we will refund your money. Send us your orders. We are your friends and guarantee everything we sell.

COLLIER DRUG CO. 1026 First Ave. BIRMINGHAM.

NEW AND BIGGER STOCK!

To meet the increasing demands of our business we are now laying in a new and full line of

CLOTHING, HATS, SHOES, ETC.

all in the Latest styles and Newest Fashions.

Our GROCERIES and GENERAL MERCHANDISE are of the finest grade and always fresh.

OUR PRICES ARE BASED ON THE SMALLEST MARGIN OF PROFIT.

WE SHALL BE PLEASED TO SERVE YOU.

KEMP & GILES, Clanton, Ala.

$10,000 TO BE GIVEN AWAY

WOULD YOU LIKE TO TRY FOR IT?

If so, write THE WEEKLY ADVERTISER, Montgomery, Alabama, and they will send you the list of prizes, and the coupon upon which you may get one of their great prizes to be given during next May.

TOWN ITEMS

Confectionery court opens second Monday in February, first Monday in May, first Monday in June, second Monday in July, second Monday in August and first Monday in November.

CLANTON COTTON MART

Price to-day 9¼ cents.

Same date last year 7¾ cents

Bales received to date:	1900	1899
Pinckard & Co.	2133	2778
Mullins	1840	1907
Wilson	360	31[illegible]
Downs	330	28[illegible]
Total - - - -	4663	5[illegible]

Mrs. Guy Higgins is visiting friends at Deatsville this week.

Mrs. J. M. Potts visited Birmingham Wednesday.

Mrs. O. A. Duke, of Deatsville, is visiting Clanton this week.

Mrs. Dr. Meadows, of North Carolina, is visiting her brother Mr. E. M. Pinckard.

Dr. Caffey, of Verbena, was a visitor here Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Curry, spent Monday in Thorsby.

Mr. Clair Taylor, of Billingsley, spent Sunday in Clanton.

Mr. E. M. Pitts, of Kincheon, was a visitor here last Friday.

Prof. I. M. Collier, of Jemison, was among our visitors Saturday.

Mr. J. T. Jones, of Plantersville, gave us a pleasant call Monday.

Mr. R. A. Aldridge, of Longview, came down on business Monday.

Mr. J. N. Glasscock, of Jemison, was in town Monday.

Cut this out and take it to Clanton drug store and D. I. Deramus, Verbena, and get a free sample of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, the best physic. They also cure disorders of the stomach, biliousness and headache

Dr. D. A. Campbelle has sold his drug store to his brother, Dr. V. O. Campbelle. Dr. D. A. will leave for New Orleans in a few days where he has an appointment at a hospital.

Mr. E. H. Culp, of Lilly, was down Tuesday.

Mr. Moses Mims has rented the View office and opened up with a stock of general merchandise.

Mr. J. R. Popwell has retired from the firm of Broadhead and Popwell, and Mr. Mack Broadhead has gone into business with his father, the firm now being known as J. R. Broadhead & Son.

The latest news we hear of Dr. T. B. Adams is that he has passed the danger point and is progressing favorably.

Tax Collector T. J. Hubbard was in town last Friday.

Mr. W. C. Edler is on an insurance tower in Shelby county.

Mr P. D. Wilson went to Birmingham Tuesday.

Mr. N. A. Kicker spent Monday in Birmingham.

YOU KNOW WHAT YOU ARE TAKING

When you take Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic because the formula is plainly printed on every bottle showing that it is simply Iron and Quinine in a tasteless form. No Cure, No Pay. 50c.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Stacy have returned from a few days visit to Wetumpka.

Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Teel entertained a party of the young folks Tuesday night.

When you purchase fertilizer, get the best—Alabama Fertilizer Co.

Marriage licenses have been issued this week by the Probate Judge to the following persons.

Mr. S. A. Curry, Jr., and Miss Rosie Jackson; Mr. George R. Moore and Miss Nancy Curry; Mr. W. J. Billingsley and Miss Elyscia Edwards.

MARRIED

At her father's home, Randolph January 13, Mr. Floida Merchant and Miss Sallie Coy, Rev. Lloyd L. Moore officiating. We wish the happy young couple a long and prosperous life together.

On January 6, at the residence of Mr. Webb, Mr. H. J. Deavers and Miss Addie C. Hornsby were happily united, Rev. A. L. Foshee performing the ceremony. Long may happy may their united lives

Blown to Atoms

The old idea that the body sometimes needs a powerful, drastic, purgative pill has been exploded; Dr. King's New Life Pills, which are perfectly harmless, gently stimulate liver and bowels to expel poisonous matter, cleanse the system and absolutely cure Constipation and Sick Headache. Only 25c at Clanton drug store.

...oon be here and you
...hom to suit all.

...er one for 75c; a nice should...
...ck, black plush only $1.50; ...
...$7.50 to $10.00 in a city, ...
...li, come and see for yourself.
...for your boys, husbands, f...
...from 75c up, men's suits from ...
...PANTS from 20 to 75c per yard; ...
...calico 10c per yard, checks 5c; ...
...quilt top for 50 cents.
...shoes from $1 to $3.50; ...
...and colors, infant hoods, ...
...water proof in black, blue, bro...
...per yard; 1 pound of goo...
...best tea store at the sam...
...and nothing that is not ...
...best to customers fo...
...to serve you with first-clas...
...business.

& KICKER, CLANT

TE HOUSE

President, is one of the finest store house at Clanton can MERCHANDISE
country. We carry a fine and will treat you well.
DOWNS, Clanto

ULLINS
LONDON & GLOBE FIRE
LONDON & LANCASHIRE FI
YORK, formerly represented by Sampey.
N. CO. OF HARTFORD, CO
INSURANCE CO. OF NEWARK
CURING CO., the largest Sewi pany in the world.
in the problem of getting full er what the outlay is for. I w nes, but when it comes to buy family I am in a position to over fifty years the Compan and requirements of the pe and our large business is pro at they want. The styles a ng qualities and, best of a are within the reach of all.
ing families all over the land ghtest running and the most
the High Arm Singer. Yo chines at the Singer Office, Cl e for cash or on time. N
ments, and the best an longe every bottle bearing the S bottles.
turdays and Mondays. For fu
ULLINS,
SINGER OFFICE CLANTO

FOR THE BENEFIT
ONSUMER
's profit. We sell direct to your Retailer pays for his goo nufacturer and pay cash for le from us at the same price y preparations, 50 to 75c. 500 perations, 10 to 20c. 15c pre tions, 5 to 8c.
Y DEPARTMENT
whiskey sold 25 per ca
rm. Try a quart of our J. M at 75c, if you are not satisf u buy elsewhere for $1, we your orders. We are your fri ell.
CO. 1926 First Aven
BIRMINGHAM.

GER STOCK!
meet the increasing demands
we are now laying in a NE of THING, HAT
HOES, ETC
Latest styles and Newest F
ROCERIES and GENERAL
DISE are of the finest gr
and always fresh.
ON THE SMALLEST MA
PROFIT.
ASED TO SERVE YO
LES, Clanton, A

E GIVEN AWA
E TO TRY FOR IT?
ADVERTISER, Montgomery
he list of prizes, and the co heir great prizes to be give

TOWN ITEMS

Commissioners' Court meets second Monday in February, first Monday in April, first Monday in June, second Monday in July, second Monday in August and first Monday in November.

CLANTON COTTON MART

Price to-day 9¼ cents.

Same date last year 7¾ cents

BALES RECEIVED TO DATE:	1900	1899
Pinckard & Co.	2283	2778
Mullins	1846	1907
Wilson	360	321
Downs	350	280
Total - - - -	4788	5286

Mrs. Guy Higgins is visiting friends at Deatsville this week.

Mrs. J. M. Potts visited Birmingham Wednesday.

Mrs. O. A. Duke, of Deatsville, is visiting Clanton this week.

Mrs. Dr. Meadows, of North Carolina, is visiting her brother, Mr. E. M. Pinckard.

Dr. Caffey, of Verbena, was a visitor here Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Curry, spent Monday in Thorsby.

Mr. Clay Taylor, of Billingsley, spent Sunday in Clanton.

Mr. E. M. Pitts, of Kincheon, was a visitor here last Friday.

Prof. I. M. Collier, of Jemison, was among our visitors Saturday.

Mr. J. T. Jones, of Plantersville, gave us a pleasant call Monday.

Mr. R. A. Aldridge, of Longview, came down on business Monday.

Mr. J. N. Glasscock, of Jemison, was in town Monday.

Cut this out and take it to Clanton drug store and D. I. Deramus, Verbena, and get a free sample of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, the best physic. They also cure disorders of the stomach, biliousness and headache.

Dr. D. A. Campbelle has sold out his drug store to his brother, Dr. V. O. Campbelle. Dr. D. A. will leave for New Orleans in a few days where he has an appointment at a hospital.

Mr. E. H. Culp, of Lilly, was in town Tuesday.

Mr. Moses Mims has rented the Bird View office and opened up with a stock of general merchandise.

Mr. J. R. Popwell has retired from the firm of Broadhead and Popwell, and Mr. Mack Broadhead has gone into business with his father, the firm now being known as J. R. Broadhead & Son.

The latest news we hear of Dr. J. B. Adams is that he has passed the danger point and is progressing favorably.

Tax Collector T. J. Hubbard was in town last Friday.

Mr. W. C. Edler is on an insurance tower in Shelby county.

Mr P. D. Wilson went to Birmingham Tuesday.

Mr. N. A. Kicker spent Monday in Birmingham.

YOU KNOW WHAT YOU ARE TAKING

When you take Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic because the formula is plainly printed on every bottle showing that it is simply Iron and Quinine in a tasteless form. No Cure, No Pay. 50c.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Stacy have returned from a few days visit to Selumpka.

Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Teel entertained a party of the young folks Tuesday night.

When you purchase fertilizer, get the best—Alabama Fertilizer Co.

Marriage licenses have been issued this week by the Probate Judge to the following persons.

Mr. S. A. Curry, Jr., and Miss Julie Jackson; Mr. George R. Moore and Miss Nancy Curry; Mr. W. J. Billingsley and Miss Elyscia Edwards.

MARRIED

At her father's home, Randolph January 13, Mr. Floida Merchant and Miss Sallie Cox, Rev. Ward L. Moore officiating. We wish the happy young couple a long and prosperous life together.

On January 6, at the residence of Mr. Webb, Mr. H. J. Deavers and Miss Addie C. Hornsby were happily united, Rev. A. L. Foshee performing the ceremony. Long and happy may their united lives be.

Blown to Atoms

The old idea that the body sometimes needs a powerful, drastic, purgative pill has been exploded; Dr. King's New Life Pills, which are pecfeetly harmless, gently stimulate liver and bowels to expel poisonous matter, cleanse the system and absolutely cure Constipation and Sick Headache. Only 25c at Clanton drug store.

FALL GOODS

Now on sale and daily arriving a large and varied stock of goods. Prices as low as can be made on reliable merchandise and we spare no efforts to please you. Give us a call and let us figure with you on anything you want to buy. Coffins kept in stock and also trimmings for home made coffins.

E. M. PINCKARD & CO

Why try to stick things with something that doesn't stick? Buy MAJOR'S CEMENT; you know it sticks. Nothing breaks away from it. Stick to MAJOR'S CEMENT. Buy once, you will buy forever. There is nothing as good; don't believe the substituter.

MAJOR'S RUBBER and MAJOR'S LEATHER. Two separable cements—the best. Insist on having them. ESTAB'D 1876. 15 and 25 cents per bottle at all druggists.

MAJOR CEMENT CO., NEW YORK CITY.

Not a Song Bird.

"He said I was swan-like, I believe," said Miss Rawkis. "Wasn't that gallant of him?"

"Oh, I don't know," replied Miss Peppery. "It was while you were trying to sing that he made the remark."—Exchange.

Accommodating Man.

Youth—Oh, I don't want to take that character. I'll make a fool of myself sure.

Maiden—Well, you said you wanted an easy part.—Detroit Free Press.

Robert Burns, the poet, divided the scale of good wifeship into ten parts: Good nature, 4; good sense, 2; wit, 1; personal charms, 1. The remaining two degrees covered fortune, education, family, blood.

Malformations among goldfish are produced by the Chinese by agitating the fertilized eggs at a certain stage of their development.

THE NEW ENGLAND WATCH, nickle case, stem wind and stem set warranted for 12 months. Delivered anywhere with a silk cord of plate chain for $2.75. Try one if you want a good time piece cheap.

The New England Watch is still giving good satisfaction. It is the poor man's time piece.

L. D. POPWELL, Clanton.

Everybody Says So.

Cascarets Candy Cathartic, the most wonderful medical discovery of the age, pleasant and refreshing to the taste, act gently and positively on kidneys, liver and bowels, cleansing the entire system, dispel colds, cure headache, fever, habitual constipation and biliousness. Please buy and try a box of C. C. C. to-day; 10, 25, 50 cents. Sold and guaranteed to cure by all druggists.

NEW ROYAL.

High-arm Light running. Warranted 10 years. $28 and $32.

FIVE DRAWER $22.

The New Royal is not a cheap machine, but a high-class machine made out of good material, all parts adjustable and ball bearing; has a good set of steel attachments and all of them work well.

I will exchange the New Royal for old machines and allow the full value of the old machine. Come and see me. I can sell you a machine as cheap as you can buy in Clanton.

Some secondhand machines from $5 up. Send me 25 cents in silver or stamps and an old needle for sample and I will send you 1 doz. needles to fit your machine.

REPAIR WORK GUARANTEED.

L. D. POPWELL,
CLANTON.

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &C.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

NEURALGIA cured by Dr. Miles' Pain Pills. "One cent a dose." At all druggists.

"KRUMP'S KORNER."

The owner of this Korner has again returned to it, after wandering many days in foreign lands older, uglier and we trust a little wiser in some respects. He rejoices at his return, and would be glad to see all of the good and bad people of Chilton county. I only ask don't all of you come same day, as I have not got enough to go round for dinner. I have enough yarns however to make up shortness in grubb. Come to see me anyhow and we will talk it over, and no charge for the yarns. Please remember I keep all things the farmer needs, and I will sell him

A sewing machine, a wagon, or a buggy,
A suit, a hat, a pair shoes or a knife,
Or he can call himself very lucky,
If he will just bring his wife.

Yours for health,

T. U. CRUMPTON

MAPLESVILLE, ALA.

Wamben & Paterson
CONTRACTORS AND BUILDERS
HOUSE MOVING A SPECIALTY
—DEALER IN—
ALL BUILDING MATERIALS—SASH, DOORS, BLINDS, MANTELS, ETC.

OFFICE ON JONES ST OPPOSITE BICKS

THORSBY.

HELP WANTED

to reduce my big stock of goods.

I have just returned from the Northern markets, where I purchased some

Extraordinary Bargains

and am now offering the good People of Chilton such values as they have never known before.

READ THESE PRICES:

Dry Goods

Calicoes	from 4 cts up
Sheeting	from 5 cts up
Percale, one yard wide	7c
Black Sateen	8½c
Bleaching	from 5 cts up
Cotton Checks	5c
Ducking	per yard 9c
Gingham, best	per yard 6c

Clothing

The biggest line for the least money ever known.

Hats

Men's first-class Hats, $1.50 hat for	$1.00
Men's	75 ct hat for 50
Men's	50 ct hat for 35
Men's	25 ct hat for 15
Caps	10

Shoes

Ladies' Shoes, Spring heel, Tan	$1.00
Ladies' Oil grain	$1.00
Ladies' Fine Shoes, a $2.00 shoe	$1.35

Men's Shoes....a $2.00 shoe for ..$1.45

Trunks, Valises, &c.

Gent's Furnishings

Shirts, White Linen bosom	each 25c
Linen Collars, any shape	each 5c
Celluloid Collars	each 5c
Hosiery	from 5 cts up
Suspenders	from 5 cts up
Handkerchiefs	3 for 5 cts and up
Neckwear, 250 styles, a 50 c Tie for	25c
Umbrellas, $1 value for	65c

Notions

Best Assorted Ribons at half price
Lace, 5 c value	2c
Corsets, 50 c value	35
Corsets, 35 c value	22
Ladies' Belts	from 5 cts up
Scissors, a 50 c pair	20
Towels	from 10 cts up
Pearl Buttons	1 dozen for 5c
Garterwear	per yard 5c

—CALL AT THE—

CASH STORE

FOR BARGAINS,

THORSBY, ALA.

OUR CASH PRICES SUBJECT TO CHANGE WITHOUT NOTICE.

15 lbs. Granulated Sugar	$1.00	2 bushel sack Meal	1.20
1 bbl Red Seal Patent Flour	4.50	1 gal water, white 150 fire test oil	18
½ bbl " " "	2.25	1 lb Ham	15
24 lb sack " " "	60	Whole Ham, per pound	13
1 bbl Straight Family Flour	3.50	Bacon and Bulk	10-12
14 lb sk Family Flour	50	1 lb Lard	10
100 lbs Bran	1.10	50 lbs Lard	4.50

We are handling Minneapolis Flour. Soda Crackers and Sweet Crackers, Ginger Snaps, Cheese, Lemons, Irish Potatoes always in stock. Also best Dried Fruits in the market. Also handle Roller Champion and I. E. M. Flour.

Dry Goods, Clothing, Hardware and the very best Staple and Fancy Groceries.

Fresh Fish and Oysters every Saturday.

We take Eggs, Butter, Corn, Meal, Fruit and Chickens at the highest market price in exchange for goods.

Yours to please,

A. M. JOHNSON, Manager

GROCERIES

Come and select what you want from this mammoth stock.

First Come, First Served!

YOURS TO PLEASE,

W. KANTER, Clanton

Everyone to His Taste.

And I am pleased to say that your taste and Everyone's taste can be suited at my Store, where you will find the

choicest Line of Fancy Groceries

AND CANNED GOODS

Always Fresh and New. I have no old Stock. Dry Goods, Hats, Shoes, Gents Furnishing Goods, Fancy line of Shirts and Underwear, Notions, Hardware and General Merchandise.

Yours to serve faithfully and well,

B. H. JONES, CLANTON

AS FAR AS I KNOW.

"As far as I know," said a person one night,
"There is naught in this world but what is just right;
I have all I want both to eat and to wear,
The flowers I gather are fragrant and fair,
The birds in the trees always sing a glad song,
And as far as I know there is nothing wrong.

"All the people I know are loyal and kind,
And I am contented in body and mind;
I read about folks who are awfully bad,
About souls that are weary and hearts that are sad,
About children that quarrel and people who fight,
But as far as I know everything is all right.

"I read there are people who do many things
That on them the worst kind of suffering brings,
That women are wicked and men are untrue,
And sinfulness runneth society thro',
But as far as I know—as far as I know—
I cannot affirm that these stories are so."

The person who said that, as far as she knew,
Was a child of six years, and to her it was true;
O, what would we give could we all say to-night,
There is naught in the world but what is just right!
That we have all we want to eat and to wear,
And that justice and goodness abound everywhere?
—Thomas F. Porter, in the Boston Globe.

Three Working Girls.

BY HELEN FORREST GRAVES.

"Tea is ready, girls," said Saba Thorn.

"Tea!"

It was no luxurious repast of buttered toast, fragrant Oolong, honey and preserves; no comfortable repast of cold fowl, tongue, potted meats and biscuit hot from the oven.

When Saba Thorn called it "tea," she merely used a conventionalism. It was only a scanty meal of baker's bread, with a pat of cheap butter, a little smoked beef, which had been bought from the corner grocer's in a brown-paper cover, and some milk and water, blue and tasteless; for Saba and her two cousins found it necessary to economize very strictly indeed.

Saba worked for an upholsterer. All day long she stitched pillow-ticks and tufted mattresses in a dark room, where there was a prevailing smell of rancid geese-feathers.

Her cousin, Helen, stood behind the counter of a milliner's shop on the Bowery; and little Kate—the youngest of the three—was "packer" in a fancy store, and could do up more neat paper parcels in a given time than would be believed possible.

They were all three pallid and colorless, like plants that had grown in a cellar. They all three had a certain languor of manner, and spoke in low, suppressed voices.

They lived together in this one room with a little alcove running out of it, because it was the cheapest mode of existence, and because their scant earnings, clubbed together, could be laid out to better advantage than if expended singly. Moreover, to these poor, homeless girls, there was a home-feeling in being together.

"I don't feel hungry," said Helen, with a grimace.

"I am so tired of bread and butter!" sighed little Kate. "Oh, if I could only have some of the stewed grapes that mother used to make!"

"Oh, that reminds me," said Saba, taking a letter off the mantel. "I've heard from old Mrs. Pinkney. She wants us to buy a fashionable fall bonnet for her if we can get it for a dollar and a half; and to look out for a bargain for Louisa Jane's winter frock. She wants the very best quality, and she can't go higher than thirty-seven cents a yard. And she wishes to know if we are acquainted with anybody in the business who will dye over her pea-green silk skirt at half price."

Helen shrugged her shoulders.

"She must think we have plenty of time to execute her commissions," said she.

"Thirty-seven cents a yard!" cried little Kate. "And a fall hat for a dollar and a half. Does the woman expect impossibilities?"

"But that isn't all," said Saba. "Uncle John is very poor. She thinks his relations ought to look after him."

"Uncle John!" said Kate.

"Poor!" echoed Helen.

"But what has become of all his money?" said little Kate, intently knitting her brows.

"I'm sure I don't know," said Saba. "Mrs. Pinkney doesn't go into particulars. All the rest of the letter is about the sewing society, and the chicken cholera, which has carried off so many of her fowls."

"He must have been persuaded into investing in some of those dreadful mining stocks!" said little Kate.

"But, girls," said Saba, "what are we to do?"

"Precisely what he has always done to us," said Helen. "Let him alone."

"No, no, Helen!" pleaded little Kate. "Don't talk so. Remember, he is the only uncle we have got. He was our mother's brother."

"And what has he ever done for us?" retorted Helen, bitterly.

"That don't signify," reasoned Saba. "He is old and feeble. He needs our care. That is enough.

"Saba is right," urged little Kate. "Uncle John musn't be left to die alone."

"But what can we do?" said Helen. "We can't bring him here!"

"No," said Saba. "It would break his heart to take him away from the pine forests. We must go to him."

"And all starve together?" said Helen. "I don't see that that would be much of an improvement on the present state of things."

"Listen," said Saba, lifting an authoritative forefinger. From a trifling seniority in years, and a somewhat greater experience in the world of work," Saba had become quite an oracle, "I've been considering it. I can do the housework for Uncle John."

"Yes," said Helen.

"Of course," said little Kate. "And if he hasn't been obliged to sell the cow, we can perhaps have real creamy milk, and now and then a little cottage cheese. Oh, wouldn't that be splendid?"

"Helen could make bonnets for the farmers' wives," suggested Saba. "The women out there know what a pretty bonnet is as well as any one, only they can't get it."

"Bravo!" cried Helen, clapping her hands. "I do think I have rather a genius for the business!"

"And little Kate could go out to plain sewing by the day, among the neighbors," added Saba. "Or help around in soap-making and preserving times. There are a good many who would pay fifty cents a day and board for good intelligent help. And that is a deal more than she earns here."

Little Kate looked rather sober.

"I have my doubts about the plan working," said she. "But I couldn't stay here, away from you. If you all go, why, so will I."

"Then," went on Saba, "I've laid up six dollars toward a winter coat. Uncle John wants it more than I do. I'll keep it for him."

"There is my ten dollars in the savings-bank," added Helen. "I did want a pair of thick boots and a warm winter wrap. But if Uncle John is really in need"——

"I haven't saved any money," said little Kate, sorrowfully. "How could I, with my wages of two dollars a week? But I will do all that I can to help.

"You are dear, generous girls, both of you," said Saba. "It may be a little hard, just at first, but it is clearly our duty to go to Uncle John. And I will write and tell him so this very night."

"Do," said Helen. "I'll borrow Miss Clitch's ink-bottle, and there are a pen and two sheets of paper in the wash-stand drawer. I can buy a postage-stamp at the druggist's on the corner.

"Wouldn't a postal-card be cheaper?" said wise little Kate.

But Saba shook her head.

"Would you put Uncle John's poverty on a postal-card?" said she.

And little Kate answered, somewhat abashed:

"I didn't think of that. I only thought of economizing a cent. I wonder if the time will ever come when we don't have to think of saving?"

And little Kate put on her hat and tripped around to the druggist's, where one particular clerk put himself out to wait upon her.

"She has got a face like a daisy," said the druggist's clerk. "If ever I marry, I should like a wife like that! No, she's not much of a customer of ours, but I have seen her at church meetings, and I walk home with her sometimes of an evening. She lives in Timm's tenement-house with her sister and cousin, and works in Gracey's store. That's all I know about her. But she always makes me think of a wild flower."

Uncle John Jaycox was sitting by his fireside when his niece's letter came. The fire of birch logs blazed gloriously up the chimney; a pair of fat, home-run candles glittered on the table. In all the room there was no evidence of griping poverty.

"Yes," said Uncle John to a tall young man who sat opposite, "I guess I'll have you here to run the farm for me, Israel Penfield. It's gettin' too much for me to manage alone. But as for some woman to keep house for me, now that Anastasia Grixon has been fool enough to marry old Simpson—Eh? what?—a letter? I'm obleeged to you, Miss Pinkney! Stop and take a warm while I read it, and I'll git you a basket of gilliflower apples to carry home afterward. They're jest sp'lilin' to be eaten, them gilliflowers is."

But as he perused his letter, a curious expression stole over his rugged features.

"Sakes alive!" said he, stamping one foot on the floor. "What in creation does all this mean? I guess we'll have enough housekeepers, Israel. Here's my three nieces from New York a-comin' to live with me, because Mrs. Pinkney here has writ 'em that I've lost my property. And they're goin' to take care of me. Well, I swan!"

"I didn't write no sich!" whined Mrs. Pinkney, with rather an alarmed air. "I only said you was dreadful poor in health. I meant the lumbago and rheumatiz. I didn't say nothin' about money."

"Well, no matter what you said, nor what you didn't say," declared Uncle John, crumpling up the letter in his hand and staring at the fire. "The gals think I'm poor, and they're comin' here to support me, and make a home for me in my old age—bless their hearts! I don't know why they should do it," he added, with a conscience-stricken face. "I never did nothin' for them. And Kate and Helen are my sister Jane's darters, and Saba is Hepsy's only child. And they're workin' for a livin', and I've got more'n I know what to with. It's a shame, now, ain't it, that things is so unevenly divided?"

"Just exactly what I've always said," quietly remarked Israel Penfield.

Uncle John Jaycox looked at Israel with a queer twinkle in his opaque blue eyes.

"I declare," said he, "them gals has taught me a lesson! I don't need to be took care of in my old age; but I swan to goodness! it would be kind of pleasant to have three gals around, lookin' arter the old man. I'm a mind to try it."

"I would, if I was you," said Israel Penfield.

So, when Saba, Helen and little Kate arrived, Uncle John received them with a warm welcome.

"Nieces," said he, "I ain't poor, nor I ain't likely to be; but I'm glad to see you. I'm glad to know that there's any one in the world cares enough for the old man to come and look arter him, without no expectation of bein' paid for it. It sort o' shores up my confidence in human natur'. Come in—come in! There's plenty of room for you all in the old farm-house. Come in and welcome."

The three girls looked at each other.

"Ought we to stay?" they asked each other.

"Yes," whispered little Kate. "There are two red cows in the field. I saw them."

"And the air smells so sweet!" said pale Helen.

"And Uncle John spoke as if he was really, really glad to see us," said Saba. "Oh, yes, let us stay!"

Nor did any of the contracting parties ever regret the misunderstanding which had brought them so curiously together.

Little Kate went back to the city, after a year or two, to marry the druggist's clerk, who was now setting up in a small way for himself, and had come down to the country after the daisy-faced girl who had once attracted his attention.

Helen is engaged to marry Israel Penfield, and they are to have a regular old-fashioned wedding when the dresses are made.

And Saba—quiet Saba—is to stay with Uncle John, to read the newspapers to him and cheer up the long, lonely evenings.

"For I couldn't get along without the girl, nohow!" says Uncle John, jovially.—Saturday Night.

The Blessings of Cycle-Paths.

With the construction of cycle-paths now in contemplation, touring on an extensive scale, which is now impracticable in many parts of the United States, will not only become possible, but pleasurable.

Nor can the proposed development in this respect fail of giving a wonderful impetus to the sport of wheeling, as well as lead to a more general use of the bicycle in recreative life.

It is occasion for native chagrin to compare the touring facilities of the United States with those of European countries. One excuse, that we cannot afford the expensive roads of those countries, no longer exists. The cycle-path is not expensive. We can afford it, and we cannot afford to do without it.

Besides providing a healthful, pleasurable means of recreation for ourselves, it will tend to keep numbers of tourists and money at home, and offset the stream of both which continually flows from the United States to Europe. The trunk-line system of side-paths for bicycles will make it possible for United States citizens of moderate means to see and know something of their own country besides what they read in books. Not the least of its blessings will be a checking of that neurotic condition prevalent among Americans, which a German physician calls Americanitis.—Caspar Whitney, in Outing.

Board of Green Cloth—Its Functions.

You have heard much of the Board of Green Cloth, but probably you do not know what its functions are and the need of it from a financial point of view. First, it takes its name from a green cloth spread over the table at which the board sits. This board is presided over by the Lord Steward, who, with the inferior officers, sits to pass the accounts of the royal household. It is the countinghouse of the Queen's establishment, and at the same time a little court of justice, with power to correct all offenders who break the peace of the verge—which means the court royal—which extends every way for 200 yards from the gate of the palace. Without a warrant first obtained from this board no servant of the household can be arrested for debt, so to be a queen's servant is to some extent on a par with being a member of Parliament.—Pearson's Weekly.

Iowa's Unenviable Distinction.

Iowa is one of the few states not represented in Statuary hall at the national capital and members of Congress from the Hawkeye state are considering whether it is not time to abolish the unenviable distinction.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

It has just been proved that a Bay State velocipede rider covered a century as far back as 1869.

Consul Griffth writes from Matamoros that the Mexican Government makes no distinction between a native and a foreigner in taking up mining claims. There is an annual tax of $10 for each claim, and ownership is forfeited by a failure to pay this tax, not by a failure to work the mine.

Dean Brigg's idea of college football as "a disciplinary force" in producing wide-awake business men seems to be that in football the player is always watching the other fellow and trying to get ahead of him, which is a cardinal principle of business.

The Buffalo Courier observes that there is a chance for six hundred adventurous American teachers in the Philippines. They will receive salaries ranging from $75 to $100 per month, but it is well to remember that the climate is dangerous, and living, according to our standards, is very expensive.

Bishop Joseph H. Johnson recently made a ten days' journey through the Indian country in San Diego County, California, traveling 300 miles through a rocky, barren country, made more barren by three years of drought. He found nearly all the Indians in "a pitiable condition of destitution and misery." He thinks they might be helped by teaching them to make lace.

The weight of merchandise annually imported by Great Britain has multiplied fivefold in forty years, averaging at present more than one ton yearly for each inhabitant. More than half the food supply of the United Kingdom is drawn from other countries, at an annual cost of $25 per inhabitant. The average price of imported food is $60.83 per ton. The importation of metals and minerals has grown eleven fold in thirty years, and the exportation of hardware has doubled in value.

The Mexican dollar has been in use in the Orient for many years, and the people are so conservative and so opposed to innovations that it will be difficult to persuade them to accept another form of money. A large portion of the bullion mined in Mexico has been shipped to the East in the form of dollars for many years, and this trade will doubtless continue, whatever action the government of the United States may take. The President and the Secretary of War prefer to leave the solution of this problem to Congress, but ask that immediate action be taken.

Nothing serves better to prove that action is followed by reaction than the world's fairs of history. Chicago has not yet recovered from the blight of debt and demoralization left on her by the Columbian exposition of 1893. Paris is now suffering severely from the reaction of the recent exposition. The city is overrun with thugs, thieves and loafers left stranded there, and there is almost a reign of terror. Nearly half the workmen of the city are out of employment, living is higher than ever, and it will take many months for the equilibrium to be restored.

South Carolina is the smallest and smartest of the Southern States, states the Philadelphia Record. Its especial brag is its achievement in the field of cotton manufacturing. In 1900 capital to the extent of $7,795,000 was invested in new cotton mills and in the enlargement of existing mills. The Columbia State declares that "man to dollar and spindle to loom, its white people are doing from four to six times as much in the cotton industry as any other Southern State." The State gives figures which substantiate its boast.

Out of more than 40,000 applicants at federal naval recruiting stations during the latest governmental year only 8,123 were accepted, and of these a noteworthy percentage were re-enlistments. Man-o'-war's men nowadays must possess peculiar qualifications and knowledge, and in order to acquire these qualifications there must be schooling in actual service. Hence the value of the training vessel system by means of which a green landsman may be turned out in six months a finished sailor for duty in ships of war.

William C. Whitney is reported as saying that he looks for the appearance of a horse that can trot a mile in two minutes before the first quarter of the new century is over. Mr. Whitney knows a great deal about horseflesh in a number of classes. But, so far as is generally known, he has never owned one of the champions of the trotting tracks, and if he is correctly quoted he takes what is probably too dubious and dilatory a view of the probabilities in respect to trotting records. There is ample reason to believe that an American trotter will trot a mile in two minutes flat within five years. Even if this feat is accomplished within three years, some experts will not be dumfounded.

Seditious Boots.

The Germanizing of Eastern Prussia proceeds apace. It is announced that at Kijewo a schoolmaster and his pupils have received notice that they must cease to wear boots high in the legs, such footgear being considered as a sign of Nationalist ideas.—Hartungsche Zeitung.

REVEALED THE COAL'S VIRTUES.

Obadiah Gore Said to Be the First to Use the Black Diamonds.

There are a number of stories as to the way in which the value of coal was first discovered, and the Buffalo Express adds to the number by printing in a recent number the picture of Obadiah Gore, who, it is claimed, was the first man to make use of anthracite coal.

(The first man who made use of anthracite coal.)

Obadiah Gore and his brother Daniel, says the Express, discovered that anthracite coal would burn; consequently they made known its value. Obadiah served in the army of Washington from the beginning of the Revolutionary War, and lived after the war in Sheshequin, Bradford County, Penn., where he was judge of the local court for some years.

Daniel Gore had a farm and dwelling three miles north of Wilkesbarre. On a farm adjoining his to the north was a bed of rock, which came to the surface. A question arose as to whether it was a form of coal. It was tried in fireplaces on wood fires and failed to be of use. Daniel Gore experimented with it in the blacksmith's forge and established the possibility of its combustibility.

It should be remembered that blacksmithing was an important industry in the early days of the settlement of this country. The local blacksmith of the Wyoming Valley was no exception to rule. Implements of farming, also fixtures of houses, such as hinges, door handles and latches, nails, etc., together with kitchen utensils, andirons, cranes, hooks and trammels, such as were then in use, were made in the blacksmith shop.

The Gore family in question, when the American colonies revolted against the tyranny of England, proved themselves sturdy patriots and defenders of their country's cause.

The Oyster Girls of Arcachon.

There is a quaint little town in France where women do a great share in the natural industry of the place, and though no claim is made for them as advanced women, they wear male attire when pursuing their trade. Arcachon is the name of this little French village, and it lies on an inlet of the Golfe de Gascoigne, not far from Bordeaux. It consists of two towns, and is said to be unique of its kind. The one situated on the shore, with its shops, markets and streets, is the summer, or Ville d'Ete, the winter town, or Ville d'Hiver, nestling cosily above amidst far extending pine forests on sandy hills or dunes. With the exception of two hotels, the Ville d'Hiver is composed of about 300 independent villas, standing amidst their own gardens, the pines being all around. The avenues are laid out serpentine fashion, to avoid air currents; nothing but low hedges or light fences separate the different gardens. Neither terraces of houses are tolerated, nor shops, the result being quite park-like, and the eye, even in full winter, is refreshed by living masses of green. From the heights one gets a fine view of the Ville d'Ete, the fishing boats and "Oyster Park."

TYPICAL OYSTER GIRL OF ARCACHON

Here the oyster girls follow their trade. When the boats come in they work on the floats near the shore, and present a picturesque appearance in their knickerbockers, big hats and sabots. The accompanying picture shows them as recently photographed

POPULAR SCIENCE.

The normal rainfall of Los Angeles, Cal., is 16.25 inches per year. For the last seven years the average was only sixty per cent. of this amount. Hundreds of artesian wells ceased to flow and at San Diego water was pumped from wells 300 feet deep. The recent heavy rains have restored the balance of things.

In some of the regions in Italy where the deadly pellagra is most prevalent the houses are so constructed for the most part as to be nothing better than damp grottoes, dirty and dark, with no ventilation whatever. The drinking water is very scarce, and after rain it is often muddy, and the only food for the poor people during the greater part of the year is "polenta," a kind of porridge, made of maize meal seasoned with a little salt.

More experiments have recently been made to investigate the effect of extreme cold on bacteria, and it has been ascertained that the temperature of liquid hydrogen—about 250 degrees Centigrade—has no effect upon the micro-organisms. Dr. Allan Macfadyen and Sydney Rowland, who previously made similar experiments with liquid air, found the results the same at this lower temperature, which is as far removed from that of liquid air as the temperature of that substance is from average summer temperature. There was really no alteration either in the appearance or growth of the bacteria after a ten hours' exposure to the temperature of liquid hydrogen, the examination being made both microscopically and by culture. The bacteria so tested included germs of typhoid fever, diphtheria, anthrax and other pathogenic and ordinary bacteria.

In a recent interesting if not strictly orthodox volume on the origin and nature of matter and energy M. A. Despaux offers a new suggestion as to the ultimate fate of the solar system. He thinks, as others have thought, that the end will come through the slow dissipation of energy. But this loss of energy will not only consist of the entire loss of heat, but also of gravitation, that is, of weight. The energy passes to the ether, and matter thus deprived of its chief property becomes immaterial and disappears entirely, so that, instead of having a number of cold, barren and lifeless masses as the final representatives of our solar system, there will be nothing at all of it left. It will vanish, leaving "not a rack behind." This surprising conclusion follows as a result of his conception of atoms. These he considers to be intrinsically all alike, and only differential by their particular modes of motion.

The hollow bones of birds are frequently cited as beautiful instances of providential mechanics in building the strongest and largest possible limb with the least expenditure of material, and this is largely true. And yet birds like ducks, which cleave the air with the speed of an express train, have the long bones filled with marrow or saturated with fat, while the lumbering hornbill, that fairly hurtles over the tree-tops, has one of the most completely pneumatic skeletons imaginable, permeated with air to the very toe tips, and the ungainly pelican is nearly as well off. Still it is but fair to say that the frigate bird and the key buzzards, creatures which are most at ease when on the wing, have extremely light and hollow bones. In comparing one bird with another the paramount importance of a pneumatic skeleton to a bird is not as evident as that of a pneumatic tire to a bicycle.

The Heart as a Bequest.

It was a common thing in olden days for a testator to dispose of his body by will. Edward I. left directions for the burial of his heart in the Holy Land; the famous Earl of Millent and Leicester, who flourished in the early part of the twelfth century, bequeathed his heart to a hospital at Brockley, where he desired it to be preserved in salt; a sister-in-law of Henry II. who died at Berkhampstead in 1189 ordered her heart to be sent in a silver cup to the Abbot of Tewkesbury, who was enjoined to bury it before the high altar. In modern times such sentimentary directions have been extremely rare. The late Marquis of Bute, whose relatives have gone to Palestine to fulfill his desire for the interment of his heart on the Mount of Olives, is the only testator in recent years who has expressed such a wish.—London Globe.

The Useful Herring.

Probably no fish is better known to the consumers in northern Europe, Great Britain and America than the herring. Fresh, salted, pickled, smoked and now converted into sardines, it shows a higher record in the matter of condition on the market than any other.

Although the American sardine industry only dates a few years back, it has succeeded beyond the expectation of the people engaged in it.

From a dietary standpoint, there is no fish caught along the coast that is more healthful and useful than the herring, and we have no hesitation in saying that this American industry cannot help but grow in magnitude and importance if ordinary care be given it by the packers, in adhering to primary rules, selecting only fish, having even-sized packs, the use of good oil and sticking to a uniform standard of output.

Brussels is the nearest capital to which a direct line to London.

Stops Tickling

All serious lung troubles begin with a tickling in the throat. You can stop this at first in a single night; a dose at bedtime puts the throat at complete rest.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

The cure is so easy now, it's astonishing any one should run the risk of pneumonia and consumption, isn't it? For asthma, croup, whooping cough, bronchitis, consumption, hard colds, and for coughs of all kinds, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has been the one great family medicine for sixty years.

Three sizes: 25c., 50c., $1.00.

If your druggist cannot supply you, send us one dollar and we will express a large bottle to you, charges prepaid. Be sure you give us your nearest express office. Address: J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Best For the Bowels.

No matter what ails you, headache to a fever, you will never get well until your bowels are put right. Cascarets help nature, cure you without a gripe or pain, produce easy natural movements. Get you 10 cents to start getting your health back. Cascarets Candy Cathartic, the genuine, put up in metal boxes, every tablet has C. C. C. stamped on it. Beware of imitations.

Freshmen in Oxford.

The number of freshmen who have come into residence at Oxford university this term is 732, against 764 last year. New college heads the list with sixty-eight, eight more than a year ago. Christ church comes second with sixty-seven, exactly the same number as entered last year. Then follows Balliol with fifty-four. The other 22 colleges have varying additions to their numbers down to All Souls' and Merton's hall, which have one new student each.

Cheap Stain for Wood.

A cheap and simple stain for wood is made with permanganate of potassa. A solution of it spread upon pear or cherry wood for a few minutes leaves a permanent dark brown color, which, after a careful washing, drying and oiling, assumes a reddish tint upon being polished.

THE DUTY OF MOTHERS.

What suffering frequently results from a mother's ignorance; or more frequently from a mother's neglect to properly instruct her daughter!

Tradition says "woman must suffer," and young women are so taught. There is a little truth and a great deal of exaggeration in this. If a young woman suffers severely she needs treatment, and her mother should see that she gets it.

Many mothers hesitate to take their daughters to a physician for examination; but no mother need hesitate to write freely about her daughter or herself to Mrs. Pinkham and secure the most efficient advice without charge. Mrs. Pinkham's address is Lynn, Mass.

Mrs. August Pfalzgraf, of South Bend, Wis., mother of the young lady whose portrait we here publish, wrote Mrs. Pinkham in January, 1899, saying her daughter had suffered for two years with irregular menstruation—headache all the time, and pain in her side, feet swell, and was generally miserable. Mrs. Pinkham promptly replied with advice, and under date of March, 1899, the mother writes again that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured her daughter of all pain and irregularity.

Nothing in the world equals Mrs. Pinkham's great medicine for regulating woman's peculiar monthly troubles.

Every cotton planter should write for our valuable illustrated pamphlet, "Cotton Culture." Sent free.

Send name and address to ALI WORKS, 42 Nassau St., N. Y.

normal rainfall of Los Angeles 16.25 inches per year. For the ten years the average was only per cent of this amount. Hun of artesian wells ceased to flow San Diego water was pumped wells 300 feet deep. The recent rains have restored the balance gs.

me of the regions in Italy where only pellagra is most prevalent are so constructed for the as to be nothing better than grottoes, dirty and dark, with at all in whatever. The drink is very scarce, and after a coffee mouthful, and the only the poor people during the part of the year is "polenta," of porridge made of maize and with a little salt.

experiments have recently been to investigate the effect of ex low temperatures and it has ascertained that the temperature of hydrogen, at at 250 degrees cle has no effect upon their ir energy. Dr. Allan Macfad of Sydney, New and, who previ ously made similar experiments with found the results the same lower temperature, which is as tained from that of liquid air as perature of that substance is a crage summer temperature. was really no alteration either appearance or growth of the after a ten hours' exposure temperature of liquid hydrogen, animation being made both mo ically and by culture. The so tested included germs of fever diphtheria, anthrax, and pathogenic and ordinary bacilli.

recent interesting if not strictly ex volume on the origin and na matter and energy M. A. Des fers a new suggestion as to the e fate of the solar system. He as others have thought, that will come though the slow of energy. But this loss of will not only consist of the es of heat, but also of gravita t is of weight. The energy to the other, and matter thus d of its chief property becomes rd and disappears entirely. nst end of having a number of arren and lifeless masses as al representatives of our solar there will be nothing at all o It will vanish leaving "not a ind." This surprising conclu lows as a result of his concep atoms. These he considers t mically all alike and only dif al by their particular modes o hallow bones of birds are fre filled as beautiful instances o ntal mechanics in building th st and largest possible limit e least expenditure of material s is largely true. And yet bird cks, which cleave the air wit ed of an express train, have th ones filled with marrow or sa with fat, while the lumberin ll, that fairly hurtles over th ps, has one of the most co pneumatic skeletons imagi permeated with air to the ve s, and the ungainly pelican as well off. Still it is but fa that the frigate bird and tu uzzards, creatures which a t ease when on the wing, hav ly light and hollow bones, b ring one bird with another th ount importance of a pou skeleton to a bird is n lent as that of a penumatic tr icycle.

The Heart as a Bequest.

as a common thing in olden day testator to dispose of his hea l. Edward I. left directions t urial of his heart in the Ho the famous Earl of Millent a ter, who flourished in the ear the twelfth century, bequeath art to a hospital at Brockle he desired it to be preserved a sister in law of Henry III died at Berkhampstead in 12 d her heart to be sent in a silv the Abbot of Tewkesbury, w joined to bury it before the hi In modern times such tr y directions have been extre The late Marquis of Ri relatives have gone to Palest fil his desire for the interm heart on the Mount of Olives. ly testator in recent years w xpressed such a wish.—Lou

The Useful Herring.

ably no fish is better known onsumers in northern Eur Britain and America than g. Fresh, salted, pickled, smo ow converted into sardines a higher record in the nov dition on the market than ough the American sardine only dates a few years b succeeded beyond the expe f the people engaged in it. n a dietary standpoint, the h caught along the coast th healthful and useful than g, and we have no hesitation that this American ind t help but grow in magni mportance if ordinary cau it by the packers, in a primary rules, selecting a having even-sized packs, the d oil and sticking to a univ ard of output.

ssels is the nearest capit ect line to London.

Stops Tickling

All serious lung troubles begin with a tickling in the throat. You can stop this at first in a single night; a dose at bedtime puts the throat at complete rest.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

The cure is so easy now, it's astonishing any one should run the risk of pneumonia and consumption, isn't it? For asthma, croup, whooping cough, bronchitis, consumption, hard colds, and all coughs of all kinds, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has been the one great family medicine for 60 years.

Three sizes: 25c., 50c., $1.00.

[illegible] send us one [illegible] express a sample bottle to you, [illegible] Address, J. C. AYER CO., Lowell, Mass.

Best for the Bowels.

[illegible] headache to a [illegible] until your [illegible] CASCARETS help [illegible] a gripe or pain, [illegible] seconds cost you [illegible] sickening your health [illegible] a candy cathartic, the [illegible] tablets, every tablet [illegible] Beware of [illegible]

Freshmen in Oxford.

The number of freshmen who have come [illegible] here at Oxford university is [illegible] 732 against 764 last year. New college heads the list with sixty eight, eight more than a year ago. Christ church comes second with forty seven, exactly the same number as entered last year. Then follows Merton with 52, four. The other 22 colleges have varying additions to their numbers down to All Souls' and Pembroke hall, which have one new student each.

Cheap Stain for Wood.

A cheap and simple stain for wood is made with permanganate of potassa. A solution of it spread upon pear or cherry wood for a few minutes leaves a permanent dark brown color, which, after a careful washing, drying and oiling assumes a reddish tint upon being polished.

THE DUTY OF MOTHERS.

What suffering frequently results from a mother's ignorance; or more frequently from a mother's neglect to properly instruct her daughter!

Tricksy says woman must suffer, and young women are so taught. There is a little truth and a great deal of exaggeration in this. If a young woman suffers severely she needs treatment and her mother should see that she gets it.

Many mothers hesitate to take their daughters to a physician for examination, but no mother need hesitate to write frankly about her daughter or herself to Mrs. Pinkham and secure the most efficient advice without charge. Mrs. Pinkham's address is Lynn, Mass.

Mrs. August Pfalzgraf, of South Byron, Wis., mother of the young lady whose score two here publish, wrote Mrs. Pinkham on January, 1899, saying her daughter had suffered for two years with irregular menstruation—had headache at the time, and pain in her side for swell and was generally debilitated. Mrs. Pinkham promptly replied with advice, and under date of April 15, 1900, the mother writes again that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured her daughter of all pains and irregularity.

Nothing in the world equals Mrs. Pinkham's great medicine for regulating women's peculiar monthly troubles.

Every cotton planter should write for our valuable illustrated pamphlet, "Cotton Culture." It is sent free.

Send name and address to GERMAN KALI WORKS, 93 Nassau St., N. Y.

THIS WILL INTEREST MANY.

To quickly introduce the famous blood purifier, B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm) into new homes, we will give away 10,000 treatments. B. B. B. will positively cure all blood and skin troubles—ulcers, scrofula, eczema, eating sores, itching humors, swellings, pimples, boils, carbuncles, bone pains, rheumatism, catarrh, blood poison, affecting throat, bones or mucous patches, cancer, swellings, persistent pimple or wart. B. B. B. makes the blood pure and rich, heals every sore or eruption, and stops all aches and pains. Druggists, $1. For free treatment, address Blood Balm Co., 1 Mitchell St., Atlanta, Ga. Describe trouble, and free medical advice given until cured. B. B. B. cures old, deep-seated cases that refuse to heal under celebrated medicines or doctors' treatment. It costs nothing to try B. B. B. Medicine sent at once prepaid. Write today.

There are two reasons why the average woman does not trust the average man; one is because she doesn't know him and the other is because she does.

The Best Prescription for Chills and Fever is a bottle of GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC. It is simply iron and quinine in a tasteless form. No cure—no pay. Price 50c.

Wise is the man who never trifles with an unloaded gun, a woman's opinion of herself or the business end of a wasp.

A ship is probably called she because the rigging costs so much and it always keeps a man on the look-out.

Each package of PUTNAM FADELESS DYE colors either Silk, Wool or Cotton perfectly at one boiling. Sold by all druggists.

When doctors say that an operation is successful, they mean that they found what they looked for and cut it out; they don't mean that the patient has recovered, or will recover.

If you want "good digestion to wait upon your appetite" you should always chew a bar of Adams' Pepsin Tutti Frutti.

A western preacher announces that "the devil is in mince pies." We would like to know what he would think if he tried lobster after 11 o'clock at night.

For Biliousness,

Torpid Liver, Indigestion, Sick Headache, Crab Orchard Water is a specific.

When some people have a new house they are willing to entertain all their kin in order to show it.

The best is the cheapest. Carter's Ink is the best, yet it costs no more than the poorest.

The average woman keeps forgiveness constantly on tap, and is surprised that her husband doesn't make a greater demand for it.

To Cure a Cold in One Day

Take LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE TABLETS. All druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c.

Troubles and thunder clouds usually seem very black in the distance, but grow lighter as they approach.

I am sure Piso's Cure for Consumption saved my life three years ago.—MRS. THOS. ROBINS, Maple St., Norwich, N. Y., Feb. 17, 1900.

When a sure-thing man takes another in out of the rain it is apt to be a questionable transaction.

How's This!

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligation made by their firm.

WEST & TRUAX, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, Ohio.

WALDING, KINNAN & MARVIN, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, Ohio.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Price, 75c. per bottle. Sold by all druggists. Testimonials free.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Recent Election in Britain.

Speaking of the recent election in Great Britain, the London Saturday Review says: "What most interests the public after a general election is to glance at those who are really new to parliamentary life, if happily there may be a future statesman among them. Taking the 150 or so new members in the proper sense of the term, there never yet was a general election which threw up a smaller proportion of men with any sort of distinction, intellectual, professional, or scientific."

Signs on Wagon Tops.

Enterprising merchants in New York have learned that a majority of the residents of the metropolis look down on the streets from above, and hence they are beginning to paint elaborate signs on the tops of their delivery wagons as advertisements of their stores.

MAN'S POCKETS.

At Best Woman Has No More Pockets than Has the Kangaroo.

Man is a perfected marsupial. He is a creature of pockets. With him the necessity of a pouch simply develops one. This is the law of evolution. The first we read of him as a pocket bearing animal he was on a level with the kangaroo. He then had one pouch, fastened to his belt. Now look at him and compare him to woman, for whom—in his chivalry—he is truly sorry. She, in her helplessness, is usually behind the kangaroo, and at her best only equals him with the one pouch fastened at her waist. She has not evolved through the law of nature, but under the sterner decrees of the dressmaker. What a difference between no pockets and a score of pockets! The first is woman; the other man. Woman is literally fettered for want of pockets. She must carry in her hands whatever is not a part of her clothing, while man's arms, palms and fingers are free—free to help his unfortunate sister. Think of five pockets in trousers, five in vest, five in jacket and five in overcoat—an exact score in all. Some men have more than this. When man took up the handkerchief habit he made a pocket for that convenient article. He don't have to be picking them up—except for the women. He made a pocket for his knife and a pocket for his watch; a pocket for his keys and a pocket for his letters; a pocket for his tobacco and a little pocket for his car tickets; and he kept on making pockets as fast as he needed them. Women, in their helplessness, envy him. They reach out to him to borrow his knife, to borrow his pencil, to borrow a bit of string, and to borrow a dozen articles that he usually has stowed away about his clothing. He is kind and lends, for he is sorry for them in their arrested development.—New York Herald.

NERVOUS WOMEN CURED BY Dr. Greene's NERVURA.

THE ceaseless drudgery of household cares is more than the strongest man could endure, and it is no wonder that women show the effects of work and worry.

Thousands of women in offices, shops, and factories break down in health under the strain and become weak, tired, nervous, and debilitated, tortured with female complaints, or racked by headache, neuralgia, backache, and kidney trouble.

Here lies the great strain upon the nervous systems of women. They have little or no rest; their life is one continual round of work, duties here, duties there, duties without number. What wonder that such women go to bed at night fatigued, and wake tired and unrefreshed in the morning!

What women need is that great strengthener and invigorator of womankind, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy—that remedy which rebuilds health and strength, purifies and enriches the blood, gives strength and vigor to the nerves, and the strong vitality and energy to the system which will enable women to do their work and yet keep strong and well. It is this great medicine they need. Nothing else in the world can do its work.

Dr. Greene's NERVURA FOR THE BLOOD AND NERVES.

MRS. M. D. PERKINS, of 100 G St., So. Boston, Mass., says:

"I was completely run down and could not eat, for the sight of food made me sick. I did not sleep at night and was as tired in the morning as when I retired at night. My head and back ached all the time. I was completely exhausted if I tried to do my housework, and could not walk without being dizzy. I was excessively nervous and very weak.

"Then I began to take Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, and I cannot say enough in its praise. I have not felt so well for years as I do at the present time, thanks to this splendid remedy.

"I can now eat and sleep soundly, waking mornings strong and refreshed. I do my housework, which is now a pleasure instead of a burden as formerly. My weight has increased about twelve pounds in the last two months. I would recommend any one afflicted as I have been to use this wonderful remedy."

Dr. Greene Will Advise You Without Charge.

The benefit of Dr. Greene's special advice is at the disposal of every sickly woman, and it is well to write for it or call and see Dr. Greene at his office, 35 W. 14th St., New York City. Doing so may shorten the time required for recovery of full strength, and give information which will guide aright in the future. Absolute confidence is observed in all consultations, and no charge is made.

WINCHESTER GUN CATALOGUE FREE

Tells all about Winchester Rifles, Shotguns, and Ammunition

Send name and address on a postal now. Don't delay if you are interested.

WINCHESTER REPEATING ARMS CO.

180 WINCHESTER AVENUE . . . . NEW HAVEN, CONN.

The Biggest Pair of Tusks.

In his report upon the trade and commerce of Zanzibar for last year Acting Consul Kestell Cornish states that the finest tusks on record in East Africa, and probably larger than have ever yet been obtained in any part of the world, came through Zanzibar last year. The elephant from which they were obtained was shot by an Arab near Kilimanjaro. These tusks, which consisted of perfect ivory, without a particle of disease, measured over ten and a half feet from top to base, and weighed 224 pounds, and 239 pounds respectively. They were sold for $5,000. The nearest approach in bulk to this pair were found about ten years ago, and weighed 180 pounds each. They were, however, diseased to some extent.

FREE ELECTRIC BELT OFFER

WITH TEN DAYS' FREE WEARING TRIAL in your own home, we furnish the genuine and only HEIDELBERG ALTERNATING CURRENT ELECTRIC BELTS to any reader of this paper. No money in advance; very low cost; positive guarantee. COSTS ALMOST NOTHING compared with most all other treatments. Cures when all other electric belts, appliances and remedies fail. QUICK CURE for more than 50 ailments. ONLY SURE CURE for all nervous diseases, weaknesses and disorders. For complete sealed confidential catalogue, estimate and mail free.

SEARS, ROEBUCK & CO., Chicago.

Am. N. U. No. 4, 1901.

DROPSY NEW DISCOVERY; gives quick relief and cures worst cases. Book of testimonials and 10 days' treatment Free. Dr. H. H. GREEN'S SONS, Box B Atlanta, Ga.

25 CTS. PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION 25 CTS.

Speedy, Prompt and Sure.

Acts quicker, never gripes and obtains better results than any laxative known.

Its action is marvelous, its effect immediate.

No remedy will cure constipation and biliousness so quickly and with absolutely no discomfort as

Hunyadi János

Average Dose: One-half glassful on arising in the morning. Every druggist and general wholesale grocer in the world sells it.

ASK for the full name, "Hunyadi János. | BLUE Label with Red Centre Panel.

Sole Importer: Firm of ANDREAS SAXLEHNER, 130 Fulton St., N. Y.

WANTED! Honest, energetic man to TRAVEL AND SELL

NURSERY STOCK.

REFERENCES REQUIRED.

We have an Immense Stock in full Variety and can Insure Satisfaction. Address,

G. H. MILLER & SON, ROME, GA.

Motormen Strike for Stools.

At Pensacola, Fla., the motormen on street cars struck for stools on which to sit while the cars are in motion. They had the sympathy of the people with them and won out.

How He Shot Two Otters.

George H. Fisher of Winterport happened to see two otters eating fish, and he wanted both of them, but he knew if he shot one the other would get away, and so he waited, says the Bangor (Me.) News. First one would take a bite out of the fish and then the other would come up for a share, but George waited patiently until both put their heads down to take a bite out of their fish, when he let go, and as both heads were in line, he shot them through the head.

FALLING HAIR

Save Your Hair with Shampoos of

Cuticura SOAP

And light dressings of CUTICURA, purest of emollient skin cures. This treatment at once stops falling hair, removes crusts, scales, and dandruff, soothes irritated, itching surfaces, stimulates the hair follicles, supplies the roots with energy and nourishment, and makes the hair grow upon a sweet, wholesome, healthy scalp when all else fails.

MILLIONS USE CUTICURA SOAP

Assisted by CUTICURA OINTMENT, for preserving, purifying, and beautifying the skin, for cleansing the scalp of crusts, scales, and dandruff, and the stopping of falling hair, for softening, whitening, and healing red, rough, and sore hands, for baby rashes, itchings, and chafings, and for all the purposes of the toilet, bath, and nursery. Millions of Women use CUTICURA SOAP in the form of baths for annoying irritations, inflammations, and excoriations, for too free or offensive perspiration, in the form of washes for ulcerative weaknesses, and for many antiseptic purposes which readily suggest themselves to women and mothers. No amount of persuasion can induce those who have once used these great skin purifiers and beautifiers, to use any others. CUTICURA SOAP combines delicate emollient properties derived from CUTICURA, the great skin cure, with the purest of cleansing ingredients, and the most refreshing of flower odors. No other medicated soap is to be compared with it for preserving, purifying, and beautifying the skin, scalp, hair, and hands. No other foreign or domestic toilet soap, however expensive, is to be compared with it for all the purposes of the toilet, bath, and nursery. Thus it combines, in ONE SOAP at ONE PRICE, viz.: TWENTY-FIVE CENTS, the BEST skin and complexion soap, the BEST toilet, BEST baby soap in the world.

Complete External and Internal Treatment for Every Humor, Consisting of CUTICURA SOAP (25c.), to cleanse the skin of crusts and scales and soften the thickened cuticle; CUTICURA OINTMENT (50c.), to instantly allay itching, inflammation, and irritation, and soothe and heal; and CUTICURA RESOLVENT (50c.), to cool and cleanse the blood. A SINGLE SET is often sufficient to cure the most tormenting, disfiguring, itching, burning, and scaly skin, scalp, and blood humors, with loss of hair, when all else fails. Sold throughout the world.

Cuticura THE SET, $1.25

GREEN RAPE COSTS 25 cents per TON! Greatest, Cheapest Feed on Earth for Sheep, Swine, Cattle, Poultry, etc.

Will be worth $100 to you to read what Salzer's catalog says about rape.

Billion Dollar Grass will positively make you rich; 10 tons of hay and lots of pasture grass, or also Brome, Panic, Spelts (300 bu. oats, 350 bu. corn per a.), etc., etc.

For this Notice and 10c. we mail his catalog and 10 Farm Seed Novelties, fully worth $10 to get a start.

For 14c. 7 splendid vegetable and 3 brilliant flower seed packages and catalog.

JOHN A. SALZER SEED CO. LA CROSSE, WIS.

SEEDS WE WILL GIVE YOU A $4.00 FARM Collection of SEEDS FREE of money cost, asking only that you will 10 Packets of Vegetable Seeds for us at 10 cents. Not MONEY in advance. Write upon postal accepting this offer and we will Mail You the 10 Packets at once and will also send Catalog, full instructions, and 12 Due Bills for distribution among your friends in order to induce them to buy the Seeds of you. ADDRESS T. J. King Co., RICHMOND, VA. A GOOD SUIT of Clothes Given for selling 100 Packets.

Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup Cures a cough or cold at once. Conquers croup, bronchitis, grippe and consumption. 25c.

Constipation is easily cured and the bowels restored to a healthy condition by the use of the natural remedy for all stomach, bowel, liver and kidney troubles. Our method of concentration each 6 oz. bottle is equivalent to three gallons of the spring water.

Sold by all druggists. Look apple trade mark on every bottle.

CRAB ORCHARD WATER CO., Louisville, Ky.

USE CERTAIN CHAIN CHILL CURE.

"La Creole" Will Restore those Gray Hairs

"La Creole" Hair Restorer is a Perfect Dressing and Restorer. Price $1.00

THE BANNER

OUR CLUBBING RATES

For $1.50 we will send you THE BANNER and either of the following papers for one year:

Atlanta Constitution	$1.50
New York World (3 papers every week)	$1.50
Cosmopolitan (America's Leading magazine)	$1.50
Silver Knight National Watchman	$1.50
Birmingham Age-Herald	$1.25
Home and Farm	$1.10

Job Printing cheap at THE BANNER office

AT REDUCED PRICES

CLANTON DRUG STORE.

Dr J S JOHNSON, Jr., Proprietor.

DEALER IN

DRUGS. : MEDICINES : PATENT : MEDICINES,

TOILET ARTICLES, PAINTS.

PRESCRIPTIONS CAREFULLY PREPARED DAY & NIGHT

CLANTON, ALABAMA.

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS is the one important magazine in the world giving in its pictures, its text, in its contributed articles, editorials and departments, a comprehensive, timely record of the world's current history. Not the enumeration of mere bare facts, but a comprehensive picture of the month, its activities, its notable personalities, and notable utterances. The best informed men and women in the world find it indispensable.

There are many readers in your locality who have yet to learn of its usefulness. We wish to establish active agents in every city and township in the country. We will pay liberally for energetic effort in the subscription field. Leisure moments can be utilized with substantial increase of income. Make a list of the persons in your locality who should have the "Review of Reviews," and send to us for agent's terms, sample copies, and working outfit. Then solicit their subscriptions. It is a compliment to approach a person with a subscription proposition for the "Review of Reviews," and consequently orders are easily secured. This is the active subscription season. Make application at once, naming your references.

Price, 25 cents a number. $2.50 a year.

THE REVIEW OF REVIEWS COMPANY,

13 Astor Place, New York City.

Everything New.

NEW STOREHOUSE

BRAND NEW STOCK

We positively will carry none of our old stock into our new building, and for the next Thirty Days we are offering

BARGAINS IN EVERYTHING

now in our old storehouse. We are determined to clear out the last piece of old stock. Come and see us.

WILSON & BRO.

CLANTON.

W. I. MULLINS

—DEALER IN—

GENERAL MERCHANDISE, PLANTATION SUPPLIES AND COUNTRY PRODUCE.

Dry Goods, Clothing, Hats, Boots and Shoes.

FURNITURE AND COFFINS

N. B. A full line of Burial Clothes and all necessary Undertakers' Goods constantly kept in stock.

CLANTON, : : : : : ALA.

Subscribe for The Banner. $1.00 a year.

1901 WORLD ALMANAC

AND ENCYCLOPEDIA

A Statistical Volume of Facts and Figures Containing Over 600 Pages.

OVER 1,000 TOPICS. OVER 10,000 FACTS.

SPECIAL FEATURES—

The season of 1900. National and State election returns. Four centuries of American progress. Political record of 1900 (conventions and platforms). American rule in the Philippines. New governments of Porto Rico and Hawaii. Polar exploration in 1900. Conclusion of the South African war. Pan-American Exposition of 1901. China—Its present condition and status among nations. Roster of general officers of the Regular U. S. Army, 1789—1900.

A Political Register.

Facts that every patriot and voter ought to know.

Standard American Annual.

Price 25 cts. Postpaid to any address THE WORLD, Pulitzer Bldg., New York

Headache and Neuralgia cured by Dr. MILES' PAIN PILLS. "One cent a dose."

Alabama Fertilizer the Standard.

Our most reckless competitor will only claim that what he is selling is "just as good" as the celebrated ALABAMA FERTILIZER, but it is not so. For 21 years the ALABAMA has stood at the head of the fertilizer class. With cotton at current good prices it is more important than ever to use the best fertilizer. The ALABAMA is the standard of excellence, and only those whose interest dictates the statement assert otherwise.

Without extra cost to the consumer we ship all ALABAMA FERTILIZER in the CELEBRATED MUMMIA VEGETABLE FIBRE PRESERVED BAGS, which are sold and weather proof, thus avoiding any loss in handling. These bags, after thorough investigation and practical tests, have been indorsed by the Alabama Agricultural Department, who recommend their use by the farmers of our State. Steamer agents on certain water routes have given notice that they will only receive for shipment fertilizer sacked in these celebrated bags, thereby insuring both themselves and their consignees from loss in handling.

One of the exhibits of the recent Good Roads Procession which attracted the attention of all was a wagon drawn by six well fed oxen containing 24 bales of cotton produced on 6½ acres of land, made from Russell improved big boll cotton by the use of ALABAMA FERTILIZER.

Customers Protected by Trade Mark.

The law requires every sack of fertilizer sold in the State to have the word ALABAMA branded on each sack offered for sale in the State.

To protect both ourselves and our customers we have our trade mark on every sack of ALABAMA FERTILIZER, we also tag each MUMMIA VEGETABLE FIBRE PRESERVED BAG. Our Trade Mark is copyrighted, the Bag is patented and we will prosecute any infringement on either. See that the Trade Mark and Tag are on each sack. Be certain to get what you pay for.

Pure high grade Acid Phosphate and Genuine German Kainit always on hand and sold at no higher price than other goods of the same grade.

A Testimonial From High Authority.

Captain S. B. Trapp, President of the Board of Inspectors of the Alabama Convict Bureau, who is well and favorably known throughout the South (particularly in Alabama), whose able management of the convict system of our State has met with the approval of all, himself a farmer of twenty years' experience, has the following words of commendation to say in regard to the Celebrated Alabama Fertilizer:

Executive Department of Alabama,
Convict Bureau.
Montgomery, Nov. 30, 1900.

I consider the ALABAMA FERTILIZER the best manufactured. I have raised and seen others raise large crops of cotton and corn by its use.

In my opinion the farmer who invests in it, will succeed in making larger crops of cotton and corn at less cost for fertilizers than one who buys and uses acid phosphate, kainit and cottonseed meal in any proportion or quantity whatsoever.

My conclusions are arrived at after an experience of twenty years in the use of fertilizers—during which long period I have tried many kinds of fertilizers.

The MUMMIA VEGETABLE FIBRE PRESERVED BAGS, in which the ALABAMA FERTILIZER is put up, is one of the greatest blessings to all, and none better than the farmer can appreciate and value the cessation of loss in wasting, rotting of bags and vexation by having to resack fertilizers put up in the ordinary bag. I have seen some Mummia Bags used two seasons, which is the strongest possible proof of their singular and superior merit.

S. B. TRAPP, President.

The Record of Alabama Fertilizer.

It has produced nearly four bales of cotton on one acre of poor sandy upland.
One hundred and thirty-two bushels of corn on one acre of poor sandy upland.
Two thousand and forty-one bushels of corn on twenty acres of poor upland.
Land and corn accurately surveyed and measured by competent disinterested and honorable men.
It is the oldest brand now sold in Alabama, and is just the same as it always has been. Every one of the 43 premiums given during a series of years, through the COMMERCIAL AND INDUSTRIAL ASSOCIATION, for the greatest yield of cotton and corn on a specified area of land, was awarded to farmers who used exclusively the ALABAMA FERTILIZER.

THE ALABAMA FERTILIZER COMPANY,

Montgomery, Ala.

The Lady and the Cobra.

An English woman residing in India one evening found to her horror that a huge cobra had coiled itself about the veranda rails, over which she sat playing the violin. She was too near the snake to run with safety, so she continued playing while she gradually edged away. At first her only idea was to keep the creature thus engaged while she escaped, but when she had gained a safer distance and perhaps fearfully of by the unwonted sight a strange inspiration seized her. She played air after air of different characters.

The effect was magical. That snake behaved like an ardent, but blundering disciple of Dagonet. Every variation in the music, whether of volume or tone, produced instantly a corresponding change in the attitude of the cobra. If she played a lively dance it swayed its body sideways in quick time and yet in graceful curves. Once she struck a number of false notes in rapid succession on purpose. The cobra writhed and writhed in pain as if suddenly struck with a whip.

Thus the creature behaved like a mad musician till the lady, getting tired of the sport, gradually withdrew herself further and farther and then made a sudden bolt into her room and banged the door, leaving the cobra to wander disconsolate to its lair in the fields.

FREE BLOOD CURE

An offer proving faith to sufferers.

Is your blood pure? Are you sure of it? Do cuts or scratches heal slowly? Does your skin itch or burn? Have you Pimples? Eruptions? Aching Bones or Back? Eczema? Old Sores? Boils? Scrofula? Rheumatism? Foul Breath? Catarrh? Are you pale? If so, purify your blood with B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm). It makes the Blood Pure and Rich, heals every sore and gives a clear, smooth, healthy skin. Deep seated cases like ulcers, cancer, eating sores, Painful Swellings, Blood Poisons are quickly cured by B. B. B., made especially for all obstinate Blood and Skin Troubles. B. B. B. drains the Poisons and Humors out of the Blood and entire system so the symptoms cannot return. Give it a trial. It cures when all else fails. Thoroughly tested for 30 years. Sold at drug stores at $1 per large bottle, 6 large bottles (full treatment) $5. Be sure the bottle reads Botanic Blood Balm. So sufferers may test it, a trial bottle given away absolutely free. Write for it. Address BLOOD BALM CO. Atlanta, Ga. Write to-day. Describe trouble and receive medical advice given.

THE BEST WAY TO T

SOUTH AND SOUTH-WEST,

NORTH AND NORTH-W

—IS VIA THE—

L. & N.

LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE R

The Through Cars

Of this line pass Clanton daily, run through Montgomery, Mobile and New Orleans.

Connecting with all points in

TEXAS AND THE WEST.

Also running through to Nashville, Evansville, Louisville, Cincinnati and St. Louis.

Connecting for all points in

NORTH AND NORTH-W

Before purchasing tickets to any write the Agent of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad at Clanton, Ala. C. P. Atmore, G. P. A., Louisville.

Interrupted.

Merrick—I never can remember my cards to leave when calling.

Gentleman—The rules are very good, madam. You hand one to the man and then on departing leave one on the plate as there are adults of the family, adding two for husband's cards and occasionally one is a few more for good measure. Do not be niggardly in dealing cards, so that suggests vulgar poverty.

"I am very much obliged. Are you a master of etiquette?"

"Madam. I am Mr. Bristol, the cigar manufacturer."—Exchange.

Explained.

"This," said the drug clerk, "is a wonderful hair restorer. It's our best preparation."

"Well, give me a bottle," said the bald man. "But, say, come to think of it, why don't you use it yourself?"

"I don't use it. You see, I'm the 'before taking' clerk. The 'after taking' is out at lunch. You should see me."—Philadelphia Press.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve

The world-wide fame for marvelous cures. It surpasses any other salve, lotion, ointment or balm for Cuts, Corns, Burns, Boils, Sores, Ulcers, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Chapped Hands, Skin Eruptions; Infallible for Piles. Cure guaranteed. Only at Clanton drug store.

Mortgage Sale.

State of Alabama, }
Chilton County. }

Whereas and by virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage made by W. T. Quillin and his wife, N. E. Quillin, to D. C. Gandy on the 5th day of February, 1894, and filed November, 1894, which said mortgage was duly recorded in the office of the Judge of Probate of Chilton County, Alabama, in Mortgage Record No. 33, page 34, on the 5th day of April, 1894; and which said mortgage was duly transferred by D. C. Gandy to S. Maas & Co., and by Maas & Co. to W. H. Rouse on the 5th day of January, 1901, I will proceed to sell to the highest bidder, for cash, in front of the Court House door in Clanton, Chilton County, Alabama, on

TUESDAY, MARCH 4, 1901,

within the legal hours of sale, the following described property, to wit:

One House and Lot in Stanton, Ala., said Lot being in the NW ¼ of NE ¼ Section 7, Township 20, Range 12, containing four and a half acres.

Sold at Stanton, Ala., this 28th day of January, 1901.

W. H. ROUSE, Transferee.

Subscribe for The Banner.

Circuit Clerk

THE BANNER.

LET THE PEOPLE RULE.

VOL. IX — CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY JANUARY 31, 1901 — NO. 15

Stanton.

Ella Harris was the guest of T. D. Parnell's family Sunday.

and Mrs. Ferguson are the parents of a fine boy.

regret to state that Mr. Harris is quite sick.

Lee Ella Parnell paid a visit at Marvin Pitts, of Tuskaloosa, last week.

with us a few days since.

S. T. Nelson went to Brooklyn on business.

L. A. Dell has been removing his place to Montevallo. Sorry we lose his place here.

are glad to say that Mr. Sexton is improving after confined for some time.

R. H. Nelson attended the supper at Randerville last Tuesday night.

Secor Harris was in town Monday.

John Lyons, of Fletcher, was in city Friday.

L. Parnell, of Thorsby, paid us a visit last week.

Will Jones gets hurt last at the lime mill, though not badly.

STAN.

Doors to Churches.

Church doors are often round, but square or parallelogram. In placing the door usually results having a smoke another hot roll upon their way from the street into the house of the building. The doors opening the courts of a garden usually of an elaborate kind, and diagonal from in one of the most Religious superstition asserts itself in the architecture, and the interested throng of the numerous there will be shown in the arrangement of the doors. There is a triple entrance to each of the halls of the Imperial Court, and the same order prevails at Hindu temples, and the sacred person or character whom he was to visit in the home could only be approached by the highest officials after three or three prostrations. The Temple of Jupiter has a triple door, a triple door to the vestibule, and the minute Grecian points either to Christ or the Trinity.

The Challenge.

Persons in Cape Colony on trial for offenses were told that the judge "challenge any one on the jury to take the oath." The incontrovertible advantage of the prosecution by forcing a highly responsible function on the being asked advantageously which means not been for doing so who stated that she had supposed she was obliged to attend to some case, so had picked out the richest.

Overworking Women.

Portland Oregonian—Mr. Mr. know a woman is only an overworked.

Kansas—She might be thankful that she is young as she looks.—Detroit Free Press.

A Deep Mystery

is a mystery why women endure Backache, Headache, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Melancholy, Dizzy Spells when hands have proved that Electric Bitters will quickly cure such ailments. "I suffered for years with kidney trouble," writes Mrs. Charles Charter, of Paterson, Ia., "lame back pained me so I could not dress myself, but Electric Bitters wholly cured me, and though 75 years old, I now am able to do all my housework." It gives more Constipation, improves Appetite, gives perfect health. 50c at Clanton drug store.

Mortgage Sale.

Under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage given by W. L. Quinn and his wife, N. J. Quinn to D. L. Gandy on the 5th day of February, 1894, and due November 1, 1894, which said mortgage was duly recorded in the office of the Judge of Probate of Chilton County, Alabama, in Mortgage Record No. 33, page 34, on the 8th day of April, 1894; and which said mortgage was duly transferred by said Gandy to S. Maas & Co., and by Maas & Co. to W. H. Rouse on the 1st day of January, 1901, I will proceed to sell to the highest bidder for cash, in front of the Court House door in Clanton, Chilton County, Alabama, on

TUESDAY, MARCH 4, 1901,

within the legal hours of sale, the following described property, to wit:

The House and Lot in Stanton, Ala., said Lot being in the N.W. ¼ of NE ¼ Section 7, Township 20, Range 12, containing four and a half acres.

This 28th day at Stanton, Ala., this 28th day of January, 1901.

W. H. ROUSE, Transferee.

CORRESPONDENCE.

[We are willing to publish our subscribers views at any time, but it must be distinctly understood we do not hold ourselves responsible for those opinions.—EDITOR.]

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY

Take Laxative Bromo-Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. E. W. Grove's signature is on each box. 25c.

NOTICE TO TEACHERS

The next State examination for teachers will be held on the 4th and 5th of March, 1901, at the University School building, Clanton, Ala.

In this connection, I wish to say that all Third Grade certificates granted at the first examination under the new law, will expire on June the 6th, 1901. Teachers holding Third Grade certificates and expect to teach in the summer, will have to take the March examination, as it will be impossible for them to take the June examination and hear from their papers in time to teach summer schools. Teachers holding Second Grade certificates issued under the new law, and desire to take a First Grade, may do so by being examined on those branches of study which are included only in First Grade, viz.: Algebra, Geometry, Physics, School Law of Alabama and theory and practice of teaching, provided the applicant will file with the County Supt. the Second Grade certificate, to be sent with the examination papers to the State Board of Examiners.

State Supt. John W. Abercrombie informs me that all teachers holding Normal School certificates and who are not now under contract, or who expect to teach summer schools, must procure certificates from the State Board of Examiners, unless they teach in separate school districts authorized by special charters to examine their teachers.

I would advise teachers holding Third Grade certificates which will expire in June, and teachers holding Normal School certificates to take the State examination at the earliest date practicable, as there is a bill pending in the General Assembly which, if passed, will provide for only two examinations annually, one in January and one in July.

Very truly,
J. W. MOORE, Supt.

Stop the Cough and Work off the Cold.

Laxative Bromo-Quinine Tablets cures cold in one day. No Cure, No Pay. Price 25 cents.

Lily, Jan. 21, 1901

Editor Banner.—Not having the opportunity of being present at the mass meeting I beg leave to submit a short communication, which I think is a fair representation of the sentiment of this portion of our county upon the road law. In the first place, I do not think that the sentiment expressed at the meeting represents the will of the people. We can not get an expression from the people in that way. Our representative, L. B. Pounds seems impressed with the wisdom of a new road law, but hesitates to act; I think he should be left free by his constituents to act upon his own judgment. He has the opportunity of counciling with intelligent men from the entire State upon the wisdom of needed legislation and is surely better qualified on this account, to determine what is best for us than we can do for ourselves. Therefore we should say to him pass such laws as seem in your judgment best for us; let us try them and if they do not prove good we have the privilege of having them repealed after two years. He can give us an option law at least and let us vote upon it. In a stock law Beat 3 would perhaps be indifferent, but we would favor a better road law. We, more than any other portion of the county need improvement in our roads. We are as far from market and have more mud than any other portion of the county.

The best evidences by which to judde the intelligence of a country are its roads, churches and cemeteries and school houses. If these are good you have proof of a high standard of citizenship.

It has been asserted that the proposed road law is to be applied to only a few leading roads. We do not see how this construction can be placed upon it. One argument against stock law has been "oppression to the poor," but this cannot be used against the proposed road law. It lightens the burden upon those subject to road duty and places it upon property. Of this the poor man ought not to complain as his tax would be but a trifle. He has all to gain and nothing to lose. The man who has served out his time ought not to complain for he has never made a good road. It is not unfair to the property owner for it is right for public institutions to be supported by property taxation. Someone has said "if half the subsidies given to railroads had been given to rural highways, the country would be in better condition." It is a forcible suggestion at least, that rural highways need aid as well as railroads.

Mr. Editor, we could addduce many strong arguments for a law that will make goods roads, but the subject has been so thoroughly discussed during the last few years that we cannot see how any intelligent citizen can oppose such a law with reasonable taxation as will secure good roads. Such tax is the wisest economy, especially to the farmer, and means everything for his good.

We say, Bro. Pounds, let us have it and your people, if not at once, will finally bless you for this service. G. L. SPEER.

If troubled with a weak digestion, belching, sour stomach, or if you feel dull after eating, try Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. Price 25 cents. Sample free at Clanton drug store, or D. I. Duramus Verbena.

Randolph Jan. 27, 1900

Editor Banner.—We frequently hear that the Populist party is dead, yet it is hard to believe, particularly as to Chilton county. We remember at the August election of last year the party seemed quite healthy. We wonder if Judge Adams, Hon. L. H. Reynolds, Hon. L. B. Pounds, M. A. Kilgore, W. G. Riggins, W. A. Mims, W. T. Nix and many others of the Populist party are ready to go to another party, probably a party that they have condemned in the past, and let the name of Populism be of the dead past. We think not.

"Ah, says one, I know the party is alright in Chilton county, but we cannot elect the Populist State ticket." To all such we would reply if you believe the principles of the Populist party are right, then you cannot afford to go contrary to those principles if you never elect a man on the State or National ticket. To advocate the right is far more important than the spoils of office. And can you in that way ever hope to convince any one of the just cause of Populism by joining hands with another party that you have condemned in the past? By so doing you go contrary to your own statements. If the Populist party is right what do you go to when you date it? You cannot carry the principles of Populism into an old party successfully. The great teacher who spoke as never man spoke did not do that way. He did not put new wine into old bottles. Who is keeping Hon. L. H. Reynolds away from the senate to which he seems to have been elected, is it the Populist party? No. Have the Populists who followed Mr. Bryan in the last campaign in preference to the ticket of the middle-of-the-roaders added to the strength of the party by so doing? We think not.

There is one principle of the party which has been the subject of criticism, we think will be one of the grand features of the golden age, and that is government ownership of the ways of transportation.

While the party may look very weak, yet we do not think it dead. And if we believe its principles are right there is no question as to what we should do. Stand by the right tho' the heavens fall. V.

Most of our town boys seem to be trying to enjoy life while they are single. They seem to realize the fact that they will not get the chance after they marry.

Thorsby.

LANDS FOR SALE.

$2.50 PER ACRE.

We have for sale a small farm containing 40 acres, of which 30 acres are now under cultivation. Some houses on the place; land fenced; a good spring of running water. If this land was located in the Thorsby colony it would be worth $1200.00. The land is located about four miles west of Thorsby and you may take it for $100. (Sold February 6, 1900.)

General Farming Lands for sale, $5.00 to $15.00 per acre.

Unimproved Orchard and Vineyard Lands at $15.00 per acre.

Improved Orchard and Vineyard Lands from $40 to $80 per acre.

Two small farms for Rent; a 7 room Cottage for sale.

Special inducements to merchants and manufacturers in the progressive town of Thorsby, the market center of Chilton county. For further particulars call at the offices of

THE CONCORDIA LAND AND IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION.
THORSBY, ALA.

PROGRAM TEACHERS' INSTITUTE

to be held at Verbena Feb. 22nd, and 23d.

FRIDAY, 10 a.m. Devotional Exercises.

10:30 a.m. Welcome Address, F. B. Baldwin. Response, J. W. Moore.

11 a.m. Attention, J. M. Collier, L. E. Byrum.

11:30. Current History, Judson Strock, I. L. Davis.

1:30 p.m. The Teacher and Sickness, W. M. Riddle, Albert Great.

2. Incentives to study, Thos. Williams Wm. Luther.

2:30. Best method of Reading, Prof. Williams, H. A. Askins.

3:30 Why we teach Geography, Miss Ida Hore, Miss Mary Moody.

7:30. Lecture, Dr. E. R. Eldridge of Lafayette.

SATURDAY, 9:30 a.m. Requisites to successful teaching, G. L. Speer, Mrs. A. G. Dunlap.

10 Why should the State Educate her children and to what extent? R. A. Rasco, J. W. Dennis.

10:30. Graded Studies for Common Schools, R. E. R. Hicks, A. J. Neugent, Prof. Ryland.

11. Lecture, S. J. Cole of Birmingham.

1:30 p.m. Opening the Query box. Members of the Institute or others interested are at liberty to present any question which they would like to hear discussed.

We would like to see every teacher in the county at this Institute. We expect some able speakers, among them Dr. E. R. Eldridge, of Lafayette, State Supt. John W. Abercrombie and others.

Committee—J. M. Collier, G. L. Speer, A. J. Neugent, Thos. Williams, E. C. Jones, Judson Strock, J. W. Moore, County Supt.

TO ROAD OVERSEERS AND APPORTIONERS.

On account of the fact that the Commissioners Court in November, 1898, used the old blank in appointing the Apportioners, which reads two years instead of four, their commissions have mislead many of the Apportioners. I wish to call attention to Road Apportioners and Overseers that their term is four years instead of two.

At any time any of the Appotioners will send me their commission I will make the correction and make them read four years instead of two. S. M. ADAMS,
Judge of Probate.

A Prominent Chicago Woman Speaks.

Prof. Roxa Tyler, of Chicago, Vice-President Illinois Woman's Alliance, in speaking of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, says: "I suffered with a severe cold this winter which threatened to run into pneumonia. I tried different remedies but I seemed to grow worse and the medicine upset my stomach. A friend advised me to try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and I found it was pleasant to take and it relieved me at once. I am now entirely recovered, saved a doctor's bill, time and suffering, and I will never be without this splendid medicine again." For sale by Clanton Drug Co. and D. I. Duramus Verbena.

WANTED.

200 ACRES at $6.00 per Acre. Titles perfect. Plenty of water on the place. Fine reed brake for pasture. One mile north of Thorsby. J. A. SEAGO, Jemison, Ala.

FOR SALE. A complete entertainment outfit, consisting of 1 Stereopticon, 1 Optograph or moving picture machine, 1 Calcium light apparatus, 1 gas making outfit, 2 set Views Spanish American war, 5 50 ft. Films for Optograph. All new. Also 1 horse and spring wagon. Full particulars of C. Nally, Randolph, Ala.

MONEY to Loan on good real estate. Apply to X. Y. Z., care of the Banner, Clanton, Ala.

A BONA FIDE SALARY—$12 Weekly. Men and women to appoint agents and represent us, some to travel, others for local work; $12 weekly salary and expenses. Old established house, pleasant permanent positions, rapid advancement and increase of wages. Write at once. Address BUTLER & ALGER, Dept. E, New Haven, Conn.

The Best Prescription for Malaria

Chills and Fever is a bottle of GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC. It is simply iron and quinine in a tasteless form. No cure—no pay. Price 50c.

$200 REWARD.

The above reward will be paid to any person or persons for the arrest and conviction of the parties who broke into the Court House and blew open the county safe at Clanton, Ala., on Sunday night, Nov. 25, 1900.

S. M. ADAMS,
Judge of Probate.
Clanton, Ala.

Brought Good Fortune.

A small item in his own paper lately brought amazing good fortune to Editor Chris. Reitter, of the Saginaw (Mich.) Post and Zeitung. He and his family had the Grip in its worst form. Their doctor did them no good. Then he read that Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds was a guaranteed cure for La Grippe and all Throat and Lung troubles; tried it and says: "Three bottles cured the whole family. No other medicine on earth equals it." Only 50c and $1.00 at Clanton drug store. Trial bottles free.

CHESTNUT LION

A Fine Tennessee Jacks, Hands High, Full of Life, a Fine Breeder and Sure Foal-Getter, will stand at JEMISON, ALA, this season.

W. C. EVANS, Proprietor,
JEMISON, ALA.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

TIPTON HOLLIER
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW
CLANTON — ALA.

WILLIAM H. ADAMS.
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW
Practice in all Courts.
Office at the Adams' residence
CLANTON - - ALA.

JOHN C. DENNIS
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW
Practice in the Supreme Court of Alabama, and all Inferior Courts.
CLANTON, — — ALA.

ROBERT H. HUNT,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,
CLANTON, ALA.
Will practice in all the State and Federal Courts of Alabama.

Dr. OTTO M. WISEHART,
DENTIST.
OFFICE HOURS. 8 to 12 a.m. and 1 to 5 p.m.
Office over Wright's Store. CLANTON

Dr. GEO. A. DENNIS,
SPECIALIST
Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat
OFFICE 20½ S. PERRY ST.
Office Hours 9 to 12 and 2 to 4.
Telephone 691—2 Rings
MONTGOMERY, ALA.

CHURCH DIRECTORY

BAPTIST—Preaching on the first and third sundays at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Sunday school every sunday at 10 a.m.

Prayer-meeting every thursday evening at 7 o'clock.

F. M. WOODS, Pastor.

METHODIST—Preaching every second sunday at 7 p.m., and every fourth sunday at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Sunday-school at 10 a.m. every sunday.

Prayer-meeting at seven o'clock every Wednesday night.

D. F. ELLISON, Pastor.

CLANTON BARBER SHOP.
W. H. TAYLOR, Proprietor.
HAIR CUTTING
SHAVING
SHAMPOOING
In all the Latest City Styles. Reasonable Charges. Prompt Attention.
HOT AND COLD BATHS.
CLANTON

E. W. Grove
This signature is on every box of the genuine Laxative Bromo-Quinine Tablets the remedy that cures a cold in one day

The Banner office is the place for Job Printing establishment in Clanton and Coosa counties. We give you best work at lower prices than you can get elsewhere. Give us a trial.

The Farmers' Mutual Insurance Association of Alabama.
CHARTERED BY SPECIAL ACT OF THE LEGISLATURE.
"BY THE PEOPLE AND FOR THE PEOPLE."
CHILTON COUNTY BRANCH

PRESIDENT: H. J. CALLOWAY, Clanton.
SEC'Y & TREAS.: P. D. WILSON, Clanton.
GENERAL AGENT: WALLACE C. EDLER, Clanton.
BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

1. H. C. Young
2. Thomas Harrison
3. R. S. McCary
4. D. F. Jacks
5. W. H. Thomas
6. A. T. Hashcocks
7. C. J. Cohern
8. John R. Parnell
9. D. M. Riggins.

Insures farmer's dwellings, outbuildings and contents, and live stock against loss by fire, wind and lightning.

The assessments for the year just closed was only 25c on the $1000 policy.

The cheapest, safest and most sensible method of insurance known to man. For full particulars call on or address the General Agent.

WALLACE C. EDLER, Clanton, Ala.

THE BANNER.

Published Weekly.

CLANTON, - - - ALABAMA.

There is not much satisfaction in a bank's being shown by a defaulting cashier that it was richer than supposed before the cashier got through with it.

Since 1875 the sailing ship tonnage of the world has gone down from 14,185,000 tons to 8,600,000, and yet ocean tonnage has been constantly increased. The seas are not sailed, but navigated.

It is now claimed that the Chinese discovered America 1000 years before Columbus. Inasmuch as there was a very poor opening for the laundry business over here at that time they passed it by.

Boston is introducing in the matter of school buildings an innovation that will not only prove a great convenience to pupils, but in the end result in a material reduction of their cost. The idea is that they shall be made portable, to the end that they may be utilized wherever the most needed.

Flogging is still practiced in England. The boys feel no sense of wounded personal honor in a sound thrashing, and prefer it to other forms of punishment. In the early part of the century a master at Eton enjoyed the distinction of having flogged half the ministers, secretaries and even the bishops in the kingdom.

Professor Marshall in his principles of economics is of the opinion that $500,000,000 are annually spent by the working classes and possibly $200,000,000 more by the rest of the population of England, for purposes that do little or nothing towards making life nobler or happier. This condition does not apply alone to England. The money that is squandered for worse than useless objects throughout the world would banish poverty from the world itself, thinks the St. Louis Star.

Alfred Beit is accounted in London the richest man in the world. His ambition is to run his personal holdings up to the stupendous sum of $1,000,000,000.—Atlanta Constitution. Mr. Beit is primarily, we believe, a miner, and we doubt his ever reaching his alleged goal. But in this still dawning day of colossal industrial energy, with the forces of electricity yet in their infancy and other greater forces but little more than dreamed of, it is not asking much of the imagination to predict the time when the multimillionaire of the moment shall have bloomed into the actual billionaire, observes the New York Sun.

An ordinance passed recently in San Diego, Cal., presents a somewhat gloomy prospect for the American breeders of Belgian hares. Hare meat, it is reported, has become a drug on the California market, and two or three large owners of the animals have announced their intention to turn them loose on the country. It is through a fear that this course may become general that the supervisors of San Diego have fixed a penalty, varying from $20 to $100, for liberating hares. The little quadrupeds are particularly fond of the bark of young fruit trees as an article of food, and the western growers are becoming extremely apprehensive for their orchards. The Belgian hare boom in the west, where it resides particularly, seems shaky at the moment.

Martin L. Mowry, now serving a life sentence in the Rhode Island state prison for the murder of a woman, and hence adjudged civilly dead and incapable of suing in his own name, appeared recently in the common pleas division of the Rhode Island supreme court and testified in his own behalf in a suit brought for him by his administrator. The suit was brought against the estate of Elisha Mathewson, the claim being that Mathewson owed him $5000, $4000 for 20 years' service and $1000 as a present given him by Mathewson's uncle. The suit was brought originally by Mowry in his own name, but the court ruled that as he was serving a life sentence for murder he was civilly dead and hence incapable of suing. A doctor was then appointed his administrator for the purpose of carrying out the suit. Even then the defence claimed that Mowry could not be recognized as a witness. But the judge decided that though he was civilly dead for certain purposes, for other purposes he was still alive. Hence the remarkable spectacle of a man civilly dead actually appearing in court and testifying for his administrator in a suit against the estate of a man both civilly and physically dead.

FATAL SHOOTING AFFRAY

Big Bank Failure at Montgomery.--Liabilities and Assets Not Given.

WOMEN FATALLY BURNED

Husband Valued at $40,000--Negro Accidently Killed at Selma--For Compulsory Education.

Big Bank Failure.

The Josiah Morris Bank, of Montgomery, one of the oldest private banking institutions in Alabama, did not open its doors for business Saturday morning. The capital stock of the bank is $100,000. Deposits are believed to be heavy. The assets and liabilities are not yet known. At the hour of opening the following announcement was posted on the door: "To the Public:

"Yesterday some of our checks in New York, for which we had made provision, were temporarily refused by our correspondents, though they were afterward paid. This information came to us late, after the close of banking hours. Since then a number of inquiries have been made and the apprehension created convinces us that, in justice to creditors, we ought to suspend payment. This condition of affairs has arisen from inability to make quick realizations on cash and the shrinkage of assets. It is hoped that the assets prudently arranged will pay creditors in full. We have not arranged or taken any legal steps concerning the disposition of assets, but await the wishes of our creditors."

Large crowds assembled around the bank and much excitement prevailed.

This (Montgomery) county has about $200,000 deposited in the bank and the city of Montgomery was also a large depositor. The county is practically secured by a bond of the county treasurer, made with a Maryland company for $120,000. The bank itself was surety on the city treasurer's bond. The bank was a depository for nearly every railroad entering Montgomery.

Awarded $40,000 Damages

The damage suit of Mrs. Bettie Wilds against the Alabama Great Southern railroad came to an end in the Tuscaloosa county court Friday night, the jury returning a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $40,000.

The case was given to the jury about 7 o'clock and in about two hours' time a verdict was reached.

Mrs. Wilds brought the suit as an executor of the estate of William H. Wilds, her husband, who was killed by an Alabama Great Southern freight last September at the oil mill crossing in Tuscaloosa.

Street Fairs.

Selma will have a street fair and cotton carnival in October, probably the first week. This was decided at a mass meeting of citizens held Friday night. A committee of seven citizens are to be appointed to take the initial step, and Selma expects to have twenty thousand visitors during the week of the fair.

Bessemer is to have a street fair to be held from the 4th to the 9th of February. This is the same aggregation of attractions that showed recently at Montgomery, Selma and other points and is now at Natchez. The necessary money has been raised and the fair is assured.

Hardie-Tynes Company Will Rebuild Plant.

The plant of the Hardie-Tynes machine and Foundry, Company in Birmingham, which burned last week will be rebuilt as was generally anticipated. The net loss over and above the $52,000 of insurance, is placed at $70,000. The company has many contracts on hand for machinery of various sorts and will finish contracts in temporary quarters while the permanent buildings are being erected.

Gadsden Furnace Will be Put in Blast

The furnace here of the Alabama Consolidated Coal and Iron Company will be put in blast on the 9th day of February. At present they have a large force of men at work making some needed repairs and are also getting in ore, coal, etc. They will give employment to 1000 men and will run at least one year before again shutting down.

Fatal Shooting at Burns' Celebration

About 2 o'clock Friday morning the celebration of the birthday of the poet, Bobbie Burns, at Blomburg town hall, was rudely interrupted by the firing of several pistol shots by Frank Byrum, a miner.

Early in the evening he had had a difficulty with Wofford Rich, a brakeman on the Southern road. The men were separated by J. D. McKibbons, a Southern railway conductor, but later renewed the difficulty.

When the smoke of battle had cleared away the dead body of Rich lay upon the ground and McGibbons had been shot through and through and cannot live.

There were several hundred persons in the hall, including a number of women, and pandemonium reigned supreme. Many women fainted and several went into hysterics. The trouble is said to have been caused by jealousy. No arrests have yet been made.

Young Woman Fatally Burned.

A terrible tragedy occurred at Tuscaloosa about 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon, when Miss Belle Minhinnett was burned to death. No one knew anything of the burning until they heard her making a noise in the bath room, where she had gone only a short time before. Miss Minhinett when found was almost dead, breathing only a few times afterwards. A doctor was hastily summoned, but life was extinct when he arrived. The deceased was fearfully burned, and her suffering must have been intense before death relieved her. Miss Minhinnett was about 30 years of age, and had been afflicted all of her life.

Another Woman Fatally Burned.

Mrs. Ann Scroggins, of Edmond, Lawrence Count, was burned to death at her home Thursday afternoon. The old lady was alone and her clothing caught fire from the fire-place. She jumped on a bed in a frantic effort to smother the flames but fainted too soon and was horribly burned.

Favor Compulsory Education and Uniform Text Books.

The Jefferson County Teachers' Institute, which was held at North Birmingham, adjourned Friday. The following resolutions favoring compulsory education were passed:

"Resolved, That we favor a compulsory education law for Alabama, and therefore heartily endorse the bill prepared by a committee appointed by a mass meeting of citizens in Birmingham and the compulsory educational committee of the State Educational Association, and recommend that the representatives from this county use their influence for the same."

The following report favoring an uniform system of text books was made:

The committee on resolutions relative to text book uniformity respectfully recommend: That the county superintendent and board of education of Jefferson county be authorized to confer with the principals and educational boards of the special districts of the county with a view of effecting county uniformity of text books, and in case of failure theron that the county superintendent shall call a meeting of the leading teachers of the county to act thereon.

Negro Killed While Working With a Stone Derrick.

About 2 o'clock Friday afternoon Frank Webb, a negro, met his death while assisting in unloading stone for the new Methodist church in Selma from a flat car. Webb had adjusted the grippers of the derrick on to the stone and was waiting while the windlass tightened up the long wooden arm when all at once there was a sharp crack and the rope parted, permitting the heavy piece of timber to drop with all its added weight. The timber struck Webb on the head, killing him instantly, and mangling him in a horrible manner.

Demopolis Secures Another Large Industry.

Demopolis has secured another large industry, a large lumber plant. The site selected is just below the city, situated between the railroad and the river. The property was bought from Mrs Hunnegan. The name of the plant is the H. L. Wood Lumber Company.

The sawmills in Alabama cut over 130,000,000 feet of yellow pine lumber for the eleven months of 1900, ended November 30, and practically the same amount was shipped.

Shot His Wife's Lover Friday.

Palmer Watkins shot Ben Jackson at Sloss mines, near Bessemer, Friday. Jackson had been paying attentions to Watkin's wife, and had ignored instructions to discontinue this conduct. Watkins, returning home from work Friday at noon, discovered Jackson kissing his wife on his back porch, promptly emptied a revolver into him. Jackson will die. Both colored.

CIVIL GOVERNMENT FOR THE FILIPINOS

Congress Requested to Enact Suitable Laws.

SUGGESTION OF COMMISSION

President Transmits to the Senate a Report in Regard to The Matter.

President McKinley transmitted to the senate Friday a report of the secretary of war inclosing the report of the Taft Philippine commission. The president says:

"I earnestly recommend legislation under which the government of the islands may have authority to assist in their peaceful industrial development in the directions indicated by the secretary of war."

Secretary Root's letter of transmittal is dated January 24th, addressed to the president, and is in par tas follows:

"I beg leave to supplement my annual report of November 30, 1900, by transmitting a report made by the Philippine commission on that date, but only recently received at the war department. At the same time I wish to call attention to some conditions existing in the Philippine islands which indicate that the development of that country along the lines of peaceful industrial progress now requires the exercise of powers of civil government not vested in this department or in the United States military commander, but requiring a grant of authority from the congress.

"The commission gives a gratifying account of the progress made in the pacification of the country and the gradual subsidence of guerrilla warfare. A personal letter received by me from Judge Taft, dated December 14, 1900, says:

"'Since writing you about three thousand insurgents in Iloilo Norte have surrendered and 10,000 persons who were not well affected toward us in Panay have taken the oath of allegiance. I have already received two papers from natives tendering their allegiance to the United States and promising fidelity without mental reserve. The army is hitting small but hard knocks against the insurgents everywhere. Since the election there has been a great falling off in the activity of the insurgents in aggressiveness.'

"'On the 2d of January the commission as a body reinforced the views contained in their report by the following dispatch from Manila:

"'Root, Secretary of War, Washington—If you approve, ask transmission to proper senators and representatives of following:

"'Passage of Spooner bill at present session greatly needed to secure best result from improving conditions. Until its passage no purely central civil government can be established; no public franchises of any kind granted, and no substantial improvements possible. All are needed as a most important step in complete pacification. Strong peace party organized with defined purpose of securing civil government under United States and reasonably expect civil government and relief from inevitable but annoying restraints of military rule long before subject can be taken up by new congress. Time near at hand, in our opinion, when disturbances existing can better be suppressed by native police of a civil government with army as auxiliary force than by continuance of complete military control.

"'Sale of public lands and allowances for mining claims impossible until Spooner bill passed. Hundreds of American miners on ground awaiting law to perfect claims. More coming. Good element in pacification. Urgently recommend amendment to Spooner bill so that its operation be not postponed until complete suppression of all insurrection, but only until, in president's judgment, civil government may be safely established. Conditions rapidly improving to point where civil government, with aid of army, will be more efficient to secure peace than military control.

COMMISSION.'

PENALTY IS REDUCED.

Georgia Technological School Faculty Shows Leniency.

An Atlanta dispatch says: All the suspended Technological students will resume their work on the 2nd of February. The penalty imposed on the textile students has been reduced from ninety to thirty days' suspension; that of the mechanical and engineering students remains the same.

Although the term of suspension has been reduced to thirty days and diplomas will be withheld for an equal period, the summer vacation will be taken as usual, and the boys compelled to attend school until November 2d in order to obtain sheepskins.

Old Story; Usual Result.

Walter Price and wife, who live near Gadsden, Ala., went from home for a while and left their two-months-old baby lying on the bed by the fire. When they returned they found the bed on fire and the baby burned to death.

Depew Favors Subsidy Bill.

A Washington special says: Senator Chauncey Depew, of New York, spoke in the senate Friday on the ship subsidy bill.

WOMEN IN FRACAS.

Mrs. Nation, the Saloon Wrecker, Cowhided By Another Female In Kansas.

A street fight between women, led one one side by Mrs. Carrie Nation, the saloon wrecker, with a following of W. C. T. U. women, and the other by Mrs. John Schilling, wife of the manager of the saloon wrecked, backed by a dozen women who championed the saloons, was enacted in the town of Enterprise, Kansas.

As a result of the unique melee Mrs. Nation swore out warrants against Mrs. Schilling and her husband, and Mrs. William Bittner, charging them with assault, and Mrs. Hoffman swore out a warrant against Mrs. Nation, charging her with disturbing the peace. All were arrested, but later were released on bond.

During the morning, Mrs. Nation, in company with several W. T. C. U. leaders, entered a store near William Shook's saloon, which is still unmolested. Mrs. Nation, apparently to give him warning, sent for Shook. He complied, but before many words were exchanged between the two she was assaulted by a crowd of women, partisans of the saloons.

A general fight between the women ensued, during which a woman, heavily veiled, rained blow after blow upon Mrs. Nation with a horse whip. Men drawn to the scene aided neither side. Quiet was restored only when the police interferred. Mrs. Nation was badly bruised.

All concerned, except Mrs. Nation, were bound over for trial. Mrs. Nation went to the house of one of her friends to doctor her wounds, and she declared, "Prepare for tomorrow."

Much excitement prevails over the affair.

The case was concluded promptly. Mrs. Nation was found not guilty of disturbing the peace and was released. The cases of the three women arrested on complaint of Mrs. Nation were continued. Mrs. Nation declares that she will swear out additional warrants against these women, charging them with attempt to kill.

At a meeting held during the day between local temperance workers, the Mothers and Sisters Aid Society was organized, with Mrs. C. H. Huffman as president. Mrs. Nation says its purpose is to suppress saloons by law if possible, but by force if necessary.

A PROCLAMATION

Announcing Albert Edward as King of England Issued at London.

A London special says: The proclamation announcing Edward VII. as king of Great Britain and Ireland and emperor of India was read in St. James palace at 9 o'clock Thursday morning. The king was not present.

There was a great concourse of people from the commencement to the close. The proclamation, was read by William Henry Weldon, king at arms, since 1894, and formerly Windsor herald and was as follows:

"Whereas, It has pleased Almighty God to call to his mercy our late sovereign lady, Queen Victoria, of blessed and glorious memory, by whose decease the imperial crown of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland is solely and rightfully come to the high mighty Prince Albert Edward; we, therefore, lords spiritual and temporal of this realm, being here assisted with those of her late majesty's privy council, with numbers of other principal gentlemen of quality, the lord mayor, aldermen and citizens of London, do now hereby with one voice consent of tongue and heart to publish and proclaim that the high and mighty Prince Albert Edward is now by the death of our late sovereign of happy memory become our only lawful and rightful liege lord, Edward VII., by grace of God, king of the kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, defender of the faith, Emperor of India, to whom we acknowledge all faith and constant obedience with all hearty and humble affection, beseeching God, by whom all kings and queens do reign, to bless the royal Prince Edward VII with long and happy years to reign over us."

The proclamation was greeted by a fanfare of trumpets.

GRIDIRON BOYS DINE.

Washington Pencil Pushers Have a Jolly Time at Annual Meeting.

The annual dinner of the Gridiron Club, composed of Washington correspondents, was given Saturday at the Arlington hotel. About 200 guests and members were at the handsomely decorated tables. Among the guests were distinguished men in all walks of life—cabinet officers, members of the supreme bench, senators, representatives, army and navy officers and ministers of foreign countries. The reputation of the club was sustained in the matter of unique features, burlesque of public affairs, roasts on public men, who were guests.

BOERS USED DYNAMITE.

They Wreck Train Having Lord Kitchener and Troops Aboard.

Advices from Pretoria state that on Wednesday January 23, a train with Lord Kitchener and a body of troops proceeded toward Middelburg, an armored pilot engine preceding. It was derailed by dynamite near Balmoral. The Boers, who were in force, opened fire and the British replied heavily. Ultimately the Boers were driven off. The British sustained no casualties.

SENATE COMMITTEE CUTS WAR TAX

Many Millions Will Be Saved By the Public.

LIST OF ARTICLES AFFECTED

Senate Measure Is Radically Different From That Passed the House.

Senator Aldrich, chairman of the senate committee on finance, reported the war revenue reduction bill to the senate Thursday. The committee reports a complete substitute for the house bill as it passed the house. Senator Aldrich made a statement explaining the changes, which in part are as follows:

Stamp Tax Repealed.—Promissory notes, mortgages, bills of lading for export, powers of attorney, policies of charter, party, certificates of all kinds, leases, warehouse receipts, telegrams, dispatches, telephone messages, baggage tickets costing less than $1, express receipts, bonds, except those of indemnity, legacies to religious, benevolent, literary or educational institutions.

Special Tax Repealed.—Certificates of special brokers.

Taxes Reduced.—Conveyances, fire insurance, bankers' capital, proprietary medicines, cigars, tobacco, beer.

The statement says that, having regard to the revenue requirements of the government, the provisions of the committee has been to reduce such of the taxes imposed by the war revenue act of 1898 as are most burdensome to tax payers and to retain such as should be kept as a permanent part of our revenue system or at least retained until all war taxes can be repealed, and to reduce such taxes as fairly and equitably as possible by some general plan of reduction. Pursuing this general plan, it has been possible to reduce the taxes approximately about one-half.

Taking the estimates of the treasury department as a basis the reduction of revenue effected by the bill will be nearly $40,000,000, a reduction somewhat less than was produced by the bill as it passed the house of representatives.

Reductions.—The committee substitute provisions in regard to taxes on tobacco, beer, etc., are as follows:

That on and after July 1, 1901, the internal revenue tax on cigars weighing more than three pounds per thousand shall be $3.30 per thousand.

That on and after July 1, there shall be allowed a discount of 7½ percentum on all sales of cigars to brewers and manufacturers of tobacco and snuff upon the stamps provided for the payment of internal revenue taxes upon beer and manufactured tobacco and snuff, provided the discount allowed to brewers for beer stamps shall be in lieu of the discount of 7½ percentum allowed by the act of June 13, 1898. The tax is to reduce the tax to $1.50 per barrel and on snuff and tobacco to 9 cents per pound.

There is a general reduction of the tax on insurance policies and receipts and in lieu of the present taxes, the following taxes shall be imposed to be paid by the insurance companies, as follows:

Life insurance companies, 2 cents on the amount insured for each $100 or fraction of every policy.

The rate of conveyances, 2 cents for deeds to land, is materially reduced. In the existing law all deeds of the values exceeding $10 are taxed at the rate of 50 cents. The senate committee removes the tax on all deeds of valuations are below $2,500 and reduces the tax rate 25 instead of 50 cents. For each additional $500 above $2,500 the tax is to be 25 cents.

The tax on bankers is fixed at the rate of $1 on each $1,000 of capital and surplus used by them.

Section 20 of the existing law, relating to proprietary articles, including drugs, perfumeries, etc., is practically rewritten.

Hemp For Kidnappers.

Governor Dockery has sent a message to the Missouri legislature recommending the passage of a law making the death penalty in cases of kidnapping for ransom.

VICTORIA MEMORIAL SERVICES

Churches Throughout Kingdom Honor to Dead Queen.

A London special says: The churches throughout the kingdom Sunday all paid worship held services in memory of Queen Victoria. At St. Paul's cathedral there was a unusual scene. At 9 o'clock in the morning, an enormous crowd, wholly attired in black, poured from all directions to the cathedral office, and by 10 o'clock it was packed. Thousands were unable to obtain admission.

At Westminster abbey all the services throughout the day were attended by enormous congregations.

What Hawaii Cost Us.

Secretary Gage has sent to the house a full statement of the indebtedness incurred by the annexation of Hawaii, with a request for appropriation to cancel the indebtedness, which is $3,447,585.

Usual Strike at Tampa.

The cigarmakers at Seidenberg & Co.'s branch of the Havana-American Company, Tampa, Fla., have struck on a strike. It is believed the trouble will be quickly adjusted.

ARP'S LETTER

Man Delves Deeply Into Old English History.

AND BAD POINTS OF RULERS

Men Were "Saturated" With Blood—Deplores the Death of Queen Victoria.

long jump—354 years from King Edward VI to the Albert, now Edward VII. Queen Victoria dident have blood in her veins. The Germans by [illegible] or three of them lived and over and the house of Hanover England for 200 years. father and mother lived got her husband there and prince of Wales, got his. If it had not been for the law which forbade a woman from ing over Hanover, she would bly have lived and died there. ides this preponderance of Ger blood, she had a strain of Italian in her veins and was pleased to herself a Guelph. Her English tors were a hard lot. Indeed, kings of England, especially the y, the Edwards and Georges, a disgrace to royalty. They were heartless, selfish and depraved. were worse than our kidnapers he hazing cadets of West Point. put to death their brothers and ers to get them out of their way. two or three kings have behaved credit to the crown. But the s have illustrated woman's sweet virtue and kindliness of heart. n Victoria is honored throughout world—not for her force of ruling or political sagacity or superior m, but for her womanly virtue, tenderness, her gentle example, Christianity.

n Gladstone consulted her and had had her way there would been no war on the Boers. er would our government be g to subjugate the Philippines if d woman had been president. It men who get up nearly all the ment in this world. I would r risk our own Mrs. Lowe as a dent than McKinley. Look what ers they make. Time was when claimed that a woman could not an institution of learning, but never were better presidents of lo colleges than Mrs. Willard, Baldwin and Miss Rutherford. I most in despair about the capac of men to govern unruly boys.

e have but one college in the where this tomfoolery called tics is under the ban. In fact, ball and football and golf and ng of boats is the biggest part of the culum in nearly all the male col of the union. We fathers don't a bauble whether our boys can a ball or not, and nobody else s. It is not education. Some okee Indians came here from h Carolina a few years ago and ed ball and could beat these col boys out of their boots, and they t go off and get drunk as soon as ame was over. The boys in our played ball, but they played it in ampus ground and played it de y and nobody was ever killed or wadays the college boys banter oys of another college and they in Atlanta and play the and hire some profes ls and have a big time and then up with a drunken frolic and run the police and break the glass out e Kimball house doors and go triumphant and don't study any for a week and the faculty wink and call it modern education. old-fashioned town ball was a and better game than baseball our shinny was better than golf. called it town ball because we boys who could knock the ball out wn, and we called it shinny be the shins were in danger when crossed the line, and that is where aying "shinny on your own side" from.

e had enough exercise at play time out running off to Atlanta and ing ten or fifteen dollars of the man's money and leaving some dead or badly wounded. Why, haven't got enough policemen in York city to regulate or intimi the boys of Yale and Harvard they meet there to play a game. the only excuse ever given by the ty is: "Oh, boys will be boys." , it seems that the hazers have gized and promised to quit. That ll enough, but it doesent relieve from the public indignation. A m that comes from fear deserves redit. Those boys are the same e they were before, and should e recognized as gentlemen anywhere outside of a bull fight in Mexico. was ruminating about those old of England and how two of princes were smothered in the r and Edward VI had three stepmothers, who treated him like a dog. how subdued he was all of his brief he died when sixteen years old a boyish rein of seven years. those Georges were a [illegible] scandal, for history says that ge I, who founded the house of over, was fond of nothing save h and fat women, and Wellington of George IV that he was a compound of inconsistencies. other two were no better, and were the Henrys, some of whom were than murderers. Since the of Alfred the Great, England has no king who will compare with her

AS.

recker, nate led Nation, llowing e other of the back- mpion- in the e Mrs. against and them swore Nation, peace, were re-

Nation, C. U. illiam nnion tly to k He were n, parnounce heavy Men either which Nation

ction, e Na of her nd she er the mptly. ity of eased reated were s that rants them e day rs, the y was nffym its y law essary

N

rd as nt

proc- VII. reland in St. ursday

mely esent, f peo- o the read ng at Windnighty e sov- blessed e de- United eland to the ward; l tem- sisted privy rinci- may- on, do ent of l pro- Prince ath of emory ghtful ace of Great f the m we stant mble whom bless with over by a

SENATE COMMITTEE CUTS WAR TAX

Many Millions Will Be Saved By the Public

LIST OF ARTICLES AFFECTED

Senate Measure Is Radically Different From That Passed by the House.

Senator Aldrich, chairman of the senate committee on finance, reported the war revenue reduction bill to the senate Thursday. The committee reports a complete substitute for the bill as it passed the house. Senator Aldrich made a statement explaining the changes, which in part are as follows:

Stamp Tax Repealed.—Promissory notes, mortgages, bills of lading, bills of export, powers of attorney, policies of insurance, charter party, certificates of all kinds, warehouse receipts, telegraph, telephone messages, railroad tickets costing less than $1, express receipts, bonds, except bonds of indemnity, legacies to religious, scientific, literary or educational institutions.

Special Tax Repealed.—Commercial brokers.

Taxes Reduced.—Conveyances, insurance, bankers' capital, proprietary medicines, cigars, tobacco, beer, etc.

The statement says that, having regard to the revenue requirements of the government, the policy of the committee has been to retain such of the taxes imposed by the war revenue act of 1898 as are most productive and burdensome to tax payers, and to retain such as should be kept as a permanent part of our revenue system, or at least retained until all war taxes can be repealed, and to reduce all taxes as fairly and equitably as possible by some general plan of reduction. Pursuing this general plan, it has been possible to reduce the taxes at present approximately about one-half.

Taking the estimates of the treasury department as a basis the reduction of revenue effected by the bill will be nearly $40,000,000, a reduction somewhat less than was produced by the bill as it passed the house of representatives.

Reductions.—The committee substitute provisions in regard to taxes on tobacco, beer, etc., are as follows:

That on and after July 1, 1902, the internal revenue tax on cigars weighing more than three pounds per thousand shall be $3.30 per thousand.

That on and after July 1, 1902, there shall be allowed a discount of 2½ percentum on all sales of cigars to brewers and manufacturers of tobacco and snuff upon the stamps provided for the payment of internal revenue taxes upon beer and manufactured tobacco and snuff, provided the discount allowed to brewers on beer stamps shall be in lieu of a discount of 2½ percentum allowed by the act of June 13, 1898. The bill is to reduce the tax to $1.50 per gallon and on snuff and tobacco to 9 cents a pound.

There is a general reduction of tax on insurance policies and receipts and in lieu of the present taxes, the taxes shall be imposed to be paid by the insurance companies, as follows: Life insurance companies, 1 percent on the amount insured for each policy or fraction of every policy.

The rate of conveyances, including deeds to land, is materially reduced. In the existing law all deeds covering values exceeding $10 are taxed at the rate of 50 cents. The senate committee removes the tax on all deeds where the valuations are below $2,500 and reduces the tax rate 25 instead of 50 cents. For each additional $500 above $2,500 the tax is to be 25 cents.

The tax on bankers is fixed at the rate of $1 on each $1,000 of capital and surplus used by them.

Section 20 of the existing law taxes all proprietary articles, including drugs, perfumeries, etc., practically rewritten.

Hemp For Kidnapers.

Governor Dockery has sent a message to the Missouri legislature recommending the passage of a law imposing the death penalty in cases of kidnaping for ransom.

VICTORIA MEMORIAL SERVICES

Churches Throughout Kingdom Honor to Dead Queen.

A London special says: Throughout the kingdom Sunday all places of worship held services in memory of Queen Victoria. At St. Paul's cathedral there was a unusual scene. At 9 o'clock in the morning, an enormous crowd, wholly attired in black, assembled from all directions to the cathedral office, and by 10 o'clock it was packed. Thousands were unable to obtain admission.

At Westminster abbey all the services throughout the day were attended by enormous congregations.

What Hawaii Cost Us.

Secretary Gage has sent to the house a full statement of the indebtedness incurred by the annexation of Hawaii, with a request for appropriation to cancel the indebtedness, aggregating $3,447,535.

Usual Strike at Tampa.

The cigarmakers at Seidenberg & Co.'s branch of the Havana-American Company, Tampa, Fla., have struck on a strike. It is believed the trouble will be quickly adjusted.

...LL ARP'S LETTER

...ow Man Delves Deeply Into Old English History.

... AND BAD POINTS OF RULERS

...rity of Them Were "Saturated" With ...rman Blood—Deplores the Death of Queen Victoria.

...was a long jump—354 years from the death of King Edward VI to the accession of Albert, now Edward VII. The good Queen Victoria dident have much English blood in her veins. The Georges were Germans by birth or extraction. Three of them lived and died in Hanover and the house of Hanover ruled England for 200 years. Victoria's father and mother lived there. She got her husband there and her son, the prince of Wales, got his wife there. If it had not been for the old law which forbade a woman from reigning over Hanover, she would probably have lived and died there.

Besides this preponderance of German blood, she had a strain of Italian blood in her veins and was plessed to call herself a Guelph. Her English ancestors were a hard lot. Indeed, the kings of England, especially the Henrys, the Edwards and Georges, were a disgrace to royalty. They were cold, heartless, selfish and depraved. They were worse than our kidnapers or the hazing cadets of West Point, for they put to death their brothers and sisters to get them out of their way. Only two or three kings have behaved with credit to the crown. But the queens have illustrated woman's superior virtue and kindliness of heart. When Victoria is honored throughout the world—not for her force of ruling power or political sagacity or superior wisdom, but for her womanly virtue, her tenderness, her gentle example, her Christianity.

Even Gladstone consulted her and he had had her way there would have been no war on the Boers. Rather would our government be trying to subjugate the Philippines if a good woman had been president. It is the men who get up nearly all the excitement in this world. I would rather risk our own Mrs. Lowe as a president than McKinley. Look what teachers they make. Time was when it was claimed that a woman could not conduct an institution of learning, but there never were better presidents of female colleges than Mrs. Willard, Mrs. Baldwin and Miss Rutherford. I am almost in despair about the capacity of men to govern unruly boys.

We have but one college in the South where this tomfoolery called athletics is under the ban. In fact, baseball and football and golf and rowing of boats is the biggest part of the curriculum in nearly all the male colleges of the union. We fathers don't care a bauble whether our boys can kick a ball or not, and nobody else cares. It is not education. Some Cherokee Indians came here from North Carolina a few years ago and played ball and could beat these college boys out of their boots, and they dident go off and get drunk as soon as the game was over. The boys in our city played ball, but they played it in the campus ground and played it decently and nobody was ever killed or hurt.

Nowadays the college boys banter the boys of another college and they meet in Atlanta and play the game and hire some professionals and have a big time and then end up with a drunken frolic and run over the police and break the glass out of the Kimball house doors and go back triumphant and don't study any more for a week and the faculty wink at it and call it modern education. Our old-fashioned town ball was a better and better game than baseball and our shinny was better than golf. We called it town ball because we and boys who could knock the ball out of town, and we called it shinny because the shins were in danger when one crossed the line, and that is where I am saying "shinny on your own side" come from.

We had enough exercise at play time without running off to Atlanta and spending ten or fifteen dollars of the man's money and leaving some boy dead or badly wounded. Why, they haven't got enough policemen in New York city to regulate or intimidate the boys of Yale and Harvard when they meet there to play a game. And the only excuse ever given by the culpity is: "Oh, boys will be boys." Now, it seems that the hazers have apologized and promised to quit. That is well enough, but it doesent relieve them from the public indignation. A reform that comes from fear deserves no credit. Those boys are the same creatures they were before, and should not be recognized as gentlemen anywhere outside of a bull fight in Mexico.

I was ruminating about those old kings of England and how two of the princes were smothered in the tower and Edward VI had three stepbrothers, who treated him like a dog, and how subdued he wassll of his brief life, for he died when sixteen years old under a boyish rein of seven years. And those Georges were a continuous scandal, for history says that George I, who founded the house of Hanover, was fond of nothing save punch and fat women, and Wellington says of George IV that he was a contemptible compound of inconsistencies. The other two were no better, and none were the Henrys, some of whom were worse than murderers. Since the days of Alfred the Great, England has had no king who will compare with her queens, such as Elizabeth and Victoria. I am for the women, I am, in every vocation.

This reminds me that I have received a letter from an Ohio man who wants a wife. Maybe some idiotic woman would like to answer it. It reads as follows verbatim et literatim:

"PALMYRA, OHIO.—Mr. Bil Arp, Gorgy: Pleas write in your paper to the Best of your knolage the hystry of the moon from a Bibul stanpoint. Has it got a lite of its own and if not whar do it get its lite? Does this earth revolv tord the sun or not? Is the sun stashenery or not? What efekt do the moon have on animals? What efekt on hogs at Butcherin time about fryin meat and makin gravy? Does the mens inkress in the fryin pan if butchered at full moon?

"Mr Arp, I'm a widower and want you to find me a good woman for a mait. Do the moon efekt potatoes and makin lie soap, and when forlks git married should they marry in the newe moon or the old moon to live happy? Don't the Bibul say the moon is to be a sign to God and man, and if you know of a good woman down in Gorgy who hankers after a northern man tell her to write to me. Do the moon change from newe to old onst a month, or is it the same moon shaded by a planate? I would like a woman who has some good land and is not over 45 years old. Is thar a shore enuf man in the moon? I have got sum money and want a good-hearted, kind woman to love me, but I don't want a fraud. Your friend and admirer.

"P. S.—I want good land for boot to even up with my money."

Now, I will sell this man's name for a dollar to any hankerin woman and I'll give the dollar to Mr. Hemphill for the orphanage.—BILL ARP in Atlanta Constitution.

SPORTING BREVITIES.

Over 300 horses are wintering at the Lexington (Ky.) track.

The American Baseball Association has been granted rights under the national agreement.

Chainless bicycles with one-inch tubing have been reduced in weight to twenty-five pounds.

Efforts to hold an international boat race on the Chicago drainage canal are not meeting with success.

The students of Columbia College are hustling to raise $11,000 to pay off the indebtedness of the various athletic departments.

Foreign riflemen have been invited to shoot for Centennial Trophy in international tournament, at Sea Girt, N. J., in September.

It is a happy augury for the perpetuity of baseball that there will be no "war" between the National League, the parent baseball organization, and the American Association, the new aspirant for "diamond" honors.

One of New York's sporting clubs has purchased 1700 acres of land in western Massachusetts, to be kept under fence as a game preserve. A lake covering 100 acres will be stocked with fish, and private stables and cottages are to be erected.

The bicycle of 1901, as shown by the models of the leading manufacturers, is distinctively a comfortable bicycle. Cushion frames, coaster brakes, chainless gears, adjustable handlebars and a score of other improvements, all are in the direction of comfort.

The selection of Langdon Lea, captain of Princeton's '95 football eleven, as head coach is looked upon as a move in the right direction. Lea coached the '99 eleven, but because of a contract to instruct the University of Michigan players last fall he was unable to take the Tigers in charge.

Another epidemic of shirt waist men is threatened for next summer. Salesmen for furnishing houses now on the road say the demand for these garments is several times as great as last year.

Russian experiments in growing American seeds have proved successful. We naturally wonder what will happen when it comes to giving the products Russian names. Apples, peaches, corn and cotton are sadly unprovided with ks and ffs.

Early in the new century the long neglect of the fame of Robert Morris, the financier of the Revolution, should be atoned for, thinks the New York Herald. Andrew Carnegie says he is ready to help the good work. Morris in his day was relatively as big a man as our millionaire iron master, and he died poor. This ought to directly commend him to the library specialist.

Strangely enough, the experiment of sending Lapland reindeer to Alaska in the care of experienced Lapland herders seems to have been a failure, and to have cost the federal treasury a considerable sum without adequate return. Both the deer and the Laps develop a deplorable tendency to die off prematurely. One of the returning herd masters says that the climate of that part of Alaska to which the deer and their shepherds were sent was no more rigorous than that of Lapland, in which the animals and their keepers alike thrive, but for some mysterious reason Alaska food and Alaska conditions of the weather were deadly to most of the two footed and four footed exiles. It is a puzzle. Who can explain the causes of sickness and death among the herds and their keepers?

ANIMALS THAT WEEP.

Many Species of the Brute Creation Shed Tears When Frightened or Hurt.

"He cried like a calf," is a remark sometimes heard. It is no disgrace for a calf to cry and he sheds tears in quantities when his emotions justify them. It is even easier for him to cry than for many other animals, because his lachrymal apparatus is perfect and very productive.

A scientific writer writing in La Nature, says that the ruminants are the animals which weep most readily. Hunters have long known that a deer at bay cries profusely. The tears will roll down the nose of a bear when he feels that his last hour is approaching. The big, tender eyes of the giraffe fill with tears as he looks at the hunter who has wounded him.

Dogs weep very easily. The dog has tears both in his eyes and voice when his beloved master goes away and leaves him tied up at home. Some varieties of monkeys seem to be particularly addicted to crying, and not a few aquatic mammals also find it easy to weep when the occasion requires it. Seals in particular are often seen to cry.

Elephants weep profusely when wounded or when they see that escape from their enemies is impossible. The animals here mentioned are the chief ones that are known to weep, but there is no doubt that many others also display similar emotion.

Hawks and Owls.

Outbreaks of field mice have occurred in different parts of the British Isles for centuries, but they have always been checked by the appearance of hawks and owls, until in 1892 in the south of Scotland. Then their natural enemies having become somewhat reduced they appeared in vast herds over an area of eight to nine thousand acres. There have been somewhat similar experiences in the United States. In recent years the shooting, trapping and poisoning of carnivorous animals and rapacious birds in the West has been followed by a tremendous increase in numbers of the prairie hare or Jack rabbit.

Hawks and owls have been classed as the thieves and assassins among birds, yet many of them are now known to be useful in the highest degree to agriculture. A few species are inveterate enemies of poultry. In spite of that hawks and owls not only benefit the farmer by constituting a check on the too great increase of mice, rats, squirrels, hares, moles and other destructive rodents, but they also assist greatly in checking insect outbreaks, as they feed on such injurious insects as May beetles, the larger caterpillars, grasshoppers and locusts.—New England Farmer.

Hazing Half a Century Ago.

Hazing at colleges and Government schools seems to be attracting unusual interest just now, which makes interesting this account of hazing at Yale in 1845, taken from a freshman's letter written at that time and now published in the Harvard Graduates' Magazine:

"I had a letter from —— the other day—they are having great times at Yale plaguing the fresh, etc. That business is carried on to a great extent here. Many of the poor devils have been ducked under the windows a dozen times, etc., etc. The greatest sport is to break into their rooms at midnight (a whole party of sophs at a time), make the scart fellow get up, mount the table in his shirt sleeves, answer questions in geography, arithmetic, Latin grammar, etc. (the simplest possibly, so as to be suited to a freshman's comprehension), read a little Greek and then, what is the greatest trial, declaim. If he refuses to comply he receives a shower from his water pail until he submits. If he answers well he is highly complimented and flattered and politely bid goodnight."

A Golden Mosquito.

According to the Metal Worker a curious art discovered in France and recently introduced into this country by M. Paul Despotte, is the reproduction of insects, leaves and flowers, taking the objects themselves as the base of the reproduction.

To produce copper caterpillars, silver centipedes or nickel gnats the operator just dampens the luckless insect and dusts it over with a blowpipe. The object thus treated is placed in an electrolytic bath, and upon it the metal is precipitated by the current. The object is then transferred to a second bath and all the organic matter dissolved by an alkali. The metallic shell which remains is slightly heated, touched with lacquer and the thing is done.

The inventor carried with him quite a collection of these preparations. The most interesting of all was a mosquito in gold on a hairy geranium leaf in copper. Under a powerful magnifying glass the little organs which are invisible to the unaided eye are seen perfectly reproduced in metal.

Skunks as Domestic Pets.

August Isdell, of Lodi, has a skunk farm. He has 500 skunks on the farm and is having success in taming and selling them as household pets.

"It is claimed by lovers of pets," said Mr. Isdell, "that when the skunk is properly trained and domesticated it is one of the best natured of all house pets. I cannot say that I have experimented to my satisfaction in this direction. The favorite color seems to be black. I have a considerable demand for skunks of this color from the larger cities, where dealers in pets sell them to ladies for a neat sum."—New York Sun.

REV DR. TALMAGE

DISCOURSES BY THE EMINENT DIVINE LAST SUNDAY.

Subject: Gates Are Wide Open — No Man is Barred From Receiving God's Grace — Christ's Sheepfold Contains Flocks of All Denominations.

[Copyright 1901.]

NEW YORK CITY.—On the occasion of the twentieth anniversary of the Bowery mission, Dr. Talmage preached to a vast audience at the New York Academy of Music. Ministers of all denominations were present. The text was, John x, 16, "Other sheep I have which are not of this fold."

There is no monopoly in religion. The grace of God is not a little property that we may fence off and have all to ourselves. It is not a king's park, at which we look through a barred gateway, wishing that we might go in and see the statuary and the deer and the royal conservatory. No; it is a Father's orchard, and everywhere there are bars that we may let down and gates that we may swing open.

In my boyhood next to the country schoolhouse there was an orchard of apples owned by a very lame man who, although there were apples in the place perpetually decaying and by scores and scores of bushels, never would allow any of us to touch the fruit. Sometimes the lads of the school, in the sinfulness of a nature inherited from our first parents, who were ruined by the same temptation, invaded that orchard, but they soon retreated, for the man came after them at a speed reckless of making his lameness worse and cried out, "Boys, drop those apples or I will set the dog on you."

Well, my friends, there are Christian men who have the church under severe guard. There is fruit in this orchard for the whole world, but they have a rough and unsympathetic way of accosting outsiders, as though they had no business there, though the Lord wants all to come and take the choicest and the ripest fruit on the premises. Have you an idea that because you were baptized at eight months of age and because you have all your life been under hallowed influences you therefore have a right to one whole side of the Lord's table, spreading yourself out and taking up the entire room? I tell you no. You will have to haul in your elbows, for we will place on either side of you those whom you never expected would sit there; for, as Christ said to His people long ago, so He says to you and to me, "Other sheep I have which are not of this fold."

McDonald, the Scotchman, has thousands of head of sheep. Some of them are browsing on the heather, some of them are lying down under the trees, some are strolling over the mountains, some of them are in his yard. They are scattered all around in many places. Cameron, his neighbor, comes over and says: "I see you have thirty-six sheep. I have just counted them." "No," says McDonald, "I have a great many more sheep than you found in this yard. Some are here, and some are elsewhere. I have 4000 or 5000 in my flocks. 'Other sheep I have which are not of this fold.'" So Christ says to us. Here is a knot of Christians, but they make up a small part of the flock. Here is the Episcopal fold, the Methodist fold, the Lutheran fold, the Congregational fold, the Presbyterian fold, the Baptist and the Pedo-Baptist fold, the only difference between these last two being the way in which they wash the sheep, and so they are scattered all over. And we come with our statistics and say there are so many thousand of the Lord's sheep, but Christ responds: "No, no; you have not seen more than one out of a thousand of My flock. They are scattered all over the earth. 'Other sheep I have which are not of this fold.'"

Of all the merciful institutions which bless this city not one more thoroughly enters into the spirit of the text than does the Bowery mission, whose twentieth anniversary we to-day celebrate. During the past year 3000 souls have been saved through its instrumentality, and during its existence it has put its temporal and spiritual benediction upon hundreds of thousands of the poor and suffering and lost. With the bread of this life in one hand and the bread of eternal life in the other, it is doing a stupendous work, and to all its patrons Christ is saying: "I was hungry, and ye fed Me; naked, and ye clothed Me; sick and in prison, and ye visited Me. Inasmuch as ye did it unto Me, one of the least of these, ye did it to Me."

We need, as churches, to go into sympathy with the great outside world and let them know that none are so broken hearted or hard beset that they will not be welcomed. "No," says some fastidious Christian, "I do not like to be crowded in church. Do not put any one in my pew." My brother, what will you do in heaven, when a great multitude that no man can number assembles? They will put fifty in your pew. What are the people assembled in Christian churches compared with the mightier millions outside? Some churches are like a hospital, that should advertise that its patients must have nothing worse than toothache or runrounds, but no broken heads, no crushed ankles or fractured limbs. Bring there for treatment moderate sinners, velvet coated sinners and sinners with a gloss on.

It was as though at a great battle there were left 10,000 wounded and dying on the field, and three surgeons gave all their time to a half dozen patients in a barn hospital. The Major General comes in and says to the doctors: "Come out here and look at the 10,000 dying for lack of surgical attendance." "No," say the three doctors standing there fanning their patients, "we have a half dozen important cases here, and we are attending to them, and when we are not positively busy with their wounds it takes all our time to keep the flies off."

In this awful battle of sin and sorrow, where millions have fallen on millions, do not let us spend all our time in taking care of a few people, and when the command comes, "Go into the world," say practically, "No, I cannot go; I have a few choice cases, and I am busy keeping off the flies."

We need, as churches, to stop bombarding the old iron-clad sinners that have been proof against thirty years of Christian assault and take aim in other directions.

Years ago I visited a New England factory village. I went up to the door of a factory, and I saw on the outside the words, "No admittance." Of course I went in, and coming to the second door I saw the words, "No admittance." Getting clear on into the factory I saw they were making pins, useful pins, and nothing but pins. So I think there is sometimes an exclusiveness among some of the churches.

The outside world comes up and looks at the door and there is something which seems to say, "No admittance," and the world comes up to the pew door and sees written over it, "No admittance," and looks at the pulpit and there is something there which seems to say "No admittance," while we stand inside of the same churches hammering out our little niceties of religious belief, making pins.

Oh, for deeper appreciation of the sentiment of my text, "Other sheep I have which are not of this fold."

I have to remark that the heavenly Shepherd will find many sheep amid the non-churchgoers. There are congregations where there are all Christians, and they seem to be completely finished, and they remind one of the skeleton leaves which by chemical preparation have had all the greenness and verdure taken off them and are left neat and white and delicate, nothing wanting but a glass case to put over them. The minister of Christ has nothing to do with such Christians but to come once a week and with ostrich feather dust off the accumulation of the last six days, leaving them bright and crystalline as before. But the other kind of church is an army, with perpetual sound of drum and fife, gathering recruits for the Lord of Hosts and saying to every applicant: "Do you want to be on God's side, the safe side and the happy side? If so, come in the armory and get equipped. Here is a bath in which to be cleansed. Here are sandals to put on your feet. Here is a helmet for your brow. Here is a breastplate for your heart. Here is a sword for your right arm, and yonder is the battlefield. Quit yourselves like men."

I remark again the heavenly Shepherd is going to find a great many of His sheep among those who are now rejecters of Christianity. Some of the mightiest advocates of the gospel were once skeptics. Thomas Chalmers once a skeptic, Robert Hall a skeptic, Christmas Evans a skeptic, Charles G. Finney a skeptic, Paul, the apostle, once a skeptic. But when once with strong hand they laid hold of the gospel chariot they rolled it on with what momentum! I do not know how you came to reject Christianity. It may have been through the infidel talk of some young man in the store or shop or factory. It may have been through the trickery of some professed Christian man, who disgusted you with religion. It may be that thirty years ago you lost all faith by what happened in an oil company which was formed amid the petroleum excitement. The company owned no land, or, if they did, there was no sign of oil produced. But the president of the company was a Presbyterian elder and the treasurer an Episcopal vestryman and one director was a Methodist class leader and the other officers prominent members of Baptist and Congregational churches. Circulars were got out telling what fabulous prospects opened before this company. The circular had all the hues of earth and sea and sky. The letters flamed with all the beauty of gold and jasper and amethyst. Innocent men and women who had a little money to invest and that little their all said, "I do not know anything about this company, but so many good men are at the head of it that it must be excellent, and taking stock in it must be almost as good as joining the church." So they bought their stock, and perhaps received one dividend to keep them still. But after awhile they found that the company had reorganized and had a different president, a different treasurer and different directors. Other engagements or an overcoming modesty had caused the former officers of the company, with many regrets, to resign, and all the subscribers of that stock had to show for their investment was a beautifully ornamented certificate. Sometimes that man, looking over his old papers, comes across that certificate, and it is so suggestive that he vows he wants none of the religion that the president and directors of that oil company professed.

But I do not stop now to know how you came into rejection of Christianity. You frankly tell me that you do reject it. You do not believe that Christ is a divine being, although you admit that He was a very good man. You do not believe that the Bible was inspired of God, although you think there are some very fine things in it. You believe that the Scriptural description of Eden was only an allegory. There are fifty things that I believe that you do not believe, and yet you are an accommodating man. Everybody that knows you says that of you.

If I should ask you to do a kindness for me, or if any one else should ask of you a kindness, you would do it. If when you are ill I should come to you with a phial of medicine and say, "This kind of medicine has cured fifty people who were just as badly off as you are. Take it," and you replied, "I do not want to take it. I have no confidence in it," I would say, "Take it to oblige me," and you would say, "Well, if it will accommodate you I will take it."

Now, you have found that this world is insufficient, and you are sick of sin. I come to you with a gospel medicine. It has cured hundreds and thousands and millions. Will you take it? "No," you say. "I have no confidence in it." Take it, then, to oblige me. I tell you of a physician who has cured more blind eyes and bound up more broken hearts and healed more ghastly wounds than all the doctors since the time of Aesculapius. Be obliging, and just make the experiment.

If you are not acquainted with the ordinary modes of prayer, say in substance: "Oh, Lord Jesus, this is a strange thing for me to do. I know nothing about the formulas of religion. These Christian people have been talking so long about what Thou canst do for me, I am ready to do whatever Thou commandest me. If there be any power in religion, as these people say, let me have the advantage of it." Will you not try that experiment?

I do not now say there is anything in religion. Do not take my counsel or the counsel of any clergyman, for you may dislike clergymen. Perhaps we may talk professionally. Perhaps we may be prejudiced in the matter. Perhaps our advice is not worth taking. Then take the counsel of some very respectable layman, as John Milton, the poet; as William Wilberforce, the emancipator; as Isaac Newton, the astronomer; as Robert Boyle, the philosopher; as Locke, the metaphysician; as Morse, the telegrapher; as Washington, the statesman.

They never preached, or pretended to preach, yet, putting down the telescope and another his parliamentarian's scroll and another his electrician's wire, came forth and commended the religion of Christ as the best thing for the cure of the world's woes. If you will not take the recommendation of ministers of the gospel, take the recommendation of highly respectable laymen.

Oh, men, skeptical and struck through with unrest, I beg you to come off that great Sahara desert of doubt into the bright and luxuriant land of gospel hope and peace. You do not want your children to come up in that skepticism. If you do not believe in anything else, you believe in love—a father's love, a mother's love, a wife's love, a child's love.

Then let me tell you that God loves you more than all these together. The great heart of Christ aches to have you come in, and He looks into your eyes this moment, saying, "Other sheep I have which are not of this fold."

Again, I remark that the heavenly Shepherd is going to find a great many of the sheep among those who have been full of evil habit. They were all cheated into sin. The spider does not say to the fly, "Come into the web where I kill insects." Oh, no. The spider says, "Dearest fly, come and take a morning walk with me on this suspension bridge of gossamer, glittering with diamonds of dew." Do not be hard on those gone astray. It makes me sad to see Christian people give up a prodigal as lost.

People tell us that if a man has delirium tremens twice he cannot be reclaimed; that if a woman has sacrificed her integrity she cannot be restored. The Bible has distinctly intimated that the Lord Almighty is ready to pardon 490 times. Why do I say 490 times? Because the Bible says "Seventy times seven." Now figure that out. You do not think a man can fall four times, eight times, ten times, twenty times, 100 times, 400 times and yet be saved. Four hundred and ninety times! There are men before the throne of God who have wallowed in every kind of sin, but, saved by the grace of Christ and washed in His blood, they stand there radiant now. There are those who plunged into the very lowest depths of the slums and who have for hundreds of times been lifted up, and finally, by the grace of God, they stand in heaven, gloriously rescued by the grace promised to the chief of sinners.

THIS WORLD OF GERMS

UNSUSPECTED MICROSCOPIC CAVERNS IN WHICH THEY LURK.

The Time Will Come When Each Person Will Have His Individual Objects of Daily Use—Some Innocent Causes of the Dissemination of Disease.

Even so simple a matter as borrowing a lead pencil may lead to the dissemination of disease in a family, says the Indianapolis Journal. Among children especially "swapping" pencils is one method of showing good fellowship, and the child who swaps is sometimes the innocent cause of transmitting sore throat, skin disease, or diphtheria to his best friend. The use of public pencils is also, no doubt, responsible for the transmission of disease from one to another, the danger being far greater when a person moistens the lead in the mouth. Aside from being a filthy habit, this is a dangerous one in any case, for the lead is comparatively rough and has cavities which are to the germs as vast caves in which they lurk and from which they may be transferred to the mucuous membranes through which disease enters most readily into the system.

As for penholders, they are much more commonly used by many persons, and the danger of transmission of disease germs by them is therefore greater. At the hotel counter and the bank desk penholders are handled by thousands in the course of a few days, and of this number some may and do have skin diseases, at least, which may be contagious and are thus transferable to others. It would not be a great tax upon the larger establishments at least to have cheap penholders in such quantity that each person could have a new one, but the remedy is much simpler. Fountain pens are cheap enough, nowadays, to allow every business man and woman to own one, but if that is not possible a pocket penholder is certainly within the means of all. Blotting paper, too, on public desks, bears its own evidence of soiling many hands and from its absorbent nature it is especially congenial to germ elements.

As for public combs and brushes, the danger is too evident and disgusting to need advice against their use, and the same applies to public towels; a public convenience, perhaps, but a common source, even to-day, of the itch or worse diseases. To wipe the hands upon them is bad enough, but to wipe the face and eyes is courting serious trouble.

Common drinking cups may be a source of infection as well as of a cooling or exhilarating draught, as the case may be, and this applies just as much, if not more so, to communion cups, used, it is true, in a holy cause, but none the less likely to serve a most wicked purpose. In fact, any article touched by the lips or hands that passes from one person to another may convey contagious virus or infectious germs. Nor is it necessary to even touch such articles.

Library books are no doubt conveyers of disease, and, although librarians have been frequently urged by sanitariums to adopt some method of disinfecting books, few, if any, have seen fit to do so, although there is a cheap, harmless and efficacious method of so doing by formaldehyde.

Even articles that are, in a sense, private property are possible factors in disease causation. Postage stamps, for example, and other gummed articles, notably the flap of an envelope, are fertile fields for the growth of germs that may be blown or otherwise implanted upon the gummed surface, the danger being increased from the liability that the tongue may be cut by the paper edge in moistening them. The person who uses his tongue to moisten stamps and the like may be infected or inoculated as effectually as if the poison was injected.

The time will come when the individual will have his individual objects of daily use. Even in the household it is wise to have one's own towel, soap, sponge and the like for the toilet. Surely every one, nowadays, has his or her own toothbrush and comb and brush. At the table the fad of having individual cups and saucers and other ware is a sensible one, though not a necessary one in most cases, but if there is any person in the family affected with disease, especially consumption and the like, it is absolutely necessary that that person have his or her own dishes of such a distinctive pattern that they cannot be mistaken.

Kissing has been a much discussed question, and, while sentiment defends the practice, hygiene is in favor of abolishing it at least as a mark of public affection. Many an infant who has been given a kiss of affection has in reality been given the kiss of death, and in adult life serious disease, if not fatal ones, have been transmitted by the kiss of one supposed to be pure, yet saturated with disease. Doubtless the crusade against kissing has been carried to an absurdity, but promiscuous kissing, aside from its indelicacy, is dangerous.

The food that we eat may be a cause of infection. Avoid a filthy provision store as you would the plague! Meat that is mauled over a dirty block, handled with dirty hands and cut with a soiled and rusty knife may be harmless, but the percentage of danger in it is far greater than in that sold under more inviting circumstances. So with bread, cake, and the like; dirty surroundings mean germ danger.

The most costly leather in the world is known to the trade as pigeu leather. The secret of tanning this leather is known only to a family of tanners in Germany.

THE BANNER.

Published and Published Every Thursday at Clanton, Chilton County, Ala.

Entered at the postoffice at Clanton, Ala., as second-class mail matter.

"Where shall the press the people's rights maintain,
Unawed by influence and unbribed by gain,
Where truth shall free inquiry, shall her voice pursue,
Thrive in refulgence, liberty and law."

Subscription, yearly - - - $1.00
Invariably in Advance.

Address all communications to
THE BANNER,
Clanton, Ala.

OUR NEW CENTURY OFFER

The Banner finished the last century in excellent condition, but we wish to commence the new with a large number of new subscribers, and for that purpose have much pleasure in making the following offer:

The Banner one year (52 papers) for 75 cents.

The Banner one year and the N. Y. World Almanac and Encyclopedia for 1901, over 600 pages, $1.00

The Banner and Home & Farm, both papers one year for $1.00

The Banner and Birmingham Age Herald, both papers one year for $1.25

The Banner and Thrice-a-Week World—four papers every week for one year for $1.50

The Banner and Montgomery Advertiser, both papers one year for $1.50

The Banner and Atlanta Constitution and Home & Farm—all three for one year for $1.50

The Banner and Atlanta Constitution and your choice of a number of other periodicals—all three for 1 year for $1.50

The Banner and American Monthly Review of Reviews—both one year for $2.75

Senator W. R. Oliver introduced a bill to amend Sections 17 and 20 of act to incorporate Clanton. Referred to committee on Municipal and County Organizations. Mr. Oliver also introduced a bill to establish an Inferior Court in Clanton. Referred to Committee on Local Legislation.

THE GOVERNOR ON FINANCES.

Governor Samford's message very properly deals mainly with the financial condition of the State, the treasury being yet in the woods. The finances are the first concern of every chief executive, and Governor Samford has reason to be somewhat uneasy lest his administration may show an increasing rather than a declining deficit. There is, however, no danger of serious embarrassment or even of having to borrow money unless the General Assembly at its present session increases still further the extra appropriations. As the Journal has before stated, the treasury can move along very comfortably on a deficit of $300,000 or even more and promptly meet all demands as they come.

The declaration of Governor Samford that he will not sanction the use of special fund money to pay general demands, and to be replaced from taxes as they come in, is in the face of emmenorial custom and plain business practice. We are quite sure if there were need for money to pay interest and some hundreds of thousands of school or pension money were lying there in the same pile with the balance, Governor Samford would not go to the expense of borrowing money and paying interest rather than touch it. No other Governor ever did or ever will, and he would raise a storm if he did. Still, there is no reason why his recommendation of a law to remove any technical objection to this practice should not be promptly carried out. The recommendation is in the line of scrupulous respect for law and does the Governor great credit.

In his treatment of the deficit, the Governor very properly regards the convict money and the agricultural department balances as charges instead of assets. The legislature by a ten line act covering the bulk of this former balance into the general fund, reduce the deficit nearly a hundred thousand dollars.

The Governor makes one serious mistake in his table of extra appropriations for the current year. The extra $100,000 for the schools does not take effect until the next year, being included in the apportionment for the first time next October. But the cost of the constitutional convention and the refund of license taxes will bring out his $364,000, not far from the real figures, if the convict fund remains on the liability side.—Montgomery Journal.

[illegible]

For some years after my marriage I lived at Old Harbor, a small place about 20 miles from Kingston. One day when a visit to my Kingston dressmaker was a necessity I ordered a young negro boy to get upon the ruble and drive me to the town.

I paid my visit to the dressmaker, and, receiving my frock, a light summer thing, from her, I placed it in the box beneath the buggy seat and drove on to my sister's, where I went in to escape the heated part of the day, giving my boy sixpence and bidding him rest the nights and return at 4 o'clock.

He turned up punctually, with the grin still on his face, and in due time we reached Old Harbor once more.

When I went to take out my crispy muslin, I found, to my consternation, it was a wet, sloppy mass. No rain had fallen, and even then—

I rushed to the boy: "Bolbemon, what in the world does this mean? How"—But the look of utter helpless amazement on his face stopped me.

"Lor', mistus, it am quer, bun not so quer as what dous happen to me. Me bought a quarter (3½ d.) worth of dat pretty thing dey calls 'ice' to bring home an show ma sweet, an I put him in dar wid your dress to keep him safe, an now him gone for true, an how him get out I dunno wid you stiffin on him all de time!"—Harper's Magazine.

$10,000 For Twenty Words.

One day Andrew Carnegie at Pittsburg called up one of his New York lawyers by long distance telephone.

The steelmaker wanted to ask a question, but could not make himself understood clearly over the telephone, so he asked the lawyer to come to Pittsburg.

The lawyer said he had an important appointment in New York next day and could not get away.

"Come over now, then," Mr. Carnegie said.

"Can't get train," answered the lawyer.

"Hire a special," was the answer which came back from Pittsburg.

So the lawyer engaged a special train, went to Pittsburg and saw Mr. Carnegie.

The steelmaker asked the lawyer's advice as to whether the question troubling him called for "yes" or "no."

The lawyer answered, "No."

"Thank you," said Mr. Carnegie. "Good night."

The lawyer had said less than 20 words, for which he received $5,000, said "Good night, Mr. Carnegie," and took a special train back to New York in time to keep his appointment next day.—New York Herald.

The Old Time Doctor.

"When I was a young fellow," said the man who notices things, "the family physician attended to all the ills of the family, and the specialists of the profession were wholly unknown. The country doctor was a surgeon as well as a physician. He was almost always clever and usually had remedies of his own invention for common ailments. A large number of the successful patent medicines now before the public are prescriptions of the old time country physician. I could name a dozen such.

"Old Dr. Hill, who was the leader in the town I grew up in, was called into the country by an urgent message one night. He wasn't advised what the patient was suffering from, and upon arrival found it was an ulcerated tooth that was subjecting its owner to almost unbearable pain. Not a surgical instrument did the doctor have with him, and his office was seven miles away. Did he send back for his instruments? Not much! He extracted that tooth with an ordinary hammer and nail to the complete satisfaction of his patient and himself. I'll wager he made a mighty good job of it too."—New York Tribune.

She Couldn't Stand It.

"No," said the beautiful actress; "I cannot be your wife. I love you dearly, Mr. Frost, and if you had any other name I would be glad to go through life sharing your joys and sorrows."

"But," he protested, "my name should not stand in the way. What is it Shakespeare says? 'A rose by any other name would smell as sweet.' What is the matter with my name? Does history record a single dark or unworthy deed committed by a Frost? No. Ah, darling, say you will make me the happiest man on earth!"

"No, no! I cannot! I cannot!" she moaned. "Why, if I were to marry you every newspaper paragrapher in the country would have something to say next morning about 'the Frost Miss Darlington received at yesterday's performance.'"—Chicago Times-Herald.

Bark.

Now a large, dark vessel was descried in the Bosporus, belching fire and waking the echoes of those historic shores with the thunder of her guns.

"Whas bark do that?" asked the sultan.

"That, I take it, is the bark of the dogs of war," said the grand vizier wittily.

This sally was followed by a strict party laugh, the opposition grouning.—Detroit Journal.

Why Aim With One Eye?

Jiggins—I say, old boy, this is my first day at shootin. You might tell me in confidence what people shut one eye for when they're sightin anything.

Hoskins—Oh, that's perfectly simple, my dear fellow. You see, if they were to shut both eyes they wouldn't be able to see anything.—Pick Me Up.

In Tartary onions, leeks and garlic are regarded as perfumes. A Tartar lady will make herself agreeable by rubbing a piece of freshly cut onion on her hands and over her countenance.

More than 1,000 kinds of rubber shoes are made in the United States.

New Salem.

People around here are busy getting ready for farming.

The pound supper given by Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Maddox was greatly enjoyed by the young people.

Miss Naomi Williams, of this place, has been visiting Clanton.

Miss Callie Bussey has returned home after spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. Aldridge, of Lomax.

Mrs. J. N. Hicks has returned home after a pleasant visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Price.

A Bio Ikz.

The Mother's Favorite.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the mother's favorite. It is pleasant and safe for children to take and always cures. It is intended especially for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough, and is the best medicine made for these diseases. There is not the least danger in giving it to children for it contains no opium or other injurious drug and may be given as confidently to a babe as to an adult. For sale by Clanton Drug Co. and D. I. Deramus, Verbena.

Progress In Medicine

Medical science grows apace with civilization and among the leading remedies, one that combines all the results of scientific study up to the present time and is put up in convenient and economical form, easy to take, easy to carry, is the famous Cascarets. Five years ago marked the time of the sale of the first box. Last year the sale reached the enormous total of over six million boxes. In this hustling, every day, busy life of ours people need just this kind of a medicine to stimulate their bowels and keep them regular. Cascarets act on the liver just enough to help nature without causing that awful sick, weakening feeling that usually follows the taking of Calomel and violent purges. We hope our readers who have never tested the merits of Cascarets will give them a good trial. We like them because we believe in them and because we know they are good.

Very True Indeed.

News-papers in every community give their space and time and tireless energy to the aid of material development and the general moral welfare without any hope or wish for compensation apart from that which increased population may give. The average newspaper gives $10 to charity to every 10 cents given by the most charitable citizen, and a thousand dollars in advertising its town to every dime given by citizens in various occupations, and yet even the swindlers who will not pay the trifling sums of their newspaper subscriptions hold themselves free to decry the journals that served them.—Age Herald.

Pity and Beauty

The most beautiful thing in the world is the baby, all dimples and joy. The most pitiful thing is that same baby, thin and in pain. And the mother does not know that a little fat makes all the difference.

Dimples and joy have gone, and left hollows and fear; the fat, that was comfort and color and curve—all but pity and love—is gone.

The little one gets no fat from her food. There is something wrong; it is either her food or food-mill. She has had no fat for weeks; is living on what she had stored in that plump little body of hers; and that is gone. She is starving for fat; it is death, be quick!

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil is the fat she can take; it will save her.

The genuine has this picture on it, take no other.
If you have not tried it, send for free sample. Its agreeable taste will surprise you.
SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, 409 Pearl St., N. Y.
50c. and $1.00 all druggists.

ATLANTA CONSTITUTION

The Atlanta Constitution wants good agents everywhere. Men who will get out and canvass and hustle for new business. Many who have to go over their own and adjoining counties on business can make the Constitution wang as the best side line. Country doctors, tax collectors, rural route mail carriers, nursery men, lawyers and good workmen, could all realize among these prizes and make their commission besides. A fair salary proposition for any man.

The Weekly Constitution makes special feature of its agricultural page, which is presided over by Colonel R. J. Redding, director of the Georgia experiment farm, and a man who is recognized as an expert on all agricultural topics. He gives a full page every week on agricultural matters. A page is devoted to the women and a page to children, these two departments being presided over by Mrs. William King.

The Constitution has just completed the 31st year of its existence, Clark Howell being the editor and Colonel W. A. Hemphill its business manager. Its name is a household word in every Southern State, from Virginia to Texas. It has always been in especially close touch with the agricultural masses of the South, and having reached a circulation which carries it into 130,000 homes it has won a unique distinction which ranks it among the greatest of American weekly newspapers.

The Constitution will send a sample copy of its great Weekly free to any one sending his own name and the name of six neighbors, on a postal card.

Every man should take his county newspaper before anything else, and next to this he should take a good general newspaper, such as The Constitution. His county paper gives him the local home news, which is not supplied by a newspaper furnishing the general news from all parts of the country and from all over the world. Before a man seeks information from the outside, he should first feel sure that he is being kept posted on what is going on at home. When, however, the opportunity is offered to get the best weekly newspaper in this country with your home paper, the inducement is such as to elicit prompt response from our readers.

We will be glad to receive clubbing subscription with this paper and The Constitution, and if there are any who are now subscribers to this paper, who wish to take the Constitution also, we will be glad to receive subscriptions to the latter and forward them, having authority from that paper that to do so. The Constitution should be in every southern home!

Best Out of an Increase of His Pension.

A Mexican war veteran and prominent editor writes: "Seeing the advertisement of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, I am reminded that as a soldier in Mexico in '47 and '48, I contracted Mexican diarrhoea and this remedy has kept me from getting an increase in my pension for on every renewal a dose of it restored me." It is unequalled as a quick cure for diarrhoea and is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by Clanton, Drug Co. and D. I. Deramus, Verbena.

Union Grove.

People in this community are making preparations for another crop.

Mr. J. W. Sorrell's new ginning house will soon be finished.

The new church seems to be on standstill.

Miss Lina Williams has returned home after a visit to her sister, Mrs. Evans.

A School Girl.

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 31711.
Department of the Interior,
Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
January 18th, 1901.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Clerk of the Circuit Court, at Clanton, Ala., on March 6th, 1901, viz: John W. Oaks, Homestead entry, No. 30673, for the N½ of Section 32, Township 22 north of Range 16 east.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz.: J. W. Jones, W. C. B. Wyatt, T. J. Wyatt, W. L. Bates, all of Clanton, Ala.

Robert Barker, Register.

It Girdles the Globe.

The fame of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, as the best in the world, extends round the earth. It's the one perfect healer of Cuts, Corns, Burns, Bruises, Sores, Scalds, Boils, Ulcers, Felons, Aches, Pains and all Skin Eruptions. Cure infallible Pile cure. 25c a box at Clanton drug store.

Gone Democratic.

Cold weather will soon be here and you will need wraps, we have them to suit all.

A good wrap for 50c; a better one for 75c; a nice shoulder silk lined and fur around the neck, black plush only $1.50; a plush cape, one that will cost you $7.50 to $10.00 in a site, our only $5; we have them to suit all, come and see for yourself.

CLOTHING, well, we can fit your boys, husbands, fathers, grand-fathers and all boy's suits from 75c up; men's suits from $1 up.

A nice line of DRESS GOODS from 20 to 75c per yard; outing in pink, blue, cream and other colors 10c per yard; checks 5c, outing, EE, 5c; calicoes, 5c, a nice quilt top for 50cents.

Children's shoes 25c up; men's shoes from $1 to $3.50; Ladies shoes from 75c to $3.00

Fascinators from 25 to 75c, any color; infant hoods, 25c; men's hats from 75c up $3.50, water proof in black, blue, brown, 36 inches wide, double width, only 50c per yard, 1 pound of good yarn for 5 cents, and everything kept in a first-class store at the same time we carry nothing but reliable goods, and anything that is not as we will make it alright. Thanking our hosts of customers for their liberal patronage, we stand ready to serve you with best class goods at a small profit. Yours for business,

SARTOR & KICKER,
CLANTON

THE WHITE HOUSE

at Washington, the home of the President, is one of the finest buildings in the land, and the white store house at Clanton contains the finest stock of

GENERAL MERCHANDISE

to be found in this part of the country. We carry a full line of Groceries, Clothing, Shoes, etc., and will treat you well.

J. B. DOWNS, Clanton

C. R. MULLINS

AGENT FOR THE LIVERPOOL & LONDON & GLOBE FIRE INSURANCE OF ENGLAND, THE LONDON & LANCASHIRE FIRE INSURANCE CO. OF NEW YORK, formerly represented by W. L. Sampey.
THE ÆTNA ACCIDENT INSURANCE CO. OF HARTFORD, CONN.
THE OLD MUTUAL BENEFIT LIFE INSURANCE CO. OF NEWARK, N. J.
AND THE SINGER MANUFACTURING CO., the largest Sewing Machine Company in the world.

We know you are interested in the problem of getting full value for the money you spend no matter what the outlay is for. I will not presume to advise you along all lines, but when it comes to buying a Sewing Machine for yourself and family I am in a position to offer some valuable suggestions. For over fifty years the Company I represent has done nothing but study the needs and requirements of the people in the matter of Sewing Machines, and our large business is proof that we are making and furnishing what they want. The styles are always the very latest, unsurpassed in lasting qualities and, best of all, the prices are reasonable, and the terms within the reach of all. We are placing our machines in the leading families all over the land and if you want the best looking, the lightest running and the most up-to-date attachments ever bought, call for the High Arm Singer. You will find a complete stock of these machines at the Singer Office, Clanton.

Machines from $5.00 to $65.00 for cash or on time. Needles, Oils, Shuttles and Attachments, and the best and only genuine Machine Oil manufactured, every bottle bearing the Singer trade mark. 10, 15 and 20 cent bottles.

My regular office days are Saturdays and Mondays. For further particulars call on or address

C. R. MULLINS,
SINGER OFFICE CLANTON

A WHOLESALE HOUSE FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE CONSUMER

We save you the Retailer's profit. We sell direct to the People at the same price that your Retailer pays for his goods. We buy direct from the Manufacturer and pay cash for our goods. You can buy one bottle from us at the same price your Retailer pays per dozen. $1 preparations, 50 to 75c. 50c preparations, 25 to 40c. 25c preparations, 10 to 20c. 10c preparations, 7 to 10c. 100 preparations, 6 to 8c.

OUR WHISKEY DEPARTMENT

Is the best in the State. All whiskey sold 25 per cent less than you can buy from any other firm. Try a quart of our J. MARTIN'S 5 YEAR OLD VIRGINIA RYE at 75c. If you are not satisfied that it is equal to any brand you buy elsewhere for $1, we will refund your money. Send us your orders. We are your friends and guarantee everything we sell.

COLLIER DRUG CO. 1926 First Avenue BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

NEW AND BIGGER STOCK!

To meet the increasing demands of our business we are now laying in a NEW and full line of

CLOTHING, HATS, SHOES, ETC.

all in the Latest styles and Newest Fashions. Our GROCERIES and GENERAL MERCHANDISE are of the finest grade and always fresh.

OUR PRICES ARE BASED ON THE SMALLEST MARGIN OF PROFIT.

WE SHALL BE PLEASED TO SERVE YOU

KEMP & GILES, Clanton, Ala.

$10,000 TO BE GIVEN AWAY

WOULD YOU LIKE TO TRY FOR IT

If so, write THE WEEKLY ADVERTISER, Montgomery, to me, and they will send you the list of prizes, and the conditions upon which you may get one of their great prizes to be given during next May.

TOWN TERMS

[illegible] court stands adjourned [illegible] Monday in [illegible] and Monday in April and first Monday in November.

CLANTON COTTON MART

Price to-day 9¼ cents.

[illegible] same date last year 7¾ cents

[illegible] RECEIPTS TO DATE: 1900 1899

[illegible] & Co.	2233	2778
[illegible]	1540	1907
[illegible]	860	321
[illegible]	350	290
Total	4783	5296

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Morgan gave the young people a candy pulling Friday night which was much enjoyed by all who attended.

Mr. Tipton Mullins went to Montgomery Monday.

Mr. J. E. Evans has removed to his new storehouse.

Mrs. J. W. Stanfield and Mrs. Gillespie, of Montgomery, spent Sunday with relatives here.

Mr. W. L. Mullins attended the editor's meeting of the Central Bank Monday and Tuesday.

Mr. G. F. Martin, of Stanton, was in town Saturday.

Mr. John Marcus, while running the train to mail a letter Friday night, ran over a hand car and broke his leg.

Mr. Jesse Woodyard, of Talladega, visited his parents this week.

Mrs. W. A. Middleton has returned from a visit to her son, Dr. F. Middleton, at Mt. Carmel.

Cut this out and take it to Clanton drug store and D. I. Deramus, Verbena, and get a free sample of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, the best physic. They also cure disorders of the stomach, biliousness and headache.

Mr. J. G. Shand, of South Calera, was a pleasant visitor here Wednesday.

Mr. J. T. Rockett, of Coopers, was in town Tuesday.

Mr. T. J. Lenoir, of Lily, was a visitor here last Friday.

Mr. J. T. Chambers of Pletcher, was in the city Friday.

Mr. G. S. Eiland, of Coopers, was among our visitors Tuesday.

Mr. L. E. Pounds stopped over Monday night on his way to Montgomery.

YOU KNOW WHAT YOU ARE TAKING when you take Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic because the formula is plainly printed on every bottle, showing that it is simply iron and quinine in a tasteless form. No Cure, No Pay. 50c.

Marriage licenses have been issued this week by the Probate Judge to the following persons.

Mr. E. I. Vinson and Miss Jane Weaver; Mr. Milford Watson and Miss Maggie Langston; Mr. John Hayes and Miss Summer Henry; Mr. J. L. Burnett and Miss Lucie Smitherman; Mr. W. J. Carr and Miss Dosia Headley. Colored. Abraham Lowe and Elizabeth Dixeson.

Down to Atoms

The old idea that the body some times needs a powerful, drastic, purgative pill has been exploded. Dr. King's New Life Pills, which are perfectly harmless, gently stimulate liver and bowels to expel poisonous matter, cleanse the system and absolutely cure Constipation and Sick Headache. On sale at Clanton drug store.

Shakespearean Authority.

"This expression of yours, Miss Dimple," said the teacher of the class in elocution, who had been exercising her on Hamlet, "is exceedingly feeling. You actually make the very air sick." "How can I think of the atmosphere being sick?"

"It comes to me," replied Miss Dimple, "I have read somewhere of an ill wind."—Chicago Tribune.

Ancient Cast Steel.

The manufacture of cast steel in India can be traced back for over 2,000 years, while there are also examples of wrought iron work nearly as old. Near Delhi, close to the Kutub, there is a pillar of wrought iron—pillar which is ten tons and is thought to be over 1,600 years old.—Chicago Chronicle.

Judge Adams went to Montgomery this morning.

Dr. W. E. Prescott, of Billingsley, was in town this week.

The O. K. Lunch Counter
MEALS AND LUNCHES SERVED AT ALL HOURS AT POPULAR PRICES
Stewed Oysters during the Season
We pay highest market price for Chickens and Eggs.
LUNCHES PUT UP FOR TRAVELERS
THE O.K. LUNCH COUNTER
NEXT TO THE RAILROAD, CLANTON

tic.

l soon be here and you
e them to suit

better one for 75c; a nice shoulder e neck, black plush only $1.50; a you $7.50 to $10.00 in a city, our t all, come and see for yourself can fit your boys, husbands, fat uits from 75c up; men's suits from $ GOODS from 20 to 75c per yard; ou er colors 10c per yard; checks 5c; ice quilt top for 50cents
men's shoes from $1 to $3 50; La

75c, any color, infant hoods, 25c
o, water proof in black, blue, brown, e 50c per yard, 1 pound of good ot in a first-class store at the same goods and anything that is not al anking our host of customers for eady to serve you with best-class g s for business.

R & KICKER,
CLANTO

HITE HOUSE

he President, is one of the finest te store house at Clanton
MERCHANDISE
the country. We carry a fine c., and will treat you well.
. DOWNS, Clanton

MULLINS
L & LONDON & GLOBE FIRE INS
E LONDON & LANCASHIRE FIRE
W YORK, formerly represented by
L. Sanger.
URANCE CO. OF HARTFORD, CONN
LIFE INSURANCE CO. OF NEWARK,
EAT LIGHT CO. the largest Sewing
ompany in the world

ted in the problem of getting full va matter what the outlay is for. I will all lines, but when it comes to buying and family I am in a position to
For over fifty years the Company eds and requirements of the people es, and our large business is proof t what they want. The styles are asting qualities and best of all, terms within the reach of all. We leading furniture all over the land and lightest running and the finest set for the High Arm Singer. You machines at the Singer Office, Clanto bye for cash or on time. Need achments, and the best and only g ured, every bottle bearing the Sin nt bottles.
Saturdays and Mondays. For furth
MULLINS,
SINGER OFFICE CLANTON.

USE FOR THE BENEFIT
CONSUMER
ailer's profit. We sell direct to the hat your Retailer pays for his goods.
Manufacturer and pay cash for one bottle from us at the same price you $1 preparations, 50 to 75c. 50c pre preparations, 10 to 20c. 15c prepa
parations, 6 to 8c.
KEY DEPARTMENT
All whiskey sold 25 per cent less than or hrm. Try a quart of our J. M
RYE at 75c. If you are not satisfie d you buy elsewhere for $1, we w t us your orders. We are your friend we sell.
G CO. 1928 First Avenue
BIRMINGHAM, A

GGER STOCK!
To meet the increasing demands of ness we are now laying in a NEW line of LOTHING, HATS
SHOES, ETC.
the Latest styles and Newest Fash
GROCERIES and GENERAL
HANDISE are of the finest gra
and always fresh.
ED ON THE SMALLEST MA
OF PROFIT.
EASED TO SERVE YO
GILES, Clanton, Al

BE GIVEN AWA
LIKE TO TRY FOR IT
LY ADVERTISER, Montgomery, ow the list of prizes, and the co of their great prizes to be give

TOWN TERMS

Commissioners' Court meets second Monday in February, first Monday in April, first Monday in June, second Monday in July, second Monday in August and first Monday in November.

CLANTON COTTON MART

Price to-day 9¼ cents.

" same date last year 7¼ cents

Bales received to date:	1900	1899
Pinckard & Co.	2283	2778
Mullins	1540	1902
Wilson	360	321
Downs	350	280
Total	4783	5281

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Morgan gave the young people a candy pulling Friday night which was very much enjoyed by all who attended.

Mr. Clifton Mullins went to Selma Monday.

Mr. J. E. Evans has removed to his new storehouse.

Mrs. J. W. Stanfield and Mrs. Gillespie, of Montgomery, spent Sunday with relatives here.

Mr. W. L. Mullins attended the Editor's meeting of the Josiah Morris Bank Monday and Tuesday.

Mr. G. F. Martin, of Stanton, was in town Saturday.

Mr. John Marcus, while running the train to mail a letter Friday night, ran over a hand car and broke his leg.

Mr. Jesse Woodyard, of Talladega, visited his parents this week.

Mrs. W. A. Middleton has returned from a visit to her son, Dr. J. F. Middleton, at Mt. Carmel.

Cut this out and take it to Clanton drug store and D. I. Deramus, Orbons, and get a free sample of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, the best physic. They also cure disorders of the stomach, biliousness and headache.

Mr. J. G. Shand, of South Calera, was a pleasant visitor here Wednesday.

Mr. J. T. Rockett, of Coopers, was in town Tuesday.

Mr. T. J. Lenoir, of Lily, was a visitor here last Friday.

Mr. J. T. Chambers of Pletcher, was in the city Friday.

Mr. G. S. Elland, of Coopers, was among our visitors Tuesday.

Hon. L. L. Pounds stopped over here Monday night on his way to Montgomery.

YOU KNOW WHAT YOU ARE TAKING when you take Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic because the formula is plainly printed on every bottle showing that it is simply iron and quinine in a tasteless form. No cure, No Pay. 50c.

Marriage licenses have been issued this week by the Probate Judge to the following persons.

Mr. E. L. Vinson and Miss Jane Driver; Mr. Milford Watson and Miss Maggie Langston; Mr. John L. Hayes and Miss Summer Henry; Mr. J. L. Burnett and Miss Lizzie Smitherman; Mr. W. J. Barr and Miss Dosia Headley.

Colored—Abraham Lowe and Elizabeth Dixson.

Blown to Atoms

The old idea that the body some times needs a powerful, drastic, purgative pill has been exploded; for Dr King's New Life Pills, which are perfectly harmless gentlystimulate liver and bowels to expel poisonous matter, cleanse the system and absolutely cure Constipation and Sick Headache. Only 25c at Clanton drug store.

Shakespearean Authority.

"This expression of yours, Miss Dotlish," said the teacher of the class in rhetoric, who had been exercising her pupils, "is exceedingly faulty. You say it made the very air sick.' How can you think of the atmosphere being sick?"

"It seems to me," replied Miss Dotlish, "I have read somewhere of an ill wind."—Chicago Tribune.

Ancient Cast Steel.

The manufacture of cast steel in India can be traced back for over 2,000 years, while there are also examples of wrought iron work nearly as old. Near Delhi, close to the Kutub, there is an enormous wrought iron pillar which weighs ten tons and is thought to be over 1,800 years old.—Chicago Chronicle.

Judge Adams went to Montgomery this morning.

Dr. W. E. Prescott, of Billingsley, was in town this week.

The O. K. Lunch Counter
MEALS AND LUNCHES SERVED AT ALL HOURS AT POPULAR PRICES
Fish and Oysters during the Season
I pay highest market price for Chickens and Eggs.
LUNCHES PUT UP FOR TRAVELERS
THE O. K. LUNCH COUNTER
NEXT THE RAILROAD, CLANTON.

FALL GOODS

Now on sale and daily arriving a large and varied stock of goods. Prices as low as can be made on reliable merchandise and we spare no efforts to please you. Give us a call and let us figure with you on anything you want to buy. Coffins kept in stock and also trimmings for home made coffins.

E. M. PINCKARD & CO

Why try to stick things with something that doesn't stick? Buy MAJOR'S CEMENT; you know it sticks. Nothing breaks away from it. Stick to MAJOR'S CEMENT. Buy once, you will buy forever. There is nothing as good; don't believe the substitutes.

MAJOR'S RUBBER and MAJOR'S LEATHER. Two separate cements—the best. Insist on having them. EXTRA QUICK DRYING. 15 and 25 cents per bottle at all druggists.

MAJOR CEMENT CO., NEW YORK CITY.

Small Scope of the Exposition.

Nearly all of the nations of Central and South America have already sent formal acceptances to the invitation to participate in the Pan-American Exposition. Exhibits showing the resources of all the principal countries of Central and South America are now in course of preparation. Government officials are preparing exhibits from the Philippine Islands, Porto Rico, Cuba and the Hawaiian group. About 25 acres have been set apart for the court of the state and foreign buildings on the eastern side of the grounds and a little south of the main group.

Baptist Humor.

Here is a story from the Baptist conference at Leicester. It is about a minister. He found himself at chapel one morning without his sermon. "My dear brethren," he exclaimed, "I can only give you now what God will send me, but tonight I will come back better prepared."—Pall Mall Gazette.

THE NEW ENGLAND WATCH, nickle case, stem wind and stem set warranted for 12 months. Delivered anywhere with a silk cord of plate chain for $2.75. Try one if you want a good time piece cheap.

The New England Watch is still giving good satisfaction. It is the poor man's time piece.

L. D. POPWELL, Clanton.

Everybody Says So.

Concretts Candy Cathartic, the most wonderful medical discovery of the age, pleasant and refreshing to the taste, act gently and positively on kidneys, liver and bowels cleansing the entire system, dispel colds, cure headache, fever, habitual constipation and biliousness. Please try and try a box of C. C. C. to-day; 10, 25, 50 cents. Sold and guaranteed to cure by all druggists.

NEW ROYAL.
High-arm Light running. Warranted 10 years. $26 and $30.
FIVE DRAWER $32.

The New Royal is not a cheap machine, but a high-class machine made out of good material, all parts adjustable and ball-bearing; has a good set of steel attachments and all of them work well.

I will exchange the New Royal for old machines and allow the full value of the old machine. Come and see me. I can sell you a machine as cheap as you can buy in Clanton.

Some secondhand machines from $5 up. Send me 25 cents in silver or stamps and an old needle for sample and I will send you 1 doz. needles to fit your machine.

REPAIR WORK GUARANTEED.

L. D. POPWELL,
CLANTON.

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &c.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents.

Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

NEURALGIA cured by Dr. Miles' Pain Pills. "One cent a dose." At all druggists.

"KRUMP'S KORNER."

The owner of this Korner has again returned to it, after wandering many days in foreign lands older, uglier and we trust a little wiser in some respects. He rejoices at his return, and would be glad to see all of the good and bad people of Chilton county. I only ask don't all of you come same day, as I have not got enough to go round for dinner. I have enough yarns however to make up shortness in grubb. Come to see me anyhow and we will talk it over, and no charge for the yarns. Please remember I keep all things the farmer needs, and I will sell him

A sewing machine, a wagon, or a buggy,
A suit, a hat, a pair shoes or a knife,
Or he can call himself very lucky,
If he will just bring his wife.

Yours for health,

T. U. CRUMPTON

MAPLESVILLE, ALA.

Wamben & Paterson
CONTRACTORS AND BUILDERS
HOUSE MOVING A SPECIALTY
—DEALER IN—
ALL BUILDING MATERIALS—SASH, DOORS, BLINDS, MANTELS, ETC.
OFFICE ON JONES ST OPPOSITE RICE'S
THORSBY.

HELP WANTED

to reduce my big stock of goods.

I have just returned from the Northern markets, where I purchased some Extraordinary Bargains

and am now offering the good People of Chilton such values as they have never known before.

READ THESE PRICES:

Dry Goods

Calicoes	from 4 cts up
Sheeting	from 5 cts up
Percale, one yard wide	7c
Black Sateen	8½c
Bleaching	from 5 cts up
Cotton Checks	5c
Ducking	per yard 9c
Gingham, best	per yard 5c

Clothing

The biggest line for the least money ever known.

Hats

Men's first-class Hats, $1 50 hat for	$1.00
Men's .75 ct hat for	50
Men's .50 ct hat for	35
Men's .35 ct hat for	15
Caps	10

Shoes

Ladies' Shoes, Spring heel, Tan	$1.00
Ladies' Oil grain	$1.00
Ladies' Fine Shoes, in $2.00 shoe	$1.35

Men's Shoes ... $2.00 shoe for ... $1.45

Trunks, Valises, &c.

Gent's Furnishings

Shirts, White Linen bosom	each 25c
Linen Collars, any shape	each 5c
Celluloid Collars	each 5c
Hosiery	from 5 cts up
Suspenders	from 5 cts up
Handkerchiefs	3 for 5 cts and up
Neckwear, 250 styles, a 50 c Tie for	25c
Umbrellas, $1 value for	65c

Notions

Best Assorted Ribbons at half price

Lace, 5 c value	2c
Corsets, 50 c value	35
Corsets, 35 c value	22
Ladies' Belts	from 5 cts up
Suspenders, a 50 c pair	20
Towels	from 10 cts up
Pearl Buttons	1 dozen for 5c
Garterwear	per yard 5c

GROCERIES

Come and select what you want from this mammoth stock.

First Come, First Served!

YOURS TO PLEASE,

W. KANTER, Clanton

—CALL AT THE—

CASH STORE

FOR BARGAINS,

THORSBY, ALA.

OUR CASH PRICES SUBJECT TO CHANGE WITHOUT NOTICE.

15 lbs. Granulated Sugar	$1.00	2 bushel sack Meal	1.20
1 bbl Red Seal Patent Flour	4.50	1 gal water white kerosene oil	15
½ bbl " " "	2 25	1 lb Ham	15
24 lb sack " " "	60	Whole Ham, per pound	13
1 bbl Straight Family Flour	3.50	Bacon and Bulk	10
14 lb sk Family Flour	50	1 lb Lard	10
100 lbs Bran	1.10	50 lbs Lard	4.50

We are handling Minneapolis Flour. Soda Crackers and Sweet Crackers, Ginger Snaps, Cheese, Lemons, Irish Potatoes always in stock. Also best Dried Fruits in the market. Also handle Roller Champion and I. E. M. Flour.

Dry Goods, Clothing, Hardware and the very best Staple and Fancy Groceries.

Fresh Fish and Oysters every Saturday.

We take Eggs, Butter, Corn, Meal, Fruit and Chickens, at the highest market price in exchange for goods.

Yours to please,

A. M. JOHNSON, Manager

Everyone to His Taste.

And I am pleased to say that your taste and Everyone's taste can be suited at my Store, where you will find the

choicest Line of Fancy Groceries
AND CANNED GOODS

Always Fresh and New. I have no old Stock.

Dry Goods, Hats, Shoes, Gents Furnishing Goods, Fancy line of Shirts and Underwear, Notions, Hardware and General Merchandise.

Yours to serve faithfully and well,

B. E. JONES CLANTON

MANY BAD INDIANS SEEKING TROUBLE

Troops Are Sent to Quell "Fractious" Creeks.

WAR DANCES ARE INDULGED IN

Bucks Clothed In War Paint Refuse to Hold Pow Wow With Officers of the Law.

A special of Sunday from Muskogee, Indian Territory, says:

"United States Marshal Bennett, with six deputies, and Constable Hubbard, United States Commissioner Hanson and T. W. Gulick left here today for Henrietta, sixty miles distant, where they will join the troops sent to quell the Creeks. They will go overland, and took a campaign outfit, commissary, twenty winchesters and plenty of ammunition. Just before the start was made a telegraph message was received from Checotah saying that the following notice had been posted there after the Snake council adjourned at Hickorytown Saturday.

"Notice: Read, to all:

"Presents:

"White citizens and friendly Creeks should be dealt with according to the old Creek laws, and not according to the Creeks and Chief Porter.

"LATAH MEKKO.

"Attest: Edward Rajo, Second Chief."

The Dawes commission ordered a discontinuance of the surveying in the disturbed district. Mose Lyon, in charge of a party that arrived in Muskogee Sunday, says that a number of light horsemen are still riding over the country. They are heavily armed, but are not doing any damage, confining their efforts to protecting the members of the Snake band going to and from the meetings at Hickory Ground.

It is believed that the worst is over, but Marshal Bennett has his best deputies with him and if he encounters trouble will put up a strong fight. It is his purpose to join the soldiers at Henrietta and work with them in making arrests of the leaders of the uprising.

Major G. W. Lille, "Pawnee Bill," with a posse including Captain Edmund Harry of the Creek Light Horsemen; United States Marshals Dean, Hogan and Churchwell and Indian Police Keys, Howell and Saunder, visited the hostile Creek stamping ground, six miles south of Bristow, at noon Sunday. The Indians were there holding a big feast, and refused to confer with the posse.

Many of the full bloods who have been in the habit of wearing white man's apparel were dressed in full Indian regalia. They were most bitter in their denunciation of the marshals who arrested Tom Tiger, captain of the insurgent light horse, who left at dark in charge of United States Marshals Dean, Hogan and posse for Muskogee, as it is feared an attempt will be made to release him.

Deputy Marshal Grant Johnson and Bunnie McIntosh, of Eufaula, two men noted for their bravery and daring in hazardous expeditions against outlaws, made a dash upon the encampment of Snake Indians, near Eufaula, and captured Chitto Harjo, Crazy Snake. After an exciting escape from the hostile Creek camp they managed to land their prisoner at Henrietta Sunday evening, and he is now held captive under a strong guard of soldiers under the command of Lieutenant Dixon.

The capture of the central figure of the uprising, and the show of force which the troops will make, will likely put an end to the threatened outbreak.

Lieutenant Dixon and his troops will move upon the encampment of Snakes near Eufaula. It is not likely that a forced march will be made. Deprived of their leader, it is not thought probable that they will make any resistance, but will lay down their arms and yield to the inevitable.

Cruising in the Gulf.

The flagship Kearsage, the battleship Massachusetts and the tug Potomac, of the north Atlantic squadron, sailed from Pensacola, Fla., Saturday for a cruse in the gulf.

DRAIN ON TREASURY.

Denmark Seems Anxious to Sell Islands to Uncle Sam.

During the debate on the budget in the Folkething (lower house of parliament) at Copenhagen Thursday, the chairman, Mr. Hage, of the finance committee, announced that a majority of the committee were disposed to sell the Danish West Indies to the United States if satisfactory conditions were obtainable. He added that from a purely economical standpoint it was advisable to sell the islands, as they cost more than they are worth.

NEELY OFF FOR CUBA.

Is Glad to Go Back and Says He Will Be Acquitted.

Charles F. W. Neely, the former postal official who was ordered extradited to Cuba for trial on charges of embezzlement, left Ludlow street jail at New York Saturday and was taken on board a steamer for Cuba. He said to one of the wardens:

"I am glad I am going back to Cuba, because I can readily explain away everything and will be acquitted."

CURRY TALKS PLAINLY.

Discusses the Negro Question Before Turbest Legislature.

In his address before the North Carolina legislature and state officers, Dr. J. L. M. Curry dwelt upon the negro question and the educational question and handled both without gloves. He said in the course of his remarks:

"I am glad slavery has been abolished, but I regret that its curse of ignorant, stupid, unenlightened labor remains. Nobody, white or black, ought to have the right to vote unless he can read his ballot and has paid his poll tax. Anyone who would cheat a negro at the ballot-box would cheat his neighbor in a trade. There is no hatred between the white and colored youth of this country, and I have no sympathy with the doctrine that there is. There are two remedies for the negro problem—diffusion and colonization. I do not see how either is feasible.

"To me the negro problem is the most serious that ever confronted a people. I know it and it will never be solved until it is solved justly. I know that no two races live in peace together where one is semi-barbarous and the other is enlightened. If the southern states refuse to do justice to the negro, the latter will become insurrectionary and lawless and it will require all the powers of the government to control them. You must educate them."

A Determined Suicide.

Because she imagined that she was to be hanged by a mob Mrs. Bartow Odell last night drowned herself in a pool of water near Buckhead.

Her body was found at 9 o'clock Saturday morning by her relatives, who had been searching for her all night. She was within 250 yards of her own house.

Her relatives announce that her mind had been affected for several months. She has brooded considerably of late and Friday announced to them that she was to be hanged by a mob. She told them that she preferred drowning to hanging and would take her own life. Shortly afterwards she escaped from her relatives and all efforts to find her were unavailing until this morning.

The pool of water in which she was lying face downward was not more than six inches deep, she evidently having held her nose under the water until suffocation overcame her.

H. R. Lockett Dead.

H. R. Lockett, who was so severely wounded in a difficulty on the public square of Dadeville, with Charles P. Harwell, the beat constable, died early Friday morning from the bullet wound in the abdomen. He leaves a wife and several small children. Harwell is resting easy, and will get well.

GUILTY POSTAL CLERKS.

Two In the Dead Letter Office Are Dismissed For Trickery.

The postmaster general has dismissed Charles Varden and R. C. Walton, clerks in the dead letter office of the postoffice department, on charges of having purchased packages at the dead letter sale last December 17th, knowing in advance their contents, which were not fully stated on the catalogue.

After an investigation the department several days ago called upon four clerks in the dead letter office to answer the charges. The other two clerks, Mrs. Lillian Browne and Charles Albert, were not found guilty and the charges against them were dismissed.

Big Haul For Robbers.

The exact loss sustained by the revenue office at Poria, Ill., from the visit of robbers Friday night last has been determined to be $31,976. The thieves took revenue stamps of various denominations in the original package and the weight of the plunder was nearly 300 pounds.

The commissioner of Indian affairs expresses the belief that there are as many Indians within the territory now included between Canada and Mexico and between the Atlantic and Pacific as there were when Columbus first crossed the ocean. It may be so, but the matter is open to doubt. The figures of the recent censuses, it is true, show no falling off in the Indian population in the present generation. But conjectures as to the number of the aborigines in the time of Columbus can be only the vaguest of guesses. There were no census enumerators among the natives in 1492.

In the last ten years the United States has increased its wealth $28,000,000,000, which makes the wealth of the nation $91,000,000,000. This gives an average per capita wealth of $1125. This is not so great a per capita wealth as Great Britain's, for her figures are $1300 for each inhabitant. But her aggregate wealth sinks into the background before ours, for she has only $50,000,000,000 against our $91,000,000,000. Her increase in wealth in ten years is $10,000,000,000, as against our $28,000,000,000. The increase in wealth in this country in the last ten years has been $337 for each inhabitant.

WORK OF FIENDS.

Florida Family Is Chloroformed, Robbed and Burned Out—Two Children Die In Flames.

The Residence of George Fleming, agent of the Seaboard Air Line at Watertown, Fla., was burned Saturday morning at 2 o'clock. Mr. Fleming, his wife and oldest child were badly burned and two younger children burned to death. The two children who were cremated were little girls, Fern and Fay, aged three and five, respectively.

Miss Stella Crawford, sister of Mrs. Fleming and niece of Dr. John L. Crawford, secretary of state, was also dangerously burned, and her wounds may prove fatal.

It is generally believed that the family had been chloroformed and the house fired by incendiaries after robbery had been committed, as considerable money and valuables were either stolen previous to the fire or burned. Not a member of the family awoke until the flames had enveloped the house, and they they were then aroused by those attracted to the scene by the blaze.

WIELDED A BROOMSTICK.

Mrs. Nation Is Belabored By Wife of a Topeka Saloon Man.

Mrs. Carrie Nation caused a great flurry among the saloon keepers of Topeka Saturday night and as a result was roughly handled by a mob. Mrs. Nation arrived in Topeka at 6:40 o'clock and immediately hunted up a newspaper reporter, with a request that she be shown some of the leading saloons of the city. Two newspaper men volunteered to show her around. She said she did not want to begin a smashing crusade, but wanted to talk to the liquor sellers.

The keepers of the saloons had been apprised of her intentions and when she arrived at Ed Myer's "joint" on Kansas avenue, she was confronted by the wife of the proprietor, who rained blow after blow on her head with a broomstick, while Myers stood by and encouraged the effort. By this time a large crowd had gathered, among whom were numerous sympathizers of Mrs. Nation. Nobody attempted to interfere and soon Mrs. Myers stopped her assault.

Mrs. Nation said she was not hurt by her experience in the least.

"What does a broomstick amount to," she inquired, "to one who has been used to rawhides, rocks and rotten eggs? That woman should be immediately arrested, though. Where is an officer?"

A policeman then appeared on the scene for the purpose of protecting Mrs. Nation. He then commanded the mob to stand back and started up the street with Mrs. Nation, followed by hooting, jeering rowdies, who were sympathizers with the joint keepers.

Mrs. Nation at last found refuge in the editorial rooms of The Topeka Capital, where the crowd was not allowed to enter.

Later on, when quiet was somewhat restored, Mrs. Nation addressed the mob for a few moments and they gave her attention. She gave an explanation of her action and said she was a lawabiding citizen whenever she raided a joint, as a joint had no rights.

TALK OF EXTRA SESSION.

There Is a Probability of Additional Work For National Lawmakers.

A Washington special says: That senators regard seriously the prospect of an extra session of congress in view of the president's urgent recommendation of legislation concerning the Philipine islands was evidenced Saturday by the activity of those who desire to avoid an extra session. The speculation concerning the probability of a called session was rendered more definite by the fact that senators known to be generally well informed concerning the president's plans joined in the discussion of the outlook.

Careful inquiry also developed the fact that the president has canvassed the subject with a few senators. He does not appear to have indicated any fixed determination of issuing a call, but rather to have consulted them as to the advisabilisy of such a proceeding. In all such instances he seems to have had the necessity of Philippine legislation in view and senators generally expressed the opinion that in case a meeting is called the Philippine question will receive the lion's share of attention.

ALGER WAS BUNCOED.

Ex-Secretary of War Awarded Big Judgment In Tennessee Court.

A decree has been entered in the United States circuit court at Nashville in the case of General Russell A. Alger versus T. B. Anderson et al, upon a mandate from the United States circuit court of appeals of the sixth district, whereby General Alger is given a personal judgment for $201,014.75.

The litigation arose out of the purchase of several tracts of coal and mineral lands in Franklin county, Tennessee, by A. J. Freer acting as agent for General Alger. It was alleged that the lands were "salted" and that rocks painted black were palmed off as coal.

A BOOST FOR SILVER.

House Committee Favors Parity of White Metal With the Yellow.

The house committee on banking and currency voted six to four in favor of reporting the Overstreet bill, maintaining at all times parity of the standard silver dollar with gold. Two Democrats, Driggs, of New York, and Thayer, of Massachusetts, voted for the bill.

NAVAL BILL PASSED.

Democrats Have a "Misunderstanding" During Discussion Of the Army Bill.

A Washington special says. The house Friday adopted the conference report upon the army reorganization bill. The naval appropriation bill was finally passed and immediately afterwards seventy-seven private pension bills.

Mr. Hull, of Iowa, chairman of the military affairs committee, in urging immediate action, said the bill should have been a law three week ago; that it has been outrageously delayed in the congress of the United States, though not in the house. Mr. Hull appealed for the provisions designed to retire General Shafter as major a general, and Generals Lee and Wilson as brigadier generals, provisions which the house had stricken out.

Mr. Richardson protested against voting to increase the list of officers on the retired list.

"If that provision were out of the bill," interposed Mr. Cannon, of Illinois, "would the gentleman vote for it?"

"The report empowers the president to increase the standing army from 58,000 to 100,000 men," replied Mr. Richardson. "If that provision were out also."

"That is not a categorical response," observed Mr. Cannon.

"No," replied Mr. Richardson. "I would never vote for the bill." (Democratic applause.")

Mr. Hay, of Virginia, resented indignantly Mr. Richardson's statement that the report would give the president the power to increase the army from 58,000 to 100,000 men, and took the minority leader severely to task for refusing to join in a fight for a temporary army when the bill was originally before the house.

The conference report was adopted —133 to 100. Two Democrats, Clayton, of New York, and Livingston, of Georgia, voted for the report.

Mr. Rixey, of Virginia, moved to recommit the naval bill with instructions to strike out the provisions for the increase of the navy (two battleships and two cruisers). It was defeated—42 to 132. The bill was then passed.

The house then took up private pension bills.

TAKE THEIR LAST LOOK.

Queen's Coffin Is Finally Sealed By Order of the King.

A special from Cowes, Isle of Wight, says: The royal family took their last loving look at the features of the dead queen Friday. About 10 o'clock in the morning the shell was brought into the bedroom, where were waiting King Edward, Emperor William, the duke of Connaught, Sir James Reid and the royal ladies. The latter having retired, Sir Sames Reid, with reverent hands, assisted by three trusted household servants, and in the presence of the king, the emperor and the duke, removed the body from the bed to the coffin.

In death it was lovelier than in the closing days of life. Not a trace of the ravages of disease was visible. The servants having retired, Queen Alexandra, the princesses and the children were recalled, and with lingering steps and stifled sobs, they passed slowly before the white-robed and peaceful figure. At the foot, never moving, stood the king, and when the mourning crowd had passed there remained only the son and grandson of the dead.

Emperor William wept even more bitterly than the royal ladies. Finally he also retired, and the king was left alone. Sir James Reid, beckoning to the servants, who were holding the coffin lid, asked the king's instructions.

For a few seconds the king stood speechless, stricken with emotion at the last farewell. Then he said quickly:

"Close it finally. It must not be opened again."

Thus the remains of England's greatest ruler were forever hidden from human view.

Britons Get More Guns.

A special from Queenstown says: "Eighteen field guns of the most modern manufacture, with their carriages ammunition, wagons and equipment have arrived here from Germany for service with the British army in South Africa."

EMPEROR BILL HONORED.

Edward Appoints Him Field Marshal In the British Army.

A special from Cowes says: Emperor William Sunday received from the hand of the duke of Connaught his sword on his appointment as a field marshal of the British army. The ceremony took place in the presence of the household of King Edward and the dead queen, as well as a number of British and German naval officers. His majesty expressed great delight at the appointment.

FIRE CAUSES EXPLOSION.

Two Men Dead and Eight Injured Through Burning of a Warehouse.

Two men were killed and eight injured, three of the latter seriously, by an explosion of chlorate of potash during a fire in the warehouse of the Walkerville, Ont., Match Company, in Walkerville, Friday evening.

The explosion, which completely destroyed the building, was heard for mile and a half. The property loss was about $35,000.

Growing Melons.

Watermelons and muskmelons need similar treatment as regards manuring and cultivation, but the two species differ in their soil requirements. While watermelons will thrive on and prefer a sandy soil, and thrive best in a hot climate, the muskmelons prefer a soil more abounding in humus and a good clay bottom. So far as the preparation of the soil is concerned and the fertilization of the land their treatment is identical, except that the watermelons, of course, require more space for their vines. There are two methods of culture, each favored by different growers. One method is to confine the manuring to the hills where the seed is planted, and the other is to put part of the plant food broadcast over the land between the rows. Those who manure on the hills generally lay off the land ten by twelve feet for watermelons and six by six feet for muskmelons. The spaces where the furrows cross are enlarged to make quite a good sized hole where the "hill" is to be. In these holes are placed two or more shovelfuls of compost made of partly rotted manure and black earth from the forest. On this compost a handful or two of a high grade mixed fertilizer is scattered, and then covered with soil so as to bring the whole about level with the original surface of the land before planting the seed. The cultivation is then rapid and perfectly flat, and in the South as soon as the vines have reached about three feet all cultivation stops and cow peas are scattered thinly between the rows so that they will practically shade the land and prevent the melons from being scalded by the sun.

The second method is where a supply of compost is not available and the grower depends on commercial fertilizers. In this case the land for watermelons is plowed early in the season in lands twelve feet broad, and for muskmelons in lands half this width. The dead furrows are run carefully straight and clean, and a subsoil plow is run in the dead furrows between the lands to loosen the soil deeply without turning it up. A week or so before time for planting the fertilizer is applied. We have found it well to make the following mixture to make a ton: Acid phosphate or any good superphosphate, 900 pounds; cottonseed meal or tankage, 600 pounds; nitrate of soda, 100 pounds, and high grade sulphate of potash, 400 pounds. I would use of this about 600 pounds per acre. I always use sulphate instead of muriate of potash with any crop in which sugar is a desirable constituent, and on tobacco, where the muriate damages the quality of the leaf. Scatter one-third the amount of the fertilizer broadcast on the land between the rows, for the rows are to go where the dead furrows are. The remainder scatter along the dead furrows. Now plow two furrows from each side over this making an elevated bed in the dead furrow. Rake the top of this flat, and mark a shallow furrow in the middle of the ridge in which scatter the seed thinly and cover. As the plants begin to start it is a good plan to dust raw bonemeal over them to drive off the bugs, and this will also be a help to the plants. Watermelons are thinned to four feet apart in the rows as soon as the plants are safe from the bugs and the muskmelons to three feet. The advantage of the last method is that the roots are deeper in the soil and stand drought better, and the plant food being well distributed they are not running out of a very rich soil into a very poor one. When this same compost is applied on top the compost in the hills the crop is apt to be a little earlier than in the second method, but the crops by the second method are usually the larger and of a finer quality. Most growers cultivate too long and disturb the vines too much. The cultivation should be as rapid as possible, to destroy any weeds in the hills at first, and to gradually earth up the plants and thus strengthen their growth, but they do not like to have the vines moved after they begin to run. Hence the need for rapid cultivation. A good supply is essential in the fertilizer, the nitrate to start them off and the organic nitrogen to keep up a vigorous growth, and the use of the sulphate of potash will add largely to the quality of the crop.—W. F. Massey, North Carolina Experiment Station.

SALISBURY MAY RESIGN.

Relations Between New King and Prime Minister are Strained.

A dispatch to The New York World from London says:

Prime Minister Salisbury's absence from Osborne house during the queen's last moments has not been publicly explained and causes widespread speculation, especially in court and political circles.

According to information that has reached your correspondent through a sure channel, Lord Salisbury remained away owing to the strained personal relations between himself and the present king.

LARGE CONTRACT AWARDED.

New York Firm Will Build Four Passenger and Freight Steamers.

The Atlantic Transport Company has awarded to the New York Ship Building Company, of Camden, N. J., a contract for four passenger and freight steamboats suitable for fast trans-Atlantic trade.

This is said to be the largest contract for merchant craft ever awarded to any ship building firm on the Delaware at one time. The four vessels when completed will cost the company over $5,000,000.

THE SABBATH SCHO

INTERNATIONAL LESSON COMM FOR FEBRUARY 3.

Subject: Parable of the Ten Virg Matt. xxv., 1-13 — Golden Text: M xxv., 13 — Memory Verses, 10-13 — mentary on the Day's Lesson.

1. "Then." At the season referr in the preceding chapter where them reasons for believing the coming of Savious is near; but still it is impo to fix the exact time. "The kingdom heaven." The gospel kingdom, or state of things in the visible church, tacularly the character, conduct and dition of the subjects of that king "Ten virgins." Ten as a symbol sent's completeness, and the virgins sent the purity of the Christian "Took their lamps." Each had a "which signifies individuality, preparat independence of others." The lamp nifies the outward profession of relig "Went forth." The procession accom ing the bride from the house of her er to that of the bridegroom was ally one of more or less pomp bridegroom." The bridegroom means Lord Jesus Christ, and all who are mak preparation for His coming, whether call men by death or to summon them His second appearing, may be said to going forth to meet Him.

2. "Were wise." These left nothing be attended to at the last moment were prudent and fully prepared. "F ish." Careless, negligent. The ch of Christ consists of true and f members spiritually dead and others ritually alive.

3. "Took their lamps." We must fully note the contrast: In the case of foolish the taking of their lamps is thing, but in the case of the wise it is taking of oil in their vessels. "Took oil with them." The oil represents grace, or love of God in the heart. virgins represent a class of so-called Ch tians who make profession of religion, who lack the faith which worketh by

4. "Took oil." They carried a with oil to pour into the lamp when sary. The decisive test was not the but the oil—the Spirit, the spiritual and yet they must have a lamp to the oil. Let us be careful not to de the forms of religion. True Christ unite both external and internal Ch tianity.

5. "Tarried." The figure is gene modified by the circumstances that bridegroom comes from afar, as in Ju 14; this would explain the long tarrying the bridegroom. The Bridegroom away is Christ, who is come for the riage feast from "the far country"— home above. "Slumbered and slept." time passed by the virgins in sleep re sents merely the waiting time, during which time the true Christian is fully prepared for the coming of the heave Bridegroom at any hour.

6. "At midnight." The Jewish dings were generally celebrated in night, yet they usually began at the of the evening star, but in this case was a more than ordinary delay. This the most unfit time for the virgins to tain the oil they needed. "The Br groom cometh." Though Christ long, He will come at last; though seems slow. He is sure. The year of redeemed is fixed, and it will come. and the judgment will come when expected. "Go ye out to meet Hi Here is a summons. What does mean? It means, go forth to receive recompense of your doings. What a ful thing to be thus summoned to ap before the judge of all the earth!

7. "All—arose." There is somet terrible in the security of the fool maintained up to the last; they, too, and trim their lamps, even though is nothing but a foul wick; they are yet aware that their fate is already "Trimmed." Adorned.

8. "Give us." They now began to alize their serious lack. Those who up with something short of true grace certainly find the want of it, sooner later. "Lamps are going out" (R. This shows that their lamps had lighted. Many who once have had filled with faith and love have allow worldly spirit to take possession of and now they are entirely backsli from God: their "lamps" have gone ou

9. "Will not be enough" (R. V). was impossible to render any assista There was a time when they might helped each other, but that time is past. "Go ye." They could tell what to do, but it was now too late. them that sell." To God." "For selves." They must have oil of their Nothing short of personal holiness is cient.

10. "While they went to buy." a dismal thing it is not to discover emptiness of one's heart of all that until it is too late to be saved. God knows how many are thus deceived. that were ready." Those who were pared; who not only had a profess godliness, but who possessed true hol "To the marriage feast" (R. V). T eternally glorified; to be in His imme presence. "The door was shut." T comes a period after which change possible. 1. In some cases that peri death. 2. In other cases the day of less hardness comes before the termin of the natural life. 3. At the time of second advent of our Lord Jesus Ch and to this period especially doth the able refer. As the Lord finds us so main forever.

11. "Open to us." Earnest pr when used in time, may do much but it appears from this parable that may come a time when prayer even Jesus may be too late!

12. "I know you not." There is trangement of heart that separates from the Saviour. Heart prepar alone could fit them for the enjoym the presence of the Lord, and this lacked.

13. "Watch." It is our duty to with the utmost diligence. We watch against temptations, failure in loss of love. Watch for the coming Lord and for an opportunity to lead to Christ. The time is uncertain, we always be ready. "Wherein the Son Man cometh." These words are omi in R. V., and are undoubtedly no the text.

Recent designs in furnaces and matic stokers reveal such grati progress in solving the problem smoke abatement as to encourage belief that the "smokeless city" altogether a dream, but a possibi the twentieth century. In fact, may judge from the progress al made in perfecting devices for not a "smokeless century" it w no excuse for tolerating the nuisance" for another decade. are abundant and gratifying tions that if the twentieth cent not a "smokeless century" it w the fault of inefficient municipal ernment and not the fault of scientists.

A CRY FO

Result of a Pro Letters from lished by Spe
For Women's

MRS. PINKHAM, LYNN, M

"DEAR MADAM:—I am
uaries and womb and have continual pain and soreness in pain when lying down, stand I suffer with ve my troubles were caused

"Life is a drag to me, an ing a well woman. I have everything. I am in fact now did me but little good.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegeta me by a friend, and I their trial.

"I write this letter with the
my case." — MRS. S. J. WAT

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I
you the benefit that your advice
Compound have done for me.

"I had been suffering with walk but a short distance, had part of my bowels, backache, and for four months and was so much the distance that I could before.

"I am to-day in better heal
two years, and I know it is all d
Compound.

"I recommend your advice an
—MRS. S. J. WATSON, Hampton

This is positive proof that advise sick women than any oth thing.

$5000 REWARD. We have dep which will be paid to any pe are not genuine, or were mission.

N
cro can b grow withou
Potash
Suppl enough Po ash and you profits will b large; witho
Potash you crop will b
"scrubby."

Our books, telling about composition of fertilizers adapted for all crops, are free to all farmers.
GERMAN KALI WORKS,
93 Nassau St., New York.

LIBBY'S
PORK AND BEANS

There is one flavor in pork and beans that all people like. It was devised in the rural homes of New England. It has made Boston the synonym of beans.

In our kitchen we get exactly that flavor. Our beans are cooked by an expert. We put them up in key-opening cans. Your grocer will supply you.

Plenty of other canned beans, but that flavor comes only in Libby's.

LIBBY, McNEILL & LIBBY
Chicago

Send a postal for our booklet, "How to Make Good Things to Eat."

RESOURCE FOR
TIRED MEN AND WOMEN
Home Comforts Appeal, Tonics Good, Stimulants Bad, Rest Indispensable.
SEND FOR BOOKLET

THE SABBATH SCHO

INTERNATIONAL LESSON COMME
FOR FEBRUARY 3.

Subject: Parable of the Ten Virgi Matt. xxv., 1-13 — Golden Text: M xxv., 13 — Memory Verses, 10-13—C mentary on the Day's Lesson.

1. "Then." At the season referred in the pre ing chapter where there reasons fo believing the coming of Sa e is near but still it is impos to the exact time. "The kingdom heaven." The gospel kingdom, or state of things in the visible church, ually the character, conduct and dition of the subjects of that king "Ten virgins." Ten as a symbol re sem's completeness and the virgins rep sent the purity of the Christian chu "Took their lamps." Each had a la which has generally been interpreted to indicate the outward profession of relig "Went forth." The procession accompa ing the bride from the house of her fa er to the bridegroom was ge ally a joyful more or less pomp. "T bridegroom." The bridegroom means Christ, the author and all who are mak preparation for its coming, whether call me to death or to summon them His second appearing may be said to going forth to meet Him.

2. "Were wise." These left nothing be attended to at the last moment; t were prudent and fully prepared. "Fo ian." Careless, negligent. The vis ing of Christ consists of true and fa members spiritually dead and others s ritually alive.

3. "Took their lamps." We must c fully note the contrast. In the case of foolish the taking of their lamps is ev thing, but in the case of the wise it is taking of oil in their vessels. "Took oil with them." The oil represents grace, or love of God in the heart. The virgins represent a class of so-called Chr tians who make profession of religion, b without the faith which worketh by lo

4. "Took oil." They carried a ve with oil to pour into the lamp when nec sary. The device test was not the lam but the oil. The Spirit, the spiritual li and yet they must have a lamp to h the oil. Let us be careful not to desp the forms of religion. True Christia unite both external and internal Chr tianity.

5. "Tarried." The figure is general modified by the circumstances that t bridegroom comes from afar, as in Jude It thus may explain the long tarrying the bridegroom. The Bridegroom A ways is Christ, who is come for the ma riage feast from the far country—d hence "they all slumbered and slept." T time passed by the virgins in sleep rep sents, perhaps, the entire time, duri which time the transaction is fully p pared for the coming of the heave Bridegroom at any hour.

6. "At midnight." The Jewish w dings were usually celebrated in t night, yet they began at the ris of the moon, and in this case the was a considerable delay. This w the most no[illegible] to the virgins to t time the cry needed. "The Brid groom cometh." Though Christ tar long, it will come at last, though it seems so. He is sure. The year of t redemption draweth nigh and it will come. Dea and the hour will come when lea sleep and "arise out to meet Him Here is a summons. What does th mean? It means go forth to receive t recompense of your doings. What a fe ful thing to be thus summoned to appe before the judgment of all the earth!

7. "All arose." There is somethi terrible in the security of the foolis maintained up to the last; they, too, ar and trim their lamps, even though the is nothing but a foul wick; they are n yet aware that their fate is already seal "Trimmed." Adorned.

8. "Give us." They now began to r alize their serious lack. Those who ta up with something short of true grace w certainly find the want of it, sooner later. "Lamps are going out" (R. V The shows that their lamps had be lighted. Many who once have had hea filled with faith and love have allowed worldly spirit to take possession of the and now they are entirely backslidde from God, their "lamps" have gone out.

9. "Will not be enough" (R. V): was impossible to render any assistance There was a time when they might h helped each other, but that time is p past. "Go ye." They could tell th what to do, but it was now too late. "T them that sell." To God. "For yo selves." They must have oil of their ow Nothing short of personal holiness is s cient.

10. "While they went to buy." W a dismal thing it is not to discover emptiness of one's heart of all that is g until it is too late to be saved. God o knows how many are thus deceived. "Th that were ready." Those who were p pared, who not only had a professio godliness, but who possessed true holin "To the marriage feast" (R. V). To eternally glorified, to be in His immedi presence. "The door was shut." Th comes a period after which change is p possible. 1. In some cases that period death. 2. In other cases the day of h less hardness comes before the terminati of the natural life. 3. At the time of t second advent of our Lord Jesus Chr and to this period especially doth the p able refer. As the Lord finds us so we main forever.

11. "Open to us." Earnest pray when used in time, may do much go but it appears from this parable that th may come a time when prayer even Jesus may be too late.

12. "I know you not." There is a s trangement of heart that separates th from the Saviour. Heart preparati alone enables them for the enjoyment the presence of the Lord, and this t lacks.

13. "Watch." It is our duty to wat with the utmost diligence. We are watch against temptations, failure in th loss of love. Watch for the coming of t Lord and for an opportunity to lead to Christ. The time is uncertain, we s always be ready. "Wherein the Son Man cometh." Those words are omit in R. V., and are undoubtedly no part the text.

Recent designs in furnaces and au matic stokers reveal such gratifyi progress in solving the problem smoke abatement as to encourage belief that the "smokeless city" it altogether a dream, but a possibility the twentieth century. In fact, if may judge from the progress alre made in perfecting devices for not a "smokeless century" it will no excuse for tolerating the "s nuisance" for another decade. T are abundant and gratifying ind tions that if the twentieth century not a "smokeless century" it will the fault of inefficient municipal g ernment and not the fault of scientists.

A CRY FOR HELP.

Result of a Prompt Reply.—Two Letters from Mrs. Watson, Published by Special Permission.—For Women's Eyes Only.

March 15, 1899.

TO MRS. PINKHAM, LYNN, MASS.:

"DEAR MADAM,—I am suffering from inflammation of the ovaries and womb, and have been for eighteen months. I have a continual pain and soreness in my back and side. I am only free from pain when lying down, or sitting in an easy chair. When I stand I suffer with severe pain in my side and back. I believe my troubles were caused by over work and lifting some years ago.

"Life is a drag to me, and I sometimes feel like giving up ever being a well woman; have become careless and unconcerned about everything. I am tired now. I have had several doctors, but they did me but little good.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been recommended to me by a friend, and I have made up my mind to give it a fair trial.

"I write this letter with the hope of hearing from you in regard to my case."—MRS. S. J. WATSON, Hampton, Va.

November 27, 1899.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I feel it my duty to acknowledge to you the benefit that your advice and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have done for me.

"I had been suffering with female troubles for some time, could walk but a short distance, had terrible bearing down pains in lower part of my bowels, backache, and pain in ovary. I used your medicine for four months and was so much better that I could walk three times the distance that I could before.

"I am to-day in better health than I have been for more than two years, and I know it is all due to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"I recommend your advice and medicine to all women who suffer."—MRS. S. J. WATSON, Hampton, Va.

This is positive proof that Mrs. Pinkham is more competent to advise sick women than any other person. Write her. It costs you nothing.

$5000 REWARD.—We have deposited with the National City Bank of Lynn, $5000, which will be paid to any person who can find that the above testimonial letters are not genuine, or were published before obtaining the writer's special permission. LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO.

No crop can be grown without Potash. Supply enough Potash and your profits will be large; without Potash your crop will be "scrubby."

Our books, telling about composition of fertilizers and adapted to all crops, are free to all farmers.
GERMAN KALI WORKS,
New York.

LIBBY'S
PORK AND BEANS

There is one flavor in pork and beans that all people like. It was developed in the rural homes of New England. It has made Boston the synonym of beans.

In our kitchen we get exactly that flavor. Our beans are cooked by an expert. We put them up in key-opening cans. Your grocer will supply you.

Plenty of other canned beans, but that flavor comes only in Libby's.

LIBBY, McNEILL & LIBBY
Chicago.

Send a postal for our booklet, "How to Make Good Things to Eat."

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION 25 CTS

THE ANOA.

Dwarf Cattle of Celebes Are No Longer Than Ordinary Sheep.

Celebes has the distinction of being the home of the smallest living representative of the wild cattle, or, indeed, of the wild cattle of any period of the earth's history, for no group appears to be known to science. An idea of three extremely diminutive proportions of the anoa, or sapi-utan, as the animal in question is respectively called by the inhabitants of Celebes and the Malays, may be gained when it is stated that its height at the shoulder is only about 3 feet 3 inches, whereas that of the great Indian wild ox, or guar, is at least 6 feet 4 inches, and may, according to some writers, reach as much as 7 feet. In fact, the anoa is really not much, if at all, larger than a well-grown South Down sheep and scarcely exceeds in this respect the little domesticated Bramini cattle shown a few years ago at the Indian exhibition held at Earl's Court. The anoa has many of the characters of the large Indian buffalo, but its horns are relatively shorter, less curved and more upright. In this, as well as in certain other respects, it is more like the young than the adult of the last-named species, and as young animals frequently are gradually lost as maturity is approached it would be a natural supposition that the anoa is a primitive type of buffalo.

Walks with a Broken Back.

A case that is attracting attention in the surgical world is that of Michael Kepler of Raveno, Pa., who is suffering from a broken back. Five years ago he fell and sustained the injury. The local doctors did not give him much relief, and after two years he went to Blomberg. Since then he has undergone fourteen operations. He was discharged from several hospitals as incurable and was told to prepare for the end. Kepler never became discouraged, and about a year ago he commenced to gain strength and for several months he has been able to walk. His health is excellent, but the pain in his back is intense. The bone is decaying, and a large amount has been cut away. He is one of the most jovial, good natured young men in the town. He has gone to Kane for another operation.

SCRAMBLE FOR DIAMONDS.

Gems Thrown Away by an Absent-Minded Dealer.

"Have you got any of those diamonds?" is the question of the hour in Birmingham. Some 800 precious stones have been shared out by lucky prospectors in Vittoria street, and the search still continues, says the London Express. It happened in this wise: In a fit of abstraction John Davis, member of a firm of diamond merchants, while walking down Vittoria street on a recent morning, pulled an old envelope out of his pocket and commenced to tear it up. When he reached the last section the terrible fact dawned upon him that it was the envelope in which were some 1,600 small diamonds, valued at £100, and that he had been sowing these broadcast over a public thoroughfare. The news spread with lightning-like rapidity. Shopkeepers locked up and came to the more lucrative occupation of picking up diamonds, while for a mile around an errand boy at his ordinary work was a phenomenon. Such a scraping of the street with knives and sticks had never been seen. As it happened, most of the lost stones went down the cellar gratings of a jeweler's shop. Ingenious youths fished for them with a piece of soap attached to a stick and reeled in three prizes at a time. Others sat in the gutter sorting an anxiously guarded handful of dirt. Still the crowd grew. At one period over 1,500 lads were to be seen hard at work. From noon to seven o'clock the street was nearly blocked. When night fell candles, lamps and lanterns were brought to aid the indefatigable hunters for treasure trove, and the scene presented could only have been done justice by Hogarth. About half the diamonds have found their way back to their rightful owner. Some were sold to a shopkeeper and the rest, like the graves of a household, are scattered far and wide. Diamond pins will shortly be fashionable in Birmingham.

IN AUSTRALIA.

Baseball Popular There, Due to Effort of Resident Americans.

Baseball is becoming popular in Australia, says the London Mail, and possibly some day Australians will be as eminent in this sport as they are at present on the cricket field. It is largely owing to the efforts of the many Americans settled in the antipodes that the game is becoming rapidly acclimated. Recently began the first series of inter-colonial baseball matches, the contestants being Victoria and New South Wales, both of which colonies possess organized baseball associations. The games were played in Sydney and the home nine won two out of three. The New South Wales side included Victor Trumper, M. A. Noble and J. J. Kelly, members of the last Australian cricket team to visit England, and among the Victorians was another member of that team, Frank Laver. Donnan of the 1893 eleven was selected as the emergency player of New South Wales. Local Americans say that wonderful proficiency was displayed, although as yet some of the finer points of the game remain to be learned.

Fight Your Liver

If you want to. But look out, or it will get the start of you. If it does, you will have dyspepsia, indigestion, biliousness, sick headache, poor blood, constipation.

Perhaps you have these already. Then take one of Ayer's Pills at bedtime. These pills gently and surely master the liver; they are an easy and safe laxative for the whole family; they give prompt relief and make a permanent cure. Always keep a box of them in the house.

25 cents a box.

If your druggist cannot supply you, we will mail you a box direct from this office upon receipt of the price, 25 cents. Address, J. C. AYER CO., Lowell, Mass.

USE CERTAIN COUGH CHILL CORN CURE. 25 50 1.0

Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. Safest surest cure for all throat and lung troubles. People praise it. Doctors prescribe it. Quick sure results. Refuse substitutes. Get Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

Sending Magazines to Army.

Those who wish to send magazines and other reading matter to the soldiers in the Philippines can avoid transportation charges by forwarding the books to any commissary department of the army. These books must be in good condition and the literature of a wholesome character. The books and magazines must be packed in substantial boxes, but not addressed to any individual. They should be addressed to hospitals, commands or libraries.

The Best Prescription for Chills and Fever is a bottle of GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC. It is simply iron and quinine in a tasteless form. No cure—no pay. Price 50c

The man who measures the profits of religion in dollars and cents will never strike a heavy balance.

Governor Blackburn

Always said that Crab Orchard Water would cure more diseases than any one remedy that he had ever used.

The true philosopher smiles at his own misfortunes, and tries to relieve the misfortunes of others.

To Cure a Cold in One Day

Take LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE TABLETS. All druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c.

In some grottoes in Algeria, French explorers have recently discovered stone implements mingled with the remains of extinct animals belonging to quaternary times.

Bear's Antics Amuse Court.

A Frenchman arrested in Baltimore with his traveling bear brought the animal with him in court, where his antics so amused the judge that the prisoner was discharged and escorted out of the city.

DR. GREENE'S NERVURA Blood and Nerve Remedy is the Greatest and Most Positive

Cure for Rheumatism

the World Has Ever Known.

Try it and be convinced of its wonderful power to cure Rheumatism and Neuralgia. Nothing like it for Headaches, Pain and Weakness in the Back or Limbs; unrivalled for Painful Menstruation, etc.

This Style Adopted Nov., 1898

DR. GREENE'S NERVURA [TRADE MARK] BLOOD AND NERVE REMEDY.

Guaranteed · Purely · Vegetable.

FOR THE CURE OF DOSE.

Adults.—Two to three teaspoonfuls after each meal, in a little water.
Children.—One-half to a teaspoonful after each meal, in a little water.
Infants.—One-quarter teaspoonful, in a little water, three times a day.

If you have Constipation, Torpid Liver and Biliousness, you should take Dr. Greene's Laxura Cathartic Pills in connection with Nervura. They are the best pills in the world, vegetable, sugar-coated, easy to take, certain and pleasant to act.

25 CENTS AT DRUGGISTS.

PREPARED BY Drs. R. E. & J. A. Greene, At their Medical Office and Laboratories, 35 West 14th St., New York City, 24 Temple Place, Boston, Mass.

PRICE, $1.00.

If you suffer with Rheumatism, try Dr. Greene's Nervura, and consult Dr. Greene, 35 W. 14th St., New York City, about your case. Call there or write him. This you can do without cost or charge.

A Wonderful Cure of Rheumatism of the many thousands cured by

DR. GREENE'S NERVURA.

The greatest known cure for RHEUMATISM.

Mr. T. H. Roleau, of Essex Junction, Vt., says: "For three years I was terribly afflicted with a most severe case of rheumatism. For 23 months I could not walk a step, and I never expected to walk or work again. I was completely helpless and suffered the most horrible agony.

"No man in these parts ever suffered as I did. I took everything that I ever heard of, but never found anything that did me the slightest good until I began the use of Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy.

"And now comes the most wonderful part of all. In a short time this splendid medicine made me completely well. It is the best remedy I ever saw or heard of, for it raised me from a condition of utter helplessness and constant agony to perfect health. It saved my ability to work which was entirely gone. I am now entirely well and strong, and I owe my health and my life to Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. I advise everybody to use it."

Best For the Bowels.

No matter what ails you, headache to a cancer, you will never get well until your bowels are put right. CASCARETS help nature, cure you without a gripe or pain, produce easy natural movements, cost you just 10 cents to start getting your health back. CASCARETS Candy Cathartic, the genuine, put up in metal boxes, every tablet has C. C. C. stamped on it. Beware of imitations.

Four boxes rule the world—the cartridge box, the ballot box, the jury box, and last, but not least, the feminine hat box.

Each package of PUTNAM FADELESS DYE colors more goods than any other dye and colors them better too. Sold by all druggists.

What has become of the old-fashioned woman who made big fat biscuit? Nowadays the biscuits are about as big as a quarter.

A Colonel in the British South African army says that Adams' Tutti Frutti was a blessing to his men while marching.

Andrew Carnegie's manager on his Scotch estates is the man who taught him to operate a telegraph instrument.

Piso's Cure for Consumption is an infallible medicine for coughs and colds.—N. W. SAMUEL, Ocean Grove, N. J., Feb. 17, 1900.

Never be afraid to side with the minority if that minority is based upon honesty and principle.

H. H. GREEN'S SONS, of Atlanta, Ga., are the only successful Dropsy Specialists in the world. See their liberal offer in advertisement in another column of this paper.

Every person has two educations, one which he receives from others and one, more important, which he gives himself.

Two Horses from Queen.

The queen herself has on two occasions at least, been called upon to pay horseshoe "rent quittance" similar to that which the city corporation renders to the Crown each year. Oakham, in Rutland, posses a unique and peculiar privilege, by virtue of which any peer of the realm passing within the precincts of the manor has to pay tribute in the form of a horseshoe, and if he refuses he is obliged to give money, which the bailiff is empowered to take by force. Strictly speaking, the shoe should come from one of his own horses, but the alternative of payment in hard cash is usually chosen, the money being devoted to purchasing ornamental horseshoes to decorate the castle walls. Many of these articles, including two from her majesty, given when she visited the county, first as Princess Victoria and again some five-and-twenty years ago, and one apiece from Queen Elizabeth and George IV.—London Telegraph.

$100 Reward. $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Hall's Family Pills are the best

What Can You Expect?

There was a bargain sale of gloves in one of the up-town stores the other day. One woman who had considered herself fortunate in being in the front rank in the bargain counter rush was much disgruntled when she reached home to find that both gloves were for the same hand. She took them back and explained. "What can you expect at such a price?" asked the girl of whom the purchase had been made, in a deprecatory tone.—New York Times.

Bees in Prisoner's Cell.

John Bunch, a pioneer citizen of Macon county, Missouri, is suing the town of La Plata for injuries alleged have been received while in the calaboose at that place last August. He was arrested for some trivial cause and found on being locked up that he had for cellmates an active and exceedingly indignant hive of bees. The insects regarded him as an intruder and stung him severely during his six hours of confinement.

DYSPEPSIA

need not be endured a day longer if you use

A natural medicinal water—concentrated. A potent, laxative, tonic. A specific for all liver, kidney, stomach and bowel disorders. It cures Torpid Liver, Biliousness, Jaundice, Chronic Diseases of the Kidneys, Dyspepsia, Heartburn, Sick Headache, Dysentery, Constipation, Piles.

Crab Orchard Water is the most efficacious of the mineral waters; most convenient to take; most economical to buy.

The genuine is sold by all druggists with Crab Apple trade mark on every bottle.

CRAB ORCHARD WATER CO., Louisville, Ky.

"SALZER'S SEEDS WILL MAKE YOU RICH"

This is a daring statement, but Salzer's seeds beat it out every time.

Combination Corn. Great enough on earth. Wilt positively produce more corn growing.

Billion Dollar Grass. Greatest marvel of the age. 20 tons of hay per acre. First crop six weeks after sowing.

What Is It? Catalogue tells.

FOR 10c. STAMPS and this NOTICE we will mail our rich catalog, 10 kinds famous vegetables, also Seeds (20 kts. per oz.) Clover, 250 bushel per A.) Oats, Barley (175 bu. per A.) Peas, etc. Worth $10 to introduce.

John A. Salzer Seed Co., La Crosse, Wis.

WANTED! Honest, energetic man to TRAVEL AND SELL NURSERY STOCK.

REFERENCES REQUIRED.

We have an Immense Stock in full Variety and can insure satisfaction. Address,

G. H. MILLER & SON, ROME, GA.

Am. N. C. No. 5, 1901.

SEEDS WE WILL GIVE YOU A $4.00 FARM Collection of SEEDS FREE of money cost, mailing only (that you will 10 Packets of Vegetable Seeds for us at 10 cents. MONEY in advance. Write us a postal mentioning this offer (no one will filed. You get the Packets at once and will earn and Catalog, full instructions, and 10 Day Bills for distribution among your friends to enlist in Indiana. Open to boy and girls of 14. ADDRESS T. J. RIVERS & CO., RICHMOND, VA. A GOOD SELL of Clothing Given for Selling 100 Packets.

DROPSY NEW DISCOVERY; gives quick relief and cures worst cases. Book of testimonials and 10 days' treatment Free. Dr. H. H. GREEN'S SONS, Box B, Atlanta, Ga.

If afflicted with sore eyes, use Thompson's Eye Water

"La Creole" Will Restore those Gray Hairs

La Creole Hair Restorer is a Perfect Dressing and Restorer. Price $1.00.

THE BANNER

OUR CLUBBING RATES

For $1.50 we will send you THE BANNER and either of the following papers for one year:

Atlanta Constitution	$1.50
New York World (3 papers every week)	$1.50
Cosmopolitan (America's Leading magazine)	$1.50
Silver Knight National Watchman	$1.50
Birmingham Age-Herald	$1.35
Home and Farm	$1.10

Job Printing cheap at THE BANNER office

AT REDUCED PRICES.

CLANTON DRUG STORE.

Dr J S JOHNSON, Jr., Proprietor.

DEALER IN

DRUGS. : MEDICINES : PATENT : MEDICINES,

TOILET ARTICLES, PAINTS.

PRESCRIPTIONS CAREFULLY PREPARED DAY & NIGHT

CLANTON, ALABAMA.

THE

AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS is the one important magazine in the world giving in its pictures, its text, in its contributed articles, editorials and departments, a comprehensive, timely record of the world's current history. Not the enumeration of mere bare facts, but a comprehensive picture of the month, its activities, its notable personalities and notable utterances. The best informed men and women in the world find it indispensable.

There are many readers in your locality who have yet to learn of its usefulness. We wish to establish active agents in every city and township in the country. We will pay liberally for every public effort in the subscription field. Leisure moments can be utilized with substantial increase of income. Make a list of the persons in your locality who should have the "Review of Reviews" and send to us for agent's terms, sample copies and working outfit. Then solicit their subscriptions. It is a compliment to approach a person with a subscription proposition for the "Review of Reviews," and consequently orders are easily secured. This is the active subscription season. Make application at once, sending your references.

Price, $3 years a year. $2.50 a year.

THE REVIEW OF REVIEWS COMPANY,

13 Astor Place, New York City.

Everything New.

NEW STOREHOUSE

BRAND NEW STOCK

We positively will carry none of our old stock into our new building, and for the next Thirty Days we are offering

BARGAINS IN EVERYTHING

now in our old storehouse. We are determined to clear out the last piece of old stock. Come and see us.

WILSON & REO.

CLANTON.

W. I. MULLINS

—DEALER IN—

GENERAL MERCHANDISE, PLANTATION SUPPLIES AND COUNTRY PRODUCE.

Dry Goods, Clothing, Hats, Boots and Shoes.

FURNITURE AND COFFINS

A full line of Burial Clothes and all necessary Undertakers' Goods constantly kept in stock.

CLANTON, : : : : : ALA.

Subscribe for The Banner. $1.00 a year.

Alabama Fertilizer the Standard.

Our most careless competitor will only claim that what he is selling is "just as good" as the celebrated ALABAMA FERTILIZER, but it is not so. For 31 years the ALABAMA has stood at the head of all fertilizers claim. With about as correct good grounds it is more important that one at the top keep ahead. The ALABAMA is the standard of excellence, and only those whose interests demand the unknown could offer it.

Without again going to the expense of advertising all ALABAMA FERTILIZER in the celebrated ALABAMA VEGETABLE FIBRE PRESERVED BAGS, which are sold and worked, and which, after years of handling, are still as good as new, thoroughly in consideration and prominent tests, have been tendered by the Alabama Experiment Department, who recommend these bags to the farmers of our State. Numerous experts on fertilizing have given opinion that they will only facilitate for shipment furnished sealed in these celebrated bags, thereby keeping both transportation and their contents free from loss in handling.

One of the exhibits of the recent Goods Bonds Proceeding which attracted the attention of all was a cotton drawn by one well had often averaging 14 bales of cotton produced on the acre of land, made from Russell Improved Big Boll cotton by the use of ALABAMA FERTILIZER.

Customers Protected by Trade Mark.

The law requires every sack of fertilizer sold in the State to have the word ALABAMA branded on each sack offered for sale in the State.

To protect both ourselves and our customers we have our trade mark on every sack of ALABAMA FERTILIZER, we are the first with RUSSELL VEGETABLE FIBRE PRESERVED BAG. Our Trade Mark is copyrighted, the Bag is patented and we will prosecute any infringement to effect. See that the Trade Mark and Tag are on each sack. Be certain to get what you want.

Pure high grade Acid Phosphate and Genuine German Kainit always on hand and sold at no higher price than other products of equal grade.

A Testimonial From High Authority.

Joseph S. Bishop, President of the Board of Inspectors of the Alabama Convict Stores, who is well and favorably known throughout all South particularly in Alabama, whose sole management of the convict system of our State has met with the approval of all, himself a farmer of twenty years' experience has the following words of commendation to say in regard to the Celebrated Alabama Fertilizer.

Executive Department of Alabama,
Convict Bureau.
Montgomery, Feb. 20, 1900.

I consider the ALABAMA FERTILIZER the best manufactured. I have raised and seen others raise large crops of cotton and corn by its use.

In my opinion the farmer who invests in it will succeed in making larger crops of cotton and corn at less cost than any other fertilizer with which I have had dealt with phosphate, kainit and cottonseed meal in any proportion or quantity whatsoever.

My conclusions are arrived at after an experience of twenty years in the use of fertilizers—during which long period I have tried many kinds of fertilizers.

The RUSSELL VEGETABLE FIBRE PRESERVED BAGS, in which the ALABAMA FERTILIZER is put up, is one of the greatest blessings to all, and who better than the farmer can appreciate and value the cessation of loss in handling, carting, the greatest blessings to all, and who better than the farmer can appreciate and value the cessation of loss in handling, carting, and exposure by having to struggle fertilizers put up in the ordinary bag. I have seen some Mexican Bags used very, which is the strongest testimony of their superior merits.

S. S. BISHOP, Secretary.

The Record of Alabama Fertilizer.

Nine hundred and forty four miles of cotton on one acre of poor sandy upland.
Three hundred and thirty-two bushels of oats on one acre of poor sandy upland.
Twenty-hundred and forty-one bushels of corn on twenty acres of poor upland.
Land and work accurately surveyed and measured by competent disinterested and honorable men.
It is the oldest brand now sold in Alabama, and is just the same as it always has been. Every one of the 40 premiums given during a series of years, through the COMMERCIAL AND INDUSTRIAL ASSOCIATION, for the greatest yield of cotton and corn on a specified acre of land, was awarded to farmers who used exclusively the ALABAMA FERTILIZER.

THE ALABAMA FERTILIZER COMPANY,

Montgomery, Ala.

1901 WORLD ALMANAC

AND ENCYCLOPEDIA

of Statistical Volume of Facts and Figures Containing Over 600 Pages.

OVER 1,000 TOPICS
OVER 10,000 FACTS.

SPECIAL FEATURES—

The census of 1900. National and State election returns. Fourteen months of American progress. Political record of 1900 conventions and platforms. American rule in the Philippines. New governments of Porto Rico and Hawaii. Polar exploration in 1900. Conclusion of the South African war. Pan-American Exposition of 1901. China—its present condition and status among nations. Roster of general officers of the Regular U. S. Army, 1779—1900.

A Political Register.

Facts that every patriot and voter ought to know.

Standard American Annual.

Price 25 cts. Postpaid to any address. THE WORLD, Pulitzer Bldg., New York.

Neuralgia and Neuralgia cured by Dr. MILES' PAIN PILLS. "One cent a dose."

Extreme Adoration.

A young man whose battered nose was red and pink and yellow with the labels of European hotels boarded a street car and held to the conductor. "I go six blocks. How much?"

"Oh, only a nickel," the conductor answered. But the young man insisted on over 15 cents, saying, "They charge a glass of beer and a cigar on me."

The conductor gave thanks for the tip and added, "First trip from Europe, hey?" And to his astonishment the young man nodded assent.

Out on the back platform a little later the conductor described the incident to a couple of passengers. "He asked me what the fare was for six blocks," said, "and then he gave me a tip. It was a case of false aboutismitis. He has just returned from Europe where you pay by the distance on street cars and where you tip the doctors, and he pronounced to forget he wasn't in Europe still.

"We thought I'd educate him of his strange conduct, and I would have too, if the trick wasn't an old one to me. Here and in New York, especially in New York, you are constantly running up against people who forget they aren't European emigrants on you. They do it so you'll know their have been abroad."—Philadelphia Record.

EUREKA. ITCHING HUMORS FINALLY CURED AT 8 80.

Doctor Does Not Interfere

Does your Skin Itch and Burn, Disfiguring Eruptions on the Face, you feel ashamed to be seen in society? Do scabs and Scales form on the skin, Hair or Scalp? Have you Scurvy, Skin Sore and Crusts, Rash, Dermatitis, Eczema, Pimples on the Skin? Boils, Eruptions, Rose Spots, Bumps, Jaundice, Pimples, Itch, All Rash, Dandruff, Old Sores? Rising Sores, Chronic Ulcers? To cure to stay cured take B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm) which makes the blood pure and rich. B. B. B. will cause the sores to heal, nothing of eczema to stop from the skin to become clean and healthy and sweet. B. B. B. is just the Remedy you have been looking for. This mighty tested for thirty years, thousands testimonials are received to my B. B. B. Per sale by druggists at $1 per large bottle; six large bottles ($5 value) $5. We have free book to sent Botanic Blood Balm. Complete directions with each bottle. Sufferers may test it a trial bottle free for the asking. Write for it. Address BLOOD BALM CO., Atlanta, Ga. Describe your trouble. Free personal medical advice given.

Interested.

Jewelerich—I never can remember my cards to leave when calling.

Gentleman—The rules are very medium. You hand one to the lady and then on departing leave one in the plate as there are adult members of the family, adding two of your husband's cards and occasionally drop in a few more for good measure. Do not be niggardly in dealing them, as that suggests vulgar poverty.

Jewelerich—Very much obliged. Are you a book of etiquette?

Gentleman. I am Mr. Bristol, the manufacturer.—Exchange.

Duplicated.

"I said the drug clerk, "is a powerful hard remedy. It's our specialty."

"Give me a bottle," said the old man. "But, say, come to think of it, why don't you use it yourself?"

"I do use it. You see, I'm the drug clerk. The 'after using' cut at home. You should see my."—Philadelphia Press.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

World-wide fame for marvelous cures. It surpasses any other salve, ointment or balm for Cuts, Burns, Boils, Sores, Ulcers, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Chapped Hands, Skin Eruptions. Infallible for Piles. Cure guaranteed. Only at Clanton drug store.

THE BEST WAY TO THE

SOUTH AND SOUTH-WEST,

NORTH AND NORTH-WEST,

—BY THE—

L. & N.

LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE R. R.

The Through Cars

Of this line pass Cairo daily, running through Montgomery, Mobile and New Orleans.

Connecting with all points in

TEXAS AND THE WEST.

Also running through to Nashville, Louisville, Chicago and St. Louis.

Connecting for all points in

NORTH AND NORTHWEST.

Before purchasing tickets write the Agent of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad at Clanton, Ala., or A. O. P. A., Louisville, Ky.

Mortgage Sale.

State of Alabama,
County.

Whereas, by virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage executed to W. T. Quillin and his wife, N. to H. C. Gandy on the 5th day of January, 1894, and filed November, which said mortgage was duly recorded in the office of the Judge of Probate of Chilton County, Alabama, in Mortgage Record No. 32, page 34, on the 5th day of April, 1894; and which said mortgage was duly transferred by H. C. Gandy to S. Mass & Co., and by S. Mass & Co. to W. H. Rouse on the 5th day of January, 1901, I will proceed to the highest bidder for cash, in front of the Court House door in Chilton County, Alabama, on MONDAY, MARCH 4, 1901,

within the legal hours of sale, the following described property, to wit:

One and 1 at in Stanton, Ala. Lot being in the Nw ¼ of Nw ¼ of Section 7, Township 20, Range 13, four and a half acres.

Stanton, Ala., this 28th day of Feb., 1901.

W. H. ROUSE, Transferee.

Subscribe for The Banner.

Judge of Probate

THE BANNER.

LET THE PEOPLE RULE.

CLANTON, ALA. THURSDAY FEBRUARY 7. 1901 NO. 16

CORRESPONDENCE.

[We are willing to publish our subscribers views at any time, but it must be distinctly understood we do not hold ourselves responsible for these opinions.—EDITOR.]

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY

Take Laxative Bromo-Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. E. W. Grove's signature is on each box. 25c.

Knoxdale.

Farmers are making preparations for another crop; quite a number of new grounds are being taken up in this part of the country.

Mrs. Glass is quite ill at this writing, hope she will soon be restored to health.

Dr. G. E. Wright and Mrs. Veazey visited Mr. J. C. Veazey last week.

Mr. D. C. Hubbard is building near his old place, he having bought land from his brother, Mr. T. L. Hubbard. We are glad to have to Mr. Hubbard back with us.

Bro. T. U. Crompton gave us a lecture not long since which was enjoyed by all. CLINT.

A Convincing Answer

"I hobbled into Mr. Backmon's drug store one evening," says Wesley Nelson, of Hamilton, Ga., "and he asked me to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm for Rheumatism with which I had suffered for a long time. I told him I had no faith in any medicine as they all failed. He said 'Well if Chamberlain's Pain Balm does not help you, you need not pay for it.' I took a bottle of it home and used it according to the directions and in one week I was cured, and have not since been troubled with rheumatism." Sold by Clanton Drug Co., and D. I. Deramus, Verbena.

Jasmine.

We had a fine rain in our town to-day; everything is getting along nicely in our town.

Miss Ethel Johnson spent the day with her friends at Mr. J. D. Sims.

We are glad to say Mr. T. Mills is some better.

Mr. T. J. Marcus visited his brother at Billingsley.

Mrs. Propst's father is down to visit her from North Carolina.

Mr. J. Y. Propst has returned from a visit to Birmingham.

Mr. H. A. Askins visited Verbena recently.

Mr. D. W. Wilkins has moved to our town.

Mr. Lee Willis and wife went to Montgomery yesterday.

Mr. Mack Marlar, from Billingsley, will enter our school Monday.

Mr. D. A. Ash spent Saturday in Maplesville.

Messrs. L. L. Courtney and R. H. Dickinson were in town yesterday.

The greatest danger from colds and la grippe is their resulting in pneumonia. If reasonable care is used, however, and Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is taken, all danger will be avoided. It will cure a cold or an attack of la grippe in less time than any other treatment. It is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by Clanton Drug Co., and D. I. Deramus, Verbena.

Poplar Springs.

Farmers are fast preparing for another crop. Some are having rail splittings and log rollings. Soon we will hear the shouts of the plow boy, as he plods merily along thinking of more ten cent cotton.

Arm breaking seems to be prevalent in our community now. Last week the little daughter of Mrs. M. B. Jones, while bird thrashing, was climbing over a fence fell and broke her arm. Saturday the little daughter of Mr. Bill Driver, Sr., fell from the fence and broke her arm.

SAME OLD IKE.

The best way to keep your enemies from finding out your own faults is not to let your friends know them.

Industry is the right hand of fortune.

Stanton.

Misses Natalie Reed and Ida Reynolds, of Riderville, paid friends a pleasant visit last week.

Dr. F. M. Parnell, of Lily, was in the city for a few hours last Sunday.

Mrs. Macon has moved to Riderville where she will take charge of the Riderville boarding house. We wish her much success.

Miss Belle Fox, of Cox's chapel is visiting her sister, Mrs. Martin.

Mr. Roy Fitts, of Riderville paid us a visit last Thursday.

Miss Effie Harris, of Riderville, attended the oyster supper here last Thursday night.

Messrs. G. F. Martin, W. L. A. Melton, Howell Martin, W. T. Nelson, John Johnson, Jim Burk and Jesse Johnson attended Probate court at Clanton this week.

C. P. Jeffcoat has resigned his position at the furniture shop and will devote his time to his farm.

STAN.

Working Overtime.

Eight hour laws are ignored by those tireless, little workers—Dr. King's New Life Pills. Millions are always at work, night and day, curing Indigestion, Biliousness, Constipation, Sick Headache and all Stomach, Liver and Bowel troubles. Easy, pleasant, safe, sure. Only 25c at Clanton drug store.

Juliet Not the Night.

At a small seaport town a star actress of the latest magnitude appeared as Juliet.

"I cannot do justice to myself," she said to the manager, "if I do not have a limelight thrown on me when I appear on the balcony."

"We ain't got no limelight, miss, but I think we could get you a ship's blue light," replied the obliging manager, and to this the lady agreed.

The lad who went to the shop to buy the blue light brought back a signal rocket, which was given to him by mistake. The prompter took the rocket in good faith.

Romeo—He jests at scars who never felt a wound.

(Juliet appears. Prompter lights a match.)

"But, soft! What light through yonder window breaks?"

(This was the match lighting the fuse.)

"Affeo, fair star!"

The sun—or rather the rocket—did rise with a terrific hiss. Juliet was knocked off the balcony, the fly borders were set on fire, and the theater was filled with a sulphurous smoke, while the audience, which was fortunately a small one, made a stampede to the doors.

Since then "Romeo and Juliet" has always been looked upon in that town as a dangerous work that could not be witnessed without personal danger.—New World.

Quicksilver.

The ore from which quicksilver is obtained is a brilliant red rock known as cinnabar. When of high purity, it is actually vermilion in color. Cinnabar is the original source of the pigment known commonly as vermilion. It is a compound of sulphur and quicksilver, and in order to separate the latter from the sulphur the rock is roasted. Passing off in the form of a gas, the mercury is afterward condensed and flows out in a fine stream, like a continuous bench of molten silver.

The discovery of the famous California mines came about in an odd sort of way by observation of the vermilion paint with which certain Indians in that part of the country frescoed their bodies. It was ascertained where they got the pigment, and thus were revealed the rich deposits which subsequently became of such commercial importance. Like gold and silver, mercury is occasionally found in a native or pure state. Sometimes the miner's pick penetrates a cavity that contains a cupful or more of the elusive and beautiful fluid.

Miners suffer much from the poisonous effects of the quicksilver fumes. Extreme cleanliness is the best safeguard for workers in this dangerous occupation. Use is also made of a sort of lemonade which serves to a certain extent as an antidote, a strong acid taking the place of lemon juice in the composition of the drink.—Saturday Evening Post.

Artificial Eyes.

Artificial eyes are supplied to all the world from Thuringia, Germany. Nearly all the grown inhabitants of some of the villages are engaged in their manufacture. Four men usually sit at a table, each with a gas jet in front of him, and the eyes are blown from gas plates and molded into shape by hand. The colors are then traced in with small needles, no set rule being observed in the coloring, and as every man uses his own fancy no two artificial eyes therefore are exactly alike.

Thorsby.

LANDS FOR SALE.

$2.50 PER ACRE.

We have for sale a small farm containing 40 acres, of which 30 acres are now under cultivation. Some houses on the place; land fenced; a good spring of running water. If this land was located in the Thorsby colony it would be worth $1200.00. The land is located about four miles west of Thorsby and you may take it for $100. (Sold February 16, 1900.)

General Farming Lands for sale, $5.00 to $15.00 per acre.

Unimproved Orchard and Vineyard Lands at $15.00 per acre.

Improved Orchard and Vineyard Lands from $40 to $60 per acre.

Two small farms for rent; a 7 room Cottage for sale.

Special inducements to merchants and manufacturers in the progressive town of Thorsby, the market center of Chilton county. For further particulars call at the offices of

THE CONCORDIA LAND AND IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION.
THORSBY, ALA.

PROGRAM TEACHERS' INSTITUTE to be held at Verbena Feb. 22nd, and 23d.

FRIDAY, 10 a.m. Devotional Exercises.

10:30 a.m. Welcome Address, F. B. Baldwin. Response, J. W. Moore.

11 a.m. Attention, J. M. Collier, L. E. Byrum.

11:30. Current History, Judson Strock, H. L. Davis.

1.30 p.m. The Teacher and Sickness, W. M. Riddle, Albert Grant.

2. Incentives to study, Thos. Williams, Wm. Luther.

2:30. Best method of Reading, Prof. Williams, H. A. Askins.

3:30 Why we teach Geography, Miss Ida Flora, Miss Mary Moody.

7:30. Lecture, Dr. E. R. Eldridge of Lafayette.

SATURDAY, 9:30 a.m. Requisites to successful teaching, G. L. Speer, Mrs. A. G. Dunlap.

10 Why should the State Educate her children and to what extent? R. A. Rasco, J. W. Dennis.

10:30. Graded Studies for Common Schools, R. E. R. Hicks, A. J. Neugent. Prof. Ryland.

11. Lecture, A. J. Cole of Birmingham.

1:30 p.m. Opening the Query box. Members of the Institute or others interested are at liberty to present any question which they would like to hear discussed.

We would like to see every teacher in the county at this Institute. We expect some able speakers, among them Dr. E. R. Eldridge, of Lafayette, State Supt. John W. Abercrombie and others.

Committee—J. M. Collier, G. L. Speer, A. J. Neugent, Thos. Williams, E. C. Jones, Judson Strock.

J. W. MOORE, County Supt.

TO ROAD OVERSEERS AND APPORTIONERS.

On account of the fact that the Commissioners Court in November, 1898, used the old blank in appointing the Apportioners, which reads two years instead of four, their commissions have mislead many of the Apportioners. I wish to call attention to Road Apportioners and Overseers that their term is four years instead of two.

At any time any of the Apportioners will send me their commission I will make the correction and make them read four years instead of two.

S. M. ADAMS,
Judge of Probate.

Six Million A Year.

Did you ever stop to consider what a million means? Multiply this six times and it shows you how popular Cascarets are and what merit they possess. For last year over six million boxes of this wonderful medicine for liver and bowels were sold in this country alone. The American people know a good thing. The sale of Cascarets prove it. The medicine is the best for the bowels, the right price, 10c, 25c and 50c a box, and a 50c box is a whole month's treatment for the worst kind of a case. It is a pleasure for us to advertise a medicine like this as well as to endorse the makers and ask our readers to buy it.

WANTED.

200 ACRES at $6.00 per acre. Titles perfect. Plenty of water on the place. Fine reed brake for pasture. One mile north of Thorsby. J. A. SKAGGS, Jemison, Ala.

FOR SALE. A complete entertainment outfit, consisting of 1 Stereoptican, 1 Optograph or moving picture machine, 1 Calcium light apparatus, 1 gas making outfit, 1 set Views Spanish American war, 5 50 ft. Films for Optograph. All new. Also 1 horse and spring wagon. Full particulars of C. Nally, Randolph, Ala.

MONEY to Loan on good real estate. Apply to X. Y. Z., care of the Banner, Clanton, Ala.

A BONA FIDE SALARY—$12 Weekly. Men and women to appoint agents and represent us, some to travel, others for local work. $12 weekly salary and expenses. Old established house, pleasant permanent positions, rapid advancement and increase of wages. Write at once. Address BUTLER & ALGER, Dept. E, New Haven, Conn.

The Best Prescription for Malaria

Chills and Fever is a bottle of GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC. It is simply iron and quinine in a tasteless form. No cure—no pay. Price 50c

---

$200 REWARD.

The above reward will be paid to any person or persons for the arrest and conviction of the parties who broke into the Court House and blew open the county safe at Clanton, Ala., on Sunday night, Nov. 25, 1900.

S. M. ADAMS,
Judge of Probate.
Clanton, Ala.

Had To Conquer Or Die.

"I was just about gone," writes Mrs. Rosa Richardson, of Laurel N. C., "I had Consumption so bad that the best doctors said I could not live more than a month, but I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery and was wholly cured by seven bottles and am now stout and well." It's an unrivaled life-saver in Consumption, Pneumonia, La Grippe and Bronchitis; infallible for Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Hay Fever, Croup or Whooping Cough. Guaranteed bottles 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at Clanton drug store.

CHESTNUT LION

A Fine Tennessee Jack 15 Hands high, Full of Life a Fine Breeder and Sure Foal-Getter, will stand at JEMISON, ALA, this season.

W. C. EVANS, Proprietor,
JEMISON, ALA.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

TIPTON MULLINS
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW
CLANTON - ALA

WILLIAM H. ADAMS
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW
Practice in all Courts.
Office at the Adams' place
CLANTON - - - ALA

JOHN C. DENNIS
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW
Practice in the Supreme Court of Alabama, and all Inferior Courts.
CLANTON, - - ALA

ROBERT H. HICK,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,
Clanton, Ala.
Will practice in all the State and Federal Courts of Alabama.

Dr. OTTO M. WISEHART,
DENTIST.
OFFICE HOURS. 8 to 12 a.m. and 1 to 5 p.m.
Office over Wright's Store CLANTON

Dr. GEO. A. DENNIS,
SPECIALIST
Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat
OFFICE 30 S. PERRY ST.
Office Hours: 9 to 12 and 2 to 4.
Telephone 604—2 Rings.
MONTGOMERY, ALA.

CHURCH DIRECTORY

BAPTIST—Preaching on the first and third sundays at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Sunday-school every sunday at 10 a.m.

Prayer-meeting every Thursday evening at 7 o'clock.

F. M. WOODS, Pastor.

METHODIST—Preaching every second sunday at 7 p.m., and every fourth sunday at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Sunday-school at 10 a.m. every sunday.

Prayer-meeting at seven o'clock every Wednesday night.

D. F. ELLISON, Pastor.

CLANTON BARBER SHOP
W. H. TAYLOR, Proprietor.
HAIR CUTTING
SHAVING
SHAMPOOING
In all the Latest Clay Styles. Reasonable Charges. Prompt Attention.
HOT AND COLD BATHS.
CLANTON

E. W. Grove
This signature is on every box of the genuine Laxative Bromo-Quinine Tablets the remedy that cures a cold in one day

The BANNER office is the only Job Printing establishment in Chilton and Coosa counties. We give you best work at lower prices than you can get elsewhere. Give us trial

The Farmers' Mutual Insurance Association of Alabama.

CHARTERED BY SPECIAL ACT OF THE LEGISLATURE.

"BY THE PEOPLE AND FOR THE PEOPLE."

CHILTON COUNTY BRANCH

PRESIDENT: N. J. CALLOWAY, Clanton.
SEC'Y & TREAS.: P. D. WILSON, Clanton.
GENERAL AGENT: WALLACE C. EDLER, Clanton.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

1. H. C. Young
2. Thomas Harrison
3. R. S. McCary
4. D. F. Jacks
5. W. H. Thomas.
6. A. T. Hathcock
7. C. J. Coburn
8. John F. Parnell
9. D. N. Riggins.

Insures farmer's dwellings, outbuildings and contents, and live stock against loss by fire, wind and lightning.

The assessments for the year just closed was only 23c on the $1000 policy.

The cheapest, safest and most sensible method of insurance known to man. For full particulars call on or address the General Agent WALLACE C. EDLER, Clanton, Ala.

Subscribe for The Banner.

Mortgage Sale.

State of Alabama,
Chilton County.

Under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage executed by W. T. Quillin and his wife, N. Quillin to D. L. Gandy on the 5th day of January 1894 and the November 1, 1894 which said mortgage was duly recorded in the office of the Judge of Probate of Chilton County, Alabama, in Mortgage Record No. 33, page 34, on the 24th day of April, 1894; and which said mortgage was duly transferred by D. L. Gandy to S. Maas & Co., and by S. Maas & Co. to W. H. Rouse on the 1st day of January, 1901, I will proceed to sell to the highest bidder, for cash, in front of the Court House door in Clanton, Chilton County, Alabama, on

TUESDAY, MARCH 4, 1901,

between the legal hours of sale, the following described property, to wit:

One House and Lot in Stanton, Alabama, said Lot being in the NW ¼ of NE ¼ of Section 7, Township 20, Range 12, containing four and a half acres.

Dated at Stanton, Ala., this 28th day January, 1901.

W. H. ROUSE, Transferee.

THE BANNER.

Published Weekly.

CLANTON, - - - ALABAMA.

Controller Coler's latest analysis of New York City's expenses shows that the park system of the metropolis costs each inhabitant a trifle less than half a cent per annum. Cheap enough, considering the benefits they get therefrom.

The Boers have had at least one powerful ally. In the House of Commons a question elicited the statement that there had been 15,625 cases of typhoid fever among the British troops in South Africa, and that of this number 3642 proved fatal.

An interesting contribution to educational research is furnished in the annual report of the President of the St. Louis Board of Education. This educator takes issue with those who believe that poverty is the main cause of children leaving school before the completion of the course. Inquiry has shown him, he reports, that the losses in attendance occur almost entirely among the older and the backward pupils, who have lost interest, or have grown discontented because of the contrast in point of progress between them and younger children. For these the excuse of poverty is regarded as only a cloak. Added to the influence of the children in the matter is the parents' lack of appreciation of the value of an education.

The big guns are ahead once more in the unending struggle between immovable body and irresistible force which naval experts carry on the world over. Uncle Sam's latest 12-inch naval gun develops the amazing muzzle velocity of 2854 feet per second, and its 850-pound steel projectile could be sent smashing through any protective armor yet put on a battleship. The gun will do the work of destruction sure enough; the only difficulty with these steel-belted monsters is the hitting of the mark. Hundreds of 2-inch shot and shell were sent hurling at the Spanish foe on land and sea during the recent petty war with Spain; but it has not been recorded that a single one of these huge messengers of death reached its mark.

Here is what one of the big men of the New York Stock Exchange has to say of the changes in the financial world that are taking place: "Mark this as a prediction. By 1910, and possibly w[illegible] a less time, members of the New York Stock Exchange will be trading in London securities, just as American securities are now being traded in in London. The money centre of the world will surely be on this side of the Atlantic, for never in history were fortunes being piled up so rapidly or to such enormous proportions as they now are here. Already we have more money than our rich men know now to invest to advantage, and the small percentages they are willing to accept are ample proof of it. We are sure to be supreme in matters of finance, and my belief is that the change will come in five rather than ten years. That it will come is the belief in Paris and in Berlin, as I learned from men who handle enormous amounts of capital in those centres, though they do not believe the change will come as soon as I have predicted. But come, they admit, it surely will."

Chicago papers do not tire of sounding the praises of the city's juvenile court, and of the good work it is doing in the reformation of wayward boys. The reports made are ample justification for the praise. In the last year six probation officers, aided by 16 policemen, 20 truant officers, and 40 volunteers, have handled 4300 cases of delinquents in the slums of Chicago. The fact that the juvenile court has jurisdiction in all such cases, with power to compel obedience, has a restraining influence on boys and a disciplinary influence on parents. In many cases the offender is not taken before the juvenile court at all. The probation officer—sometimes the principal of a public school—notifies the father that unless the erring boy complies with certain rules he will be taken before the court and possibly sentenced to the John Worthy school or to the reformatory at Pontiac. Then the boy is given a trial. No one in the neighborhood or in the school he attends knows that he is on probation. If the boy chooses to avoid the court he has the opportunity, and in nine cases out of ten, according to the Chicago Inter Ocean, he makes good use of the opportunity.

MILLIONS VIEW FUNERAL MARCH

Queen's Mortal Remains Escorted Through Streets of London.

SCENE WAS GRANDLY IMPOSING

Solemn Services Over Dead Held In George's Chapel and a Watch Set Over the Bier.

With every circumstance of splendid pomp befitting the obsequies of so beloved a monarch, all that is mortal of Queen Victoria was borne through the streets of London Saturday, and started toward the ancient fortress palace of the sovereigns of England. Perhaps the stately grandeur of the day's sorrowful pageant through the swarming streets of London, with hundreds of thousands of mourners forming a black border to the route, will never be surpassed.

Friday the family, friends and tenantry paid their last tribute to Queen Victoria at Cowes, and the navy paid its last tribute on the Solent. Saturday the nation was crowding the capital, and tendering, with an enormous popular demonstration, its farewell to their beloved monarch.

A drenching rain was falling when, at 8:30 o'clock a. m. the royal mourners disembarked at the Clarence yard, Portsmouth, where lay the royal yacht, "Alberta," with the coffin on its deck, and where a marine guard had watched all night. The sailors bore the body ashore and placed the coffin in the royal saloon of a special train, while all the ships stretching away to Cowes, fired minute guns. Their captains and chief officers were present at the dock and bade a last farewell. The train started at once for London.

The firing of the minute guns and the tolling of bells at 11:15 announced to the countless multitude who had been crowding London's muddy streets since daylight that the funeral procession with the body of Queen Victoria had begun its passage through the capital. The people fought for hours for a glimpse of the coffin and the kings and others following it. They saw a long procession of soldiers, a passing show of dazzling regalia, with a hundred royalties crowding after them.

The day was somber, wet and chilly, as are most of London's winter days. The cloudy sky added to the gloom of the whole city.

The gun carriage bearing the coffin, drawn by cream colored horses, was accompanied by officers as outriders, and behind, all mounted, came the most remarkable guard of honor that has ever been seen in modern times. It consisted of King Edward, Duke of Connaught, and Kaiser William, riding abreast, and behind them came a few titled attendants, more "gold sticks," and then King Carlos of Portugal, King George of Greece and King Leopold of Belgium. The latter, being feeble, rode in a carriage.

The whole royal company of forty, all riding, consisted of three kings, one emperor and the crown princes of Roumania, Sweden, Germany, Denmark, Siam and Greece; the Duke of Aosta, heir presumptive of the Italian throne; Archduke Francis Ferdinand, of Australia, and Grand Duke Michael of Russia.

The remainder was made up of German and English princes. Following this came a cortege of mounted royalty and six carriages bearing Queen Alexandria, princesses and King Leopold.

The crowd fairly gasped at the splendor of the show, though throughout the passing of the procession they remained silent and stood with bared heads.

Never in English history has a sovereign been borne to the grave attended by so many distinguished mourners. The gathering of crowned heads surpassed those who rode in the jubilee procession. All the great officers of state participated. The display of the naval and military forces reached the great total of 25,000 men.

The funeral train arrived at Windsor at 2:15 o'clock and the coffin was immediately transferred to another gun carriage and escorted to Royal Chapel, where the distinguished congregation was waiting. The whole interior of the chapel had been draped with purple hangings, making a fine effect. Mendelssohn's funeral march was rendered as the body was borne in. Then followed the ordinary burial service of the Church of England, with the opening sentences chanted.

The psalms, "Lord, thou has been a refuge" and "Man that is born of a woman," were chanted. The anthem, "How blest are they thus chosen," was sung. Archbishop of Canterbury then pronounced the benediction.

After the service the lord steward and the lord chamberlain broke their wands and laid them on the coffin, which was then carried into the Albert memorial chapel, the family only following.

The queen's body lay in Albert chapel at Windsor, guarded faithfully, awaiting the last rites of interment at Frogmore Monday afternoon.

The officials of the royal household at Windsor castle visited the chapel Sunday, as well as a number of friends, and admired the great display of wreaths covering the coffin.

INCIDENTS OF THE DAY.

An incident that caused much excitement and regret occurred during the progress of the funeral procession at Windsor. The horses attached to the gun carriage became restive kicked over the traces and nearly overturned the gun caraige with the coffin. The animals were quickly removed and 100 sailors, drawing the carriage by a long rope, completed the journey. The incident delayed the procession about one-half hour.

Another incident was the sudden death of an on-looker who proved to be a retired army officer.

The directors of the Northeastern Railway System of England ordered that at 2:30 p. m., the hour appointed for the funeral at Windsor, all trains be brought to a standstill and every servant of the company remain motionless for ten minutes.

The London hospitals cared for 1,300 persons who were injured in the crowd. Of this number, however, only sixty were seriously hurt, including several policemen and soldiers and a number of women suffering from broken limbs.

One well dressed woman fell down in the street and was picked up dead, the excitement having killed her before she had the opportunity to see the pageant.

Already the political phases of the occasion are being discussed. The remarkable prominence of Germans and German influence is noteworthy. Emperor William's officers, soldiers and sailors were more conspicuous in all the ceremonies than were those of all other nations together. This has had the effect of popularizing Germany with the people, who recently regarded her as their most menacing enemy.

SERVICES AT WASHINGTON.

Officials at Capital Mourn For England's Dead Ruler.

In the presence of a distinguished assemblage, including the president of the United States and his entire cabinet, impressive tribute was rendered to England's dead queen at Washington Saturday. The ceremony occurred at St. John's Episcopal church, beginning at 11 o'clock, and was distinctly official in character.

The British ambassador, Lord Pauncefote, had been directed by the London foreign office to bestow this last mark of respect to the dead sovereign, and the time was chosen so as to correspond exactly with the solemn pageant in London as the mother of rulers was borne to Windsor.

FIVE AMERICANS KILLED.

Filipinos Surprise Detachment of Company M, and Do Deadly Work.

A Manila dispatch says: Lieutenant Hicken and a detachment of thirty of Company M. Forty-fourth Regiment, while crossing a river Tuesday night, February 29th, were surprised by insurgents gathered at Fiesta San Lucia, Island of Cebu. They were attacked in front and on both flanks by a hundred rifles and more bolomen.

Five Americans were killed, four were wounded and two are missing. The insurgents loss is believed to have been heavy.

Captain Malley, with a detachment, reinforced Lieutenant Hicken. They recovered some bodies which were mutilated. Additional detachments were sent and are endeavoring to surround the insurgents.

OFFICIALS ARE ROASTED.

Compromise Longino-Gibson Case In Mississippi Condemned.

The action of the Mississippi state officials in compromising the Gibson alleged bribery case is being made the subject of some very severe criticisms by the state press.

With but few exceptions every newspaper in the commonwealth voices the opinion that Governor Longino and the officials who were associated with him in the prosecution of the prisoner made a very grave mistake and that the result reached by no means redound to their credit.

Nay, Nay, Says Hill.

The announcement that Senator Hill is not a candidate for the presidential nomination of his party in 1904 is made by the Albany correspondent of Leslie's Weekly in the current number.

Winston Takes the Palm.

Winston, N. C., broke all former records in the shipment of manufactured tobacco during January, the total being 2,595,145½ pounds, an increase of more than 250,000 pounds over the same month of last year. The revenue stamp sales aggregated $327,992.12.

President Signs Army Bill.

The president signed the bill for the reorganization of the army at 12:45 o'clock Saturday.

TO DISCUSS GOOD ROADS.

Florida Association Will Hold State Convention in Jacksonville.

A state convention of the Florida Good Roads Association and the county commissioners of Florida will be held in Jacksonville on Tuesday, February 19th. At the convention reports will be heard as to the progress of building improved roads in the various counties, and proposed road legislation in the coming assembly will be discussed.

WILL FIGHT POOL BILL

Citizens of Pratt City Arranging for Cheaper Insurance.

A TRIBUTE TO VICTORIA.

Will Bore for Oil--$15,000 School Building to Be Erected--Other State News.

Over $6,000 for Hillman Hospital.

The mass meeting at the First Methodist church in Birmingham Sunday night, held in the interest of the Hillman Hospital building fund, was a pronounced success. The ladies in charge of this worthy institution call for $25,000 in order that they may go forward with the work of erecting the new building, the plans of which have been adopted, and at the meeting the sum of $6162.44 was raised toward the needed fund.

The pastors of the various churches of Birmingham suspended their regular Sunday evening services so that all the congregations might unite in mass meeting. The Rev. John G. Murray, rector of the Church of the Advent, acted as chairman, and sitting on the pulpit platform with him were the Rev. Dr. J. P. McFerrin, pastor of the First Methodist church; the Rev. L. S. Handley, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church, and the Rev. Dr. D. B. Gray, pastor of the First Baptist church.

Pratt City Wants Cheaper Insurance.

With the water works in successful operation and an efficient fire department property values have increased in Pratt City, and cheaper insurance rates have been looked for, the rates in some cases being as high as 8½ cents. Many of the citizens are dissatisfied and are agitating the question of canceling their policies and devising a plan for mutual protection. The one most likely to be adopted will be the appointment of an insurance commissioner who, with the assistance of an advisory board, will district and rate the different risks of the city, each insured paying into the treasury his premiums, which shall be placed under bond in some bank or trust company for the purpose of paying losses; any profits accruing therefrom to be applied to improving the fire department. It is thought with the city's excellent water works and fire department this will afford ample protection and the needed relief.

$15,000 School Building Will be Erected.

Jasper is to have a fifteen thousand dollar school building in the near future. The city authorities held a meeting one night last week and Aldermen White and Hughs, who had been appointed to select a site for the new building, reported that after having investigated the matter thoroughly they had decided upon the location on which the old school stood.

Montgomery Presbyterians.

The Pulpit of the First Presbyterian church of Montgomery, which seems to have been vacant for several months, is about to be filled by the appointment of a young Georgian. It is understood that the Rev. W. L. Lingle, of Dalton, will be called to the church in Montgomery.

New Bank at Stevenson.

S. S. Broadus, cashier of the Merchants' Bank at Scottsboro, has completed arrangements for the establishment of his seventh banking institution in north Alabama The new bank is located at Stevenson, The banks under his personal control are at Tuscumbia, Florence, Russellville, Scottsboro, Moulton, Courtland and Stevenson, which makes the most complete string of banking institutions in the state.

The people of Waterloo are arranging for a circulating library.

Cumberland Presbyterian Church Organized at Easley.

A Cumberland Presbyterian church was organized at Easley Sunday afternoon under most favorable auspices. Dr. I. D. Steele, pastor of the Birmingham Cumberland Presbyterian church, conducted the exercises. The new church starts with sixteen charter members.

Chief Austin Makes Two Raids.

At 11 o'clock Sunday night a squad of policemen, headed by Chief Austin, paid a visit to the Leisure Hours Reading Club, Birmingham, over the Dude saloon, at the corner of Second avenue and Twentieth street, as it was believed gambling was carried on there. No criminating evidence was found but the clubmen present--Humphries, Freeman, Butterfield and Griffith, were arrested on the charge of vagrancy, and were held in the sum of $50 each to appear before Judge Feagin.

From the Leisure Hours place Chief Austin and Captain Weir raided a crap club over Damon & Lee's livery stable and arrested twelve negroes. Pistols, bowie knives, rundlets of whiskey and several cases of beer were also secured.

Will Bore for Oil.

The Commercial Club of Birmingham Friday afternoon authorized the president to appoint a committee to take up the question of prospecting for petroleum, and in accordance with a resolution to that effect President Kettig appointed a committee consisting of Maj. F. Y. Anderson, W. N. Malone and B. Steiner. It is also stated that a syndicate is now being formed to prospect for oils. Over half the money necessary to purchase the machinery and to pay all of the expenses connected with the tests to be made has been subscribed, and an expert engaged to conduct the investigation. The location of the proposed wells has been selected, and work is to begin at once.

Pastors' Union Will Fight Pool Bill

The Pastors' Union, of Birmingham, at its meeting Monday morning, took up the pool-selling bill which has been introduced in the lower house of the General Assembly giving the Alabama Fair Association the right to sell pools on horse races during its annual fairs, and has called a mass meeting to protest against the measure. It is understood that vigorous steps are being taken to fight the bill and the purpose of the mass meeting will merely be to give expression to the sentiment against it.

L. & N. Train 25 Miles Long.

The Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company is now moving two thousand carloads of rock phosphate from Mt. Pleasant, Tenn., to Pensacola, and all over its own lines direct for shipment to Cuba. This is perhaps the largest single shipment of any commodity in the long record of southern railroads, and the magnitude of the Louisville & Nashville Company's undertaking may be realized in part when it is known that the company's contract calls for the delivery at Pensacola of about two hundred cars of phosphate a day. That means in fact twelve solid trains of seventeen cars each going to Pensacola every day ladened with phosphate alone.

Tribute to Victoria.

At the Friday night services at Temple Emanuel, in Birmingham, the congregation paid tribute to the memory of Queen Victoria by repeating the Kaddish prayer standing. This prayer is in memory of the dead and is repeated by murmers at each service for the period of one year. Dr. Samuel Ullman referred most eloquently to the dead sovereign, whom he said had done much during her liberal reign for the Jews.

Business is in fine shape in Florence, says the Bulletin. All the industries are running full time.

Country Produce.

The country produce market was fairly active in Birmingham last week. Eggs, which were quoted at 13c on Friday, have advanced to 14c. Leading commission merchants who had agreed on 14c were complaining fiercely Saturday afternoon that the price had been cut by certain of their rivals to 13½c. The majority of the houses maintained the fixed quotation, and lower offers were promptly refused.

Gen. Wheeler Will Participate in the Inauguration.

Alabama is to take an important part in the inaugural ceremonies, Brig.-Gen. Joseph Wheeler, U. S. A., retired, having been selected by the chief marshal, Maj.-Gen. F. V. Greene, to command the second military division of the inaugural parade. The General is very popular in Washington, and his selection will add interest to the parade.

SEWALL CRITICI[ZES] GEORGIA GOVE[RNOR]

Sensational Incident [illegible] Maritime Congre[illegible]

CAUSED BY ALLEGED INT[illegible]

Governor Makes Denial a[illegible] Some Forcible Adjectives [illegible] Regard to Matter.

The National Maritime [illegible] assembled in Brunswi[illegible] morning for the second day [illegible] liberations. Permanent [illegible] of the convention was e[illegible] election of the following [illegible]

President—A. K. M[illegible] leans.

Vice President—C. D. [illegible] wick, Ga.

Treasurer—E. P. W[illegible] nati.

Secretary—F. B. T[illegible] York.

A vice president was [illegible] each state represented:

Maine—Harold S. S[illegible]

New York—Lewis N[illegible]

Pennsylvania—Th[illegible]

Virginia—W. R. Tr[illegible]

South Carolina—C. C. Le[illegible]

Georgia—D. G. Purse[illegible]

Florida—Sewell C. [illegible]

Colorado—W. W. Bate[illegible]

After the election of [illegible] congress adjourned.

The congress unanim[illegible] Edmund Brobston's resolu[illegible] ing a ship subsidy.

Just before adjournment [illegible] tional speech was made by [illegible] Sewall, son of Arthur Sewa[illegible] Me., in which he denounc[illegible] leged utterances of Governor [illegible] to the effect that the conv[illegible] being held in the interest of [illegible] subsidy bill.

He said they (the visitors [illegible] the state of Georgia on the [illegible] of Governor Candler, who w[illegible] hand to give them a hand of [illegible] but instead had denounced [illegible] of a member of the congress [illegible] of his support of a resolut[illegible] was passed unanimously by [illegible] and had characterized his [illegible] puppets of Mark Hanna.

His utterances in regard to [illegible] ernor were very severe.

He questioned his sincer[illegible] tending the invitation to the [illegible]

He also paid a tribute to [illegible] for its loyalty to the union [illegible] the old sectional feeling h[illegible] peared when young Bagley, [illegible] Carolina, was the first to le[illegible] in defense of the flag, and [illegible] son sunk the Merrimac. H[illegible] first measure looking to the p[illegible] of American shipping was [illegible] by that illustrious southern[illegible] and the father of Democracy, [illegible] Jefferson, and the subsidy [illegible] United States was by Polk, [illegible] see, and that southerners [illegible] departing from the teachi[illegible] fathers by advocating pre[illegible] ships and ship building up[illegible] but returning to traditions [illegible] their origin with southern [illegible] and southern patriots.

A "FAKE," SAYS GOVERNOR [illegible]

The interview referred to [illegible] wall's speech was one which [illegible] in an Atlanta afternoon pap[illegible] nesday, and which Governor [illegible] chanced to see for the first t[illegible] day morning when he walk[illegible] torney General Terrell's of[illegible] official business. He was [illegible] article and read it very care[illegible] expressed surprise at the [illegible] and what he said with refe[illegible] alleged interview and the [illegible] was not spoken for publica[illegible] substance of his remarks, [illegible] was that the interview was a [illegible] and simple, that he had p[illegible] fused to talk on the sub[illegible] newspaper man, etc. His [illegible] was freely punctuated with [illegible] adjectives.

When the governor was [illegible] reporter that Mr. Sewall [illegible] nounced him for the sen[illegible] pressed in the alleged in[illegible] governor's first reply was:

"It makes but d—d little [illegible] to me what Mr. Sewall th[illegible] me or about what I said."

"But did you say it?" a[illegible]

"No, I didn't and you kn[illegible] I knew nothing about the [illegible] You yourself heard all the [illegible] say about that convention [illegible] terview was a fake, pure a[illegible]

"But understand me, I [illegible] a d— what they think ab[illegible]

"Why didn't you attend [illegible] tion?"

"Because I had official [illegible] attend to in Atlanta, and [illegible] them."

The governor would ha[illegible] more to say about the m[illegible] ing strictly to his resolu[illegible] discuss the object of the [illegible] in an way.

THE "OLDEST" CENTE[illegible]

Palm is Given to a Man in [illegible] Women in Michig[illegible]

After searching six mo[illegible] oldest persons in the wo[illegible] mittee on vital statistics o[illegible] dred Year Club, of New [illegible] prepared a report which [illegible] the oldest man is Isaiah [illegible] Moscow, Russia, who is [illegible] year and the oldest w[illegible] Nancy Hollifield, of [illegible] Mich., who is 117.

[illegible] ARP'S LETTER

[illegible] Man Says There Is No Excuse For Ignorance These Days.

[illegible] SCHOOLS AND MANY PAPERS.

[illegible] Books Are Unearthed Which Bring Back Memory of the Days Of Long Ago.

[illegible] years ago there was some ex[illegible] for ignorance; we had but few [illegible] in this southern land and not [illegible] newspapers in the state [illegible] were not half as many reading [illegible] in all our town as I have now in [illegible] library of 400 volumes. [illegible] we had a blue back spelling [illegible] book, Smiley's arithmetic, Mur[illegible] grammar, Smith's geography [illegible] the English reader. I'm master [illegible] considered a good old field [illegible] I have on my shelf a copy [illegible] same old English reader. A [illegible] sent it to me not long ago. [illegible] almost wept over its delightful [illegible] for there is no school book now [illegible] that has [illegible] choice a selec[illegible] varied rea[illegible] prose [illegible] poetry. I ha[illegible] letter from a [illegible] gentleman in [illegible] asking where [illegible] will find a [illegible] that he [illegible] taught him and [illegible] of which [illegible] forgotten. "It begins," he [illegible]

"[illegible] the sorrows of a poor old [illegible]

[illegible] do not know whether he will find [illegible] in the old English reader. [illegible] written in 1769 by Thomas Moss, [illegible] quoted by Dr. Johnson and [illegible] Both loved the pathetic, [illegible] more pathetic was ever [illegible]

"[illegible] sorrows of a poor old man
[illegible] trembling limbs have borne him to [illegible] your door.
[illegible] days are dwindled to the shortest [illegible]
[illegible] relief and Heaven will bless your [illegible]
[illegible] tered clothes my poverty bespeak, [illegible] hoary locks proclaim my lengthen[illegible] years,
[illegible] furrow is my grief-worn cheek [illegible] the channel to a flood of tears [illegible]
[illegible] to your hospitable home, [illegible] the wind and piercing sleet [illegible]
[illegible] my passage to the friendly tomb [illegible] I am poor and miserably old

[illegible] are some of the verses, and [illegible] occurs the line often quoted: [illegible] pered mental drove me from the [illegible] door."

[illegible] copy of Murray's English [illegible] was printed in London two [illegible] before Queen Victoria was born. [illegible] the text book in most of the [illegible] when I was a boy, and from it [illegible] our speeches and learned how [illegible] and gesture and give accent [illegible] phasis. This book, with the [illegible] aid, gave us an idea of elocu[illegible] Jefferson, and how to read impressively, and [illegible] United States was by Polk, [illegible] was in all our schools today. [illegible] see, and that southerners [illegible] good scholars, but very few [illegible] departing from the teachi[illegible] readers. It is rare to find a [illegible] fathers by advocating pre[illegible] who can emphasize his text [illegible] ships and ship building up[illegible] chapter or a hymn. Every col[illegible] but returning to traditions [illegible] and especially every theological [illegible] their origin with southern [illegible] should have a professorship [illegible] and southern patriots. [illegible] reading and speaking. I remember [illegible] an eloquent divine preach a [illegible] from the text, "My sin is ever [illegible] me," and such was his utterance [illegible] lamentation of David and such [illegible] and solemn rendering of [illegible] aring consequences of sin, that [illegible] hearers were deeply impressed. [illegible] is ever before me" still rings [illegible] memories.

[illegible] that sixty years ago there was [illegible] house for ignorance, but never[illegible] that age and these schools [illegible] many very notable men. [illegible] young people were eager for [illegible] ge. A new book was a treas[illegible] the house, and there was more [illegible] leisure, and Solomon says [illegible] leisure there is wisdom."

[illegible] now the books are almost in the [illegible] They crowd us and surround [illegible] "the cry is still they come." [illegible] people read an average of two [illegible] a week, and forget the con[illegible] a month. There are maga[illegible] every household, and they [illegible] our best literature—instruc[illegible] and entertaining; newspapers [illegible] country by the millions. The [illegible] World boasts that it pub[illegible] 240 million copies last year. [illegible] county in our state has a coun[illegible] paper, and the editor of the [illegible] paper says the children [illegible] great deal more than their [illegible] did and keep up with wars [illegible] and murders and suicides. [illegible] what is the matter? Bishop [illegible] wrote an excellent and in[illegible] article recently on "The [illegible] of Great Men." He never [illegible] anything that does not give us [illegible] thought, and I am thankful [illegible] has not passed. Yet the day [illegible] men has passed, not only in [illegible] but in all the south. Elo[illegible] in the pulpit, the forum and [illegible] cils of the nation forty and [illegible] ago was our pride and our [illegible] when we had among our [illegible] such noble and true men as [illegible] Pierce, Dr. Means, Longstreet, [illegible] Lesser, Nathan Crawford, Dr. [illegible] Bishop Elliott and Beckwith, [illegible] Stiles, Dr. Nixson, Dr. Gould[illegible] such lawyers and statesmen [illegible] Troup, the two Cobbs, [illegible] Toombs, Stephens, Johnson, [illegible] Colquitt and Ben Hill. There [illegible] many names given, and many [illegible] might be added, and it is a [illegible] truth that their equals do [illegible] in Georgia today.

[illegible] dearth of great men is apparent

SEWALL CRITICI[SED] GEORGIA GOVER[NOR]

Sensational Incident [at] Maritime Congre[ss]

CAUSED BY ALLEGED INTE[RVIEW]

Governor Makes Denial a[nd] Some Forcible Adjective[s] Regard to Matter.

The National Maritime co[nvention] assembled in Brunswick Th[e] morning for the second day of [its] operations. Permanent orga[nization] of the convention was effected [by] election of the following offic[ers]:

President—A. K. Miller, N[ew Or]leans.

Vice President—C. D. Ogd[en], wick, Ga.

Treasurer—E. P. Wilson, [illegible]natti.

Secretary—F. B. Thurber [illegible] York.

A vice president was nam[ed from] each state represented:

Maine—Harold S. Sewall.

New York—Lewis Nixon.

Pennsylvania—Theo. C. Sea[illegible]

Virginia—W. R. Trigg.

South Carolina—C. C. Tow[illegible]

Georgia—D. G. Purse.

Florida—Sewell C. Cobb.

Colorado—W. W. Bates.

After the election of offi[cers the] congress adjourned.

The congress unanimously [illegible] Edmund Pradston's resoluti[illegible] ing a ship subsidy.

Just before adjournment a [illegible]tional speech was made by H[illegible] Sewall, son of Arthur Sewall, [illegible] Me., in which he denounced [illegible]leged utterances of Governor [illegible] to the effect that the conve[illegible] being held in the interest of [illegible] subsidy bill.

He said they (the visitors) [illegible] the state of Georgia on the i[illegible] of Governor Candler, who wa[illegible] hand to give them a hand of w[illegible] but instead had denounced th[illegible] of a member of the congress [illegible] of his support of a resoluti[illegible] was passed unanimously by th[illegible] and had characterized his [illegible] puppets of Mark Hanna.

His utterances in regard to [illegible]ernor were very severe.

He questioned his sincerity [illegible] tending the invitation to them.

He also paid a tribute to t[illegible] for its loyalty to the union, [illegible] the old sectional feeling h[illegible] peared when young Bagley, [illegible] Carolina, was the first to lo[illegible] in defense of the flag, and w[illegible] son sunk the Merrimac. He [illegible] first measure looking to the p[illegible] of American shipping was a[illegible]ly that illustrious southern [illegible] and the father of Democracy, [illegible] Jefferson, and the subsidy b[illegible] United States was by Polk, o[illegible] see, and that southerners i[illegible] departing from the teaching [illegible] fathers by advocating prote[illegible] ships and ship building inter[illegible] but returning to traditions [illegible] their origin with southern [illegible] and southern patriots.

A "FAKE," SAYS GOVERNOR C[illegible]

The interview referred to i[illegible] wall's speech was one which [illegible] in an Atlanta afternoon pape[illegible] nesday, and which Governor [illegible] chanced to see for the first ti[illegible] day morning when he walked [illegible] torney General Terrell's offic[illegible] official business. He was s[illegible] article and read it very care[illegible] expressed surprise at the i[illegible] and what he said with refere[illegible] alleged interview and the in[illegible] was not spoken for publicati[illegible] substance of his remarks, [illegible] was that the interview was a [illegible] and simple, that he had pos[illegible] fused to talk on the subje[illegible] newspaper man, etc. His i[illegible] was freely punctuated with [illegible] adjectives.

When the governor was [illegible] reporter that Mr. Sewall [illegible] nounced him for the sectio[illegible] pressed in the alleged inte[illegible] governor's first reply was:

"It makes but d—d little [illegible] to me what Mr. Sewall thi[illegible] me or about what I said."

"But did you say it?" wa[illegible]

"No, I didn't and you kn[illegible] I knew nothing about the [illegible] You yourself heard all tha[illegible] say about that convention, [illegible] terview was a fake, pure and [illegible]

"But understand me, I d[illegible] a d— what they think about [illegible]

"Why didn't you attend t[illegible] tion?"

"Because I had official b[illegible] attend to in Atlanta, and [illegible] them."

The governor would have [illegible] more to say about the matt[illegible] ing strictly to his resolut[illegible] discuss the object of the [illegible] in any way.

THE "OLDEST" CENTE[illegible]

Palm Is Given to a Man in [illegible] Women in Michig[illegible]

After searching six month[illegible] oldest persons in the world, [illegible] mittee on vital statistics of [illegible] dred Year Club, of New [illegible] prepared a report which [illegible] the oldest man is Isaiah K[illegible] Moscow, Russia, who is i[illegible] year and the oldest wo[illegible] Nancy Hollifield, of B[illegible] Mich., who is 117.

[UNCLE] ARP'S LETTER

[illegible]w Man Says There Is No Ex[illegible] For Ignorance These Days.

SCHOOLS AND MANY PAPERS.

[illegible]st Books Are Unearthed Which [illegible]ing Each Memory of the Days of Long Ago.

[illegible]y years ago there was some ex[illegible] for ignorance; we had but few [illegible] in this southern land and not [illegible]en newspapers in the state. [illegible] were not half as many reading [illegible] in all our town as I have now in [illegible] all library of 400 volumes. In [illegible]hools we had a blue back spell[illegible]ook, Smiley's arithmetic, Mur[illegible] grammar, Smith's geography [illegible]he English reader. To master [illegible] was considered a good old field [illegible]ion. I have on my shelf a copy [illegible] same old English reader. A [illegible]ady sent it to me not long ago, [illegible] almost wept over its delightful [illegible] for there is no school book now [illegible]hed that has so choice a selec[illegible] of varied reading both in prose [illegible]etry. I have a letter from an [illegible]ntleman in Ind[illegible] asking where [illegible]ll find a [illegible] in that his [illegible] taught his [illegible] one of which [illegible] forgotten. "It begins," he [illegible]

[illegible]ty the sorrows of a poor old [illegible]

[illegible] not know whether he will find [illegible]ept in the old English reader. [illegible] written in 1769 by Thomas Moss, [illegible]as quoted by Dr. Johnson and [illegible]mith. Both loved the pathetic, [illegible]othing more pathetic was ever [illegible]

[illegible] corr[illegible] was of a poor old man [illegible] tr[illegible]ing limbs have borne him to [illegible] our door [illegible] days are dwindled to the shortest [illegible] relief and Heaven will bless your [illegible]

[illegible] poverty bow[illegible] are less proclaim my lengthen[illegible] years.

[illegible] furrows on my grief-worn cheek [illegible] a flood of tears.

[illegible] or hospitable home, [illegible] the wind and piercing is the [illegible] passage to the friendly tomb, [illegible] and miserably old.

[illegible]ee are some of the verses, and [illegible]ther occurs the line often quoted: [illegible]pampered menial drove me from the [illegible]door."

[illegible] copy of Murray's English [illegible] was printed in London two [illegible] before Queen Victoria was born. [illegible] the text book in most of the [illegible]ls when I was a boy, and from it [illegible]t our speeches and learned how [illegible]w and gesture and give accent [illegible]mphasis. This book, with the [illegible]er's aid, gave us an idea of elocu[illegible]nd how to read impressively, and [illegible] it was in all our schools today. [illegible]ave good scholars, but very few [illegible] readers. It is rare to find a [illegible]her who can emphasize his text [illegible] chapter or a hymn. Every col[illegible] and especially every theological [illegible]nary, should have a professorship [illegible]ding and speaking. I remember [illegible]g an eloquent divine preach a [illegible]n from the text, "My sin is ever [illegible]e me," and such was his utterance [illegible]t lamentation of David and such [illegible]rofound and solemn rendering of [illegible]nduring consequences of sin, that [illegible] hearers were deeply impressed. [illegible] sin is ever before me" still rings [illegible] memories.

[illegible]id that sixty years ago there was [illegible] excuse for ignorance, but never[illegible]s, that age and these schools [illegible]ced many very notable men. [illegible] young people were eager for [illegible]ledge. A new book was a treas[illegible] the house, and there was more [illegible] more leisure, and Solomon says [illegible] "in leisure there is wisdom."

[illegible]t now the books are almost in the [illegible]. They crowd us and surround [illegible]d "the cry is still they come." [illegible]g people read an average of two [illegible]ree a week, and forget the con[illegible] in a month. There are maga[illegible] in every household, and they [illegible]in our best literature—instruc[illegible] and entertaining; newspapers [illegible] the country by the millions. The [illegible]York World boasts that it pub[illegible]d 240 million copies last year. [illegible]y county in our state has a coun[illegible]ewspaper, and the editor of the [illegible]llton paper says the children [illegible] a great deal more than their [illegible]rs did and keep up with wars [illegible] politics and murders and suicides. [illegible]en what is the matter? Bishop [illegible]ller wrote an excellent and in[illegible]tive article recently on "The [illegible]ing of Great Men." He never [illegible]s anything that does not give us [illegible] for thought, and I am thankful [illegible] he has not passed. Yet the day [illegible]reat men has passed, not only in [illegible]gia, but in all the south. Elo[illegible]ce in the pulpit, the forum and [illegible]ouncils of the nation forty and [illegible] years ago was our pride and our [illegible], when we had among our [illegible]chers such noble and true men as [illegible]ge Pierce, Dr. Means, Longstreet, [illegible] Mercer, Nathan Crawford, Dr. [illegible]er, Bishop Elliott and Beckwith, [illegible]ph Stiles, Dr. Nixson, Dr. Gould[illegible] and such lawyers and statesmen [illegible] Forsyth, Troup, the two Cobbs, [illegible]ins, Toombs, Stephens, Johnson, [illegible]er Colquitt and Ben Hill. There [illegible] twenty names given, and many [illegible] might be added, and it is a [illegible]ntable truth that their equals do [illegible]xist in Georgia today.

[illegible]his decay of great men is apparent in every southern state, and as for the north, there is nothing there now but plutocracy who buy their way into public office and defy trial or criticism. The struggle for money is the curse of the age. It has smothered the nobler aspirations of our nature. "Get money; get money honestly if thou canst, but at all events get money" is now the motto. The common people want some, and the plutocrats want more. The masses of the people are on a strain. I am one of them, and I know how it is, for I have been on a strain ever since the war. It is buckle and tongue to keep in hailing distance of society. So many of our class have a rich man's ways and a poor man's purse that we have to hang on to the ragged edge of gentility.

There are so many things nowadays that we are just obliged to have—things that did not exist in our antebellum days. Our boys must go to college to get smattering of books and a full text of athletics. Our girls must go to get polish and make college friends and receive visits and return visits after they graduate, and it takes money for clothes and money for railroad fare, and every now and then a girl gets married and chooses her college mates for her attendants, and that takes more clothes and a wedding present, and so forth, and so forth, fifth and sixth, and so on.

Oh, my country! When will this strain stop? There ought to be a miser in every family, or a rich old bachelor uncle who carried a big life insurance, and would die just at the right time and leave a fortune to his impecunious sisters or his nieces! Why, if I had a good bank account to draw on, I could write a more cheerful letter and take a hopeful view of things and keep calm and serene; but as it is, I find myself lampooning those West Point cadets, and I want those ringleaders—Berry, and Dockery, and Duval—handed down to posterity as the champion hazers, and their names put in a catalogue alongside of the duke of Alva to illustrate human brutality.

But I didn't mean to say anything hard about the Tech boys who have been suspended. I have great hope for that institution, and admiration for the manner in which the boys received their discipline. Nobody thinks any less of them, for there was nothing mean or cruel in their thoughtless conduct, and every outside father sustains Mr. Lyman Hall and the faculty. Of course their mothers are deeply aggrieved. They always are when their sons are punished; that is a natural and beautiful trait in a mother's character. She clings to her boys, regardless of whether they are right or wrong. She is like a tigress when robbed of her whelps. I have received several letters from the mothers of those boys, and they defend them with earnest indignation. One of them concludes with, "Now, I am the mother of one of those boys you wrote about, and if you wish to play Diogenes, bring on your cane." But we have made friends, for she is a lady and a mother, and the poet says:

"A mother is a mother still,
The noblest thing alive."

But I am not Diogenes, and it was not the mother, but the father that he caned, and I have not received a line from any of them.

P. S.—We see that General Charles King of the United States army is not only apologizing for the West Point hazing, but is defending them, and says it doesn't matter much, for boys will be boys. He writes in the Saturday Evening Post, and it is the poorest effort to excuse brutality I ever read. I reckon he was well paid for it.

N. B.—Judge Fite requests me to let everybody know that Bartow county is on the up grade and is going to build a thirty thousand dollar court house this year. We are out of debt and have a good pile of money in the bank.—BILL ARP, in Atlanta Constitution.

Manual occupation, a method long approved for the acutely insane, has been found in a Milwaukee institution to be equally helpful in the care of the incurably insane. When the weather permits, most of the patients work out-of-doors, but winter employments are also provided, and the hospital is a hive of industry all the year round. Not only is all the repairing of clothing and shoes done by the inmates, but they also build and upholster the furniture, weave rug carpets, and do a variety of other things, as nearly all trades are represented. The patients are very proud of their work, and each one imagines that he is conducting a business for himself. No one is forced to work, and no one is paid for working, but little favors go to those who do labor. When the shoemaker or tailor wants to stop in the middle of his job and spend two or three hours in melancholy brooding, no one says him nay. The attraction of the work itself is enough to bring him out of his bad moods, and while he is in them his idiosyncrasies are respected.

American exports in New Zealand are rapidly increasing, specially hardware. The American firms have wisely adopted the plan, which lies at the base of all successful export trade, of supplying what the colonies desire and not trying to force on them whatever the manufacturers wish to sell.

The Oregon's great trip around the Horn cost $47,987 and $50,226 for coal. It was well worth the price, seeing that it proved what our ships could do in the matter of distance.

REV DR. TALMAGE,

DISCOURSE BY THE EMINENT DIVINE LAST SUNDAY.

Subject: With Silken Cords—So Should the Fishers of Men Mend Their Nets—Christians Warned Against Harsh Criticism—Gospel Strife Deplored.

[Copyright 1895.]

WASHINGTON, D. C.—In this discourse Dr. Talmage describes the gospel net and how it is to be repaired after being damaged; text, Matthew iv. 21, "James, the son of Zebedee, and John, his brother, in a ship with Zebedee, their father, mending their nets."

"I go a-fishing!" cried Simon Peter to his comrades, and the most of the apostles had hands hard from fishing tackle. The fisheries of the world have always attracted attention. In the third century the Queen of Egypt had for pin money $470,000 received from the fisheries of Lake Moeris. And, if the time should ever come when the immensity of the world's population could not be fed by the vegetables and meats of the land, the sea has an amount of animal life that would feed all the populations of the earth and fatten them with a food that by its phosphorus would make a generation brainy and intellectual beyond anything that the world has ever imagined. My text takes us among the Galilean fishermen. One day Walter Scott, while hunting in an old drawer, found among some old fishing tackle the manuscript of his immortal book, "Waverley," which he had put away there as of no worth, and who knows but that to-day we may find some unknown wealth of thought while looking at the fishing tackle in the text.

It is not a good day for fishing, and three men are in the boat repairing the broken fishing nets. If you are fishing with a hook and line, and the fish will not bite, it is a good time to put the angler's apparatus into better condition. Perhaps the last fish you hauled in was so large that something snapped. Or, if you were fishing with a net, there was a mighty floundering of the scales or an exposed nail on the side of the boat which broke some of the threads and let part or all of the captives of the deep escape into their natural element. And hardly anything is more provoking than to nearly land a score or a hundred of trophies from the deep, and when you are in the full glee of hauling in the spotted treasures, through some imperfection of the net they splash back into the waves. That is too much of a trial of patience for most fishermen to endure, and many a man ordinarily correct of speech in such circumstances comes to an intensity of utterance unjustifiable. Therefore no good fisherman considers the time wasted that is spent in mending his net. Now, the Bible again and again represents Christian workers as fishers of men, and we are all sweeping through the sea of humanity some kind of net. Indeed there have been enough nets out and enough fishermen busy to have landed the whole human race in the kingdom of God long before this. What is the matter? The gospel is all right, and it has been a good time for catching souls for thousands of years. Why, then, the failures? The trouble is with the nets, and most of them need to be mended. I propose to show you what is the matter with most of the nets and how to mend them. In the text old Zebedee and his two boys, James and John, were doing a good thing when they sat in their boats mending their nets.

The trouble with many of our nets is that the meshes are too large. If a fish can get his gills and half his body through the network, he tears and rends and works his way out, and leaves the place through which he squirmed a tangle of broken threads. In our desire to make everything so easy we relax, we loosen, we widen. We let men after they are once in the gospel net escape into the world, and go into indulgences and swim all around Galilee, from north side to south side, and from east side to west side, expecting that they will come back again. We ought to make it easy for them to get into the kingdom of God, and, as far as we can, make it impossible for them to get out. The poor advice nowadays to many is: "Go and do just as you did before you were captured for God and heaven. The net was not intended to be any restraint or any hindrance. What you did before you were a Christian do now. Go to all styles of amusement, read all the styles of books, engage in all the styles of behavior as before you were converted." And so, through these meshes of permission and laxity they wriggle out, through this opening and that opening, tearing the net as they go, and soon all the souls that we expected to land in heaven before we know it are back in the deep sea of the world. Oh, when we go a-gospel fishing, let us make it as easy as possible for souls to get in and as hard as possible to get out.

Is the Bible language an unmeaning verbiage when it talks about self denial, and keeping the body under, and about walking the narrow way, and entering the straight gate, and about carrying the cross? Is there to be no way of telling whether a man is a Christian except by his taking the communion chalice on sacramental day? May a man be as reckless about his thoughts, about his words, about his temper, about his amusements, after conversion as before? Alas, the words of Christ are so little heeded when He said, "Whosoever doth not bear his cross and come after Me cannot be My disciple." The church is fast becoming as bad as the world, and when it gets as bad as the world it will be worse than the world by so much, as it will add hypocrisy of a most appalling kind to its other defects.

Furthermore, many of our nets are torn to pieces by being entangled with other nets. It is a sad sight to see fishermen fighting about sea room, and pulling in opposite directions each to get his net, both nets damaged by the struggle and losing all the fish. In this land, where there are more than 70,000,000 people, there are at least 30,000,000 not in the Sunday-schools and churches. In such an Atlantic Ocean of opportunity there is room for all the nets and all the boats and all the fishermen and for millions more. There should be no rivalry between churches. Each one does a work peculiar to itself. But there are cities in this country where there is now going on an awful ripping and rending and tearing of fishing nets. Indeed, all over Christendom at this time there is a great war going on between fishermen, ministers against ministers.

Now, I have noticed a man cannot fish and fight at the same time. He either neglects his net or his musket. It is amazing how much time some of the fishermen have to look after other fishermen. It is more than I can do to take care of my own net. You see the wind is just right, and it is such a good time for fishing, and the fish are coming in so rapidly, that I have to keep my eye and hand busy. There are about 200,000,000 souls wanting to get into the kingdom of God, and it will require all the nets and all the fishermen of Christendom to safely land them. Oh, brethren of the ministry, let us spend our time in fishing instead of fighting. But if I angrily jerk my net across your net, an you jerk your net angrily across mine, we will soon have two broken nets and no fish. The French revolution nearly destroyed the French fisheries, and ecclesiastical war is the worst thing possible while hauling souls into the kingdom. My friends, I notice in the text that James, the son of Zebedee, and John, his brother, were busy not mending somebody else's nets, but mending their own nets, and I rather think that we who are engaged in Christian work in this opening century will employ all our spare time to mend our own nets. God help us in the important duty!

In this work of repair we need to put into the nets more threads of common sense. When we can present religion as a great practicality we will catch a hundred souls where we now catch one. Present religion as an intellectuality, and we will fail. Out in the fisheries there are set across the waters what are called gill nets, and the fish put their heads through the meshes and they cannot withdraw them, because they are caught by the gills. But gill nets cannot be of any service in religious work. Men are never caught for the truth by their heads; it is by the heart or not at all. No argument ever saved a man, and no keen analysis ever brought a man into the kingdom of God. Heart work, not head work. Away with your gill nets! Sympathy, helpfulness, consolation, love, are the names of some of the threads that we need to weave in our gospel nets when we are mending them.

Do you know that the world's heart is bursting with trouble, and if you could make that world believe that the religion of Jesus Christ is soothing omnipotence the whole world would surrender to-morrow—yea, would surrender this hour. The day before James A. Garfield was inaugurated as President I was in the cars going from Richmond to Washington. A gentleman seated near to me in the cars knew me, and we were soon in familiar conversation. It was just after a bereavement, and I was speaking to him from an overburdened heart about the sorrow I was suffering. Looking at his cheerful face I said: "I guess you have escaped all trouble. I should judge from your countenance that you have come through free from all misfortune." Then he looked at me with a look I shall never forget and whispered in my ear: "Sir, you know nothing about trouble. My wife has been in an insane asylum for fifteen years." And then he turned and looked out of the window and into the night with a silence I was too overpowered to break. That was another illustration of the fact that no one escapes trouble.

Why, that man seated next to you in church has on his soul a weight compared with which a mountain is a feather. That woman seated next to you in church has a grief the recital of which would make your body, mind and soul shudder.

When you are mending your net for this wide, deep sea of humanity, take out that wire thread of criticism and that horsehair thread of harshness and put in a soft silken thread of Christian sympathy. Yes, when you are mending your nets tear out those old threads of gruffness and weave in a few threads of politeness and geniality. In the house of God let all Christian faces beam with a look that means welcome. Say "Good morning" to the stranger as he enters your pew and at the close shake hands with him and say, "How did you like the music?" Why, you would be to that man a panel of the door of heaven; you would be to him a note of the doxology that seraphs sing when a new soul enters heaven. I have in other days entered a pew in church and the woman at the other end of the pew looked at me as much as to say, "How dare you? This is my pew and I pay the rent for it!" Well, I crouched in the other corner and made myself as small as possible and felt as though I had been stealing something.

So there are people who have a sharp edge to their religion, and they act as though they thought most people had been elected to be damned and they were glad of it. Oh, let us brighten up our manner and appear in gentlemanliness or ladyhood.

The object in fly fishing is to throw the fly far out, and then let it drop gently down and keep it gently rising and falling with the waters, and not plunge it like a man-of-war's anchor, and abruptness and harshness of manner must be avoided in our attempt at usefulness.

I know a man in New York who is more sunshiny and genial when he has dyspepsia than when he is not suffering from that depressing trouble. I have found out his secret. When he starts out in the morning with such depression he asks for special grace to keep from snapping up anybody that day, and puts forth additional determination to be kindly and genial, and by the help of God he accomplishes it.

Many of our nets need to be mended in these respects, the black threads and the rough threads taken out, and the bright threads and the golden threads of Christian geniality woven in.

In addition to this we need to mend our nets with more threads of patience. It is no rare thing for a fisherman to spend one whole day before he can take a St. Lawrence pike, or an Ohio salmon, or a Long Island pickerel, or a Cayuga black bass, or a Delaware catfish, and he does that day after day without any particular discouragement. But what a lack of patience if we do not immediately succeed in soul catching. We are apt to give it up and say, "I will never try again."

These dear brethren of all denominations, afflicted with theological fidgets, had better go to mending nets instead of breaking them. Before they break up the old religions let them go through some great sacrifice for God that will prove them worthy of such a work, taking the advice of Talleyrand to a man who wanted to upset the religion of Jesus Christ and start a new one, when he said, "Go and be crucified and then raise yourself from the grave the third day!"

Those who propose to mend their nets by secular and skeptical books are like a man who has just one week for fishing and six of the days he spends in reading Izaak Walton's "Complete Angler," and Wheatley's "Rod and Line," and Scott's "Fishing in Northern Waters," and Putnam's "Vade Mecum of Fly Fishing for Trout," and then on Saturday morning, his last day out, goes to the river to ply his art; but that day the fish will not bite, and late on Saturday night he goes to his home with empty basket!

Alas! alas! If, when the Saturday night of our life drops on us, it shall be found that we have spent our time in the libraries of worldly philosophy trying to mend our nets, and we have only a few souls to report as brought to God through our instrumentality, while some humble gospel fisherman, his library made up of a Bible and an almanac, shall come home laden with the results, his trophies all the souls within fifteen miles of his log cabin meeting-house.

In the time of the great disturbance in Naples in 1647, Massaniello, a barefooted fishing boy, dropped his fishing rod, and by strange magnetism took command of that city of 600,000 souls. He took off his fishing jacket and put on a robe of gold in the presence of howling mobs. He put his hand on his lips as a signal and they were silent. He waved his hand away from him and they retired to their homes. Armies passed in review before him. He became the nation's idol. The rapid rise and complete supremacy of that young fisherman, Massaniello, have no parallel in all history. But something equal to that and better than that is an everyday occurrence in heaven. God takes some of those who in this world were fishers of men and who toiled very humbly, but because of the way they mended their nets and employed their nets after they were mended, He suddenly hoists them and robes them, and scepters them and crowns them and makes them rulers over many cities, and He marches armies of saved ones before them in review—Massaniellos unhonored on earth, but radiated in heaven. The fisher boy of Naples soon lost his power, but those people of God who have kept their nets mended and rightly swung them shall never lose their exalted place, but shall reign forever and ever and ever. Keep that reward in sight.

THE SABBATH SCHOOL.

INTERNATIONAL LESSON COMMENTS FOR FEBRUARY 10.

Subject: The Parable of the Talents. Matt. xxv., 14-30.—Golden Text, Rom. xiv., 12.—Memory Verses, 20-23.—Commentary on the Day's Lesson.

14. "For it is as when a man" (R. V). Christ represents Himself as a man going into another country, or heaven. "Called his own servants." The outward framework of the parable lies in the Eastern way of dealing with property in the absence of the owner; the more primitive way being for the absentee to make his slaves his agents. "His goods." They were to till his land and sell the produce, and use the money which he left them as capital in trading. The "goods" are the Lord's; all we have belongs to God. Christ entrusts to Christians the treasures of His spiritual life.

15. "Five talents." A talent of silver was about a thousand dollars. The servants represent all of God's people, and to no one does he give less than one talent. The talents represent spiritual gifts—time, money and ability to work for Christ on any line. "His several ability." God's graces and temporal mercies are suited to the power which a man has of improving them. To give eminent gifts to persons incapable of using them would be to lead them into a snare.

16. "Went and traded." We now see the use that the servants made of their master's goods. Two out of the three improved upon the trust committed to them. They were (1) diligent, (2) faithful, (3) they went speedily, (4) they persevered in the work, (5) they succeeded. Those who do their best for God succeed. "Other five." He who receives much from God must make an improvement upon the whole, while of the one who receives little but little is required.

18. "Digged in the earth." This is the peculiar temptation of the man who has little ability, and he sullenly retires from a service in which he cannot shine and play a conspicuous part, but, although God may have given to some but small capabilities, yet the talent that is given should not be buried. "Hid his lord's money." He did not embezzle or squander it, but he hid it. Whatever abilities men possess are not their own; they are but stewards and must give an account. How sad to bury one's talent!

19. "After a long time." Time enough was given for improvement. "Cometh." Christ is certain to come. The time may seem long, but let us not be deceived—He is coming again. "Reckoneth." It will be (1) personal, (2) exact, (3) impartial. See 2 Cor. 5: 10.

20. "Brought other five talents." 1. The good servant was ready. 2. There was nothing hid; he rendered a full account. 3. He came joyfully. 4. Quickly. 5. Without fear; there was no confusion. "Thou deliveredst unto me." Recognizing that all he had belonged to his master. "I have gained." He had put forth an effort. Those people who fold their arms and talk about trusting God will find, sooner or later, that God does not help the idler.

21. "Well done." The master gives his full and hearty approval. How much more solid and lasting is the praise of God than the praise of men. "Thou good." Pure and upright within. It is possible to be "good" even in this sinful world. "Faithful." It will be worth all the toil and effort of a lifetime of service to hear such words from our Lord. "Over a few things." At best we can do but little for the Lord here. A few things are given us, all of which we should use to God's glory. "I will set thee over many things" (R. V). The faithful one is made ruler over a larger sphere. We constantly see this illustrated in this life. There is scarcely any limit to the increase which faithfulness will add to the spiritual gifts bestowed in common upon all Christians.

24. "I know thee." No person really knows Christ who thinks Him a hard master. "An hard man." This servant entertains hard thoughts of his lord. He thinks his demands are severe and that he is difficult to please. The servant, conscious of his own wrong, comes filled with excuses, and undertakes to lay the blame of his own actions back on his master. Thus do men think of God as a hard master, and try to throw on Him the blame of their own wrongdoing. "Gathering where thou didst not scatter" (R. V). This was not a true charge, for each one received much more than he had gained; God always liberally rewards all who serve Him.

25. "I was afraid." All sinners are afraid. Our first parents were afraid when they disobeyed. Fear caused this servant to hide the talent his lord had entrusted to him, and now that he comes emptyhanded he has double reason to fear. "Thou hast thine own" (R. V). He seems to boast of his honesty and uprightness.

26. "Wicked and slothful." His master was not to be trifled with. The servant had been, 1. Idle and unprofitable. 2. Ungrateful. 3. The little work he had done, in digging to hide the money, was strength worse than wasted. 4. He had entertained hard thoughts and said false things about his master. "Thou knewest." Out of thine own mouth shalt thou be judged.

27. "Thou oughtest." The fact that he knew what his master required was a reason why he should have used the talent. God appeals to us as "reasonable" beings, and tells us what we "ought" to do. "Exchangers." "Bankers." (R. V). Literally, "To those who stand at tables," because the bankers had tables before them. "With interest" (R. V). His master had a right to expect a reasonable profit from the labors of his servant.

28. "The talent from him." The unfaithful servant is not only reproached by his master, but he is actually punished. He loses what he had failed to use. "Give it unto him." Here is another reward of faithfulness. The faithful one does the work left undone by the unfaithful servant, and receives the reward for doing it.

29. "Shall be given." The one who really has powers and abilities, and makes good use of them, to him shall be given greater possessions. "The careful use of any faculty increases its power. The only way to enlarge our sphere is to fill to overflowing the sphere we are in. The horizon widens as we climb." "Shall be taken away." From him that hath not, even that which he seemeth to have (Luke 8: 18) shall be taken away.

30. "Unprofitable." He was wicked and lost all, and was cast into outer darkness, merely because he was unprofitable and idle and buried his talent. "Outer darkness." Those who fail to obey Christ will be cast from His presence. The punishment of the wicked will be terrible and eternal.

More time, endeavor and money have undoubtedly been put into the Zeppelin airship than into any previous enterprise of this nature. It is thirty years since Count Zeppelin first turned his attention to the airship as an engine of war, and those who were making experiments in flight by means of aeroplanes were inclined to look upon him as a visionary.

WOOD QUICKLY TURNED TO COAL

The Transformation Does Not Require a Long Period of Time.

Geologists have taught that tens of thousands of years, if not even hundreds of thousands, was the time needed to transform wood into combustible fossil, otherwise coal. The chance observation of a scientist, G. Arth, shows that current ideas on this topic will have to be considerably modified. He took notice of a piece of guaiacum, perfectly sound, which was placed at the bottom of a bronze sheath to serve as pivot for a turbine of the Jouval, of twelve horse power and 112 revolutions per minute. The weight of the entire machine was 840 pounds, the end of the axle, which rested upon the piece of guaiacum, was of steel. Without being really immersed in water the pivot was always moist, being placed under the holes through which the water ran.

After six months, although the under part of the wood was intact, the upper part upon which the axle of the turbine rested, was transformed into a black substance, the surface of which was cracked, and which easily broke into small pieces. The breaks, which were shiny and irregular, were entirely like those of certain combustible minerals. In fact, in six months the wood had been converted into coal.

The special conditions under which this rapid transformation had taken place were: High pressure, humidity, and elevation of temperature (the last named being produced by friction). These are the conditions under which wood is naturally changed into coal, but it will be seen that the long period of time mentioned by geologists is not necessary.

London Sewers.

There are sewers of all shapes and sizes. Some are so large that you could ride down them on horseback, others so small that you have to stoop to go through them. Some are egg-shaped, some barrel-shaped, others almost square. There are special varieties also. There are blood sewers and boiling sewers, and others under the special patronage of manufacturing chemists, candlemakers, and soap boilers. The blood sewers of the meat markets are the special habitat of the sewer rat, not often met with elsewhere underground. The reputed size and ferocity of these creatures must be liberally discounted. In the course of several tours underground the writer saw only one, and it scuttled away as fast as its legs could carry it. Finally, there are disused sewers, fallen into decay, known among the workmen as "dead sewers." There is plenty of room for variety, for if the sewers of London were placed end to end they would reach from the metropolis to Constantinople, with something to spare.—Good Words.

Japanese Acuteness.

The Nippon tells a quaint story of an English barrister, well known in Japan, whose doings used to be characterized by the epithet genkin shugi (ready money policy). This gentleman, if a friend met him in the street and sought his advice on any topic, would inevitably send in a bill at the end of the month, saying: "To consultation on such and such a day, twenty-five yen."

It happened one day that this barrister, meeting an expert Japanese gardener, asked his opinion concerning the disposition of some stones and trees. A bystander, himself a Yokohama barrister, by way of practical joke, induced the expert to send in a bill at the close of the month, couched in the usual formula. The "ready-money policy" barrister paid it at once, observing that the Japanese were getting to be up to a thing or two.—Tokio Correspondence of the Chicago Record.

Great Cattle Ranges Gone.

The large real estate holdings of the Standard Cattle Company, at one time the leading cattle concern in eastern Wyoming, have been sold to "Bud" Driskell, a large cattle owner of Spearfish, S. D. The land, including inclosed pastures, amounts to about 20,000 acres, and is one of the finest stock ranches in northeastern Wyoming.

This sale brings the fact home to the old timers in Wyoming that the days of the range cattle business are rapidly drawing to a close. The Standard Cattle Company was for years a power in Wyoming range stock business, but, like hundreds of other concerns, has submitted to the new order of things and is now engaged in raising small herds of thoroughbred stock on smaller ranches and irrigated pastures.—Denver Republican.

Photography on Trains.

Suburban commuters have various ways in which to occupy the time on the journey between the city and their country homes. One of the most novel is that of a young man who lives in one of the Hudson River towns. On bright mornings he takes his seat on the sunny side of the car, brings out a pair of plate holders and prints photographs all the way to town. It is reported that some of the suburban lines are considering the advisability of furnishing dark rooms on trains for the benefit of patrons who are amateur photographers.—New York Mail and Express.

Awakened Conscience.

The Globe occasionally does good. Lately it had a story complaining of the manner in which people borrow, and never pay back, referring more particularly to step ladders. So far, thirty-two people have called at the office to acknowledge step ladders returned. Several wheel barrows, rakes, hoes and spades have also been returned as a result of the item.—Atchison Globe.

THE BANNER.

Published and Published Every Thursday at Clanton, Chilton County, Ala.

Entered at the postoffice at Clanton, Ala., as second-class mail matter.

"Here shall the press the people's rights maintain,
Unawed by influence and unbribed by gain,
Here patriot truth her glorious precepts draw
Firm to religion, liberty and law."

Subscription, yearly - - - $1.00
Invariably in Advance.

Address all communications to
THE BANNER,
Clanton, Ala.

OUR NEW CENTURY OFFER

THE BANNER finished the last century in excellent condition, but we wish to commence the new with a large number of new subscribers, and for that purpose have much pleasure in making the following offer:

The Banner one year (52 papers) for 75 cents.

The Banner one year and the N. Y. World Almanac and Encyclopedia for 1901, over 600 pages, $1.00

The Banner and Home & Farm, both papers one year for $1.00

The Banner and Birmingham Age Herald, both papers one year for $1.25

The Banner and Thrice-a-Week World—four papers every week for one year for $1.50

The Banner and Montgomery Advertiser, both papers one year for $1.50

The Banner and Atlanta Constitution and Home & Farm—all three for one year for $1.50

The Banner and Atlanta Constitution and your choice of a number of other periodicals—all three for 1 year for $1.50

The Banner and American Mouthly Review of Reviews—both one year for $2.75

REPRESENTATIVE Pounds introduced a bill to incorporate the town of Thorsby. The bill passed the House by a vote of 65 to 0.

SENATOR W. R. Oliver has introduced a bill to prevent the running at large of stock of any kind within certain prescribed territory hereinafter set forth, in Chilton county. The bill was referred to Committee on Agriculture.

Mr. Oliver also introduced a bill to establish the Mullins School District in Chilton connty and to provide for a public school therein. Referred to Committee on Education.

REYNOLDS CONTEST.

There was a meeting of the Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections held Monday afternoon at which time it was agreed that the contest case of Reynolds vs. Oliver from the Fifteenth District, composed of the counties of Shelby, Chilton and Elmore, which has been pending since the beginning of the session, would be taken up on Wednesday afternoon and the evidence heard from both sides. It is understood that Mr. Oliver claims he did not receive notice of the contest, as the law requires, and in consequence was not enabled to get the evidence that he could have gotten had he known of the contest. The other side say that notice was served and that the papers bear the endorsement of the sheriff to that effect. That is for the committee to decide, and as a matter of course, if notice was not given that stops the contest.—Advertiser.

Manitoba and the Exposition.

The Pan-American Exposition at Buffalo next year is assured of a representative exhibit from the important province of Manitoba. Special Commissioner Hetherson, who has made a tour of northwestern Canada for the Exposition, met with gratifying success in arousing interest in the enterprise.

Will Boom His Business

S. Laval, a merchant of Dallas, Tex. writes: "I thought I would have to give up business, after two years of suffering from general debility brought on by overwork and long hours, but four bottles of Electric Bitters gave me a new life. I can now eat anything, sleep well and feel like working all the time. It's the best medicine on earth." It's a wonderful tonic and health builder for tired, weak sickly and run-down people. Try it. Satisfaction guaranteed. Only 50c at Clanton drug store.

Sent to Self Administration.

It happened in an "L" car. He was tall, handsome and just a little too well dressed and was reading a pamphlet on which stood out in letters large enough to be plainly legible to the opposite row of passengers the title, "Correct Dress." They all noticed this, for he was really beautiful.

There was no doubt as to what he was reading. The passengers followed it almost line by line and knew just what part of the essay he had reached. It began when his eyes left the book and glanced dubiously at his cloth topped patent leathers. He shook his head slightly as he saw that the upper was of a trifle too pronounced a pattern. Next he took in his trousers, and a bland smile of satisfaction wreathed his face. There was a slight frown when he compared his waistcoat with the haberdasher's manual, but his coat and hat were evidently irreproachable.

The end of the inventory and of the spectators' self control came when the beautiful one began to admire in the back of his watch case his neckwear, his shirt and the faultless curves of his collar. A titter from the two girls in the corner, and the whole benchful exploded. The model of pulchritude looked up, shut his book with a snap, blushed furiously and left the car at the next station.—New York Mail and Express.

The Professor's Escaped Bacteria.

He was apparently an old man, wore large spectacles and carried a small satchel. Across the satchel was labeled, "Professor Redd, Chicago." He entered the waiting room of a suburban station and deposited the satchel carelessly near the ice cooler. Suddenly those near saw the satchel fall and heard the sharp tinkle of breaking glass. The old man picked up the glass and muttered exclamations of distress.

"To think I brought them all the way from Brazil," he said.

"What were they?" inquired some one in the sympathetic crowd.

"Germs!"

"What?"

"Bacteria of a strange Brazilian fever."

"Quick, man! Crush them with your foot!"

"I can't, sir. They are now floating around in the air."

There was a moment of horror. Then there was a rush, and a little later the old man was the only occupant of the waiting room. A window was raised from the outside.

"Just let them out easy, Pete," cautioned a voice.

And the bogus professor obeyed. Satchels, grips and cases went through the window. After he had finished collecting the professor followed the booty. His false beard fell back in the room, but he did not attempt to reclaim it. The arrival of their train prompted those outside to venture in for their baggage. It had vanished, and the black beard told the tale.—Chicago News.

A Successful Stratagem.

When the electric telegraph was first introduced into Chile, a stratagem was resorted to in order to guard the posts and wires against damage on the part of the natives and to maintain the connection between the strongholds on the frontier. There were at the time between 40 and 50 captive Indians in the Chilean camp. General Pinto, in command of the operations, called them together and, pointing to the telegraph wires, said:

"Do you see those wires?"

"Yes, general."

"I want you to remember not to go near or touch them, for if you do your hands will be held, and you will be unable to get away."

The Indians smiled incredulously. Then the general made them each in succession take hold of the wire at both ends of an electric battery in full operation, after which he exclaimed:

"I command you to let go the wire!"

"I can't! My hands are benumbed!" cried each Indian.

The battery was then stopped. Not long after the general restored them to liberty, giving them strict instructions to keep the secret. This had the desired effect, for, as might be expected, the experience was related in the strictest confidence to every man in the tribe, and the telegraph remained unmolested.

Lincoln's Offhand Way.

In 1861, when Mr. Lincoln was on his way to Washington to be inaugurated as president, his train stopped at Rochester, Pa., a station on the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago railroad. Mr. Lincoln alighted from the car to stretch his long limbs by walking on the station platform. His identity became known to the townspeople assembled there, and a friendly conversation with him ensued.

In reply to a reference to the threatening political outlook he said, "Oh, no one has been hurt yet."

Seeing a tall man in the crowd, Mr. Lincoln remarked that he and the man were of about the same height and proposed that they measure. They took off their hats and stood together, back to back, while some one placed a hand above their heads and found Mr. Lincoln to be slightly the taller.

An Apt Amendment.

Years ago a bill entitled "An act for the preservation of the heath hen and other game" was introduced into the New York house of assembly.

The speaker of the house, who was not especially interested in matters of this kind, gravely read it, "An act for the preservation of the heathen and other game."

He was blissfully unconscious of his blunder until an honest member from the northern part of the state who had suffered from the depredations of the frontier Indians rose to his feet.

"I should like to move an amendment to the bill," he said mildly, "by adding the words 'except Indians.'"—Youth's Companion.

Cuba and the United States.

Now that the Cuban constitutional convention is in session, and it has been possible to learn something of its composition and spirit, members of the administration at Washington are hopeful of a happy outcome. It is believed that the American policy, which till now has been kept well in the background, will be adopted by the convention as its own. If this proves to be the case, then indeed will the people of Cuba have cause for thankfulness: for they will secure all the advantages of nationality along with the perfect security which is to be found under the powerful wing of the great republic. The Cubans will gain full control of their domestic affairs, without interference by the United States, save that they are voluntarily to restrict their power to contract debt. Under the new regime Cubans will be justified in looking upon their republic as a nation; for self-government in the fullest sense, it will be theirs. They may make all their domestic laws; set up their own governmental machinery; fix their tariffs, levy their taxes, order their expenditures, establish their courts, police their territory, without fear or interference from abroad.

But the foreign relations of the republic of Cuba are to be conducted at Washington, not at Havana. Cuba will have no ministers abroad, but will speak through the State Departmet and diplomatic establishment of the United States. Foreign governments having business with Cuba, will address the Secretary of State, Washington, and he will communicate with the island government at Havana. Inwardly Cuba is to be a sovereign nation, internationally it is to be an American State. In other words, the republic of Cuba is to be to the United States almost precisely what the Dominion of Canada is to Great Britain, save that Cuba will choose a presidant, and not have a nominal governor general appointed by the paramount power.—Review of Reviews.

When you want a physic that is mild and gentle, easy to take and pleasant in effect use Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. Price 25 cents Samples free. Every Box guaranteed. For sale by Clanton Drug Co., and D. I. Peramus, Verbena.

Extent of Florist Industry.

The florist business in the United States is by no means an unimportant industry. It is estimated that the retail value of flowers sold annually is $12,500,000 and of potted plants $10,000,000. There are no less than 10,000 establishments in the United States devoted to the growing of plants under glass.—Chicago Chronicle.

Ebony was esteemed as an article of luxury by the ancients. In India it was employed by kings for sceptres and images and as it was supposed to annul the power of poisons was often made into drinking cups.

Consumption

is destruction of lung by a growing germ, precisely as moldy cheese is destruction of cheese by a growing germ.

If you kill the germ, you stop the consumption. You can or can't, according to when you begin.

Take Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil: take a little at first.

The genuine has this picture on it, take no other.

It acts as a food; it is the easiest food. Seems not to be food; makes you hungry; eating is comfortable. You grow stronger. Take more; not too much; enough is as much as you like and agrees with you. Satisfy hunger with usual food; whatever you like and agrees with you.

When you are strong again, have recovered your strength—the germs are dead; you have killed them.

If you have not tried it, send for free sample, its agreeable taste will surprise you.

SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists,
409 Pearl St., New York.
50c. and $1.00; all druggists.

ATLANTA CONSTITUTION

The Atlanta Constitution wants good agents everywhere. Men who will get out and canvass and hustle for new business. Many who have to go over their own and adjoining counties on business can take the Constitution along as the best side line. Country doctors, tax collectors, rural route mail carriers, nursery men, farmers and good workmen, could all realize among these prizes and make their commission besides. A fair salary proposition for any man.

The Weekly Constitution makes special feature of its agricultural page, which is presided over by Colonel R. J. Redding, director of the Georgia experiment farm, and a man who is recognized as an expert on all agricultural topics. He gives a full page every week on agricultural matters. A page is devoted to the women and a page to children, these two departments being presided over by Mrs. William King.

The Constitution has just completed the 31st year of its existence, Clark Howell being the editor and Colonel W. A. Hemphill its business manager. Its name is a household word in every Southern State, from Virginia to Texas. It has always been in especially close touch with the agricultural masses of the South, and having reached a circulation which carries it into 150,000 homes it has won a unique distinction which ranks it among the greatest of American weekly newspapers.

The Constitution will send a sample copy of its great Weekly free to any one sending his own name and the name of six neighbors, on a postal card.

Every man should take his county newspaper before anything else, and next to this he should take a good general newspaper, such as The Constitution. His county paper gives him the local home news, which is not supplied by a newspaper furnishing the general news from all parts of the country and from all over the world. Before a man seeks information from the outside, he should first feel sure that he is being kept posted on what is going on at home. When, however, the opportunity is offered to get the best weekly newspaper in this country with your home paper, the inducement is such as to elicit prompt response from our readers.

We will be glad to receive clubbing subscription with this paper and The Constitution, and if there are any who are now subscribers to this paper, who wish to take the Constitution also, we will be glad to receive subscriptions to the latter and forward them, having authority from that paper that to do so. The Constitution should be in every southern home!

The claim of other cough medicines to be as good as Chamberlain's are efficiently set at rest in the following testimonial of Mr. C. D. Glass, an employe of Barnes & Dennis Co., Gardiner, Me. He says: "I had kept coughing for a long and cough in the winter of 1897, trying every cough medicine I heard of without permanent help, until one day I was in the drug store of Mr Honlehan and he advised me to try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and offered to pay back my money if it was not used. My lungs and bronchial tubes were very sore at this time, but I was completely cured by this remedy, and have since always turned to it when I get a cold, and soon find relief. I also recommend it to my friends and am glad to say it is the best of all cough medicines." For sale by Clanton Drug Co., and D. I. Peramus, Verbena.

A Parson's Pun.

A writer in The Cornhill Magazine credits the late Canon Bingham with the following bit of wit:

He was driving one day with other clergy to a clerical meeting, when the conversation turned upon the meaning of the two places they were nearing, Wool and Wareham, in the county of Dorset.

"How do you account for the origin of these names, Canon Bingham?" asked one of the party.

"Don't you know this is a sheep county," replied the canon, "and at Wool you wool the sheep and at Wareham you wear 'em?"

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 31711.
Department of the Interior,
Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
January 18th 1901.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Clerk of the Circuit Court, at Clanton, Ala., on March 2nd, 1901, viz: John W. Oaks, Homestead entry, No. 30673, for the Nw ¼ of Section 32, Township 22 north of Range 16 east.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: J. W. Jones, W. C. B. Wyatt, T. J. Wyatt, W. L. Bates, all of Clanton, Ala.

BUNKIT BALLARD, Register.

Gone Democratic.

Cold weather will soon be here and you need wraps, we have them to suit all.

A good wrap for 50c; a better one for 75c; a nice shoulder silk lined and fur around the neck, black plush only $1.50; a plush cape, one that will cost you $7.50 to $10.00 in a city, our price only $5; we have them to suit all, come and see for yourself.

CLOTHING, well, we can fit your boys, husbands, fathers, grand-fathers and all boy's suits from 75c up; men's suits from

A nice line of DRESS GOODS from 20 to 75c per yard; cashmeres in pink, blue, cream and other colors 10c per yard; checks 5c; ing, EE, 5c; calicoes, 3c; a nice quilt top for 50cents.

Children's shoes 25c up; men's shoes from $1 to $3.50. Ladies' shoes from 75c to $3.00.

Fascinators from 25 to 75c, any color; infant hoods; men's hats from 75c up $3.50; water proof in black, blue, brown 36 inches wide, double width, only 50c per yard; 1 pound of candy for 5 cents, and everything kept in a first-class store at the same time we carry nothing but reliable goods and anything that is not as we will make it alright. Thanking our host of customers for their liberal patronage, we stand ready to serve you with first-class goods at a small profit. Yours for business.

SARTOR & KICKER,
CLANTON

THE WHITE HOUSE

at Washington, the home of the President, is one of the finest buildings in the land, and the white store house at Clanton carries the finest stock of

GENERAL MERCHANDISE

to be found in this part of the country. We carry a fine line of Groceries, Clothing, Shoes, etc., and will treat you well.

J. B. DOWNS, Clanton

C. R. MULLINS

AGENT FOR THE LIVERPOOL & LONDON & GLOBE FIRE INSURANCE OF ENGLAND. THE LONDON & LANCASHIRE FIRE INSURANCE CO. OF NEW YORK, formerly represented by W. L. Samples.
THE ETNA ACCIDENT INSURANCE CO. OF HARTFORD, CONN.
THE OLD MUTUAL BENEFIT LIFE INSURANCE CO. OF NEWARK, N. J.
AND THE SINGER MANUFACTURING CO., the largest Sewing Machine company in the world.

We know you are interested in the problem of getting full value for the money you spend no matter what the outlay is for. I will not presume to advise you along all lines, but when it comes to buying a Sewing Machine for yourself and family I am in a position to give some valuable suggestions. For over fifty years the Company have done nothing but study the needs and requirements of the people in the matter of Sewing Machines, and our large business is proof that we are making and furnishing what they want. The styles are the very latest, unsurpassed in lasting qualities and best of all the prices are reasonable, and the terms within the reach of all. We are placing our machines in the leading families all over the land. If you want the best looking, the lightest running and easiest [illegible] attachments ever bought, call for the High Arm Singer. You will find a complete stock of these machines at the Singer Office.

Machines from $5.00 to $65.00 for cash or on time. Needles, Bands, Cans, Shuttles and Attachments, and the best oil every time Machine Oil manufactured, every bottle bearing our trade mark. 10, 15 and 20 cent bottles.

My regular office days are Saturdays and Mondays. For further particulars call on or address

C. R. MULLINS,
SINGER OFFICE CLANTON

A WHOLESALE HOUSE FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE CONSUMER

We save you the Retailer's profit. We sell direct to the People at the same price that your Retailer pays for his goods. We buy direct from the Manufacturer and pay cash for our goods. You can buy one bottle from us at the same price your Retailer pays per dozen. $1 preparations, 50 to 75c. 50c preparations, 25 to 40c. 25c preparations, 10 to 20c. 15c preparations, 7 to 12c. 10c preparations, 6 to 8c.

OUR WHISKEY DEPARTMENT

Is the best in the State. All whiskey sold 25 per cent less than you can buy from any other firm. Try a quart of our J. MATTIS'S 5 YEAR OLD VIRGINIA RYE at 75c, if you are not satisfied that it is equal to any brand you buy elsewhere for $1, we will refund your money. Send us your orders. We are your friends and guarantee everything we sell.

COLLIER DRUG CO. 1926 First Avenue BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

NEW AND BIGGER STOCK!

To meet the increasing demands of our business we are now laying in a NEW and full line of

CLOTHING, HATS, SHOES, ETC.

all in the Latest styles and Newest Fashions.

Our GROCERIES and GENERAL MERCHANDISE are of the finest grade and always fresh.

OUR PRICES ARE BASED ON THE SMALLEST MARGIN OF PROFIT.

WE SHALL BE PLEASED TO SERVE YOU

KEMP & GILES, Clanton, Ala.

$10,000 TO BE GIVEN AWAY

WOULD YOU LIKE TO TRY FOR IT

If so, write THE WEEKLY ADVERTISER, Montgomery, Ala., for a sample copy, and they will send you the list of prizes, and the conditions upon which you may get one of their great prizes to be given away during next May.

n be here and you
m to suit all.

me for 75c; a nice shoulder black plush only $1.50; a
.50 to $10.00 in a city, our u me and see for yourself.
your boys, husbands, fa m 75c up; men's suits from $ from 20 to 75c per yard; o
e 10c per yard; checks $2;
t top for 50 cents.
hoes from $1 to $3.50; La ny color, infant hoods, 25c proof in black, blue, brow per yard; a pound of good prices also at the same and saving that is not al our last year customers for serve you with first-class siness.

KICKER, CLANTO

E HOUSE

udent, is one of the finest h house at Clanton carrie

CHANDISE

ntry. We carry a fine li will treat you well.

OWNS, Clanton

LLINS

NDON & GLOBE FIRE INS
ON & LANCASHIRE FIRE
K, formerly represented by
CO. OF HARTFORD, CONN
RANCE CO. OF NEWARK,
RINGS the largest insura
in the world.
he problem of getting full v
at the outlay is for I will but when it comes to buyin
y I am in a position to nk leaves the Company requirements of the people ge business is proof
y want. The styles are ories and, best of all,
t put the reach of all. We ance we cover the land a prices, and the best a Hats, Caps, Dry Goods
cash or on time. Neil
y, Clanton, Ala.
y and Marble. For furn
LLINS,
INGER OF FIRE, CLANTON.

OR THE BENEFIT

UMER

ost. We sell direct to the Retailer pays for his goods
urer and pay cash for our m us at the same price you rations, 50 to 75c. 50c pre ons, 10 to 20c. 15c prepa
6 to 8c.

EPARTMENT

y sold 25 per cent less than
Try a quart of our J. Max
5c, if you are not satisfied
y elsewhere for $1, we will ponders. We are your friend

D. 1926 First Avenue
BIRMINGHAM, A

R STOCK!

the increasing demands of
are now laying in a NEW

HING, HATS
OES, ETC.
st styles and Newest Fash
RIES and GENERAL M are of the finest grad
d always fresh.
HE SMALLEST MAR
IT.
D TO SERVE YOU
S, Clanton, Ala

GIVEN AWAY
O TRY FOR IT
ERTISER, Montgomery, of prizes, and the cond rest prizes to be given

TOWN TOPICS

Commissioners' Court meets second Monday in February, first Monday in April, first Monday in June, second Monday in July, second Monday in August and first Monday in November.

CLANTON COTTON MART

Price to-day 8¼ cents.
Same date last year 7¼ cents

Bales received to date:	1900	1899
Pickard & Co.	2288	2778
Mauldin	1840	1912
Wilson	360	321
Downs	350	280
Total	4783	5281

Capt. W. A. Middleton is visiting his son, Dr. W. F. Middleton, of Mt. Carmel.

Mr. [illegible] Johnson, of Stanton, was here Saturday.

Mrs. D. M. Foshee, of Selma, is visiting relatives in town.

Dr. W. F. Middleton, of Mt. Carmel, visited his parents, Capt. and Mrs. W. A. Middleton, Friday.

Dr. W. E. Stewart went to the capital city Saturday.

Mr. Tom Nelson, of Stanton, spent a day or two in town this week.

Mr. J. E. Sims, of Sylacauga, was in Clanton Monday.

Mr. Russell McDaniel, of Montgomery, spent Sunday with his parents.

Mr. Tom Gullahorn, of Parkwood, was a visitor here Monday.

Mr. Frank Crichton is spending few days in Chicago.

Dr. O. M. Wisehart has returned from a few day's visit in Birmingham.

Stop the cough and work off the cold.

Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets cures cold in one day. No Cure No Pay. Price 25 cents.

Mr. P. D. Wilson went to Birmingham Monday.

Mr. C. L. Stewart was in Birmingham Monday on business.

Mr. O. A. T. Lefstead, of Thorsby, was one of our pleasant visitors Monday.

Tax Collector T. J. Hubbard was in town last Friday.

Mr. W. C. Edler went to Montgomery yesterday.

Miss Emma DeShazo, of Elmore, is visiting the Misses Cooley.

YOU KNOW WHAT YOU ARE TAKING

When you take Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic because the formula is plainly printed on every bottle showing that it is simply Iron and Quinine in a tasteless form. No Cure, No Pay. 50c.

Mrs. F. M. Woods visited Montevallo, Sunday.

Mrs. Strock, of Verbena, is visiting Mrs. S. E. Johnson.

Mrs. Guy Higgins has returned from a pleasant visit to Deatsville.

Mr. C. A. Peterson, of Thorsby, was in the city Monday.

Born to Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Hayes, a fine girl.

Mr. C. L. Stewart has sold his winery to Mr. J. L. Maddox.

The Clanton Drug Co., will refund your money if you are not satisfied after using Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. They cure disorders of the stomach, biliousness, constipation and headache. Price 25 cents. Samples free.

217 acres of land to rent or sell, 4 miles northeast of Clanton; 2 good wells of water. Terms reasonable. Apply to J. L. MADDOX, Clanton.

Marriage licenses have been issued this week by the Probate Judge to the following persons.

Mr. Lum Mull and Miss Ada Broadhead; Mr. J. M. Dennis and Miss Eshilla Culpepper; Mr. W. M. Green and Miss Ada Barnes.

Colorad. J. T. Walton and Mary E. Sanlan; Major King and Ella Williams.

Mr. J. F. Fleming of Randolph was in town last Saturday.

Mr. Tipton Mullins went to the capital city Wednesday.

Mr. G. S. Jones, of Lily, was in Clanton Wednesday.

Mr. E. Driver, of Coopers, was a visitor here yesterday.

The O. K. Lunch Counter
MEALS AND LUNCHES SERVED AT ALL HOURS AT POPULAR PRICES
Fish and Oysters during the Season
I pay highest market price for Chickens and Eggs.
LUNCHES PUT UP FOR TRAVELERS
THE O.K. LUNCH COUNTER
NEXT THE RAILROAD, CLANTON

FALL GOODS

Now on sale and daily arriving a large and varied stock of goods. Prices as low as can be made on reliable merchandise and we spare no efforts to please you. Give us a call and let us figure with you on anything you want to buy. Coffins kept in stock and also trimmings for home made coffins.

E. M. PINCKARD & CO

Why try to stick things with something that doesn't stick? Buy MAJOR'S CEMENT; you know it sticks. Nothing breaks away from it. Stick to MAJOR'S CEMENT. Buy once, you will buy forever. There is nothing as good; don't believe the substitutes.

MAJOR'S RUBBER and MAJOR'S LEATHER. Two separate cements—the best. Insist on having them. ESTABLISHED 1876. 15 and 25 cents per bottle at all druggists.

MAJOR CEMENT CO., NEW YORK CITY.

Broad Scope of the Exposition.

Nearly all of the nations of Central and South America have already sent formal acceptances to the invitation to participate in the Pan-American Exposition. Exhibits showing the resources of all the principal countries of Central and South America are now in course of preparation. Government officials are preparing exhibits from the Philippine Islands, Porto Rico, Cuba and the Hawaiian group. About 15 acres have been set apart for the court of the state and foreign buildings on the eastern side of the grounds and a little south of the main group.

Baptist Humor.

Here is a story from the Baptist conference at Leicester. It is about a minister. He found himself at chapel one morning without his sermon. "My dear brethren," he exclaimed, "I can only give you now what God will send me, but tonight I will come back better prepared."—Pall Mall Gazette.

THE NEW ENGLAND WATCH, nickle case, stem wind and stem set warranted for 12 months. Delivered anywhere with a silk cord of plate chain for $2.75. Try one if you want a good time piece cheap.

The New England Watch is still giving good satisfaction. It is the poor man's time piece.

L. D. POPWELL, Clanton.

Everybody Says So.

Cascarets Candy Cathartic, the most wonderful medical discovery of the age, pleasant and refreshing to the taste, act gently and positively on kidneys, liver and bowels, cleansing the entire system, dispel colds, cure headache, fever, habitual constipation and biliousness. Please buy and try a box of C. C. C. to-day; 10, 25, 50 cents. Sold and guaranteed to cure by all druggists.

NEW ROYAL.
High-arm Light running. Warranted 10 years. $28 and $32.
FIVE DRAWER $32.

The New Royal is not a cheap machine, but a high-class machine made out of good material, all parts adjustable and ball bearing; has a good set of steel attachments and all of them work well.

I will exchange the New Royal for old machines and allow the full value of the old machine. Come and see me. I can sell you a machine as cheap as you can buy in Clanton.

Some secondhand machines from $4 up. Send me 25 cents in silver or stamps and an old needle for sample and I will send you 1 dozen needles to fit your machine.

REPAIR WORK GUARANTEED.
L. D. POPWELL.
CLANTON.

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE
PATENTS
TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &c.
Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents.
Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.
A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.
MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St. Washington, D. C.

NEURALGIA cured by Dr. Miles' Pain Pills. "One cent a dose." At all druggists.

"KRUMP'S KORNER."

The owner of this Korner has again returned to it, after wandering many days in foreign lands older, uglier and we trust a little wiser in some respects. He rejoices at his return, and would be glad to see all of the good and bad people of Chilton county. I only ask don't all of you come same day, as I have not got enough to go round for dinner. I have enough yarns however to make up shortness in grubb. Come to see me anyhow and we will talk it over, and no charge for the yarns. Please remember I keep all things the farmer needs, and I will sell him

A sewing machine, a wagon, or a buggy,
A suit, a hat, a pair shoes or a knife,
Or he can call himself very lucky,
If he will just bring his wife.

Yours for health,
T. U. CRUMPTON
MAPLESVILLE, ALA.

Wamben & Peterson
CONTRACTORS AND BUILDERS
HOUSE MOVING A SPECIALTY
—DEALER IN—
ALL BUILDING MATERIALS—SASH, DOORS, BLINDS, MANTELS, ETC.
OFFICE ON JONES ST OPPOSITE BICK'S
THORSBY.

HELP WANTED
to reduce my big stock of goods.

I have just returned from the Northern markets, where I purchased some Extraordinary Bargains

and am now offering the good People of Chilton such values as they have never known before.

READ THESE PRICES:

Dry Goods
Calicoes ..... from 4 cts up
Sheeting ..... from 5 cts up
Percale, one yard wide 7c
Black Sateen 8½c
Bleaching ..... from 5 cts up
Cotton Checks 5c
Ducking ..... per yard 9c
Gingham, best ..... per yard 5c

Clothing
The biggest line for the least money ever known.

Hats
Men's first-class Hats, $1.50 hat for $1.00
Men's ..... 75 ct hat for 50c
Men's ..... 50 ct hat for 35
Men's ..... 25 ct hat for 15
Caps 10

Shoes
Ladies' Shoes, Spring heel, Tan ... $1.00
Ladies' Oil grain $1.00
Ladies' Fine Shoes, a $2.00 shoe .. $1.35

Men's Shoes .... a $2.00 shoe for .. $1.45

Trunks, Valises, Etc.

Gent's Furnishings
Shirts, White Linen bosom ... each 25c
Linen Collars, any shape ..... each 5c
Celuloid Collars ..... each 5c
Hosiery ..... from 5 cts up
Suspenders ..... from 5 cts up
Handkerchiefs ..... 3 for 5 cts and up
Neckwear, 250 styles, a 30c Tie for 23c
Umbrellas, $1 value for 65c

Notions
Best Assorted Ribbons at half price
Lace, 5c value 3c
Corsets, 50c value 35
Corsets, 25c value 22
Ladies' Belts ..... from 5 cts up
Scissors, a 50c pair 20
Towels ..... from 10 cts up
Pearl Buttons ..... 1 dozen for 5c
Garterwear ..... per yard 5c

—CALL AT THE—
CASH STORE
FOR BARGAINS,
THORSBY, ALA.

OUR CASH PRICES SUBJECT TO CHANGE WITHOUT NOTICE.

15 lbs. Granulated Sugar	$1.00	2 bushel sack Meal	1.20
1 bbl Red Seal Patent Flour	4.50	1 gal water white 150 fire test oil	18
½ bbl " " "	2.25	1 lb Ham	15
24 lb sack " " "	.60	Whole Ham, per pound	13
1 bbl Straight Family Flour	3.50	Bacon and Bulk	10-12
14 lb sk Family Flour	50	1 lb Lard	10
100 lbs Bran	1.10	50 lbs Lard	4.50

We are handling Minneapolis Flour. Soda Crackers and Sweet Crackers, Ginger Snaps, Cheese, Lemons, Irish Potatoes always in stock. Also best Dried Fruits in the market. Also handle Roller Champion and I. E. M. Flour.

Dry Goods, Clothing, Hardware and the very best Staple and Fancy Groceries.

Fresh Fish and Oysters every Saturday.
We take Eggs, Butter, Corn, Meal, Fruit and Chickens at the highest market price in exchange for goods.
Yours to please,
A. M. JOHNSON, Manager

GROCERIES

Come and select what you want from this mammoth stock.
First Come, First Served!
YOURS TO PLEASE,

W. KANTER, Clanton

Everyone to His Taste.

And I am pleased to say that your taste and Everyone's taste can be suited at my Store, where you will find the

choicest Line of Fancy Groceries
AND CANNED GOODS

Always Fresh and New. I have no old Stock.
Dry Goods, Hats, Shoes, Gents Furnishing Goods, Fancy line of Shirts and Underwear, Notions, Hardware and General Merchandise.
Yours to serve faithfully and well,
B. H. JONES CLANTON

LEGISLATIVE SUMMARY.

What is Being Done at our State Capitol.

Members of the committee from Florida looking to the annexation of a portion of that state to Alabama, appeared before the General Assembly Monday to argue the annexation of West Florida. The committee spoke emphatically of the unanimity of opinion in West Florida for this annexation.

A joint session of the two houses was held to hear the visitors, and stirring speeches were made by them in favor of annexation, and much interest was aroused in the matter.

The sentiment among the members of the General Assembly seems to be that not a dissenting voice will be raised if the annexation can be accomplished without friction between Alabama and Florida.

The House passed the bill making the Railroad Commission an advisory pardoning board.

The bill regulating the sale of morphine and cocaine was defeated.

Dr. O. P. Fitzsimmons, of Birmingham, is leading the fight against the O'Brien pool selling bill. Representative O'Brien stated that he introduced the bill by request, and that he is not wedded to it and does not feel called upon to campaign for it.

BUCKET SHOPS UNDER BAN.

Amendment to War Revenue Act Calls For Their Taxation.

A Washington special says: The senate committee on finance Thursday reported a number of amendments to the war revenue reduction act.

One is relative to stock transactions and says that every owner or conductor of what is known as a bucket shop must pay a stamp tax of one cent on each $100 in value of the merchandise covered and also a tax of two cents on each $100 on the face value of all stocks, bonds or other securities covered. They shall also pay a special tax of $50 for each office.

NO MORE CIGARETTES.

Tennessee Legislature Passes Bill Prohibiting Their Sale.

Tobacco dealers in Tennessee have received notice of the final passage of the anti-cigarette bill by the state legislature and its signature by the governor.

They will discontinue sale and return their stock on hand to the manufacturers.

It is stated that the sale of cigarettes is practically stopped all over the state. Intimations are made that the constitutionality of the law will be tested.

PREPARATORY ORDERS ISSUED.

War Department Anticipates Passage of Army Reorganization Bill.

A Washington special says: In anticipation of the passage of the army reorganization bill, the war department has issued preparatory orders for the transportation of 5,200 regular troops to the Philippines to replace an equal number of volunteers. The soldiers to be sent to the Philippines first include eight troops of the Fifth cavalry, eight companies of the Tenth infantry, eight companies of the Eleventh infantry and the provisional battalion of troops at San Francisco.

CHARGES AGAINST WILCOX.

Hawaiian Representative In Congress Accused of Being a Traitor.

Charges have been submitted to the house committee on elections No. 1 against Delegate Robert W. Wilcox, the Hawaiian representative in the house of representatives, by George D. Gear, of Hawaii, who submitted letters purporting to be copies of letters written by Wilcox to the Filipino officials. The alleged letters are of a highly sensational character.

Wilcox is charged with treason against the United States and with being a bigamist.

JOHN GIBSON CONVICTED.

Man Who Killed Child With Red-Hot Poker Goes Up For Life.

A special from Huntington, W. Va., says: John Gibson, who was indicted for the murder of his stepdaughter in Catlettsburg, Ky., and who has been on trial there, was found guilty of murder in the first degree and a life sentence was imposed.

St. Louis Makes Contribution.

Mayor Zeigenheim of St. Louis has signed a bill for the issue of $5,000,000 in bonds for the city's contribution to the Louisiana Purchase World's Fair in 1902.

OBJECTION TO GOMEZ.

Enemies of the Cuban Patriot Make Threats of a Bolt.

A special from Havana says: The constitutional convention held a secret session Friday morning at which the anti-Gomez element announced its intention to remain away from the public session unless the naturalization clause was stricken out of the twelfth section. The Gomez faction replied that they had won over three delegates. The Gomezites admitted that General Gomez did not desire the presidency.

PIE FOR BRUNSWICK.

Government May Establish Naval Training Station at Georgia Port.

A Washington special says: Brunswick, Ga., is to get a naval training station if the recommendations which Secretary Long has made to the naval committees of congress are accepted and carried out. For some days Representative Brantly has been working on a project which means a great deal for Brunswick, and late Saturday afternoon Secretary Long took action which seems to insure the success of his plans. These are for the development of Blythe island, which lies off from Brunswick and which has, since 1857, been the property of the government, purchased for the use of the navy department.

This island contains 1,100 acres of land, is well wooded and is a valuable piece of property, but it seems that the fact that it is government property had been praticaly lost sight of by the authorities in Washington until a few days ago, when Mr. Brantley called on the secretary of the navy and Admiral Crowninshield.

Mr. Brantley has for some time been investigating the facts concerning the purchase and ownership of the island, and when he informed these officials that the navy had this property there was little delay in getting them committed to his plans of development.

As soon as he knew of the character of the property and its surroundings, Admiral Crowninshield decided that this was exactly what the naval authorities have been wanting for a training station for landsmen, and he made his recommendation to Secretary Long accordingly. There is plenty of water around the island, and the land itself is admirably adapted for these purposes. The authorities prefer the south because of the better climate and Blythe island fills the bill in every particular.

On Saturday morning Mr. Brantley and Senator Bacon called at the navy department and there made the final presentation of the case to Secretary Long. Late in the afternoon, just before leaving his office, Secretary Long addressed to Chairman Foss, of the house committee, and Chairman Hale, of the senate committee, letters in which he recommended the appropriation of $25,000 for a wharf, road and storehouse or other original improvements for Blythe island, and states that it is the purpose of the department to utilize the island for a training station for landsmen.

MOURNING IN CHARLESTON.

Memorial Services For Queen Held In Historic St. Michaels.

At the request of the St. Andrews Society, founded in 1729, and the St. George's Society, founded in 1733, special memorial services were held at the time of the queen's funeral, at historic St. Michael's church in Charleston, S. C., Saturday, Rev. John Kershaw, the rector, and all the Episcopal clergymen in the city taking part. The organ of the church is of ancient English make, and is said to have been first played at the coronation of George III. The bells of St. Michael's tolled from 12 to 1 and from 5 to 6 o'clock.

BAD INDIANS IMPRISONED.

Charged With Treason--White Instigators May Be Prosecuted.

Chitto Harjo, or "Crazy Snake," the leader of warring Creek Indians, and seventeen of the minor leaders of that tribe, have been landed in the federal jail in Muskogee, Indian Territory, where they will be held pending trial for treason. The Indians were brought from Henrietta under escort of troop A, Eighth cavalry, and United States Marshal Bennett and his posse.

It is stated that certain attorneys, who, it is asserted, misled the Indians, may be prosecuted.

PASSED TEXT BOOK BILL.

Aycock Measure Goes Through the North Carolina Legislature.

The North Carolina senate passed without debate what is known as the Aycock school textbook bill, which provides a commission of school teachers to select books and recommend them. A fight on the bill was made in the house and against this particular feature.

DELEGATES BANQUETTED.

Representatives of Y.M.C.A. National Committee Welcomed in Atlanta.

Nearly two hundred of the most prominent and successful business and professional men of Atlanta gathered at the Kimball house Friday night to welcome the delegates of the international committee of the Young Men's Christian Association.

The reception to the delegates lasted from seven to eight o'clock, at which hour an elaborate banquet was served in the large dining hall of the hotel.

MINER'S UNION DENOUNCED.

Coal Operators Close Down Before Accepting Dictation.

J. C. Osgood, president of the Colorado Fuel and Iron company, in his testimony before the state legislative committee which is investigating the coal strike in which a number of the company's mines are involved, caused something of a sensation by his severe arraignment of the organization and officers of the United Mine Workers.

He declared that his company would sooner close every mine it owned than submit to the dictation of the union.

"REBUKE," SAYS MARK

Resolution of Brunswick Maritime Congress Presented In The Senate.

A Washington special says: Senator Hanna presented to the senate Friday the resolutions adopted by the Brunswick maritime congress in advocacy of government aid to the merchant marine, and, in the few words he said in presenting the paper, showed that he construed it an endorsement of the pending subsidy bill, and that he regarded it in the nature of a rebuke to the senators from Georgia and other southern states, who are opposing his pet measure.

Some of Senator Clay's friends in the senate were inclined to joke with him about this action at Brunswick, and he was asked if it would make any difference in the vote he intended to cast.

"Not in the last," said the Georgia senator, whose speech against the measured was the opening gun of the opposition's fight. "I know," he continued, "that this action, if it is meant as an indorsement to the subsidy bill, does not represent the sentiments of the people of Georgia. I doubt if 1 per cent of the people favor this direct appropriation to the already wealthy ship owners.

"I know that Senator Bacon and all of the members of the house delegation are opposed to the bill, and that in this opposition they and I represent the feeling of the people of the state. Certainly we represent the feeling of practically all of the democrats, not only in Georgia, but throughout the country.

"Now, I have nothing at all to say in criticism of the very excellent gentlemen who took part in the proceedings of that congress at Brunswick, but of course, everybody recognizes the real influences which brought it about and, in a measure, controlled its actions. It might perhaps be uncharitable to say that it was a Hanna convention, but the inspiration certainly came from the men who in this particular fight Mr. Hanna represents.

"Of course there can be no criticism of the citizens of Brunswick for holding the conference and entertaining the delegates, for every city likes to have conventions and congresses of all kinds, and the business men of Brunswick contributed to give these visiting delegates as good a time as they do all visitors within their gates. As for the congress itself, however, it certainly represented an infinite small amount of southern sentiment, if it represented any at all."

ONLY COPIED THE PAPER.

Brobston Explains Authorship of His Ship Subsidy Resolution.

During the session of the maritime congress at Brunswick, Ga., Friday, Mr. Brobston, on a question of personal privilege, stated that he had been informed that it was intended to make an effort to injure him before the public by printing a photograph of his resolution, by comparison with handwriting of F. B. Thurber, to make it appear that Thurber was the man who wrote the Brobston ship subsidy resolution.

Mr. Brobston declared the resolution was written at a conference the night before with three Brunswick board of trade members participating and acquiescing and that Mr. Thurber simply copied it by request of the conference.

DENIES YOUR UNCLE SAM.

President Castro, of Venezuela Shows Hate For Americans.

Advices from Port of Spain, Trinidad, state that the Venezuelan government continues to maintain a defiant attitude toward the United States. The report is now circulated that President Castro, having troops at his disposal in the eastern province since his victory there over the insurgents, will send a regiment to dispossess the Americans at Pitch lake. The company will resist, but no doubt it will be ousted if the threatened attempt is made.

Mr. Loomis, the United States minister, is trying to compromise matters, but he is met in an unfriendly spirit by the government of Venezuela.

Money For Fortifications.

The house Thursday passed the fortifications appropriation bill and made fine progress with the postoffice appropriation bill.

VALUABLE CARGO, THIS.

Vessel Clears at Philadelphia With "Stuff" Valued at $288,677.

The Norwegian steamship Fortuna sailed from Philadelphia Thursday for Europe carrying railroad rolling stock valued at $220,880.

At Marseilles she will land ten locomotives and tenders, worth $120,000, for the Paris and Lyons railroad, and to Bilboa, Spain, she will take eight locomotives and tenders, valued at $100,880.

Besides these shipments the Fortuna has on board 7,428 flat steel billets worth $17,799 for Newport, England.

BANK CAN NOW RESUME.

Creditors Agree to Accept Payment of Claims in Instalments.

The creditors of the banking house of Josiah Morris & Co., at Montgomery held a third meeting Thursday morning and after hering from the committee which had been appointed to examine into the affairs of the institution it was unanimously decided that every indulgence be granted and the bank be allowed to resume business under the old management, the depositors agreeing to accept payment in various instalments.

A BATTLE ROYAL

Is Promised By Democrats In Congress Over the Ship Subsidy Measure.

A Washington special says:—The Democratic members of the senate have determined to continue the fight on the Hanna ship subsidy bill.

This was decided in caucus held Thursday afternoon. Senator Jones of Arkansas, leader of the minority, will make a statement to the senate, putting the Republicans on notice that the shipping bill must be discussed fully and that the minority considers it a crude measure and one of far less importance than the Nicaragua canal bill, the revenue reduction bill, or the appropriation bills, and that the minority will not submit to an early vote on the shipping bill.

Senator Jones will lay down an ultimatum to the Republicans that the Democrats will insist on a consideration of the canal and appropriation bills ahead of a vote being taken on the shipping bill and that if the Republican attempt to keep the shipping bill before the senate and delay action on the appropriation bills they must assume the responsibility and if an extra session has to be called it will be the result of the Republicans attempting to force the subsidy bill to passage over other necessary legislation.

This decision of the Democrats amounts to an ultimatum to the Republicans, and if the policy decided upon is adhered to it means that the shipping bill cannot pass at this session and that an extra session of congress will be a certainty.

The Democrats disclaim any intention of a filibuster. They insist, however, that the bill must be properly debated and they argue that as there have been only three or four speeches so far, it has not been properly debated by any means. The Democrats state that no less than ten or a dozen set speeches against the bill are scheduled. Each of these speeches will practically consume a senate working day.

If the advocates of the measure insist upon night sessions, they must, the Democrats say, furnish the necessary quorums, for at each session there will be on hand just enough Democrats to insist upon a quorum being present for the transaction of this business.

Many of the best prophets believe that the Republican supporters of the measure will yield to the pressure and go to pieces long before the Democrats who oppose it show any sign of weakening.

STRANDED SEAMEN RESCUED.

Crew of Eighteen Saved From Watery Grave By Passing Steamer.

The German steamer Barcelon, which arrived at New York Thursday from Hamburg, via Halifax, N. S., brought into port the captain and fourteen seamen of the Russian bark Cuba, which was abandoned at sea January 18th in latitude 40.30, longitude 13.10, in a dismasted and water-logged condition.

Captain Bohn, of the Barcelona, reports that at midnight of January 17th, a glare of light was sighted which at first was thought to be a ship on fire. The Barcelona headed for the light and on approaching nearer two huge flares were seen from a vessel in distress. Passing close by the craft, Captain Bohn, with his night glass, made out that she was dismasted and waterlogged and the people on the wreck were waving and gesticulating violently.

At times hoarse shouts could be heard, and finally cries of "Help; we are sinking!" were made out. There was a high sea running, but it was decided to make the attempt to rescue the shipwrecked crew.

First officer A. Lavoni and a boat's crew of five men managed to lower a life-boat and get to the side of the steamer. After an exceedingly hard pull the boat was successfully brought under the lee of the wreck, and after a severe struggle all of the men, fifteen in number, were taken into the boat and to the steamer.

Appointments By Governor.

Governor Candler, of Georgia, made two important appointments Thursday. Colonel George Gilmore of Washington county, is made a member of the board of trustees of the Experiment station. Dr. J. Frank Harris, of Thomas county, is made a member of the electic board of medical examiners.

FOLLOWERS OF MRS. NATION.

Imitators of Saloon Wrecker Get In Their Work In Nebraska Town.

Fifteen or twenty imitators of Mrs. Nation got in their work Friday afternoon at Sioux City, Neb., a suburb of Sioux City, Iowa, just across the Missouri river. Some women accompanied by the marshal of the town, and a member of the city council, marched double file down the street to John Peyson's joint. The place was locked and the marshal kicked in the front door whereupon all the women set about carrying out the furniture and everything they could lay hands on, depositing it in the street. No whisky was found.

CRUISER BIDS OPENED.

Navy Department Inspects Offers For Building Three Warships.

Bids for the building of three protected cruisers were opened at the navy department Friday. Neafie & Levy, of Philadelphia, at $2,740,000; the Newport News Ship Building Company, at $2,741,000, and the Bath Ship Building Company, at $2,750,000, appear to be the successful bidders for the three cruisers.

A RAILROAD DEAL.

Big Syndicate Gets Controlling Interest In the Southern Pacific.

A New York special says: Another railroad transaction, reaching, it is believed, much further in its ultimate results than any of the deals which have thus far marked the closing of the old and the beginning of the new century, became known just a few minutes before the closing of the market Friday afternoon, when the transfer of the control of the Southern Pacific company into the hands of a syndicate in which Union Pacific interests predominate, was announced.

The transaction completes the last link necessary for the establishment of a trans-continental railroad under a single control. This control is at present vested in E. H. Harriman. The new route includes the following lines, in all of which, except the Southern Pacific, Mr. Harriman is officially connected.

Starting at San Francisco, running over the Central Pacific end of the Southern Pacific direct to Ogden; thence first over the Union Pacific to Kansas City, and thence over the Chicago and Alton to Chicago, or, second, over the Union Pacific to Omaha and thence over the Dubuque and Sioux City branch of the Illinois Central direct to Chicago, where the Baltimore and Ohio connects, direct to the Atlantic seaboard.

The control of the Southern Pacific just transferred includes the large holdings controlled by Speyer & Co. and also the Huntington holdings. The price secured for these holdings is not known. James Speyer, when questioned, would make only the following concise statement:

"We have received a satisfactory offer for our holdings of Southern Pacific stock and have accepted it."

From a reliable source, however, it may be stated that holding of the Huntington estate in the Southern Pacific have been acquired by the same interests which purchased the Speyer stock, and that the two blocks in connection with recent purchases in the open market, which have been responsible for the sharp advance in the Southern Pacific securities, have given the purchasers a working control of the Southern Pacific company.

Alaska Will Have Delegate.

The house committee on territories has reported favorably the Knox bill, allowing Alaska a delegate in the house. The committee also voted down the bill to allow cities and towns of Arizona to issued bonds for the purchase of waterworks.

Explosion Kills Seven.

An explosion occurred Thursday afternoon in a cigar factory in New York. Several persons are reported killed any many injured.

LI HUNG CHANG DEAD?

The Report of His Demise Is Current Throughout Europe.

The Tien Tsin correspondent of The London Standard, wiring Thursday, says it was rumored that day in Tien Tsin that Li Hung Chang was dead.

The foreign office at Paris has no news of the reported death of Li Hung Chang.

To Curb Lobbyists.

The North Carolina house has passed a bill to regulate lobbyists, requiring them to register. The bill is an exact copy of the Wisconsin law, but the section was stricken out which required lobbyists to swear what fees they received.

Two New Federal Judges.

The house committee on judiciary has reported favorably bills for two additional United States judges in Oklahoma and increasing the salaries of judges from $3,000 to $4,000, and for a division of the judicial district of Texas.

Paris has a municipal debt of $350,000,000, nearly half that of all the cities of France, twice as great as that of London, and one-third of the local debts of all England. Every Parisian owes $100 more than every Londoner. In Paris government costs $25 a head, the highest rate in any city in the world. As an offset, it claims to be the best governed, and, while the contention may be disputed, it is certainly second to none, affording an example of administrative efficiency never surpassed in the urban history of any period. But Berlin is not far behind, and government there only costs $6 a head, while in St. Petersburg the job is done in tolerable fashion at $2.50 a head.

The thousands of sardine and other tin boxes that are thrown away every month form the basis of an industry which has reached vast proportions. These refuse tins are stamped my machinery into tin soldiers, and sold so cheaply that the poorest children can posses them; yet the manufacturer makes a fair profit, which he could not do if he used new material.

After all, even if the French solved the problem of getting into England, they would still be confronted with the other one—how to stay there.

Cudahy, the pork packer, has undoubtedly set a demoralizing example in paying $25,000 ransom for his kidnapped child, but there is consolation in the reflection that a great majority of us will be unable to follow it.

More than half the food supply of the United Kingdom is drawn from other countries, at an annual cost of $25 per inhabitant. The average price of imported food is $99.83 per ton.

Hard Coughs

No matter how hard your cough is or how long you have had it, you want to get rid of it, of course. It is too risky to wait until you have consumption, for sometimes it's impossible to cure this disease, even with

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

If you are coughing today, don't wait until tomorrow, but get a bottle of our Cherry Pectoral at once and be relieved.

Three sizes: 25c., 50c., $1.00.

If your druggist cannot supply you, send us one dollar and we will express a large bottle to you, all charges prepaid. Be sure you give us your nearest express office. Address, J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

A TOUGH ALBATROSS.

After Being Fourteen Days in an Icebox It Still Lived.

A writer says Sir William Cornwallis told him some time ago that on one of his steamships coming from New Zealand an albatross, supposed to have been choked dead, kept in an ice box at a temperature which was always much below freezing point, was found to be alive at the end of fourteen days. Captain Reed, in command of the vessel in question, supplements the story with the statement that the bird was supposed to be killed by being strangled with twine tied as tightly as possible around the neck. This twine was not removed. The beak was closed and tied and the legs crossed behind the tail and tied and the legs crossed behind the tail and tied. It was then wrapped in an old meal cloth and put with three other birds in the return box at the end of the port snow truck. It remained there for certainly not less than ten days. On the snow boy complaining that the bird "grunted" when he went near the albatross was taken out, when it was found that it could move its neck about and open its beak and the eyes were open and lifelike. The lower half of the body and the legs were frozen hard. The fastening on the beak had come off. It was alive two hours after being taken out and was then strangled and put in the snow box.—From Nature.

Foolish Woman.

A woman in Connecticut wants a divorce simply because her husband, who is an expert shot, keeps in practice by shooting at glass balls on her head. Women are so unreasonable.

To Mothers of Large Families

In this workaday world few women are so placed that physical exertion is not constantly demanded of them in their daily life.

Mrs. Pinkham makes a special appeal to mothers of large families whose work is never done, and many whom suffer, and suffer for lack of intelligent aid.

To women, young or old, rich or poor, Mrs. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., extends her invitation of free advice. Oh, women! do not let your lives be sacrificed when a word from Mrs. Pinkham, at the first approach of weakness, may fill your future years with healthy joy.

MRS. CARRIE BELLEVILLE.

"When I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was not able to do my housework. I suffered terribly at time of menstruation. Several doctors told me they could do nothing for me. Thanks to Mrs. Pinkham's advice and medicine I am well, and can do the work for my family.

"I would recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to mothers with large families."—Mrs. CARRIE BELLEVILLE, Ludlington, Mich.

YOU'

Dr. GREENE, 35 West 14th S diseases. He has remedies for by letter. You can tell or writ are answered in plain sealed e

LION

A LUXU

Watch our next adve

In every package of list. No housekeeper, in fa which will contribute to th simply cutting out a certai packages (which is the on

DROPSY NEW DISCOVERY

...ahy, the pork packer, has ...
...edly set a demoralizing example ...
...ying $25,000 ransom for his kid...
...d child. But there is consolation ...
...reflection that a great majority ...
...will be unable to follow it.

...re than half the food supply of ...
...nited Kingdom is drawn from ...
...countries, at an annual cost of ...
...inhabitant. The average price ...
...ported food is $60.83 per ton.

...ard Coughs

...o matter how hard your ...h or how long you have ...t, you want to get rid of ...f course. It is too risky ...t until you have con...ption, for sometimes it's ...ssible to cure this disease, ...with

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

...f you are coughing today, ...t wait until tomorrow, but ...a bottle of our Cherry Pec...l at once and be relieved.

Three sizes: 25c., 50c., $1.00.

...r druggist cannot supply you, send us one ...and we will express a large bottle to you, ...rges prepaid. Be sure you give us your ...express and P. O. Address, J. C. AYER CO., ...

A TOUGH ALBATROSS.

Being Fourteen Days in an Iceberg—It Still Lived.

...writer says Sir William Corry ...me some time ago that on one of ...lamships coming from New Zea...an albatross, supposed to have ...chased dead, kept in an ice box ...temperature which was always ...low freezing point, was found ...alive at the end of fourteen days. ...ain Reid, in command of the ves...in question, supplements the story ...the statement that the bird was ...osed to be killed by being strangled ...with twine tied as tightly as possible ...around the neck. This twine ...not removed. The beak was ...d and tied and the legs crossed ...nd the tail and tied and the legs ...ses behind the tail and tied. ...then wrapped in an old mat ...h and put with three other birds ...the return box at the end of the ...snow truck. It remained there ...certainly not less than ten days. ...he snow boy complaining that the ...grunted" when he went near ...albatross was taken out, when it ...found that it could move its neck ...t and open its beak and the eyes ...open and lifelike. The lower ...of the body and the legs were ...en hard. The fastening on the ...k had come off. It was alive ...hours after being taken out and ...then strangled and put in the ...w box.—From Nature.

Foolish Woman.

...woman in Connecticut wants ...orce simply because her husband ...is an expert shot, keeps in prac... by shooting at glass balls on h... d. Women are so unreasonable.

...o Mothers of Large Families.

...n this workaday world few women ...so placed that physical exertion ...not constantly demanded of them ...their daily life.

...Mrs. Pinkham makes a special appe... mothers of large families who ...rk is never done, and many ...om suffer, and suffer for lack ...elligent aid.

...o women, young or old, rich ...r, Mrs. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass. ...ends her invitation of free advice. ... women! do not let your lives ...riticed when a word from Mrs. ...kham, at the first approach ...

MRS. CARRIE BELLEVILLE.

...eakness, may fill your future ...th healthy joy.

"When I began to take Lydia ...nkham's Vegetable Compound I ...t able to do my housework. I ...red terribly at time of menstrua... ...veral doctors told me they could ...thing for me. Thanks to Mrs. Pi...m's advice and medicine I am ...ell, and can do the work for eight ...e family.

"I would recommend Lydia ...nkham's Vegetable Compound to ...others with large families."—Mrs. ...RRIE BELLEVILLE, Ludington, Mich.

YOU'RE WEAK
Instead of Strong!

Make Yourself a New Man!

DR. GREENE'S NERVURA

BLOOD AND NERVE REMEDY.

Will Give You the Strength and Vigor of Perfect Manhood. Renews, Vitalizes and Invigorates Weak Men.

Old before his time! A broken-down, miserable wreck—weak, nervous, discouraged!

The world to him seems a place of mist, peopled with ghostly beings, whose flitting to and fro about their daily tasks serves but to irritate him. He sneers at healthy amusements, and finds no comfort or pleasure in life.

He is sick and he does not know it. He drags about, and therefore thinks he is well. He is despondent and peevish, and weak, and he does not know that there are merely signals—some from the stomach crying for aid—others from the nerves beseeching strength—still others from the great life-current—the blood—moaning that it is so impeded and clogged with impurities that it cannot move.

He, and all others like him, will find immediate relief in Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. This is just what it was intended for. It never fails to make weak men strong and vigorous, puts new life, vim, strength, power and energy into them.

Dr. Greene's Nervura is New Life, Hope and Strength for Weak Men.

Mr. JOHN D. SMITH, electrician for the Thompson-Houston Electric Co., of Lynn, Mass., says:—"When a man has been sick and is cured, it is his duty to tell others about it, that they, too, may get well. Three years ago I had been working almost night and day, could not (at regularly) and got only a few hour sleep at night. No man can stand that long, and I soon began to be prostrated. I could not sleep when I tried, and my food would not stay on my stomach. I was in a terrible condition, and was much alarmed. I went to doctors, but they did me no good. Learning of the wonderful good done by Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, I determined to try it. It cured me completely of all my complaints. I eat heartily and sleep well, thanks to this splendid medicine. I believe it to be the best remedy in existence."

Dr. Greene's Nervura is the One Great Restorative Which Cures.

DR. GREENE, 35 West 14th St., New York City, is the most successful specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases. He has remedies for all forms of disease, and offers to give free consultation and advice, personally or by letter. You can tell or write your troubles to Dr. Greene, for all communications are confidential, and letters are answered in plain sealed envelopes.

LION COFFEE

A LUXURY WITHIN THE REACH OF ALL!

Watch our next advertisement.

THE lion does picket duty for you and prevents adulteration and impurity from entering into your package of

LION COFFEE

When you buy an unbroken package of LION COFFEE you have coffee that is absolutely pure, strong and invigorating. A single pound makes 40 cups. No other coffee will go so far. You will never know what it is like till you try it. LION COFFEE is not a glazed compound, but a pure coffee and nothing but coffee.

In every package of LION COFFEE you will find a fully illustrated and descriptive list. No housekeeper, in fact, no woman, man, boy or girl will fail to find in the list some article which will contribute to their happiness, comfort and convenience, and which they may have by simply cutting out a certain number of Lion Heads from the wrappers of our one pound sealed packages (which is the only form in which this excellent coffee is sold).

WOOLSON SPICE CO., TOLEDO, OHIO.

For 14 Cents

We will for the following rare seed novelties.

1 pkg. Blue Blood Tomato Seed, 5 .15
1 " Northern Lemon Seed, .15
1 " Nance's Favorite Onion Seed, .10
1 " Long wild green Cucumber Seed, .10
1 " Old Garden Beet Seed, .10
1 " 18-Day Radish Seed, .10
1 " Early Market Lettuce Seed, .15
2 " Brilliant Flower Seed, .15
Worth $1.00 for 14 Cents. $1.00

Above 10 pkgs. of rare novelties we will mail you free, together with our great illustrated seed catalog, telling all about Salzer's Billion Dollar Grass. Also Chufoo Onion Seed, 60c. a lb. Together with thousands of earliest vegetables and farm seeds, upon receipt of this ad. and 14c. postage. Write now, you will never see this offer again. JOHN A. SALZER SEED CO., LaCrosse, Wis.

Am. N. U. No. 6, 1901.

SEEDS WE WILL GIVE YOU A $4.6 FARM Collection of SEEDS FREE of money cost, asking only that you sell 8 Packets of Vegetable Seeds for us at 5c each. NO MONEY in advance. Write us a postal accepting this offer and we will Mail You the 8c Packets at once and will also send Catalog, Full Instructions, and 12 Due Bills for distribution among your friends in order to induce them to buy the Seeds of you. ADDRESS T. J. KING, CO., RICHMOND, VA. A GOOD SUIT of Clothes Given for selling 100 Packets.

DROPSY NEW DISCOVERY; gives quick relief and cures worst cases. Book of testimonials and 10 days' treatment Free. Dr. H. H. GREEN'S SONS, Box B, Atlanta, Ga.

WANTED! Honest, energetic man to TRAVEL AND SELL NURSERY STOCK. REFERENCES REQUIRED. We have an Immense Stock in full Variety and can Insure Satisfaction. Address, G. H. MILLER & SON, ROME, GA.

Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup Cures a cough or cold at once. Conquers croup, bronchitis, grippe and consumption. 25c.

Caught Another Octopus.

The largest devil fish yet captured here was placed in the aquarium a few days since, says the Los Angeles Times. Its tentacles will cover a space of six or seven feet. The one that has been on exhibition for some months was put back into the ocean and given its freedom. The new tentacle which it was growing to replace one lost in capture had reached a length of about six inches.

Best For the Bowels.

No matter what ails you, headache to a nausea, you will never get well until your bowels are put right. Cascarets help nature, cure you without a gripe or pain, produce easy natural movements, cost you just 10 cents to start getting your health back. Cascarets Candy Cathartic, the genuine, put up in metal boxes, every tablet has C. C. C. stamped on it. Beware of imitations.

In 1800 only 4 per cent. of the people of the United States lived in cities. To-day 30 per cent. live in cities.

Uncle Sam Aims

to buy the best of everything which is why he uses Carter's ink. He knows what's good.

The late Earl of Airlie's personal estate in England and Scotland has been valued at £44,093 3s 6d, including shooting rents due to the amount of £5,069.

To Cure a Cold in One Day

Take LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE TABLETS. All druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c.

You never know people until you live with them, and then hardly more than a speaking acquaintance survives.

PUTNAM FADELESS DYES are fast to sunlight, washing and rubbing. Sold by all druggists.

She (pensively)—Ah, well. What is wealth, after all, but the mere difference between income and expenditure. He—So is debt.

Don't drink too much water when eating. Adams' Pepsin Tutti Frutti is an excellent substitute.

Teacher—And why should we endeavor to rise by our own efforts? Johnny Wise—'Cause there's no tetlin' when the alarm clock will go wrong.

The Best Prescription for Chills

and Fever is a bottle of GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC. It is simply iron and quinine in a tasteless form. No cure—no pay. Price 50c.

The Missouri is now claimed to be longer by 200 miles than the Mississippi.

Piso's Cure is the best medicine we ever used for all affections of throat and lungs.—WM. O. ENDELEY, Vanburen, Ind., Feb. 10, 1900.

Comic opera is over a hundred years old. The tragic in a way has a ways existed.

Sick Headache

And similar afflictions resulting from disordered stomach, are promptly relieved by a full dose of Crab Orchard Water.

The sum of 150 marks, heretofore annually voted in Germany for the support of German schools abroad, has been doubled this year.

STATE OF OHIO, CITY OF TOLEDO, } ss.
LUCAS COUNTY,

FRANK J. CHENEY makes oath that he is the senior partner of the firm of F. J. CHENEY & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of CATARRH that cannot be cured by the use of HALL'S CATARRH CURE. FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886. (SEAL) A. W. GLEASON, Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials, free. F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Dolby's Sad Fall.

Some years ago, writes a correspondent of the Daily Chronicle, Mr. Dolby, who was Charles Dickens' manager, and has just died "miserable and penniless," in Fulham infirmary, was in a quite respectable position, but was fast drifting into a reckless, vagrant life. He was fond of recalling his association with the novelist, but never told any anecdotes about him. He accompanied Dickens on his reading tours, and his services were greatly appreciated. On one occasion Dickens wrote from Liverpool, "Dolby would do anything to lighten the work, and does everything." In another letter from Glasgow, he described him as "an agreeable companion, an excellent manager, and a good fellow." Dolby wrote a book entitled "Charles Dickens as I Knew Him," which Miss Dickens considered "the best and truest picture of her father yet written."

Sleep for Skin-Tortured Babies
And Rest for Tired Mothers

In a Warm Bath with Cuticura SOAP

And a single anointing with CUTICURA, purest of emollients and greatest of skin cures. This is the purest, sweetest, most speedy, permanent, and economical treatment for torturing, disfiguring, itching, burning, bleeding, scaly, crusted, and pimply skin and scalp humors, rashes, irritations, and chafings, with loss of hair, of infants and children, and is sure to succeed when all other remedies fail.

Millions of Mothers Use Cuticura Soap

Assisted by CUTICURA OINTMENT, the great skin cure, for preserving, purifying, and beautifying the skin of infants and children, for rashes, itchings, and chafings, for cleansing the scalp of crusts, scales, and dandruff, and the stopping of falling hair, for softening, whitening, and healing red, rough, and sore hands, and for all the purposes of the toilet, bath, and nursery. Millions of Women use CUTICURA SOAP in the form of baths for annoying irritations, inflammations, and excoriations, for too free or offensive perspiration, in the form of washes for ulcerative weaknesses, and for many sanative antiseptic purposes which readily suggest themselves to women, especially mothers. No amount of persuasion can induce those who have once used these great skin purifiers and beautifiers to use any others, especially for preserving and purifying the skin, scalp, and hair of infants and children. CUTICURA SOAP combines delicate emollient properties derived from CUTICURA, the great skin cure, with the purest of cleansing ingredients and the most refreshing of flower odors. No other medicated soap is to be compared with it for preserving, purifying, and beautifying the skin, scalp, hair, and hands. No other foreign or domestic toilet soap, however expensive, is to be compared with it for all the purposes of the toilet, bath, and nursery. Thus it combines in ONE SOAP at ONE PRICE, viz., TWENTY-FIVE CENTS, the BEST skin and complexion soap and the BEST toilet and baby soap in the world.

Cuticura Complete External and Internal Treatment for Every Humor, Consisting of CUTICURA SOAP (25c.), to cleanse the skin of crusts and scales and soften the thickened cuticle, CUTICURA OINTMENT (50c.), to instantly allay itching, inflammation, and irritation, and soothe and heal, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT (50c.), to cool and cleanse the blood. A SINGLE SET, costing but $1.25, is often sufficient to cure the most torturing, disfiguring, and humiliating skin, scalp, and blood humors, with loss of hair, when all else fails. Sold throughout the world.

THE SET, $1.25

"TAKE THIS!
My Bilious Friend," said the doctor, "it is the best laxative mineral water known to medical science."

A glass of Hunyadi János will do more for a disordered stomach or a torpid liver than all the pills in the world.

IT CURES CONSTIPATION AND BILIOUSNESS.

Average Dose: One-half glassful on getting up in morning.

Your druggist or grocer will get it for you.

Ask for the full name, "Hunyadi János." Blue label, red centre panel.

Imported by Firm of ANDREAS SAXLEHNER, 130 Fulton St., N. Y.

SICK HEADACHE

succumbs readily to the easy remedy to take

A natural medicinal Water—concentrated. Aperient, laxative, tonic. A specific for all liver, kidney, stomach and bowel disorders. It cures—Torpid Liver, Biliousness, Jaundice, Chronic Diseases of the Kidneys, Dyspepsia, Heartburn, Sick Headache, Bronchitis, Constipation, Piles.

Crab Orchard Water is the most delicious of the natural mineral waters; most convenient to take; most economical to buy.

The genuine is sold by all druggists with Crab Apple trade mark on every bottle.

CRAB ORCHARD WATER CO., Louisville, Ky.

RELIABLE MERCHANT, DRUGGIST wanted, in every town, to act as treasurer of local advisory board. Good contract. STANDARD INVESTMENT CO., Calvert Bldg., Baltimore, Md.

USE CERTAIN COUGH CHILL CORN CURE. 25 50 15

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION

Blacksnake a Household Pet.

One of the men employed at the zoological gardens in New York has a blacksnake that has the run of his house. It has the reputation of being the best rat catcher in the entire borough of the Bronx. It is also a family pet.

An American girl employed in one of the departments of the Paris Exposition received 177 proposals of marriage from men of fourteen different nationalities. The American girl is in demand wherever she is.

TO CARRY POWER.

Experiments with Aluminum as Conductor for Electricity.

The already practically foreshadowed widening use of aluminum conductors for electric transmission purposes adds interest to Lord Kelvin's recently expressed opinion of them. The weight of aluminum required, he said, is almost exactly one-half of the copper which would produce the same effect. The diameter of cable is 28 per cent in excess of one made of copper, and the cost of insulation for an underground cable is increased in about the same proportion when we pass from the copper to aluminum. Aluminum is not a pleasant metal to deal with, but its high conductivity will make it invaluable for overhead transmission, says Cassier's Magazine. It is true also that the weight to be supported on posts is half of copper, but the surface exposed to the wind is greater, and its strength is not great. The chief drawback to its use, especially overhead, is its liability to become rotten. This defect does not exist if the metal be pure, and especially if free from sodium. But exposure to the atmosphere, especially near the sea, induces deterioration. The fact that aluminum is easily oxidized ought not to condemn it. The same is true of iron and steel, and yet we do not hesitate to place structures of these metals in exposed positions. Only we paint them; so Lord Kelvin proposes that we paint or varnish aluminum conductors wherever necessary. A few hundred yards of 1½-inch aluminum wire were put up by Lord Kelvin on a Scotch estate somewhat over a year ago and on this line he is watching the effects of weather.

A ship is probably called she because the rigging costs so much and it always keeps a man on the look-out.

"La Creole" Will Restore those Gray Hairs

"La Creole" Hair Restorer is a Perfect Dressing and Restorer. Price $1.00

THE BANNER

OUR CLUBBING RATES.

For $1.50 we will send you THE BANNER and either of the following papers for one year:

Atlanta Constitution	$1.50
New York World (3 papers every week)	$1.50
Cosmopolitan (America's Leading magazine)	$1.50
Silver Knight National Watchman	$1.50
Birmingham Age-Herald	$1.25
Home and Farm	$1.10

Job Printing cheap at THE BANNER office

AT REDUCED PRICES

CLANTON DRUG STORE.

Dr J S JOHNSON, Jr., Proprietor.

DEALER IN

DRUGS : MEDICINES : PATENT : MEDICINES.

TOILET ARTICLES, PAINTS.

PRESCRIPTIONS CAREFULLY PREPARED DAY & NIGHT

CLANTON. ALABAMA.

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS is the one important magazine in the world giving in its pictures, its text, in its contributed articles, editorials and departments, a comprehensive, timely record of the world's current history. Not the enumeration of mere bare facts, but a comprehensive picture of the month, its activities, its notable personalities, and notable utterances. The best informed men and women in the world find it indispensable.

There are many readers in your locality who have yet to learn of its usefulness. We wish to establish active agents in every city and township in the country. We will pay liberally for energetic effort in the subscription field. Leisure moments can be utilized with substantial increase of income. Make a list of the persons in your locality who should have the "Review of Reviews," and send to us for agent's terms, sample copies, and working outfit. Then solicit their subscriptions. It is a compliment to approach a person with a subscription proposition for the "Review of Reviews," and consequently orders are easily secured. This is the active subscription season. Make application at once, naming your references.

Price, 25 cents a number. $2.50 a year.

THE REVIEW OF REVIEWS COMPANY,

13 Astor Place, New York City.

They banish pain and prolong life. ONE GIVES RELIEF.

REGANS

No matter what the [illegible] and do you good, and you can [illegible]

Everything New.

NEW STOREHOUSE

BRAND NEW STOCK

We positively will carry none of our old stock into our new building, and for the next Thirty Days we are offering

BARGAINS IN EVERYTHING

now in our old storehouse. We are determined to clear out the last piece of old stock. Come and see us.

WILSON & BRO.

CLANTON.

W. I. MULLINS

—DEALER IN—

GENERAL MERCHANDISE, PLANTATION SUPPLIES AND COUNTRY PRODUCE.

Dry Goods, Clothing, Hats, Boots and Shoes.

FURNITURE AND COFFINS

N. B. A full line of Burial Clothes and all necessary Undertakers' Goods constantly kept in stock.

CLANTON, : : : : : ALA.

Subscribe for The Banner. $1.00 a year.

Alabama Fertilizer the Standard.

Our most reckless competitor will only claim that what he is selling is "Just as good" as the celebrated ALABAMA FERTILIZER, but it is not so. For 31 years the ALABAMA has stood at the head of the fertilizer class. With cotton at current good prices it is more important than ever to use the best fertilizer. The ALABAMA is the standard of excellence, and only those whose interest dictate the statement assert otherwise.

Without extra cost to the consumer we ship all ALABAMA FERTILIZER in the CELEBRATED MUMMIA VEGETABLE FIBRE PRESERVED BAGS, which are acid and weather proof, thus avoiding any loss in handling. These bags, after thorough investigation and practical tests, have been indorsed by the Alabama Agricultural Department, who recommend their use by the farmers of our State. Steamer agents on certain water routes have given notice that they will only receive for shipment fertilizer sacked in these celebrated bags, thereby insuring both themselves and their consignees from loss in handling.

One of the exhibits of the recent Goods Roads Procession which attracted the attention of all was a wagon drawn by six well fed oxen containing 24 bales of cotton produced on 8½ acres of land, made from Russell Improved big boll cotton by the use of ALABAMA FERTILIZER.

Customers Protected by Trade Mark.

The law requires every sack of fertilizer sold in the State to have the word ALABAMA branded on each sack offered for sale in the State.

To protect both ourselves and our customers we have our trade mark on every sack of ALABAMA FERTILIZER, we also tag each MUMMIA VEGETABLE FIBRE PRESERVED BAG. Our Trade Mark is copyrighted, the Bag is patented and we will prosecute any infringement on either. See that the Trade Mark and Tag are on each sack. Be certain to get what you pay for.

Pure high grade Acid Phosphate and Genuine German Kainit always on hand and sold at no higher price than other goods of the same grade.

A Testimonial From High Authority.

Captain S. B. Trapp, President of the Board of Inspectors of the Alabama Convict Bureau, who is well and favorably known throughout the South (particularly in Alabama), whose able management of the convict system of our State has met with the approval of all, himself a farmer of twenty years' experience, has the following words of commendation to say in regard to the Celebrated Alabama Fertilizer:

Executive Department of Alabama,
Convict Bureau.
Montgomery, Nov. 30, 1900.

I consider the ALABAMA FERTILIZER the best manufactured. I have raised and seen others raise large crops of cotton and corn by its use.

In my opinion the farmer who invests in it, will succeed in making larger crops of cotton and corn at less cost for fertilizers than one who buys and uses acid phosphate, kainit and cottonseed meal in any proportion or quantity whatsoever.

My conclusions are arrived at after an experience of twenty years in the use of fertilizers—during which long period I have tried many kinds of fertilizers.

The MUMMIA VEGETABLE FIBRE PRESERVED BAGS, in which the ALABAMA FERTILIZER is put up, is one of the greatest blessings to all, and none better than the farmer can appreciate and value the cessation of loss in wasting, rotting of bags and vexation by having to repack fertilizers put up in the ordinary bag. I have seen some Mummia Bags used two seasons, which is the strongest possible proof of their singular and superior merit.

S. B. TRAPP, President.

The Record of Alabama Fertilizer.

It has produced nearly four bales of cotton on one acre of poor sandy upland.
One hundred and thirty-two bushels of corn on one acre of poor sandy upland.
Two thousand and forty-one bushels of corn on twenty acres of poor upland.
Land and corn accurately surveyed and measured by competent disinterested and honorable men.
It is the oldest brand now sold in Alabama, and is just the same as it always has been. Every one of the 43 premiums given during a series of years, through the COMMERCIAL AND INDUSTRIAL ASSOCIATION, for the greatest yield of cotton and corn on a specified area of land, was awarded to farmers who used exclusively the ALABAMA FERTILIZER.

THE ALABAMA FERTILIZER COMPANY,

Montgomery, Ala.

1901 WORLD ALMANAC

AND ENCYCLOPEDIA.

A Statistical Volume of Facts and Figures Containing Over 600 Pages.

OVER 1,000 TOPICS. OVER 10,000 FACTS.

SPECIAL FEATURES—

The census of 1900. National and State election returns. Four centuries of American progress. Political record of 1900 (conventions and platforms). American rule in the Philippines. New governments of Porto Rico and Hawaii. Polar exploration in 1900. Conclusion of the South African war. Pan-American Exposition of 1901. China—Its present condition and status among nations. Roster of general officers of the Regular U. S. Army, 1789—1900.

A Political Register.

Facts that every patriot and voter ought to know.

Standard American Annual.

Price 25 cts. Postpaid to any address. THE WORLD, Pulitzer Bldg., New York.

Headache and Neuralgia cured by Dr. MILES' PAIN PILLS. "One cent a dose."

Not a Success.

The experiment was not a success. Fortunately she had complained to him that he was not as he used to be; that he seemed to have grown cold; that he was too proud and neither fact. So when he found one of her love letters to her he took it to the next time he was called away from the city, made a copy of it and sent it to her.

"John Henry," she exclaimed, when he returned, "you're the [illegible] that ever lived. I believe you're suffering of the brain. What [illegible] been by sending me that trash?"

"Trash, my dear," he expostulated. "Yes, trash—just sickly, sentimental nonsense."

"That isn't how you described it when I first wrote it and sent it to you," he protested. "You said that it was the dearest, sweetest letter you had written, and you insist now that I have changed and you haven't. I thought you would try to—"

"Well, you didn't succeed," she interrupted, and she was mad for a few days. Sometimes it is mighty difficult to please a woman.—Chicago Post.

BLOOD POISON CURED BY B. B. B.

Bottle Free to Sufferers.

Deep-seated, obstinate cases, that have resisted doctors, hot springs and patent medicine treatment, quickly yield to B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm), thoroughly tested for 30 years. Have you mucous patches in the mouth? Sore Throat? Eruptions? Eating Sores? Bone Pains? Itching Skin? Swollen Glands? Stiff Joints? Copper Colored Spots? Chancres? Ulceration on the body? Hair and eyebrows fall out? Is the skin a mass of boils, pimples and ulcers? Then this wonderful B. B. B. specific will completely change the whole body into a clean, perfect condition, free from eruptions, and smooth with the glow of perfect health. B. B. B. drains the poison out of the system so the symptoms cannot return. B. B. B. builds up the broken down constitution and improves the digestion. Sufferers may test B. B. B. a trial bottle will be given away free of charge.

B. B. B., for sale by druggists, $1 per large bottle, or 6 large bottles (full treatment) $5. Complete directions with each bottle. Be sure the bottle reads Botanic Blood Balm. For trial bottle, address BLOOD BALM CO., Atlanta, Ga. Describe trouble and Free medical advice given.

CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY

Laxative Bromo-Quinine. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. E. W. Grove's signature is on each box.

Clanton, Feb. 6, 1901.

Banner.—Please allow me space in your valuable paper to express my views in regard to the roads of our county and their needed working, as force laws seems to be the order. At the mass meeting in Clanton ult., there were representatives from all parts of the county and the majority said the present laws were good enough and the stock law wasn't wanted. The road law seems to be in the minds of some yet, the need of better roads. I want better roads, but my opinion is the present law is good enough, the only thing that is needed is that the laws should be enforced, the road commissioners are wholly responsible. I saw an article from Beat 5 that the voice of the people should be obtained in the mass meeting held in January. I can't see why when every voter of the county was invited and his vote should have been counted.

Some of the citizens of Clanton are working hard to get whiskey, if obtained, be a death blow to Clanton and the worst thing that could be done for the town. Nothing advantage for them, but not the best interests of the people. I'm truly sorry that Chilton's smartest men have not enough to do without trying to enforce laws upon the people that they don't need and don't want. I think I can safely speak for hundreds of the voters west of the L. & N. Railroad in Beat 2, opposed to whiskey being sold in Beat.

[illegible] per cent of the murders committed in the United States are caused by intoxicating liquors. There is room for improvement, but only for better prohibition legislation, ingenuity and industry. Yours for prohibition.

F. M. P.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve

World-wide fame for marvelous cures. It surpasses any other ointment or balm for Cuts, Burns, Boils, Sores, Ulcers, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Chapped Hands, Skin Eruptions, Infallible for Piles. Cure guaranteed. Only 25 cents. Clanton drug store.

Jemison, Feb. 5, 1901.

Banner.—Please allow me space in your valuable paper, to say something in regard to the constitutional convention. I hear they are going to have a race a few weeks back between Mr. Grant, from Beat 2, and Mr. L. H. Reynolds in regard to it, asking L. H. Reynolds to come out for a key note for it. I think I can say that Beat 2 will roll up a majority for L. H. Reynolds for the constitutional convention. Let's have him come out. I want to say to the people of Chilton while L. H. Reynolds was representative we didn't have so much trouble in the county. Look in Beat 5 what we have imposed on those people; I know how long the people of Chilton will stand it. The liberty is at stake more than ever before. Let everybody think about this; I want to tell Mr. Grant that when he said he wanted L. H. Reynolds he struck a key note, for Beat 2. I know as much about anybody that lives in it; I say L. H. Reynolds to represent us.

Healthy Mothers

Few mothers are healthy, because their duties are so exacting. The anxiety of pregnancy, the shock of childbirth, and the care of young children, are severe trials on any women. But with Wine of Cardui within her grasp, every mother—every woman in the land—can pay the debt of personal health she owes her loved ones. Do you want robust health with all its privileges and pleasures? Wine of Cardui will give it to you.

WINE OF CARDUI

strengthens the female organs and invigorates weakened functions. For every female ill or weakness it is the best medicine made. Ask your druggist for $1.00 bottle Wine of Cardui, and take no substitute under any circumstances.

Mrs. Edwin Cragg, Gardner, Idaho: "I was [illegible] using Wine of Cardui I could walk around the house. Two weeks after I could walk a mile and attend strenuous [illegible] other child was born I suffered with [illegible] hours, enough to raise him on a bottle instead of one milk. After using the Wine during pregnancy this time I gave birth last month to a baby girl and was in labor only two hours, with but little pain and I have plenty of milk. For the great improvement in my health I thank God and Wine of Cardui."

For advice in case requiring special direction address giving symptoms, "The Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

THE BEST WAY TO THE SOUTH AND SOUTH-WEST. NORTH AND NORTH-WEST

—IS VIA THE—

L. & N.

LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE R. R.

The Through Cars

Of this line pass Chilton daily, running through Montgomery, Mobile and New Orleans.

Connecting with all points in TEXAS AND THE WEST.

Also running through to Nashville, Evansville, Louisville, Cincinnati and St. Louis.

Connecting for all points in NORTH AND NORTH-WEST.

Before purchasing tickets to any point write the Agent of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad at Clanton, Ala., or G. P. Ansley, G. P. A., Louisville, Ky.

THE BANNER.

LET THE PEOPLE RULE.

VOL. IX — CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY FEBRUARY 14, 1901 — NO. 17

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

[Offered as a candidate for Congress to represent Chilton in the Constitutional Convention, subject to the action of the Democratic County Convention.

H. W. CARRY.

Feb. 12, 1901.]

CORRESPONDENCE.

[We are willing to publish our readers views at any time, but must be directly understood as holding ourselves responsible for these opinions.—EDITOR.]

CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY
Laxative Bromo-Quinine
All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. E. W. Grove's signature is on each box.

Clanton, Feb. 6, 1901

Editor Banner.—Please allow me through your valuable paper to express my views in regard to the needs of our county and their needed legislation, as farce laws seems to be the order. At the mass meeting at Clanton all parts of the county were represented, and the majority said our present laws were good laws, and the stock law wasn't wanted. The road law seems to be in the minds of some yet, but all see the need of better roads; I want better roads, but my opinion is that the present law is good for nothing. The only thing that is needed is that the laws should be enforced; the road commissioners and overseers are wholly responsible. I saw an article from Beat 3 stating that the voice of the people could not be obtained in the mass meeting held in January. I can't speak for Beat 3, but when every voter of the county was invited and his vote should have been counted.

Some of the citizens of Clanton are trying hard to get whiskey, if obtained, be a death blow to morality and the worst thing that could be done for the town. Seeking advantage for themselves and not the best interests of the people. I'm truly sorry that Chilton's smartest men have not enough to do without trying to enforce laws upon the people they don't need and don't want. I think I can safely speak for nine-tenths of the voters west of the L. & N. Railroad in Beat 4, we are opposed to whiskey being sold in the Beat.

[illegible] per cent of the murders committed in the United States are committed by intoxicated liquors; there is no room for improvement on this line for better prohibitory enactments and industrious efforts for prohibition.

[illegible]

Bucklen's Arnica Salve

The world's wonder worker for marvelous results. Its superiors are other salves, ointments or balm for Cuts, Burns, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Chapped Hands, Skin Eruptions. Infallible to Cure. Cure guaranteed. Only at Clanton drug store.

Jemison, Feb. 5, 1900

Editor Banner.—Please allow me space in your valuable paper, to say something in regard to the constitutional convention. I hear they are going to have a fight. I saw a piece a few weeks ago written by Mr. Grant, from Beat 5, in regard to L. H. Reynolds asking L. H. Reynolds to come out for a candidate for it. I think I can say for Beat 2 that Beat 2 will roll up a majority for L. H. Reynolds for the constitutional convention. Let's have him come out. I want to say to the people of Chilton while L. H. Reynolds was representative we didn't have so much trouble in the county. Look in Beat 5 what has been imposed on those people; I want to know how long the people of Chilton will stand it. The cry of liberty is at stake more than ever before. Let everybody think about this; I want to say to Mr. Grant that when he said he wanted L. H. Reynolds he struck the key note, for Beat 2. I know as much about it as anybody that lives in it; I want L. H. Reynolds to represent us in the convention when it meets.

Well, I will say a few words about a local law that is trying to be imposed on those people; it looks more like a Ku Klack law than any thing I ever saw, and it was what one man said they must all do. I thought Ku Klucks was all gone but they have made their appearance again. I don't know what will come next. I want everybody to talk about this; you know that Moses said stand still and see the salvation of the Lord. But we have stood still too long.

Now, I hope to hear from Mr Grant again and from others all over the county again. Success to the Banner and its readers.

ONE OF THE BOYS.

Thorsby, Feb. 9, 1900

Editor Banner.—I wish to say just a few words in regard to whom we shall send to the constitutional convention.

In the beginning I will say that L. B. Pounds and L. H. Reynolds are the men. Pounds to represent our county and Reynolds the senatorial district. Both men are well qualified to fill the position. We have forced Pounds to be our representative against his will. He could not under any circumstances, be persuaded to run before the primary election, but after the death of our nominee we forced the nomination upon him even when he told the people he could not make the sacrifice and was not a candidate. But now he is a candidate for the constitutional convention, and I believe we ought to stand by him and see that he is elected to fill the place he now asks for.

He is now in a position that is calculated to qualify him for the position he seeks. In fact it will be in the same line of work as that in which he is already engaged. It would not be just to him, when we know that he is as well qualified to fill the place as any other man we have, should we fail to stand by him now and secure his election to the constitutional convention. Some one, I see has recommended that we send Bro. Reynolds to represent the county. I do not favor the idea, neither do I believe Bro. Reynolds would want to run against Pounds. But I do want Reynolds to represent the senatorial district and believe that he is well enough known over the whole district to enable us to easily elect him. We have elected him once and we can elect him again.

I am for Pounds to represent our county and for Reynolds to represent our senatorial district.

Very truly,
W. A. MIMS.

The greatest danger from colds and la grippe is their resulting in pneumonia. If reasonable care is used, however, and Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is taken, all danger will be avoided. It will cure a cold or an attack of la grippe in less time than any other treatment. It is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by Clanton Drug Co., and D. I. Deramus, Verbena.

Verbena, Feb. 8, 1901

Editor Banner.—Please allow me space in your paper to say a few words in regard to a new constitution. I am opposed to any organic law or rule that will take from the people that liberty which our forefathers fought and died for. This move to take the liberties from the people is a popish move, an aristocratic oligarchy; a government hostile to civil any I might say to religious liberty. Popery has ever been an enemy to liberty. She has long been preparing the rising generation to favor this move and now she comes in the guise of a new constitution in the form of a race issue in which if the voice of the people is stifled, we will then have a despotic government, since the people will be denied a voice in the administration of the government, when every branch of government will be in the hands of a few. Then the Pope will be satisfied. "Give me religious add political liberty or give me death."

L. L. E.

Weogufka, Ala., Feb. 9, 1901

Editor Banner.—Benjamin Callaway, Sr., departed this life February 7, 1884. He was born Nov. 10, 1803, in Wilkes county, Ga.,

(continued on 2d col. page 4)

Stanton.

Farmers are hustling hauling out fertilizer and preparing for another crop.

Messrs. Jim Lassiter and Howell Mills, of Plantersville, paid relatives a visit here last Sunday.

We regret to state that Mrs. Nelson has been quite sick.

Mr. T. U. Crumpton, of Maplesville, will give us a lecture in the afternoon next Sunday at the Baptist church.

There is talk of the Gregory-Cree Lumber Co. putting down a new mill soon.

Mr. Pet Cooper, of Vicks, one of our old chums, was with us a few hours last week.

Mr. C. W. Plant, of Vicks, was in the city Sunday.

Some of the young men of Plantersville paid us a pleasant call Sunday; come again boys.

Mr. Charlie Rasberry and his sister, Miss Minnie, of Lily, were pleasant visitors here Sunday.

Messrs. R. H. Nelson and Howel Martin were the guests of friends near Riderville Sunday.

Mr. John Burk, of British, paid relatives a visit here last week.

Mr. John Gant visited relatives at Plantersville last Sunday.

Mr. Dave Walker, the great hunter, killed two turkeys at one shot last Monday morning.

Mr. J. B. Gullahorn got slightly hurt at furniture shop last Friday.

STAN.

When you want a physic that is mild and gentle, easy to take and pleasant in effect use Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. Price 25 cents. Samples free. Every Box guaranteed. For sale by Clanton Drug Co., and D. I. Deramus, Verbena.

Shoults

The health of these diggins is good except pneumonia.

We regret to say that Mr. B. H. Head got his foot badly hurt last Saturday.

Mr. E. McGee and wife visited the family of Mr. Frank Adams Saturday.

Mr. C. W. Shoults and family visited Mr. Head, of Lawley, Sunday.

The new house of Mr. Milton Lawrence is nearly completed.

Mr. James Lawrence and wife visited the family of Mr. Buck Bowlin, of Maplesville, Saturday.

Dr. Clanghton, of Maplesville, is having fine sport killing turkeys west of Maplesville.

Mr. Dolby Atkinson was in our town this week. BIG IKE.

Concord.

The farmers are fast preparing for another crop.

That demon of Satin called stock law is fencroaching very near this strip of woods.

Mr. E. H. Mims is adding to his residence.

We have a progressing Sunday school at this place; we must compliment Bro. W. A. Edwards in his able management as Supt. and his earnest corps of teachers.

We regret to lose our esteemed citizen, Mr. J. L. Maddox, who has bought the Stewart ginery and will move to Clanton.

We heard an able sermon by Bro. Reese the second Sunday.

SUBSCRIBER.

Poplar Springs.

Stock law has created quite a sensation in Beat 5.

Messrs. J. N. and W. A. Goss spent Saturday and Sunday with parents at Burwell.

Mr. J. W. Patterson and wife visited friends and relatives at Enid Sunday.

Mr. Frank Foshee was a pleasant visitor at Mr. W. D. Driver's Sunday.

Mrs. Emma Patterson is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Lilla Hardy, in Coosa.

Misses Callie and Janie Patterson, of Enid, entered our school at Poplar Springs Monday.

Married at the home of the bride, Sunday, Mr. Nix and Miss Louvenia Minor.

SAME OLD IKE.

Stops the cough and Works off the cold.

Laxative Bromo-Quinine Tablets cure a cold in one day. No Cure No Pay. Price 15 cents.

Thorsby.
LANDS FOR SALE.
$2.50 PER ACRE.

We have for sale a small farm containing 40 acres, of which 30 acres are now under cultivation. Some house on the place; land fenced; a good spring of running water. If this land was located in the Thorsby colony it would be worth $1200.00. The land is located about four miles west of Thorsby and you may take it for $100. (Sold February 16, 1900.)

General Farming Lands for sale, $5.00 to $15.00 per acre.

Unimproved Orchard and Vineyard Lands at $15.00 per acre.

Improved Orchard and Vineyard Lands from $40 to $60 per acre.

Two small farms for Rent; a 7 room Cottage for sale.

Special inducements to merchants and manufacturers in the progressive town of Thorsby, the market center of Chilton county. For further particulars call at the office of

THE CONCORDIA LAND AND IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION.
THORSBY, ALA.

Jasmine.

We are having some fine weather for the farmers.

Miss Willie Marlar is a visitor to our town today.

Mr. W. M. Berry and wife will leave for North Carolina in a few days.

Mr. Jesse Moats has moved to Mr. Ped Willis' where he will remain for for some time.

Misses Mamie and Fannie Kendrick spent Sunday with Mrs. T. J. Marcus.

A number of our young friends went to the oyster supper at Billingsley Friday night and report a nice time.

Mr. D. A. Ash spent Sunday at Stanton.

Mr. A. M. Baker spent Sunday in Verbena.

Mr. J. Y. Propst visited Clanton Monday.

Mr. Walter Mills from Birmingham is spending a few days with his brother in our little town.

Mr. V. M. Courtney will enter school Monday.

We are glad to say Mr. Lee Wells is some better.

Mr. Albert Martin was a visitor in our town Sunday.

Mr. P. Adams will leave for Selma in a few days.

Mr. W. T. Heard spent Sunday with his parents near Vine Hill.

Miss Gadie Sims spent the day with her young friends at this place. WILD BILL.

Union Grove.

Rev. Vickers preached to a large congregation last Sunday at New Hope.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Williams visited their daughter, Mrs. W. C. Evans, at this place Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Rogers are visiting relatives near Clanton.

There has been a great deal of sickness in this community.

The people are making preparations for another crop; hope we will get ten cents for cotton and up.

Mr. John Campbell is improving very slow from cancer.

The wedding bells have quit ringing around here.

Misses Carrie and Arvezenia Littleton visited Newhope Sunday.

A STRANGER.

Mortgage Sale.

State of Alabama, }
Chilton County, }

Under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage given by W. T. Quillin and his wife, N. C. Quillin, to D. C. Gandy on the 8th day of February, 1894, and due November 1, 1894, which said mortgage was duly recorded in the office of the Judge of Probate of Chilton County, Alabama, in Mortgage Record No. 33, page 34, on the 24th day of April, 1894; and which said mortgage was duly transferred by D. C. Gandy to S. Mass & Co., and by S. Mass & Co. to W. H. House on the 23d day of January, 1901, I will proceed to sell to the highest bidder, for cash, in front of the Court House door in Clanton, Chilton County, Alabama, on

TUESDAY, MARCH 4, 1901,

between the legal hours of sale, the following described property, to wit:

One House and Lot in Stanton, Alabama, said Lot being in the NW ¼ of NE ¼ of Section 7, Township 20, Range 12, containing four and a half acres.

Dated at Stanton, Ala., this 28th day of January, 1901.

W. H. HOUSE, Trans'ee.

WANTED.

200 ACRES at $6.00 per acre. Titles perfect. Plenty of water on the place. Fine reed brake for pasture. One mile north of Thorsby. J. A. SKAGGS, Jemison, Ala.

FOR SALE. A complete entertainment outfit, consisting of 1 Stereoptican, 1 Optograph or moving picture machine, 1 Calcium light apparatus, 1 gas making outfit, 1 set Views Spanish-American war, 5 50 ft. Films for Optograph. All new. Also 1 horse and spring wagon. Full particulars of C. Nally, Randolph, Ala.

MONEY to Loan on good real estate. Apply to X. T. Z., care of the Banner, Clanton, Ala.

A BONA FIDE SALARY—$12 Weekly. Men and women to appoint agents and represent us, some to travel, others for local work. $12 weekly salary and expenses. Old established house, pleasant permenent positions, rapid advancement and increase of wages. Write at once. Address BUTLER & ALGER, Dept. E, New Haven, Conn.

The Best Prescription for Malaria

Chills and Fever is a bottle of GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC. It is simply iron and quinine in a tasteless form. No cure—no pay. Price 50c.

Had To Conquer Or Die.

"I was just about gone," writes Mrs. Rosa Richardson, of Laurel N. C., "I had Consumption so bad that the best doctors said I could not live more than a month, but I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery and was wholly cured by seven bottles and am now stout and well." It's an unrivaled life saver in Consumption, Pneumonia, La Grippe and Bronchitis; infallible for Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Hay Fever, Croup or Whooping Cough. Guaranteed bottles 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at Clanton drug store.

Yellow-Leaf Poultry Farm
THORSBY, ALA.

We breed White Plymouth Rocks and Light Brahmas. A few Cockerels for sale $2 each. Eggs in season.

BARRETT & KERNEN, Props.

CHESTNUT LION

A Fine Tennessee Jack 15 Hands high, Full of Life, a Fine Breeder and Sure Foal-Getter, will stand at JEMISON, ALA, this Season.

W. C. EVANS, Proprietor, JEMISON, ALA.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

TIPTON MULLINS
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW
CLANTON - ALA

WILLIAM M. ADAMS
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW
Practice in all Courts.
Office at the Adams' place
CLANTON - - - ALA

JOHN C. DENNIS
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW
Practice in the Supreme Court of Alabama, and all Inferior Courts.
CLANTON, - - ALA.

ROBERT H. HUNT,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,
Clanton, Ala.
Will practice in all the State and Federal Courts of Alabama.

Dr. OTTO M. WISEHART,
DENTIST.
OFFICE HOURS: 8 to 12 a.m. and 1 to 5 p.m.
Office over Wright's Store CLANTON

Dr. GEO. A. DENNIS,
SPECIALIST
Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat
OFFICE 30 S. PERRY ST.
Office Hours: 9 to 12 and 2 to 4.
Telephone 494—2 Rings.
MONTGOMERY, ALA.

CHURCH DIRECTORY

BAPTIST—Preaching on the first and third sundays at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Sunday-school every sunday at 10 a.m.

Prayer-meeting every thursday evening at 7 o'clock.

F. M. WOODS, Pastor.

METHODIST—Preaching every second sunday at 7 p.m., and every fourth sunday at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Sunday-school at 10 a.m. every sunday.

Prayer-meeting at seven o'clock every Wednesday night.

D. F. ELLISON, Pastor.

CLANTON BARBER SHOP
W. H. TAYLOR, Proprietor.
HAIR CUTTING
SHAVING
SHAMPOOING
In all the Latest City Styles. Reasonable Charges. Prompt Attention.
HOT AND COLD BATHS.
CLANTON

E. W. Grove
This signature is on every box of the genuine Laxative Bromo-Quinine Tablets the remedy that cures a cold in one day

The BANNER office is the only Job Printing establishment in Chilton and Coosa counties. We give you best work at lower prices than you can get elsewhere. Give us trial.

The Farmers' Mutual Insurance Association of Alabama.

CHARTERED BY SPECIAL ACT OF THE LEGISLATURE.

"BY THE PEOPLE AND FOR THE PEOPLE."

CHILTON COUNTY BRANCH

PRESIDENT: M. J. CALLOWAY, Clanton.
SEC'Y & TREAS.: P. D. WILSON, Clanton.
GENERAL AGENT: WALLACE C. EDLER, Clanton.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS:

1. H. C. Young
2. Thomas Harrison
3. R. S. McCary
4. D. F. Jacks
5. W. H. Thomas.
6. A. T. Hathcock
7. C. J. Cobern
8. John R. Parnell
9. D. N. Riggins.

Insures farmer's dwellings, outbuildings and contents, and live stock against loss by fire, wind and lightning.

The assessments for the year just closed was only 25c on the $1000 policy.

The cheapest, safest and most sensible method of insurance known to man. For full particulars call on or address the General Agent WALLACE C. EDLER, Clanton, Ala.

THE BANNER.

Published Weekly.

CLANTON, - - - ALABAMA.

The Boer scheme is said to be to keep on fighting whether the war is over or not.

When a French newspaper is not sure of its news it does not say "it is rumored," but simply adds "under reserve."

Nearly two-thirds of the letters carried by the world's postal services are written, sent to, and read, by English-speaking people.

A hundred years ago what optimist would have surmised that the dawn of the twentieth century would see "American competition" become the great European hobgoblin?

A quarter of a century ago realism was announced as that which was henceforth to prevail in literature; and, behold! never had the romantic novel such vogue as it has to-day.

The Kansas City Star thinks that "the luckiest person, probably, who has ever lived on this old round earth, is the American citizen who, in this year of grace 1901, is near to middle age. That condition affords a standpoint for comparison that is well nigh priceless."

There was an enormous shortage in the crop of green peas in the United States during the past year, owing principally to the ravages of the aphis, a little green insect which destroys the plants. Long Island suffered severely, and growers in Delaware, Maryland and New Jersey were little better off. In localities further north the aphis did not appear, as the cooler climate was unfavorable to its development. Altogether the loss of growers on the pea crop amounted to about $3,000,000.

"They do some things better in France." The proverb is musty, but there is nothing stale, flat or unprofitable about the decision of the French Government to lessen the number of disfiguring advertisements on cliffs, walls, buildings and fences, by putting a proper tax on signboards, whether they are displaying upon public or private property. The Gallic example should be followed promptly in the United States. No more hideous placards can be seen anywhere than many of those in this country.

Owing to its vast extent Australia embraces every variety of climate except that found within the polar circles. It can grow most of the vegetables and animal products of the temperate, sub-tropical and tropical regions. It is given only to two nations, the United States and the Commonwealth of Australia, to be able to produce nearly all the commodities they need; and both of them may share, with the rest of the world, not only the surplus of their vegetable and animal products but also their exceptionally abundant minerals.

There is so much said nowadays about the benefits of salt to the system, that a new spurt probably will be given to the evil habit of salt eating. This amounts to a disease in some sections of England. At present it is the fad in London to chew salt crystals, and medical journals are beginning to warn the public against the yellowing and shrinking of the skin, the loss of hair and the general digestive evils it causes. The American Indian eschews salt and has always eschewed it, and the claim was never made that the American Indian, in his natural state, was a weakling or short-lived.

Harper's Bazar records that a movement originates among the equal suffragists of Illinois to add another chair to the Cabinet of the President of the United States, and install therein a woman. Believing that home interests and children are subjects of importance to the nation no less than war, finance, diplomacy, agriculture, at the thirtieth annual session of the Illinois Suffrage Association a resolution was passed defining a plan for demanding of the next Congress the establishment of a domestic science department of the administrative function of government, with a woman at the head of it.

Bishop Potter of New York City deplores the decline of home cooking, and expresses sorrow for the coming of what he calls the "tinned" era.

SHOOTING THEN A WEDDING.

Birmingham Attorney Has a Lively Courtship.

CAN'T SUPPLY COAL DEMAND

Alabama Loses Sale of 100,000 Tons of Coal--New Plant at Ensley--Other State News.

SHOOTING FOLLOWED BY MARRIAGE.

Prominent Birmingham Attorney Secures a Bride Under Difficulties.

The courtship of two of the most prominent young people in Alabama terminated in Montgomery Sunday in a tragedy succeeded by a happy marriage. The story appears to be as follows:

For several years Hon. John W. McQueen, of Birmingham, assistant solicitor of Jefferson county, and Miss Caroline Beale, one of the loveliest of Montgomery's young women, have been sweethearts. The young Birmingham lawyer was not rich in the goods of this world, and the young lady's parents were not partial to his suit, but rather encouraged that of a suitor in the east, whose high position was already established. Recently Mr. McQueen went to Montgomery on some business connected with the legislature, in which he represented his county for several terms, and while there renewed his attentions to Miss Beale. Her father is said to have emphatically informed Mr. McQueen that his attentions must cease. He continued them, however, and Saturday night the couple met at an evening luncheon. They appear to have talked matters over at the luncheon and determined to marry, as they afterwards went to the residence of the probate judge and endeavored to secure a license. The judge being a friend of the family and being aware of the parental objection, denied this request and Sunday morning informed the father of the young woman. Mr. Beale thereupon went to the residence of Chief Justice McClellan of the supreme court, and called for Mr. McQueen, who was a guest there. The colloquy at the McClellan house appears to have been spirited. Just what was said cannot be learned, but Mr. Beale fired several times upon Mr. McQueen. Fortune seems to have favored the young lawyer for he escaped unhurt, although his host, Judge McClellan, caught one of the bullets in his shoulder, causing a flesh wound which, however, his friends throughout the south will be glad to learn is not serious.

So much for the tragedy, now for the romance.

As soon as Mr. Beale left the premises friends of the young couple commenced arrangements looking to an immediate marriage, which occurred in the parlors of Probate Judge Gaston two or three hours later by Rev. Edward Cobbs, of the Episcopal church, in the presence of a few friends and relatives, the father being in the meanwhile detained down town.

Lodge of Elks Organized.

A local lodge of the order of Brotherhood of Elks was organized in Decatur Sunday night. There was a large crowd of Elks in attendance from the other portions of the state numbering about sixty, coming in a special car.

Another Furnace to Be Put in Blast.

Furnace No. 3 of the blast furnace plant of five furnaces, the property of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company at Ensley, was put in blast Monday, after an idleness of six months for repairs. Furnace No. 4 of the same plant, went out Monday for repairs. No. 3 has had a complete overhauling and is practically a new furnace and will be able to make a large quantity of iron. With No. 3 in operation and No. 4 out of blast, the plant will have four furnaces in operation capable of a production of 700 or 800 tons of iron daily.

Hillman Hospital Fund Growing.

The available cash in hand and pledges secured by the Hillman Hospital management constitute a fund that is growing rapidly toward such size as will soon enable the ladies to make definite arrangements for the erection of the proposed hospital building. There is now deposited in the bank $7,326, and $6,400 additional has been pledged.

Alabama Unable to Supply the Demand for Coal.

The Birmingham district has recently lost the sale of 100,000 tons of coal for export because the coal companies were not able to fill the orders within the time limit. The order went to the Jellico mines in Tennessee, and several tons of the coal are now on the docks at Pensacola awaiting the arrival of the steamers. This big sale was brought about by the Louisville & Nashville Railroad company through its agents, who first came to Birmingham and interviewed the operators of this district. Finding that the Alabama mines could not supply the demand already made upon them, they went to Tennessee and closed the contract with the Jellico company. Another instance of the shortage in the supply of Alabama coal is the fact that the Southern railway is now using Tennessee coal in its engines that run through Birmingham. Tennessee coal is shipped to Greenville, Miss., for use in engines on that end of the Southern's system. These conditions are made possible only by the enormous demand upon the Alabama mines, which have been taxed to their utmost capacity for the past year and a half. During that time the output in the State has been increased from about 500,000 tons to about 750,000 tons a month.

For over a year the Louisville & Nashville Railroad company has been forced to secure a good portion of its supply of coal for its engines on this division from Kentucky mines. It is safe to state that if the coal operators in Alabama were able to deliver all the coal they could sell the production of the mines in this state would exceed 10,000,000 tons a year instead of about 9,000,000 tons, the estimated production in 1900. The new mines that have been opened in the past few months and which will be worked before spring, together with other mines that are to be opened within the next few months, will add over a million tons a year to the production of the state, thus bringing the total for the year 1901 above the 10,000,000 ton mark, unless market conditions undergo a considerable change and cut down the demand. H. F. DeBardelegen, who is at the head of two coal companies organized within the last three weeks, states that several openings will soon be made on properties controlled by him.

Ensley's New Plant.

A rumor which has been well circulated on the streets of Ensley and Wylam for the past few days that the Southern Car and Foundry Company had placed the contract for the excavating and grading for their new plant, has caused a new impetus to real estate matters. A number of lots have changed hands at good prices. A preliminary survey of the location for this plant has been made, but so far as is known here the contract has not been let. It is a fact, however, that bids on this work have been turned in and it is probable that such a contract will be made very soon.

E. C. Gordon For Commissioner.

Eugene C. Gordon, of Athens, Ala., brother of Gen. John B. Gordon, the commander-in chief of the United Confederate Veterans' association, is being indorsed for appointment by the president of the United States as one of the nine commissioners to the Louisiana Purchase Exposition or World's Fair, to be held in St. Louis in 1903.

Work Progressing Nicely.

Work on the grounds where the Alexander City cotton mills are to be built is progressing nicely. It is thought that artesian water can be had, and Mr. Matthews, from Providence, R. I., is boring the well. He has gone to a depth of over one hundred feet, and will go two thousand feet if necessary to reach water that will flow.

Norwegian Ship Leaves.

The Norwegian corvette Ellida, which has been in the Mobile port for several days, left Saturday for Havana, Cuba, en route to Christiania, her home port. During their stay here the officers and cadets were given a continual round of social attention.

New Cotton Mill at Talladega.

Dirt has been broken for the erection of the Chinnabee cotton mills, at Talladega, which, according to the contract, will be completed in six months. The machinery in the Talladega hosiery mills is most ready for the starting of this enterprise, which will add quite a snug pay roll to the town's business interests.

Populists Met and Adjourned Without Making Nomination.

The populists held a meeting for the purpose of selecting a candidate for delegate to the constitutional convention in Ozark Saturday, but for several days it had rained incessantly and the streams in the county interfered with the gathering. Not more than forty populists were present, and on account of the small crowd the meeting adjourned to reconvene on March 2.

SENATOR TILLMAN IS "HOPPING" MAD

South Carolinian Roasts Pensions Committee.

MAKES USE OF DIRE OATHS

Swears That He Will Block Pension Bills Hereafter to the Best of His Ability.

A Washington special says: The passage at the beginning of the session of the senate Saturday of a bill granting a pension of $50 a month to Stacy H. Cogswell, company F, Thirteenth Indiana volunteer regiment, induced Mr. Tillman, of South Carolina, to make some forceful comments upon the house in not taking action upon a bill providing a pension for a Mexican war veteran who had resided in South Carolina during the civil war and naturally had been in sympathy with the confederacy. The bill had been passed by the senate, but the house invalid pension committee was delaying final action upon it.

Mr. Tillman said that there was so much sectional animosity in the house committee that the members refused to permit action upon the bill for the benefit of his old Mexican veteran.

"We, of the south, want to know if the struggle is ended," shouted the irate senator, as he uttered oaths to Senator Hale of Maine, who objected to further debate.

Senator Tillman went to Hale's desk and swore he would "see them in hell" before any more pension bills should pass, if he could prevent it.

Later he obtained the floor and reiterated his complaint against the house committee and refused to be disciplined by Senator Chandler.

Senator Tillman was furious, and his speech quickly drew a crowd to the galleries and all senators to the floor.

Senator Tillman demanded the repeal of the law preventing the pension of veterans of the Mexican and other wars because they rendered aid to the Confederacy.

MINISTER BUCK RETURNS.

He Is at Home For a Brief Rest From Duties at Japanese Capital.

Colonel A. E. Buck, minister plenipotentiary and envoy extraordinary to Japan, has returned to Atlanta for a brief vacation, after an absence of about three and one-half years. The minister and his wife reached Atlanta, Ga., and registered at the Aragon. On the hotel register Colonel Buck gave his residence as "city." He will remain in Atlanta for two or three days attending to some private business before proceeding to Washington and reporting to the state department. He pects to sail from San Francisco to resume his post in Japan about May 1st. This is Colonel Buck's first visit to his old home since his departute for his post in the orient in May, 1897.

Colonel Buck was asked about his plans and particularly about his participation in the councils of the Republican party in Georgia. He said:

"I am not going to hold any conferences with the Republican leaders in Georgia. I am out of politics. I may see some of the leading Republicans who are my personal friends, but I am not going to talk politics with them. I do not intend again to take an active interest in politics in the state. I am not in politics any more."

NO BARROOMS LEFT.

One Kansas Town Is Entirely Rid of "Joints" By Raiders.

Hollon, Kan., was purged of its joints Saturday. The purging process was accomplished by a band of at least 1,000 who took the town in their hands and attacked the joints. Three joints were put out of business and Hollon is a dry town for the first time in fifteen years.

Death Sentence For Three.

Saturday, at Greenville, S. C., Judge Bennett passed the death sentence upon three negroes convicted of murder. John Turner, Lawrence Choice and Miles Cureton were bribed by a white man to kill Ned Clark, for whose murder he was convicted.

ATTACHMENTS SECURED.

Georgia Property of Virginia Coal and Iron Company Is Seized.

The Attala Ala., Iron Ore Company has secured attachments in the federal court at Chattanooga for certain property in Walker county, Georgia, of the Virginia Coal and Iron Company. This action grew out of the receivership of the Virginia company. The debts amounts to several thousand dollars and is for ore furnished by the Alabama company.

Hope For Mrs. Maybrick.

A special cablegram from London to The Chicago Record is to the effect that Florence T. Maybrick will be released from Aylesbury prison.

Ex-Cashier Under Arrest.

George Foster, formerly cashier of the South Danvers National bank, of Peabody, Mass., was arrested Friday charged with embezzling $3,000 from that institution.

Congressman Bartlett Better.

A Washington special says: Judge Bartlett, of Georgia, continues to improve. Dr. Hall said Friday that the judge was clearly better than at any time since the crisis in his disease.

SMASHER BALKED.

Mrs. Carrie Nation, For the First Time, Shows the White Feather.

A Topeka dispatch says: Mrs. Nation for the first time displayed the white feather Thursday. It was at a meeting of thirty of her followers, who armed with hatchets, had gathered in secret to arrange a night raid on Topeka joints. The women had been promised the aid of several male students at Washburn college who were to come to town armed after midnight and personally take part in the raid and also see that the women were not molested.

The women planned minutely for the raid. It was decided to saunter out at 3 o'clock in the morning and demolish every joint in town.

Suddenly, when everything seemed satisfactorily arranged for a terrific onslaught, Mrs. Nation balked, began putting on her wraps and said she was going home.

Instantly her followers were in an uproar. Mingled with expressions of surprise at her quick change of front, soon came words of condemnation.

Finally one woman, who had spent a greater part of the day collecting hatchets and soliciting aid of the crusaders, rushed to where Mrs. Nation stood, in the center of a group, and, shaking her fist in the Wichita woman's face, shouted excitedly:

"You are a coward, Mrs. Nation, you are a coward!"

For a moment Mrs. Nation lost control of herself.

"I am not a coward," she said with emphasis. "I will go this minute with any one woman and smash a joint."

A dozen voices were raised.

"I'll go, I'll go," and for a moment it looked as if an instant raid would result.

But Mrs. Nation soon calming herself, told the women she was tired, that the "Lord did not wish her to go tonight," and without further ado left the room.

CARNEGIE IS MASTER.

Steel Magnate Holds Money Kings to His Own Terms.

A New York dispatch says: Friday's new developments in connection with the negotiations touching the transfer of the Carnegie Steel company to J. Pierpont Morgan and his associates were first that Mr. Carnegie is to receive $1,500 for each $1,000 share of his stock; second, that minority holders who desire to sell will receive the same terms as those given to Mr. Carnegie; third, that the present stage of the negotiations contemplates the formation of a new corporation whose bonds will play a large part in the price to be paid to Mr. Carnegie, and, fourth, the first public announcement in connection with the pending negotiations of an official character consisting of a statement by H. E. Gary, president of the Federal Steel Company, confirming the news that J. P. Morgan is planning the acquisition of the properties of some of the largest iron and steel companies of this country.

If, as now seems certain, Mr. Carnegie is to receive $1,500 for each $1,000 share of his stock, the transfers in his case alone will be the equivalent of nearly $130,000,000, inasmuch as the great steel magnate's holding at present amount to $86,000,000. If, as seems probable, the minority holders are to be looked after by Mr. Morgan's syndicate, the financiering will involve the equivalent of $240,000,000.

TO WATCH AFTER BONI.

Receivers Appointed to Manage Affairs of the Castellanes.

At New York Friday Judge Lacombe, in the United States circuit court, appointed George J. Gould and Helen M. Gould receivers of all income of the Countess de Castellane in excess of $200,000 per year. This action was taken in a suit brought by Eugene Fischoff, an Austrian creditor, against the Countess de Castellane and against George J. Gould, Edwin Gould, Howard Gould and Helen M. Gould, as executors and trustees under the will of Jay Gould. This suit is for the benefit of all creditors.

To Build Battleship Georgia.

The Bath iron works at Bath, Maine, has received a contract for the construction of a United States battleship to be named the Georgia from the navy department at Washington.

ENDORSEMENT OF MRS. NATION.

Topeka Citizens Will Finish Work Started By Saloon Wrecker.

Three thousand male citizens of Topeka, in mass meeting in that city Sunday, decided that the numerous joints of the town must close. They issued an ultimatum giving the jointists till Friday at 12 o'clock noon to quit business. If this is not done, warning was given that a thousand armed men would immediately move on the joints and remove them by force. The action of the meeting is the result of the crusade started in Topeka by Mrs. Carrie Nation. The meeting was a remarkable one in every respect.

OLD MAN ROBBED.

Felled In Street By Highwayman. Thief Quickly Nabbed.

At Philadelphia Saturday Peter Weil, an aged and prominent manufacturer, was knocked down on the street by a highwayman as he was leaving a national bank, and a satchel, containing $8,600, was wrenched from his hand.

The money was recovered by a policeman, who captured the thief after an exciting chase.

HAZING A MENA[illegible] TO VICTIM'S [illegible]

Congressional Com[illegible] Makes Report to H[illegible]

IS A SENSATIONAL DO[illegible]

Vicious Practices at We[illegible] Would Be Classed as F[illegible] In Some States.

A Washington special [illegible] report of the special [illegible] committee which investigated [illegible] ing of Cadet Booz and the [illegible] ject of hazing at West P[illegible] mitted Saturday to the [illegible] sentatives by the chairman [illegible] mittee, Representative [illegible] with a bill making stri[illegible] tions against hazing, the [illegible] brutal practices.

The report is an exhaus[illegible] of the practice of haz[illegible] forms, and, while moderate [illegible] nevertheless a stinging [illegible] the many alleged [illegible] tices enumerated. It [illegible] than 100 distinct methods [illegible] and harrassing fourth class [illegible] describes them in detail.

One of the "funny for[illegible] scribed is that practiced [illegible] Sheridan, Jr., who was [illegible] ride a broomstick in "[illegible] illustrious father's achiev[illegible] Winchester."

The report states that a [illegible] fighting has grown which is [illegible] in its character. The fight[illegible] scribed, and the committee [illegible] the West Point code is more [illegible] than the Queensburry code. [illegible] mittee held that fighting is [illegible] form of hazing. The report [illegible] such fighting as that at West [illegible] a felony according to the st[illegible] many of the states, and the [illegible] come when congress must [illegible] whether fights, which are hi[illegible] elsewhere, shall continue [illegible] Point.

The committee finds that [illegible] MacArthur, Breth and Bur[illegible] hazed into convulsions, oth[illegible] hazed until they fainted, whi[illegible] were hazed until they were [illegible]

The hazing of Cadets [illegible] Breth are elaborately treated [illegible] committee does not attrib[illegible] death directly to hazing. T[illegible] adds:

"But while we cannot fix up[illegible] ing the responsibility for the [illegible] the probability that it hastened [illegible] and the blot it throws [illegible] otherwise fair and glorious fa[illegible] academy, its conflict with pro[illegible] ing, discipline and nuffiness [illegible] new century, urges the adop[illegible] reasonable, yet we believe [illegible] measures for its eradication [illegible] promotion of discipline in [illegible] demy."

The bill submitted contains [illegible] sections against hazing and [illegible] means for its detection and [illegible] ment. Dismissal is provided [illegible] ing part in a fight or chall[illegible] rectly or indirectly, or for [illegible] of annoying, harassing or b[illegible] cadets. Cadets dismissed a[illegible] ineligible to appointment to th[illegible] navy or marine corps.

FARMER'S WIFE SLAYS [illegible]

Victim Was Cursing Her [illegible] Was Stopped By Pis[illegible]

In Lee county, Alabama, [illegible] afternoon in the Smith State[illegible] borhood, seven miles west of [illegible] bus, Ga., Mrs. John Hann[illegible] of a well known farmer, shot [illegible] ed John Pearson, alias Jo[illegible] nati, a negro. Cincinnati was [illegible] hand on Hanners' place. He [illegible] employer were in Columbus [illegible] afternoon, and it seems that b[illegible] drinking when they returned [illegible]

Late in the afternoon the n[illegible] into the house and began to [illegible] Mrs. Hanners who was in the [illegible] told him to quit or leave the p[illegible] He continued cursing and s[illegible] ordered him out. She told [illegible] if he did not stop she would [illegible]

In an insulting manner the [illegible] walked up to her, stuck his fa[illegible] to hers and tauntingly told he[illegible] him. The next moment she s[illegible] dead with a pistol.

TRACKED IN THE SN[illegible]

Clever Capture of Thieves [illegible] Stolen an Express Sa[illegible]

Prompt and active work by [illegible] thorities at Manila, Iowa, re[illegible] the arrest of three men who are [illegible] of having been implicated in [illegible] of a United States express sa[illegible] have contained $40,000. The [illegible] Milwaukee and St. Paul train [illegible] the safe was taken from Sid[illegible] arrived at Manila at 8:35 p. m. [illegible] day night. The robbers we[illegible] tracked in the deep snow whi[illegible] ed the ground.

VON WALDERSEE KI[illegible]

Says It Is Wrong to Keep Up [illegible] In China Just Now.

A special from Pekin sa[illegible] Von Waldersee is very much [illegible] fied with the conduct of the [illegible] troops near Pao Ting Fu and [illegible] their avowed intention, in spite [illegible] protests against it, to org[illegible] expedition to take possession [illegible] province of Shan Si. He [illegible] ground that expeditions, [illegible] police purposes or against [illegible] robbers, should not be ma[illegible] during peace negotiations.

[illegible] ARP'S LETTER

[illegible] John Marshall, the Great Jurist, Was a Federalist.

[illegible] THE "FASHION" IN THOSE DAYS.

[illegible] Would Like to Change the List of Great Men Chosen For the Hall of Fame

[illegible] who has of late been [illegible] John Marshall. That he was a [illegible] has long since been well [illegible] but that takes no [illegible] of fame. Nearly a [illegible] of that day were [illegible] Washington, Hamilton, Ma[illegible] Charles Cotesw[illegible] Carolina. On [illegible] feared to rock [illegible] with the [illegible] but wanted a [illegible] Not until Jefferson [illegible] prehensions [illegible] declared to be masters of the [illegible] John Marshall could h[illegible] a federalist, for history [illegible] father and all the Marshalls [illegible] were federalists. He grew up [illegible] idea that no government was [illegible] did not have power and money [illegible] troops and a navy to defend and [illegible] it, and it would not do to rely [illegible] states separately when war or [illegible] came. No, there never was a [illegible] jurist or a purer patriot than [illegible] Marshall, and I am proud that [illegible] Virginian.

[illegible] considering the list of those [illegible] have already been chosen for [illegible] the hall of fame. I think [illegible] gentlemen who got up this show [illegible] pretty well considering the point [illegible] Up to date I believe that [illegible] have been chosen and our Rob[illegible] Lee stands eighteenth on the [illegible] received sixty-nine votes and [illegible] eleven who received less [illegible] begins with Washington at [illegible] even votes. Then comes [illegible] Webster, Franklin, Grant, [illegible] Jefferson, Emerson, Long[illegible] Fulton, Irving, Jonathan Ed[illegible] Morse, Farragut, Clay, Peabody, [illegible] Robert E. Lee, Peter [illegible] Horace Mann, Eli Whitney, [illegible] Ward Beecher, James Kent, [illegible] Story, John Adams, Channing, [illegible] Gilbert Stuart and Asa [illegible] The last named was a botanist [illegible] repute and received fifty one [illegible]

[illegible] soldiers of the civil war are in [illegible] and Grant and Farragut [illegible] presidents are in. Madison, [illegible] and Jackson are strangely left [illegible] Henry Ward Beecher as strangely [illegible] I don't know what he ever [illegible] was great or good. He is the [illegible] who said that "Sharp's rifles were [illegible] than Bibles to send to Kansas [illegible] it was a sin against heaven to [illegible] a slave-holder and miss him." [illegible] is the man whose conjugal creed [illegible] what McCaulay said of Lord By[illegible] "Hate your neighbor and love [illegible] neighbor's wife." It will be ob[illegible] that twelve of these chosen men [illegible] from Massachusetts, five from New [illegible] four from Virginia, two from [illegible] two from Rhode Island [illegible] others scattered around.

[illegible] if I had a vote I think I would [illegible] ten from that list and in [illegible] places I would insert Andrew [illegible] John C. Calhoun, Dewitt [illegible] Alex Hamilton, Patrick Hen[illegible] Stonewall Jackson, Sam Houston, [illegible] Edison and Crawford Long. [illegible] know whether I would strike [illegible] name or not. He was a good-[illegible] sort of a man with a bulldog [illegible] of purpose, but he was no [illegible] Any man who took four [illegible] with nearly three million of men [illegible] billions of money to subdue 266,[illegible] ragged Confederates is no general. [illegible] behaved well after the surrender [illegible] said: "Let us have peace!"

[illegible] conversing not long ago with [illegible] northern lady, a mature lady of cul[illegible] refinement, and when I remark[illegible] that Grant did not fight to free the [illegible] for he was a slave owner and [illegible] their hire, she was amazed [illegible] said: "Well, what upon earth was [illegible] fighting for? I thought the war [illegible] about slavery and nothing else." [illegible] I had to explain, and I told [illegible] how Lincoln issued a proclamation [illegible] setting the slaves free in January, [illegible] but he excepted Missouri and [illegible] Kentucky, and so Grant held his [illegible] until January, 1865, and kept [illegible] hitting them out and kept on fighting [illegible] us to make us let ours go. He [illegible] didn't tote fair. "Can it be possible?" [illegible] said; "surely you are mistaken." [illegible] truth is the history of this war of [illegible] just beginning to leak out. [illegible] Those yanks have abused us so long [illegible] some of our people have got disgusted and begin to confess judgment. Some of them are even apologizing for that malignant book called [illegible] Tom's Cabin." I was delighted to read John Temple Graves' [illegible] to Henry Watterson. It was the [illegible] every word of it, and our good [illegible] thank him for it. Those impudent rascals up north have had it [illegible] and stuck under our noses [illegible] twenty-five years and lots of our [illegible] folks go to see it and swallow it [illegible]

[illegible] ruminating about these slanders and wondering what made those [illegible] hate us so; when I came across [illegible] explanation in an old book of my [illegible] which said that when Jupiter [illegible] created man he hung two bags on [illegible] back, one hung before and con[illegible] all his faults and little sins; the [illegible] hung behind and contained all [illegible] neighbor's faults and shortcomings. The man got very sick in a few [illegible] and Jupiter couldn't tell what [illegible]

HAZING A MENAC[illegible] TO VICTIM'S [illegible]

Congressional Comm[illegible] Makes Report to Ho[illegible]

IS A SENSATIONAL DOCU[illegible]

Vicious Practices at West [illegible] Would Be Classed as Fel[illegible] In Some States.

A Washington special say[illegible] report of the special congr[illegible] committee which investigated [illegible] ing of Cadet Booz and the gen[illegible] ject of hazing at West Point w[illegible] mitted Saturday to the house [illegible] sentatives by the chairman of [illegible] tee, Representative Eick, [illegible] with a bill making stringent [illegible] tions against hazing, fighting [illegible] brutal practices.

The report is an exhaustive [illegible] of the practice of hazing in [illegible] forms, and, while moderate in [illegible] nevertheless a stinging arraign[illegible] the many alleged brutal [illegible] tices enumerated. It specifie[illegible] than 100 distinct methods of a[illegible] and harrassing fourth class m[illegible] describes them in detail.

One of the "funny formatio[illegible] scribed is that practiced on [illegible] Sheridan, Jr., who was compe[illegible] ride a broomstick in "mockery [illegible] illustrious father's achieveme[illegible] Winchester."

The report states that a sy[illegible] fighting has grown which is s[illegible] in its character. The fights [illegible] scribed, and the committee sta[illegible] the West Point code is more [illegible] than the Queensbury code. T[illegible] mittee held that fighting is th[illegible] form of hazing. The reports s[illegible] such fighting as that at West P[illegible] a felony according to the stat[illegible] many of the states, and the ti[illegible] come when congress must [illegible] whether fights, which are high[illegible] elsewhere, shall continue a[illegible] Point.

The committee finds that [illegible] MacArthur, Breth and Burte[illegible] hazed into convulsions, other[illegible] hazed until they fainted, while [illegible] were hazed until they were sic[illegible]

The hazing of Cadets Boo[illegible] Breth are elaborately treated, [illegible] committee does not attribut[illegible] death directly to hazing. Th[illegible] adds:

"But while we cannot fix up[illegible] ing the responsibility for the [illegible] the probabl[illegible] by that it hastened [illegible] and the shot it throws [illegible] otherwise fair and glorious fam[illegible] academy, its conflict with prop[illegible] ing, discipline and uniness [illegible] new century, urges the adop[illegible] reasonable, yet we believe [illegible] measures for its eradication [illegible] promotion of discipline in th[illegible] demy."

The bill submitted contains [illegible] sections against hazing and p[illegible] means for its detection and p[illegible] ment. Dismissal is provided f[illegible] ing part in a fight or challe[illegible] rectly or indirectly, or for a[illegible] of annoying, harassing or bru[illegible] cadets. Cadets dismissed are [illegible] ineligible to appointment to the [illegible] navy or marine corps.

FARMER'S WIFE SLAYS [illegible]

Victim Was Cursing Her Wh[illegible] Was Stopped By Pistol B[illegible]

In Lee county, Alabama, [illegible] afternoon in the Smith Statio[illegible] borhood, seven miles west of [illegible] bus, Ga., Mrs. John Hanne[illegible] of a well known farmer, shot a[illegible] ed John Pearson, alias John [illegible] nati, a negro. Cincinnati was [illegible] hand on Hanners' place. He [illegible] employer were in Columbus [illegible] afternoon, and it seems that be[illegible] drinking when they returned [illegible]

Late in the afternoon the neg[illegible] into the house and began to [illegible] Mrs. Hanners who was in the [illegible] told him to quit or leave the pr[illegible] He continued cursing and sh[illegible] ordered him out. She told h[illegible] if he did not stop she would k[illegible]

In an insulting manner the [illegible] walked up to her, stuck his fa[illegible] to hers and tauntingly told her [illegible] him. The next moment she sh[illegible] dead with a pistol.

TRACKED IN THE SNOW

Clever Capture of Thieves W[illegible] Stolen an Express Safe.

Prompt and active work by [illegible] thorities at Manila, Iowa, res[illegible] the arrest of three men who are [illegible] of having been implicated in th[illegible] of a United States express safe [illegible] have contained $40,000. The C[illegible] Milwaukee and St. Paul train o[illegible] the safe was taken from Sio[illegible] arrived at Manila at 8:05 p. m. [illegible] day night. The robbers were [illegible] tracked in the deep snow which [illegible] ed the ground.

VON WALDERSEE KICK[illegible]

Says It Is Wrong to Keep Up F[illegible] in China Just Now.

A special from Pekin says: Von Waldersee is very much [illegible] fied with the conduct of the [illegible] troops near Pao Ting Fu and [illegible] their avowed intention, in spi[illegible] protests against it, to orga[illegible] expedition to take possession [illegible] province of Shan Si. He [illegible] ground that expeditions, ex[illegible] police purposes or against [illegible] robbers, should not be und[illegible] during peace negotiations.

[illegible] ARP'S LETTER

[illegible] John Marshall, the Great [illegible]hurist, Was a Federalist.

[illegible]HE "FASHION" IN THOSE DAYS.

[illegible] Man Would Like to Change the [illegible] of Great Men Chosen For [illegible] the Hall of Fame.

[illegible] been made over [illegible] That he was a federal[illegible] been well establish[illegible] lustre from his [illegible] Nearly all of the great [illegible] were federalists—[illegible] Hamilton, Madi[illegible] with Pinckney, [illegible] the most prudent [illegible] risk the people of [illegible] the reins of gov[illegible] a strong central [illegible] Jefferson's day were [illegible] modified and the [illegible] the masters of the [illegible] Marshall could hardly [illegible] federalist, for history [illegible] father and all the Marshal[illegible] were federalists. He grew up [illegible] that no government was [illegible] not have power and money [illegible] and a navy to defend and [illegible] and it would not do to rely [illegible] states separately when war or [illegible] came. No, there never was a [illegible] patriot than [illegible] Marshall, and I am proud that [illegible] a Virginian.

[illegible] considering the list of those [illegible] already been chosen for [illegible] in the hall of fame. I think [illegible] men who got up this show [illegible] pretty well considering the point [illegible] Up to date I believe that [illegible] have been chosen and our Rob[illegible] Lee stands eighteenth on the [illegible] received sixty-nine votes and [illegible] eleven who received less. [illegible] list begins with Washington at [illegible] votes. Then comes [illegible] Webster, Franklin, Grant, [illegible] Jefferson, Emerson, Long[illegible] Irving, Jonathan Ed[illegible] Morse, Farragut, Clay, Peabody, [illegible] Robert E. Lee, Peter [illegible] Horace Mann, Eli Whitney, [illegible] Ward Beecher, James Kent, [illegible] Story, John Adams, Channing, [illegible] Gilbert Stuart and Asa [illegible] The last named was a botanist [illegible] of repute and received fifty-one [illegible]

[illegible] soldiers of the civil war are in [illegible] Lee and Grant and Farragut. [illegible] two presidents are in. Madison, [illegible] and Jackson are strangely left [illegible] Henry Ward Beecher as strangely [illegible] I don't know what he ever [illegible] that was great or good. He is the [illegible] man that "Sharp's rifles were [illegible] than Bibles to send to Kansas [illegible] it was a sin against heaven to [illegible] at a stockholder and miss him." [illegible] the man whose conjugal creed [illegible] McCaulay said of Lord By[illegible] "Hate your neighbor and love [illegible] neighbor's wife." It will be ob[illegible] that twelve of these chosen men [illegible] from Massachusetts, five from New [illegible] four from Virginia, two from [illegible] Connecticut, two from Rhode Island [illegible] the others scattered around.

[illegible] if I had a vote I think I would [illegible] out ten from that list and in [illegible] places I would insert Andrew [illegible] John C. Calhoun, Dewitt [illegible] Alex Hamilton, Patrick Hen[illegible] Stonewall Jackson, Sam Houston, [illegible] Edison and Crawford Long. [illegible] I don't know whether I would strike [illegible] name or not. He was a good[illegible] sort of a man with a bulldog [illegible] of purpose, but he was no [illegible] Any man who took four [illegible] with nearly three million of men [illegible] millions of money to subdue 266,[illegible] ragged Confederates is no general. [illegible] behaved well after the surrend[illegible] and said: "Let us have peace!"

[illegible] was conversing not long ago with [illegible] a northern lady, a mature lady of cul[illegible] and refinement, and when I remark[illegible] that Grant did not fight to free the [illegible], for he was a slave owner and [illegible] off their hire, she was amazed [illegible] said: "Well, what upon earth was [illegible] fighting for? I thought the war [illegible] about slavery and nothing else." [illegible] I had to explain, and I told [illegible] how Lincoln issued a proclama[illegible] setting the slaves free in January, [illegible] but he excepted Missouri and [illegible] Kentucky, and so Grant held his [illegible] until January, 1865, and kept [illegible] bring them out and kept on fight[illegible] to make us let ours go. He [illegible] it fair. "Can it be possible?" [illegible] said, "surely you are mistaken." [illegible] truth is the history of this war of [illegible] is just beginning to leak out.

[illegible] those yanks have abused us so long [illegible] some of our people have got dis[illegible] and begin to confess judg[illegible]. Some of them are even apolo[illegible] for that malignant book called [illegible] Uncle Tom's Cabin." I was de[illegible] to read John Temple Graves' [illegible] to Henry Watterson. It was the [illegible], every word of it, and our good [illegible] people thank him for it. Those im[illegible] rascals up north have had it [illegible] satified and stuck under our noses [illegible] twenty-five years and lots of our [illegible] folks go to see it and swallow it [illegible].

[illegible] was ruminating about these slan[illegible] and wondering what made those [illegible] people hate us so; when I came across [illegible] explanation in an old book of my [illegible] logy which said that when Jupiter [illegible] created man he hung two bags on [illegible] neck, one hung before and con[illegible] all his faults and little sins; the [illegible] hung behind and contained all [illegible] neighbor's faults and shortcom[illegible]. The man got very sick in a few [illegible] and Jupiter couldn't tell what was the matter. He was afraid the man was going to die, so he sent for Pluto, who was a head-devil and doctor to boot. Pluto diagnosed the case and said that the poor fellow was heartsick from having to look into that bag so much; that his sins were ever before him, and so he advised Jupiter to swap the bags around and put the man's sins behind and out of sight and his neighbor's in front. This was done and the man got well and has been well ever since.

But we will not fuss about the hall of fame as long as they leave out old John Brown. When he is put in we want Lee taken out. Speaking of John Marshall being a federalist reminds me to say that Lee was not, for he declared when he resigned from the United States army that his highest allegiance was due to his state. Many great men have differed over that question. Daniel Webster differed with himself and in his last great speech at Capon Springs admitted that a state had a right to secede when there was sufficient cause and that the state must be the judge of the cause. That was what Whittier lampooned him about in those malignant verses.

I am revelling now in old things and holding converse with some good old people. I received a letter today from an old gentleman of Atlanta who has written me fourteen pages in a large, loud handwriting, for he knew I was deaf. He says he is in his ninetieth year and just wanted to write about the good old schoolboy days and about the great men we used to have. He went to school to George White, who published the statistics and "Historical Collections of Georgia" over fifty years ago, and Charles Wallace Howard was his schoolmate. My friend is blind, but writes his own letters—the lines are an inch apart and about four words to the line—and yet he writes in a most cheerful vein and tells how good God has been to him all his long life. His name is A. R. Wright and he was born and reared in Savannah. His favorite speech at school was—

"Lochiel, Lochiel, beware of the day
When the lowlands shall meet thee in battle array."

I expect there are a thousand living men who spoke that speech, and that other one, "On Linden when the sun was low." My neighbor, Rev. George Yarbrough, is a man of memories, too. He is our Methodist Episcopal preacher now and it is a luxury to talk to him. He helps me abuse the yankees and says he loves his enemies, but cannot suppress a feeling of holy indignation at their conduct. He has a curious old book printed in 1825 called "The Wonders of Nature and Providence." That part devoted to Indians and their mounds and the Lost Tribes of Israel is full of interesting data. It seems to me that the older a man grows the more he learns and about the time he gets full of knowledge and begins to run over he has to lie down and die. What a pity he could not live on and on for the sake of the children and grandchildren. But as Pope says, "Whatever is, is right."

P. S.—I have received one answer to my Ohio friend's letter, but as no money came for the orphans I have not sent it. Maybe he will send the dollar, for it is worth it.

"ATLANTA, GA.—Sir: In answer to your letter I'le tell what I think about the moon. Plant your taters and pununs in the dark of the moon tho they do very well planted in the groun.' I am a widow under 45 and have got sum land tho I dont clame any credit fur that cos I got hit from my Paw and he got hit from his Paw. The earth must move tord the sun for we got the news of the queens death over here 2 hours before she died. But if I ever marry agin I must have vittels and close a plenty, land or no land. If you want your hog meat to get more bigger in the fryin pan you must kill hit before the new moon but if you want lots of gravy kill hit afterwards.

"I have got no brothers or sisters and am powerful loansom. I dont think the moon ar inhabited. It is flat like a plate and once a month turns up on its edge and makes the new moon. I dont think the moon effeks married life. Foaks can make it happy or miserbul jest as tha pleese. Hit is either as happy as heaven or as miserbul as Dantys Inferno as they call hit. I think the moon have got a lite of its own. Foaks tell me that northern men make the best husbands and Im shore that Southern women specially widows make the best wives. Address Mrs. S. S."—BILL ARP, in Atlanta Constitution.

Another communistic experiment has come to grief in the dissolution of the Christian Commonwealth Colony, which was founded three years ago in Muscogee county, Georgia, by 40 men, women and children from Ohio. They were an exceptionally intelligent and worthy body of people. Plain cottages were built, and a common dining hall, which was also used for religious services, was established. The first year was a prosperous one. Fine crops were raised and good prices secured for the products. A sawmill was built, a gristmill and a broom factory were profitably operated, and a dairy not only furnished the community with all the milk and butter needed, but afforded a surplus for the market. Then new members came and trouble began. Many shirked their work; gossip and scandal became rife; debts were incurred which there was no money to meet, and now it is announced that the colony has gone to pieces.

RUBBER OVERSHOES.

Their Sale Larger Than Ever, in Spite of Fashion's Seers.

"You surely don't mean to take rubber shoes with you? They're out of style, and nobody thinks of wearing them now, except countrymen."

"That may be so; I'll be a countryman, then; but I will be dry shod also if we should have a spell of weather," and the man wrapped his gum shoes in paper and tucked them away in a corner of his little trunk.

The fact that thousands of people never wear rubber overshoes gives rise in some quarters to the belief that these articles have become unpopular and dead weight on the shelves of the dealers, but the fact is that sales are larger than they have ever been, and the production has increased every year. Like many other kinds of trade, the sale of rubber shoes depends largely on the weather. Dry winters have done much to reduce the sales, and complications in the rubber business have had a tendency to depress the price. But manufacturers say that the rubber shoe is still an indispensable article of men's and women's wear, and that while the superior shoes may do the business a slight injury, the rubber overshoe cannot be crowded out, even if fashion writers sneer at it.

"The maker of fine shoes will probably tell you," said the head of the shoe department in a large city establishment, "that rubber overshoes have gone out of style, and that no well-dressed man or woman wears them nowadays. Well, from his point of view, the man is right. His customers have substituted extra heavy and cork soled shoes, and inasmuch as the people do not tramp about the streets much in rain, snow and slush, the heavy shoes are a good substitute. Even the people who tramp over a golf course in bad weather rarely think of wearing rubber shoes, and many who would like to do so, fear that their friends would ridicule them if they did, and so get their feet damp and grin and bear it. These people all have many pairs of shoes at home, and can well afford to sneer at the people who wear 'gums.' But the general public has only one pair of shoes apiece, and that pair must be kept dry; and for that reason more rubber shoes are sold now than ever before, although shoes are made heavier than ever and the demand for 'waterproof' goods is increasing every day. Last year we had comparatively little snow and slush, and consequently the sale of rubber shoes fell off. This year has been a poor one thus far, but when real bad weather sets in, let the man who says that 'rubbers' are out of date watch the people who walk on Broadway, and he will find that nearly all wear rubber overshoes, and those who do not, if they are not cranks on the subject, wish they did."—New York Tribune.

A FREAK OF NATURE.

Dam in the West Which is Made of Soda.

Probably few people ever heard of a soda dam, but such a freak of nature really exists in an unfrequented part of the great West, says the Washington Star. A. O. Wright, of the Indian service, who travels extensively through that section of the country west of the Missouri river, in speaking of strange things he has encountered in his tours, alluded to the soda dam. Asked what he meant by a soda dam, he said:

"In Box canon, just above the hot springs of the James river, Arizona, is a dam extending from one wall of the gorge to the other. This dam is nothing more nor less than a massive wall of pure soda, rising to a height of 100 feet, and probably 600 feet from end to end. Nature's forces, of course, started their work of construction away back in the dim and distant past, when deposits of soda contained in the water thrown off by the springs were made at the base of what has since developed into one of the natural wonders of the West. Those deposits must have been made with remarkable rapidity.

"Just ten years ago the Jemez river rose to an unprecedented height, and under the abnormal pressure of the torrent, a lower section of the dam gave way, leaving a breach in the wall of soda about 20 feet high. When the water subsided the lake formed by the dam was, of course, destroyed, leaving the upper 80 feet of the dam high and dry.

"I passed through that section of Arizona last summer, and purposely visited the soda dam. I was most astonished to see that the 20-foot breach had been nearly filled in. The soda from the springs had made fresh deposits and gradually patched up the hole made in 1890. At the present rate the breach will be entirely closed in another year and the lake will assume its former proportions.

"Previous to the break in the dam the lake above was fully 600 feet wide, and extended up the canon for at least three-quarters of a mile. Scientists who have examined the dam are of the opinion that it will never attain a height much above 100 feet, for the deposits in the water seem to sink in that great depth before the brink is reached. As they fall, however, they will tend to strengthen the base of the dam, and will gradually decrease the depth of the lake at its lower end."

The Basis of Chewing Gum.

Chicle is the basis of all chewing gum. It is produced in Mexico, and its value is three times that of the rubber crop of that country.

REV DR. TALMAGE

DISCOURSE BY THE EMINENT DIVINE LAST SUNDAY.

[Copyrighted 1897.]

WASHINGTON, D. C.—There is a great solace in this discourse of Dr. Talmage for those whose lives have many anxieties; text, Isaiah iii. 10, "Say ye to the righteous that it shall be well with him."

Here is a promise for people who are all right, but who will come and get it? How many, or rather, how few, people do you know who are all right? If it were asked of any assembly that those who were sinless should rise up, none would rise, except imbeciles and religious cranks. An accident happened near sixty centuries ago that started the human race in the wrong way, and we have not got over it yet. We know a great many splendid men and splendid women, but they will tell you that they have not always done the right thing or thought the right thought. If it were any of your business, they could give you an inventory of frailties and mistakes and infelicities that would be astonishing. Here, then, you say, is a Bible promise that goes a-begging. "Say ye to the righteous that it shall be well with him."

It is my delightful work to-day to show you that all the sons and daughters of Adam and Eve may appropriate the benediction of my text if they will first do the right thing. Over here in the next street was a man who in great misfortunes lost all he had and was positively beggared, but a letter comes from some European city, where the land records are kept, announcing to him that a great fortune is his. Now he is as opulent as he was pauperized. He doffs his rags and puts on respectable attire and moves into a home appropriate for a man of vast estate. His worldly circumstances were all wrong last year; they are all right this year. On the next street is a man who was from perfect health prostrated, and he seemed to be sick unto death, but a skillful physician took correct diagnosis of his disease, and by prompt and vigorous treatment restored him to his former vigor. As to his health he was all wrong before. Now he is all right. In these two ways I illustrate my theme.

By sin we have all been morally bankrupted. Christ the Lord from His infinite riches pays our debts and emparadises us in His mercy. From His richest wardrobe He put on us the clean robe of His righteousness, and gives us a palace in the heavens when we are ready to go up and take it. Now, as to our spiritual estate we are all right. We were morally diseased, but Christ, the physician, by a bath in the fountain of His grace, cures us.

Now, as to our spiritual health we are all right. That is the way we come to the righteousness spoken of in the text. It is a contributed righteousness, a made-over righteousness, an imputed righteousness. The moment you get into right relations with Christ the Lord that moment you can appreciate the magnificent comfort of the text, and I defy you in all this great book, from the first verse of the first chapter of Genesis to the last verse of the last chapter of Revelation, to find me a passage with higher and deeper and broader and longer comfort than that of the text, which is as deep as the Atlantic Ocean half way between the continents, and high as the sun when the clock is striking 12 at noon. But I shall be swamped with the oceanic tides of this subject unless the Lord help me to keep a foothold. "Say ye to the righteous that it shall be well with him."

Bear in mind that but few people can stand worldly success. Water is a good thing, but too much of it will drown. Fire is a good thing, but too much of it will destroy. Light is a good thing, but too much of it dazzles and blinds. Success is a good thing, but too much of it has overwhelmed many for this world and the next. If it were best for us, we would all be millionaires, live in palaces like the Alhambra, and be as personally attractive as Cleopatra appeared to Antony. But the most of folks could not endure such superabundance, and it is absolutely necessary in order to keep them right that 999 men out of 1000 should find life a struggle. It keeps them out of mischief. After Adam was ejected from the premises where by ten minutes of employment a day he could keep the garden and dress it the best thing that could happen to him was compulsion to work and fight. The ground that bloomed with spontaneous flowers and rustled with harvests that owed nothing to plow or hoe became hostile, and bramble was substituted for rose, and the panther growled where before he fawned, and horn and fang and hoof became belligerent. That Edenic ejectment shows us as nothing else ever could that idleness or only a few minutes of employment a day are doom and overthrow. Put it down among your blessings that you have to work hard with brain or hand or foot or all three of them.

How many men do you know worth $250,000 who are devout and consecrated and humble and generous and employing their means for the world's redemption? You could count them up on the fingers of your two hands even if by accident or war you had lost one or two of the fingers. As to the realm of personal attractiveness, how many women radiant of countenance and graceful of form do you know who are unaffected and natural of manner and deeply pious before God, using their beauty for the betterment of the world and not for selfish purposes? I only take the risk of asking the question and leave to you the risk of answering it. These things I say to show you that in order to have the promise of the text fulfilled in your case it is not necessary you have phenomenal worldly success.

Notice, also that God gives the righteous the power to extract good out of evil, and by a divine chemistry to change the bitter into the sweet and the harmful into the beneficial. The promise that it shall be well with you does not imply that you are to be free from trouble. There is no escape from that. We all have family relations, and some of them will be making exit from this world, so that bereavement is the universal inheritance. The difference between the prospered and those not prospered is the difference in the amount they can afford to lose. The more wealth a man has the more he can lose, but one man can afford to lose a million dollars where another man cannot afford to lose one dollar. On larger or smaller scale all suffer financial loss. Amid the rapidity of the revolutions of the wheel of national and international finance monetary perplexity is as common as day or night.

So also misinterpretation and slander come to all who live active lives. Our actions, thoroughly honest and above-board, may come under suspicion. Every court room at every term of court hears illustrations of the delusions of what is called circumstantial evidence. Innocent men are fined or imprisoned or electrocuted because of an unfortunate conjunction of events. What is true in court rooms is true in all circles of domestic or social or official life. You have been misunderstood and misrepresented, or will be misunderstood or misrepresented. Then how can my text be true? My explanation is this: The man without any divine grace in his heart finds in these troubles irritation and unbelief and melancholia and despair. A Christian man finds in them submission and enlarged views and divine support and reconsecration. Bereavement to the worldling brings hard thoughts of God and a resistance so violent it dares not fully express itself.

Bereavement brings to the Christian the thought of heavenly reunion and a more complete laying hold of God, and a more tender appreciation of the divine presence, and deeper gratitude that we were permitted to have the departed one so long, and a more lively sympathy for the sorrows of others and another evidence of God's love, for "whom the Lord loveth He chasteneth."

Financial loss, which I just now said is sure to come, never breaks up a man who has strong faith in God. In most cases it is a loss of surplus or it is the lopping of luxuries. Most of the wants of the prosperous classes are artificial wants. The late Mr. Armour, of the $80,000,000 estate, pointed to one of his clerks on ordinary salary and said: "That man has better appetite than I, sleeps better nights and enjoys life more than I do." Oh, the gigantic miseries of those who have too much! A man in Solomon's time expressed as philosophic and reasonable a wish as any man of those times or of our times. His name was Agur, and he offered a prayer that he might never have a superabundance or a deficit, crying out, "Give me neither poverty nor riches!" On the other side he had seen the awful struggle of the poor to get food and clothes and shelter and to educate their children, and on the other side he had seen the gouty foot, and the indigestion, and the insomnia, and the anxiety about large investments, and the threatened paresis often characteristic of those who are loaded up and loaded down with too many successes. Those people who are generally called the masses—that is, the most of folks—have the things absolutely necessary for their well being. They have no Murillos on their wall, nor a "Belshazzar's Feast" in their dining room, nor a pair of $3000 sorrels at their doorway.

But they have something which those superabundantly supplied seldom have—they have better health because, being compelled to walk, they get the necessary exercise, and, their diet being limited to plain food, they do not suffer from midnight salads and are not victimized by rare caterers.

They retire for wholesome sleep at the very hour in which others are leaving their homes for the dance or the card party. They will sleep the last sleep just as well in the plain graveyard as those who have over them an arch of sculptured granite in costliest necropolis or most historical abbey.

Things are more equally divided than is generally supposed. That splendid home is apt to have a taking off of some kind. It may be an invalid wife, or a deformed child, or an inherited tending toward insanity, or a dissolute son, or a despoiled reputation, or a weakened heart that may halt under the least excitement. Envy no man. Envy no woman. Be content with such things as ye have.

Do not think, in order to have it well with you, according to my text, that therefore you must have more than somebody else, or even as much as somebody else. The Lord treats us all better than we treat Him, and if we would study our blessings as much as we study our disasters we would be more reasonable and thankful.

In Isaiah God says that bread and water shall be sure, and none of us has been put on so low a diet, but we often act as though God had not kept His promise because we want more luxuries, forgetful of the fact that He promised bread, not cake, water, not sparkling cordials.

The reason so many people are miserable is because they do not let well enough alone. They are in one occupation and see its annoyances and so change to another occupation, and find as many annoyances, if not more. They live in one place and know its uncomfortable environments and move into another place which has just as many limitations. Their investments yield them four per cent., and they sell out to make investments that will yield ten per cent. and lose all. Better settle down and stop fretting about yourself and the world.

An officer in Cromwell's time was so worried about public affairs that he could not sleep. His servant, a Christian man, said he would like the privilege of asking the officer a question. Leave being granted the servant said: "Do you not think that God governed the world very well before you came into it?" "No doubt of it," was the reply. "And do you not think He will govern it quite as well when you are gone out of it?" "Certainly." "Then—pray, sir, excuse me—but do you not think you may trust Him to govern it as long as you live in it?" The remark was so sensible that sleeplessness departed and tranquility came.

Some scientists are now discussing the opening of communication between our earth and the planet Mars. Experiments are being made, but they will not succeed. We cannot build a fire large enough to attract the attention of that world, or lift a lens powerful enough to see any response interstellar. We do not positively know that that world is occupied by living beings, or that, if it is occupied, communication with them would be desirable. It might not be so good a world as this, and thus communication with it would be debasing.

But I rejoice to know that heaven is in touch with other worlds for their improvement, and a depot for glorious arrivals. It is a thoroughfare between this world and that world, and a coming and going perpetual.

Going out of this world is as natural as coming into it, but the one is with pang, and the other is with rapture, if we are fitted for the uplifting process. It shall be well with you. Now, do not get so frightened about that asthma or that cough or that influenza or that threatened pneumonia. The worst thing that fatal disease can do is to usher you into coronation and enthronement. It shall be well with you. Take as good care of your health as you can, have the best doctors you can employ, observe all sanitary laws, keep in this world as long as you are permitted to stay, and then when the heavenly call comes be glad to go.

I do not care much about what your "last words" are going to be. People put too much emphasis on "last words." I would rather know what your words are now, in days of health and with mental faculties in full play—your words of kindness, your words of sympathy, your words of helpfulness, your words of prayer.

So live that if you say not a word during the last day of your life there will be no doubt here about the place of your destination. You will go right into saintly, prophetic, evangelistic, apostolic, cherubic, seraphic, archangelic, deific presence. It shall be well with you.

Mother, you will go right up into the possession of the babe that the scarlet fever or croup took out of your arms, a sorrow that still stings you, and you often say she would now be so many years old if she had lived.

You will go into the presence of the old folks, for I hope you are of Christian ancestry, and you will find that they have no dimness of sight or halting gait that requires a staff, for they have taken a draft from the fountain of perpetual youth that springs from under the throne of God.

Oh, the blissful companionship of heaven in which you shall enter! It shall be well with you. I ring this bell of emancipation and triumph. I like the way the sexton rings the bell of the old country meeting house. I used to stand and admire him pulling the rope of that bell. He rings it a good while, so that every farmhouse within five miles hears it. He may halt a moment to take breath and give the sweet sounds time to stir up all the echoes of the hills. And when he is old and not strong enough to pull the rope any more then he sits and listens while his son rings the church bell. So my text sounds a bell of invitation and victory, and I began to ring it in the opening of this discourse. I hope to ring it as long as I live, and may those who come after us keep on ringing it till those farthest off from God shall come into the great temple of gospel comfort, and all the weary put down their burdens at its altar and find that peace which the world can neither give nor take away. Three times more I ring it: It shall be well! It shall be well! It shall be well!

THE SABBATH SCHOOL

INTERNATIONAL LESSON COMMENTS FOR FEBRUARY 17.

Subject: The Lord's Supper. Matt. xxvi., 17-30 — Golden Text, Luke xxii., 19.—Memory Verses, 26-28 — Connecting on the Day's Lesson.

17. "The first day of the feast." The 14th of Nisan was the day of preparation and hence called the first day of the feast. "Where wilt thou." Jesus had no home of His own, and the disciples knew that some place must be chosen at once. "That we prepare." That which was required consisted of a room furnished with a table and couches; and for food, unleavened bread, bitter herbs, wine and a paschal lamb, which must be slain in the temple between 3 and 5 o'clock, and cooked in a private house.

18. "Go into the city." Luke says that Peter and John were sent. They were now at Bethany and Jesus sends them to Jerusalem. "To such a man." It is probable that this meant some person with whom Christ was well acquainted, and who was known to the disciples. Mark and Luke state that they would meet a man bearing a pitcher of water, whom they were to follow. "Say unto him." Say unto the master of the house, "who was probably a disciple, but secretly, like many others, for fear of the Jews (John 12: 42); and this may explain the suppression of his name." "The Master saith." The Teacher saith. "My time is at hand." The time of His death, elsewhere called His hour. Jesus knew that in a few hours He would yield up His life. "At thy house." This message seems stranger to us than it would to the man, even if he had little knowledge of Jesus. During the week of the Passover hospitality was recognized as a universal duty in Jerusalem.

19. "Did as Jesus had appointed them." They obeyed in every particular and found everything as Jesus had foretold.

20. "The even was come." It was probably while the sun was beginning to decline in the horizon that Jesus and the disciples descended once more over the Mount of Olives into the holy city. "Sat down." Or reclined, according to the custom of that time. It was at this time that the disciples strove among themselves as to which should be accounted the greatest. Luke 22: 24. The strife probably began when they were taking their positions at the table. It is suggested that this contention is the probable reason for some of the exhortations in John 13: 1-20, and for the washing of the disciples' feet. Possibly those sought the places of honor at the table who had been especially honored on other occasions. Let us remember that "the self-seeking spirit leads to Satan's kingdom, not to Christ's. 'To be first or nothing' leads to crimes and wars." He who does the humblest service in order to relieve the wants of others, or cleanse their souls from sin, does to them as Christ did to the disciples.

21. "As they did eat." The Passover, not the Lord's supper. "He tasted first the unleavened bread and the bitter herbs before the lamb was served." The significance of the Passover: 1. It marked the beginning of the Jewish nation. 2. It reminded them of the mercy of God in protecting their first born. 3. It commemorated their deliverance from Egyptian bondage. 4. It reminded them of their sin and need of atonement. 5. Unleavened bread signified separation from sin. 6. Bitter herbs signified repentance. "One of you." How sad! One who is pledged to be faithful and true. Jesus was troubled in spirt. John 13: 21. "Shall betray me." Judas had already agreed to betray Him. The Saviour was not taken by surprise.

22. "Exceeding sorrowful." Because He was to be betrayed, and because one of their number was about to perform the dastardly act. "Is it I?" They also asked themselves the question. Luke 22:23.

23. "He that dippeth." The thought of verse 21 is repeated. It was at this point that Peter beckoned to John who was leaning on Jesus's bosom, to ask Jesus who it should be (John 13: 23-27); and Jesus gave them a sign by which they knew.

24. "Goeth." To the cross and to death. "As it is written." In such Scriptures as Isaiah 53. "Woe unto that man." "A sad statement of a terrible fact." Jesus had previously told of His betrayal and death, but it must be remembered that the betrayer acted voluntarily; the prophecy did not compel him to sin, but merely told that in the natural course of events he would sin. "Had not been born." This proves conclusively that for the lost soul there is no redemption.

25. "Is it I?" Judas tried to cover his hypocrisy and wickedness by asking this question. He knew that he was even now seeking an opportunity to do this very thing, and if he had not been spiritually blind he would have known that Jesus knew all about it, too. "Thou hast said." A Hebrew form of affirmation.

26. "Took bread." Took the loaf or thin cake of unleavened bread which was before Him. "Blessed it." Invoked the blessing of God upon it. "Brake it." The act was designed to shadow forth the wounding, piercing and breaking of Christ's body on the cross. "This is My body." This bread represents My body.

27. "The cup." The word "wine" is not used, but "cup," "the fruit of the vine" (v. 29), so that "unfermented grape juice was all that was used." "Gave thanks." It was like giving thanks over the shedding of His own blood. "Drink ye all." They were all to drink of this. Mark says, "They all drank of it."

28. "Is My blood." Represents My blood. "The sins of the world are put away, not merely through the influence of Christ's life, teachings and example, but by His blood that was poured out for lost man." "Of the covenant" (R. V). It was an old covenant renewed, and thus a new promise to men that God would provide a great salvation, and use His infinite wisdom and love in seeking to save a lost world. "For many." For all mankind. "Remission of sins." "For the taking away of sins." But although the atonement is made yet no man's sins are taken away only as he repents and turns to God.

29. "Not drink henceforth." He would not eat and drink with them again; this was their last meal together. "When I drink it new." When I drink new wine—"wine of a different nature from this"—in the kingdom of God. Here is a pledge to them that they would again assemble, in the kingdom of glory, to commemorate the triumph of Christ and His kingdom.

30. "Sung a hymn." Which was always sung at the close of the paschal feast; it consisted of six psalms, from Psa. 113 to 118. "Into the Mount of Olives." Where we will presently find them again on this eventful night.

A $70,000 home for literary men remains empty. As the applicant for admission is required to possess $300, no surprise is occasioned.

Leborgy, a French authority on fashions for men, declares that the Prince of Wales dresses badly. And Americans have been copying him all these years!

THE BANNER.

Edited and Published Every Thursday at Clanton, Chilton County, Ala.

Entered at the postoffice at Clanton, Ala., as second class mail matter.

"Here shall the press the people's rights maintain,
Unawed by influence and unbribed by gain,
Here patriot truth her glorious precepts [illegible]
Pledged to religion, liberty and law."

Subscription, yearly - - - $1.00
Invariably in Advance.

Address all communications to
THE BANNER,
Clanton, Ala.

OUR NEW CENTURY OFFER

THE BANNER finished the last century in excellent condition, but we wish to commence the new with a large number of new subscribers, and for that purpose have much pleasure in making the following offer:

The Banner one year (52 papers) for 75 cents.

The Banner one year and the N. Y. World Almanac and Encyclopedia for 1901, over 600 pages, $1.00

The Banner and Home & Farm, both papers one year for $1.00

The Banner and Birmingham Age Herald, both papers one year for $1.25

The Banner and Thrice-a-Week World—four papers every week for one year for $1.50

The Banner and Montgomery Advertiser, both papers one year for $1.50

The Banner and Atlanta Constitution and Home & Farm—all three for one year for $1.50

The Banner and Atlanta Constitution and your choice of a number of other periodicals—all three for 1 year for $1.50

The Banner and American Monthly Review of Reviews—both one year for $2.75

CONSIDERABLE dissatisfaction is being expressed in Beat five at the passage of the stock law for that beat, and vague threats are being made that the people will not submit to it.

AMONG other communications received too late for publishing in this issue, is one from Mr. L. H. Reynolds in regard to his contest case, which we will publish next week.

ABSENCE has delayed our greeting the Chilton Reflector, a new venture in the newspaper line at Maplesville. The Reflector is a four-page six column paper, published at one dollar per year, and promises to do all in its power to upbuild Chilton county. In such a laudable endeavor THE BANNER wishes it all possible success.

THORSBY is having an interesting time at its first municipal election. There are three tickets in the field, headed by K. G. Faegre, A. Horn and J. Bice and the indications are very uncertain as to which one will become Mayor.

GENERAL Joe Wheeler, it is said, again intends to be a candidate for Congress from his old district, the Eighth. We see no reason, if the General still desires public life, why he should be retired. He always made an excellent representative and is fully capable of again doing so.

DR. H. W. CAFFEY.

Elsewhere in this issue will be found the announcement of Dr. H. W. Caffey as a candidate for representative of Chilton county in the Constitutional convention. We are gratified that the first announcement for this important position comes from so worthy a gentleman as Dr. Caffey. He is thoroughly acquainted with the workings of our present Constitution; he knows its merits and its de-merits, and we believe he knows how its defective points can be best remedied. Conservative in his views, and not blinded by partizanship, Dr. Caffey is a gentleman in whom all political parties can place reliance, and if elected he will serve his constituents faithfully and honestly.

THE Reynolds contest case in the Senate was heard last Thursday and decided in favor of Mr. Oliver. We understand the case was really thrown out on a technicality, Mr. Oliver not having been properly served with the necessary papers.

CORRESPONDENCE

(continued from 2d col. page 1)

moved to the territory of Mississippi in 1816 and settled on Line creek, west of Montgomery, in 1817, then moved to Prattville where he remained until 1819, at which place he was living when Alabama was admitted into the Union. He then moved 26 miles above Wetumpka on the Coosa river, and settled in Autauga county, where he married Mary Ann Milton on the 5th day of April, 1825, who still survives him. He moved to Coosa county in 1855 where he remained until his death. He joined the Baptist church at Chestnut Creek in Autauga county, in 1835, lived a devoted member until his death; he joined the Masonic fraternity in Rockford in 1858. He had born to him twenty children and at the time of his death he had 155 grand and great grand children. He was buried with Masonic honors at Weogufka church, on the 8th of February.

He was always a quiet, peaceable citizen, was never prosecuted for any violation of the law. He was perhaps the oldest resident living in the State, having resided here sixty-eight years.

Having made a made a good record in this life he now sleeps quietly in the grave to the welcome applause "well done, good and faithful servant, thou hast been faithful in a few things, enter thou into the joys of thy Lord."

A Convincing Answer.

"I hobbled into Mr. Blackmon's drug store one evening," says Wesley Nelson, of Hamilton, Ga., "and he asked me to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm for Rheumatism with which I had suffered for a long time. I told him I had no faith in any medicine as they all failed. He said 'Well if Chamberlain's Pain Balm does not help you, you need not pay for it.' I took a bottle of it home and used it according to the directions and in one week I was cured, and have not since been troubled with rheumatism." Sold by Clanton Drug Co., and D. I. Deramus, Verbena.

A Jockey's Suggestion Which Millions

"If you ride with your head down—that is to say, bent slightly, so that the wind does not beat right on to your face—you can breathe easily, but if you hold your mouth wide open and let the air beat right in your face then you will have great difficulty in breathing, and if the race is a long one you will become exhausted by the end of the ride." So said a well known jockey when questioned on the subject of what his sensations were when riding in a race.

"A mile race on a good horse is run in about 1 minute and 40 seconds. A mile in 1 minute and 40 seconds is at the rate of 36 miles an hour, so, you see, a race horse travels at train speed.

"If you want to know how it feels to go through the air at race horse speed, just hang your head out of a railway carriage window, turning your face toward the way the train is traveling. At the same time imagine that you are sitting in a saddle and have to hold on to your horse and guide him on to victory if possible, keeping him from being run down or interfered with.

"It is no easy task to ride a horse in a race. The jockey must have all his wits about him. He does not have much time to think how he feels. When riding in a neck and neck race down the home stretch. I forget everything except that I must strain every nerve to pass the other horses. No thought is then given to the plaudits from the grand stand."

How He Knew It.

We had outspanned the wagons on the veldt between Prieska and Kenhardt. The donkeys had been driven to the veldt, and we, my friend and myself, were talking in the "taal" to a Dutchman named Gert Maans about the wonders of the universe.

We mentioned that the world was round. Maans said that he knew it.

This answer was unusual for a Boer, so we asked him how he knew. He replied:

"I started to ride to Poortje one dark night through the veldt, and I rode hard all the night, and next morning I found myself at the place I started from, so I know the world is round because I rode round it."—London Standard.

Will Boom His Business

S. Laval, a merchant of Dallas, Tex. writes: "I thought I would have to give up business, after two years of suffering from general debility brought on by overwork and long hours, but four bottles of Electric Bitters gave me a new life. I can now eat anything, sleep well and feel like working all the time. It's the best medicine on earth." It's a wonderful tonic and health builder for tired, weak sickly and run-down people. Try it. Satisfaction guaranteed. Only 50c at Clanton drug store.

PROGRAM TEACHERS' INSTITUTE

to be held at Verbena Feb. 22nd, and 23d.

FRIDAY, 10 a.m. Devotional Exercises.

10:30 a.m. Welcome Address, F. H. Baldwin. Response, J. W. Moore.

11 a.m. Attention, J. M. Collier, L. E. Byrum.

11:20, Current History, Judson Strock, H. L. Davis.

1:30 p.m. The Teacher and Sickness, W. M. Riddle, Albert Grant.

2. Incentives to study, Thos. Williams, Wm. Luther.

2:30. Best method of Reading, Prof. Williams, H. A. Akins.

3:30 Why we teach Geography, Miss Ida Horn, Miss Mary Moody.

7:40. Lecture, Dr. E. R. Eldridge of Lafayette.

SATURDAY, 9:30 a.m. Requisites to successful teaching, G. L. Speer, Mrs. A. G. Dunlap.

10 Why should the State Educate her children and to what extent? R. A. Baseo, J. W. Dennis.

10:30. Graded Studies for Common Schools, R. E. R. Hicks, A. J. Neugent, Prof. Ryland.

11. Lecture, S. J. Cole of Birmingham.

1:30 p.m. Opening the Query box. Members of the Institute or others interested are at liberty to present any question which they would like to hear discussed.

We would like to see every teacher in the county at this Institute. We expect some able speakers, among them Dr. E. R. Eldridge, of Lafayette, State Supt. John W. Abercrombie and others.

Committee—J. M. Collier, G. L. Speer, A. J. Neugent, Thos. Williams, E. C. Jones, Judson Strock.
J. W. Moore, County Supt.

Working Overtime.

Eight hour laws are ignored by those tireless, little workers—Dr. King's New Life Pills. Millions are always at work, night and day, curing Indigestion, Biliousness, Constipation, Sick Headache and all Stomach, Liver and Bowel troubles. Easy, pleasant, safe, sure. Only 25c at Clanton drug store.

Greatest In The World

Within five years Cascare's have reached the largest sale of any liver or bowel medicine in the world, simply because they cure. They have great merit and we consider the sale of over six million boxes a year our best testimonial. No matter what ails you, start using Cascarets to-day and if you are not benefitted and in every way satisfied after you have given them a fair trial you can have your money back for the asking. There is no waste. They are put up in tablet form and every tablet is stamped "C C C." They don't cost much—10c, 25c and 50c a box and a 50c box will furnish a whole month's treatment for the worst case. Cascarets are the best and cheapest liver and bowel regulator in the world.

Consumption

is destruction of lung by a growing germ, precisely as moldy cheese is destruction of cheese by a growing germ.

If you kill the germ, you stop the consumption. You can or can't, according to when you begin.

Take Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil: take a little at first.

The genuine has this picture on it, take no other.

It acts as a food; it is the easiest food. Seems not to be food; makes you hungry; eating is comfortable. You grow stronger. Take more; not too much; enough is as much as you like and agrees with you. Satisfy hunger with usual food; whatever you like and agrees with you.

When you are strong again, have recovered your strength—the germs are dead; you have killed them.

If you have not tried it, send for free sample, its agreeable taste will surprise you.

SCOTT & BOWNE,
Chemists,
409 Pearl St., New York.
50c. and $1.00; all druggists.

ATLANTA CONSTITUTION

The Atlanta Constitution wants good agents everywhere. Men who will get out and canvass and hustle for new business. Many who have to go over their own and adjoining counties on business can take the Constitution along as the best side line. Country doctors, tax collectors, rural route mail carriers, nursery men, farmers and good workmen, could all realize among these prizes and make their commission besides. A fair salary proposition for any man.

The Weekly Constitution makes special feature of its agricultural page, which is presided over by Colonel R. J. Redding, director of the Georgia experiment farm, and a man who is recognized as an expert on all agricultural topics. He gives a full page every week on agricultural matters. A page is devoted to the women and a page to children, these two departments being presided over by Mrs. William King.

The Constitution has just completed the 33st year of its existence, Clark Howell being the editor and Colonel W. A. Hemphill its business manager. Its name is a household word in every Southern State, from Virginia to Texas. It has always been in especially close touch with the agricultural masses of the South, and having reached a circulation which carries it into 150,000 homes it has won a unique distinction which ranks it among the greatest of American weekly newspapers.

The Constitution will send a sample copy of its great Weekly free to any one sending his own name and the name of six neighbors, on a postal card.

Every man should take his county newspaper before anything else, and next to this he should take a good general newspaper, such as The Constitution. His county paper gives him the local home news, which is not supplied by a newspaper furnishing the general news from all parts of the country and from all over the world. Before a man seeks information from the outside, he should first feel sure that he is being kept posted on what is going on at home. When, however, the opportunity is offered to get the best weekly newspaper in this country with your home paper, the inducement is such as to elicit prompt response from our readers.

We will be glad to receive clubbing subscription with this paper and The Constitution, and if there are any who are now subscribers to this paper, who wish to take the Constitution also, we will be glad to receive subscriptions to the latter and forward them, having authority from that paper that to do so. The Constitution should be in every southern home!

The claim of other cough medicines to be as good as Chamberlain's are effectually set at rest in the following testimonial of Mr. C. D. Glass, an employe of Bartlett & Dennis Co., Gardiner, Me. He says: "I had kept adding to a cold and cough in the winter of 1897, trying every cough medicine I heard of without permanent help, until one day I was in the drug store of Mr Honiekan and he advised me to try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and offered to pay back my money if I was not cured. My lungs and bronchial tubes were very sore at this time, but I was completely cured by this remedy, and I have since always turned to it when I got a cold, and soon find relief. I also recommend it to my friends and am glad to say it is the best of all cough medicines." For sale by Clanton Drug Co., and D. I. Deramus, Verbena.

Administrator's Notice.

The State of Alabama, Chilton County. } Probate Court, etc. The 11th day of February, 1901. This day came O. S. Welch, the administrator of the Estate of I. A. Welch, deceased, and filed his statements, accounts, vouchers and evidence for an annual statement of his administration of said estate according to law.

It is therefore ordered by the Court that the 4th day of March, 1901, be and it is hereby appointed a day on which to make such settlement, at which time all persons interested can appear and contest the said settlement if they think proper.

S. M. ADAMS, Judge of Probate.

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 31711.
Department of the Interior,
Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.
January 18th, 1901.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Clerk of the Circuit Court, at Clanton, Ala., on March 2nd, 1901, viz: John W. Oaks, Homestead entry, No. 30673, for the Nw ¼ of Section 32, Township 22 north of Range 16 east.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz.: J. W. Jones, W. C. B. Wyatt, T. J. Wyatt, W. L. Bates, all of Clanton, Ala.

ROBERT BARBER, Register.

This space be longs to
W. H. Sartor
watch it

C. R. MULLINS

AGENT FOR THE LIVERPOOL & LONDON & GLOBE FIRE INSURANCE OF ENGLAND, THE LONDON & LANCASHIRE FIRE INSURANCE CO. OF NEW YORK, formerly represented by W. L. Sampey.
THE ETNA ACCIDENT INSURANCE CO. OF HARTFORD, CONN.
THE OLD MUTUAL BENEFIT LIFE INSURANCE CO. OF NEWARK, N. J.
AND THE SINGER MANUFACTURING CO., the largest Sewing Machine company in the world.

We know you are interested in the problem of getting full value for the money you spend no matter what the outlay is for. I will promise to advise you along all lines, but when it comes to buying a Sewing Machine for yourself and family I am in a position to give some valuable suggestions. For over fifty years the Company have done nothing but study the needs and requirements of the people in the matter of Sewing Machines, and our large business is proof that we are making and furnishing what they want. The styles are always latest, unsurpassed in lasting qualities and best of all the prices are reasonable, and the terms within the reach of all. We are placing our machines in the leading families all over the land. If you want the best looking, the lightest running and the best equipped attachments ever bought, call for the High Arm Singer. You will find a complete stock of these machines at the Singer Office, Clanton.

Machines from $5.00 to $35.00 for cash or on time. Needles, Cams, Shuttles and Attachments, and the best and Sewing Machine Oil manufactured, every bottle bearing the Singer trade mark. 10, 15 and 20 cent bottles.

My regular office days are Saturdays and Mondays. For other particulars call on or address

C. R. MULLINS,
SINGER OFFICE CLANTON.

A WHOLESALE HOUSE FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE CONSUMER

We save you the Retailer's profit. We sell direct to the People at the same price that your Retailer pays for his goods. We buy direct from the Manufacturer and pay cash for our goods. You can buy one bottle from us at the same price your Retailer pays per dozen. $1 preparations, 50 to 75c. 50c preparations, 25 to 40c. 25c preparations, 10 to 20c. 15c preparations, 7 to 12c. 10c preparations, 6 to 8c.

OUR WHISKEY DEPARTMENT

Is the best in the State. All whiskey sold 25 per cent less than you can buy from any other firm. Try a quart of our J. M. STIN'S 5 YEAR OLD VIRGINIA RYE at 75c. If you are not satisfied that it is equal to any brand you buy elsewhere for $1, we will refund your money. Send us your orders. We are your friends and guarantee everything we sell.

COLLIER DRUG CO. 1926 First Avenue BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

NEW AND BIGGER STOCK!

To meet the increasing demands of our business we are now laying in a NEW and full line of

CLOTHING, HATS, SHOES, ETC.

all in the Latest styles and Newest Fashions.

Our GROCERIES and GENERAL MERCHANDISE are of the finest grade and always fresh.

OUR PRICES ARE BASED ON THE SMALLEST MARGIN OF PROFIT.

WE SHALL BE PLEASED TO SERVE YOU

KEMP & GILES, Clanton, Ala.

$10,000 TO BE GIVEN AWAY

WOULD YOU LIKE TO TRY FOR IT

so, write THE WEEKLY ADVERTISER, Montgomery, Ala., and they will send you the list of prizes, and the conditions upon which you may get one of their great prizes to be given away during next May.

TOWN ITEMS

[illegible]

CLANTON COTTON MARKET

Price to-day 9 cents.

[illegible]

Bales received to date	1900
Pinckard & Co.	2288
Mullins	1917
Wilson	353
Bowen	364
Total	4922

Mrs. H. [illegible] who has been in Montgomery for some weeks in attendance upon her husband, who underwent a surgical operation, returned to her home in this place last week. We are glad to see her improved in health.

Mrs. E. J. Phillips and Miss Lizzie Phillips are visiting friends in Clanton.

Mrs. E. M. Pinckard is visiting her parents at Tallassee.

Mrs. Lupton Mullins is visiting her sister, Mrs. [illegible], in Montgomery this week.

Mr. J. M. Potts, wife and child are visiting Florida.

Mrs. Cook, of Mississippi, is visiting her sister, Mrs. W. F. M[illegible].

Mr. Charley Duke, of Auburn, was in town to-day on his way to Montgomery.

Mr. Frank Crighton has returned from a visit to Chicago.

Prof. W. M. Riddle, of Thorsby, was in town last Saturday.

YOU KNOW WHAT YOU ARE TAKING

When you take Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic because the formula is plainly printed on every bottle, showing that it is simply Iron and Quinine in a tasteless form. No Cure, No Pay. 50c.

An alarm of fire was raised Wednesday afternoon, and flames were soon breaking through the roof of the storehouse occupied by Mr. Alfred Popwell. A few bucketfuls of water was sufficient to put it out. The fire arose from a defective flue.

The infant of Mr. W. J. Watson was badly burned last Friday while its mother was away. It was left in the care of a three year old child. We hope the infant will recover soon.

FOR SALE.

A few hundred bushels of Russell's Improved prolific, BIG BOLL COTTON SEED. It is recommended for this Cotton that it is the most Prolific variety on earth; that it is never troubled with boll weevil, rust or the insect known as sharp shooters. Stands extreme wet and dry weather. Less than half the labor required for picking.

MARKS & GAYLE,
Montgomery, Ala.

The Clanton Drug Co., will refund your money if you are not satisfied after using Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. They cure disorders of the stomach, biliousness, constipation and headache. Price 25 cents. Samples free.

Marriage licenses have been issued this week by the Probate Judge to the following persons.

Mr. C. F. Chancellor and Miss Nellie Walker; Mr. T. J. Nix and Miss Laurina Minor; Mr. V. P. Ward and Miss Dora Beane.

Another prisoner made his escape from the county jail last Monday. Jeff Davis, colored, who was in charge of murder, managed to get out of jail, and up to the present Sheriff Killgore has not recaptured him.

Jemison.

Will Bristow, a youth about six or seven years old, while playing about a freight train at Jemison last Saturday night, fell beneath the wheels and was terribly crushed. He died about two hours afterwards. We deeply sympathise with the bereaved mother and friends.

THE VITAE ORE PREPARATIONS:
For sale by
Campbelle Drug Co., Clanton,
A. Horn, Thorsby.
N. A. LOGAN,
General Agent for Chilton and Shelby counties, Thorsby, Ala.

O. K. Lunch Counter
MEALS AND LUNCHES SERVED AT ALL HOURS AT POPULAR PRICES
Oysters during the Season
Highest market price for Eggs and Eggs.
LUNCHES PUT UP FOR TRAVELERS
O.K. LUNCH COUNTER
NEAR THE RAILROAD, CLANTON.
W. H. STACY, Proprietor.

pace be gs to

Sartor

ch it

ULLINS

LONDON & GLOBE FIRE INS
NION, LANCASHIRE FIRE
ORK, formerly represented by ompany
E CO. OF HARTFORD, CON
SSURANCE CO. OF NEWARK, URIES CO. the largest New to see me.

the problem of getting full that the valley is for. I will but when it comes to buyin ly I am in a position to or fifty years the Company
the requirements of the people our large business is proof they want. The styles are quantities and, best of all, w this the reason of all. We hamities all over the land of running out of the best y High and Singer. You nce at the Singer Office, C for cash or on time. Need ts, and the best oil. Buy very bottle bearing this ne.
days and Mondays. Factory

LLINS,
SINGER OFFICE CLANTON.

FOR THE BENEFIT

SUMER

profit. We sell direct to the r Retailer pays for his goods cturer and pay cash for our rom us at the same price your parations, 50 to 75c. 50c pre tions, 10 to 25c. 15c prepa
s, 6 to 8c.

DEPARTMENT

key sold 25 per cent less than
Try a quart of our J. M.
75c. If you are not satisfied ny elsewhere for $1, we will orders. We are your friend

O. 1926 First Avenue
BIRMINGHAM, A

R STOCK!

the increasing demands of
are now laying in a NEW

HING, HATS
OES, ETC.
est styles and Newest Fashi
ERIES and GENERAL M are of the finest grade
nd always fresh.
THE SMALLEST MARG
FIT.
D TO SERVE YOU
S, Clanton, Ala.

GIVEN AWAY
O TRY FOR IT
VERTISER, Montgomery, A st of prizes, and the condi great prizes to be given

TOWN ITEMS

Commissioners' Court meets second Monday in February, 3rd Monday in April, 3rd Monday in June, second Monday in July, second Monday in August and first Monday in November.

CLANTON COTTON MART

Price to-day 9 cents.

Same date last year 8¾ cents.

BALE RECEIVED TO DATE:	1900	1899
Pickard & Co.	2288	2884
Marbut	1907	1256
Wilson	359	321
Thomas	364	506
	4918	5667

Mrs. [illegible] has been spending a few weeks in Clanton, has returned home in Auburn.

Mr. [illegible] Phillips, of Bessemer, is visiting friends in Clanton.

Miss M. Pickard is visiting relatives in Tuskegee.

Mrs. Eppie Mullins is visiting in Birmingham this week.

Mr. J. M. Potts, wife and Miss [illegible] are visiting Florida.

Mr. [illegible], of Mississippi, is visiting his father, Mrs. W. I. Mul-

Dr. Charley Duke, of Anniston, was in town to-day on his way to [illegible]

Mr. Frank Crighton has returned from a visit to Chicago.

Prof. W. M. Riddle, of Thorsby, was in town last Saturday.

YOU KNOW WHAT YOU ARE TAKING when you take Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic because the formula is plainly printed on every bottle showing that it is simply Iron and Quinine in a tasteless form. No Cure, No Pay. 50c.

An alarm of fire was raised Wednesday afternoon, and flames were soon breaking through the roof of the storehouse occupied by Mr. Alfred Popwell. A few bucketfuls of water was sufficient to put it out. The fire arose from a defective flue.

The infant of Mr. W. J. Watson was badly burned last Friday while its mother was away. It was left in the care of a three year old child. We hope the infant will recover soon.

FOR SALE.

A few hundred bushels of Russell's Improved prolific, BIG BOLL COTTON SEED. It is recommended for this Section that it is the most prolific variety on earth; it has never troubled with boll worm, rust or the insect known as the top shooters. Stands extremes of wet and dry weather. Lessens by half the labor required for picking.

MARKS & GAYLE,
Montgomery, Ala.

The Clanton Drug Co., will refund your money if you are not satisfied after using Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. They cure disorders of the stomach, biliousness, constipation and headache. Price 25 cents. Samples free.

Marriage licenses have been issued this week by the Probate Judge to the following persons.

Mr. C. F. Chancellor and Miss Lizzie Walker; Mr. T. J. Nix and Miss Laurina Minor; Mr. V. P. Reid and Miss Dora Beane.

Another prisoner made his escape from the county jail last Monday. Joe Davis, colored, who was in a charge of murder, managed to get out of jail and up to the house of Sheriff Kilgore. He has not returned home.

Jemison.

Willie Bristow, a youth about sixteen years old, while playing about the night train at Jemison last Saturday night, fell beneath the wheels and was terribly crushed. He died about two hours afterwards. We deeply sympathize with the bereaved mother and friends.

THE ITTAE ORE
PREPARATIONS:
On sale by
Campbelle Drug Co., Clanton,
Horn, Thorsby.
N. A. LOGAN,
General Agent for Chilton and Shelby counties, Thorsby, Ala.

O. K. Lunch Counter
LS AND LUNCHES SERVED AT ALL HOURS AT POPULAR PRICES and Oysters during the Season pay highest market price for kens and Eggs.
NCHES PUT UP FOR TRAVELERS
E O. K. LUNCH COUNTER
EXT THE RAILROAD, CLANTON.
W. H. STACY, Proprietor.

FALL GOODS

Now on sale and daily arriving a large and varied stock of goods. Prices as low as can be made on reliable merchandise and we spare no efforts to please you. Give us a call and let us figure with you on anything you want to buy. Coffins kept in stock and also trimmings for home made coffins.

E. M. PINCKARD & CO

Why try to stick things with something that doesn't stick? Buy MAJOR'S CEMENT; you know it sticks. Nothing breaks away from it. Stick to MAJOR'S CEMENT. Buy once, you will buy forever. There is nothing as good; don't believe the substitutor.

MAJOR'S RUBBER and MAJOR'S LEATHER. Two separate cements. The best. Insist on having them. ESTABLISHED 1876. 15 and 25 cents per bottle at all dealers.
MAJOR CEMENT CO., NEW YORK CITY.

BACK Aches and Rheumatism relieved by Dr. Miles' Nerve Plasters.
What stops Neuralgia? Dr. Miles' Pain Pills.

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE
PATENTS
TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &c.
Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents.
Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.
A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.
MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

NEW ROYAL.
High-arm Light running. Warranted 10 years. $28 and $30.
FIVE DRAWER $32.

The New Royal is not a cheap machine, but a high-class machine made out of good material, all parts adjustable and ball bearing; has a good set of steel attachments and all of them work well.

I will exchange the New Royal for old machines and allow the full value of the old machine. Come and see me. I can sell you a machine as cheap as you can buy in Clanton.

Some secondhand machines from $4 up. Send me 25 cents in silver or stamps and an old needle for sample and I will send you 1 dozen needles to fit your machine.

REPAIR WORK GUARANTEED.
L. D. POPWELL,
CLANTON.

"KRUMP'S KORNER."

The owner of this Korner has again returned to it, after wandering many days in foreign lands older, uglier and we trust a little wiser in some respects. He rejoices at his return, and would be glad to see all of the good and bad people of Chilton county. I only ask don't all of you come same day, as I have not got enough to go round for dinner. I have enough yarns however to make up shortness in grubb. Come to see me anyhow and we will talk it over, and no charge for the yarns. Please remember I keep all things the farmer needs, and I will sell him

A sewing machine, a wagon, or a buggy,
A suit, a hat, a pair shoes or a knife,
Or he can call himself very lucky,
If he will just bring his wife.

Yours for health,
T. U. CRUMPTON
MAPLESVILLE, ALA.

HELP WANTED

to reduce my big stock of goods.

I have just returned from the Northern markets, where I purchased some Extraordinary Bargains

and am now offering the good People of Chilton such values as they have never known before.

READ THESE PRICES:

Dry Goods
Calicoes ..... from 4 cts up
Sheeting ..... from 5 cts up
Percale, one yard wide 7c
Black Satteen 8½c
Bleaching ..... from 5 cts up
Cotton Checks 5c
Ducking ..... per yard 5c
Gingham, best ..... per yard 5c

Clothing
The biggest line for the least money ever known

Hats
Men's first-class Hats, $1.50 hat for $1.00
Men's ..... 75 ct hat for 50
Men's ..... 50 ct hat for 35
Men's ..... 25 ct hat for 15
Caps 10

Shoes
Ladies' Shoes, Spring heel, Tan ..$1.00
Ladies' Oil grain $1.00
Ladies' Fine Shoes, a $2.00 shoe ..$1.35

Men's Shoes ..... a $2.00 shoe for ..$1.45

Trunks, Valises, &c.

Gent's Furnishings
Shirts White Linen bosom ..... each 25c
Linen Collars, any shape ..... each 5c
Celluloid Collars ..... each 5c
Hosiery ..... from 5 cts up
Suspenders ..... from 5 cts up
Handkerchiefs ..... 3 for 5 cts and up
Neckwear, 250 styles, a 50 c Tie for 25c
Umbrellas, all value for 65c

Notions
Best Assorted Ribbons at half price
Lace, 5 c value 3c
Corsets, 50 c value 38
Corsets, 35 c value 22
Ladies' Belts ..... from 5 cts up
Scissors, a 50 c pair 20
Towels ..... from 10 cts up
Pearl Buttons ..... 1 dozen for 5c
Garterwear ..... per yard 5c

GROCERIES

Come and select what you want from this mammoth stock.

First Come, First Served!

YOURS TO PLEASE,

W. KANTER, Clanton

Wamben & Peterson
CONTRACTORS AND BUILDERS
HOUSE MOVING A SPECIALTY
—DEALER IN—
ALL BUILDING MATERIALS—SASH, DOORS, BLINDS, MANTELS, ETC.
OFFICE ON JONES ST OPPOSITE BICKS
THORSBY.

—CALL AT THE—
CASH STORE
FOR BARGAINS,
THORSBY, ALA.

OUR CASH PRICES SUBJECT TO CHANGE WITHOUT NOTICE.

15 lbs. Granulated Sugar	$1.00	2 bushel sack Meal	1.20
1 bbl Red Seal Patent Flour	4.50	1 gal water white 150 fire test oil	18
½ bbl " " " "	2.25	1 lb Ham	15
24 lb sack " " " "	60	Whole Ham, per pound	13
1 bbl Straight Family Flour	3.50	Bacon and Bulk	10-12
14 lb sk Family Flour	50	1 lb Lard	10
100 lbs Bran	1.10	50 lbs Lard	4.50

We are handling Minneapolis Flour. Soda Crackers and Sweet Crackers, Ginger Snaps, Cheese, Lemons, Irish Potatoes always in stock. Also best Dried Fruits in the market. Also handle Roller Champion and I. E. M. Flour.

Dry Goods, Clothing, Hardware and the very best Staple and Fancy Groceries.

Fresh Fish and Oysters every Saturday.
We take Eggs, Butter, Corn, Meal, Fruit and Chickens at the highest market price in exchange for goods.
Yours to please,
A. M. JOHNSON, Manager

Everyone to His Taste.

And I am pleased to say that your taste and Everyone's taste can be suited at my Store, where you will find the

choicest Line of Fancy Groceries
AND CANNED GOODS

Always Fresh and New. I have no old Stock.

Dry Goods, Hats, Shoes, Gents Furnishing Goods, Fancy line of Shirts and Underwear, Notions, Hardware and General Merchandise.

Yours to serve faithfully and well.
B H JONES CLANTON

Talks About Womankind

The Latest Evening Gloves.

The latest evening gloves are supplied with jewel fastenings and silk lacings.

Hair Ornaments Now Fashionable.

Some of the loveliest little coiffure finishes have appeared.

Many are still true to the little bows of ribbon twisted upon wire. Some are even of gold braid. Black velvet is the stand-by, however.

Butterflies are very modish and may be had in any size, color or at any price. They are best liked perhaps in spangled or frosted tulle. All-black ones, a-sprinkle with jet, are favorites; so are white ones glittering with frosty silver.

Similar butterflies perched at the base of two soaring, frosted lace wings are pretty as they are new. Indeed, the clever fair one may thing out any number of fascinating and original schemes.

Naturally, gold on white is much admired, as is gold on black.

But there are too many combinations to mention all.

The Dainty Girl.

The girl with an air of dainty freshness is sure to be admired. She may not have many changes of gowns, she may have but few hats, but if she has always the air of being just spick and span she will never lack charm.

Of course, she must be almost perfection in details. The edges of her skirts fresh, her shoes carefully polished and handkerchief, neckwear and all her modest attempts at finery must be crisply fresh. This means the strictest attention. Brushing and pressing will take time, and once one establishes a reputation for this sort of spotlessness it must be kept up, because what would not be noticed about a careless woman would seem dreadful untidiness.

She is likely to take to inelaborate clothes and simple ways of wearing her hair. Furbelows and frizzes are not easy to keep spick and span.

Queen Wilhelmina a Colonel.

Young Queen Wilhelmina's joy knew no bounds, not long ago, when the Kaiser appointed her colonel of the Fifteenth Prussian Hussars, though it is not her first command. To be honorary colonel of a regiment of soldiers is one of the great ambition of royal princesses. The lady colonels only number about sixteen, and these appointments are confined to Germany and Russia.

There are only two women in the world who enjoy the rank of admiral of the fleet. The Empress Dowager of Russia is chief of the first establishment of the Russian Navy, beside being colonel of four regiments, and the Queen of Greece gets much satisfaction and a fair amount of glory from being chief of the second establishment of the navy. Czar Alexander III. was always extremely fond of his young relative, and, knowing her passion for the sea, gave her ships instead of troops.

"Managing" Men.

"In the first place, what is the harm in asking men for things in the way they like best? They have favors to grant; naturally they grant the best ones to those who please them. 'Ask for it pretty,' is what nurses say to children, and practically what men say to us. No one likes to be approached at unreasonable times and in objectionable ways. You have admitted that yourself in telling of the girls you don't like. Sex has nothing to do with that part of it, men and women are the same in that. But men generally hold more favors in their hand than we, and that is why we must be adepts in asking for them. But there comes a time when a man wants a favor of a woman."

"He takes it without asking," retorted the girl, thinking of her brothers.

"The supreme favor of all—how does he ask for that?"

"You mean when a man asks a girl to marry him?"

"Yes. Doesn't he go about that in the most diplomatic way possible? He is months preparing the way, scattering candy, books, flowers, cotillion favors with a lavish hand. His flattery is the most delicate and lingering; he is too amiable to be disturbed; he uses every wile, both honest and evasive, to lead up to the asking. And we like it! We like it so well that we put off the asking to prevent the end of the gratifying play. When the question does finally come, we feel amiable enough to answer favorably."—Harper's Bazar.

First Woman Lawyer in France.

A law was recently passed in France admitting women to practice at the bar. The Figaro has the following comment to make on the first woman who has availed herself of the privilege:

"Miss Jeanne Chauvin—the first woman prepared to benefit from the law which has just been promulgated. Very brunette, of medium height, with quick eyes sheltered behind a binocle—this description is the young doctress who will appear at the bar. She is, besides, not an unknown personage in the judiciary world, where more than one confrere could envy her her titles. Bachelor of sciences, licentiate of letters and philosophy, doctress of law, Miss Jeanne Chauvin is the author of numerous treatise and lectures on the law placed within the reach of women.

"In 1895 Mr. Ratier, superintendent of 'secondary teaching,' confided to her the teaching of the first notions of law in the lycees for young girls of Paris. Her lectures, that one would have imagined dry for listeners whose ages were varying from sixteen to eighteen years, had on the contrary a very great success.

"At that early date when Miss Chauvin will preside, the shadows of the Tourangeaux, who distinguished themselves by their eloquence, will come certainly to hear their young compatriot. It is in Touraine, in fact, that the first French 'lawyeress' saw the light toward the year 18——, let us not be too exact, lest we prejudice the jury."—Paris Correspondence of New York Post.

Women and Their Ways

The former Empress Eugenie is now almost too infirm to go about at all.

Marie Corelli has protested against the proposed erection of a bust of Helen Faucit opposite the bust of Shakespeare in the chancel of the Stratford-on-Avon church.

Mrs. L. M. N. Stevens, the re-elected President of the W. C. T. U., is a native of Denver, Col. She met Miss Willard at Old Orchard in 1875, and from the friendship which then began spring her interest in temperance work.

The Cross of the Legion of Honor was recently bestowed on Mme. Clemence Royer, a French scientist. Mme. Royer is a Breton, and was born in Nantes seventy years ago. She studied for a time in England and afterward founded a school for girls at Lausanne.

The ladies of Wurtemberg recently hit upon a novel plan of raising funds to be used for the sick and poor. They discovered a hairdresser in Stuttgart who made invisible hair nets and struck a bargain with him whereby the hair combings of a band of women were to be exchanged for coin.

A foreign manufacturer has invented a new hat for bad weather. It is made of spun glass, like the famous dress of the Infanta Eulalia. Of course, there can be no danger in wetting a creation made of this material. It has besides the advantages of being light weight and of shedding dirt and dust.

Miss Fannie Hook is a leading factor in the management of the street railway system of Los Angeles, Cal. Not only does she own a large block of the stock of the company, but she is a power in the councils of the Board of Directors. Her wishes always receive respectful attention, and her plans are generally adopted.

Mattie Pegues, of Siloam Springs, Ark., is said to be the youngest temperance orator in the United States. She is a girl of fifteen years, and has taken the highest prize which the Woman's Christian Temperance Union has to bestow for oratory and elocution in temperance speaking—the organization's diamond medal. This she won recently at Prescott, Ariz.

Fads and Fancies

Bolts of baby ribbon for lingerie may be had, scented with one's favorite perfume.

There are new rainy-day suits, including skirt, blouse of jacket, and toque, which render an umbrella superfluous.

Light and airy are the new fans of crepe paper. They come in various colors, and are cut in feather like strips, curling at the edges. They are sure to be popular next summer.

One of the newest substitutes for a belt buckle is a long wide clasp pin, studded with rhinestones, and bearing at one end some colored stone, such as topaz, amethyst or turquoise, almost the size of a ten-cent piece.

The fleur de lis is a favorite form of embroidery just now. It appears on hosiery, handkerchief borders, ribbons and silk waists. A very pretty white silk waist has groups of fine tucks down the front, with fleur de lis embroidered between in yellow silk.

It is predicted that red will grow more popular in millinery as the season advances. The favored shade is a rich garnet with a slight cardinal tinge to give it life. This color will be seen in all shapes, which are mainly trimmed in roses and foliage. Frequently the garnitures will comprise nothing but velvet leaves in green or varied tints.

Silver cloth is deemed more elaborate than cloth of gold. A very beautiful toilet of silver tissue has a skirt covered with panels of black lace. There are six of these parcels down the front of the skirt, slightly separated from one another. In the back the passementerie makes a solid drapery over the silver cloth. The bodice is to match with the belt and chemisette of pink mousseline de sole.

Black and white effects gain steadily in favor. A beautiful model of black perforated velvet is built over a foundation of white mousseline de sole finely pleated. The large perforated pattern is filled in with black net embroidered with jet, through which may be seen the white foundation. The velvet skirt is separate from the foundation and the same idea is carried out on the bodice, which has a yoke of jet embroidered black lace over white mousseline de sole.

Household Hints:

Silver on the Sideboard.

Authoritative sources decree that the correct plan, and the one usually followed by fashionable people, is to have all silver on the dining-room sideboard. That is, the silver tea service, large pieces of silver, silver dishes, etc., but never the smaller spoons in cups, or holders. People who have many pieces of old or rare glass sometimes have them on the sideboard, but in such case the silver is disposed somewhere else.

The Shelf of Books.

The "everything-for-use and just-at-hand idea" that is a fad in the house-furnishing world these days, rather frowns on books kept behind glass doors and much prefer open bookshelves. The dust gets into the books so much on these open shelves, however, that narrow ornamental strips of dark green or red leather, tacked to the edge of the shelf, and falling just over the tops of the books on the shelf below, are being more and more used.

Success in Cake Making.

Upon the condition of the oven as much as upon any other one factor depends success in cake making. An old rule states that the oven in which a hand can be held while the clock is ticking twenty times is at just the right temperature for butter mixtures. Another one says that the oven can wait for the cake, but never the cake for the oven.

Tins are better greased with fat than with butter. The latter is inclined to stick and burn.

Nothing should be put into an oven while a cake is baking, and the cake should not be moved until it is thoroughly set.

The oven door should be closed gently while the cake is baking.

To tell when a cake is done, test it with a broom straw; if no dough adheres it is ready to take from the oven. Another infallible test is listening. If the ticking sound is very faint or inaudible it is done.

Where Care is Required.

Few housekeepers realize the amount of care that should be bestowed upon the ice box, the coffee pot and the tea kettle. An ice box should be thoroughly cleansed at least once during the week, preferably twice, the waste pipe being thoroughly scalded each time. Green vegetables, melons, fruit and fish should never be placed in the same compartment with butter. Their flavor will not only affect the butter, but will give an odor to the box and also spoil the milk. In cleansing the refrigerator the shelves should be removed and washed in strong soda water, the box thoroughly dried before the doors are closed. The proper care of the coffee pot has much to do with the success of the coffee. The outside as well as the inside of the coffee pot should be thoroughly polished. After washing the pot it is well to put cold water in it and heat slowly, then empty it and dry thoroughly before putting away. The inside of the tea kettle is another vessel that requires especial attention. It should be kept free from sediment.

Household Recipes

Grape Souffle—Add four level tablespoonfuls of corn starch wet in a little cold water to one quart of boiling milk, one-half teaspoonful of salt; cool, then fold in stiffly beaten whites of four eggs and one cupful of confectioner's sugar; have pulped grapes ready, and add to souffle when pouring in a mold lined with lady fingers; set on ice; unmold, garnish with grapes and serve with caramel sauce. Follow the directions carefully to insure the right consistency.

Italian Cheese—Wash a pound of liver, scald and wipe dry. Chop with half a pound of veal and half a pound of ham. Season with a quarter of a teaspoonful each of salt, sage, parsley, pepper and one tablespoonful of minced onion, mix, press in a greased mold, cover and steam three or four hours. Remove the lid, drain off the liquor, put it in a small pan and dissolve one tablespoonful of gelatin in it; pour over the meat in the mold and set in a cold place. When molded turn out and slice thin. Garnish with balls of boiled rice, with a little jelly on each.

Pineapple Sweet Pickles—Pineapple sweet pickle is very nice. It requires two and a half pounds of sugar, a pint of vinegar and half a cupful of whole spice to every four pounds of shredded fruit. The spice should be stick cinnamon, cassia buds, allspice and cloves, tied in a bag. Boil all together and skim before adding the fruit. Cook until tender, skim out and put into stone jars, pouring over the syrup after it has cooked an additional five minutes. The next morning drain off the syrup and cook another five minutes and pour back boiling hot. Repeat this three mornings and place in air-tight jars.

Secret Drawers.

How One of Them Was Opened Only After Using the X-Ray.

"What do you think of this for a curiosity in the line of doctors' bills?" asked a Royal street dealer in antiques yesterday of a New Orleans Times-Democrat man, producing a slip of paper from his pocket book. It bore the heading of a prominent New Orleans surgeon and read as follows:

To —— ——, Dr.

To professional services rendered to one mahogany cabinet (diagnosis) $10

Re'ed p'm't. J. SMITH, Collector.

"Here is the cabinet he refers to," continued the dealer, pointing out a highly ornate piece of furniture in the rococo style. "You will observe, if you look closely, that the slab which forms the bottom of the upper compartments is inordinately thick; in fact, it is fully three inches through. The front side, as you see, is covered with intricate relief carving, and that disguises its heaviness to some extent, but there is absolutely no apparent reason why such a massive piece of wood should be employed merely as a partition between two sections, and I came to the conclusion immediately that it contained a secret drawer. The lady from whom I bought it assured me positively that she had no knowledge of anything of the kind, but I felt certain I was correct and set to work to locate the controlling mechanism. That was about six months ago, and I soon saw that I had no easy job on my hands. I knew that what I wanted must be hidden somewhere in the bas-reliefs on the front panel, but the carving is so complicated that it was like looking for a needle in a haystack. Time and again I searched for pinholes, slides, springs and all the other contrivances usually employed in such work, and at last I gave it up in despair.

"A week or so ago, however, it suddenly occurred to me that the lock might be located by the X-ray. There was certainly some metal about it that would betral its presence, I argued, and I lost no time consulting the gentleman whose bill you have just seen. He was greatly interested, and last Sunday he brought down his apparatus and made the experiment. He fastened a photographic plate directly under the panel, laid the electric bulb on the bottom of the compartment above and gave it a twenty minute exposure. The picture that came out was very curious. Of course the rays went through the mahogany like glass, and all we could see of the panel was a faint shadow, but about two and a half inches from the left-hand side there were a lot of small black marks like a character in Chinese writing. They were made, as it turned out, by the wards of the lock, and as they showed me exactly where to look for the secret I found it in less than ten minutes. See here." The dealer stepped over to the cabinet, and, laying hold of a small ornamental projection, unscrewed it like a nut on a bolt, revealing a minute hole in the wood. He thrust in an ordinary pin, there was a sharp click and out sprung a narrow draw, the front cleverly masked by the carving.

"This discovery increases the value of the cabinet at least $25," he remarked, "so I consider the doctor's bill money well invested."

The Ladies' Cabin.

An obvious misnomer, the above sign is conspicuously posted on the cabin which in most of our ferries is supposed to be set apart for women. In the rush hours of morning and evening, women, being the weaker, are elbowed aside and pushed back by men of all ages and degrees of prosperity, who make a determined onset worthy of the football field, that they may seize and keep the seats. They have a cabin of their own, into which no woman steps. Neither the lady clad in furs and silks, nor the laundress carrying home her laden basket, nor the girl going to or from her day's work ever so much as wishes to use the men's cabin, it being as privileged to the masculine element as the smoking car. It would seem that while any women stood, men should refrain from seating themselves in the ladies' cabin. The contrary is the rule.—Collier's Weekly.

Drinking With Meals.

Nature does not intend that a very large quantity of liquid shall be used with meals, and she has provided an abundant flow of secretions to uphold the digestive process. Liquid hinders the work of digestion rather than aids it, as it dilutes these fluids and has a tendency to bring the food into the stomach without being properly masticated and mixed with the saliva. Not over one glass of liquid should be taken as a general rule, and there are a great many cases in which absorption in the stomach is very slow, where it is best not to take any liquid at all. These are the cases where there is much heaviness about the stomach after meals, and oftentimes liquid can be felt in the stomach by making a sudden pressure upon the organ.—United States Health Reports.

Russians Learning English.

"The edict of the Czar called especial attention to the growing importance of the United States as a world power, and to the marvellous commercial activity of the American people. At the time every man holding a commission in any branch of the imperial service is a student of the English language and American institutions, so that, ere many months, the American tourist, traveling in Russia, can hear his native tongue at any and every railway station or postoffice."—Captain of the Russian Cruiser Varing, in the Philadelphia Record.

THE NERVES OF WOMEN

"I am so nervous and wretched." "I feel as if I should fly." How familiar these expressions are! Little things annoy you and make you irritable. You can't sleep, you are unfit for ordinary duties, and are subject to dizziness.

That bearing-down sensation helps to make you feel miserable.

You have backache and pains low down in the side, pain in top of head, later on at the base of the brain.

Such a condition points unerringly to serious uterine trouble.

If you had written to Mrs. Pinkham when you first experienced impaired vitality, you would have been spared these hours of awful suffering.

Happiness will be gone out of your life forever, my sister, unless you act promptly. Procure Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once. It is absolutely sure to help you. Then write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., if there is anything about your case you do not understand.

You need not be afraid to tell her the things you could not explain to the doctor—your letter is seen only by women and is absolutely confidential. Mrs. Pinkham's vast experience with such troubles enables her to tell you just what is best for you, and she will charge you nothing for her advice.

Mrs. Valentine Tells of Happy Results Accomplished by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—It is with pleasure that I add my testimony to your list, hoping it may induce others to avail themselves of the benefit of your valuable remedy. Before taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I felt very bad, was terribly nervous and tired, had sick headaches, no appetite, gnawing pain in stomach, pain in my back and right side, and so weak I could scarcely stand. I was not able to do anything. Had sharp pains all through my body. Before I had taken half a bottle of your medicine, I found myself improving. I continued its use until I had taken four bottles, and felt so well that I did not need to take any more. I am like a new person, and your medicine shall always have my praise."—MRS. W. P. VALENTINE, 566 Ferry Avenue, Camden, N. J.

MRS. W. P. VALENTINE

$5000 REWARD Owing to the fact that some skeptical people have from time to time questioned the genuineness of the testimonials letters we are constantly publishing, we have deposited with the National City Bank, of Lynn, Mass. $5,000 which will be paid to any person who can show that the above testimonial is not genuine, or was published before obtaining the writer's special permission.—LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO.

Best For the Bowels.

No matter what ails you, headache to a cancer, you will never get well until your bowels are put right. CASCARETS help nature, cure you without a gripe or pain, produce easy natural movements, cost you just 10 cents to start getting your health back. CASCARETS Candy Cathartic, the genuine, put up in metal boxes, every tablet has C. C. C. stamped on it. Beware of imitations.

The steel production of the most important countries is estimated by German authorities for the year 1899 at 26,841,755 tons against 23,866,308 tons in 1898, an increase of 2,975,447 tons.

Wanted—At Once!

Traveling salesmen with or without experience $60 00 and expenses. For particulars write Pocahontas Tobacco Works, Bedford City, Va.

Ernest Brenner, the new president of Switzerland, is only 44 years old, but he is one of the ablest international lawyers in Europe. He is a native of the Canton of Basle.

It requires no experience to dye with PUTNAM FADELESS DYES. Simply boiling your goods in the dye is all that's necessary. Sold by all druggists.

Nice, for two hundred years, has been famous for its violet extracts and perfumes made from mignonette.

France consumes more wine than Germany, the United States and England put together.

Piso's Cure cannot be too highly spoken of as a cough cure.—J. W. O'BRIEN, 322 Third Ave., N., Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 6, 1900.

Chess is taugh in all the Australian schools. It is thought to be a useful study in disciplining the youthful mind.

Men agree on one thing in this world of woe: they dislike to see a hen-pecked husband.

To Cure a Cold in One Day

Take LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE TABLETS. All druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c.

Fire and sword are but slow engines of destruction in comparison with the babbler. —Steele.

The Queen of Holland has an enormous fortune, only a part of which belongs to the crown.

Indigestion is a bad companion. Get rid of it by chewing a bar of Adams' Pepsin Tutti Frutti after each meal.

The Best Prescription for Chills and Fever is a bottle of GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC. It is simply iron and quinine in a tasteless form. No cure—no pay. Price 50c.

In American the Salvation Army has 786 corps and 2,533 officers.

LIBBY'S Premier Soup

TEN CENTS

Libby's soups are as good as soup can be. Some cooks may know how to make soups as good. None can make them better—none cheaply. Six plates of delicious soup for 10 cents—and think of the bother saved!

Oxtail, Mulligatawny, Chicken, Mock Turtle, Tomato, Vegetable, and Chicken Gumbo.

At your grocers, in cans ready for instant serving—just heat them.

LIBBY, McNEILL & LIBBY Chicago

Write for our booklet, "How to Make Good Things to Eat."

Two hundred bushels of potatoes remove eighty pounds of "actual" Potash from the soil. Unless this quantity is returned to the soil the following crop will materially decrease.

We have books which discuss composition, use and value of fertilizers for various crops. They are sent free.

GERMAN KALI WORKS, 93 Nassau St., New York.

Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup Relief of all throat and lung troubles. Prepared by a Doctor of Medicine. Quick cure. Refuse substitutes. Get Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

If afflicted with sore eyes, use | Thompson's Eye

OF WOMEN

...d." "I feel as if I should ...ssions are! Little things ... You can't sleep, you are ...ubject to dizziness.

...helps to make you feel

...ow down in the side, pain ...of the brain

...ringly to serious uterine

...kham when you first ex... would have been spared

...our life forever, my sister, ... Lydia E. Pinkham's ... It is absolutely sure to ...kham, at Lynn, Mass., if ...you do not understand.

...ber the things you could ...ter is seen only by women ... Pinkham's vast experi... ...er to tell you just what is ...ou nothing for her advice.

...esults Accomplished by ...table Compound.

...re that ...induce ...our val... Pink... ...ry bad ...adaches, ...n in my ...scarcely ...d sharp ...ken half ...improv... ...on four ...used to ...I your ...Mrs. W. ...n, N. J.

Owing to the fact that some skeptical people have from time to time questioned the genuineness of the testimonial letters we are constantly publishing, we have ...tional City Bank of Lynn, Mass. $5,000, ...any person who can show that the above ...ter was published before obtaining the ...ter. LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO.

LIBBY'S
Premier Soups
TEN CENTS

Libby's soups are as good as soups ...an be. Some cooks may know ...ow to make soups as good. None ...an make them better—none as ...heaply. Six plates of delicious ...oup for 10 cents—and think of ...the bother saved!

Oxtail, Mulligatawny, Chicken, Mock Turtle, Tomato, Vegetable, and Chicken Gumbo.

At your grocers, in cans ready for instant serving. Test best them.

LIBBY, McNEILL & LIBBY
Chicago

Write for our booklet, "How to Make Good Things to Eat."

Two hundred bushels of ...oes remove eighty pounds of "actual" Potash from ...soil. Unless this quan... is returned to the ... the following crop ... materially decrea...

We have books telling ...composition, use and ...lizers for various ...They are sent free.

GERMAN KALI WORKS
93 Nassau St., New York.

Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. Safest surest cure for all throat and lung troubles. People ...it. Doctors prescribe it. Quick, sure ...Refuse substitutes. Get Dr. Bull's Cough ...

...afflicted with ...ore eyes, use | Thompson's Eye ...

TREATY HELD UP BY BRITISHERS

Senate's Demands Prove a Stumbling Block.

COUNTER PROPOSALS PROBABLE

Fourthcoming Answer Will Be ...nount To a Flat Refusal.

...eceived by a representa... ...ve of the Associated Press in London ...that a reply will shortly be sent to the United States Nicaragua canal project. ...It will not comply with the senate's ...demands. Neither will it be in the ...nature of a flat refusal, though for ...purposes of immediate construction it ...will be tantamount to such a refusal.

...It will consist, mainly, in a counter ...project or proposals, likely to neces...sitate months of negotiations. The na...ture of the proposal is not yet ascer...tainable. Lord Pauncefote will prob...ably be the medium through whom ...the answer will be sent, and by whom ...the subsequent negotiations will chiefly ...be conducted.

In Washington official opinion it is likely ...that several months will elapse before ...the matter reaches a conclusion, by ...which time the Hay Pauncefote treaty ...will have lapsed, on the basis of the ...senate amendments.

The British counter proposals are ...not formulating, and it is hoped an ...entirely new agreement, satisfactory ...to both countries, will eventually be ...reached.

A REPLY IS EXPECTED.

A Washington special says: So far ...as can be ascertained the administra...tion has not had any intimation of the ...counter proposals the London dis...patch says will be made in the matter ...of the Nicaragua canal project. There ...is a feeling of regret that the British ...government has felt constrained to ...adopt such a course, as the hope was ...entertained that the amendments to ...the Hay-Pauncefote treaty might ...have been accepted in the spirit in ...which they were made.

Senator Morgan, when informed of ...the new stand taken by Great Britain, ...said he believed if Great Britain has ...decided to take the action stated it ...would create resentment in the senate ...and among the people and distrust of ...the motives of that government. He ...hoped it might result in some action ...on the pending bill at this session.

One suggestion already made as a ...possible counter proposal by Great ...Britain was that in return for conces...sions made by her she might desire an ...open port on the Alaskan coast as an ...entrance into her gold fields in the ...Klondike.

WILCOX UNDER FIRE.

Charges Against Hawaiian Up Before Elections Committee.

A Washington dispatch says: The ...charges against Delegate Wilcox, of ...Hawaii, were heard Friday by the ...house committee on elections No. 1. ...Mr. Wilcox was present, accompanied ...by Representative Robinson, of In...diana, who appeared as his friend and ...counsel. The specific answer of Mr. ...Wilcox to the charges contained in ...the letters submitted was presented. ...It states:

"That he (Wilcox) is a native Hawa...iian, that he shared with the native ...people loyalty to the former Queen ...of Hawaii during her reign, and ...was not in sympathy with the reign...ing power immediately succeeding her ...reign."

George D. Gear, the prosecutor, ...contended that the election of Wilcox ...was irregular and void, as the require...ments of the United States were not ...complied with.

On cross-examination Mr. Gear ...stated that in Wilcox's campaign ...speeches he said he would restore ...queen Liliuokalani. When the wit...ness said Wilcox had "eternally ...damned the Americans," the delegate ...stattered "shrieks" that was until re...strained by his counsel. After Mr. ...Gear had presented his evidence ...he made an extended argument ar...raigning the delegate.

CHAMPION OF FILIPINOS.

Ohio Congressman Makes Anti-Colonial Policy Speech In House.

The consideration of the diplomatic ...and consular appropriation bill in the ...house Saturday developed something ...of a sensation when Representative ...Bowman, of Ohio, sprang to the center ...of the Republican side of the chamber, ...made a speech strongly condemning a ...colonial policy and urging that con...gress should at once give assurance to ...the Filipinos that the purpose of the ...United States was to give them inde...pendence.

WOMEN TO STOP WAR.

Peace League Is Formed In Manila Advocating American Sovereignty.

Fifty American and 200 Filipino ...women organized the Woman's Peace ...League at the Libertad theater in ...Manila Saturday. The league advo...cates American sovereignty. A Fili...pino woman presided. The executive ...committee will meet at the residence ...of Mrs. Taft, wife of Judge Taft, ...president of the United States Philip...pine commission, to complete the ...organization.

COCHRAN CONVICTED.

Campbell County Whitecapper Is Sentenced to the Penitentiary For Life.

Pegram Cochran, the first of the seven men charged with the assassination of Sterling Thompson, the negro planter, near Fairburn, Ga., a few months ago, goes to the penitentiary for life.

The jury, after being out all night Friday night, returned a verdict of guilty Saturday morning, with a recommendation to mercy.

The defendant was present in the court room when the verdict was read. He was pale and nervous, but stood the strain remarkably well. His aged father and two of his brothers were present, as was his little boy.

"Lord bless you, son," said the condemned father, as he told the little fellow goodby with tears in his eyes.

Judge Candler sentenced him to lifetime imprisonment in the penitentiary and ordered that he be confined in Fulton county jail until carried to the penitentiary.

Counsel for the defendant gave notice of a motion for new trial, and the court fixed the first day of March for the hearing. There are six other defendants in Fulton county jail awaiting trial on the same charge, that of the murder of Sterling Thompson, colored.

CONGRESSMAN SHAW DEAD.

Former Head of the G. A. R. Expires Suddenly In Washington.

Representative Albert D. Shaw, of Watertown, N. Y., formerly commander in chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, was found dead Sunday morning in his room at the Riggs house in Washington. A physician summoned immediately after the discovery of the body pronounced death due to apoplexy, probably about 2 o'clock in the morning.

Colonel Shaw had returned about 1.30 o'clock from a banquet at the Ebbitt house in honor of his successor as commander in chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, General Leo Rassieur, and before he left the banquet hall responded eloquently to a toast and appeared in excellent health and spirits. The body was discovered lying face downward on the floor, where he had fallen suddenly.

Colonel Shaw was fifty-nine years of age and a veteran of the civil war.

DINNER CALLED OFF.

Sprague Made the Mistake of Inviting Colored Congressman.

A Washington dispatch says: Race prejudice has caused the recall of invitations sent out by Congressman Charles F. Sprague, of Massachusetts, to members of the house District of Columbia committee to dine with him.

By an oversight Sprague sent an invitation to George H. White, the North Carolina negro member of congress, who is a member of the committee.

Representative Otey of Virginia suspected White had been invited to the dinner and he refused to accept Sprague's hospitality. Other members sent declinations, and as it finally dawned upon Mr. Sprague that he would have to break bread with himself and the negro, White alone, he decided to call off the dinner and will get up another one to which the members of the committee will be invited as individual members of congress. In this way White will not be invited.

The incident has excited much comment in the house.

Northern as well as southern members refused to eat with the negro member.

White is probably the last of the negro members of congress. He goes out on March 4 and will be succeeded by a Democrat.

A TRAIN DERAILED.

Engine Was Badly Wrecked, But No One Was Seriously Hurt.

Train No. 37 on the Southern, which left Atlanta, Ga., Sunday afternoon at 4:15 o'clock for Birmingham, was derailed three and one-half miles beyond Waco at 6:12 o'clock.

The engine was turned over and entirely demolished, but neither the engineer nor fireman was injured.

The only person on the train who sustained any injuries of consequence was John Jones, a freight conductor on the Southern, who was riding in the baggage car.

PRINTERS THREATEN TROUBLE.

Boston Union Wants Women to Receive Same Pay as Men.

Boston Typographical Union No. 13, at a special meeting Sunday afternoon, voted to call a strike in every book and job printing plant in the city in case the master printers refuse to sign the scale at once, the point at issue being whether or not women typesetters shall be treated as "journeymen compositors" and receive the same wages as men for doing the same work.

Fire Destroys Power House.

Fire at Omaha, Neb., Friday night in the power-house of the Omaha Street Railway Company caused a total destruction of the interior of the building, containing cars, machinery, etc. The loss is estimated at $200,000.

Two Houses Disagree.

The house ways and means committee has adopted the minority resolution for a disagreement in bulk to the senate amendments to the war revenue reduction bill and asking a conference with the senate.

The Vitality of Spain.

Whatever prophets of evil may think, Spain still possess great elements of vitality, and if she should ever add the resources of a well-arranged union with South America to the forces which she had at her disposal on the continent of Europe, how many calculations would be upset for the greater profit of the equilibrium of the world and of universal peace?—Paris Figaro.

Governor of Negros Island.

Colonel Charles W. Miner of the Sixth infantry, whom General MacArthur has just made military governor of the island of Negros, has been in command of the Sixth ever since the battle of San Juan Hill, excepting a little time before the regiment sailed for the Orient.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury, as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure to get the genuine. It is taken internally, and is made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

Sold by Druggists, price 75c per bottle.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

The letters of Bismarck to his wife, which are soon to be printed, are about five hundred in number, and cover the years 1847-1892.

AGENTS WANTED FOR THE "LIFE OF Booker T. Washington,"

Written by himself. Everybody buys; agents are now making over $100 per month; best book to sell to colored people ever published. Write for terms or send 25 cents for outfit and begin at once. Please mention this paper. Address

J. L. NICHOLS & CO., Atlanta, Georgia.

WANTED! Honest, energetic man to TRAVEL AND SELL NURSERY STOCK.

REFERENCES REQUIRED.

We have an Immense Stock in full Variety and can Insure Satisfaction. Address,

G. H. MILLER & SON, ROME, GA.

Am. N. U. No. 7, 1901.

USE CERTAIN COUGH CHILL CORN CURE. 25 50 15

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. 25 CTS. CONSUMPTION

WINCHESTER "NEW RIVAL" FACTORY LOADED SHOTGUN SHELLS

No black powder shells on the market compare with the "NEW RIVAL" in uniformity and strong shooting qualities. Sure fire and waterproof. Get the genuine.

WINCHESTER REPEATING ARMS CO. - - - - - New Haven, Conn.

FREE WITH SEEDS. ...

T. J. KING CO., Bookseller, Richmond, Va.

DROPSY NEW DISCOVERY; ... Dr. H. H. GREEN SONS, Box B, Atlanta, Ga.

LION COFFEE

A LUXURY WITHIN THE REACH OF ALL!

MAKE no mistake! See that my head is on every package of LION COFFEE you buy. It guarantees its purity. No coffee is LION COFFEE unless it is in a 1 pound sealed packet with the head of a lion on the front. Then you get pure coffee—the highest grade for the money.

Watch our next advertisement.

Why has LION COFFEE now become the leader of all package coffees? And why is it used in millions of homes?

Because it does not sail under false colors. It is an absolutely clean, pure coffee. No glazing, no coating with egg mixtures or chemicals in order to hide imperfections.

Just try a package of LION COFFEE and you will understand the reason of its popularity.

In every package of LION COFFEE you will find a fully illustrated and descriptive list. No housekeeper, in fact, no woman, man, boy or girl will fail to find in the list some article which will contribute to their happiness, comfort and convenience, and which they may have by simply cutting out a certain number of Lion Heads from the wrappers of our one pound sealed packages (which is the only form in which this excellent coffee is sold).

WOOLSON SPICE CO., TOLEDO, OHIO.

WHEN WRINKLES COME.

Departing HEALTH and BEAUTY Called Back by

Dr. Greene's Nervura

YOUR mirror will tell you the bitter truth.

Healthy women look younger than their age, but you look far too old for your years.

Time deals lightly with the woman in good health, but the wasting hand of sickness and disease spares neither your youthful looks, beauty, nor complexion.

The Creator has endowed every woman with beauty, and every woman in good health is beautiful and comely to look upon. A clear, fresh, wholesome look is the result of the possession of good health, and no woman can be beautiful and attractive without good health. The dull, dead, gnawing pain, the sense of nervousness, weakness, oppression, and discouragement, the tired, listless, languid feeling, the shooting pains, the aching head, the pain in the back, all these are symptoms of a disordered system, and all these are beauty-killers, producers of dull leaden complexions, unnatural flushings, dark circles under the eyes, humors, eruptions, blackheads, lustreless eyes, and other disfigurements which divest women of their natural gift of beauty.

DR. GREENE'S NERVURA Makes Health and Happiness

Why be homely when you can be beautiful and attractive?

Get good health and with it those looks and attributes which attract, please, and fascinate. It is within your power to do so, for it is within every woman's power to be well and strong, and hence look her best. If she will use Dr. Greene's Nervura to give her strong, vigorous nerves, pure, rich blood, a clear complexion, and thus restore the energies and vitality of sound and perfect health.

Good health means youthful good looks to every woman, and it behooves women to restore and maintain their health by taking that greatest and best of all health restoratives, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. It will build up the health, cleanse and purify the complexion, restore brilliancy to the eye, make rich, red blood and strong, steady, and vigorous nerves. Dr. Greene's Nervura will make you look and feel young and restore your energies, vivacity, and enjoyment of life.

MRS. KATE AUSTIN, 40 Jenny Lind Ave., Somerville, Mass., says:

"I had a pain in my side for seventeen years. I also suffered with terrible backache and headache; such an awful headache, and I had not a bit of appetite. I cried with pain from womb trouble, and was as pale as a ghost. I was terribly nervous. I could not sleep for a long time, and had rheumatism in my shoulder and arm. I suffered everything; nobody but God knows how I suffered. I weighed 138 pounds. A friend recommended Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, and I commenced to take it. I was so weak and run down that the first bottle did not do me much good, but I kept on, and the second bottle did me good and I began to gain. After taking the Nervura I never had a pain in my side, nor any headache, and I sleep well and have a good appetite. I don't believe there is any medicine in the world so good as Dr. Greene's Nervura. It did me good right off and I have had no return of my womb trouble. I had leucorrhœa, but since taking Nervura that has disappeared. I feel strong, and last summer was able to do the work for fourteen in a family, and I weigh 163 pounds. I was so weak before, nobody knows how I worked, but I had to work for my children. I sent two bottles of Nervura to my brother in Nova Scotia, and it did him lots of good. I recommend Dr. Greene's Nervura to every one."

Ill Health Destroys Beauty and Happiness. DR. GREENE'S NERVURA Makes You Well and Restores Your Good Looks.

Women have absolute confidence in Dr. Greene's Nervura, more so than in any other remedy, because it is purely vegetable and a famous regular physician prepares it, which is a guarantee that it is perfectly adapted to cure. As an additional assurance of cure, Dr. Greene, 35 W. 14th St., New York City, gives you the privilege of consulting him without charge or cost, either by calling or writing about your case.

"La Creole" Will Restore those Gray Hairs

La Creole Hair Restorer is a Perfect Dressing and Restorer. Price $1.00.

THE BANNER

OUR CLUBBING RATES

For $1.30 we will send you THE BANNER and either of the following papers for one year:

Atlanta Constitution	$1.50
New York World (3 papers every week)	$1.50
Cosmopolitan (America's Leading magazine)	$1.50
Silver Knight National Watchman	$1.50
Birmingham Age-Herald	$1.50
Home and Farm	$1.10

Job Printing cheap at THE BANNER office

AT REDUCED PRICES

CLANTON DRUG STORE.

Dr J S JOHNSON, Jr., Proprietor

DEALER IN

DRUGS : MEDICINES : PATENT : MEDICINES, TOILET ARTICLES, PAINTS.

PRESCRIPTIONS CAREFULLY PREPARED DAY & NIGHT

CLANTON, ALABAMA.

Everything New.

NEW STOREHOUSE

BRAND NEW STOCK

We positively will carry none of our old stock into our new building, and for the next Thirty Days we are offering

BARGAINS IN EVERYTHING

now in our old storehouse. We are determined to clear out the last piece of old stock. Come and see us.

WILSON & BRO.

CLANTON.

W. I. MULLINS

—DEALER IN—

GENERAL MERCHANDISE, PLANTATION SUPPLIES AND COUNTRY PRODUCE.

Dry Goods, Clothing, Hats, Boots and Shoes.

FURNITURE AND COFFINS

N. B. A full line of Burial Clothes and all necessary Undertakers' Goods constantly kept in stock.

CLANTON, : : : : : ALA.

Subscribe for The Banner. $1.00 a year.

1901 WORLD ALMANAC

AND ENCYCLOPEDIA

of Statistical Volume of Facts and Figures Containing Over 600 Pages.

OVER 1,000 TOPICS. OVER 10,000 FACTS.

SPECIAL FEATURES—

The census of 1900. National and State election returns. Four centuries of American progress. Political record of 1900 (conventions and platforms). American rule in the Philippines. New governments of Porto Rico and Hawaii. Polar exploration in 1900. Conclusion of the South African war. Pan-American Exposition of 1901. China—Its present condition and status among nations. Roster of general officers of the Regular U. S. Army, 1789—1900.

A Political Register.

Facts that every patriot and voter ought to know.

Standard American Annual.

Price 25 cts. Postpaid to any address. THE WORLD, Pulitzer Bldg., New York.

Headaches and Neuralgia cured by Dr. MILES' PAIN PILLS. "One cents a dose."

THE NEW ENGLAND WA... nickle case, stem wind and stem set, warranted for 12 months. Delivered anywhere with a silk cord and plate chain for $2.75. Try one if you want a good time piece cheap.

The New England Watch Co. giving good satisfaction. It is a good man's time piece.

L. D. POPWELL, Clanton.

FREE BLOOD CURE

An offer putting faith to the test.

Is your Blood pure? Are you free from all impurities? Do cuts or scratches heal slowly? Does your skin itch and burn? Have you Pimples? Eruptions? Aching Bones or Joints? Leg sores? Old Sores? Boils? Scrofula? Rheumatism? Foul Stomach? Catarrh? Are you pale? If so purify your blood with B. B. B. (Blood Balm). It makes the Blood Pure and Rich, heals every sore and gives a clear, smooth skin. Deep seated cases such as ulcers, cancer, eating sores, Painful Swellings, Blood Poison are quickly cured by B. B. B. made especially for all obstinate Blood and Skin Troubles. B. B. B. drains the Poisons and Humors out of the Blood and entire system so the symptoms cannot return. Give it a trial. It cures when all else is in vain. Thoroughly tested for 20 years. Sold at drug stores $1 per large bottle, 6 large bottles (full treatment) $5. Be sure the bottle reads Botanic Blood Balm. To sufferers may test it, a trial bottle given away absolutely free. Write for it. Address BLOOD BALM CO. Atlanta, Ga. Describe trouble and free medical advice given.

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS is the one important magazine in the world giving in its pictures, its text, in its contributed articles, editorials and departments, a comprehensive, timely record of the world's current history. Not the enumeration of mere bare facts, but a comprehensive picture of the month, its activities, its notable personalities, and notable utterances. The best informed men and women in the world find it indispensable.

There are many readers in your locality who have yet to learn of its usefulness. We wish to establish active agents in every city and township in the country. We will pay liberally for energetic effort in the subscription field. Leisure moments can be utilized with substantial increase of income. Make a list of the persons in your locality who should have the "Review of Reviews," and send to us for agent's terms, sample copies, and working outfit. Then solicit their subscriptions. It is a compliment to approach a person with a subscription proposition for the "Review of Reviews," and consequently orders are easily secured. This is the active subscription season. Make application at once, sending your references.

Price, 50 cents a number. $2.50 a year.

THE REVIEW OF REVIEWS COMPANY,

13 Astor Place, New York City.

Alabama Fertilizer the Standard.

Our most reckless competitor will only claim that what he is selling is "just as good" as the celebrated ALABAMA FERTILIZER, but it is not so. For 37 years the ALABAMA has stood at the head of the fertilizer class. With critical and current good seasons it is more important than ever to get the best fertilizer. The ALABAMA is the standard of excellence, and only those who interest themselves sufficiently to make the inquiry are the ones who get it.

Without extra cost to the consumer we ship all our ALABAMA FERTILIZER in the COTTON MUMMIA VEGETABLE FIBRE PRESERVED BAGS, which are well ventilated, and prevent the fertilizer from caking or spoiling. These bags, after a thorough investigation and practical trial, have been adopted by the Agricultural Department, who recommend their use by the farmers of our State. Numerous analyses certify that fertilizers packed in these bags will carry according for shipment, and that the loss in these bags, including both transit and their consignees from the handling.

One of the exhibits of the recent Cotton Bale Exposition, which attracted the attention of all who passed, was a wagon drawn by six well fed oxen containing 31 bales of cotton produced on a piece of land, made from Russell imported big boll cotton by the use of ALABAMA FERTILIZER.

Customers Protected by Trade Mark.

The law requires every sack of fertilizer sold in the State to have the word ALABAMA branded on each sack offered for sale in the State.

To protect both ourselves and our customers we have our trade mark on every sack of ALABAMA FERTILIZER, we also tag each MUMMIA VEGETABLE FIBRE PRESERVED BAG. Our Trade Mark is copyrighted, the tag is patented and we will prosecute any infringement or other. See that the Trade Mark and Tag are on each sack. Be certain to get what you pay for.

Pure high grade Acid Phosphate and Genuine German Kainit always on hand and sold at no higher price than other goods of the same grade.

A Testimonial From High Authority.

Capt. S. B. Trapp, President of the Board of Inspectors of the Alabama Convict Bureau, who is well and favorably known throughout the South (particularly in Alabama), whose able management of the convict system of our State has met with the approval of all, himself a farmer of twenty years' experience, has the following words of commendation to say in regard to the Celebrated Alabama Fertilizer.

Executive Department of Alabama,
Convict Bureau,
Montgomery, Nov. 30, 1900.

I consider the ALABAMA FERTILIZER the best manufactured. I have raised and seen others raise large crops of cotton and corn by its use.

In my opinion the farmer who invests in it, will succeed in making larger crops of cotton and corn at less cost for fertilizers than one who buys and uses acid phosphate, kainit and cottonseed meal in any proportion or quantity whatsoever.

My conclusions are arrived at after an experience of twenty years in the use of fertilizers, during which long period I have tried many kinds of fertilizers.

The MUMMIA VEGETABLE FIBRE PRESERVED BAGS, in which the ALABAMA FERTILIZER is put up, is one of the greatest blessings to all, and none better than the farmer can appreciate and value the cessation of loss in wasting, rotting of bags and vexation by having to rescue fertilizers put up in the ordinary bag. I have seen some Mummia Bags used two seasons, which is the strongest possible proof of their singular and superior merits.

S. B. TRAPP, President.

The Record of Alabama Fertilizer.

It has produced nearly four bales of cotton on one acre of poor sandy upland.
One hundred and thirty-two bushels of corn on one acre of poor sandy upland.
Two thousand and forty-one bushels of corn on twenty acres of poor upland.
Land and corn accurately surveyed and measured by competent disinterested and honorable men.
It is the oldest brand now sold in Alabama, and is just the same as it always has been. Every one of the 43 premiums given during a series of years, through the COMMERCIAL AND INDUSTRIAL ASSOCIATION, for the greatest yield of cotton and corn on a specified area of land, was awarded to farmers who used exclusively the ALABAMA FERTILIZER.

THE ALABAMA FERTILIZER COMPANY,

Montgomery, Ala.

THE BEST WAY TO THE SOUTH AND SOUTH-WEST, NORTH AND NORTH-WEST

—IS VIA THE—

L. & N.

LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE R. R.

The Through Cars

Of this line pass Clanton daily, running through Montgomery, Mobile and New Orleans.

Connecting with all points in TEXAS AND THE WEST.

Also running through to Nashville, Evansville, Louisville, Cincinnati and St. Louis.

Connecting for all points in the NORTH AND NORTH-WEST.

Before purchasing tickets to any point write the Agent of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad at Clanton, Ala., or D. P. Abbott, G. P. A., Louisville, Ky.

(Continued on 1st column page 4.)

VOL. IX

THE MAN ON THE CORNER

Sees of the Sights He Saws and Some He Saw Not.

For the past two weeks I have been up in snowy Chicago. There is plenty of snow—no end to it. It was cold. "Variety is the spice of life" someone has said or I think someone has said it, and if not you can put it down as original. Anyway it was an unusually a variety of climate for me on that trip. Warm in Alabama, cold in Chicago. At one time we had a fall of 18 inches and it cost the city of Chicago $30,000 to clear the business part of the city from snow. Just as soon as that was cleared down came another 18 inches, and soon after another. There, I'll give it up. I want to stagger you. But one word for it, there was plenty of snow, and ice was cheap.

I went over Swift & Co's packing house, and can never tell you what I saw. Think of 750 hogs killed per hour. That's the capacity of the plant. They do it by machinery. In fact, I am bound to say that every man I saw working was only a part of a machine. I could tell you a little of it but it is esquisitely neat and clean. There's a big wheel, or should be a better name, and the side of this drum is a number of hooks attached at intervals. Men stand on each side of the drum and as a squealing hog (and there's a million of hogs all squealing at the same time) pushed into where he can reach it he catches the hog by the hind leg and sticks it into one of the chains on the drum, and away goes Mr. Hog, squealing like a stuck pig, head down, until he reaches the top of the drum when he is shifted off on a traveling chain for a few feet when the butcher with a knife into his throat and he stops squalling. The blood runs on to the floor about the man's feet and there is a stench that can't be got rid of for days. Away goes Mr. Hog and he never stops until his hide is taken off, he has been scalded, scraped, cut down the middle, washed and cut up, packed in a car and shipped to Clanton for all I know. Anyhow, from the time he left his hind leg into the chain and wheel until he gets out of the packing house he never stops and if I only had the space I would never stop telling you about the wonders I saw in Chicago.

DISTRUCTIVE FIRE AT CLANTON

About three o'clock last Saturday morning fire was descovered in Powell's store and the store was occupied by J. E. Evans. It had taken good hold when the clanging ringing of the fire bell brought out the citizens who promptly to work to save the stores and try to save the buildings. The fire spread with rapidity and soon seven stores were in a blaze, and it looked like that Wilson's new brick building would also succumb, but hard work and prevented the fire from going further in that direction. Across the street it was thought to throw water over the roof of the court house, and it appeared to be to prevent W. Kanter's building which would have burned the whole town.

The stores destroyed were occupied by J. W. Davis, and L. D. Popwell, owned by C. W. Robinson, L. L. Phillips, (building by W. T. Callen) Mrs. Evans' store, J. E. Evans' and Moses Mims (building by A. C. Smith). With

(Continued on 1st column page 4.)

NEW ENGLAND WATCH.
case, stem wind and stem set ted for 12 months. Delivered where with a silk cord of rush for $2.75. Try one if ant a good time piece cheap.
New England Watch is still good satisfaction. It is the nan's time piece
L. D. POPWELL, Clanton.

FREE BLOOD CURE.
offer practically to the afflicted our Blood pure? Are you suffe from pimples or scratches head
? Does your skin itch or Have you Dandruff? Eruptions
Aching Bones or Joints? Eczema
Old Sores? Boils? Scrofula Rheumatism? Your Breath bad? Are you pale? If so we ur blood with B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm). It makes the Pure and Rich, heals every and gives a clear, smooth, y skin. Deep seated cancers ers, cancer, eating sores,
Swellings, Blood Poisons quickly cured by B. B. B., especially for all obstinate and Skin Troubles. B. B.
the Poisons and Humors
the Blood and entire system symptoms cannot return a trial. Relieves in all is. Thoroughly tested for ars. Sold at drug stores at Large bottle, 6 large bottles treatment $5. Be sure the remedy Botanic Blood Balm
Address may test it, a trial bottle ven away absolutely free for it. Address BLOOD
N CO. Atlanta, Ga. Write describe trouble and learn advice given.

Healthy Mothers
mothers are healthy, because dren are so exceedingly. The anxiety pregnancy, the shock of childbirth, care of young children, are ts with any woman who of Cardui within her g that every woman in the land
the debt of gratitude Mrs. Sh her loved one. Do health with all its pain, loss and misery. Wine of Cardui will give it to you.

WINE OF CARDUI

THE BEST WAY TO THE
WEST AND SOUTH-WEST,
NORTH AND NORTH-WEST
VIA THE
L. & N.
LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE R. R.
The Through Cars
Fine pass Cahara daily, running through Montgomery, Mobile
and New Orleans,
connecting with all points in
TEXAS AND THE WEST.
Running through to Nashville,
Louisville, Cincinnati
and St. Louis,
connecting for all points in the
SOUTH AND NORTH-WEST.
Are purchasing tickets to any point the Agent of the Louisville the Railroad at Clanton, Ala.
Lamora, G. P. A., Louisville, Ky.

Judge of Probate

THE BANNER.

LET THE PEOPLE RULE.

VOL. IX — CLANTON, ALA. THURSDAY FEBRUARY 21, 1901 — NO. 18

MAN ON THE CORNER

The Sights He Saw and Some He Saw Not.

For the past two weeks I have p in snowy Chicago. There enty of snow—no end to it it was cold. "Variety is the f life" someone has said, or
I think someone has said
if not you can put it down inal. Anyway it was un dly a variety of climate I d on that trip. Warm in Alabama, cold in Chi
At one time we had a fall inches and it cost the city of o $20,000 to clear the busi.
rt of the city from snow.
of this, your Clanton tax-
Just as soon as that was cleared down came another nches, and soon after anothf—here, I'll give it up, I want to stagger you. But y word for it, there was of snow, and ice was cheap.

over Swift & Co's pack-se, and can never tell you
w. Think of 750 hogs kill-hour. That's the capacity lant. They do it by ma-
In fact, I am bound to every man I saw working s only a part of a machine, and tell you a little of it.
ing is exquisitely neat and
There is a big wheel, or ull be a better name, and side of this drum is a num-ams attached at intervals on each side of the drum qualing hog (and there's ds of hogs all squealing at time) pushed into where
s. He catches the hog by leg and sticks it into one ams on the drum, and
Mr. Hog, squalling like hes, head down, until he he top of the drum when shifted off on a traveling a few feet when the butch-a knife into his throat and squealing. The blood ut on to the floor about the feet and there is a stench that can't be got rid of for er. Away goes Mr. Hog ever stops until his hide is off, he has been scalded
ed, cut down the middle, and cut up, packed in a shipped to Clinton for all Anyhow, from the time s hind leg into the chain wheel until he gets out of packing house he never d if I only had the space would never stop telling bout the wonders I saw in

OUS FIRE AT CLANTON

three o'clock last Satur-ning fire was descovered ll's store and the store recated by J. E. Evans. It taken good hold when ning ringing of the fire ght out the citizens who antly to work to save the of the stores and try to buildings. The fire spread t rapidity and soon seven re in a blaze, and it look-like that Wilson's new brick building would alsuccumb, but hard work and prevented the fire
ading further in that di-
Across the street it was to throw water over the
of the court house, and time it appeared to be to prevent W. Kanter's catching which would lved the whole town.
en stores destroyed were upied by J. W. Davis,
ll and L. D. Popwell, re owned by C. W. Rob-
G. L. Phillips, (build-by W. T. Callen) Mrs. ew store. J. E. Evans' and Moses Mims (build-by A. C. Smith). With d on 1st column page 4.)

CORRESPONDENCE.

[We are willing to publish our subscribers views at any time, but it must be distinctly understood we do not hold ourselves responsible for those opinions.—EDITOR.]

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY
Take Laxative Bromo-Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. E. W. Grove's signature is on each Box. 25c.

Thorsby, Feb. 19, 1901

Editor Banner.—Please let the people know that Hon. L. B. Pounds's absence from the General Assembly is unavoidable. He has been confined to his bed for more than a week, and at this writing is a very sick man.

Respectfully,
D. N. RIGGINS.

I read Mr. V's article in the Banner with interest. Pshaw; no, we are not dead. Some of our brethren went astray, but they'll come back. There's lots of us in Chilton and two or three other counties, and we'll wake 'em up time another election comes. No, we ain't dead. Fact is that Commoner that Bryan prints will bring him and the rest of us out of the kinks, and we must begin the campaign now. I say dead. Some of us must go to Nebraska in 1904 and see that he carries his home beat. Fact is the thing has to be done, because that old Cleveland goldbug democracy is trying to get back in the saddle again, and if they were to, good bye government railroad. And we'll have to keep on paying railroad fare as we've been doing, and the Philippine war might stop, and the Revenue Stamp law might cease, the Tariff law might be changed, and we don't know what else.

If we can gull as many Democrats as we did before, whether we elect Bill or not, our second choice will come in as we've been doing. A half loaf is better'n none. Stick to it boys. Chilton's safe, and when they talk about us being dead tell 'em nary times once nor gone nowhere either. W.

The greatest danger from colds and la grippe is their resulting in pneumonia. If reasonable care is used, however, and Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is taken, all danger will be avoided. It will cure a cold or an attack of la grippe in less time than any other treatment. It is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by Clanton Drug Co., and D. I. Deramus, Verbena.

Jemison, Ala., Feb. 12, 1901

Editor Banner.—As I have so many enquiries about what has become of my contest, please permit me to say through your paper that my case was never tried. The committee threw out my case on affidavit of Oliver that notice of contest was not served on him by the sheriff, but was handed him by a little negro boy. I reckon it is the eternal fitness of things that a negro boy should serve notice on him. Well, I charge the Democratic party with stealing me out, then concealing stolen property officially. Take the committee's report. They did not say Oliver was elected, but threw out the case on a technicality. Oliver was asked by my attorney if he was not willing to try the the case on its merits. His answer was no, that he proposed to take advantage of all the law gave him. What is the difference of stealing a seat in the Senate and stealing a horse? Where does such stealing lead to? When men are stolen in office whose cries or petitions do they adhere to—the people's or a few rogues that help steal the office? Take up the local acts when the Legislature adjourns and see in whose interest laws have been passed. See the danger in breaking down local self-government. Where is a single instance that the people of Chilton have been heard? Did not the people have beat meetings and then a county meeting and say what they wanted? Should not a voice of a majority of the people rule? When a few men get to the place that they are not willing to abide by a majority, I

(continued on 3d col. page 4).

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

I hereby announce myself as a candidate to represent Chilton County in the Constitutional Convention, subject to the action of the Democratic County Convention. H. W. CAFFEY

Feby. 12, 1901.

Stanton.

Rev. P. G. Maness delivered an excellent sermon Sunday.

Mr. Crump Graham, of Maplesville, was in our town Sunday.

Two charming young ladies of Lawley, Misses Kitty and Myrtle Lawley, were pleasant visitors here Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Letcher are the happy parents of a fine girl.

Mr. Willis Bowline and his charming sister, Miss Billie, were pleasant visitors here Sunday last.

Mr. Cal Foshee and his mother paid relatives a visit recently.

Miss Rosa Ingram, of Pleasant Grove, paid friends a visit here last week.

Dr. M. F. Parnell of Lawley was again with us Sunday.

Mr. T. U. Crumpton, of Maplesville, entertained a large crowd at the Baptist church Sunday evening.

Mr. Wylie Mitchell and his sister, Miss Lula, were visitors at the home of Rev. W. H. Connell Sunday.

Miss Emma Sisco, of Selma, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Smith.

Mr. Howell Martin went to Maplesville Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Dyer went to Selma one day last week.

Mrs. A. Mahone, of Montevallo, paid her sister, Mrs. J. F. Gregory, a visit recently.

Mr. J. W. Stewart went to Selma last week.

The town was full of people Sunday. STAN.

When you want a physic that is mild and gentle, easy to take and pleasant in effect use Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. Price 25 cents. Samples free. Every Box guaranteed. For sale by Clanton Drug Co., and D. I. Deramus, Verbena.

Jemison.

The young people had a singing at the residence of Mr. J. W. F. Garner last Sunday night; everybody enjoyed themselves.

Mr. Ira Whitaker is happy once more.

The school under the able management of Prof. J. M. Collier is doing well.

Cross ties have ceased to be currency.

We are glad to say J. H. Patton has returned to school after several weeks of carpenting work. We expect a great deal of him.

Mr. O. C. Atkinson has created a stir in our social world—all the young ladies have lost their hearts.

Everybody is expecting a wedding, probably C. N. Shaw can tell you about it.

Miss Gussie Robinson has returned home after a pleasant visit to her sisters.

Mr. A. M. Gentry is a pleasant visitor here this week.

Three of our most charming young ladies spent Sunday in the country.

Mr. C. W. Adams looks like he has loved and lost.

We pine for the return of Mr. W. G. Hand from South Alabama, as the social life of our city has been on the decline ever since his departure.

The most entertaining feature of Jemison is for the boys to get out somewhere and boil eggs.

CRITIC.

A Convincing Answer.

"I hobbled into Mr. Blackmon's drug store one evening," says Wesley Nelson, of Hamilton, Ga., "and he asked me to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm for Rheumatism with which I had suffered for a long time. I told him I had no faith in any medicine as they all failed. He said 'Well if Chamberlain's Pain Balm does not help you, you need not pay for it.' I took a bottle of it home and used it according to the directions and in one week I was cured, and have not since been troubled with rheumatism." Sold by Clanton Drug Co., and D. I. Deramus Verbena

Thorsby.

LANDS FOR SALE.

$2.50 PER ACRE.

We have for sale a small farm containing 40 acres, of which 30 acres are now under cultivation. Some houses on the place; land fenced; a good spring of running water. If this land was located in the Thorsby colony it would be worth $1200.00. The land is located about four miles west of Thorsby and you may take it for $100. (Sold February 16, 1900.)

General Farming Lands for sale, $5.00 to $10.00 per acre.

Unimproved Orchard and Vineyard Lands at $15.00 per acre.

Improved Orchard and Vineyard Lands from $40 to $80 per acre.

Two small farms for Rent; a 7 room Cottage for sale.

Special inducements to merchants and manufacturers in the progressive town of Thorsby, the market center of Chilton county. For further particulars call at the offices of

THE CONCORDIA LAND AND IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION.
THORSBY, ALA.

Macedonia.

Farmers are hauling guano right along now.

Mr. John Atchison has put his road in good condition. Let all overseers do likewise and we can have good roads whether we get a new road law or not. I am in favor of better roads and we can have them if we will go to work.

Mrs. Gluss is still very sick, we are sorry to say.

Mr. Lewis Waldrup gave the young people a valentine party the 14th.

Miss Pearl Maronie, who is boarding with Mr. H. W. Gipson, going to school at this place, visited home folks last Saturday.

CLINT.

Had To Conquer Or Die.

"I was just about gone," writes Mrs. Rosa Richardson, of Laurel N. C., "I had Consumption so bad that the best doctors said I could not live more than a month, but I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery and was wholly cured by seven bottles and am now stout and well." It's an unrivaled life saver in Consumption, Pneumonia, La Grippe and Bronchitis; infallible for Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Hay Fever, Croup or Whooping Cough. Guaranteed bottles 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at Clanton drug store.

Sheriff's Sale.

By virtue of an execution issued out of the Circuit Court of Chilton County, State of Alabama, and to me directed, whereby I am commanded to make the amount of a certain judgment recently rendered against James A. Wiseman out of the goods chattels, lands and tenements of the said James A. Wiseman, I have levied on the following property, to wit:

The SW ¼ of the SW ¼ of Section 1, Township 22, Range 14, in Chilton County, Alabama.

Therefore, according to said command, I shall expose for sale, at Public Auction, all the right, title and interest of the above named James A. Wiseman, in and to the above described property, on Monday, the 25th day of March, 1901, during the legal hours of sale, at the Court House door in Clanton, Alabama.

Dated at Clanton, Ala., this 18th day of February, 1901.

M. A. KILLGORE, Sheriff.

Mortgage Sale.

State of Alabama,
Chilton County.

Under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage given by W. T. Quillin and his wife, N. C. Quillin, to D. C. Gandy on the 5th day of February, 1894, and due November 1, 1894, which said mortgage was duly recorded in the office of the Judge of Probate of Chilton County, Alabama, in Mortgage Record No. 33, page 34, on the 24th day of April, 1894; and which said mortgage was duly transferred by D. C. Gandy to S. Mass & Co., and by S. Mass & Co. to W. H. Rouse on the 22d day of January, 1901. I will proceed to sell to the highest bidder, for cash, in front of the Court House door in Clanton, Chilton County, Alabama, on

TUESDAY, MARCH 5, 1901,

between the legal hours of sale, the following described property, to wit:

One House and Lot in Stanton, Alabama, said Lot being in the NW ¼ of NE ¼ of Section 7, Township 20, Range 12, containing four and a half acres.

Dated at Stanton, Ala., this 28th day of January, 1901.

W. H. ROUSE, Transferee.

Subscribe for the Banner.

WANTED.

300 ACRES at $6.00 per acre. Titles perfect. Plenty of water on the place. Fine reed brake for pasture. One mile north of Thorsby. J. A. SKAGGS, Jemison, Ala.

FOR SALE. A complete entertainment outfit, consisting of 1 Stereopticon, 1 Cinograph or moving picture machine, 1 Calcium light apparatus, 1 gas making outfit, 2 set Views Spanish-American war, 5 50 ft. Films for Cinograph. All new. Also 1 horse and spring wagon. Full particulars of C. Nally, Randolph, Ala.

FOR SALE—Ten head of Oxen medium size; good work oxen. Apply to J. Bice, Thorsby, Ala.

MONEY to Loan on good real estate. Apply to X. Y. Z., care of the Banner, Clanton, Ala.

A BONA FIDE SALARY—$12 Weekly. Men and women to appoint agents and represent us, some to travel, others for local work. $12 weekly salary and expenses. Old established house, pleasant permanent positions, rapid advancement and increase of wages. Write at once. Address BUTLER & ALGER, Dept. E, New Haven, Conn.

The Best Prescription for Malaria

Chills and Fever is a bottle of GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC. It is simply iron and quinine in a tasteless form. No cure—no pay. Price 50c.

FOR SALE.

A few hundred bushels of Russell's Improved prolific, BIG BOLL COTTON SEED. It is claimed for this Cotton that it is the most Prolific variety on earth, that it is never troubled with boll worm, rust or the insect known as sharp shooters. Stands extremes of wet and dry weather. Less than half the labor required for picking

MARKS & GAYLE,
Montgomery, Ala.

Yellow-Leaf Poultry Farm

THORSBY, ALA.

We breed White Plymouth Rocks and Light Brahmas. A few Cockerels for sale $2 each. Eggs in season.

BARRETT & KERNEN, Props.

CHESTNUT LION

A Fine Tennessee Jack 15 Hands high, Full of Life a Fine Breeder and Sure Foal-Getter, will stand at JEMISON, ALA, this Season.

W. C. EVANS, Proprietor,
JEMISON, ALA.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS

TIPTON MULLINS
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW
CLANTON - ALA.

WILLIAM M. ADAMS,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW
Practice in all Courts.
Office at the Adams' place
CLANTON - - - ALA.

JOHN C. DENNIS
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW
Practice in the Supreme Court of Alabama, and all Inferior Courts.
CLANTON, - - ALA.

ROBERT H. KNOX,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,
CLANTON, ALA.
Will practice in all the State and Federal Courts of Alabama.

Dr. OTTO M. WISEHART,
DENTIST.
OFFICE HOURS. 8 to 12 a.m. and 1 to 5 p.m.
Office over Wright's Store CLANTON

Dr. GEO. A. DENNIS,
SPECIALIST
Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat
OFFICE 22½ S. PERRY ST.
Office Hours 9 to 12 and 2 to 4.
Telephone 491—2 Rings
MONTGOMERY, ALA.

CHURCH DIRECTORY

BAPTIST—Preaching on the first and third sundays at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Sunday-school every sunday at 10 a.m.

Prayer-meeting every Thursday evening at 7 o'clock.

F. M. WOODS, Pastor.

METHODIST — Preaching every second sunday at 7 p.m., and every fourth sunday at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Sunday-school at 10 a.m. every sunday.

Prayer-meeting at seven o'clock every Wednesday night.

D. E. ELLISON, Pastor.

CLANTON BARBER SHOP
W. H. TAYLOR, Proprietor.
HAIR CUTTING
SHAVING
SHAMPOOING
In all the Latest City Styles. Reasonable Charges. Prompt Attention.
HOT AND COLD BATHS.
CLANTON

E. W. Grove
This signature is on every box of the genuine Laxative Bromo-Quinine Tablets the remedy that cures a cold in one day

The BANNER office is the only Job Printing establishment in Chilton and Coosa counties. We give you best work at lower prices than you can get elsewhere. Give us a trial

The Farmers' Mutual Insurance Association of Alabama.

CHARTERED BY SPECIAL ACT OF THE LEGISLATURE.

"BY THE PEOPLE AND FOR THE PEOPLE."

CHILTON COUNTY BRANCH

PRESIDENT: N. J. CALLOWAY, Clanton.
SEC'Y & TREAS.: R. D. WILSON, Clanton.
GENERAL AGENT: WALLACE C. EDLER, Clanton.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

1. H. C. Young
2. Thomas Harrison
3. R. S. McCary
4. D. F. Jacks
5. W. H. Thomas
6. A. T. Hathcock
7. C. J. Coburn
8. John F. Parnell
9. D. N. Riggins.

Insures farmer's dwellings, outbuildings and contents, and live stock against loss by fire, wind and lightning.

The assessments for the year just closed was only 22½ on the $1000 policy.

The cheapest, safest and most sensible method of insurance known to man. For full particulars call on or address the General Agent WALLACE C. EDLER, Clanton, Ala.

THE BANNER.

Published Weekly.

CLANTON, - - - ALABAMA.

Spain is lending again, after five centuries of lagging. Hers is the first Government to establish systems of wireless telegraphy.

The grade crossing keeps up its deadly work. Sometimes it is an express train and sometimes a slow freight train, but the result is the same.

Porto Ricans are now enjoying their first trolley railroad. The folks down there are getting away from Spanish customs at a rate that is positively furious.

Here's the latest in the matter of a death sentence. It was delivered by a South Carolina Judge: "You are to be hanged by the neck until dead, and I hope it will prove a warning to you!"

It certainly does look like people would have no trouble in seeing themselves as others see them when we take into consideration the fact there are 1,850,000 square yards of looking glass manufactured annually in Europe alone.

Some children already born will live to see the beginning of the twenty-first century. The increase in the number of centenarians is one of the most striking indications of improvement in the art of living which this generation has furnished.

Electricians have talked across the Mississippi at St. Paul by telephone without wires, and it is believed that conversations can be carried on in the same way at twelve miles distance. May we not look forward to the time when all the people of the earth will be for social purposes in a single room?

Galveston is fulfilling the predictions made at the time of the calamitous deluge last summer by rapidly increasing its material and commercial importance. In the month of November, 1900, the export trade from Galveston amounted to $25,000,000, or $1,000,000 more than the exports in November, 1899.

Now that the various Australian colonies have become States in what their new Constitution calls "one indissoluble Federal Commonwealth," with a Parliament, Supreme and Federal courts, and uniform customs duties, the nation thus formed shares with the United States a distinction that until now has been held by this country alone.

One little item indicating the prodigality of modern military expenditure is afforded by the fact that to fire a "pompon"—a one-pounder, automatic gun capable of firing 300 cartridges in sixty seconds—costs about $450 per minute. War is costly business. And its greatest cost is not in ammunition, but in nerve tissue, life blood and anguish of spirit.

Up to the era of the completion of the transcontinental railroads millions of bison were roaming over the Western plains. These interesting creatures have been almost exterminated. Only a few hundred of them, at most, can be found anywhere. Nevertheless, some days ago, in Montana, several of the survivors, which had been bred in captivity, were butchered for sale like ordinary domestic cattle.

The tables accompanying the annual report of the United States Commissioner of Education show that New York State has 16.94 per cent. of its population in the public schools. Kansas has 27.87 per cent., the highest of any State. Utah follows with 26.78 per cent. and Iowa with 26.42 per cent., while Pennsylvania, with a smaller population, has a larger number of pupils enrolled than New York, the figures for Pennsylvania being 1,186,146, against 1,179,351 for New York.

President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, in his annual report points out that though quite a number of strikes have been reported during the year, they were not of a defensive character, but rather for higher wages and a shorter workday. Substantial improvements and achievements are noted. During the year 688 strikes were reported, 213,100 persons being involved. Of this number 453 strikes were successful, 106 lost, 74 compromised, and 53 still pending; 217,493 persons were directly benefited while 11,257 were involved in lost or compromised strikes, thus showing that even of the small number of strikes lost the persons involved in them were comparatively infinitesimal to those who gained.

CUBA NOT WILLING TO GIVE CONCESSION

Objects to Our Having Naval Stations On Island.

WOODS' PLANS ARE OPPOSED

Question of "Future Relations" Is Proving a Hard Problem To Solve.

A special from Havana says: The special committee appointed by the Cuban constitutional convention to draw up a proposition defining the future relations between the United States and the republic of Cuba have returned from a conference with Governor General Wood at Batabano, and will report to the convention in secret session.

The question of the United States maintaining naval stations in Cuba met with strong opposition, and the commission will report to the convention not to accept this condition. The other clauses in the proposed relations have been practically agreed to.

The Cuban constitutional convention held a secret session lasting several hours Saturday afternoon considering the question of the future relations between the United States and the republic of Cuba. The commission which met Governor General Wood at Batabano Friday night offered no fomal report, but asked that the matter be considered in committee of the whole. A majority of the delegates opposed the granting to the United States of the right to maintain naval stations in Cuba, and a large number favored leaving the relations between the United States and Cuba for the future republic to settle.

The right of the United States to intervene at any time for the present preservation of peace was also the subject of a strong discussion. The questions of regulating loans and the foreign relations developed no opposition.

One of the delegates in the course of an interview said that the convention would never agree to allow the United States to establish and maintain naval stations, as the people look upon this concession as unpatriotic and a practical giving up of independence. The only way the United States can obtain this right, the delegate said, would be by insisting upon the concession, the responsibility for making which the convention does not want to take.

ONE HEAD OFFERED.

Decapitation Program Seems Not to Meet the Favor of Chinese.

A special dispatch from Pekin says: A message was delivered to the foreign ministers before the meeting Saturday morning, from the Chinese peace commissioners, which contained the wording of an edict, dated Friday, practically reiterating the recent dispatches of the Associated Press, sentencing Princes Chung to commit suicide and Yu Hsien, former governor of the province of Shan Si, to be executed, both in the presence of a high government official, in order to satisfy the foreigners.

General Tung Fu Siang is deprived of his rank and will receive further punishment afterwards.

Yang Nian and Chao Su Kian are imprisoned.

Sentence of death is suspended on those culprits who are already dead and all their honors are canceled, also the posthumous honors granted to their families.

Owing to the lateness of the hour at which the translation was made, the ministers did not consider the matter, leaving it until Monday.

A Washington special says: Minister Wu, the Chinese minister, called at the state department Saturday and spent nearly half an hour in close conference with Acting Secretary Hill. He had no late news from China, but was seeking to assist as far as he could in the pursuit of some agreement that will settle the question of indemnity for the losses suffered by the foreigners in China from the boxer movement.

SHIPPING BILL DISPLACED.

Oleomargarine Measure Given Right of Way in the Senate.

A Washington special says: At the conclusion of the morning hour in the senate Saturday, when the unfinished business—the shipping bill—was laid before the body, Mr. Spooner, of Wisconsin, moved to proceed to the consideration of the oleomargarine bill. By a practically unanimous vote—only two senators voting in the negative—the motion prevailed. Thus the subsidy bill was displaced as the oleomargarine bill was taken up. After little over an hour's consideration of that measure it was laid aside.

BOILER BLOWS UP.

Three Killed and Others Injured in Saw Mill at Damascus, Ga.

At 7 o'clock Thursday evening the boiler in the sawmill of J. Cheves & Sons, at Damascus, Ga., thirty miles above Bainbridge, on the Georgia Pine railroad, exploded, killing three men and wounding several others. The names of the killed and wounded could not be learned.

INSURGENTS ROUTED.

Company of American Troops Get Best of Big Force of Filipinos.

A Manila special says: Colonel Marcus D. Cronin and eighty men of the Thirty-third regiment have routed a band of insurgents at Candon, South Ilocos.

Captain Green, with fifty men, met a force of the enemy at Santa Maria. The insurgents, who were commanded by Tinio, had two cannon and were strongly entrenched behind stone walls on a steep mountain side. There was hard fighting for three hours. When their ammunition was exhausted the Americans retired for a short distance. Then Tinio abandoned his position retreated southward.

News of another important surrender in the Philippines is contained in the following dispatch received at the war department from General MacArthur:

"MANILA.—Adjutant General, Washington: One hundred and twelve rifles and 1,500 rounds of ammunition surrendered at Haganey February 13th, mostly from supply secreted in contiguous swamps. The incident is important as indicating a great reaction favorable to the American interests in region of Bulacan heretofore one of the worst in Luzon. The result is accomplished exclusively by the long continued, intelligent and persistent efforts of officers of the Third United States infantry."

According to mail advices from the Philippines, Captain Novico, the insurgent officer who commands the band which captured Lieutenant Gilmore and his party of the Yorktown and held them captive for many months, has been sentenced to imprisonment for life, on the charge of having permitted one of Gilmore's party to be buried alive. The victim was a sailor named McDonald, who was a burden to the Filipinos because of his wounds.

CARTER TURNED DOWN.

Once More Efforts to Free Convicted Captain Meet Failure.

A special from Leavenworth, Kas., says: Captain Oberlin M. Carter, United States army, serving a sentence in the federal prison at Fort Leavenworth for defrauding the government on harbor contracts, has suffered another defeat in his attempt to secure his release. Judge Hook, in the United States district court Friday, refused to release the prisoner on bail and ordered that he be remanded to the penitentiary to await the action of the United States supreme court on the appeal in his habeas corpus case.

Judge Hook held in substance that the judgment of the courtmartial was final unless set aside by the supreme court of the United States.

There were nearly 300 people in the court room and along the corridors, and they manifested a great desire to get a look at the prisoner. This annoyed Carter and he tried to avoid facing the spectators.

After a brief argument by his attorney, A. H. Atwood, who contended that the court had the power to admit the prisoner to bail and the reading of two affidavits of physicians regarding Carter's health, Judge Hook handed down his decision. The physicians offered affidavits to the effect that the prisoner is a sufferer from neurasthemia, and if confined for any length of time will suffer mental collapse and become insane.

In his affidavit Carter said he wanted to be released and stand a civil trial at Atlanta, Ga.

MAKES VIRTUAL SLAVES.

Scandal in South Carolina Over Hiring Contracts in Vogue.

A special from Spartanburg says: The state of South Carolina is confronted with a monumental scandal. The convict lease system has been used to cover up practical slavery, and Anderson county was the first to develop the fact.

Judge Benet in a special charge to the grand jury at Anderson characterized the saystem of labor practiced on some of the farms of the most prominent men of Anderson county as a shameful practice and instructed the grand jury to investigate. He has called a special term of court for March 7th to have full report.

YOUNG WIDOW DISAPPEARS.

Atlanta Is Having Another "Mysteriously Missing" Sensation.

An Atlanta dispatch of Thursday says: Mrs. H. M. Wilson, a beautiful young widow who has been living at 82 Auburn avenue, mysteriously disappeared on last Monday morning in company with Will Hamilton, a young student of pharmacy, and as a result her mother lies prostrate with grief and the whole family share the belief that she has been made the victim of some foul plot. The mystery shrouding the disappearance continues to grow as time passes and no word is received from the missing couple.

AIMED AT SECRETARY GAGE.

Scandal Over Sale of Old Custom House Aired in House Debate.

A Washington dispatch says: The events in connection with the sale of the old New York custom house to the National City bank, which heretofore has been the subject of much comment, occupied the center of the stage during the debate on the Sundry civil appropriation bill in the house Thursday. Much excitement attended the debate.

RUSSIA ANGERED AT GAGE'S ACTION

She Hits a Hard Lick At American Commerce.

IS RETALIATORY MOVEMENT

Placing of Countervailing Duty On Czar's Sugar May Prove Disastrous.

A special from St. Petersburg, Russia, says: The finance minister, M. De Witte, has proved his ability to hit quick and had. He was evidently prepared for reprisals before Secretary Gage took final action. M. De Witte sent to the senate Wednesday for publication an ordinance levying 30 per cent increased duty on the most important American imports into Russia. The ordinance becomes effective March 1st, and requires that the articles affected be accompanied upon importation by a certificate of origin. The ordinance affects all sorts of iron and steel goods from unworked iron castings to sewing machines.

GRAVE CRISIS BROUGHT ABOUT.

Count Cassini, the Russian ambassadors at Washington received a cablegram Saturday afternoon from the Russian foreign office confirming the report of the issue of the decree, and took steps to inform the state department accordingly. It is realized that a grave crisis has been reached in the trade relations between the United States and Russia.

The immediate effect of the Russian decree, when sit becomes operative, will be to increase by 50 per cent the duties on American machinery, steel and iron goods. These goods already enjoy two separate reductions, 30 per cent being taken off from the general and 20 per cent from the convention duties. The articles referred to in the Russian decree are machinery and tools of every kind, manufactures and products of cast iron and steel. Roughly stated the United States is said to have exported goods of this descripion to Russia last year to the amount of $30,000,000. The addition of 50 per cent duty will, it is thought, prove prohibitory.

The action taken means that the Russian government will not concern itself with a test case nor await the issue of such a case. However, there is an expectation that the American importers of the Russian sugar will make the fight in their own interest. Some cargoes of Russian sugar are now afloat and on the way to the United States, where at least one is due to arrive in the next ten days. It is not doubted that the consignees in the United States will, rather than pay the countervailing duty, which would make it impossible to compete with other sugar, make up a test case. If the issue favors the Russian side, then the obnoxious decree will be amended, though it is not denied that the Russian government feels offended.

FAMILY IS MURDERED

Negro In Louisiana Commits a Fiendish Crime and Lynching Follows.

A negro named Thomas Jackson was lynched Sunday at St. Peter, La., a station on the Texas and Pacific road, about twenty miles above New Orleans. Jackson's crime was particularly fiendish. About 9 o'clock in the morning he visited the home of Alex Bourgeois, the engineer of the drainage machine on Belle Point plantation, some distance from the plantation quarters, going there on a trycicle. He told Bourgeois the manager wanted him, and the engineer mounted the trycicle with him. A little way further on Jackson stabbed the engineer in the back and threw the body into a ditch. He then returned to the house and butchered Mrs. Bourgeois and her two babies and ransacked the house.

Carter's Friends Undaunted.

L. D. Carter, uncle of Oberlin Carter, left Leavenworth, Kas., Saturday for Washington to continue the fight to secure the release of the ex-captain from the federal prison. He will appeal from the decision of Judge Hook, to release Carter on bond.

NEWSPAPAR MAN EXPIRES.

Gilbert Pierce, Ex-Senator, Ex-Governor and Journaisit Dead.

Gilbert A. Pierce, formerly United States senator from North Dakota, and in 1883 territorial governor of Dakota, died at his apartments in the Lexington hotel, Chicago, Friday, after a long illness.

Mr. Pierce had a wide experience in the newspaper field, both prior and subsequent to his election to the United States senate.

A "SHANGHIA" RUMOR.

Report That Seven Nations Have Decided to Fight China.

It is reported in Tien Tsin that seven nations have declared war against China.

It is asserted that the real reason for the deadlock in Pekin is a difference of opinion between the foreign envoys and the military authorities, the former favoring a withdrawal of the troops to Tien Tsin and the latter urging a forward movement.

The Tien Tsin dispatch regarding the reported declaration of war against China is not confirmed from any source.

LEGISLATORS ON A JUNKET.

Heavy Exports of Lumber from Mobile.

A LARGE ORDER OF CARS

Sunday School Association Will Hold Convention—New Rolling Mill at Anniston.

Legislators go to Florida.

The Alabama legislators adjourned to Florida last Friday, and they were completely captured by the people of that State, more especially the western portion, which is so earnestly seeking to become a part of Alabama. The special train bearing the legislative party arrived in Pensacola Saturday morning at an early hour over the Louisville and Nashville Railroad. The party consisted of some 225 persons, being largely composed of the members, their wives and daughters. When the Alabamians left their sleeping cars they were provided with meal tickets by the Pensacola committee and for the day the city was at their command. At 9:30 o'clock the Alabamians were taken on board the tug Columbia for a trip down Pensacola Bay.

First the great United States battleships now lying in the bay were visited and the inspection of these vessels proved not the least interesting event of the day's outing. The flagship Kearsarge was first visited, and the visitors were cordially received and most courteously treated.

The Alabama was next visited. The visitors were accorded a hearty greeting by Captain Bronson and his men, and the Alabamians were made to feel that they really had an interest in the vessel which has been named for their beloved State.

Exports of Lumber From Mobile.

Exports of lumber through the port of Mobile in January were:

Sawn timber—France, 3,068,000 feet; Germany, 1,154,000; Italy, 707,000; Netherlands, 504,000; England, 4,162,000; Scotland, 1,096 000; British Africa, 705,000. Total, 11,396,000 feet.

Hewn timber—Germany, 8,744 cubic feet, equal to 104,320 superficial feet; Italy, 3654 cubic feet, or 43,848 superficial feet. Total, 12,398 cubic feet, or 148,768 superficial feet.

Timber, logs, etc.—Mexico, in value, $481; Cuba, $308. Total, $789.

Boards, deals, planks—France, 195,000 feet; Germany, 521,000; Italy, 93,000; England, 514,000: Gautemala, 1,000; Honduras, 25,000; Mexico, 38,000; British West Indies, 105,000; Cuba, 3 428,000; Argentine Republic, 2,912,000; Colombia, 59,000; Uruguay, 813,000; British Africa, 24,000. Total, 8,753,000 feet.

All other lumber—Uruguay, in value, $1272.

Manufacturers of lumber—Gautemala, in value, $138; Mexico, $228; Cuba, $194; Colombia, $98. Total, $658.

The Anniston yarn mill is being fitted up with machinery, and it is expected that this factory will be spinning yarn before April 30. The two sister mills in the same city, erected during 1900, Adalaide and the Woodstock, are in operation, and are doing well.

Seven Business Houses Burned.

Early Saturday morning fire broke out in the business section of Clanton, and the town was at one time threatened with total destruction. The estimated loss is $40,000. Most of the places destroyed were general merchandise stores. They were as follows: A. Powell, general merchandise, occupying two buildings; W. T. Callen, merchant; C. W. Robinson, general merchandise; Mrs. G. L. Phillips, millinery; J. E Evans, general merchandise; A. C. Smith, merchant. All the buildings were frame structures.

Demopolis Cement Plant.

Work is being pushed on the cement plant at Demopolis. The mill will be equipped at present with a capacity of 500 barrels per day, but only half of the force is expended in this, so that as soon as everything gets straightened out it will be easy to increase to full capacity, or 1000 barrels a day.

New Sawmills.

The Bridgeport Woodenw[illegible] facturing Company has [illegible] machinery and secured [illegible] men for the manufacture of [illegible] which from now on will [illegible] the company's output.

Capt. H. L. Wood has p[illegible] tract of land near Demop[illegible] he will erect a saw, planing [illegible] gle mill. The style of the [illegible] be the H. L. Wood Lumber [illegible] The capacity of the sawm[illegible] 25,000 feet daily; the pl[illegible] feet daily and the shingle [illegible] 000.

F. C. Turner & Co., of M[illegible] rebuilt their sash, door and [illegible] tory, recently destroyed by [illegible] have resumed work. The [illegible] is of the latest design and [illegible] ern make.

George Johnson's dry kil[illegible] was destroyed by fire recen[illegible]

E. C. and W. V. Grace [illegible] moved their stave plant fr[illegible] head, Miss., to Birmingham [illegible] actively engaged in erecti[illegible] buildings.

New Rolling Mill

The Anniston Rolling [illegible] pany, capital $50,000, has [illegible] corporated at Anniston. T[illegible] are: Thomas J. Rowley, p[illegible] William Davies, secretary [illegible] urer; Ernest F. Rowley, sa[illegible] ent. All of the officers of [illegible] pany are practical rolling [illegible] and are from Birmingham [illegible] they have been connected [illegible] nent capacities with large co[illegible] of a similar character.

Two Hundred Cars Ord[illegible]

Orders for the building of [illegible] cars have been received by [illegible] ton plant of the Southern [illegible] Foundry Company. Work [illegible] at once on the new order[illegible] plant will be kept busy fill[illegible] Fifty stock cars for the [illegible] Railway company will be [illegible] fifty flats will be made for [illegible] taw, Oklahoma & Gulf railr[illegible] largest order, that of 100 c[illegible] from the New Orleans & N[illegible] railroad.

Sunday-school Association.

March 31 has been desi[illegible] twentieth century beat [illegible] day in Jefferson county, and [illegible] date beat conventions will be [illegible] practically all the beats in th[illegible] by the Sunday-school As[illegible] At least thirty-two convent[illegible] be held and they will be p[illegible] in by not less than 12,000 [illegible] persons.

Work on Ship Canal s[illegible]

The appropriation for w[illegible] ship canal of Mobile bay ha[illegible] hausted and the work stopp[illegible] will be no more work done [illegible] other appropriation becomes [illegible] and a new contract is ma[illegible] Rossel thinks this cannot be [illegible] fore the 1st of May, if [illegible] moves smoothly and the [illegible] tion is made immediately [illegible]

New Broom Factory

The Tuscumbia Broom M[illegible] ing Company has been orga[illegible] number of well-known bus[illegible] with a capital stock sufficie[illegible] chase the necessary mach[illegible] equipping a [illegible] industry of [illegible] capable of manufacturing s[illegible] dred brooms daily and to [illegible] plant successfully.

"Carrollton now has tele[illegible] nection with Dillburg, Vir[illegible] conia, Bridgeville, Garden[illegible] ville and Columbus."

The Anniston carpet [illegible] thirty-five looms in operati[illegible] turning out 6000 yards of [illegible] pet weekly and have order[illegible] to run the mill five mo[illegible] more looms are now bei[illegible] Much of the product of th[illegible] going to Chicago, rolls [illegible] 130 yards each being turne[illegible]

The governor Friday [illegible] nominated Col. W. W. Br[illegible] Adjutant General of the [illegible] National Guard. Colonel [illegible] has made an excellent offi[illegible] appointment will be very [illegible] to the citizen soldiery of th[illegible]

Sicilian bandits and G[illegible] taineers have much to lea[illegible] superior Occidental meth[illegible] Omaha kidnappers in e[illegible] ransom.

If fish is a brain food [illegible] dents along the Nile a[illegible] short on brains. Not v[illegible] plentiful in that river, h[illegible] 2200 varieties.

L. ARP'S LETTER

[illegible] Is Besieged With [illegible] For Information.

[illegible] PEOPLE SEEK KNOWLEDGE.

[illegible] Sorely Regrets Inability to [illegible] All of Them Would Be Gratified.

[illegible] and honored to receive [illegible] day from young girls and [illegible] south asking for information [illegible] subject or for help in [illegible] or for a start in a [illegible] start. These young [illegible] generally from the country, [illegible] are scarce and their eager [illegible] knowledge and mental im[illegible] is very gratifying. I wish [illegible] three or four men so that I [illegible] to all their letters and [illegible] their requests. I reply [illegible] as I can, but I cannot take [illegible] write compositions, even if it [illegible] to do so. One boy begs me to [illegible] speech, a humorous speech, [illegible] up by asking me please to [illegible] so that he may take choice. [illegible] that some of the good ladies [illegible] Atlanta Woman's club are mov[illegible] the country schools with [illegible] libraries of good books and the [illegible] railway has donated neat [illegible] for them. This, of course, [illegible] county, but it is a move [illegible] right direction, and will, no [illegible] stimulate the ladies of other [illegible] to do the same thing. It is the [illegible] thing that I have heard of a [illegible] club doing. The desire for [illegible] read is almost universal [illegible] young people of the rural [illegible] and they should be encour[illegible] Books are cheaper than ever [illegible] own, and cheap bookcases [illegible] for a few dollars each.

[illegible] at all intimate with Mr. [illegible] but if I was I would whisper [illegible] philanthropic ear and suggest [illegible] his attention for awhile [illegible] towns and villages and let the [illegible] alone. Our Cartersville [illegible] Club is struggling hard to [illegible] up their little library, but are [illegible] by the men of the [illegible] Their books are out all the [illegible] are read and re-read by [illegible] children whose fathers do [illegible] dollar to help maintain the [illegible] This may be thoughtlessness, [illegible] I have suggested that the ladies [illegible] and see who will give 50 [illegible] cents, or even 10 cents a [illegible] to keep up the supply and pay [illegible] rent and incidental ex[illegible] Of course the character of [illegible] must be thoroughly consid[illegible] Nothing sectional or trashy or [illegible] but only those that "point [illegible] or adorn a tale." Every pub[illegible] should have a burning com[illegible] such as they have at Forsyth, [illegible]

[illegible] boy from Alabama writes [illegible] name is John Jones, and wants [illegible] when and how he got it; says [illegible] and grandfather had the [illegible], but they died without [illegible] where they got it. He says his [illegible] is named Will Higgin[illegible] and he, too, wants to know [illegible] his name came from. I admire [illegible] curiosity, for our name is [illegible] and every boy ought to [illegible] put it up and what it reads. [illegible] is too big a thing to tell [illegible] names in a letter like [illegible] must tell Jack and Bill [illegible]

[illegible] as old as the Christian era, [illegible] "Whom Jehovah loves." I [illegible] very well who lived near [illegible] his four sons were named [illegible] Mark, Luke and John, and his [illegible] daughters were named Mary and [illegible] Those good old time people [illegible] reverence for the Bible and [illegible] names. One of my father's cus[illegible] was named Shadrack Bogan, [illegible] three sons were Shadrack, [illegible] and Abednego. Another [illegible] David Allan, named his [illegible], and for a wonder he was [illegible] and made a good man, and [illegible] David, had no occasion to [illegible] "Oh, Absalom, my son, my son!" [illegible] in the course of time the peo[illegible] and multiplied so that [illegible] had to have two names, [illegible] to distinguish them, and so [illegible] was called Johnson in Eng[illegible] John Johns in Welsh. After [illegible] it became John Jones. The [illegible] are all of Welsh origin. The [illegible] was a brave, religious people, [illegible] the English for many cen[illegible] They never did submit until [illegible] promised that no king should [illegible] except one born on their [illegible] and he should be called the prince [illegible] King Edward's son hap[illegible] to be born at a beautiful little [illegible] town named Caernavron, and [illegible] accepted him as their future [illegible] called him the prince of [illegible] and that is how the title start[illegible] King Edward II.

[illegible] there was another Welsh [illegible] distinguishing the son from [illegible] The little word "Ap" [illegible] of, and it used to be writ[illegible] Jones, but in course of [illegible] little middle word was drop[illegible] It is a little singular that away [illegible] the tenth century the [illegible] who had been fighting [illegible] in civil wars for two han[illegible] at last made friends and [illegible] up Howell for their king, [illegible] a son named Evan. He [illegible] man, and his subjects al[illegible] him Howell Da—Howell [illegible] That must be our Evan, of [illegible] Constitution. He has [illegible] hid out all these years. I [illegible] chamber of commerce gave [illegible] yesterday and Evan Howell

New Sawmills.

The Bridgeport Woodenw[illegible] facturing Company has a[illegible] machinery and secured exp[illegible] men for the manufacture of [illegible] which from now on will be [illegible] the company's output.

Capt. H. L. Wood has pu[illegible] tract of land near Demopo[illegible] he will erect a saw, planing [illegible] gle mill. The style of the [illegible] be the H. L. Wood Lumber C[illegible] The capacity of the sawmill [illegible] 25,000 feet daily, the plane[illegible] feet daily and the shingle [illegible] 000.

F. C. Turner & Co., of Mob[illegible] rebuilt their sash, door and b[illegible] tory, recently destroyed by [illegible] have resumed work. The m[illegible] is of the latest design and m[illegible] ern make.

George Johnson's dry kiln, a[illegible] was destroyed by fire recently.

E. C. and W. V. Grace h[illegible] moved their stave plant fro[illegible] head, Miss., to Birmingham, [illegible] actively engaged in erecting [illegible] buildings.

New Rolling Mill.

The Anniston Rolling M[illegible] pany, capital $50,000, has [illegible] corporated at Anniston. The[illegible] are: Thomas J Rowley, p[illegible] William Davies, secretary a[illegible] urer; Ernest F. Rowley, supe[illegible] ent. All of the officers of [illegible] pany are practical rolling m[illegible] and are from Birmingham, [illegible] they have been connected i[illegible] nent capacities with large corp[illegible] of a similar character.

Two Hundred Cars Order[illegible]

Orders for the building of [illegible] cars have been received by the [illegible] ton plant of the Southern [illegible] Foundry Company. Work w[illegible] at once on the new orders [illegible] plant will be kept busy filling [illegible] Fifty stock cars for the [illegible] Railway company will be [illegible] fifty flats will be made for th[illegible] taw, Oklahoma & Gulf railro[illegible] largest order, that of 100 car[illegible] from the New Orleans & Nort[illegible] railroad.

Sunday-school Association [illegible]tion.

March 31 has been desig[illegible] twentieth century beat co[illegible] day in Jefferson county, and [illegible] date beat conventions will be [illegible] practically all the beats in th[illegible] by the Sunday-school Asso[illegible] At least thirty-two conventi[illegible] be held and they will be par[illegible] in by not less than 12,000 t[illegible] persons.

Work on Ship Canal Stop[illegible]

The appropriation for wo[illegible] ship canal of Mobile bay has [illegible] hausted and the work stopped. [illegible] will be no more work done [illegible] other appropriation becomes [illegible] and a new contract is made. [illegible] Rossel thinks this cannot be d[illegible] fore the 1st of May if e[illegible] moves smoothly and the o[illegible] tion is made immediately a[illegible]

New Broom Factory.

The Tuscumbia Broom Ma[illegible] ing Company has been orga[illegible] number of well-known busi[illegible] with a capital stock sufficie[illegible] chase the necessary machi[illegible] equipping a [illegible] industry of th[illegible] capable of manufacturing se[illegible] dred brooms daily, and to o[illegible] plant successfully.

"Carrollton now has telep[illegible] nection with Pittsburg, Vien[illegible] coma, Bridgeville, Garden[illegible] ville and Columbus."

The Anniston carpet m[illegible] thirty-five looms in operation [illegible] turning out 6000 yards of in[illegible] pet weekly and have orders [illegible] to run the mill five mont[illegible] more looms are now being [illegible] Much of the product of this [illegible] going to Chicago, rolls [illegible] 130 yards each being turned [illegible]

The governor Friday [illegible] nominated Col. W. W. Bra[illegible] Adjutant General of the [illegible] National Guard. Colonel [illegible] has made an excellent offic[illegible] appointment will be very [illegible] to the citizen soldiery of the [illegible]

Sicilian bandits and Gre[illegible] taineers have much to learn [illegible] superior Occidental method[illegible] Omaha kidnappers in co[illegible] ransom.

If fish is a brain food th[illegible] dents along the Nile shou[illegible] short on brains. Not only [illegible] plentiful in that river, but [illegible] 2200 varieties.

ARP'S LETTER

[illegible]her Is Besieged With [illegible]ests For Information.

[illegible]EOPLE SEEK KNOWLEDGE.

[illegible] Sorely Regrets Inability to [illegible] All of His Would-Be [illegible]

[illegible]pleased and honored to receive [illegible] every day from young girls and [illegible] the south asking for infor[illegible] on some subject or for help in [illegible] decide on for a start in a com[illegible] just a start. These young [illegible] generally from the country, [illegible] are scarce and their eager[illegible] knowledge and mental im[illegible] is very gratifying. I wish [illegible] three or four men so that I [illegible] good to all their letters and [illegible] their requests. I reply [illegible] as I can, but I cannot take [illegible] write compositions, even if it [illegible] to do so. One boy begs me to [illegible] a speech, a humorous speech, [illegible] up by asking me please to [illegible] so that he may take choice. [illegible] that some of the good ladies [illegible] Atlanta Woman's club are mov[illegible] supply the country schools with [illegible] series of good books and the [illegible] railway has donated neat [illegible] for them. This, of course, [illegible] Fulton county, but it is a move [illegible] right direction, and will, no [illegible] stimulate the ladies of other [illegible] do the same thing. It is the [illegible] thing that I have heard of a [illegible] club doing. The desire for [illegible] to read is almost universal [illegible] the young people of the rural [illegible] and they should be encour[illegible] Books are cheaper than ever [illegible] known, and cheap bookcases [illegible] had for a few dollars each.

[illegible] not at all intimate with Mr. [illegible] but if I was I would whisper [illegible] in his ear and suggest [illegible] turn his attention for a while [illegible] towns and villages and let the [illegible] alone. Our Cartersville [illegible] Club is struggling hard to [illegible] their little library, but are [illegible] encouraged by the men of the [illegible] Their books are out all the [illegible] and are read and re-read by [illegible] the children whose fathers do [illegible] a dollar to help maintain the [illegible] This may be thoughtlessness, [illegible] have suggested that the ladies [illegible] and see who will give 50 [illegible] 25 cents, or even 10 cents a [illegible] to keep up the supply and pay [illegible] rent and incidental ex[illegible] Of course the character of [illegible] must be the roughly consid[illegible] Nothing sectional or trashy or [illegible] but only those that "point [illegible] adorn a tale." Every pub[illegible] should have a burning com[illegible] such as they have at Forsyth.

[illegible] boy from Alabama writes [illegible] name is John Jones, and wants [illegible] when and how he got it; says [illegible] and grandfather had the [illegible] name, but they died without [illegible] where they got it. He says his [illegible] is named Will Higgin[illegible] and he, too, wants to know [illegible] name came from. I admire [illegible] curiosity, for our name is [illegible] board and every boy ought to [illegible] put it up and what it reads. [illegible] it is too big a thing to tell [illegible] names in a letter like [illegible] I must tell Jack and Bill [illegible]

[illegible] as old as the Christian era, [illegible] "Whom Jehovah loves." I [illegible] man very well who lived near [illegible] his four sons were named [illegible], Mark, Luke and John, and his [illegible] ters were named Mary and [illegible] Those good old time people [illegible] reverence for the Bible and [illegible] names. One of my father's cus[illegible] was named Shadrack Bogan, [illegible] three sons were Shadrack, [illegible] and Abedinego. Another [illegible], David Allan, named his [illegible] Solom, and for a wonder he was [illegible] boy and made a good man, and [illegible], David, had no occasion to [illegible] Absalom, my son, my son!" [illegible] in the course of time the peo[illegible] pased and multiplied so that [illegible] children had to have two names, [illegible] to distinguish them, and so [illegible] was called Johnson in Eng[illegible] John Johns in Welsh. After [illegible] it became John Jones. The [illegible] are all of Welsh origin. The [illegible] were a brave, religious people, [illegible] fight the English for many con[illegible] They never did submit until [illegible] promised that no king should [illegible] them, except one born on their [illegible] and he should be called the prince [illegible]. King Edward's son hap[illegible] to be born at a beautiful little [illegible] town named Carnarvon, and [illegible] Welsh accepted him as their future [illegible] and called him the prince of [illegible] and that is how the title start[illegible] was King Edward II.

[illegible] there was another Welsh [illegible] distinguishing the son from [illegible]. The little word "Ap" [illegible] son of, and it used to be writ[illegible] as Ap Jones, but in course of [illegible] little middle word was drop[illegible]

[illegible] is a little singular that away [illegible] in the tenth century the [illegible] people who had been fighting [illegible] in civil wars for two hun[illegible] years at last made friends and [illegible] David ap Howell for their king, [illegible] had a son named Evan. He [illegible] good man, and his subjects al[illegible] called him Howell Da—Howell [illegible]. That must be our Evan, of [illegible] Atlanta Constitution. He has [illegible] hid out all these years. I [illegible] the chamber of commerce gave [illegible] met yesterday and Evan Howell responded to the toast "Good Fellowship." That suited him exactly, I know, and had I been there I would have told how his great ancestor was called the "Da" and was the last King of Wales. I called him over the telephone this morning and said, "Hello Da!" and he answered "Here!"

Now, about Bill Higginbotham. That is old Anglo Saxon, and means a mountain ark. The old name was hicken. Probably the old ancestor took his name from an ash tree that shades his house. Names were scarce and people took their surnames from objects of nature, such as hill, fountain, dale, peak, pine, plant, oaks, chestnut, grub, twigs, branch, water, pool, moon, star, cloud and so forth; or from their occupations as baker, farmer, carpenter, mason, miller, gardener, granger and all the family of smiths who were the smiters of iron and silver and gold.

All who were detailed to watch for an invading enemy were called smiters or smiths. John Smith was originally John, the smiter. Captain John Smith was an illustrious type of that class. When names were too long to pronounce readily, they were shortened up. Peter, who lived at the Seven Oaks, was called Peter Svnoaks; then Peter Snooks, and that's how our Atlanta friend came by his name.

The name Coward was originally cow herd—a herder of cattle—and was not improved much by the change. The adjutant of our brigade was named Coward, and the army had no braver soldier. He lost an arm at Chickahominy. He always signed his name A. Coward, adj't. genl., and being asked why he did not sign his full name, said: "Well, my first name, unfortunately, is Adam, and it is not quite so bad to be a coward as it is to be a-dam coward."

A few centuries ago every civilized nation had to adopt a prefix or a suffix so as to prevent the confusion of names. The English added son to most of their names, as Johnson, Williamson, Jackson, Thompson, etc. The Scotch prefix with Mac. Irish with Mac or Mc for son and O for grandson. The French took De or Du. The Normans used Fitz or fils (from Latin of filius, a son). The Russians took vitch from the same word.

Then there are many nicknames to be accounted for, such as Bob, Bill, Dick, Jack, Jim, Sally, Polly, Betsy, etc. I don't know how these started, but some of them came out of the collieries of England and the quarries of Wales, for every miner has a nickname as Noxey, Soaker, Shanks, Jigger or something easy to call. I had a schoolmate whose name was Milville Young. One day he was trying to do a sum in Fellowship at the blackboard and wrote down what he intended—To-D—but it looked like tod, and the teacher said, "What do you mean by tod?" That was enough for the boys. They began to call him Tod, and they never quit, and he was known as Tod Young all his after life.

But the girls are not so much interested in names, for almost every girl expects to change hers when the right young man comes along. She is not obliged to marry a man named Cruikshanks or Snoozlefanter or Hogg, but I've known them to do it, and they did very well.

P. S.—In my last letter the types made me to say 236,000 confederate soldiers. It should be 766,000, all told from the beginning to the end of the war.—BILL ARP in Atlanta Constitution.

Australia does not propose that her light shall be hid under a bushel. The lighthouse at Sydney is served by electricity, with 180,000 candle power, and the light itself can be seen for fifty miles at sea.

Charles R. Flint thinks that, with our untold natural resources, with out inexhaustible supply of metals and coal, with out great forests, with every variety of soil and climate, with the most industrious, most intelligent and most contented of peoples working under the best conditions of modern methods, Americans are destined to become the economic masters of the world.

Facts and figures and details from over sea show that a French railroad is now running the fastest daily express in the world, and that the laurels of the Flying Dutchman, the Flying Scotchman, the Irish Mail and the swiftest of American trains are now withered. Can it be that our Yankee ambition for the international championship with space-devouring engines will permit our Gallic friends to retain the blue ribbon? Perish the thought! We ould tax finest locomotives, and we ought to defy competition in the speed of our expresses.

Like a leaf out of an old-fashioned novel or a scene from what London would call "the transpontine melodrama," is the story that the London Daily Mail publishes from Scotland. For thirty years no man has seen the face of the hermit "Laird of the Fife Isle estate," near Dundee. For some reason he withdrew even from his servants, and when he required food it was placed near his door, a bell was sounded, the maid withdrew—and the Laird ate in solemn solitude. Well, the old hermit is dead, and a young fellow in the Seaforth Highlanders, now in the Soudan, has fallen heir to the millions.

WRITING BY ELECTRICITY.

Telautographs Invented Both in England and America.

According to the London Electrician, the Ritchie telautograph, while possessing certain fundamental features in common with the Gray telautograph, has certain interesting characteristics of its own. The salient features are two conducting circuits, each with ground return, one for one rectangular component and the other for the other rectangular component of the motion of the pen. The instrument dots its "i's" and crosses its "t's," and appears to render a fairly good copy of the sender's handwriting. There is also a telephone attachment for oral communication. The receiving apparatus are really two powerful galvanometers, with locally excited electromagnets. In view of its tests the apparatus seems to be applicable to lines which are comparatively short, and it does not appear that it could compete with the ordinary telegraph in speed, as the best it can do would be 25 words a minute over two conducting wires, while the Morse circuit would give the same speed over each of the two wires. The chief advantage of the system would be to dispense with the services of skilled operators at the station, and its greatest possibility would seem to be use as an adjunct to telephones in business offices. With it signatures could be made to documents, and other transactions of like nature might be carried on at a distance, but at the same time the complexity of the present telephone system is great enough to defer adding to it with a still more complicated system of telautographic instruments. The experiments thus far have shown that writing and sketches are reproduced legibly and distinctly, and, while the handwriting is somewhat distorted, its character does not disappear.

It is reported from Kansas City that three electricians there have invented a telautograph, which they call a postal electrodupligraph, which they claim will duplicate, through any distance, any manuscript, whether written or printed. The inventors have not yet patented the apparatus, and pending the application refuse to divulge the exact manner in which the work is done. They say, however, that it is a sort of photographic process, through the use of certain electric currents. The copy on the receiving end is produced by the action of electricity on a certain kind of chemically prepared paper, the cost of which is but a little more than that of ordinary paper. Enormous speed is claimed, and the inventor declares that the system is simpler than that of the telephone.

Power From a Solar Motor.

A device for the utilization of the sun's heat in creating power has just been put into operation at South Pasadena, Cal. The device comprises a funnel-shaped reflector 33 1-2 feet in diameter at the top and 15 feet at the bottom, and containing on its surface 1,788 mirrors. The reflector is set on two fixed supports in such a manner that it may follow the movement of the sun, and is kept in focus by clock-work. The adjustment of the mirrors is such that the sun's rays are concentrated on a boiler, tubular in form, 13 1-2 feet in length, with a capacity of 100 gallons of water and eight feet additional for steam space. The concentration of heat is capable of raising the temperature to several thousand degrees, but the boiler is prevented from being superheated by the water within it, which is brought to 350 or 400 degrees. The engine is fed and the supply of water in the boiler is maintained automatically and the only attention necessary to operate the machine is to adjust the mirror to focus and set in operation in the morning. This motor is pumping from a large underground tank at the rate of 1,400 gallons a minute.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Analytical Portraiture.

The idea of combining many pictures in one composite photograph, so as to get a type face, was brought out nearly twenty years ago by Francis Galton, F. R. S., who has now devised the opposite plan of analytical portraiture in which it is sought to record what is individual in the expression by combining different photographs of the same face. Two portraits, for example, may show a man with normal expression and when he is smiling. On placing a carefully made positive of one picture on a negative of the other, details common to both are obliterated, and the result is that only the smile is left. When the process is fully worked out, it is expected to give physiologists and artists an important means of analyzing expression. From the portrait mentioned, it has been learned already that the smile is an act involving the whole face, and not, as we have been led to believe, simply a few muscles around the mouth.

A Floating Monte Carlo.

A syndicate has been formed for a floating Monte Carlo to be moored off the English coast somewhere just beyond the three-mile limit. Negotiations are pending for an obsolete Atlantic liner, which would be turned into a miniature casino, at a total cost including the first outlay for the hulk, of $250,000. The idea is to provide a haunt for gamblers within easy reach of London, but beyond the reach of the betting laws of the realm; and, of course, capital for running the tables would have to be provided to the additional tune of some hundred thousand pounds. It is understood that the Brighton coast is thought of.—Norwich (Eng.) Daily Press.

REV DR. TALMAGE

DISCOURSE BY THE EMINENT DIVINE LAST SUNDAY.

Subject: Speak For the Right—Diabolical Agencies Active—Silence is Not Golden While There Are Evils—Be Ready When Christianity is Assailed.

[Copyrighted 1887.]

WASHINGTON, D. C.—In this discourse Dr. Talmage calls for a more demonstrative religion and a hearty speaking out on the right side of everything; text, Mark ix. 25, "Thou dumb and deaf spirit, I charge thee, come out of him."

Here was a case of great domestic anguish. The son of the household was possessed of an evil spirit, which among other things paralyzed his tongue and made him speechless. When the influence was on the patient he could not say a word—articulation was impossible. The spirit that captured this member of the household was a dumb spirit—so called by Christ—a spirit abroad to-day and as lively and potent as in New Testament times. Yet, in all the realms of sermonology I cannot find a discourse concerning this devil which Christ charged upon in my text, saying, "Come out of him."

There has been much destructive superstition abroad in the world concerning possession of evil spirits. Under the form of belief in witchcraft this delusion swept the continents. Persons were supposed to be possessed with some evil spirit which made them able to destroy others. In the sixteenth century in Geneva 1500 persons were burned to death as witches. Under one judge, in Lorraine, 900 persons were burned to death as witches. In one neighborhood of France 1000 persons were burned. In two centuries 200,000 persons were slain as witches. So mighty was the delusion that it included among its victims some of the greatest intellects of all time, such as Chief Justice Matthew Hale and Sir Edward Coke, and such renowned ministers of religion as Cotton Mather, one of whose books Benjamin Franklin said shaped his life—and Richard Baxter and Archbishop Cranmer and Martin Luther, and among writers and philosophers Lord Bacon. That belief which has become the laughing stock of all sensible people counted its disciples among the wisest and best people of Sweden, Germany, England, France, Spain and New England. But while we reject witchcraft, any man who believes the Bible must believe that there are diabolical agencies abroad in the world. While there are ministering spirits to bless there are infernal spirits to hinder, to poison and to destroy. Christ was speaking to a spiritual existence when standing before the afflicted one of the text He said, "Thou dumb and deaf spirit, come out of him."

Against this dumb devil of the text I put you on your guard. Do not think that this agent of evil has put his blight on those who by omission of the vocal organs have had the golden gates of speech bolted and barred. Among those who have never spoken a word are the most gracious and lovely and talented souls that were ever incarnated. The chaplains of the asylums for the dumb can tell you enchanting stories of those who never called the name of father or mother or child, and many of the most devout and prayerful souls will never in this world speak the name of God or Christ.

Many a deaf mute have I seen with the angel of intelligence seated at the window of the eye, who never came forth from the door of the mouth. What a miracle of loveliness and knowledge was Laura Bridgman, of New Hampshire, not only without faculty of speech, but without hearing and without sight, all these faculties removed by sickness when two years of age, yet becoming a wonder at needlework, at the piano, at the sewing machine and an intelligent student of the Scriptures and confounding philosophers who came from all parts of the world to study the phenomenon. Thanks to Christianity for what it has done for the amelioration of the condition of the deaf and the dumb. Back in the ages they were put to death as having no right, with such paucity of equipment, to live, and for centuries they were classed among the idiotic and unsafe. But in the sixteenth century came Pedro Ponce, the Spanish monk, and in the seventeenth century came Juan Pablo Bonet, another Spanish monk, with dactylology, or the finger alphabet, and in our own century we have had John Braidwood and Drs. Mitchell and Ackerly and Peet and Gallaudet, who have given to uncounted thousands of those whose tongues were forever silent the power to spell out on the air by a manual alphabet their thoughts about this world and their hopes for the next. We rejoice in the brilliant inventions in behalf of those who were born dumb.

One of the most impressive audiences I ever addressed was in the Far West, an audience of about 600 persons, who had never heard a sound or spoken a word, an interpreter standing beside me while I addressed them. I congratulated that audience on two advantages they had over the most of us—the one that they escaped hearing a great many disagreeable things and on the other fact that they escaped saying things they were sorry for afterward.

Yet after all the alleviations of a shackled tongue is an appalling limitation. But we are not this morning speaking of congenial mutes. We mean those who are born with all the faculties of vocalization and yet have been struck by the evil one mentioned in the text—the dumb devil to whom Christ called when He said, "Thou dumb and deaf spirit, I charge thee, come out of him."

There has been apotheosization of silence. Some one has said silence is golden, and sometimes the greatest triumph is to keep your mouth shut. But sometimes silence is a crime, and the direct result of the baleful influence of the dumb devil of our text. There is hardly a man or woman who has not been present on some occasion when the Christian religion became a target for raillery. Perhaps it was over in the store some day when there was not much going on and the clerks were in a group, or it was in the factory at the noon spell, or it was out on the farm under the trees while you were resting, or it was in the clubroom, or it was in a social circle, or it was in the street on the way home from business, or it was on some occasion which you remember without my describing it. Some one got the laugh on the Bible and caricatured the profession of religion as hypocrisy or made a pun out of something that Christ said. The laugh started, and you joined in, and not one word of protest did you utter. What kept you silent? Modesty? No. Incapacity to answer? No. Lack of opportunity? No. It was a blow on both your lips by the wing of the dumb devil. If some one should malign your father or mother or wife or husband or child, you would flush up quick and either with an indignant word or doubled up fist make response. And yet here is our Christian religion, which has done so much for you and so much for the world that it will take all eternity to celebrate it, and yet when it was attacked you did not so much as say: "I differ. I object. I am sorry to hear you saw that. There is another side to this." You Christian people ought in such times as these go armed, not with earthly weapons, but with the sword of the Spirit. You ought to have four or five questions with which you could confound any man who attacks Christianity. A man ninety years old was telling me how he put to flight a scoffer. My aged friend said to the skeptic, "Did you ever read the history of Joseph in the Bible?" "Yes," said the man, "it is a fine story and as interesting a story as I ever read." "Well, now," said my old friend, "suppose that account of Joseph stopped half way?" "Oh," said the man, "then it would not be entertaining." "Well, now," said my friend, "we have in this world only half of everything, and do you not think that when we hear the last half things may be consistent and that then we may find that God was right?"

Oh, friends, better load up with a few interrogation points. You cannot afford to be silent when God and the Bible and the things of eternity are assailed. Your silence gives consent to the heartbreaks of your Father's home. You allow a slur to be cast on your mother's dying pillow. In behalf of the Christ, who for you went through the agonies of assassination on the rocky bluff back of Jerusalem, you dared not face a sickly joke. Better load up with a few questions, so that next time you will be ready. Say to the scoffer, "My dear sir, will you tell me what makes the difference between the conditions of woman in China and the United States? What do you think of the sermon on the mount? How do you like the golden rule laid down in the Scriptures? Are you in favor of the Ten Commandments? In your large and extensive reading have you come across a lovelier character than Jesus Christ? Will you please to name the triumphant deathbeds of infidels and atheists?

"How do you account for the fact that among the out-and-out believers in Christianity were such persons as Benjamin Franklin, John Ruskin, Thomas Carlyle, Babington Macaulay, William Penn, Walter Scott, Charles Kingsley, Horace Bushnell, James A. Garfield, Robert E. Lee, Stonewall Jackson, Admiral Foote, Admiral Farragut, Ulysses S. Grant, John Milton, William Shakespeare, Chief Justice Marshall, John Adams, Daniel Webster, George Washington? How do you account for their fondness for the Christian religion?

"Among the innumerable colleges and universities of the earth will you name me three started by infidels and now supported by infidels? Down in your heart are you really happy in the position you occupy antagonistic to the Christian religion?

Go at him with a few such questions, and he will get so red in the face as to suggest apoplexy, and he will look at his watch and say he has an engagement and must go. You will put him in a sweat that will beat a Turkish bath. You will put him on a rout compared with which our troops at Bull Run made no time at all.

Arm yourself, not with arguments, but interrogation points, and I promise you victory. Shall such a man as you, shall such a woman as you, surrender to one of the meanest spirits that ever smoked up from the pit—the dumb devil spoken of in the text?

But then there are occasions when this particular spirit that Christ exorcised when He said, "I charge thee to come out of him" takes people by the wholesale. In the most responsive religious audience have you noticed how many people never sing at all? They have a book, and they have a voice, and they know how to read. They know many of the tunes and yet are silent while the great raptures of music pass by. Among those who sing not one out of a hundred sings loud enough to hear his own voice. They hum it. They give a sort of religious grunt. They make the lips go, but it is inaudible. With a voice strong enough to stop a street car one block away, all they can afford in the praise of God is about half a whisper. With enough sopranos, enough altos, enough bassos to make a small heaven between the four walls, they let the opportunity go by unimproved. The volume of voice that ascends from the largest audience that ever assembled ought to be multiplied two thousandfold. But the minister rises and gives out the hymn, the organ begins, the choir or preceptor leads, the audience are standing so that the lungs may have full expansion, and a mighty harmony is about to ascend when the evil spirit spoken of in my text—the dumb devil—spreads his two wings over the lips of one-half the audience, and the other wing over the lips of the other half of the audience, and the voices roll back into the throats from which they started, and only here and there anything is heard, and nine-tenths of the holy power is destroyed, and the dumb devil, as he flies away, says, "I could not keep Isaac Watts from writing that hymn, and I could not keep Lowell Mason from composing the tune to which it is set, but I smote into silence or half silence the lips from which it would have spread abroad to bless neighborhoods and cities and then mount the wide open heavens." Give the long meter doxology the full support of Christendom and those four lines would take the whole earth for God.

This is the way I account for the fact that the stupidest places on earth are some prayer meetings. I do not see how a man keeps any grace if he regularly attends them. They are spiritual refrigerators. Religion kept on ice. How many of us have lost occasions of usefulness!

In a sculptor's studio stood a figure of the god Opportunity. The sculptor had made the hair fall down over the face of the statue so as to completely cover it, and there were wings to the feet. When asked why he so represented Opportunity the sculptor answered, "The face of the statue is thus covered up because we do not recognize Opportunity when it comes, and the wings of the feet show that Opportunity is swiftly gone."

But do not let the world deride the church because of all this, for the dumb devil is just as conspicuous in the world. The great political parties assemble at the proper time to build platforms for the candidates to stand on. A committee of each party is appointed to make the platform. After proper deliberation the committees come in with a ringing report, "whereas" and "whereas" and "whereas." Pronunciamentos all shaped with the one idea of getting the most votes. All expression in regard to the great moral evils of the country ignored. No expression in behalf of temperate living, for that would lose the vote of the liquor traffic. No expression in regard to the universal attempt at the demolition of the Lord's day. No recognition of God in the history of nations, for that would lose the vote of atheists. But "whereas" and "whereas" and "whereas." Nine cheers will be given for the platform. The dumb devil of the text puts one wing over the one platform and the other wing over the other platform. Those great conventions are opened with prayer by their chaplains. If they avoided platitudes and told the honest truth in their prayers they would say: "O Lord, we want to be postmasters and consuls and foreign ministers and United States district attorneys. For that we are here and for that we will strive till the election next November. Give us office or we die. Forever and ever, Amen."

The world, to say the least, is no better than the church on this subject of silence at the wrong time. In other words, is it not time for Christianity to become pronounced and aggressive as never before? Take sides for God and sobriety and righteousness.

"If the Lord be God, follow Him; if Baal, then follow him." Have you opportunity of rebuking a sin? Rebuke it. Have you a chance to cheer a disheartened soul? Cheer it. Have you a useful word to speak? Speak it.

Be out and out, up and down for righteousness. If your ship is afloat on the Pacific Ocean of God's mercy, hang out your colors from the masthead. Show your passport if you have one. Do not smuggle your soul into the harbor of heaven. Speak out for God! Close up the chapter of lost opportunities, and open a new chapter. Before you get to the door on your way out shake hands with some one, and ask him to join you on the road to heaven. Do not drive up to heaven in a two-wheeled "sulky" with room only for one, and that yourself, but get the biggest gospel wagon you can find, and pile it full of friends and neighbors, and shout till they hear you all up and down the skies, "Come with us, and we will do you good, for the Lord hath spoken good concerning Israel."

THE SABBATH SCHOOL

INTERNATIONAL LESSON COMMENTS FOR FEBRUARY 24.

Subject: Jesus in Gethsemane. Math. xxvi., 36-46—Golden Text, Luke xx., 46—Memory Verses, 39-46—Commentary on the Day's Lesson.

36. "Then." This was about midnight. "Cometh." After they had left the upper room where they had eaten the paschal supper. "With them." There were only eleven now; Judas was absent making arrangements for the betrayal. "Unto a place." Jesus oftentimes resorted to this quiet retreat with His disciples (John 18: 2) for refreshment, retirement, quiet instruction and perhaps prayer. "Gethsemane." The name means oil press, an emblem of trial, distress, agony. "Sit ye here." He left eight of the disciples at the entrance of the garden. "Pray." Christ frequently went alone to pray.

37. "Took with Him." Further into the garden, to a spot more retired. "Two sons of Zebedee." James and John. The three disciples Jesus took with Him had been witnesses of His transfiguration and glory, and were to behold His humiliation and agony. "Began to be sorrowful." To be penetrated with the most exquisite sorrow and overwhelmed with deep anguish. "Very heavy." Sore troubled; a stronger word than the other.

38. "Even unto death." My soul is so dissolved in sorrow. My spirit is filled with such agony and anguish, that if speedy succor be not given to My body death must be the immediate consequence. "It was an agony that would destroy His life if it continued." This sorrow He felt for the sins of a lost race, Isaiah 53:4 explains it. The agony became so great that His sweat was great drops of blood falling down to the ground. "Tarry ye here." Spoken to the three disciples. "Watch with Me." It was not a sign of human weakness that in such an hour as this Christ sought for human sympathy; this desire for fellowship in hours of darkness and of sorrow is strongest in the hearts in which love is the richest.

39. "A little farther." About a stone's cast (Luke); 150 to 200 feet. There were now three divisions to the little company—the eight, the three and Jesus alone. "On His face." This was the ordinary posture of the supplicant when the favor asked was great, and deep humiliation required. The head was put between the knees, and the forehead brought to touch the earth. "My Father." In all our addresses to God we should eye Him as a Father—as our Father, and it is in a special manner helpful to do so when we are in an agony. "If it be possible," etc. This has been generally explained in a way to make it appear that Christ was fervently asking the Father, if possible, to remove the cup of His coming death and sufferings from Him. A more satisfactory explanation is that Christ was asking the Father to remove the present cup of intense suffering, which was done when the angel came strengthening Him. Jesus knew that it was the divine purpose that He should come to the cross, and it was in harmony with this plan that He asked that the death agonies of this hour might pass from Him. Christ prayed to have the suffering that threatened His life there in the garden relieved in order that He might go on and finish. The great horror of Jesus in the garden arose, not from fear of Calvary, but from fear of failure, through physical suffering, to reach Calvary, and thus to lose all for which He left heaven. "Not as I will." If it is Thy will that I should die here in the garden instead of dying on the cross, as foretold, I submit. He was entirely resigned to His Father's will.

40. "Cometh unto the disciples." He did this three times during this awful hour. He apparently desired communion with them and the sympathy and comfort which they could give. "Asleep." Luke says they were sleeping for sorrow. And yet we cannot help feeling that if they had had a deeper sympathy with Christ and a fuller realization of the crisis they would have kept awake, and not have been found sleeping on guard. Christ's gentle reproof implies this. "Unto Peter." Peter had just made loud professions. "With Me." He was suffering for them, but only expected that they would watch with Him. "One hour." Sometimes Christ continued in prayer all night, but He only asked them to watch with Him one hour.

41. "Watch and pray." A testing time is coming, and you will need to watch carefully and pray earnestly. The Christian is in danger of falling a prey to the world, the flesh and the devil. The person who fails to watch opens the door for the tempter to enter. We should guard every avenue of approach and see to it that the enemy does not enter unawares. But watching and praying go together. Prayer without watching is hypocrisy. "Into temptation." The enemy was near at hand; they were about to undergo a very severe test. Would their faith and courage fail them? God is able to keep us from entering into temptations, even though we may be in the midst of temptations. "The spirit indeed is willing," etc. They desired to watch with Him and thus show their sympathy and love for Him, but their bodies and minds were weak.

42. "The second time." His going the second and third times shows how great was the burden, and His intense earnestness and perseverance. What an example is this to us? If it were necessary for Christ to pray three times, how many times ought we to pray?

43. "Their eyes were heavy." They could not keep them open; they were not able to resist drowsiness. Mark tells us that they knew not what to answer Him when He aroused them from their slumbers. They had no excuse to offer.

44. "The same words." They best expressed the desire of His heart. It is certainly right for God's people to use the same words in prayer again and again, when they come from hearts filled with strong desire.

45. "Sleep on now." Jesus had gained the victory. The hour for watching was over, and now they could take their rest. But how is this to be reconciled with the command to rise (v. 46)? Some think this was spoken ironically, and should be read in the form of a question. Do you still sleep on? But probably there was a short period of time before the command came to rise.

46. "Let us be going." To meet Judas and the soldiers. Jesus is ready, and He knows what is before Him. Without hesitancy He turns His face toward His terrible sufferings of the cross. He does not flee from danger, but goes willingly to His death, for for this cause came He into the world.

A prisoner in an Ohio jail has been punished because he insisted on having his striped trousers creased. It was ridiculous for the authorities to object. A man who could give thought to his personal appearance under such circumstances must have something good in him. And seeing that one of the difficulties with convicts is to make them keep neat, this fellow, instead of being punished, ought to have been made a "trusty."

THE BANNER.

Printed and Published Every Thursday at Clanton, Chilton County, Ala.

Entered at the postoffice at Clanton, Ala., as second-class mail matter.

"Here shall the press the people's rights maintain,
Unawed by influence and unbribed by gain.
Here patriot truth her glorious precepts draw,
Pledged to religion, liberty and law."

Subscription, yearly . . . $1.00
Invariably in Advance.

Address all communications to
THE BANNER,
Clanton, Ala.

OUR NEW CENTURY COMER.

THE BANNER finished the last century in excellent condition, but we wish to commence the new with a large number of new subscribers, and for that purpose have much pleasure in making the following offer:

The Banner one year (52 papers) for 75 cents.

The Banner one year and the N. Y. World Almanac and Encyclopedia for 1901, over 600 pages, $1.00

The Banner and Home & Farm, both papers one year for $1.00

The Banner and Birmingham Age Herald, both papers one year for $1.25

The Banner and Thrice-a-Week World—four papers every week for one year for $1.50

The Banner and Montgomery Advertiser, both papers one year for $1.50

The Banner and Atlanta Constitution and Home & Farm—all three for one year for $1.50

The Banner and Atlanta Constitution and your choice of a number of other periodicals—all three for 1 year for $1.50

The Banner and American Monthly Review of Reviews—both one year for $2.75

THE BANNER may possibly have been remiss in its duty to the people of Chilton county, but it has always endeavored to keep posted on all matters affecting the county. It was therefore with great surprise we read in last Friday's issue of the Montgomery Advertiser the following:

S. 457—To prevent stock from running at large in Chilton county. Passed.

We do not know who introduced this bill, nor at whose instigation it was introduced. But we do know that an overwhelming majority of the people of Chilton are strongly opposed to it, and we feel that the Senate could not have been well informed or it surely would not have passed such a bill.

We are not going to argue at this time whether stock law is good or bad for the county of Chilton—it may be good or it may be bad, that is a question for the people of Chilton to decide, and they have already declared they did not want it. If local self-government has any meaning at all, most assuredly the matter of stock running at large in an agricultural community is one that the people interested should have a voice in. Surely the Senate could not have known that Chilton county was utterly opposed to any such law, and that a county convention, called to discuss the matter had voted it down.

In political measures affecting the whole State, we can confidently say that Chilton county is willing to submit to the will of the majority, but in such an entirely local measure as a stock law for this particular county we must emphatically protest against its passage. We repeat that the Senate cannot have been well informed as to the wishes of the people of Chilton, and we earnestly hope that the House will be better instructed and will refuse to concur in its passage.

Disastrous Fire at Clanton.

(continued from 1st col., page 1)

the exception of Popwells most of the goods were saved but the two Popwells lost most of the stocks. The aggregate loss is estimated at about $4000 and no insurance.

It is expected that most of the stores will be rebuilt at once in brick. J. E. Evans has commenced a temporary structure for his present needs.

AN ORDINANCE

To establish and define the fire limits in the Town of Clanton, to regulate the erection and improving of buildings in said fire limits and to provide a penalty for the violation of the conditions of this ordinance.

Section 1. Be it ordained by the Mayor and Council of Clanton, that, that part of the Town of Clanton lying on the East side of the South and North Alabama Railroad and known as lots nine, ten, eleven, twelve, thirteen, fourteen, fifteen and sixteen in block number eight, and lots number one, two, three, four, five, six, seven and eight in block number nine; and lots number one, two, three, four, five, six, seven and eight in block number ten shown upon the official map of the Town of Clanton, be and the same is hereby declared to constitute and embrace the fire limits of the Town of Clanton.

Section 2 Be it further ordained that it shall be unlawful for any person to erect, construct or to cause or permit to be erected or constructed upon or within the area described in Section 1 of this ordinance, any frame building or building constructed of wood or to maintain any such building constructed or erected after the passage or adoption of this ordinance; or to repair or replace the roof or covering of any building, erected prior to the passage of this ordinance, within the area described in Section 1 of this ordinance, excepting that such repairing or replacing be done with slate, iron, tin or other metallic roofing.

Section 3. Be it further ordained, that no building or structure of any kind shall be erected within the area above described without the consent or permission of the Mayor and Council of Clanton, which said consent or permission shall be shown in the minutes of the proceedings of the Council of Clanton, provided, however, that the Mayor and Council may consent or permit the erection within the area above described, of frame or wooden buildings not exceeding eight feet in height, under such terms and conditions as to them may appear proper; and provided, further, that when any application is made to the Mayor or Council for consent or permission to erect any building, as provided by Section 3 of this ordinance, that the Mayor and Council may require of the party making such application, any and all desired information connected with the building sought to be erected.

Section 4. Be it further ordained, that any person who shall violate or cause to be violated any of the terms and conditions of this ordinance shall, upon conviction therefore, be fined not exceeding one hundred dollars and may also be sentenced to hard labor for a period not exceeding sixty days or both at the discretion of the Court.

Section 5. Be it further ordained, that any owner of, or any person, as agent or otherwise, who has charge of any lot situated within the fire limits as above described, who shall permit any building to remain upon said lot in violation of the terms of this ordinance, shall for each day that such building is so permitted to remain, be deemed guilty of a separate and distinct offence, and upon each conviction thereof shall be fined not less than five dollars nor more than one hundred dollars.

Passed this the 16th day of February, 1901.

J. P. VANDERVEER, Mayor.

Countersigned,

A. C. SMITH, Clerk.

Published by posting at the Court House door of Chilton county, in Clanton, Alabama, this the 16th day of February, 1901.

A. C. SMITH, Clerk.

Will Boom His Business

S. Laval, a merchant of Dallas, Tex. writes: "I thought I would have to give up business, after two years of suffering from general debility brought on by overwork and long hours, but four bottles of Electric Bitters gave me a new life. I can now eat anything, sleep well and feel like working all the time. It's the best medicine on earth." It's a wonderful tonic and health builder for tired, weak sickly and run-down people. Try it. Satisfaction guaranteed. Only 50c at Clanton drug store.

Cheaper Than Ever

SPRING GOODS COMING

ALL WINTER GOODS MUST BE SOLD UNDER COST.

BIG LINE OF CLOTHING:

Men's Suits : : : from $3 up
Boys' " : : : " 98c up

SHOES, DRY GOODS, etc.

NOW IS YOUR TIME TO BUY.

H. TOURO, Clanton.

PROGRAM TEACHERS' INSTITUTE

to be held at Verbena Feb. 22nd, and 23d.

FRIDAY, 10 a.m. Devotional Exercises.

10:30 a.m. Welcome Address, F. B. Baldwin. Response, J. W. Moore.

11 a.m. Attention, J. M. Collier, L. E. Byrum.

11:30. Current History, Judson Strock, H. L. Davis.

1:30 p.m. The Teacher and Sickness, W. M. Riddle, Albert Grant

2. Incentives to study, Thos Williams, Wm. Luther.

2:30. Best method of Reading, Prof. Williams, H. A. Askins

3:30 Why we teach Geography, Miss Ida Hore, Miss Mary Moody.

7:30. Lecture, Dr. E. R. Eldridge of Lafayette.

SATURDAY, 9:30 a.m. Requisites to successful teaching, G. L. Speer, Mrs. A. G. Dunlap.

10 Why should the State Educate her children and to what extent? R. A. Rasco, J. W. Dennis.

10:30. Graded Studies for Common Schools, R. E. R. Hicks, A. J. Neugent, Prof. Ryland.

11. Lecture, S. J. Cole of Birmingham.

1:30 p.m. Opening the Query box. Members of the Institute or others interested are at liberty to present any question which they would like to hear discussed.

We would like to see every teacher in the county at this Institute. We expect some able speakers, among them Dr. E. R. Eldridge, of Lafayette, State Supt. John W. Abercrombie and others.

Committee—J. M. Collier, G. L. Speer, A. J. Neugent, Thos. Williams, E. C. Jones, Judson Strock.

J. W. MOORE, County Supt.

Working Overtime.

Eight hour laws are ignored by those tireless, little workers—Dr. King's New Life Pills. Millions are always at work, night and day, curing Indigestion, Biliousness, Constipation, Sick Headache and all Stomach, Liver and Bowel troubles. Easy, pleasant, safe, sure. Only 25c at Clanton drug store.

Greatest In The World

Within five years Cascarets have reached the largest sale of any liver or bowel medicine in the world, simply because they cure. They have great merit and we consider the sale of over six million boxes a year our best testimonial. No matter what ails you, start using Cascarets to-day and if you are not benefitted and in every way satisfied after you have given them a fair trial you can have your money back for the asking. There is no waste. They are put up in tablet form and every tablet is stamped "C. C. C." They don't cost much—10c, 25c and 50c a box and a 50c box will furnish a whole month's treatment for the worst case. Cascarets are the best and cheapest liver and bowel regulator in the world.

CORRESPONDENCE

(cont'nued from 2d col. page 1)

think the sooner they are taught a lesson or two the better. I reckon we have all heard the Democrats squeal about a Republican committee of Congress turning out Democrats, but did you ever know of a single instance when there was not Democrats for the election committee? Not one! But in my case our party was not represented, not a single friend of mine was put on the committee. Talk about partisan action here is a case where no one has ever stated that Oliver was elected, but he holds a stolen seat on account of his politics.

Well, I have made my contest, as my friends asked me to. I have the evidence of my election beyond a doubt, and if any of the rogues doubt when I say I was counted out by a Democratic board and that a Democratic Legislature endorsed the steal, I will take pleasure in meeting such one on the stump and prove my charge just as soon as we make nomination for a constitutional convention, let our party nominate whom they may. In conclusion, permit me to say that while I have spent my money, and my case has been like tracked in the committee, I am proud to announce that I am not dependent on a set of thieves for anything, and Lord knows I hope I will never get to the place that I cannot denounce highway robbery. These charges may seem pretty hard, but at the proper time it will be a pleasure to me to meet some of the beneficiaries of this steal on the stump, and let the people decide whether my charge is true or not. It has been demonstrated of late that it makes a Democrat mighty unpopular to be straight and honest while in office. I believe in political freedom and so long as I keep my breath I expect to fight such proceedings.

Very respectfully,

L. H. REYNOLDS.

"THE BEST ON EARTH"

TAILORING

IS MADE BY

LAMM & COMPANY

CHICAGO.

RELIABLE FABRICS,
FAREST WORKMANSHIP,
ENOWNED FITS,
REASONABLE PRICES.

SOLD EXCLUSIVELY BY

W. H. Sartor, Clanton

Dealer in Everything for Everybody

NOTICE

To the taxpayers of Beat Four.

Those of you who have failed to assess your taxes for the year 1901 will please call at the circuit clerk's office when in Clanton, where you will find me and my books at any time up to March 20, 1901.

M. F. LETT, Dep. Tax As'r.

Stops the cough and Works off the cold.

Laxative Bromo-Quinine Tablets cures a cold in one day. No Cure No Pay. Price 25 cents

Shoults.

We are having some nice weather in Chilton now.

Miss Fannie Hicks visited Miss Lillie Latham Sunday.

Mr. Croford Shoults, of Lawley, visited Mr. J. J. Hicks Sunday.

Mr. Joe Hicks has returned to school again.

Mr. Jim Cash, of Vick, we are sorry to say, has gone to Texas where he will make his home for awhile.

Miss May Latham is visiting relatives at Centreville.

TWO JOLLY GIRLS.

The claim of other cough medicines to be as good as Chamberlain's are effectually set at rest in the following testimonial of Mr. C. D. Glass, an employe of Bartlett & Dennis Co., Gardiner, Me. He says: "I had kept adding to a cold and rough in the winter of 1897, trying every cough medicine I heard of without permanent help, until one day I was in the drug store of Mr Honlehan and he advised me to try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and offered to pay back my money if I was not cured. My lungs and bronchial tubes were very sore at this time, but I was completely cured by this remedy, and I have since always turned to it when I get a cold, and soon find relief. I also recommend it to my friends and am glad to say it is the best of all cough medicines." For sale by Clanton Drug Co., and D. J. Deramus, Verbena

Administrator's Notice.

The State of Alabama, } In Probate Court.
Chilton County. }

The 13th day of February, 1901.

This day came O. S. Welch, the administrator of the Estate of L. A. Welch, deceased, and filed his statements, accounts, vouchers and evidences for an annual statement of his administration of said estate according to law.

It is therefore ordered by the Court that the 4th day of March, 1901, be and it is hereby appointed a day on which to make such settlement, at which time all persons interested can appear and contest the said settlement if they think proper.

S. M. ADAMS, Judge of Probate.

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 31711.

Department of the Interior,
Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.
January 18th 1901.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Clerk of the Circuit Court, at Clanton, Ala., on March 2nd, 1901, viz: John W. Oaks. Homestead entry, No. 30673, for the Nw ¼ of Section 32 Township 22 north of Range 16 east.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz.: J. W. Jones, W. C. B. Wyatt, T. J. Wyatt W. L. Bates, all of Clanton, Ala.

ROBERT BARBER, Register.

C. R. MULLINS

AGENT FOR THE LIVERPOOL & LONDON & GLOBE FIRE INSURANCE OF ENGLAND. THE LONDON & LANCASHIRE FIRE INSURANCE CO. OF NEW YORK, formerly represented by W. L. Sampey.

THE ETNA ACCIDENT INSURANCE CO. OF HARTFORD, CONN. THE OLD MUTUAL BENEFIT LIFE INSURANCE CO. OF NEWARK, N. J. AND THE SINGER MANUFACTURING CO., the largest Sewing Machine Company in the world.

We know you are interested in the problem of getting full value for the money you spend no matter what the outlay is for. I will not presume to advise you along all lines, but when it comes to buying a Sewing Machine for yourself and family I am in a position to give some valuable suggestions. For over fifty years the Company have done nothing but study the needs and requirements of the people in the matter of Sewing Machines, and our large business is proof that we are making and furnishing what they want. The styles are the very latest, unsurpassed in lasting qualities and, best of all, the prices are reasonable, and the terms within the reach of all. We are placing our machines in the leading families all over the land and if you want the best looking, the lightest running and the best of all attachments ever bought, call for the High Arm Singer. You will find a complete stock of these machines at the Singer Office, Clanton.

Machines from $5.00 to $65.00 for cash or on time. Needles, Bands, Cams, Shuttles and Attachments, and the best and only genuine Machine Oil manufactured, every bottle bearing the Singer trade mark. 10, 15 and 25 cent bottles.

My regular office days are Saturdays and Mondays. For further particulars call on or address

C. R. MULLINS,
SINGER OFFICE CLANTON.

A WHOLESALE HOUSE FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE CONSUMER

We save you the Retailer's profit. We sell direct to the People at the same price that your Retailer pays for his goods. We buy direct from the Manufacturer and pay cash for our goods. You can buy one bottle from us at the same price your Retailer pays per dozen. $1 preparations, 50 to 75c. 50c preparations, 25 to 40c. 25c preparations, 10 to 20c. 15c preparations, 7 to 12c. 10c preparations, 5 to 8c.

OUR WHISKEY DEPARTMENT

Is the best in the State. All whiskey sold 25 per cent less than you can buy from any other firm. Try a quart of our J. MARTIN'S 5 YEAR OLD VIRGINIA RYE at 75c, if you are not satisfied that it is equal to any brand you buy elsewhere for $1, we will refund your money. Send us your orders. We are your friend and guarantee everything we sell.

COLLIER DRUG CO. 1926 First Avenue BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

NEW AND BIGGER STOCK!

To meet the increasing demands of our business we are now laying in a NEW and full line of

CLOTHING, HATS, SHOES, ETC.

all in the Latest styles and Newest Fashions.

Our GROCERIES and GENERAL MERCHANDISE are of the finest grade and always fresh.

OUR PRICES ARE BASED ON THE SMALLEST MARGIN OF PROFIT.

WE SHALL BE PLEASED TO SERVE YOU

KEMP & GILES, Clanton, Ala.

$10,000 TO BE GIVEN AWAY

WOULD YOU LIKE TO TRY FOR IT

If so, write THE WEEKLY ADVERTISER, Montgomery, Ala., for a sample copy and they will send you the list of prizes, and the conditions upon which you may get one of their great prizes to be given away during next May.

TOWN ITEMS

Chancery Court meets first Monday in February, fifth Monday in March, third Monday in June, second Monday in July, second Monday in August and first Monday in November.

CLANTON COTTON MART

Price to-day 6½ cents.

Same date last year 8¾ cents.

Bales received to date: 1900 [illegible]; 1901 [illegible]

Pinckard & Co.	2818	[illegible]
Mullins	1932	[illegible]
Wilson	372	[illegible]
Downs	582	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]	[illegible]

Rev. W. B. Dennis and wife, of Pintensville, are visiting their daughter, Mrs. W. M. Adams.

Miss Annie Rushton of [illegible] is visiting Mrs. Hayes.

Mr. Leroy Watts came down from Birmingham Tuesday.

Mrs. G. L. Phillips and J. E. Evans take this opportunity of thanking those who so kindly rendered their assistance in rescuing their goods in the late fire and for acts of kindness extended.

Mrs. G. L. Phillips who was burned out the past week, says she will continue to carry on her millinery business. See her advertisement later. She respectfully asks all persons indebted to her to please come forward and settle.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Brown, of Montgomery, have been visiting the family of Mr. W. H. Foshee the past week.

Mrs. Prescott, of Verbena, is visiting her sister, Mr. S. E. Johnson.

TO KNOW WHAT YOU ARE TAKING When you take Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic because the formula is plainly printed on every bottle showing that it is simply iron and Quinine in a tasteless form. No Cure, No Pay. 50c.

Mrs. Wm. White, of Lily, was a visitor here Saturday.

Mr. W. I. Mullins visited Montgomery Tuesday.

Mrs. Dedwilder, of Lily, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. J. P. Gore.

Prof. R. E. R. Hicks, we regret to learn, has been right sick with [illegible] the past week at Mr. J. P. [illegible]

Prof. E. C. Jones has been confined to his bed several days with [illegible].

We are glad to learn that Mr. E. Evans, who has been on the sick list for several days, is improving.

Mrs. Gartman is visiting her daughter, Mrs. A. J. Gullahorn, at Pratt City.

Mrs. E. T. Gullahorn has returned home from Pratt City, after a visit to her son, Mr. A. J. Gullahorn.

FIRE—For the present I have moved into W. Kanter's store. Call and see me. L. D. PORWELL.

The Clanton Drug Co., will refund your money if you are not benefited after using Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. They cure disorders of the stomach, biliousness, constipation and headache. Price 25 cents. Samples free.

Marriage licenses have been issued this week by the Probate Judge to following persons.

Mr. J. T. Hamrick and Miss Mary Anderson; Mr. W. M. Wilson and Mrs. Ann Jones; Mr. G. Hamilton and Miss Sarah E. [illegible]; Mr. Clyde Pierce and Miss Josephine Goodson; Mr. Arthur J. Kerner and Miss Ethel [illegible]; Mr. J. A. Kicker and Miss Nettie C. Wells; Mr. L. B. [illegible] and Miss Frances M. [illegible]; Mr. Charley N. Shaw and Miss Martha J. Atkinson. Colored. Lenzy Sunday and [illegible] Peoples.

THE UTAH ORE PREPARATIONS;

On sale by
Campbelle Drug Co., Clanton.
Horn, Thorsby.
A. Ayers, Clanton.
N. A. LOGAN,
Agent for Chilton and [illegible] counties, Thorsby, Ala.

C. K. Lunch Counter

MEALS AND LUNCHES SERVED AT ALL HOURS AT POPULAR PRICES

Oysters during the Season

Highest market price for Game and Eggs.

LUNCH PUT UP FOR TRAVELERS

C. K. LUNCH COUNTER

[illegible] RAILROAD, CLANTON.

C. H. STACY, Proprietor.

ARTH"

NG

MPANY

HIP.

ES.

lanton

rybody

LLINS

DON & GLOBE FIRE INSU
N & LANCASHIRE FIRE
formerly represented by

O OF HARTFORD, CONN
ENSURED OF NEWARK, N
the largest sawing the world

problem of getting full va
the outlay is for. I will when it comes to buying in a position to its, grace the Company
quirements of the people
ge business is proof th want. The styles are ches and, best of all,
on the reach of all. We ches all over the land and ing and Guarantee set Sign Singer. You
the sing Office. Can be cash or time. Need and handle. Are very bottle bearing the Sing and Monkeys. For further

NS,
NORTH OFFICE CLANTON.

R THE BENEFIT O
MER

it. We sell direct to the Retailer pays for his goods.
rer and pay cash for our us at the same price your ations, 50 to 75c. 50c pre-ns, 10 to 20c. 15c prepa
to 8c.

PARTMENT

sold 25 per cent less than y a quart of our J. Man-
. If you are not satisfied elsewhere for $1, we will
ers. We are your friend

1926 First Avenue
BIRMINGHAM, AL

STOCK!

increasing demands of now laying in a NEW

KING, HATS
OES, ETC.
st styles and Newest Fashio
RIES and GENERAL ME
are of the finest grade
d always fresh.

THE SMALLEST MARGI
IT.
D TO SERVE YOU
S, Clanton, Ala.

GIVEN AWAY
D TRY FOR IT
ERTISER, Montgomery, A
of prizes, and the condit great prizes to be given a

TOWN ITEMS

Commissioners' Court meets second Monday in February, first Monday in April, first Monday in June, second Monday in July, second Monday in August and first Monday in November.

CLANTON COTTON MART

Price to-day 8½ cents.

Price same date last year 8¾ cents

Bales received to date:	1900	1899
Pinckard & Co.	2318	2888
Mullins	1932	1966
Wilson	872	821
Downs	582	820
Total	5704	6495

Rev. W. H. Dennis and wife, of Pantenville, are visiting their daughter, Mrs. W. M. Adams.

Miss Minnie Rosberry, of Lily, is visiting Mrs. Hayes.

Mr. Leroy Watts came down from Birmingham Tuesday.

Mrs. G. L. Phillips and J. E. Evans take this opportunity of thanking those who so kindly rendered their assistance in rescuing their goods in the late fire and for the acts of kindness extended.

Mrs. G. L. Phillips who was burned out the past week, says she will continue to carry on her millinery business. See her advertisement later. She respectfully asks all persons indebted to her to please come forward and settle.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Brown, of Montgomery, have been visiting the family of Mr. W. H. Foshee the past week.

Mrs. Prescott, of Verbena, is visiting her sister, Mr. S. E. Johnson.

YOU KNOW WHAT YOU ARE TAKING when you take Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic because the formula is plainly printed on every bottle showing that it is simply iron and quinine in a tasteless form. No cure, No Pay. 50c.

Mrs. Wm. White, of Lily, was visitor here Saturday.

Mr. W. L. Mullins visited Montgomery Tuesday.

Mrs. Dr. Wheeler, of Lily, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. J. P. Gore.

Prof. B. E. E. Hicks, we regret to say, has been right sick with fever the past week at Mr. J. P. Gore's.

Prof. E. C. Jones has been confined to his bed several days with fever.

We are glad to learn that Mr. Evans, who has been on the sick list for several days, is improving.

Mrs. Gartman is visiting her daughter, Mrs. A. J. Gulishorn, at Pratt City.

Mr. E. T. Gulishorn has returned home from Pratt City, after a visit to his son, Mr. A. J. Gulishorn.

HERE—For the present I have moved to W. Kanter's store, and welcome. L. D. POPWELL.

The Clanton Drug Co., will refund your money if you are not pleased after using Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. They clear orders of the stomach, biliousness, constipation and headache. Price 25 cents. Samples free.

Marriage licenses have been issued this week by the Probate Judge to the following persons.

J. T. Frederick and Miss Ada Avery; Mr. W. M. Wilson and Miss Ada Jones; Mr. G. Harrison and Miss Sarah L. Jones; Mr. Clyde Pierce and Miss Josephine Gonson; Mr. Arthur J. King and Miss Ethel Kicker; Mr. J. A. Kicker and Miss Nettie C. Weiss; Mr. L. B. Brown and Miss Frances M. Hart; Mr. Charley N. Shaw and Miss Martha J. Atkinson.

Married, Lenzy Sunday and Miss Peoples.

THE TAE ORE
PREPARATIONS;
sale by
phelle Drug Co., Clanton,
orn, Thorsby.
Avers, Clanton.
N. A. LOGAN,
l Agent for Chilton and
by counties, Thorsby, Ala.

O. K. Lunch Counter
AND LUNCHES SERVED AT ALL
OURS AT POPULAR PRICES
d Oysters during the Season highest market price for ns and Eggs.
HES PUT UP FOR TRAVELERS
O K. LUNCH COUNTER
THE RAILROAD, CLANTON.
W. H. STACY, Proprietor.

FALL GOODS

Now on sale and daily arriving a large and varied stock of goods. Prices as low as can be made on reliable merchandise and we spare no efforts to please you. Give us a call and let us figure with you on anything you want to buy. Coffins kept in stock and also trimmings for home made coffins.

E. M. PINCKARD & CO

Why try to stick things with something that doesn't stick? Buy MAJOR'S CEMENT; you know it sticks. Nothing breaks away from it. Stick to MAJOR'S CEMENT. Buy once, you will buy forever. There is nothing as good; don't believe the substitutes.

MAJOR'S RUBBER and MAJOR'S LEATHER. Two separate cements—the best. Insist on having them. ESTABLISHED 1876. 15 and 25 cents per bottle at all dealers.

MAJOR CEMENT CO., NEW YORK CITY.

BACK ACHES and KIDNEYS relieved by Dr. Miles' Nerve Plasters. What stops Neuralgia? Dr. Miles' Pain Pills.

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &c.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

NEW ROYAL.
High-arm Light running. Warranted 10 years. $28 and $32.
FIVE DRAWER $32.

The New Royal is not a cheap machine, but a high-class machine made out of good material, all parts adjustable and ball bearing; has a good set of steel attachments and all of them work well.

I will exchange the New Royal for old machines and allow the full value of the old machine. Come and see me. I can sell you a machine as cheap as you can buy in Clanton.

Some secondhand machines from $4 up. Send me 25 cents in silver or stamps and an old needle for sample and I will send you 1 doz. needles to fit your machine.

REPAIR WORK GUARANTEED.

L. D. POPWELL,
CLANTON.

"KRUMP'S KORNER."

The owner of this Korner has again returned to it, after wandering many days in foreign lands older, uglier and we trust a little wiser in some respects. He rejoices at his return, and would be glad to see all of the good and bad people of Chilton county. I only ask don't all of you come same day, as I have not got enough to go round for dinner. I have enough yarns however to make up shortness in grubb. Come to see me anyhow and we will talk it over, and no charge for the yarns. Please remember I keep all things the farmer needs, and I will sell him

A sewing machine, a wagon, or a buggy,
A suit, a hat, a pair shoes or a knife,
Or he can call himself very lucky,
If he will just bring his wife.

Yours for health,

T. U. CRUMPTON

MAPLESVILLE, ALA.

Wamben & Peterson
CONTRACTORS AND BUILDERS
HOUSE MOVING A SPECIALTY
—DEALER IN—
ALL BUILDING MATERIALS—SASH, DOORS, BLINDS, MANTELS, ETC.
OFFICE ON JONES ST OPPOSITE BIGG'S
THORSBY.

HELP WANTED

to reduce my big stock of goods.

I have just returned from the Northern markets where I purchased some Extraordinary Bargains

and am now offering the good People of Chilton such values as they have never known before.

READ THESE PRICES:

Dry Goods

Calicoes	from 4 cts up
Sheeting	from 5 cts up
Percale, one yard wide	7c
Black Sateen	8½c
Bleaching	from 5 cts up
Cotton Checks	5c
Ducking	per yard 6c
Gingham, best	per yard 5c

Clothing

The biggest line for the least money ever known.

Hats

Men's first-class Hats, $1.50 hat for	$1.00
Men's	75 ct hat for 50
Men's	50 ct hat for 38
Men's	25 ct hat for 15
Caps	10

Shoes

Ladies' Shoes, Spring heel, Tan	$1.00
Ladies' Oil grain	$1.00
Ladies' Fine Shoes, a $2.00 shoe	$1.35

Gents' Shoes, a $2.00 shoe for	$1.45

Trunks, Valises &c.

Gent's Furnishings

Shirts, White Linen bosom	each 25c
Linen Collars, any shape	each 5c
Celluloid Collars	each 5c
Hosiery	from 5 cts up
Suspenders	from 5 cts up
Handkerchiefs	3 for 5 cts and up
Neckwear, 75c styles, a 50c Tie for	25c
Umbrellas, gl value for	65c

Notions

Best Assorted Ribbons at half price
Lace, 5c value	2c
Corsets, 50c value	35
Corsets, 25c value	22
Ladies' Belts	from 5 cts up
Scissors, a 50c pair	20
Towels	from 10 cts up
Pearl Buttons	1 dozen for 5c
Gatterwear	per yard 5c

—CALL AT THE—

CASH STORE

FOR BARGAINS,

THORSBY, ALA.

OUR CASH PRICES SUBJECT TO CHANGE WITHOUT NOTICE.

15 lbs. Granulated Sugar	$1.00	2 bushel sack Meal	1.20
1 bbl Red Seal Patent Flour	4.50	1 gal water white 150 fire test oil	18
½ bbl " " "	2.25	1 lb Ham	15
24 lb sack " " "	60	Whole Ham, per pound	13
1 bbl Straight Family Flour	3.50	Bacon and Bulk	10-8c
14 lb sk Family Flour	50	1 lb Lard	10
100 lbs Bran	1.10	50 lbs Lard	4.50

We are handling Minneapolis Flour. Soda Crackers and Sweet Crackers, Ginger Snaps, Cheese, Lemons, Irish Potatoes always in stock. Also best Dried Fruits in the market. Also handle Roller Champion and I. E. M. Flour.

Dry Goods, Clothing, Hardware and the very best Staple and Fancy Groceries.

Fresh Fish and Oysters every Saturday.

We take Eggs, Butter, Corn, Meal, Fruit and Chickens at the highest market price in exchange for goods.

Yours to please,

A. M. JOHNSON, Manager

GROCERIES

Come and select what you want from this mammoth stock.

First Come, First Served!

YOURS TO PLEASE,

W. KANTER, Clanton

Everyone to His Taste.

And I am pleased to say that your taste and Everyone's taste can be suited at my Store, where you will find the

choicest Line of Fancy Groceries

AND CANNED GOODS

Always Fresh and New. I have no old Stock. Dry Goods, Hats, Shoes, Gents Furnishing Goods, Fancy line of Shirts and Underwear, Notions, Hardware and General Merchandise.

Yours to serve faithfully and well,

B H JONES CLANTON

THE BANNER.

Printed and Published Every Thursday at Clanton, Chilton County, Ala.

Entered at the postoffice at Clanton, Ala., as second-class mail matter.

"Here shall the press the people's rights maintain,
Unawed by influence and unbribed by gain,
Here patriot truth her glorious precepts draw,
Pledged to religion, liberty and law."

Subscription, yearly - - - $1.00
Invariably in Advance.

Address all communications to
THE BANNER,
Clanton, Ala.

OUR NEW CENTURY OFFER

THE BANNER finished the last century in excellent condition, but we wish to commence the new with a large number of new subscribers, and for that purpose have much pleasure in making the following offer:

The Banner one year (52 papers) for 75 cents.

The Banner one year and the N. Y. World Almanac and Encyclopedia for 1901, over 600 pages, $1.00

The Banner and Home & Farm, both papers one year for $1.00

The Banner and Birmingham Age Herald, both papers one year for $1.25

The Banner and Thrice-a-Week World—four papers every week for one year for $1.50

The Banner and Montgomery Advertiser, both papers one year for $1.50

The Banner and Atlanta Constitution and Home & Farm—all three for one year for $1.50

The Banner and Atlanta Constitution and your choice of a number of other periodicals—all three for 1 year for $1.50

The Banner and American Monthly Review of Reviews—both one year for $2.75

THE BANNER may possibly have been remiss in its duty to the people of Chilton county, but it has always endeavored to keep posted on all matters affecting the county. It was therefore with great surprise we read in last Friday's issue of the Montgomery Advertiser the following:

S. 457—To prevent stock from running at large in Chilton county. Passed.

We do not know who introduced this bill, nor at whose instigation it was introduced. But we do know that an overwhelming majority of the people of Chilton are strongly opposed to it, and we feel that the Senate could not have been well informed or it surely would not have passed such a bill.

We are not going to argue at this time whether stock law is good or bad for the county of Chilton—it may be good or it may be bad, that is a question for the people of Chilton to decide, and they have already declared they did not want it. If local self-government has any meaning at all, most assuredly the matter of stock running at large in an agricultural community is one that the people interested should have a voice in. Surely the Senate could not have known that Chilton county was utterly opposed to any such law, and that a county convention, called to discuss the matter had voted it down.

In political measures affecting the whole State, we can confidently say that Chilton county is willing to submit to the will of the majority, but in such an entirely local measure as a stock law for this particular county we must emphatically protest against its passage. We repeat that the Senate cannot have been well informed as to the wishes of the people of Chilton, and we earnestly hope that the House will be better instructed and will refuse to concur in its passage.

Disastrous Fire at Clanton.

(continued from 1st col., page 1)

the exception of Popwells most of the goods were saved but the two Popwells lost most of the stocks. The aggregate loss is estimated at about $4000 and no insurance.

It is expected that most of the stores will be rebuilt at once in brick. J. E. Evans has commenced a temporary structure for his present needs.

AN ORDINANCE

To establish and define the fire limits in the Town of Clanton, to regulate the erection and improving of buildings in said fire limits and to provide a penalty for the violation of the conditions of this ordinance.

Section 1. Be it ordained by the Mayor and Council of Clanton, that, that part of the Town of Clanton lying on the East side of the South and North Alabama Railroad and known as lots nine, ten, eleven, twelve, thirteen, fourteen, fifteen and sixteen in block number eight, and lots number one, two, three, four, five, six, seven and eight in block number nine; and lots number one, two, three, four, five, six, seven and eight in block number ten shown upon the official map of the Town of Clanton, be and the same is hereby declared to constitute and embrace the fire limits of the Town of Clanton.

Section 2 Be it further ordained that it shall be unlawful for any person to erect, construct or to cause or permit to be erected or constructed upon or within the area described in Section 1 of this ordinance, any frame building or building constructed of wood or to maintain any such building constructed or erected after the passage or adoption of this ordinance; or to repair or replace the roof or covering of any building, erected prior to the passage of this ordinance, within the area described in Section 1 of this ordinance, excepting that such repairing or replacing be done with slate, iron, tin or other metallic roofing.

Section 3. Be it further ordained, that no building or structure of any kind shall be erected within the area above described without the consent or permission of the Mayor and Council of Clanton, which said consent or permission shall be shown in the minutes of the proceedings of the Council of Clanton, provided, however, that the Mayor and Council may consent or permit the erection within the area above described, of frame or wooden buildings not exceeding eight feet in height, under such terms and conditions as to them may appear proper; and provided, further, that when any application is made to the Mayor or Council for consent or permission to erect any building, as provided by Section 3 of this ordinance, that the Mayor and Council may require of the party making such application, any and all desired information connected with the building sought to be erected.

Section 4. Be it further ordained, that any person who shall violate or cause to be violated any of the terms and conditions of this ordinance shall, upon conviction therefore be fined not exceeding one hundred dollars and may also be sentenced to hard labor for a period not exceeding sixty days or both at the discretion of the Court.

Section 5. Be it further ordained, that any owner of, or any person, as agent or otherwise, who has charge of any lot situated within the fire limits as above described, who shall permit any building to remain upon said lot in violation of the terms of this ordinance, shall for each day that such building is so permitted to remain, be deemed guilty of a separate and distinct offence, and upon each conviction thereof shall be fined not less than five dollars nor more than one hundred dollars.

Passed this the 16th day of February, 1901.

J. P. VANDERVER, Mayor.

Countersigned,

A. C. SMITH, Clerk.

Published by posting at the Court House door of Chilton county, in Clanton, Alabama, this the 16th day of February, 1901.

A. C. SMITH, Clerk.

Will Boom His Business

S. Laval, a merchant of Dallas, Tex. writes: "I thought I would have to give up business, after two years of suffering from general debility brought on by overwork and long hours, but four bottles of Electric Bitters gave me a new life. I can now eat anything, sleep well and feel like working all the time. It's the best medicine on earth." It's a wonderful tonic and health builder for tired, weak sickly and run-down people. Try it. Satisfaction guaranteed. Only 50c at Clanton drug store.

Cheaper Than Ever

SPRING GOODS COMING

ALL WINTER GOODS MUST BE SOLD UNDER COST.

BIG LINE OF CLOTHING:

Men's Suits : : : from $3 up
Boys' " : : : " 98c up

SHOES, DRY GOODS, etc.

NOW IS YOUR TIME TO BUY.

H. TOURO, Clanton.

PROGRAM TEACHERS' INSTITUTE

to be held at Verbena Feb. 22nd, and 23d.

FRIDAY, 10 a.m. Devotional Exercises.

10:20 a.m. Welcome Address, F. R. Baldwin. Response, J. W. Moore.

11 a.m. Attention, J. M. Collier, L. E. Byrum.

11:30. Current History, Judson Strock, H. L. Davis.

1:35 p.m. The Teacher and Sickness, W. M. Riddle, Albert Grant

2. Incentives to study, Thos Williams, Wm. Luther.

2:30. Best method of Reading, Prof. Williams, H. A. Askins

3:30 Why we teach Geography, Miss Ida Hore, Miss Mary Moody.

7:30. Lecture, Dr. E. R. Eldridge of Lafayette.

SATURDAY, 9:30 a.m. Requisites to successful teaching, G. L. Speer, Mrs. A. G. Dunlap.

10 Why should the State Educate her children and to what extent? R. A. Rasco, J. W. Dennis.

10:30. Graded Studies for Common Schools, R. E. R. Hicks, A. J. Neugent, Prof. Ryland.

11. Lecture, S. J. Cole of Birmingham.

1:30 p.m. Opening the Query box. Members of the Institute or others interested are at liberty to present any question which they would like to hear discussed.

We would like to see every teacher in the county at this Institute. We expect some able speakers, among them Dr. E. R. Eldridge, of Lafayette, State Supt. John W. Abercrombie and others.

Committee—J. M. Collier, G. L. Speer, A. J. Neugent, Thos. Williams, E. C. Jones, Judson Strock.

J. W. MOORE, County Supt.

Working Overtime.

Eight hour laws are ignored by those tireless, little workers—Dr. King's New Life Pills. Millions are always at work, night and day, curing Indigestion, Biliousness, Constipation, Sick Headache and all Stomach, Liver and Bowel troubles. Easy, pleasant, safe, sure. Only 25c at Clanton drug store.

Greatest In The World

Within five years Cascarets have reached the largest sale of any liver or bowel medicine in the world, simply because they cure. They have great merit and we consider the sale of over six million boxes a year our best testimonial. No matter what ails you, start using Cascarets to-day and if you are not benefitted and in every way satisfied after you have given them a fair trial you can have your money back for the asking. There is no waste. They are put up in tablet form and every tablet is stamped "C. C. C." They don't cost much—10c, 25c and 50c a box and a 50c box will furnish a whole month's treatment for the worst case. Cascarets are the best and cheapest liver and bowel regulator in the world.

CORRESPONDENCE

(continued from 2d col. page 1)

think the sooner they are taught a lesson or two the better. I reckon we have all heard the Democrats squeal about a Republican committee of Congress turning out Democrats, but did you ever know of a single instance when there was not Democrats on the election committee? Not one! But in my case our party was not represented, not a single friend of mine was put on the committee. Talk about partisan action here is a case where no one has ever stated that Oliver was elected, but he holds a stolen seat on account of his politics.

Well, I have made my contest, as my friends asked me to. I have the evidence of my election beyond a doubt, and if any of the rogues doubt when I say I was counted out by a Democratic board and that a Democratic Legislature endorsed the steal, I will take pleasure in meeting such one on the stump and prove my charge just as soon as we make nomination for a constitutional convention, let our party nominate whom they may. In conclusion, permit me to say that while I have spent my money, and my case has been side tracked in the committee, I am proud to announce that I am not dependent on a set of thieves for anything, and Lord knows I hope I will never get to the place that I cannot denounce highway robbery. These charges may seem pretty hard, but at the proper time it will be a pleasure to me to meet some of the beneficiaries of this steal on the stump, and let the people decide whether my charge is true or not. It has been demonstrated of late that it makes a Democrat mighty unpopular to be straight and honest while in office. I believe in political freedom and so long as I keep my breath I expect to fight such proceedings.

Very respectfully,

L. H. REYNOLDS.

W. H. Sartor, Clanton

Dealer in Everything for Everybody

NOTICE

To the taxpayers of Beat Four.

Those of you who have failed to assess your taxes for the year 1901 will please call at the circuit clerk's office when in Clanton, where you will find me and my books at any time up to March 20, 1901.

L. M. F. LETT, Dep. Tax As'r.

Stops the Cough and Works off the Cold.

Laxative Bromo-Quinine Tablets cures a cold in one day. No Cure No Pay. Price 25 cents

Shoults

We are having some nice weather in Chilton now.

Miss Fannie Hicks visited Miss Lillie Latham Sunday.

Mr. Croford Shoults, of Lawley, visited Mr. J. J. Hicks Sunday.

Mr. Joe Hicks has returned to school again.

Mr. Jim Cash, of Vick, we are sorry to say, has gone to Texas where he will make his home for awhile.

Miss May Latham is visiting relatives at Centreville.

TWO JOLLY GIRLS.

The claim of other cough medicines to be as good as Chamberlain's are effectually set at rest in the following testimonial of Mr. C. D. Glass, an employe of Bartlett & Dennis Co., Gardiner, Me. He says: "I had kept adding to a cold and cough in the winter of 1897, trying every cough medicine I heard of without permanent help, until one day I was in the drug store of Mr Honlehan and he advised me to try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and offered to pay back my money if I was not cured. My lungs and bronchial tubes were very sore at this time, but I was completely cured by this remedy, and I have since always turned to it when I got a cold, and soon find relief. I also recommend it to my friends and am glad to say it is the best of all cough medicines." For sale by Clanton Drug Co., and D. J. Deramus, Verbena.

Administrator's Notice.

The State of Alabama, Chilton County } Probate Court.

The 13th day of February, 1901.

This day came O. S. Welch, the administrator of the Estate of L. A. Welch, deceased, and filed his statements, accounts, vouchers and evidences for an annual settlement of his administration of said estate according to law.

It is therefore ordered by the Court that the 4th day of March, 1901, be and it is hereby appointed a day on which to make such settlement, at which time all persons interested can appear and contest the said settlement if they think proper.

S. M. ADAMS, Judge of Probate.

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 31711.

Department of the Interior,
Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.
January 14th 1901.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Clerk of the Circuit Court, at Clanton, Ala., on March 2nd, 1901, viz: John W. Oaks. Homestead entry, No. 30673, for the NW ¼ of Section 32, Township 22 north of Range 16 east.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz.: J. W. Jones, W. C. B. Wyatt, T. J. Wyatt W. L. Bates, all of Clanton, Ala.

ROBERT BARBER, Register.

C. R. MULLINS

AGENT FOR THE LIVERPOOL & LONDON & GLOBE FIRE INSURANCE OF ENGLAND. THE LONDON & LANCASHIRE FIRE INSURANCE CO. OF NEW YORK, formerly represented by W. L. Sampey.

THE ETNA ACCIDENT INSURANCE CO. OF HARTFORD, CONN. THE OLD MUTUAL BENEFIT LIFE INSURANCE CO. OF NEWARK, AND THE SINGER MANUFACTURING CO., the largest Sewing Machine Company in the world.

We know you are interested in the problem of getting full value for the money you spend no matter what the outlay is for. I will not presume to advise you along all lines, but when it comes to buying a Sewing Machine for yourself and family I am in a position to give you some valuable suggestions. For over fifty years the Company I represent has done nothing but study the needs and requirements of the people in the matter of Sewing Machines, and our large business is proof that we are making and furnishing what they want. The styles are always the very latest, unsurpassed in lasting qualities and, best of all, the prices are reasonable, and the terms within the reach of all. We are placing our machines in the leading families all over the land and if you want the best looking, the lightest running and the best of all attachments ever bought, call for the High Arm Singer. You will find a complete stock of these machines at the Singer Office, Clanton. Machines from $5.00 to $65.00 for cash or on time. Needles, Bands, Cams, Shuttles and Attachments, and the best and only genuine Machine Oil manufactured, every bottle bearing the Singer trade mark. 10, 15 and 25 cent bottles.

My regular office days are Saturdays and Mondays. For further particulars call on or address

C. R. MULLINS,
SINGER OFFICE CLANTON.

A WHOLESALE HOUSE FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE CONSUMER

We save you the Retailer's profit. We sell direct to the People at the same price that your Retailer pays for his goods. We buy direct from the Manufacturer and pay cash for our goods. You can buy one bottle from us at the same price your Retailer pays per dozen. $1 preparations, 50 to 75c. 50c preparations, 25 to 40c. 25c preparations, 10 to 20c. 15c preparations, 7 to 12c. 10c preparations, 6 to 8c.

OUR WHISKEY DEPARTMENT

Is the best in the State. All whiskey sold 25 per cent less than you can buy from any other firm. Try a quart of our J. MARTIN'S 5 YEAR OLD VIRGINIA RYE at 75c. If you are not satisfied that it is equal to any brand you buy elsewhere for $1, we will refund your money. Send us your orders. We are your friends and guarantee everything we sell.

COLLIER DRUG CO. 1926 First Avenue BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

NEW AND BIGGER STOCK!

To meet the increasing demands of our business we are now laying in a NEW and full line of

CLOTHING, HATS, SHOES, ETC.

all in the Latest styles and Newest Fashions.

Our GROCERIES and GENERAL MERCHANDISE are of the finest grade and always fresh.

OUR PRICES ARE BASED ON THE SMALLEST MARGIN OF PROFIT.

WE SHALL BE PLEASED TO SERVE YOU

KEMP & GILES, Clanton, Ala.

$10,000 TO BE GIVEN AWAY

WOULD YOU LIKE TO TRY FOR IT

If so, write THE WEEKLY ADVERTISER, Montgomery, for a sample copy and they will send you the list of prizes, and the conditions upon which you may get one of their great prizes to be given away during next May.

TOWN ITEMS

Commissioners' Court meets first Monday in February, first Monday in May, 3rd Monday in June, second Monday in July and Tuesday in August and first Monday in November.

CLANTON COTTON MART

Price to-day 6½ cents.

Same date last year 7¾ cents.

BALES RECEIVED TO DATE

	1900	1901
Pinckard & Co.	2418	28[illegible]
Mullins	1912	1[illegible]
Wilson	3[illegible]	[illegible]
Dawes	342	3[illegible]
Total	[illegible]	[illegible]

Rev. W. B. Dennis and wife, of Plantersville, are visiting his daughter, Mrs. W. M. Adams.

Miss Minnie Rushen of [illegible] is visiting Mrs. Hayes.

Mr. Leroy Watts came home from Birmingham Tuesday.

Mrs. G. L. Phillips and [illegible] Evans take this opportunity of thanking those who so liberally patronized their said firm in receiving their goods in the place here and [illegible] a share of similar extent.

Mrs. G. L. Phillips who was burned out the past week, says she will continue to carry on her millinery business. See her advertisement later. She respectfully asks all persons indebted to her to please come forward and settle.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Brown, of Montgomery, have been visiting the family of Mr. W. H. Foshee the past week.

Mrs. Prescott, of Verbena, is visiting her sister, Mr. S. E. Johnson.

YOU KNOW WHAT YOU ARE TAKING

When you take Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic because the formula is plainly printed on every bottle showing that it is simply iron and quinine in a tasteless form. No Cure, No Pay. 50c.

Mrs. Wm. White, of Lily, was visiting here Saturday.

Mr. W. I. Mullins visited Montgomery Tuesday.

Mrs. Dedwilder, of Lily, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. J. P. Gore.

Prof. R. E. R. Hicks, we regret to learn, has been right sick with fever the past week at Mr. J. P. [illegible]

Prof. E. C. Jones has been confined to his bed several days with [illegible]

We are glad to learn that Mr. E. Evans, who has been on the sick list for several days, is improving.

Mrs. Gartman is visiting her daughter, Mrs. A. J. Gullahorn, at Pratt City.

Mrs. E. T. Gullahorn has returned home from Pratt City, after a visit to her son, Mr. A. J. Gullahorn.

FIRE—For the present I have moved to W. Kanter's store. Come and see me. L. D. POPWELL.

The Clanton Drug Co., will refund your money if you are not benefited after using Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. They cure disorders of the stomach, biliousness, constipation and headache. Price 25 cents. Samples free.

Marriage licenses have been issued by the Probate Judge to the following persons.

[illegible] T. Hamrick and Miss [illegible] Anderson; Mr. W. M. Wilson and Miss Ann Jones; Mr. G. [illegible] Hamilton and Miss Sarah E. [illegible]; Mr. Clyde Pierce and Miss Josephine Goodson; Mr. Arthur Kerner and Miss Ethel [illegible]; Mr. J. A. Kicker and Miss Nettie C. Wells; Mr. L. H. [illegible] and Miss Frances M. [illegible]; Mr. Charley N. Shaw and Miss Martha J. Atkinson.

[illegible] Lenzy Sunday and [illegible] Peoples.

THE UTAH ORE PREPARATIONS;

For sale by
Campbelle Drug Co., Clanton,
[illegible] Horn, Thorsby.
[illegible] A. Ayers, Clanton.
N. A. LOGAN,
Agent for Chilton and adjoining counties, Thorsby, Ala.

O. K. Lunch Counter

LUNCHES SERVED AT ALL HOURS AT POPULAR PRICES

Oysters during the Season

Highest market price for Game and Eggs.

"PUT UP FOR TRAVELERS"

O. K. LUNCH COUNTER

[illegible] RAILROAD, CLANTON.

[illegible] H. STACY, Proprietor.

EARTH"

RING

MPANY

S.
SHIP.
CES.

Clanton

erybody

LLINS

ONDON & GLOBE FIRE INS
DON & LANCASHIRE FIRE
RK, formerly represented by

O OF HARTFORD, CONN
SURANCE CO. OF NEWARK,
RINGER the largest Sewing
in the world

problem of getting full va nt the outlay is for. I will ot when it comes to buying can in a position to ndly years this Company
quirements of the people
ge business is proof
ry wants. The styles are rieties and, best of all, thin the reach of all. We ssmen all over the land and Ring and Drawer set
High Arm Singer. You
ach the Singer Price, Cash or cash on easy time. Next ne bottle bearing the Sing
ay and Monday. For farth

LLINS,
SINGER OFFICE CLANTON.

FOR THE BENEFIT
SUMER

profit. We sell direct to the Retailer pays for his goods.
facturer and pay cash for our om us at the same price your parations, 50 to 75c. 50c pre tions, 10 to 20c. 15c prepa
, 6 to 8c.

DEPARTMENT

key sold 25 percent less than
Try a quart of our J. Ma
75c. If you are not satisfied ly elsewhere for $1, we wil or kts. We are your friend

O. 1926 First Avenue
BIRMINGHAM, A

R STOCK!

the increasing demands of
are now laying in a NEW

THING, HATS
OES, ETC.
test styles and Newest Fashi
ERIES and GENERAL M
E are of the finest grad
and always fresh.

THE SMALLEST MARG
OFIT.
ED, TO SERVE YOU
ES, Clanton, Ala.

GIVEN AWAY
TO TRY FOR IT
VERTISER, Montgomery,
list of prizes, and the condi
ir great prizes to be given a

TOWN ITEMS

Commissioners' Court meets second Monday in February, first Monday in April, third Monday in June, second Monday in August and first Monday in November.

CLANTON COTTON MART

Price to-day 7½ cents.

Same date last year 8¾ cents

SALES RECEIVED TO DATE:

	1900	1899
Pinckard & Co.	2318	2888
Mullins	1932	1966
Wilson	872	821
Thomas	382	820
Total	5504	8495

Rev. W. B. Dennis and wife, of Lanterneville, are visiting their daughter, Mrs. W. M. Adams.

Miss Minnie Rosberry, of Lily, is visiting Mrs. Hayes.

Mr. Leroy Watts came down from Birmingham Tuesday.

Mrs. G. L. Phillips and J. E. Evans take this opportunity of thanking those who so kindly rendered their assistance in rescuing their goods in the late fire and for the acts of kindness extended.

Mrs. G. L. Phillips who was burned out the past week, says she will continue to carry on her millinery business. See her advertisement later. She respectfully asks all persons indebted to her to please come forward and settle.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Brown, of Montgomery, have been visiting the family of Mr. W. H. Foshee the past week.

Mrs. Prescott, of Verbena, is visiting her sister, Mrs. S. E. Johnson.

DON'T KNOW WHAT YOU ARE TAKING when you take Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic because the formula is plainly printed on every bottle showing that it is simply iron and quinine in a tasteless form. No cure, No Pay. 50c.

Mrs. Wm. White, of Lily, was visitor here Saturday.

Mr. W. L. Mullins visited Montgomery Tuesday.

Mrs. Dedwilder, of Lily, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. J. P. Gore.

Prof. R. E. E. Hicks, we regret to learn, has been right sick with fever the past week at Mr. J. P. Gore's.

Prof. E. C. Jones has been confined to his bed several days with fever.

We are glad to learn that Mr. Evans, who has been on the sick list for several days, is improving.

Miss Guthrie is visiting her sister, Mrs. A. J. Gullahorn, at Pratt City.

Mr. E. T. Gullahorn has returned home from Pratt City, after a visit to his son, Mr. A. J. Gullahorn.

NOTICE.—For the present I have moved to W. Kanter's store. Find me there. L. D. POPWELL.

Clanton Drug Co., will refund your money if you are not pleased after using Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. They regulate the orders of the stomach, biliousness, constipation and headache. Price 25 cents. Samples free.

Marriage licenses have been issued by the Probate Judge to the following persons.

[illegible] Hendrick and Miss [illegible] Anderson; Mr. W. M. Wilson and Miss Jones; Mr. G. [illegible] and Miss Sarah E. [illegible]; Mr. Wade Pierce and Miss Josephine Goodson; Mr. Arthur Kanter and Miss Ethel [illegible]; Mr. L. A. Ricker and Miss Ettie C. Weiss; Mr. L. B. [illegible] and Miss Frances M. [illegible]; Mr. Charley N. Shaw and Miss Martha J. Atkinson.

Married, Lenzy Sunday and [illegible] Peoples.

THE
TAE-ORE
PREPARATIONS;
Sale by
Phelle Drug Co., Clanton,
orn, Thorsby.
Ayers, Clanton.
N. A. LOGAN,
Agent for Chilton and
by counties, Thorsby, Ala.

K. Lunch Counter
ND LUNCHES SERVED AT ALL
URS AT POPULAR PRICES
Oysters during the Season
highest market price for and Eggs.
PUT UP FOR TRAVELERS
K. LUNCH COUNTER
THE RAILROAD, CLANTON.
W. H. STACY, Proprietor.

FALL GOODS

Now on sale and daily arriving a large and varied stock of goods. Prices as low as can be made on reliable merchandise and we spare no efforts to please you. Give us a call and let us figure with you on anything you want to buy. Coffins kept in stock and also trimmings for home made coffins.

E. M. PINCKARD & CO

NEW ROYAL.

High-arm Light running. Warranted 10 years. $28 and $32.

FIVE DRAWER $32.

The New Royal is not a cheap machine, but a high-class machine made out of good material, all parts adjustable and ball bearing; has a good set of steel attachments and all of them work well.

I will exchange the New Royal for old machines and allow the full value of the old machine. Come and see me. I can sell you a machine as cheap as you can buy in Clanton.

Some secondhand machines from $4 up. Send me 25 cents in silver or stamps and an old needle for sample and I will send you 1 doz. needles to fit your machine.

REPAIR WORK GUARANTEED.

L. D. POPWELL,
CLANTON.

Why try to stick things with something that doesn't stick? Buy MAJOR'S CEMENT; you know it sticks. Nothing breaks away from it. Stick to MAJOR'S CEMENT. Buy once, you will buy forever. There is nothing as good; don't believe the substitutes.

MAJOR'S RUBBER and MAJOR'S LEATHER. Two up-to-date cements—the best. Insist on having them. ESTABLISHED 1876. 15 and 25 cents per bottle at all dealers.

MAJOR CEMENT CO., NEW YORK CITY.

BACK ACHES and RHEUMATISM relieved by Dr. Miles' Nerve Plasters. What stops Neuralgia? Dr. Miles' Pain Pills.

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &C.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents.

Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York

Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

PURINA FEED

KEEPS MULES UP
FEED BILL DOWN

CAPACITY:
25 CARS
PER DAY

PURINA
MILLS
ST. LOUIS, MO.

HELP WANTED

to reduce my big stock of goods.

I have just returned from the Northern markets where I purchased some Extraordinary Bargains

and am now offering the good People of Chilton such values as they have never known before.

READ THESE PRICES:

Dry Goods

Calicoes	from 4 cts up
Sheeting	from 5 cts up
Percale, one yard wide	7c
Black Satteen	8½c
Bleaching	from 5 cts up
Cotton Checks	5c
Ducking	per yard 6c
Gingham, best	per yard 5c

Clothing

The biggest line for the least money ever known.

Hats

Men's first-class Hats, $1 50 hat for	$1.00
Men's	75 ct hat for 50
Men's	50 ct hat for 35
Men's	25 ct hat for 15
Caps	10

Shoes

Ladies' Shoes, Spring heel, Tan	$1.00
Ladies' Oil grain	$1.00
Ladies' Fine Shoes, a $2.00 shoe	$1.35

Gents Shoes.... a $2.00 shoe for .. $1.45

Trunks, Valises &c.

Gent's Furnishings

Shirts, White Linen bosom	each 25c
Linen Collars, any shape	each 5c
Celluloid Collars	each 5c
Hosiery	from 5 cts up
Suspenders	from 5 cts up
Handkerchiefs	3 for 5 cts and up
Neckwear, 25c styles, a 50 c Tie for	25c
Umbrellas, $1 value for	65c

Notions

Best Assorted Ribbons at half price
Lace, 5 c value	2c
Corsets, 50 c value	35
Corsets, 35 c value	22
Ladies' Belts	from 5 cts up
Scissors, a 50 c pair	25
Towels	from 10 cts up
Pearl Buttons	1 dozen for 5c
Garterwear	per yard 5c

GROCERIES

Come and select what you want from this mammoth stock.

First Come, First Served!

YOURS TO PLEASE,

W. KANTER, Clanton

"KRUMP'S KORNER."

The owner of this Korner has again returned to it, after wandering many days in foreign lands older, uglier and we trust a little wiser in some respects. He rejoices at his return, and would be glad to see all of the good and bad people of Chilton county. I only ask don't all of you come same day, as I have not got enough to go round for dinner. I have enough yarns however to make up shortness in grubb. Come to see me anyhow and we will talk it over, and no charge for the yarns. Please remember I keep all things the farmer needs, and I will sell him

A sewing machine, a wagon, or a buggy,
A suit, a hat, a pair shoes or a knife,
Or he can call himself very lucky,
If he will just bring his wife.

Yours for health,

T. U. CRUMPTON

MAPLESVILLE, ALA.

Wamben & Peterson
CONTRACTORS AND BUILDERS

HOUSE MOVING A SPECIALTY

—DEALER IN—

ALL BUILDING MATERIALS—SASH, DOORS, BLINDS, MANTELS, ETC.

OFFICE ON JONES ST OPPOSITE BIGGS

THORSBY.

—CALL AT THE—

CASH STORE
FOR BARGAINS,

THORSBY, ALA.

OUR CASH PRICES SUBJECT TO CHANGE WITHOUT NOTICE.

15 lbs. Granulated Sugar	$1.00	2 bushel sack Meal	1.20
1 bbl Red Seal Patent Flour	4.50	1 gal water white 150 fire test oil	18
½ bbl " " " "	2.25	1 lb Ham	15
24 lb sack " " " "	60	Whole Ham, per pound	13
1 bbl Straight Family Flour	3.50	Bacon and Bulk	10-15
14 lb sk Family Flour	50	1 lb Lard	10
100 lbs Bran	1.10	50 lbs Lard	4.50

We are handling Minneapolis Flour. Soda Crackers and Sweet Crackers, Ginger Snaps, Cheese, Lemons, Irish Potatoes always in stock. Also best Dried Fruits in the market. Also handle Roller Champion and I. E. M. Flour.

Dry Goods, Clothing, Hardware and the very best Staple and Fancy Groceries.

Fresh Fish and Oysters every Saturday.

We take Eggs, Butter, Corn, Meal, Fruit and Chickens at the highest market price in exchange for goods.

Yours to please,

A. M. JOHNSON, Manager

Everyone to His Taste.

And I am pleased to say that your taste and Everyone's taste can be suited at my Store, where you will find the

choicest Line of Fancy Groceries

AND CANNED GOODS

Always Fresh and New. I have no old Stock. Dry Goods, Hats, Shoes, Gents Furnishing Goods, Fancy line of Shirts and Underwear, Notions, Hardware and General Merchandise.

Yours to serve faithfully and well,

B. H. JONES CLANTON

GEORGE WASHINGTON was accustomed to say that for everything he was and had and did he was indebted to his mother. Martha Washington, who shared his life, is a familiar character, but Mary Washington, the mother, is comparatively an unknown woman.

Portrait painters were not numerous in the early days, and not a picture was left of the mother of Washington. She is described, however, as having been of medium height, with a rounded, matronly figure, and having a clearly marked face, strong and firm, which that of her son is said to have resembled. Indeed, there were those who said that her rugged features were more like those of a man than a woman.

George was the oldest of six children, and he was only twelve years of age when his father died and Mary Washington was compelled to assume the duties of both father and mother. The family was dwelling near Fredericksburg at the time, for the birthplace of George had been destroyed by fire and a new house built near the Rappahannock. Mrs. Washington was kind in her manner, but not demonstrative. There was a devout religious atmosphere in the home.

(From Leslie's Monthly.)
THE BIRTHPLACE OF WASHINGTON, WESTMORELAND COUNTY, VIRGINIA.
(The house is no longer standing, but its site is marked by an appropriate monument.)

The style of living was almost severe in its simplicity. This was a part of her faith, for in after years, when the problem of existence was happily solved and she might have had a share in what was considered luxury for the times, she still maintained the quiet and simplicity of her early life. Strong, true, decided, Lafayette described her as being a mother who belonged to the type of earlier days like the Spartan or the Roman, rather than to the women of her own times. And George's half-brother, Lawrence, for Mary Ball was the second wife of Augustine Washington, was accustomed to say that in all his life he had never met a woman of whom he stood more in awe or whom he more deeply respected than Mary Washington.

The care of the estate was left to Mrs. Washington by her husband, and like the prudent woman that she was, she looked well to the ways of her household. In an old-fashioned open chaise she used to drive to her little farm near Fredericksburg. She rode about the fields, inspected her crops and buildings and insisted upon the men whom she employed doing exactly what she told them. It is recorded that one time one of her agents had ventured to follow his own judgment instead of her directions. She rebuked him sharply, saying: "I command you, there is nothing left for you but to obey." In the duties of the home and care of her lands the time passed, and at last her son was appointed Commander-in-Chief of the armies of the newly-born nation. Her love and counsels had aided him thus far.

Martha Washington could in a measure share in some of the camp experiences of her husband, but Mary, the mother, must be kept in quiet and seclusion more appropriate to her age. Near Fredericksburg the General found a nice protected and secluded place for her, and from time to time her suspense was relieved by the messages he sent her. One incident in particular is recalled. It was after the battle of Trenton, and the hearts of all the patriots had been stirred to fresh courage. The men who brought her word were loud in their praises of her son, and their praises were just, but Mary Washington received the message calmly, although she did not attempt to conceal her pleasure while she disclaimed all the plaudits of her son.

When the word was brought to her that Cornwallis had surrendered at Yorktown she lifted her hands toward heaven, but without a tear, and speaking calmly, she said: "Thank God! War will now be ended, and peace, independence and happiness bless our country!" Then she said: "I am not surprised at what George has done, for he was always a very good boy."

Alone, except with his friend Lafayette, without horses or attendants, the great commander came back to his mother's house. She was told that the hero of the times, the man whom all the country was praising, was at the door. But whatever he was to others he was still her boy, and in a moment she had folded him in a warm embrace, such as she used to give him when as a little fellow he climbed into her lap. Again she called him by the fond names she had used in his childhood, and though she marked the furrows which his struggles had traced deep in his face, her every thought was of him, not of the name he had won, and we are too that in that interview between mother and son she said not one word of his fame or glory.

Washington had just been elected the first President of the United States, but before he accepted the high office he went once more to see his mother, who was suffering at the time from an acute disease. The story of the interview is simple yet almost sublime. "The people, madam," said Washington, "have been pleased, with the most flattering unanimity, to elect me to the Chief Magistracy of the United States, but before I can assume the functions of that office I have come to bid you an affectionate farewell. So soon as the public business can be disposed of I shall hasten to Virginia, and——" He could say no more, but the mother, strong even in her weakness, replied: "You will see me no more. My great age and the disease that is rapidly approaching my vitals, warn me that I am not long for this world. I trust in God, I am somewhat prepared for a better. But go, George, fulfil the high destinies which heaven appears to assign to you; go, my son, and may heaven's and your mother's blessing be with you always."

Before the President's return to Virginia Mary Washington had passed away at the ripe age of eighty-five. A monument at Fredericksburg marked the place where all that was mortal was placed.

GENERAL WASHINGTON AND HIS AGED MOTHER.

MONUMENT TO MARY, MOTHER OF WASHINGTON, AT FREDERICKSBURG.

Where Honor is Due

WHILE we gaze with delight on a structure so grand,
Let us honor the builder who drew out the plan,
And added, through years of infinite care,
Small stone upon stone, firmly fixing them there;
And though this may be, but a girl's point of view,
Let us give credit where it is certainly due,
And pluck from his laurels one leaf for another,
So three cheers for our George, and four for his mother.

MARGARET S. UNDERWOOD.

IF you please, you may laud George up to the skies,
As the man who won battles and never told lies.
You may tell of his virtues in story and song;
How he carefully sifted the right from the wrong;
Of his wisdom in counsel, his bravery in war,
How he drove the grim British away from our shore;
You may cherish forever his hat and his sword,
And up to the skies our brave Washington laud.
Long, long may we hold him an example to youth,
For honesty temperance, courage and truth.

WASHINGTON'S WEDDING.

Attended With as Much Pomp and Splendor as a Royal Marriage.

"In a suit of blue and silver with scarlet trimmings, and a waistcoat of white satin embroidered with buckles of gold on his knee garters and on his shoes, his hair powdered and by his side a dress sword, the bridegroom (Washington) towered above most of his companions," writes William Perrine, of "When Washington was Married," in the Ladies' Home Journal. "Mrs. Custis, his bride, did not reach higher than his shoulders when she stood with him before the old Episcopal clergyman in his full canonicals. The mistress of the White House wore a costume which had also come from London. In her hair and ears were ornaments of pearl; she wore white satin slippers, and on the buckle of each was a diamond. The sprightly little matron, with light brown hair and hazel eyes, had a plump and pleasing figure, an easy and graceful carriage, a comely face and fine shoulders, and with her three bridesmaids, and with the fine women of the families of the neighboring domains in attendance, there was a splendid display of the charms and graces of Virginia womanhood. Nor were the men less distinguished. The country gentlemen in their gayest raiment, and the provincial officers from Williamsburg in their uniforms, were headed by the gallant Lieutenant-Governor Fauquire. Around him stood a group of English officers, hardly less showy in their trappings, together with members of the Legislature and other civilians. When the bride entered the coach, which was bright with the Washington colors of red and white, and drawn by six horses guided by black postillions in livery, the bridegroom did not enter with her. There was his favorite horse, with his tall body servant holding the reins and waiting for him to mount. When Washington mounted the richly caparisoned charger he rode by the side of the bridal coach, closely followed by a cortege of gentlemen on horseback."

WHEN WASHINGTON WAS A BOY

Portrait That Must Have Been Made About the Time He Cut Down the Cherry Tree.

This portrait was given by Washington to his old friend, Captain Venamon, with whose family he was intimate. Captain Venamon died seventy-five years ago, and was buried at Marcus Hook, Delaware County, Pennsylvania, about fifteen miles south of Philadelphia. The family homestead is still to be seen there. After the Captain's death the picture passed into the hands of his wife, who bequeathed it to her niece, Maria Venamon Williamson, who in turn left it to her daughter, who was named after the Venamon family. This daughter married a Mr. Baker, and died about seven years ago. The picture then became the property of her daughter, Miss Margaretta B. Baker. Miss Baker's uncle (her mother's brother), Mr. Williamson, is still living at St. Michael's, Md. He is now seventy-one years of age. His wife is also living with him. Mr. Williamson remembers that the picture was given by Mrs. Venamon to his mother, Maria Venamon Williamson, who gave it to her own daughter.

Sayings of Washington.

Observe good faith and justice toward all nations and cultivate peace and harmony with all.

My anxious recollections, my sympathetic feelings and my best wishes are irresistibly attracted whenever in any country I see an oppressed nation unfurl the banner of freedom.

The battle-field should be the last resource, the dernier resort of nations.

Keep alive in your breast that little spark of celestial fire called conscience.

Lenity will operate with greater force in most instances than rigor; it is therefore my first wish to have my whole conduct distinguished by it.

There is an indissoluble union between a magnanimous policy and the solid rewards of public prosperity and felicity.

The duty of holding a neutral conduct may be inferred, without anything more, from the obligation which justice and humanity impose on every nation, in cases where it is free to act, to maintain inviolate the relations of peace and amity toward other nations.

Though I prize as I ought the good opinion of my fellow-citizens, yet if I know myself I would not seek or retain popularity at the expense of one social duty or moral virtue.

He Believed That Acts Spoke.

So early as 1769, six years before the outbreak of hostilities, Washington wrote to his friend George Mason: "That no man should scruple or hesitate a moment to use arms in defense of so valuable a blessing (as American freedom) is clearly my opinion."

In the Congress of 1774 Mr. Gadsden, of South Carolina, presented a motion that Congress should call out an armed force to attack Gage's army in Boston. The motion was voted down as premature, but among the few who voted aye, according to Gadsden himself, was Colonel Washington.

When Congress reassembled in 1775 Washington was the only member who came in military uniform, as if to testify that the time had come to use powder. He was attired as the Colonel of the Twenty-second Virginia Infantry, in dark blue coat with scarlet facings, and scarlet vest, scarlet breeches, top boots, and a black three-cornered hat with a black and red "Wolfe cockade" at the left. A red sash fell aslant from the right shoulder, and a steel plate, called a gorget, hung upon the breast, supported by a silver chain.

This gorget and the hat now belong to the Massachusetts Historical Society. It was in this uniform that Peale had painted, in 1772, perhaps the best picture we possess of Washington in early life.

On the very day he received his commission from Congress Washington started for the seat of war before Boston, escorted by the Philadelphia Light Horse.

The war had begun for him long ago. At the earliest possible moment he took his place in line.

The California newspapers are rejoicing over the discovery that while 300 Mediterranean lemons yield only 19.70 ounces of citric acid, 300 California lemons yield 26.64 ounces.

When a minister preaches about social extravagance half the women in the congregation bite their lips and try to look mortified.—New York Press.

Pride is the fog that surrounds insignificance.

Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup
Cures a cough or cold at once. Conquers croup, bronchitis, grippe and consumption, too.
DROPSY NEW DISCOVERY; gives quick relief and cures worst cases. Send for book of testimonials and 10 days' treatment Free. Dr. H. H. GREEN'S SONS, Box B, Atlanta, Ga.

FOR GOUT, TORPID LIVER AND CONSTIPATION.
No medicine in the world can relieve you like the Natural Mineral Laxative Water, provided by nature herself and discovered more than 30 years ago and now used by every nation in the world.
Hunyadi János
Recommended by over one thousand of the most famous physicians, from whom we have testimonials, as the safest and best Natural Laxative Water known to medical science.
Its Action is Speedy, Sure and Gentle. It never gripes.
Every Druggist and General Wholesale Grocer Sells It.
ASK for the full name, "Hunyadi János." | BLUE Label with Red Centre Panel.
Sole Importer, Firm of Andreas Saxlehner, 130 Fulton St., N. Y.

W. L. DOUGLAS
$3 & $3.50 SHOES UNION MADE.
The real worth of W. L. Douglas $3.00 and $3.50 shoes compared with other makes is $4.00 to $5.00.
Our $4.00 Gilt Edge Line cannot be equalled at any price. We make and sell more $3.00 and $3.50 shoes than any other two manufacturers in the United States.
THE REASON more W. L. Douglas $3 and $3.50 shoes are sold than any other make is because THEY ARE THE BEST. Your dealer should keep them; we give one dealer exclusive sale in each town.
Take no substitute. Insist on having W. L. Douglas shoes with name and price stamped on bottom. If your dealer will not get them for you, send direct to factory, enclosing price and 25c. extra for carriage. State kind of leather, size, and width, plain or cap toe. Our shoes will reach you anywhere. Write for catalogue showing new Spring styles.
We use Fast Color Eyelets in all our shoes. W. L. Douglas Shoe Co., Brockton, Mass.

FREE
Our 160 page illustrated catalogue.
FREE
WINCHESTER SHOTGUNS and FACTORY LOADED SHOTGUN SHELLS
the winning combination in the field or at the trap. All dealers sell them.
WINCHESTER REPEATING ARMS CO.
130 WINCHESTER AVE., NEW HAVEN, CONN.
Winchester
Factory loaded shotgun shells, "NEW RIVAL," "LEADER," and "REPEATER." A trial will prove their superiority.

Sore Hands

Red, Rough Hands, Itching, Burning Palms, and Painful Finger Ends.

One Night Treatment

Soak the hands on retiring in a strong, hot, creamy lather of CUTICURA SOAP. Dry, and anoint freely with CUTICURA, the great skin cure and purest of emollients. Wear, during the night, old, loose kid gloves, with the finger ends cut off and air holes cut in the palms. For red, rough, chapped hands, dry, fissured, itching, feverish palms, with shapeless nails and painful finger ends, this treatment is simply wonderful, and points to a speedy cure of the most distressing cases when physicians and all else fail.

Cured by Cuticura

I WAS troubled with hands so sore that when I put them in water the pain would near set me crazy, the skin would peel off, and the flesh would get hard and break, then the blood would flow from at least fifty places on each hand. Words never can tell the suffering I endured for three years.

I tried at least eight doctors, but my hands were worse than when I commenced doctoring. I tried every old Granny remedy that was ever thought of without one cent's worth of good and could not even get relief.

I would feel so badly mornings when I got up, to think that I had to go to work and stand pain for eight or nine hours, that I often felt like giving up my job, which was in the bottling works of Mr. E. L. Kerns, the leading bottler of Trenton, N. J., who will vouch for the truth of my sufferings.

Before I could start to work, I would have to wrap each finger on both hands, and then wear gloves, which I hated to do, for when I came to take them off, it would take two hours and the flesh would break and bleed. Some of my friends who had seen my hands would say, "If they had such hands they would have them amputated"; others would say "they would never work," and more would turn away in disgust. But thanks to Cuticura, the greatest of skin cures, it ended all my sufferings.

Just to think, after doctoring three years, and spending dollar after dollar during that time, Cuticura cured me. It has now been two years since I used it and I do not know what sore hands are. I never lost a day's work while I was using it or since, and I have been working at the same business, and in acids, etc.

THOS. A. CLANCY, 310 Montgomery St., Trenton, N. J.

Cuticura Complete External and Internal Treatment for Every Humor. Consisting of CUTICURA SOAP (25c.), to cleanse the skin of crusts and scales, and soften the thickened cuticle, CUTICURA OINTMENT (50c.), to instantly allay itching, inflammation, and irritation, and soothe and heal, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT (50c.), to cool and cleanse the blood. A SINGLE SET, is often sufficient to cure the most torturing, disfiguring, and humiliating skin, scalp, and blood humors, with loss of hair, when all else fails. Sold throughout the world. POTTER DRUG AND CHEM. CORP., Sole Props., Boston, U. S. A.
The Set $1.25

Millions of Women Use Cuticura Soap
Assisted by Cuticura Ointment for preserving, purifying, and beautifying the skin, for cleansing the scalp of crusts, scales, and dandruff, and the stopping of falling hair, for softening, whitening, and soothing red, rough, and sore hands, in the form of baths for annoying irritations, inflammations, and chafings, or too free or offensive perspiration, in the form of washes for ulcerative weaknesses, and for many sanative antiseptic purposes which readily suggest themselves to women, and especially mothers, and for all the purposes of the toilet, bath, and nursery. No amount of persuasion can induce those who have once used it to use any other, especially for preserving and purifying the skin, scalp, and hair of infants and children. CUTICURA SOAP combines delicate emollient properties derived from CUTICURA, the great skin cure, with the purest of cleansing ingredients and the most refreshing of flower odors. No other medicated soap ever compounded is to be compared with it for preserving, purifying, and beautifying the skin, scalp, hair, and hands. No other foreign or domestic toilet soap, however expensive, is to be compared with it for all the purposes of the toilet, bath, and nursery. Thus it combines in ONE SOAP at ONE PRICE, viz., TWENTY-FIVE CENTS, the most skin and complexion soap, the most delicate and most baby soap in the world.

MINERS ENTOMBED BY EXPLOSION

Frightful Accident in Canadian Colliery.

SIXTY VICTIMS IS THE REPORT

Prompt Rescue of Unfortunates Cut Off Repeatedly by Volume of Flame.

A special from Victoria, British Columbia, says: What is feared to prove one of the most horrible accidents in the history of the province took place at the Coal Creek mine, owned by the Wellington Colliery Company, of which Janion Dunsmuir, premier of the province, is the principal shareholder. Newspaper correspondents hurried by steamers and boats to the scene.

As near as can be gathered, the explosion took place about 11 o'clock in the forenoon in No. 6, which is in the village of Cumberland. There were sixty men in it when the explosion took place, and not one escaped. The explosion ignited the mine, wrecking the shaft from top to the bottom and filling it with a solid mass of rocks, earth and timbers.

The first explosion was followed by several more, while a dense volume of smoke pouring from the vent hole indicated that fire, as well as gas, was doing destructive work below.

Men of the morning shift in the shaft organized a rescue party. No. 4 and No. 6 are connected by a tunnel, and through this channel the attempt was made. They had not cut many many yards through the debris when they encountered fire, which rendered the place untenable and obliged the party to desist.

The message came back by telephone to the surface conveying the heartbreaking news to the relatives of the imprisoned men, whose urging was not necessary to induce the relief party to return to their apparently hopeless task. Overcome at last by smoke and gas, they reluctantly withdrew to No. 5 and commenced work on a drift from No. 4, the only other means of reaching the men. Work on this was prosecuted with the greatest energy until abatement of the fire in No. 6 enabled them to once more resume there.

From the head office of the Dominion company at Victoria a special train proceeded at 1:15 o'clock to Nanaimo.

The last report of the inspector of mines pronounced the shaft as complying with regulations governing mines.

WELL KNOWN AUTHOR DEAD

Maurice Thompson Passes Away after a Lingering Illness.

Maurice Thompson died at his home in Crawfordsville, Ind., Friday morning at 3 o'clock after a lingering illness. Mr. Thompson was born in Fairfield, Ind., September 9, 1844. He spent his early life in the Georgia mountains, half way between Chattanooga and Atlanta, where his father was an extensive planter. He entered the confederate army in 1862 and served scout duty.

After the war he became chief engineer of the L. C. and S. W. railroad and while engaged in this work married Alice Lee, of Crawfordsville, whom he married. He then began the practice of law.

In 1867 he explored Lake Okeechobee, Florida, listing its birds, animals and plants. From his Crawfordsville home Mr. Thompson sent forth literary work which was to win him distinction.

TRAGEDY IN A ZOO.

Animal Keeper Torn Almost to Pieces By Infuriated Tiger.

A sickening tragedy occurred at the zoo in Indianapolis Friday morning. Albert Neilson, a keeper, 15 years old, entered the cage of a Bengal tiger by mistake and was attacked by the beast.

A terrible struggle followed in which the keeper was torn in a hundred pieces.

Hodhod irons were applied to the bloodthirsty animal, but not until he was struck by seven pistol balls did he release his hold on his victim.

Neilson was finally dragged from the cage more dead than alive and was hurried to the city hospital, where he died as he was being carried in.

The tiger was not fatally wounded. Neilson was in charge of the lion house, and it is supposed opened the tiger's cage by mistake.

Dispensary For Charlotte.

A movement has been started in Charlotte, N. C., having for its object the establishment of a dispensary in the place of the licensed liquor saloons, and the question will be decided by a white primary in about two weeks.

Huntington Inheritance Tax.

The executors of the will of Collis P. Huntington have paid to the state of New York $667,000, that being the amount they estimated as due to the state as an inheritance tax on the property left by Mr. Huntington.

Battleship Gun Exploded.

A big thirteen-inch gun exploded on the battleship Kearsarge while the ship was at target practice off Key West Saturday. The gun itself and its supposed turrets were damaged.

. Bull's Cough Syrup

OPSY

VER AND CONSTIPATION. can relieve you like the Natural vided by nature herself and dis-ago and now used by every

Hi János
ne thousand of the most famous e testimonials, as the safest and nown to medical science.
and Gentle. It never gripes.
al Wholesale Grocer Sells It.
BLUE Label with Red Centre Panel.
atchelor, 130 Fulton St., N. Y.

S ON DE.
2.50
5.00.
any ness
ates.
old
Your town
w ch ngs
Co.,

TER
S N SHELLS
Sold or at ARMS Co.
Winchester
Factory loaded shotgun shells, "NEW RIVAL," "LEADER" and "REPEATER." A trial will prove their superiority.

nds

Burning
Ends.

reatment
ng in a strong, hot,
RA SOAP. Dry,
TICURA, the great
ents. Wear, during ves, with the finger in the palms. For dry, fissured, itching,
ss nails and painful
s simply wonderful,
of the most distress-
nd all else fail.

uticura
n I put them in water the pain
l off, and the flesh would get hard t least fifty places on each hand.
ree years.
e worse than when I commenced was ever thought of without one to think that I had to go to work often felt like giving up my job
ens, the leading bottler of Trenton, ings.
o wrap each finger on both hands,
when I came to take them off, it and bleed. Some of my friends had such hands they would have ld never work," and more would a, the greatest of skin cures, is pending dollar after dollar during n two years since I used it and I a day's work while I was using business, and in acids, etc.

Montgomery St., Trenton, N. J.

ernal Treatment for Every Humor.
(25c.), to cleanse the skin of crusts and ed cuticle, Cuticura Ointment (50c.), rmation, and irritation, and soothe and w (50c.), to cool and cleanse the blood, ient Cure the most torturing, disfigh loss of hair, when all else fails. Sold
, Sole Props., Boston, U. S. A.

e Cuticura Soap
fying, and beautifying the skin, for and the stopping of falling hair, for sore hands, in the form of baths for too free or offensive perspiration in d for many sanative antiseptic pur-and especially mothers, and for all mount of persuasion can induce those or preserving and purifying the skin,
DAP combines delicate emollient prop-
th the purest of cleansing ingredients, edicated soap ever compounded it is beautifying the skin, scalp, hair, and owever expensive, is to be compared
ery. Thus it combines in OUR SOAP skin and complexion soap, the most

MINERS ENTOMBED BY EXPLOSION

Frightful Accident In a Canadian Colliery.

SIXTY VICTIMS IS THE REPORT

Prompt Rescue of Unforunates Cut Off Repeatedly By Volume of Flame.

A special from Victoria, British Columbia, says: What is feared will prove one of the most horrible mine accidents in the history of the Dominion took place at the Union mines, owned by the Welling Colliery Company, of which James Dunsmuir, the premier of the province, is the principal shareholder. Newspaper correspondents have arrived by steamers and tug boats to the scene.

As near as can be gathered, the explosion took place about 11 o'clock in the forenoon in No. 6 shaft, situated in the village of Cumberland. There were sixty men in it when the explosion took place, and not one of them escaped. The explosion ignited the mine, wrecking the shaft from midway down to the bottom and filling it with a solid mass of rocks, earth and timbers.

The first explosion was followed by several more, while a dense volume of smoke pouring from the vent holes indicated that fire, as well as gas, was doing destructive work below.

Men of the morning shift in No. 5 shaft organized a rescue party. No. 5 and No. 6 are connected by a tunnel, and through this channel the attempt was made. They had not cut their way many yards through the debris when they encountered fire, which rendered the place untenable and obliged the party to desist.

The message came back by telephone to the surface conveying the heart-breaking news to the relatives of the imprisoned men, whose urging was not necessary to induce the relief party to return to their apparently hopeless task. Overcome at last by smoke and gas, they reluctantly withdrew from No. 5 and commenced work on a long cut from No. 4, the only other means of reaching the men. Work on this was prosecuted with the greatest vigor until abatement of the fire in No. 5 enabled them to once more return there.

From the head office of the Dunsmuir company at Victoria a special train proceeded at 1:15 o'clock to Nanaimo.

The last report of the inspector of mines pronounced the shaft as complying with regulations governing coal mines.

WELL KNOWN AUTHOR DEAD.

Maurice Thompson Passes Away After a Lingering Illness.

Maurice Thompson died at his home in Crawfordsville, Ind., Friday morning at 3 o'clock after a lingering illness. Mr. Thompson was born in Fairfield, Ind., September 9, 1844, but spent his early life in the Georgia mountains, half way between Chattanooga and Atlanta, where his father was an extensive planter. He entered the confederate army in 1862 and did hard scout duty.

After the war he became chief engineer of the L. C. and S. W. railroad, and while engaged in this work met Alice Lee, of Crawfordsville, whom he married. He then began the practice of law.

In 1867 he explored Lake Okeechobee, Florida, listing its birds, animals and plants. From his Crawfordsville home Mr. Thompson sent forth the literary work which was to win him distinction.

TRAGEDY IN A ZOO.

Animal Keeper Torn Almost to Pieces By Infuriated Tiger.

A sickening tragedy occurred at the zoo in Indianapolis Friday morning. Albert Nelson, a keeper, 15 years old, entered the cage of a Bengal tiger by mistake and was attacked by the beast.

A terrible struggle followed in which the keeper was torn in a hundred places.

Redhot irons were applied to the bloodthirsty animal, but not until he was struck by seven pistol balls did he release his hold on his victim.

Nelson was finally dragged from the cage more dead than alive and was hurried to the city hospital, where he died as he was being carried in.

The tiger was not fatally wounded. Nelson was in charge of the lion cubs, and it is supposed opened the tiger's cage by mistake.

Dispensary For Charlotte.

A movement has been started in Charlotte, N. C., having for its object the establishment of a dispensary to take the place of the licensed liquor saloons, and the question will be decided by a white primary in about ten days.

Huntington Inheritance Tax.

The executors of the will of Collis P. Huntington have paid to the state of New York $667,000, that being the amount they estimated as due to the state as an inheritance tax on the property left by Mr. Huntington.

Battleship Gun Explodes.

A big thirteen-inch gun exploded on the battleship Kearsage while the ship was at target practice off Key West Saturday. The gun itself and its superimposed turrets were damged.

"SMASHING" GALORE.

Hatchet Brigades Make Things More and More Lively In Kansas.

At Perry, Kansas, Friday night, fifteen prominent women, led by the wives of a Methodist minister and a bank cashier, raided several "joints." With hatchets and axes they demolished fixtures right and left, entailing a loss in that particular saloon alone of more than $1,000.

Twenty whiskey barrels, sixty-two kegs of beer and twenty cases of wine were carried into the streets, where they were chopped into kindling wood and their contents flowed away in the gutters.

A drug store was the last place visited. The proprietor was accused of quenching the thirst of local inebriates and his stock was quickly destroyed.

A special from Arkansas City, Kas., says: Seventy men, led by the ministers of this city, crossed the Arkansas river Saturday and demolished the "Last Chance" saloon. All the "joints" in the town had been closed for several days, but the "Last Chance" being outside the city limits, its proprietor continued to do a flourishing business. When the crowd swept down upon the place the bartender was asleep. He was backed into a corner at a revolver's point and witnessed the complete demolition of the fixtures and stock.

Lanham, Neb., is in an uproar over the liquor question. Money has been raised to clean out the joint keepers. The town is peculiarly situated, the main street being the line between Kansas and Nebraska, just as the main street of the town of Bristol is the dividing line between Virginia and Tennessee. Although a town of only 200 inhabitants, it has for years given officers of both states no end of trouble, offenders from one state moving to the other at will and thus evading the officers.

There was a free-for-all fight at Beloit Saturday, arising from the feeling over the joints. The temperance men and women insisted on inspecting the places to see that their orders for closing had been observed.

The investigating committee was followed by a large crowd. Soon an alarm of fire was sounded and a hose cart dashed up and the firemen commenced throwing water on the crowd. Some men attempted to cut the hose, but were prevented by a display of revolvers. After several had been more or less-hurt several arrests were made and quiet was restored.

Mrs. Carrie Nation put in a very busy Sunday in Topeka, and as a result the capital city has experienced more genuine excitement than can be remembered by the oldest inhabitant. Mrs. Nation literally crammed the day with thrilling episodes. She succeeded in having the contents of a notorious joint smashed, broke into a cold storage plant where a number of fine bars had been stored away for safety, and demolished them; addressed a large mass meeting of men and women, and was arrested four times. The last time that the law laid its hand upon her was when Mrs. Nation emerged from the church where the mass meeting had been held.

SHOT WIFE AND SELF.

Bloody Tragedy Revealed In a Lake City, Fla., Home.

At Crescent City, Fla., Saturday morning, Dr. W. L. McLeod and his wife were found dead in their residence. The evidence disclosed that McLeod had killed his wife and then himself. Neither of the couple had been seen for a week, when Mrs. McLeod was visiting members of her church regarding some religious work.

The bodies were found in the bed room, undressed, and two bullet wound, both mortal, had been inflicted on Mrs. DeLeod. Her husband then fired the third bullet through his own brain and held the pistol in his hand. Mrs. McLeod had first been shot in bed and then on the floor as she kneeled before him.

LAWMAKERS ADJOURN.

Extra Session of Virginia Legislature Comes to a Close.

The extra session of the Virginia general assembly at Richmond closed Saturday evening and most of the members left for their homes on afternoon and night trains. The only work of the day was the passage of a bill amending the charter of the city of Charlottesville.

KING OPENS PARLIAMENT.

Edward and Wife Drive to House of Commons In Gorgeous State.

A London special says: The first parliament of the reign of King Edward VII. was opened Thursday afternoon by the king in person. His majesty was accompanied by Queen Alexandra, the duke of Connaught and many others of the royal family. The king and queen rode from Buckingham palace to the palace of Westminster in the georgeous state coach, used for the first time since the wedding of the present king.

CONFEREES ARE STUBBORN.

War Revenue Reduction Measure Causes Deadlock In Committee.

The conferees on the war reduction bill held a meeting Saturday afternoon, but nothing was accomplished. No vote was taken. It is understood that the conferees on the part of each house attempted to convince of the other that they must yield. The house conferees insisted that they could not accept the senate substitute and the senate conferees maintained that if any measure was to become law the house must agree to the senate bill.

Best For the Bowels.

No matter what ails you, headache to a cancer, you will never get well until your bowels are put right. Cascarets help nature, cure you without a gripe or pain, produce easy natural movements, cost you just 10 cents to start getting your health back. Cascarets Candy Cathartic, the genuine, put up in metal boxes, every tablet has C. C. C. stamped on it. Beware of imitations.

WHAT IS OVARITIS?

A dull, throbbing pain, accompanied by a sense of tenderness and heat low down in the side, with an occasional shooting pain, indicates inflammation.

On examination it will be found that the region of pain shows some swelling. This is the first stage of ovaritis, inflammation of the ovary. If the roof of your house leaks, my sister, you have it fixed at once; why not pay the same respect to your own body?

You need not, you ought not to let yourself go, when one of your own sex holds out the helping hand to you, and will advise you without money, and without price. Write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., and tell her all your symptoms. Her experience in treating female ills is greater than any other living person. Following is a letter from a woman who is thankful for avoiding a terrible operation.

MRS. ANNIE ASTON.

"I was suffering to such an extent from ovarian trouble that my physician thought an operation would be necessary.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound having been recommended to me, I decided to try it. After using several bottles I found that I was cured. My entire system was toned up, and I suffered no more with my ovaries."—MRS. ANNA ASTON, Troy, Mo.

Every cotton planter should write for our valuable illustrated pamphlet, "Cotton Culture." It is sent free.

Send name and address to GERMAN KALI WORKS, 93 Nassau St., N. Y.

Constipation

is easily cured and the bowels restored to a healthy condition by the use of the natural remedy for all stomach, bowel, liver and kidney troubles. By our method of concentration each 6 oz. bottle is equivalent to three gallons of the spring water.

CRAB ORCHARD WATER

Sold by all druggists. Crab apple trade mark on every bottle

TRADE MARK

CRAB ORCHARD WATER CO., Louisville, Ky.

"SALZER'S SEEDS WILL MAKE YOU RICH"
This is a daring statement, but Salzer's seeds bear it out every time.
Combination Corn. Greatest corn on earth. Will positively revolutionize corn growing.
Billion Dollar Grass. Greatest marvel of the age. 18 tons of hay per acre. First crop six weeks after sowing.
What Is It? Catalogue tells.
FOR 15c. STAMPS and this NOTICE we will mail our new catalog, 10 kinds farm-garden implements, also Speltz (90 lbs. per A.) Oats, Barley (175 bu. per A.) Peas, etc. Worth $10 to get a start.
John A. Salzer Seed Co., La Crosse, Wis.

BIG SEED FREE Collection
No money required in advance. Full 60 pkgs of our seeds at 5c each and we will send you one big $5 Bottle of Field & Vegetable seeds free including 5 other premiums, including Silver-filled watch and suit of clothes. Write postal accepting this offer and we will forward seeds, catalogue, etc., by mail. Information Bureau of Business. T. J. KING CO., Richmond, Va.
Our Seeds Are Northern Grown.

Am. N. U. No. 8, 1901.

USE CERTAIN COUGH CHILL CURE. 25 50 $1.00

CURES RHEUMATISM OR CATARRH IN A DAY. TREATMENT FREE.

B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm) cures the worst cases by drawing the poison out of the blood and bones. Aches and pains in the bones or joints, hot swollen muscles, swollen glands, sciatica, droppings in the throat, hawking, spitting or bad breath, impaired hearing, etc., all disappear promptly and permanently. B. B. B. cures through the blood where all else fails. B. B. B. makes blood pure and rich. Druggists, $1. Treatment free by writing Blood Balm Co., 31 Mitchell St., Atlanta Ga. Medicine sent prepaid. Describe trouble, and free medical advice given until cured. 2000 testimonials of cures by B. B. B., so don't give up hope, but try Blood Balm.

A man who has been earning $200 a month, and who is suddenly reduced to $50, is a dandy if he can decrease the number of delivery wagons that stop at his house.

Carter's Ink

has the largest sale of any ink in the world because it is the best ink that can be made.

Seventeen per cent of the population of Michigan is enrolled in the Sunday schools. The average for the States and Territories of the Union is 1 per cent.

Nature Needs

Assistance only. Many of the cases of serious illness could be checked at once with a dose of Crab Orchard Water, taken in time.

One of the things a man can't understand is why his sisters get offended when he doesn't rush in to see the new little red babies at their house.

I do not believe Piso's Cure for Consumption has an equal for coughs and colds. JOHN F. BOYER, Trinity Springs, Ind., Feb. 15, 1900.

As soon as her child is born the Turkish mother loads it with amulets, and a small bit of mud, steeped in hot water, prepared by previous charms, is stuck on his forehead.

Happiness cannot be bought, but one of the great hindrances to its attainment can be removed by Adams' Pepsin Tutti Frutti.

Among the 153,000 inhabitants which the last census gave to New Mexico, there were 20,000 Indians and 50,000 Mexicans.

All goods are alike to PUTNAM FADELESS DYES, as they color all fibers at one boiling. Sold by all druggists.

The people who know us best, won't write our epitaph probably—that's one consolation.

Notice—Two traveling salesmen wanted in each state. Salary and expenses; experience unnecessary. Pocahontas Tobacco Wks, Bedford City, Va.

Dead ancestors are said to occupy too much of the arable land of China. Famines would be less frequent if the country was not one vast cemetery.

How's This!

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligation made by their firm.

WEST & TRUAX, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, Ohio.
WALDING, KINNAN & MARVIN, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, Ohio.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Price, 75c. per bottle. Sold by all Druggists. Testimonials free.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Odd Decorations.

The Swedish ware to be found in the shops which make a specialty of old pewter will probably be welcomed by the house mistress in search of odd decorations for her dining room plate rack and mantel. These articles are of wood and wicker and picturesque in form and decoration. Baskets, bowls, pails, jugs, boxes and other articles for use and ornament are included in the list. The wooden drinking cups are deep and wide and encircled by stout hoops. Sometimes leather strips are used in conjunction with the other ornamentation.

PISO'S CURE FOR CONSUMPTION
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
25 CTS.

CAPTAIN OF FIRE DEPT.

Capt. H. H. Thomson Advises the Use of Dr. Greene's Nervura.

This Wonderful Body Builder and Strength Restorer Should Be Used Now.

CAPT. H. H. THOMSON OF MINNEAPOLIS FIRE DEPT.

No occupation in the world requires more perfect nerve force and physical strength than is demanded of its members by a modern fire department. The members of this branch of the public service must be ready at all hours of the day or night, and in all degrees of heat, cold or exposure, to answer the call of the public, and protect life and property. At all times they must have bodily strength and a clear brain. Without this we would never hear of the wonderful feats of bravery and rescue performed by them. Nothing in the world will build up strength like Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. Captain Thomson's strong statement, which we publish herewith, carries weight, and is echoed everywhere by those who rely on Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, when disease attacks them, or they get run down in health which is so easy at this season of the year. There is no medicine in the world which will ward off attacks of the fatal grip, which is now so prevalent, and there is nothing which will drive it away so quickly or reinvigorate the body as well after the grip, as this famous remedy. Captain Thomson, whose address is 2406 Lincoln St., North East, Minneapolis, Minn., says:

"I am a great believer in the wonderful curative powers of Dr. Greene's Nervura Blood and Nerve Remedy. It has been used in my house for years as a body builder, strength restorer and general family medicine. It never fails to give beneficial results. It strengthens the nerves and purifies the blood. As a health builder, I believe there is no medicine equal to Dr. Greene's Nervura Blood and Nerve Remedy."

Remember that Dr. Greene's Nervura Blood and Nerve Remedy is the prescription of a regular physician, Dr. Greene, who can be consulted absolutely free of charge either by mail or calling at his office, 35 W. 14th St., New York City. Consultation is absolutely free of charge. If you cannot call upon him at his office, write him a letter, telling all about your case, and you can be treated just as well at home as if you called in person. Remember his advice is absolutely free.

LION COFFEE

A LUXURY WITHIN THE REACH OF ALL!

Watch our next advertisement.

BLIND MAN'S BUFF is a good game to play. But you cannot afford to play it with coffee.

Know what you are drinking!
Know what you purchase!

Uncover your eyes and see whether you are getting

LION COFFEE

or some cheap glazed substitute that has been treated with polishing materials, in order to hide imperfections. Look at the package! Is a lion's head on it? LION COFFEE is the coffee of purity and strength. Try it once.

In every package of LION COFFEE you will find a fully illustrated and descriptive list. No housekeeper, in fact, no woman, man, boy or girl will fail to find in the list some article which will contribute to their happiness, comfort and convenience, and which they may have by simply cutting out a certain number of Lion Heads from the wrappers of our one pound sealed packages (which is the only form in which this excellent coffee is sold).

WOOLSON SPICE CO., TOLEDO, OHIO.

"La Creole" Will Restore those Gray Hairs

La Creole Hair Restorer is a Perfect Dressing and Restorer. Price $1.00

GEORGE WASHINGTON was accustomed to say that for everything he was and had and did he was indebted to his mother. Martha Washington, who shared his life, is a familiar character, but Mary Washington, the mother, is comparatively an unknown woman.

Portrait painters were not numerous in the early days, and not a picture was left of the mother of Washington. She is described, however, as having been of medium height, with a rounded, matronly figure, and having a clearly marked face, strong and firm, which that of her son is said to have resembled. Indeed, there were those who said that her rugged features were more like those of a man than a woman.

George was the oldest of six children, and he was only twelve years of age when his father died and Mary Washington was compelled to assume the duties of both father and mother. The family was dwelling near Fredericksburg at the time, for the birthplace of George had been destroyed by fire and a new house built near the Rappahannock. Mrs. Washington was kind in her manner, but not demonstrative. There was a devout religious atmosphere in the home.

(From Leslie's Monthly.)
THE BIRTHPLACE OF WASHINGTON, WESTMORELAND COUNTY, VIRGINIA.
(The house is no longer standing, but its site is marked by an appropriate monument.)

The style of living was almost severe in its simplicity. This was a part of her faith, for in after years, when the problem of existence was happily solved and she might have had a share in what was considered luxury for the times, she still maintained the quiet and simplicity of her early life. Strong, true, decided, Lafayette described her as being a mother who belonged to the type of earlier days like the Spartan or the Roman, rather than to the women of her own times. And George's half-brother, Lawrence, for Mary Ball was the second wife of Augustine Washington, was accustomed to say that in all his life he had never met a woman of whom he stood more in awe or whom he more deeply respected than Mary Washington.

The care of the estate was left to Mrs. Washington by her husband, and like the prudent woman that she was, she looked well to the ways of her household. In an old-fashioned open chaise she used to drive to her little farm near Fredericksburg. She rode about the fields, inspected her crops and buildings and insisted upon the men whom she employed doing exactly what she told them. It is recorded that one time one of her agents had ventured to follow his own judgment instead of her directions. She rebuked him sharply, saying: "I command you, there is nothing left for you but to obey." In the duties of the home and care of her lands the time passed, and at last her son was appointed Commander-in-Chief of the armies of the newly-born nation. Her love and counsels had aided him thus far.

Martha Washington could in a measure share in some of the camp experiences of her husband, but Mary, the mother, must be kept in quiet and seclusion more appropriate to her age. Near Fredericksburg the General found a nice protected and secluded place for her, and from time to time her suspense was relieved by the messages he sent her. One incident in particular is recalled. It was after the battle of Trenton, and the hearts of all the patriots had been stirred to fresh courage. The men who brought her word were loud in their praises of her son, and their praises were just, but Mary Washington received the message calmly, although she did not attempt to conceal her pleasure while she disclaimed all the plaudits of her son.

When the word was brought to her that Cornwallis had surrendered at Yorktown she lifted her hands toward heaven, but without a tear, and speaking calmly, she said: "Thank God! War will now be ended, and peace, independence and happiness bless our country!" Then she said: "I am not surprised at what George has done, for he was always a very good boy."

Alone, except with his friend Lafayette, without horses or attendants, the great commander came back to his mother's house. She was told that the hero of the times, the man whom all the country was praising, was at the door. But whatever he was to others he was still her boy, and in a moment she had folded him in a warm embrace, such as she used to give him when as a little fellow he climbed into her lap. Again she called him by the fond names she had used in his childhood, and though she marked the furrows which his struggles had traced deep in his face, her every thought was of him, not of the name he had won.

GENERAL WASHINGTON AND HIS AGED MOTHER.

and we are told that in that interview between mother and son she said not one word of his fame or glory.

Washington had just been elected the first President of the United States, but before he accepted the high office he went once more to see his mother, who was suffering at the time from an acute disease. The story of the interview is simple yet almost sublime. "The people, madam," said Washington, "have been pleased, with the most flattering unanimity, to elect me to the Chief Magistracy of the United States, but before I can assume the functions of that office I have come to bid you an affectionate farewell. So soon as the public business can be disposed of I shall hasten to Virginia, and——" He could say no more, but the mother, strong even in her weakness, replied: "You will see me no more. My great age and the disease that is rapidly approaching my vitals, warn me that I am not long for this world. I trust in God, I am somewhat prepared for a better. But go, George, fulfil the high destinies which heaven appears to assign to you; go, my son, and may heaven's and your mother's blessing be with you always."

Before the President's return to Virginia Mary Washington had passed away at the ripe age of eighty-five. A monument at Fredericksburg marked the place where all that was mortal was placed.

MONUMENT TO MARY, MOTHER OF WASHINGTON, AT FREDERICKSBURG.

Mrs. Venamon to his mother, Maria Venamon Williamson, who gave it to her own daughter.

Sayings of Washington.

Observe good faith and justice toward all nations and cultivate peace and harmony with all.

My anxious recollections, my sympathetic feelings and my best wishes are irresistibly attracted wheresoever in any country I see an oppressed nation unfurl the banner of freedom.

The battle-field should be the last resource, the dernier resort of nations.

Keep alive in your breast that little spark of celestial fire called conscience.

Lenity will operate with greater force in most instances than rigor; it is therefore my first wish to have my whole conduct distinguished by it.

There is an indissoluble union between a magnanimous policy and the solid rewards of public prosperity and felicity.

The duty of holding a neutral conduct may be inferred, without anything more, from the obligation which justice and humanity impose on every nation, in cases where it is free to act, to maintain inviolate the relations of peace and amity toward other nations.

Though I prize as I ought the good opinion of my fellow-citizens, yet if I know myself I would not seek or retain popularity at the expense of one social duty or moral virtue.

He Believed That Acts Spoke.

So early as 1769, six years before the outbreak of hostilities, Washington wrote to his friend George Mason: "That no man should scruple or hesitate a moment to use arms in defense of so valuable a blessing (as American freedom) is clearly my opinion."

In the Congress of 1774 Mr. Gadsden, of South Carolina, presented a motion that Congress should call out an armed force to attack Gage's army in Boston. The motion was voted down as premature, but among the few who voted aye, according to Gadsden himself, was Colonel Washington.

When Congress reasembled in 1775 Washington was the only member who came in military uniform, as if to testify that the time had come to use powder. He was attired as the Colonel of the Twenty-second Virginia Infantry, in dark blue coat with scarlet facings, and scarlet vest, scarlet breeches, top boots, and a black three-cornered hat with a black and red "Wolfe cockade" at the left. A red sash fell aslant from the right shoulder, and a steel plate, called a gorget, hung upon the breast, supported by a silver chain.

This gorget and the hat now belong to the Massachusetts Historical Society. It was in this uniform that Peale had painted, in 1772, perhaps the best picture we possess of Washington in early life.

On the very day he received his commission from Congress Washington started for the seat of war before Boston, escorted by the Philadelphia Light Horse.

The war had begun for him long ago. At the earliest possible moment he took his place in line.

The California newspapers are rejoicing over the discovery that while 300 Mediterranean lemons yield only 19.70 ounces of citric acid, 300 California lemons yield 26.64 ounces.

Where Honor is Due

If you please, you may laud George up to the skies,
As the man who won battles and never told lies.
You may tell of his virtues in story
and song;
How he carefully sifted the right
from the wrong;
Of his wisdom in counsel, his bravery in war,
How he drove the grim British away from our shore.
You may cherish forever his hat and his sword,
And up to the skies our brave
Washington laud.
Long, long may we hold him an example to youth,
For honesty temperance, courage and truth.

While we gaze with delight on a structure so grand,
Let us honor the builder who drew out the plan,
And added, through years of infinite care,
Small stone upon stone, firmly fixing them there;
And though this may be but a girl's point of view,
Let us give credit where it is certainly due,
And pluck from his laurels one leaf
for another,
So three cheers for our George, and four for his mother.

MARGARET S. UNDERWOOD.

WASHINGTON'S WEDDING.

Attended With as Much Pomp and Splendor as a Royal Marriage.

"In a suit of blue and silver with scarlet trimmings, and a waistcoat of white satin embroidered with buckles of gold on his knee garters and on his shoes, his hair powdered and by his side a dress sword, the bridegroom (Washington) towered above most of his companions," writes William Perrine, of "When Washington was Married," in the Ladies' Home Journal. "Mrs. Custis, his bride, did not reach higher than his shoulders when she stood with him before the old Episcopal clergyman in his full canonicals. The mistress of the White House wore a costume which had also come from London. In her hair and ears were ornaments of pearl; she wore white satin slippers, and on the buckle of each was a diamond. The sprightly little matron, with light brown hair and hazel eyes, had a plump and pleasing figure, an easy and graceful carriage, a comely face and fine shoulders, and with her three bridesmaids, and with the fine women of the families of the neighboring domains in attendance, there was a splendid display of the charms and graces of Virginia womanhood. Nor were the men less distinguished. The country gentlemen in their gayest raiment, and the provincial officers from Williamsburg in their uniforms, were headed by the gallant Lieutenant-Governor Fauquire. Around him stood a group of English officers, hardly less showy in their trappings, together with members of the Legislature and other civilians. When the bride entered the coach, which was bright with the Washington colors of red and white, and drawn by six horses guided by black postilions in livery, the bridegroom did not enter with her. There was his favorite horse, with his tall body servant holding the reins and waiting for him to mount. When Washington mounted the richly caparisoned charger he rode by the side of the bridal coach, closely followed by a cortege of gentlemen on horseback."

WHEN WASHINGTON WAS A BOY

Portrait That Must Have Been Made About the Time He Cut Down the Cherry Tree.

This portrait was given by Washington to his old friend, Captain Venamon, with whose family he was intimate. Captain Venamon died seventy-five years ago, and was buried at Marcus Hook, Delaware County, Pennsylvania, about fifteen miles south of Philadelphia. The family homestead is still to be seen there. After the Captain's death the picture passed into the hands of his wife, who bequeathed it to her niece, Maria Venamon Williamson, who in turn left it to her daughter, who was named after the Venamon family. This daughter married a Mr. Baker, and died about seven years ago. The picture then became the property of her daughter, Miss Margaretta H. Baker. Miss Baker's uncle (her mother's brother), Mr. Williamson, is still living at St. Michaels, Md. He is now seventy-one years of age. His wife is also living with him. Mr. Williamson remembers that the picture was given by

When a minister preaches about social extravagance half the women in the congregation bite their lips and try to look mortified.—New York Press.

Pride is the fog that surrounds insignificance.

Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup
Cures a cough or cold of any kind. Croup, bronchitis, grippe and consumption, too.

DROPSY NEW DISCOVERY; gives quick relief and cures worst cases. Send for testimonials and 10 days' treatment Free. Dr. H. H. GREEN'S SONS, Box B, Atlanta, Ga.

FOR GOUT, TORPID LIVER AND CONSTIPATION.

No medicine in the world can relieve you like the Natural Mineral Laxative Water, provided by nature herself and discovered more than 30 years ago and now used by every nation in the world.

Hunyadi János

Recommended by over one thousand of the most famous physicians, from whom we have testimonials, as the safest and best Natural Laxative Water known to medical science.

Its Action is Speedy, Sure and Gentle. It never gripes.

Every Druggist and General Wholesale Grocer Sells It.

ASK for the full name, "Hunyadi János." | BLUE Label with Red Centre Panel.

Sole Importer, Firm of Andreas Saxlehner, 130 Fulton St., N. Y.

W. L. DOUGLAS $3 & $3.50 SHOES UNION MADE.

The real worth of W. L. Douglas $3.00 and $3.50 shoes compared with other makes is $4.00 to $5.00.

Our $4.00 Gilt Edge Line cannot be equalled at any price. We make and sell more $3.00 and $3.50 shoes than any other two manufacturers in the United States.

THE REASON more W. L. Douglas $3 and $3.50 shoes are sold than any other make is because THEY ARE THE BEST. Your dealer should keep them; we give one dealer exclusive sale in each town.

Take no substitute! Insist on having W. L. Douglas shoes with name and price stamped on bottom. If your dealer will not get them for you, send direct to factory, enclosing price and 25c. extra for carriage. State kind of leather, size, and width, plain or cap toe. Our shoes will reach you anywhere. Write for catalogue showing new Spring styles.

We use Fast Color Eyelets in all our shoes. W. L. Douglas Shoe Co., Brockton, Mass.

FREE Our 160 page illustrated catalogue. FREE

WINCHESTER SHOTGUNS and FACTORY LOADED SHOTGUN SHELLS the winning combination in the field or at the trap. All dealers sell them.

WINCHESTER REPEATING ARMS CO. 180 Winchester Ave., New Haven, Conn.

Winchester Factory loaded shotgun shells, "NEW RIVAL," "LEADER," and "REPEATER." A trial will prove their superiority.

Sore Hands

Red, Rough Hands, Itching, Burning Palms, and Painful Finger Ends.

One Night Treatment

Soak the hands on retiring in a strong, hot, creamy lather of CUTICURA SOAP. Dry, and anoint freely with CUTICURA, the great skin cure and purest of emollients. Wear, during the night, old, loose kid gloves, with the finger ends cut off and air holes cut in the palms. For red, rough, chapped hands, dry, fissured, itching, feverish palms, with shapeless nails and painful finger ends, this treatment is simply wonderful, and points to a speedy cure of the most distressing cases when physicians and all else fail.

Cured by Cuticura

I WAS troubled with hands so sore that when I put them in water the pain would near set me crazy, the skin would peel off, and the flesh would get hard and break, then the blood would flow from at least fifty places on each hand. Words never can tell the suffering I endured for three years.

I tried at least eight doctors, but my hands were worse than when I commenced doctoring. I tried every old Granny remedy that was ever thought of without one cent's worth of good and could not even get relief.

I would feel so badly mornings when I got up, to think that I had to go to work and stand pain for eight or nine hours, that I often felt like giving up my job which was in the bottling works of Mr. E. L. Kerns, the leading bottler of Trenton, N. J., who will vouch for the truth of my sufferings.

Before I could start to work, I would have to wrap each finger on both hands and then wear gloves, which I hated to do, for when I came to take them off, it would take two hours and the flesh would break and bleed. Some of my friends who had seen my hands would say, "if they had such hands they would have them amputated"; others would say "they would never work," and more would turn away in disgust. But thanks to Cuticura, the greatest of skin cures, it ended all my sufferings.

Just to think, after doctoring three years, and spending dollar after dollar during that time, Cuticura cured me. It has now been two years since I used it and I do not know what sore hands are. I never lost a day's work while I was using it or since, and I have been working at the same business, and in acids, etc.

THOS. A. CLANCY, 310 Montgomery St., Trenton, N. J.

Cuticura The Set $1.25 Complete External and Internal Treatment for Every Humor. Consisting of Cuticura Soap (35c.), to cleanse the skin of crusts and scales, and soften the thickened cuticle, Cuticura Ointment (50c.), to instantly allay itching, inflammation, and irritation, and soothe and heal, and Cuticura Resolvent (50c.), to cool and cleanse the blood. A single set is often sufficient to cure the most torturing, disfiguring, and humiliating skin, scalp, and blood humors, with loss of hair, when all else fails. Sold throughout the world. Potter Drug and Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston, U. S. A.

Millions of Women Use Cuticura Soap Assisted by Cuticura Ointment for preserving, purifying, and beautifying the skin, for cleansing the scalp of crusts, scales, and dandruff, and the stopping of falling hair, for softening, whitening, and soothing red, rough, and sore hands, in the form of baths for annoying irritations, inflammations, and chafings, or too free or offensive perspiration, in the form of washes for ulcerative weaknesses, and for many sanative antiseptic purposes which readily suggest themselves to women, and especially mothers, and for all the purposes of the toilet, bath, and nursery. No amount of persuasion can induce those who have once used it to use any other, especially for preserving and purifying the skin, scalp, and hair of infants and children. Cuticura Soap combines delicate excellent properties derived from Cuticura, the great skin cure, with the purest of cleansing ingredients and the most refreshing of flower odors. No other medicated soap ever compounded is to be compared with it for preserving, purifying, and beautifying the skin, scalp, hair, and hands. No other foreign or domestic toilet soap, however expensive, is to be compared with it for all the purposes of the toilet, bath, and nursery. Thus it continues in One Soap at One Price, viz., Twenty-five Cents, the most skin and complexion soap, the most infant and most baby soap in the world.

MINERS ENTOMBED BY EXPLOSI

Frightful Accident In Canadian Colliery.

SIXTY VICTIMS IS THE REP

Prompt Rescue of Unfortun Cut Off Repeatedly By Volume of Flame.

A special from Victoria, Br Columbia, says: What is fear one of the most horrib incidents in the history of the i took place at the Union m owned by the Welling Colliery pany, of which James Dunsm premier of the province, is the al shareholder. Newspaper pondents hurried by steamers a boats to the scene.

As near as can be gathered, t plosion took place about 11 o'c the forenoon in No. 6 shaft, sa the village of Cumberland. T were sixty men in it when the e sion took place, and not one of escaped. The explosion ignite mine, wrecking the shaft from m down to the bottom and filling i solid mass of rocks, earth and fire.

The first explosion was follow several more, while a dense volu smoke pouring from the vent hole located that fire, as well as gas, doing destructive work below.

Men of the morning shift in N shaft organized a rescue party and No. 6 are connected by a tu and through this channel the atte was made. They had not cut way many yards through the d when they encountered fire, w rendered the place untenable obliged the party to desist.

The message came back by telep to the surface conveying the h breaking news to the relatives of imprisoned men, whose urging not necessary to induce the relief p to return to their apparently hope task. Overcome at last by smoke etc., they reluctantly withdrew f No. 5 and commenced work on a at from No. 4, the only other m of reaching the men. Work on was prosecuted with the greatest v until abatement of the fire in N enabled them to once more re there.

From the head office of the D mine company at Victoria a spe train proceeded at 1:15 o'clock Nanaimo.

The last report of the inspecto mines pronounced the shaft as complying with regulations governing mines.

WELL KNOWN AUTHOR DEA

Maurice Thompson Passes Away after a Lingering Illness.

Maurice Thompson died at his h in Crawfordsville, Ind., Friday m ing at 3 o'clock after a lingering ness. Mr. Thompson was born Fairfield, Ind., September 9, 18 and spent his early life in the Geor mountains, half way between Cha ooga and Atlanta, where his fat was an extensive planter. He ente the confederate army in 1862 and served scout duty.

After the war he became chief gineer of the L. C. and S. W. railro and while engaged in this work married Alice Lee, of Crawfordsville, whom married. He then began the prac of law.

In 1867 he explored Lake Okeec tee, Florida, listing its birds, anim and plants. From his Crawfordsv home Mr. Thompson sent forth literary work which was to win h distinction.

TRAGEDY IN A ZOO.

Animal Keeper Torn Almost to Pie By Infuriated Tiger.

A sickening tragedy occurred at in Indianapolis Friday morni Albert Neilson, a keeper, 15 ye old, entered the cage of a Bengal ti by mistake and was attacked by t beast.

A terrible struggle followed in wh the keeper was torn in a hundr pieces.

Redhod irons were applied to t bloodthirsty animal, but not until struck by seven pistol balls d to release his hold on his victim.

Neilson was finally dragged fro the cage more dead than alive and w carried to the city hospital, where died as he was being carried in.

The tiger was not fatally wounde Neilson was in charge of the li cage, and it is supposed opened t tiger's cage by mistake.

Dispensary For Charlotte.

A movement has been started Charlotte, N. C., having for its obje the establishment of a dispensary the place of the licensed liquo stations, and the question will be d cided by a white primary in about te days.

Huntington Inheritance Tax.

The executors of the will of Coll Huntington have paid to the sta New York $667,000, that being th amount they estimated as due to th state as an inheritance tax on th property left by Mr. Huntington.

Battleship Gun Explodes.

A big thirteen-inch gun exploded o battleship Kearsarge while the shi at target practice off Key We yesterday. The gun itself and its co posed turrets were damaged.

Bull's Cough Syrup

OPSY NEW DISCOVERY; gives quick relief and cures worst cases. Use no other after trying this. Guaranteed to cure Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Constipation, Sick Headache, Kidney Troubles, etc. If your stomach is out of order it will surely tell you so. Sold by druggists, or by mail. Large size, containing 2½ times small size, $1.00. Small size, 50 cents. Book of testimonials and 10 days' treatment free. H. H. GREEN & SONS, Box B, Atlanta, Ga.

ER AND CONSTIPATION.
an relieve you like the Natural ded by nature herself and dis-go and now used by every li János

e thousand of the most famous
e testimonials, as the safest and own to medical science.
and Gentle. It never gripes.
Wholesale Grocer Sells It.
BLUE Label with Red Centre Panel.
Eichner, 120 Fulton St., N. Y.

TER Winchester
S Factory loaded shotgun shells, "NEW RIVAL," "LEADER" and "REPEATER." A trial will prove their superiority.
SHELLS
k or at RMS CO.

nds

Burning
nds.

eatment
g in a strong, hot,
RA SOAP. Dry,
ICURA, the great
nts. Wear, during res, with the finger
in the palms. For ry, fissured, itching,
ss nails and painful
simply wonderful,
f the most distress-
d all else fail.

uticura
n I put them in water the pain off, and the flesh would get hard least fifty places on each hand.
ree years.
worse than when I commenced
was ever thought of without one
to think that I had to go to work
often felt like giving up my job,
the leading bottler of Trenton.
gs.
wrap each finger on both hands,
when I came to take them off, it
and bleed. Some of my friends had such hands they would have d never work," and more would
, the greatest of skin cures, it ending dollar after dollar during two years since I used it and I a day's work while I was using business, and in acids, etc.
ontgomery St., Trenton, N. J.
rnal Treatment for Every Humor.
cle), to cleanse the skin of crusts and d cuticle, Cuticura Ointment (50c.), mation, and irritation and soothe and (50c.), to cool and cleanse the blood.
ut to cure the most torturing, disfig-
, loss of hair, when all else fails. Sold
Sole Props., Boston, U. S. A.
e Cuticura Soap
ying, and beautifying the skin, for
and the stopping of falling hair, for sore hands, in the form of baths for too free or offensive perspiration, in for many sanative antiseptic pur-and especially mothers, and for all oint of persuasion can induce those r preserving and purifying the skin,
AP combines delicate emollient prop-
the purest of cleansing ingredients, edicated soap ever compounded is to beautifying the skin, scalp, hair, and erwhere expensive, is to be compared
ery. Thus it combines in One Soap skin and complexion soap, the best.

MINERS ENTOMBED BY EXPLOSION

Frightful Accident In a Canadian Colliery.

SIXTY VICTIMS IS THE REPORT

Prompt Rescue of Unforunates Cut Off Repeatedly By Volume of Flame.

A special from Victoria, British Columbia, says: What is feared will prove one of the most horrible mine accidents in the history of the Dominion took place at the Union mines, owned by the Welling Colliery Company, of which James Dunsmuir, the premier of the province, is the principal shareholder. Newspaper correspondents hurried by steamers and tug boats to the scene.

As near as can be gathered, the explosion took place about 11 o'clock in the forenoon in No. 6 shaft, situated in the village of Cumberland. There were sixty men in it when the explosion took place, and not one of them escaped. The explosion ignited the mine, wrecking the shaft from midway down to the bottom and filling it with a solid mass of rocks, earth and timbers.

The first explosion was followed by several more, while a dense volume of smoke pouring from the vent holes indicated that fire, as well as gas, was doing destructive work below.

Men of the morning shift in No. 5 shaft organized a rescue party. No. 5 and No. 6 are connected by a tunnel, and through this channel the attempt was made. They had not cut their way many yards through the debris when they encountered fire, which rendered the place untenable and obliged the party to desist.

The message came back by telephone to the surface conveying the heart-breaking news to the relatives of the imprisoned men, whose urging was not necessary to induce the relief party to return to their apparently hopeless task. Overcome at last by smoke and gas, they reluctantly withdrew from No. 5 and commenced work on a long cut from No. 4, the only other means of reaching the men. Work on this was prosecuted with the greatest vigor until abatement of the fire in No. 5 enabled them to once more return there.

From the head office of the Dunsmuir company at Victoria a special train proceeded at 1:15 o'clock to Nanaimo.

The last report of the inspector of mines pronounced the shaft as complying with regulations governing coal mines.

WELL KNOWN AUTHOR DEAD.

Maurice Thompson Passes Away After a Lingering Illness.

Maurice Thompson died at his home in Crawfordsville, Ind., Friday morning at 3 o'clock after a lingering illness. Mr. Thompson was born in Fairfield, Ind., September 9, 1844, but spent his early life in the Georgia mountains, half way between Chattanooga and Atlanta, where his father was an extensive planter. He entered the confederate army in 1862 and did hard scout duty.

After the war he became chief engineer of the L. C. and S. W. railroad, and while engaged in this work met Alice Lee, of Crawfordsville, whom he married. He then began the practice of law.

In 1867 he explored Lake Okeechobee, Florida, losing its birds, animals and plants. From his Crawfordsville home Mr. Thompson sent forth the literary work which was to win him distinction.

TRAGEDY IN A ZOO.

Animal Keeper Torn Almost to Pieces By Infuriated Tiger.

A sickening tragedy occurred at the zoo in Indianapolis Friday morning. Albert Neilson, a keeper, 15 years old, entered the cage of a Bengal tiger by mistake and was attacked by the beast.

A terrible struggle followed in which the keeper was torn in a hundred places.

Redhot irons were applied to the bloodthirsty animal, but not until he was struck by seven pistol balls did he relaxe his hold on his victim.

Neilson was finally dragged from the cage more dead than alive and was hurried to the city hospital, where he died as he was being carried in.

The tiger was not fatally wounded.

Neilson was in charge of the lion house, and it is supposed opened the tiger's cage by mistake.

Dispensary For Charlotte.

A movement has been started in Charlotte, N. C., having for its object the establishment of a dispensary to take the place of the licensed liquor saloons, and the question will be decided by a white primary in about ten days.

Huntington Inheritance Tax.

The executors of the will of Collis P. Huntington have paid to the state of New York $667,000, that being the amount they estimated as due to the state as an inheritance tax on the property left by Mr. Huntington.

Battleship Gun Explodes.

A big thirteen-inch gun exploded on the battleship Kearsage while the ship was at target practice off Key West Saturday. The gun itself and its superimposed turrets were damged.

"SMASHING" GALORE.

Hatchet Brigades Make Things More and More Lively In Kansas.

At Perry, Kansas, Friday night, fifteen prominent women, led by the wives of a Methodist minister and a bank cashier, raided several "joints." With hatchets and axes they demolished fixtures right and left, entailing a loss in that particular saloon alone of more than $1,000.

Twenty whiskey barrels, sixty-two kegs of beer and twenty cases of wine were carried into the streets, where they were chopped into kindling wood and their contents flowed away in the gutters.

A drug store was the last place visited. The proprietor was accused of quenching the thirst of local inebriates and his stock was quickly destroyed.

A special from Arkansas City, Kas., says: Seventy men, led by the ministers of this city, crossed the Arkansas river Saturday and demolished the "Last Chance" saloon. All the "joints" in the town had been closed for several days, but the "Last Chance" being outside the city limits, its proprietor continued to do a flourishing business. When the crowd swept down upon the place the bartender was asleep. He was backed into a corner at a revolver's point and witnessed the complete demolition of the fixtures and stock.

Lanham, Neb., is in an uproar over the liquor question. Money has been raised to clean out the joint keepers. The town is peculiarly situated, the main street being the line between Kansas and Nebraska, just as the main street of the town of Bristol is the dividing line between Virginia and Tennessee. Although a town of only 200 inhabitants, it has for years given officers of both states no end of trouble, offenders from one state moving to the other at will and thus evading the officers.

There was a free-for-all fight at Beloit Saturday, arising from the feeling over the joints. The temperance men and women insisted on inspecting the places to see that their orders for closing had been observed.

The investigating committee was followed by a large crowd. Soon an alarm of fire was sounded and a hose cart dashed up and the firemen commenced throwing water on the crowd. Some men attempted to cut the hose, but were prevented by a display of revolvers. After several had been more or less hurt several arrests were made and quiet was restored.

Mrs. Carrie Nation put in a very busy Sunday in Topeka, and as a result the capital city has experienced more genuine excitement than can be remembered by the oldest inhabitant. Mrs. Nation literally crammed the day with thrilling episodes. She succeeded in having the contents of a notorious joint smashed, broke into a cold storage plant where a number of fine bars had been stored away for safety, and demolished them; addressed a large mass meeting of men and women, and was arrested four times. The last time that the law laid its hand upon her was when Mrs. Nation emerged from the church where the mass meeting had been held.

SHOT WIFE AND SELF.

Bloody Tragedy Revealed In a Lake City, Fla., Home.

At Crescent City, Fla., Saturday morning, Dr. W. L. McLeod and his wife were found dead in their residence. The evidence disclosed that McLeod had killed his wife and then himself. Neither of the couple had been seen for a week, when Mrs. McLeod was visiting members of her church regarding some religious work.

The bodies were found in the bed room, undressed, and two bullet wound, both mortal, had been inflicted on Mrs. DeLeod. Her husband then fired the third bullet through his own brain and held the pistol in his hand. Mrs. McLeod had first been shot in bed and then on the floor as she kneeled before him.

LAWMAKERS ADJOURN.

Extra Session of Virginia Legislature Comes to a Close.

The extra session of the Virginia general assembly at Richmond closed Saturday evening and most of the members left for their homes on afternoon and night trains. The only work of the day was the passage of a bill amending the charter of the city of Charlottesville.

KING OPENS PARLIAMENT.

Edward and Wife Drive to House of Commons In Gorgeous State.

A London special says: The first parliament of the reign of King Edward VII. was opened Thursday afternoon by the king in person. His majesty was accompanied by Queen Alexandra, the duke of Connaught and many others of the royal family. The king and queen rode from Buckingham palace to the palace of Westminster in the georgeous state coach, used for the first time since the wedding of the present king.

CONFEREES ARE STUBBORN.

War Revenue Reduction Measure Causes Deadlock In Committee.

The conferees on the war reduction bill held a meeting Saturday afternoon, but nothing was accomplished. No vote was taken. It is understood that the conferees on the part of each house attempted to convince of the other that they must yield. The house conferees insisted that they could not accept the senate substitute and the senate conferees maintained that if any measure was to become law the house must agree to the senate bill.

Rest For the Bowels.

No matter what ails you, headache to a cancer, you will never get well until your bowels are put right. Cascarets help nature, cure you without a gripe or pain, produce easy natural movements, cost you just 10 cents to start getting your health back. Cascarets Candy Cathartic, the genuine, put up in metal boxes, every tablet has C. C. C. stamped on it. Beware of imitations.

WHAT IS OVARITIS?

A dull, throbbing pain, accompanied by a sense of tenderness and heat low down in the side, with an occasional shooting pain, indicates inflammation.

On examination it will be found that the region of pain shows some swelling. This is the first stage of ovaritis, inflammation of the ovary. If the roof of your house leaks, my sister, you have it fixed at once; why not pay the same respect to your own body?

You need not, you ought not to let yourself go, when one of your own sex holds out the helping hand to you, and will advise you without money, and without price. Write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., and tell her all your symptoms. Her experience in treating female ills is greater than any other living person. Following is a letter from a woman who is thankful for avoiding a terrible operation.

MRS. ANNIE ASTON.

"I was suffering to such an extent from ovarian trouble that my physician thought an operation would be necessary.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound having been recommended to me, I decided to try it. After using several bottles I found that I was cured. My entire system was toned up, and I suffered no more with my ovaries."—MRS. ANNA ASTON, Troy, Mo.

Every cotton planter should write for our valuable illustrated pamphlet, "Cotton Culture." It is sent free.

Send name and address to GERMAN KALI WORKS, Nassau St., N. Y.

Constipation

is easily cured and the bowels restored to a healthy condition by the use of the natural remedy for all stomach, bowel, liver and kidney troubles. By our method of concentration each 6 oz. bottle is equivalent to three gallons of the spring water.

CRAB ORCHARD WATER

Sold by all druggists. Crab apple trade mark on every bottle

CRAB ORCHARD WATER CO., Louisville, Ky.

"SALZER'S SEEDS WILL MAKE YOU RICH"

This is a startling statement, but Salzer's seeds bear it out every time.

Combination Corn. Greatest corn on earth. 3 Bushels only revolutionize corn growing.

Billion Dollar Grass. Greatest marvel of the age, 12 tons of hay per acre. First crop six weeks after sowing.

What Is It? Catalogue tells.

FOR 15c. STAMPS and this NOTICE we mail big seed catalog, 10 Grain Samples including above, also Spelta (90 bu. per A.) Oats, (250 bushel per A.) Rape, Barley, (173 bu. per A.) Peanut, etc. Worth $5, to grasshoppers.

John A. Salzer Seed Co. La Crosse, Wis.

BIG SEED FREE Collection

No money required in advance. Cut this out, send 10 pkgs of our seeds at 5c each and we will send you our big $5 Collection of field & vegetable seeds free, including of 3 other packages, including Silver-Plated watch and silk of clothes. Write postal accepting this offer and we will forward seeds, certificate, etc., by mail. Supposed—Day Book of Business.

T. J. KING CO., Richmond, Va.

Our Seeds Are Northern Grown.

Am. N. U. No. 8, 1901.

USE CERTAIN COUGH CHILL CORN CURE. 25c 50c $1.00

CURES RHEUMATISM OR CATARRH IN A DAY. TREATMENT FREE.

B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm) cures the worst cases by drawing the poison out of the blood and bones. Aches and pains in the bones or joints, hot swollen muscles, swollen glands, ulcers, droppings in the throat, hawking, spitting or bad breath, impaired hearing, etc., all disappear promptly and permanently. B. B. B. cures through the blood where all else fails. B. B. B. makes blood pure and rich. Druggists, $1. Treatment free by writing Blood Balm Co., 31 Mitchell St., Atlanta Ga. Medicine sent prepaid. Describe trouble, and free medical advice given until cured. 2000 testimonials of cures by B. B. B., so don't give up hope, but try Blood Balm.

A man who has been earning $200 a month, and who is suddenly reduced to $50, is a dandy if he can decrease the number of delivery wagons that stop at his house.

Carter's Ink

has the largest sale of any ink in the world. Because it is the best ink that can be made.

Seventeen per cent of the population of Michigan is enrolled in the Sunday schools. The average for the States and Territories of the Union is 1 per cent.

Nature Needs

Assistance only. Many of the cases of serious illness could be checked at once with a dose of Crab Orchard Water, taken in time.

One of the things a man can't understand is why his sisters get offended when he doesn't rush in to see the new little red babies at their house.

I do not believe Piso's Cure for Consumption has an equal for coughs and colds. JOHN F. BOYER, Trinity Springs, Ind., Feb. 15, 1900.

As soon as her child is born the Turkish mother loads it with amulets, and a small bit of mud, steeped in hot water, prepared by previous charms, is stuck on his forehead.

Happiness cannot be bought, but one of the great hindrances to its attainment can be removed by Adams' Pepsin Tutti Frutti.

Among the 153,000 inhabitants which the last census gave to New Mexico, there were 20,000 Indians and 50,000 Mexicans.

All goods are alike to PUTNAM FADELESS DYES, as they color all fibers at one boiling. Sold by all druggists.

The people who know us best, won't write our epitaph probably—that's one consolation.

Notice—Two traveling salesmen wanted in each state. Salary and expenses; experience unnecessary. Pocahontas Tobacco Works, Bedford City, Va.

Dead ancestors are said to occupy too much of the arable land of China. Famines would be less frequent if the country was not one vast cemetery.

How's This!

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligation made by their firm.

WEST & TRUAX, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, Ohio.

WALDING, KINNAN & MARVIN, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, Ohio.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Price, 75c. per bottle. Sold by all Druggists. Testimonials free.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Odd Decorations.

The Swedish ware to be found in the shops which make a specialty of old pewter will probably be welcomed by the house mistress in search of odd decorations for her dining room plate rack and mantel. These articles are of wood and wicker and picturesque in form and decoration. Baskets, bowls, pails, jugs, boxes and other articles for use and ornament are included in the list. The wooden drinking cups are deep and wide and encircled by stout hoops. Sometimes leather strips are used in conjunction with the other ornamentation.

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION 25 CTS.

CAPTAIN OF FIRE DEPT.

Capt. H. H. Thomson Advises the Use of Dr. Greene's Nervura.

This Wonderful Body Builder and Strength Restorer Should Be Used Now.

CAPT. H. H. THOMSON OF MINNEAPOLIS FIRE DEPT.

No occupation in the world requires more perfect nerve force and physical strength than is demanded of its members by a modern fire department. The members of this branch of the public service must be ready at all hours of the day or night, and in all degrees of heat, cold or exposure, to answer the call of the public, and protect life and property. At all times they must have bodily strength and a clear brain. Without this we would never hear of the wonderful feats of bravery and rescue performed by them. Nothing in the world will build up strength like Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. Captain Thomson's strong statement, which we publish herewith, carries weight, and is echoed everywhere by those who rely on Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, when disease attacks them, or they get run down in health which is so easy at this season of the year. There is no medicine in the world which will ward off attacks of the fatal grip, which is now so prevalent, and there is nothing which will drive it away so quickly or reinvigorate the body as well after the grip, as this famous remedy. Captain Thomson, whose address is 2406 Lincoln St., North East, Minneapolis, Minn., says:

"I am a great believer in the wonderful curative powers of Dr. Greene's Nervura Blood and Nerve Remedy. It has been used in my house for years as a body builder, strength restorer and general family medicine. It never fails to give beneficial results. It strengthens the nerves and purifies the blood. As a health builder, I believe there is no medicine equal to Dr. Greene's Nervura Blood and Nerve Remedy."

Remember that Dr. Greene's Nervura Blood and Nerve Remedy is the prescription of a regular physician, Dr. Greene, who can be consulted absolutely free of charge either by mail or calling at his office, 35 W. 14th St., New York City. Consultation is absolutely free of charge. If you cannot call upon him at his office, write him a letter, telling all about your case, and you can be treated just as well at home as if you called in person. Remember his advice is absolutely free.

LION COFFEE

A LUXURY WITHIN THE REACH OF ALL!

Watch our next advertisement.

BLIND MAN'S BUFF is a good game to play. But you cannot afford to play it with coffee.

Know what you are drinking!

Know what you purchase!

Uncover your eyes and see whether you are getting

LION COFFEE

or some cheap glazed substitute that has been treated with polishing materials, in order to hide imperfections. Look at the package! Is a lion's head on it? LION COFFEE is the coffee of purity and strength. Try it once.

In every package of LION COFFEE you will find a fully illustrated and descriptive list. No housekeeper, in fact, no woman, man, boy or girl will fail to find in the list some article which will contribute to their happiness, comfort and convenience, and which they may have by simply cutting out a certain number of Lion Heads from the wrappers of our one pound sealed packages (which is the only form in which this excellent coffee is sold).

WOOLSON SPICE CO., TOLEDO, OHIO.

"La Creole" Will Restore those Gray Hairs

"La Creole" Hair Restorer is a Perfect Dressing and Restorer. Price $1.00.

THE BANNER

OUR CLUBBING RATES.

For $1.50 we will send you THE BANNER and either of the following papers for one year:

Atlanta Constitution	$1.50
New York World (3 papers every week)	$1.50
Cosmopolitan (America's Leading magazine)	$1.50
Silver Knight National Watchman	$1.50
Birmingham Age-Herald	$1.25
Home and Farm	$1.10

Job Printing cheap at THE BANNER office

AT REDUCED PRICES.

CLANTON DRUG STORE.

Dr J. S JOHNSON, Jr., Proprietor.

DEALER IN

DRUGS. : MEDICINES : PATENT : MEDICINES.

TOILET ARTICLES, PAINTS.

PRESCRIPTIONS CAREFULLY PREPARED DAY & NIGHT

CLANTON. ALABAMA.

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS is the one important magazine in the world giving in its pictures, its text, in its contributed articles, editorials and departments, a comprehensive, timely record of the world's current history. Not the enumeration of mere bare facts, but a comprehensive picture of the month, its activities, its notable personalities, and notable utterances. The best informed men and women in the world find it indispensable.

There are many readers in your locality who have yet to learn of its usefulness. We wish to establish active agents in every city and township in the country. We will pay liberally for energetic effort in the subscription field. Leisure moments can be utilized with substantial increase of income. Make a list of the persons in your locality who should have the "Review of Reviews," and send to us for agent's terms, sample copies, and working outfit. Then solicit their subscriptions. It is a compliment to approach a person with a subscription proposition for the "Review of Reviews," and consequently orders are easily secured. This is the active subscription season. Make application at once, naming your references.

Price, 25 cents a number. $2.50 a year.

THE REVIEW OF REVIEWS COMPANY,

13 Astor Place, New York City.

They banish pain and prolong life. ONE GIVES RELIEF.

R·I·P·A·N·S

has matter what the matter is, one will do you good, and you can get ten for five cents.

Everything New.

NEW STOREHOUSE

BRAND NEW STOCK

We positively will carry none of our old stock into our new building, and for the next Thirty Days we are offering

BARGAINS IN EVERYTHING

now in our old storehouse. We are determined to clear out the last piece of old stock. Come and see us.

WILSON & BRO.

CLANTON.

W. I. MULLINS

—DEALER IN—

GENERAL MERCHANDISE, PLANTATION SUPPLIES AND COUNTRY PRODUCE.

Dry Goods, Clothing, Hats, Boots and Shoes.

FURNITURE AND COFFINS

N. B. A full line of Burial Clothes and all necessary Undertakers' Goods constantly kept in stock.

CLANTON, : : : : : ALA.

Subscribe for The Banner. $1.00 a year.

Jasmine.

We are glad to say everything is moving along nicely here.

We regret very much that Mr. W. M. Berry has left us.

Miss Gertie Sims will leave Monday to take up a school at Alpine; we hope she will have good success in her first beginning to teach.

Misses Lula and Ella Rawlins spent Sunday with their young friends at this place.

The young people of this place thank Mr. and Mrs. T. Mills for giving them a candy breaking at their residence.

Quite a number of our young people spent Sunday at Fletcher.

Mrs. John Wilkins is spending a few days with relatives at Stanton.

Misses Dora and Lilie Wilkins spent Sunday at Fletcher.

Mr. John Bills and wife spent Sunday with Mr. B. L. Grace at this place.

Mr. J. Y. Propst spent Sunday in Birmingham.

Mr. R. M. Stilwell visited friends near Kincheon Sunday.

Mr. H. A. Askins spent Saturday in Billingsley.

WILD BILL.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

Has world-wide fame for marvelous cures. It surpasses any other salve, lotion, ointment or balm for Cuts, Corns, Burns, Boils, Sores, Felons, Ulcers, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Chapped Hands, Skin Eruptions; Infallible for Piles. Cure guaranteed. Only 25c at Clanton drug stores.

The Banner is the leading paper of Chilton county and has the largest circulation. Advertisers should take notice of this fact.

Subscribe for the BANNER.

Headache and Neuralgia cured by Dr. MILES' PAIN PILLS. "One cent a dose."

Alabama Fertilizer the Standard.

Our most reckless competitor will only claim that what he is selling is "Just as good" as the celebrated ALABAMA FERTILIZER, but it is not so. For 21 years the ALABAMA has stood at the head of the fertilizer class. With cotton at current good prices it is more important than ever to use the best fertilizer. The ALABAMA is the standard of excellence, and only those whose interest dictate the statement assert otherwise.

Without extra cost to the consumer we ship all ALABAMA FERTILIZER in the CELEBRATED MUMMIA VEGETABLE FIBRE PRESERVED BAGS, which are acid and weather proof, thus eventually saving loss in handling. These bags, after thorough investigation and practical tests, have been indorsed by the Alabama Agricultural Department, who recommend their use by the farmers of our State. Steamer agents on certain water routes have given notice that they will only receive for shipment fertilizer sacked in these celebrated bags, thereby insuring both themselves and their consignees from loss in handling.

One of the exhibits of the recent Good Roads Procession which attracted the attention of all was a wagon drawn by six well fed oxen containing 24 bales of cotton produced on 9½ acres of land, made from Hazell improved big boll cotton by the use of ALABAMA FERTILIZER.

Customers Protected by Trade Mark.

The law requires every sack of fertilizer sold in the State to have the word ALABAMA branded on each sack offered for sale in the State.

To protect both ourselves and our customers we have our trade mark on every sack of ALABAMA FERTILIZER, we also tag each MUMMIA VEGETABLE FIBRE PRESERVED BAG. Our Trade Mark is copyrighted, the Bag is patented and we will prosecute any infringement on either. See that the Trade Mark and Tag are on each sack. Be certain to get what you pay for.

Pure high grade Acid Phosphate and Genuine German Kainit always on hand and sold at no higher price than other goods of the same grade.

A Testimonial From High Authority.

Captain S. B. Tropp, President of the Board of Inspectors of the Alabama Convict Bureau, who is well and favorably known throughout the South (particularly in Alabama), whose able management of the convict system of our State has met with the approval of all, himself a farmer of twenty years experience, has the following words of commendation to say in regard to the Celebrated Alabama Fertilizer:

Executive Department of Alabama,
Convict Bureau.
Montgomery, Nov. 30, 1900.

I consider the ALABAMA FERTILIZER the best manufactured. I have raised and seen others raise large crops of cotton and corn by its use.

In my opinion the farmer who invests in it, will succeed in making larger crops of cotton and corn at less cost for fertilizer than one who buys and uses acid phosphate, kainit and cottonseed meal in any proportion or quantity whatsoever.

My conclusions are arrived at after an experience of twenty years in the use of fertilizers—during which long period I have tried many kinds of fertilizers.

The MUMMIA VEGETABLE FIBRE PRESERVED BAGS, in which the ALABAMA FERTILIZER is put up, is one of the greatest blessings to all, and none better than the farmer can appreciate and value the cessation of loss in wasting, rotting of bags and vexation by having to rework fertilizers put up in the ordinary bag. I have seen some Mummia Bags used two seasons, which is the strongest possible proof of their singular and superior merit.

S. B. TRAPP, President.

The Record of Alabama Fertilizer.

It has produced nearly four bales of cotton on one acre of poor sandy upland.
One hundred and thirty-two bushels of corn on one acre of poor sandy upland.
Two thousand and forty-one bushels of corn on twenty acres of poor upland.
Land and corn accurately surveyed and measured by competent disinterested and honorable men.
It is the oldest brand now sold in Alabama, and is just the same as it always has been. Every one of the 49 premiums given during a series of years, through the COMMERCIAL AND INDUSTRIAL ASSOCIATION, for the greatest yield of cotton and corn on a specified area of land, was awarded to farmers who used exclusively the ALABAMA FERTILIZER.

THE ALABAMA FERTILIZER COMPANY,

Montgomery, Ala.

THE NEW ENGLAND WATCH. Nickle case, stem wind and stem set, warranted for 12 months. Delivered anywhere with a silk cord and plate chain for $2.75. Try one if you want a good time piece cheap.

The New England Watch is proving a decided success, giving good satisfaction. It is the poor man's time piece.

L. D. POPWELL, Clanton.

ECZEMA, ITCHING HUMORS, PIMPLES CURED BY B. B. B.

Bottle Free to Sufferers.

Does your Skin Itch and Burn? Distressing Eruptions on the Skin? Do you feel ashamed to be seen in company? Do scabs and Scales form on the skin, Hair or Scalp? Have you Eczema? Skin Sore and Cracked? Rash form on the Skin? Pimples? Pain in the Skin? Boils? Pimples? Bone Pains? Swollen Joints? Feel like Hell? All Run Down? Sluggish? Old Sores? Eating Sores? Ulcers? To cure to stay cured take B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm). It makes the blood pure and rich. B. B. B. will cause the sores to heal, the itching of eczema to stop forever, the skin to become clean and healthy and sweet. B. B. B. is just the Remedy you have been looking for. Positively tested for thirty years. Doctors are advised to try B. B. B. For sale by druggists at $1 per large bottle; six large bottles ($6 value) for $5 (for treatment). Be sure the book about Botanic Blood Balm. Contains plain directions with each bottle. Sufferers may test B. B. B. a trial bottle given away. Write for it. Address BLOOD BALM CO., Atlanta, Ga. Describe your trouble and Free personal medical advice given.

Healthy Mothers

Few mothers are healthy, because their duties are so exacting. The anxiety of pregnancy, the shock of childbirth, and the care of young children, are severe trials on any woman. But with Wine of Cardui within her grasp, every mother—every woman in the land—can pay the debt of personal health she owes her loved ones. Do you want robust health with all its privileges and pleasures? Wine of Cardui will give it to you.

WINE OF CARDUI

strengthens the female organs and invigorates weakened functions. For every female ill or weakness it is the best medicine made. Ask your druggist for $1.00 bottle Wine of Cardui, and take no substitute under any circumstances.

Mrs. Edwin Craig, Gerrish, Mich., writes: "When I commenced taking Wine of Cardui I was hardly able to walk across the house. Two weeks after I walked half a mile and picked strawberries. When my other child was born I suffered with labor pains 24 hours and had to raise him on a bottle because I had no milk. After using the Wine during pregnancy this time, I have had a strong healthy baby girl, and was in labor only two hours, with but little pain, and I have plenty of milk. For this great improvement in my health I thank God and Wine of Cardui."

For advice in case requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, "The Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

THE BEST WAY TO THE

SOUTH AND SOUTH-WEST,

NORTH AND NORTH-WEST

—IS VIA THE—

L. & N.

LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE R. R.

The Through Cars

Of this line pass Cahaba daily, running through Montgomery, Mobile and New Orleans.

Connecting with all points in

TEXAS AND THE WEST,

Also running through to Nashville, Evansville, Louisville, Cincinnati and St. Louis.

Connecting for all points in the

NORTH AND NORTH-WEST.

Before purchasing tickets to any point write the Agent of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad at Clanton, Ala., or C. P. Atmore, G. P. A., Louisville, Ky.

VOL. IX

THE MAN ON THE CORNER

Some of the Sights He Saw, and Some He Saw Not.

That was quite a fall of snow we had last Friday night, some four or five inches I believe, and it looked as if it would stay with us for some days, but it did not, of course, it was visited for several days after. But old Sol pounded hard with it, and that is where the Sunny South has an immense advantage over the cold North. Here it falls and melts, there it stays for no end of a time. Anyhow, the boys had a good time snowballing, and everyone seemed to enjoy it.

The recent lamentable fire at Clanton is having one good effect, it is causing our citizens to discuss what steps can be taken for the prevention of conflagrations, and is also showing the great advantages of insurance. The unfortunate sufferers were not to blame for being uninsured, no responsible insurance company cares to carry such a risk as is involved in a number of inflammable wooden buildings in close proximity to each other. Those wooden structures gone up in smoke and are a total loss to the owners. When brick buildings take their place, insurance will be only a trifle, and negligence on the part of the owner will involve him in future loss.

At the same time Clanton is fearfully unprotected from further loss by fire. Surely we can organize a volunteer fire brigade, and raise enough money to purchase some light handy ladders and a plentiful supply of buckets at the least. One of the best things any of our leading citizens could do would be to call a public meeting to take some action in this matter. There is no politics in this suggestion, it is not a Populist move nor a Democratic trick, and Mark Hanna is not at the back of it. I almost wish he was, we would get the ladders and buckets then, I'm sure. But it is a question for the protection of the town, and it had much better be discussed now than to wait until there is only four buildings left in the town, Pinckard's and Wilson's brick stores and the Court House and our beautiful jail.

I must congratulate Eugene Ev[illegible] on his promptitude in erecting his new temporary storehouse until he can get his new brick built.

Commissioner's Sale.

State of Alabama, Chilton county. In Probate Court.

Under and by virtue of the mandate of a certain commission issued out of the Probate Court of said county, directed to me, I will proceed to sell for partition and division among Lola M. [illegible], et al, parties in interest, the following described real estate situated in said county, to-wit:

[illegible] of Se ¼, Ne ¼ of Sw 1-4, Se 1-4 of Nw 1-4, Sec 3, and Nw 1-4 of Ne 1-4, all in T 21, R 14, and N ½ of Sw 1-4, Sec 33, Tp 22, R 14. Said sale is to be for cash and is to be held on the [illegible] DAY OF MARCH, 1901, in front of the Court House door in Clanton, Alabama.

This the 27th day of February, 1901.

E. H. ADAMS, Commissioner.

Administrator's Sale.

Under and by virtue of an order and decree of the Honorable S. M. Adams, Judge of the Probate Court of Chilton county, I, Arrie Robinson, administratrix of the estate of W. R. Robinson, deceased, will sell at public outcry to the highest bidder, in front of the Court House door of Chilton county, Alabama,

MONDAY, MARCH 18th, 1901, between the hours of 10 o'clock noon, for cash, the following described real property belonging to said estate, to-wit:

Lot No. 3 of section 12, township [illegible] of range 16, east, containing [illegible] and 50-100 acres, situated in Chilton county, Alabama.

ARRIE ROBINSON,

Administratrix of the estate of W. R. Robinson, deceased.

NEW ENGLAND WATCH
case, stem wind and stem set ted for 12 months. Deliver nywhere with a silk cord chain for $2.75. Try one want a good time piece cheap.
e New England Watch is good satisfaction. It is the man a time piece.
L. D. POPWELL, Clanton.

EMA, ITCHING HUMORS
IMPLES CURED BY B. B. B.
Dottie Free to Sufferers.
your Skin Itch and Burn esing Eruptions on the Skin
ed pimpled to be seen in wor
Do scabs and Scales form you, Hair or Scalp? Have you ad? Skin Sore and Cracked form on the Skin? Prickling in the Skin? Boils? Pimples Pores? Swollen Joints? Pain joints? All Run Down? Sk
Old Sores? Eating Sores
To cure to stay cured take
B. B. (Bo anic Blood Balm) which the blood pure and rich. B.
will cause the sores to heal of eczema to stop forever,
ls to become clean and healt
B. B. B. is just the Remedy have been looking for. Thou tested for thirty years. Ol rs are advised to try B. B. B.
by druggists at $1 per bottle; six large bottles (full ent) $5. Be sure the bottle Botanic Blood Balm. Com
directions with each bottle. S ers may test it in a trial bottle away. Write for it. Ad
BLOOD BALM CO., Atlan
Describe your trouble and ersonal medical advice given.

calthy Mothers
w mothers are healthy, because duties are so exacting. The anxiety regnancy, the shock of childbirth, the care of young children, are re trials on any woman. But with of Cardui within her grasp, every her—every woman in the land—can the debt of personal health she her loved ones. Do you want t health with all its privileges and ures? Wine of Cardui will give it ou.
WINE OF CARDUI
ngthens the female organs and invige weakened functions. For every le ill, weakness it is the best cine made. Ask your druggist for bottle Wine of Cardui, and take no
stitute under any circumstances.
Edwin Craig, Gorner, Mich. "When I commencing Wine of Cardui I was hardly able around the house. Two weeks after I walked a mile and gained great strength. When my child was born I suffered with labor pains 24 and started to raise in on a bottle because I had lk. After using two Wine of Cardui my pleasancy
ed. I gave birth to a robust boy baby girl, and labor only three hours with but little pain.
have plenty of milk. For this great assistance in my health I thank God and Wine of Cardui."
advice in case requiring special directions, g symptoms, "The Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co.
Chattanooga, Tenn.

BEST WAY TO THE
AND SOUTH-WEST,
NORTH AND NORTH-WEST
—VIA THE—
L. & N.
SVILLE & NASHVILLE R. R.
The Through Cars
fine pass Cafers daily, running rough Montgomery, Mobile
and New Orleans.
nnecting with all points to
TEXAS AND THE WEST;
unning through to Nashville,
nsville, Louisville, Cincinnati
and St. Louis,
nnecting for all points in the
TH AND NORTH-WEST.
e purchasing tickets to any point the Agent of the Louisville and le Railroad at Clanton, Ala., or ress, G. P. A., Louisville, Ky.

Judge of Probate

THE BANNER.

LET THE PEOPLE RULE.

VOL. IX — CLANTON, ALA. THURSDAY FEBRUARY 28. 1901 — NO. 15

THE MAN ON THE CORNER

Some of the Sights He Saw, and Some He Saw Not.

That was quite a fall of snow we had last Friday night, some 4 or 5 inches I believe, and it showed a disposition to stay with us a few days. But old Sol played no favorites, and that is where the South has an immense advantage over the cold North. There it rains and melts, there it lays for no end of a time. Anyway, the boys had a good time snowballing, and everyone seemed to enjoy it.

The recent lamentable fire at Clanton is having one good effect; it is causing our citizens to discuss what steps can be taken for the prevention of conflagrations, and is also showing the great advantages of insurance. The unfortunate sufferers were not to blame for being uninsured, no responsible insurance company cares to carry such a risk as is involved in a number of inflammable wooden buildings in close proximity to each other. Those wooden structures have gone up in smoke and are a total loss to the owners. When brick buildings take their place, insurance will be only a trifle, and any negligence on the part of the owner will involve him in future loss.

At the same time Clanton is painfully unprotected from further loss by fire. Surely we can organize a volunteer fire brigade, and have enough money to purchase some light handy ladders and a plentiful supply of buckets at the start. One of the best things any of our leading citizens could do would be to call a public meeting and take some action in this matter. There is no politics in this suggestion, it is not a Populist move nor a Democratic trick, and Mark Hanna is not at the back of it. I almost wish he was, we would get the ladders and buckets then, I'm sure. But it is a question for the protection of the town, and it had much better be discussed now than to wait until there is only four buildings left in the town, Pinckard's and Wilson's brick stores on the Court House and our beautiful jail.

I must congratulate Eugene Evans on his promptitude in erecting a new temporary storehouse until he can get his new brick built.

Commissioner's Sale.

State of Alabama, Chilton county. | In Probate Court.

Under and by virtue of the mandate of a certain commission issued out of the Probate Court of said county, directed to me, I will proceed to sell for partition and division among Luis M. [illegible] et al, parties in interest, the following described real estate situated in said county, to-wit:

[illegible] of Se ¼, Ne ¼ of Sw 1-4, Se 1-4 of Nw 1-4, Sec. 4, and Nw 1-4 of Ne 1-4, all in T 21, R 14, and N ½ of Sw 1-4, Sec. 33, Tp. 22, R 14. Said sale is to be for cash and is to be held on the

18th DAY OF MARCH, 1901,

in front of the Court House door in Clanton, Alabama.

This, the 27th day of February, 1901.

E. H. ADAMS, Commissioner.

Administrator's Sale.

Under and by virtue of an order and decree of the Honorable S. M. Adams, Judge of the Probate Court of Chilton County, I, Arrie Robinson, administratrix of the estate of W. R. Robinson, deceased, will sell at public outcry to the highest bidder, in front of the Court House door of Chilton county, Alabama, on between 12 o'clock noon, for cash, the following described real property belonging to said estate, to-wit:

MONDAY, MARCH 18th, 1901,

Section No. 3 of section 12, township 20, north of range 16, east, containing sixty-one and 50-100 acres, situated in Chilton county, Alabama.

ARRIE ROBINSON,
Administratrix of the estate of
W. R. Robinson, deceased.

CORRESPONDENCE.

[We are willing to publish our subscribers views at any time, but it must be distinctly understood we do not hold ourselves responsible for these opinions.—EDITOR.]

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY

Take Laxative Bromo-Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. E. W. Grove's signature is on each box. 25c.

Lily, Feby. 26, 1901

Editor Banner—Please allow me a little space to say something about our candidate for the constitutional convention. I am informed that L. B. Pounds has declined to run, so this leaves L. H. Reynolds in possession of the field in the Populist party in Chilton county. Now, I have not one word to say against Mr. Reynolds, he is a good and true man, and as a reformer stands unimpeached so far as I know, and I am sure that he has been badly treated, but not by the people of this county, for they have given him everything he asked them for.

Now, Mr. Editor, why not let good thing go around among the brethren and send a new man to the constitutional convention, a man of convictions and the courage to stand by them, a man whose character as a citizen, as a gentleman and as a christian stands without reproach, a man whose qualification and peculiar fitness for the position is equal if not superior to any man's in the party in Chilton county? That man is E. B. Deason. I believe that he is the man pre-eminently to represent us in the convention, and can do us as much or more real good than anyone else. Let's send him. What say you? Will be glad to hear from others.

Respectfully,
R. J. WILLIAMS.

The greatest danger from colds and la grippe is their resulting in pneumonia. If reasonable care is used, however, and Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is taken, all danger will be avoided. It will cure a cold or an attack of la grippe in less time than any other treatment. It is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by Clanton Drug Co., and D. I. Deramus, Verbena.

Clanton, Feb. 23, 1901

Editor Banner—I notice that the Chilton Reflector in issue of 21st inst. "does not know how to be anything but a Democrat and it would be worse than useless for anyone but a Democrat to go to the convention, as the opposition will be little more than a notch on a stick."

Now, if Mr. Hudson had said that fifty years ago, we would have said amen, but Democracy now and Democracy in Jefferson's day, or even later, twenty years ago, is two things. Democracy once meant the rule of the people, and old Hickory Jackson said complete acquiescence in the will of a majority was Democracy. But if the editor of the Reflector means that he does not know how to be anything but a Democrat of the modern type, for instance, the class that passes a resolution recommending that the defeated candidate, if a Democrat, shall be conferred with with reference to local legislation. Then I would say now that if the Reflector stays in Chilton county a few months it will understand and see more clearly than it does now. I am inclined to think that Mr. Hudson sees "through a glass darkly."

VOTER.

Montgomery, Feb. 26, 1901

Editor Banner.—I wish to state to the people of the county, through the Banner, that after being confined to my bed for two weeks with a bad case of la grippe that I am again at my post in Montgomery, yet I am quite feeble. And I wish to say further that so far as stock law for Chilton county, or parts of the county, is concerned, that those measures have been worked through by the foulest underground methods imaginable, and in due time I am prepared to place the responsibility where it belongs, and I promise you it will make interesting reading. I only wish to

(continued on 3d col. page 4)

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

I hereby announce myself as a candidate to represent Chilton County in the Constitutional Convention, subject to the action of the Democratic County Convention. H. W. CARNEY,
Feby. 12, 1901.

Call for Populist Executive Com'te.

Clanton, Ala., Feb. 26, 1901

Dear Sir:—The Executive Committee of the People's Party of Chilton County is hereby called to meet at Clanton on Tuesday, the 5th day of March, 1901, at 10 a.m. and you are earnestly requested to be present, as business of the greatest importance to the Party is to be transacted.

Very respectfully,
L. B. POUNDS,
Chm'n P. P. Chilton County.

Jemison.

The critic feels grieved to learn that one of Jemison's most prominent men said he was a fool—there are others.

Mr. Cooper will soon have his new storehouse finished.

Miss Oron Collins, of Active, has been visiting Miss Bertha Denhan this week.

Mr. J. M. Beasley paid a pleasant visit to Hard Town last Saturday.

We are glad to say our school is gradually coming and we hope before long it will be on top.

Mr. J. H. Harrison paid a pleasant visit to his parents last Saturday night.

The young people had a singing at the residence of Mr. D. L. Langston last Sunday night in which Messrs. Whitaker and McNeill gave us unmeasurable help; everybody enjoyed themselves.

Mr. C. N. Shaw and Miss Mattie Atkinson were united in the holy bonds of matrimony last Wednesday night at the residence of the bride's brother, W. G. Atkinson, we wish them a happy life.

Mr. J. W. Patton has returned home from Ensley.

Mr. Clyde McCary, of Chicago, Ill., is visiting his mother, Mrs. J. P. Allen.

Some folks don't like boiled eggs. All the school boys do.

CRITIC

When you want a physic that is mild and gentle, easy to take and pleasant in effect use Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. Price 25 cents. Samples free. Every Box guaranteed. For sale by Clanton Drug Co., and D. I. Deramus, Verbena.

Pleasant Grove.

Just as we are looking for the beautiful flowers, we see the earth wrapped in a beautiful mantle of white, so we conclude the winter is not yet ready to kiss the spring good bye.

Considerable improvements are going on in this community, new buildings are numerous.

Mr. J. B. Price is moving into this community.

Mr. J. D. Hodgins and family were recently called to Providence to attend the burial of Mrs. Hodgins' brother, Mr. Jay Clements; we extend to the bereaved ones our sympathy.

The people have erected a nice new school building.

Prof. J. N. Dennis' school here has closed. He has taught a good school, and by his faithfulness and untiring efforts has endeared himself to us. He has shown marked liberality in working for the benefit of this community. We heartily recommend him to the people where ever he may go. H. D. O.

A Convincing Answer.

"I hobbled into Mr. Blackmon's drug store one evening," says Wesley Nelson, of Hamilton, Ga., "and he asked me to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm for Rheumatism with which I had suffered for a long time. I told him I had no faith in any medicine as they all failed. He said 'Well if Chamberlain's Pain Balm does not help you, you need not pay for it.' I took a bottle of it home and used it according to the directions and in one week I was cured, and have not since been troubled with rheumatism." Sold by Clanton Drug Co., and D. I. Deramus Verbena.

Thorsby.
LANDS FOR SALE.
$2.50 PER ACRE.

We have for sale a small farm containing 40 acres, of which 30 acres are now under cultivation. Some house on the place; land fenced; a good spring of running water. If this land was located in the Thorsby colony it would be worth $1200.00. The land is located about four miles west of Thorsby and you may take it for $100. (Sold February 16, 1900.)

General Farming Lands for sale, $5.00 to $15.00 per acre.

Unimproved Orchard and Vineyard Lands at $15.00 per acre.

Improved Orchard and Vineyard Lands from $40 to $60 per acre.

Two small farms for Rent; a 7 room Cottage for sale.

Special inducements to merchants and manufacturers in the progressive town of Thorsby, the market center of Chilton county. For further particulars call at the offices of

THE CONCORDIA LAND AND IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION.
THORSBY, ALA.

Macedonia.

Last Saturday was a fine day for snowballing and rabbit hunting.

Prof. J. T. Martin attended the Institute last Friday and Saturday.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. S. Waldrup, a son.

Mr. D. C. Hubbard's new house is nearing completion.

Farmers are taking more interest in their crops than usual, there has been more fence repaired, more new grounds taken in, and more improvements generally than we have seen in a long time.

Success to the faithful Banner and all its readers. CLINT.

Had To Conquer Or Die.

"I was just about gone," writes Mrs. Rosa Richardson, of Laurel N. C., "I had Consumption so bad that the best doctors said I could not live more than a month, but I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery and was wholly cured by seven bottles and am now stout and well." It's as unrivaled I feaver in Consumption, Pneumonia, La Grippe and Bronchitis; infallible for Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Hay Fever, Croup or Whooping Cough. Guaranteed bottles 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at Clanton drug store.

Sheriff's Sale.

By virtue of an execution issued out of the Circuit Court of Chilton County, and State of Alabama, and to me directed, whereby I am commanded to make the amount of a certain judgment recently obtained against James A. Wiseman out of the goods chattels, lands and tenements of the said James A. Wiseman, I have levied on the following property, to wit:

The Sw ¼ of the Sw ¼ of Section 1, Township 22, Range 13, in Chilton County, Alabama.

Therefore, according to said command, I shall expose for sale, at Public Auction, all the right, title and interest of the above named James A. Wiseman, in and to the above described property, on Monday, the 25th day of March, 1901, during the legal hours of sale, at the Court House door in Clanton, Alabama.

Dated at Clanton, Ala., this 18th day of February 1901.

M. A. KILLGORE, Sheriff.

Mortgage Sale.

State of Alabama, }
Chilton County. }

Under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage given by W. T. Quillin and his wife, N. C. Quillin, to D. C. Gandy on the 5th day of February, 1894, and due November 1, 1894, which said mortgage was duly recorded in the office of the Judge of Probate of Chilton County, Alabama, in Mortgage Record No. 23, page 34, on the 24th day of April, 1894; and which said mortgage was duly transferred by D. C. Gandy to S. Mass & Co., and by S. Mass & Co. to W. H. Rouse on the 22d day of January, 1901. I will proceed to sell to the highest bidder, for cash, in front of the Court House door in Clanton, Chilton County, Alabama, on

TUESDAY, MARCH 5, 1901,

between the legal hours of sale, the following described property, to wit:

One House and Lot in Stanton, Alabama, said Lot being in the Nw ¼ of Ne ¼ of Section 7, Township 20, Range 12, containing four and a half acres.

Dated at Stanton, Ala., this 28th day of January, 1901.

W. H. ROUSE, Transferee.

The open, bold and honest truth is the safest for any one in any and all circumstances.

WANTED.

200 ACRES at $6.00 per acre. Titles perfect. Plenty of water on the place. Fine reed brake for pasture. One mile north of Thorsby. J. A. SKAGGS, Jemison, Ala.

FOR SALE. A complete entertainment outfit, consisting of 1 Stereoptican, 1 Optograph or moving picture machine, 1 Calcium light apparatus, 1 gas making outfit, 1 set Views Spanish American war, 5 50 ft. Films for Optograph. All new. Also 1 horse and spring wagon. Full particulars of C. Nally, Randolph, Ala.

FOR SALE—Ten head of Oxen medium size; good work oxen. Apply to J. BICE, Thorsby, Ala.

MONEY to Loan on good real estate. Apply to X. Y. Z., care of the Banner, Clanton, Ala.

A BONA FIDE SALARY—$12 Weekly. Men and women to appoint agents and represent us, some to travel, others for local work. $12 weekly salary and expenses. Old established house, pleasant permanent positions, rapid advancement and increase of wages. Write at once. Address BUTLER & ALGER, Dept. E, New Haven, Conn.

The Best Prescription for Malaria

Chills and Fever is a bottle of GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC. It is simply iron and quinine in a tasteless form. No cure—no pay. Price 50c.

FOR SALE.

A few hundred bushels of Russell's Improved prolific, BIG ROLL COTTON SEED. It is claimed for this Cotton that it is the most Prolific variety on earth, that it is never troubled with boll worm, rust or the insect known as sharp-shooters. Stands extremes of wet and dry weather. Less than half the labor required for picking.

MARKS & GAYLE,
Montgomery, Ala.

Yellow-Leaf Poultry Farm
THORSBY, ALA.

We breed White Plymouth Rocks and Light Brahmas. A few Cockerels for sale $2 each. Eggs in season.

BARRETT & KERNEN, Props.

CHESTNUT LION

A Fine Tennessee Jack 15 Hands high, Full of Life, a Fine Breeder and Sure Foal-Getter, will stand at

JEMISON, ALA,
this Season.

W. C. EVANS, Proprietor,
JEMISON, ALA.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

TIPTON MULLINS
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW
CLANTON - ALA

WILLIAM M. ADAMS
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW
Practice in all Courts.
Office at the Adams' place
CLANTON - - - ALA

JOHN C. DENNIS
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW
Practice in the Supreme Court of Alabama, and all Inferior Courts.
CLANTON, - - Ala.

ROBERT H. KNOX,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,
CLANTON, ALA.
Will practice in all the State and Federal Courts of Alabama.

Dr. OTTO M. WISEHART,
DENTIST.
OFFICE HOURS. 8 to 12 a.m. and 1 to 5 p.m.
Office over Wright's Store CLANTON

Dr. GEO. A. DENNIS,
SPECIALIST
Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat
OFFICE: S. PERRY ST.
Office Hours: 9 to 12 and 2 to 4.
Telephone 654—2 rings
MONTGOMERY, ALA.

CHURCH DIRECTORY

BAPTIST—Preaching on the first and third sundays at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Sunday-school every sunday at 10 a.m.

Prayer-meeting every thursday evening at 7 o'clock.

F. M. WOODS, Pastor.

METHODIST—Preaching every second sunday at 7 p.m., and every fourth sunday at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Sunday-school at 10 a.m. every sunday.

Prayer-meeting at seven o'clock every Wednesday night.

D. F. ELLISON, Pastor.

CLANTON BARBER SHOP
W. H. TAYLOR, Proprietor.
HAIR CUTTING
SHAVING
SHAMPOOING
In all the Latest City Styles. Reasonable Charges. Prompt Attention.
HOT AND COLD BATHS.
CLANTON

E. W. Grove

This signature is on every box of the genuine Laxative Bromo-Quinine Tablets the remedy that cures a cold in one day

The BANNER office is the only Job Printing establishment in Chilton and Coosa counties. We give you best work at lower prices than you can get elsewhere. Give us trial

The Farmers' Mutual Insurance Association of Alabama.

CHARTERED BY SPECIAL ACT OF THE LEGISLATURE.

"BY THE PEOPLE AND FOR THE PEOPLE."

CHILTON COUNTY BRANCH

PRESIDENT: N. J. CALLOWAY, Clanton.
SEC'Y & TREAS.: P. D. WILSON, Clanton.

GENERAL AGENT:
WALLACE C. EDLER, Clanton.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

1. H. C. Young
2. Thomas Harrison
3. R. S. McCary
4. D. F. Jacks
5. W. H. Thomas
6. A. T. Hathcock
7. C. J. Cohern
8. John R. Parnell
9. D. N. Riggins.

Insures farmer's dwellings, outbuildings and contents, and live stock against loss by fire, wind and lightning.

The assessments for the year just closed was only 23c on the $1000 policy.

The cheapest, safest and most sensible method of insurance known to man. For full particulars call on or address the General Agent WALLACE C. EDLER, Clanton, Ala.

THE BANNER.

Published Weekly.

OLANTON, - - - ALABAMA.

If there were to be a new beatitude, it might well read, "Blessed are the cheerful; for to them is given the gift of diffusing hope and courage and joy."

The City of Detroit, Mich., tried standard time for just one week. Then the astute common council voted to abandon it and returned to local time, regardless of railroad timetables.

It is computed that in the column of prose and verse which he produced daily for a Chicago newspaper Eugene Field eventually wrote 7,000,000 words. This would be equivalent in quantity to 70 portly novels of historical romance or adventure of the current popular sort, and decidedly better in quality, as much metropolitan newspaper matter is.

There are now 2,777,497 horses in the United States, not counting those on stock farms and ranches. The largest number are found in New York state, where there are 302,271. Illinois ranks second, with 233,807; Pennsylvania has 215,977; Ohio, 185,683; Iowa, 144,295; Massachusetts, 132,016; Missouri, 124,952; Indiana, 124,072; Texas, 106,819 and Michigan, 100,410.

Denmark is a small country, but it has the great distinction among enlightened nations of exporting the best butter in the world. A report of Frank H. Hitchcock, chief of the division of foreign markets in the agricultural department at Washington, says that, while butter is the most valuable export of the Danes, "they import a good deal of butter of the cheaper sort from the United States."

There is a great deal to be done to make wireless telegraphy applicable to all the necessities of the telegraph business; and by the time that is done the function of the telegraph will probably be so enlarged that it will take all the wire lines and wireless lines together to do the business satisfactorily. And what of the possible application of wireless telegraphy to telephony? We may, after all, be only on the threshold of a wireless age, observes the New York Commercial.

The prospective development of our sub-marine boat is likely to make a new demand on our naval training system. With only one such boat now in existence, the Holland, the requirements of the service have been met by volunteers; but when the half-dozen vessels of the kind now building are completed it will not be possible to rely only on volunteers, and a specially trained force of "submarinists" will be needed. The duty on these vessels will call for a high order of skill; it will be also very hazardous. Our sailors have never hesitated to volunteer for dangerous work, as witness Cushing's crew and Hobson's; but the requirements of the submarine boats are not met by merely personal bravery. A new rating seems needed, composed of trained men, who shall receive special pay for their very special work, commensurate with its technicality and danger. The matter has been brought before the navy department already, and will be provided for shortly, in all probability, says the New York Sun.

The Torrens land-registration law is growing slowly in favor in Massachusetts, and in recent months the court has been doing about all the business for which it has facilities. For the last two years the record of fees paid over quarterly is as follows: January, 1899, $191.60; April, $511.58; July, $949.02; October, $688.91; January, 1900, $350.02; April, $908.85; July, $887.83; October, $1154.08. The entire assessed value of the land covered by petitions presented to the court since its formation, both the cases settled and those still pending, amounts to $1,430,557. An illustration of the advantage of the system for business purposes is furnished by the Recorder. A man with real estate in the North End of Boston, which was valued at about $10,000, had registered it under the Torrens law. He went to the bank and wanted to borrow on the certificate. The representative of the bank saw the property in the morning, and the papers were all passed and the transaction finished about 1 o'clock the same day, instead of covering two or three weeks with the search of the title and other delays.

BIG STEAMER SINKS

Had on Board Two Hundred Passengers, and It Is Thought That Half of Them Found Watery Graves.

SHIP CAUGHT IN DENSE FOG

Among the Victims Reported Was Consul Wildman and Family From Hong Kong---A Scene of Horror.

A San Francisco special says: The Pacific mail steamer City of Rio de Janeiro ran on a hidden rock while entering the golden gate early Friday morning in a dense fog, and sank in a few minutes. It is thought that nearly 150 persons were drowned, but it is impossible to ascertain the exact number, owing to the fact that Purser John Rooney, who had the passenger list and roster of the crew, is among the missing.

At 5 p. m. ten bodies had been recovered, two white women, one white man and seven Chinese. The most prominent passenger was Rounseville Wildman, United States consul at Hong Kong, who was accompanied by his wife and two children. It is thought all were downed. The ship was in command of Pilot Frederick Jordan when she struck. He was rescued. Captain William Ward went down with his vessel.

As nearly as can be learned there were 234 people on the Rio Janeiro, as follows:

Cabin passengers, 29; second cabin, 7; steerage (Chinese and Japanese) 58; officers and crew, 140; total, 234.

The following have been accounted for: Rescued, 79; bodies at the morgue, 10; total, 89; missing, 145.

CAUGHT IN A DENSE FOG.

The Rio de Janeiro was three days overdue from Hong Kong, via Honolulu, when she arrived off the heads Thursday night and the dense fog prevailing at the time induced Pilot Jordan to bring her to anchor until he could see his way clear through the gateway. She laid to until about 4:30 o'clock, when the atmosphere cleared and she was started under a slow bell toward Point Bonita. All went well until 5:40 o'clock, when she struck. Most of the passengers were below at the time and it is believed many of them were drowned in their berths.

The first news of the disaster reached the city at 7:30 a. m., and soon afterward a boat load of rescued passengers and petty officers arrived at the mail dock. Tugs were immediately dispatched to render any service that might be needed, but no living persons were afloat when the tugs reached the wreck. A number of drowning people were rescued by Italian fishermen and the bodies of two white women, three Chinese and a Japanese were brought in by the tugs. The search for bodies continued all day.

All accounts show that the officers gave the necessary orders with the least possible excitement. Capt. Ward was on deck when the vessel struck and gave orders to the men on watch to hurry the passengers to the forward. At the same time the quartermaster on duty sounded the signal for fire drill and within five minutes all the men were at their stations.

There was no way of knowing the extent of the damage to the vessel, as she remained on an even keel for fifteen minutes after striking the rock. But Captain Ward knew the gravest danger threatened the 200 souls in his charge and he gave orders to lower the lifeboats and rafts. There was not much confusion until, fifteen minutes after striking, the bow of the vessel suddenly plunged under water. Then there was a wild rush for the boats.

Two boats had already been lowered and others were getting away as rapidly as the trained discipline of the crew could prepare them. A thick fog enveloped everything, and as yet no sign had come from the life-saving stations. Darkness was all about and with this added horror the people on the Rio had to cope. One boat got clear of the vessel without damage. This contained the following persons: Mrs. West, Mrs. Ripley, Chief Engineer Herlihey, Second Officer Coglan, Frank Cramp, J. R. Russell, Storekeeper Borgg, Water Tender D. Lane, Quartermaster R. Mathieson, Captain Hetch, of the German navy.

This boat got clear of the sinking vessel and then stood by to help in picking up those who had no time to get into the boats and were in the water. Another boat, containing Third Officer Holland and J. K. Carpenter, got away, but was drifted around close up under the bow of the steamer. As the forward end of the vessel plunged downward the prow caught the small boat and cut it in two. The two men in the boat were uninjured and swam away from the sinking steamer just in time to avoid being caught in the swirl of water caused by the settling of the big ship. Carpenter was picked up by the other boat. The fate of Holland is not known.

A numoes of Italian fishermen who were starting out saw the sinking of the Rio and hastened to give all the assistance in their power. While all this was going on Captain Ward was directing the passengers and trying to keep them from panic. He succeeded only partly, as many of the terrified people rushed to the railing and jumped overboard. Some of these were picked up, others were drowned.

The Chinese crew, to the number of over a hundred were terrorized. Some of them huddled in little groups, chattering in fear. Others crouched close to the deck mourning pitifully. Many jumped into the sea.

Captain Ward remained on deck until the vessel had settled to such an extent that the water was engulfing him. He then went up the bridge and from there continued to issue his directions.

That the steamer sank almost immediately after striking is the report of a majority of those rescued. Some of the passengers say that she instantly listed forward and in five minutes she went down, while others declare that she stayed afloat for half an hour after she struck.

There are several conflicting stories concerning the fate of Captain Ward. The steward of the Rio says that he stood beside the captain when the vessel went down. Two other survivors say that they also saw the captain to the last, but Frederick Lindstrom, quartermaster officer of the Rio, emphatically declared that Captain Ward emulated Admiral Trion, of H. M. S. Victoria, in going down to his cabin, where he met his doom behind a locked door. According to his story, Captain Ward, after consulting with Pilot Jordon, came down from the bridge. He was standing on the deck when the vessel crashed upon the rock.

There was a cry of "Man the boats," but it was apparent that in the midst of the awful confusion a systematic effort to save the passengers would be of no avail. Everybody was scrambling for his own safety. It was at this time that Lindstrom says he saw Captain Ward standing on the forward deck. Suddenly the captain turned and walked hurriedly to the cabin, disappeared behind the door, which he closed. A second later the vessel was plunging to the bottom of the sea.

THE PILOT'S STORY.

Captain Frederick W. Jordan, the pilot of the Rio, was rescued by an Italian fishing boat. To the customs officials he told the following story:

"We anchored about 5 o'clock last night. The weather was thick, and I left orders that when the weather cleared we should go farther in.

"At 5 a. m. the fog lifted. We could see the cliff house and the north end light, and I told the mate to heave short. After we started heaving short the wind came in from the northeast, and the fog settled in thick, and I told the mate to stop heaving. Then the captain came up and said:

"'Let her go. We can go ahead.'

"You see, my watch stopped at 5:40. When the vessel struck I ordered all the boats out. The first boat out was half filled with water no sooner than she struck. I got a ladder and placed a woman on it and we began to descend. She had a boy of eight years, whom I held in my arms. The woman and I were about half way down the ladder when the Rio gave a tremendous pitch. I was flung off the ladder.

"I saw nothing after that of the woman or the boy. I went down with the ship about fifty feet. I worked my way up to the surface and got hold of some wreckage. I had sense enough left to turn on my back and drift with the wreckage.

"Then I came across what seemed to me the top of a house with a Chinaman on it. He helped me to clamber onto the roof, and with him I drifted out toward the north heads. I was then rescued by the fishing boat."

BIRDSONGS GIVE BOND.

Brothers Were Charged With Arson and Perjury Respectively.

A Macon, Ga., dispatch says: The two Birdsong brothers, Tom and Dave, who were indicted for arson and perjury, were served with warrants, but they gave bonds in the sum of $1,000 each and were released. They will answer to the next term of the criminal court.

Five Crushed By Car Wheels.

Five men were caught on the Pennsylvania railroad bridge at Yongstown, O., Friday morning and killed. They were walking on the track on their way to work at the Sharon Iron furnace and were caught by the southbound freight train.

REGIMENTS TO RETURN.

Two Transports Will Sail From Manila During Month of March.

Colonel Miller, quartermaster at Manila, cables the war department that it has been arranged for the transport Thomas to leave Manila on the 15th proximo with the Twenty-eighth and Thirty-fifth regiments of volunteers and that the Grant will sail on the 25th proximo with the Twenty-ninth and Thirty-second regiments of volunteers.

CUBANS IN QUANDARY.

Question of "Future Relations" Proving a Perplexing One.

A Special from Havana says: Nothing definite has been decided upon regarding the question of future relations. Many of the delegates assembled in the convention hall Friday afternoon to talk over the matter informally. Most of them seem to be impressed with one conviction that if the convention stood out vigorously for absolute independence the United States congress would support them.

HAPPENINGS IN ALABAMA.

Pratt City Contractor Commits Suicide.

TEN MINERS ARE RESCUED.

Odd Fellows Will Build a Home--New Coal Company--Other State News.

J. Frank Hogan Commits Suicide.

J. Frank Hogan, a prominent contractor of Pratt City, committed suicide Saturday afternoon by shooting himself through the head with a 38-calibre revolver. Contrary to his usual habits, Mr. Hogan had been drinking, and this is the only reason that can be assigned for his rash act. It is said that Mr. Hogan came home at noon Saturday and was a little quarrelsome and upbraided his family in an unusual manner. A little later he became very angry and again abused his wife and children, threatening to commit suicide. Putting his pistol in his pocket, Hogan started to leave home, but his wife induced him to remain. He went into the bath room and presumably took another drink. Then walking into the dining room he arrested his wife's attention and placing the pistol to his head, pulled the trigger. Death was almost instantaneous. The coroner was called, but decided that the man had come to his death at his own hands, and deemed an investigation unnecessary. Frank Hogan, as he was known, was one of the best known contractors in the district, and his business affairs are in excellent condition. He leaves a wife and three children.

Ten Miners Rescued.

After 63 hours underground, for the greater part of the time in water, ten of the thirteen negro miners caught in the Asylum mines by a sudden inrush of water last Wednesday, were rescued at 6 o'clock Friday morning. When they reached the light they were nearly blind, and in an exhausted condition. Seven of the ten were able to climb up the shaft unaided, the other three being brought up in the cage. The three that were not rescued are supposed to be dead, as their caps were found. The rescue of the men was received with shouts of joy by their friends and relatives, while the families of the other three are greatly depressed, having almost given up hope.

The mine is about clear of water now, and searching parties are hunting for the bodies of the three miners supposed to be dead. The men are being taken care of by the hospital authorities, and will not suffer any very serious effects from their hazardous experience.

Summer School of Pedagogy.

In view of the new law requirements as to state license for teachers, La Fayette, Alabama, college will hold an annual School of Pedagogy, for the special purpose of reviews or new studies, and for professional instruction preparatory to July State examinations in all the counties of Alabama. As this is held in connection with the last of the college spring term, May 6 to June 13, all the advantages of college classes and model school methods will be open to teachers attending. Send for a copy of La Fayette College "Sunbeams."

Yard Collision.

A collision occurred between two Louisville and Nashville switch engines in Birmingham about midnight Friday night, in which two men were seriously hurt, though probably not fatally. The engines were running at a slow rate of speed when they collided, but they struck each other with considerable force and each was badly damaged. C. W. Meeks, foreman of the switching crew, and Howard Mason, a switchman, were both severely injured.

Fayette Lodge, No. 200, of the order K. of P., was organized at Fayette Friday evening, with fifteen charter members, by J. P. Woodall, P. C., of Spring Lake Lodge, No. 166, assisted by the following knights: Dr. W. H. Wilder, grand vice chancellor, of Birmingham; John H. Dunnahoo, G. K. R. and S., of Talladega; C. A. Beasley, of Tuscaloosa; J. E. Timmons, of Lafayette; J. G. Cook and C. T. Deloach, of Oakman.

Odd Fellows' Home.

The Odd Fellows of Alabama contemplate building a home for the widows and orphans of members of that order in this state. A meeting with that end in view was held in Fox hall, Birmingham, Saturday morning which was attended by representatives of fifteen of the twenty-seven lodges of that order in Jefferson county. Secretary H. C. Weaver of the Grand Lodge, came from Huntsville to attend the meeting and made an interesting talk, in which he urged the importance of such an institution. It was the consensus of opinion that the home should be established in the community offering the largest contribution towards it. If the scheme goes through it is probable that a small per capita assessment will be levied on each member of the order in Alabama, of which there are about 5000. A committee consisting of L. J. Rittenberry, George Huddleston, James Sharpe, L. M. Buell and J. P. Brodie was appointed to formulate an address, which will be sent to all Odd Fellows in the state.

New Coal Company.

Another big coal mining company has been organized in Jefferson county, the Valley Creek Coal Company. The organizers of this company are T. H. Aldrich, John F. Martin and T. H. Friel, and the capital stock is $200,000, divided into 2,000 shares of $100 each. The purpose of the company is to mine coal, ore and other minerals and to erect coke ovens, furnaces, etc., for the manufacture of coke and pig iron. The principal place of business will be at the mines of the company in Jefferson county. The properties of the company are located near and below Bessemer.

Clark again Succeeds Himself.

Last Friday the Governor named Gen. Louis V. Clark, of Birmingham, to succeed himself as Brigadier General of the Alabama National Guard. The Governor also named Mr. D. T. Phillips and Dr. Thomas Westmoreland, members of the board of control of the Eighth District Agricultural School. This school is situated at Athens. The appointees were indorsed by the work of the school as Messrs. Phillips and Westmoreland were old members of the board.

Livingston's New Hotel.

Livingston, Ala., is to have a new hotel to cost $30,000. It is to be built by Birmingham capitalists, they having the town's proposition of twenty-five years' use of the waste water at the bored well, and fifteen years' exemption from taxation. It is to be built of brick and stone, and modern in every respect.

Telephone Line.

A stock company has been formed for the purpose of building a line of telephone from Hillsboro to Moulton. Money sufficient to build and equip the line has been raised. The posts have been bought and are now being laid down at Moulton. A contract for setting the posts all along the line will be let to the lowest bidder next Thursday. The wire and batteries have been ordered, and telephone connection between Moulton and the outside world will be fully established in the next few weeks.

The brick work on the new coke oven plant that is being erected by the Semet-Solvay company at Ensley is rapidly nearing completion.

The new machinery for the Birmingham Cement plant at Ensley has been installed and the plant is in active operation once more.

An Attempted Assassination.

A dastardly attempt at assassination was made near the Alabama Great Southern depot in Tuscaloosa about 6 o'clock Sunday evening, when an unknown party called John Lewis, a respectable working man, to his front door and shot him in the face with a 32-calibre pistol. Lewis conducts a wood yard in the rear of his home. There is no clue to the perpetrator of the deed. The physician in charge of Lewis thinks he will possibly get well, as the ball did not strike in a vital spot, although it is a very dangerous wound.

The Tennessee company, at Ensley, will soon begin the installation of their telephone exchange, which will be located in their office building on Nineteenth st est. The system will be owned and operated by the company.

Former President Harrison reopens an old argument when he says America should have been called Columbia.

LIVELY DOINGS IN THE CONGRESS

Sensational Speeches Indulged In By Our Lawmakers.

HEPBURN USES STRONG WORDS

Questions of Hazing and Double Pay of House Employes Lead to A Wordy War.

A Washington special says: To-day was another field day in the house. Two distinct sensations came. During the consideration of a supplement to the deficiency appropriation bill to prevent hazing at the naval academy, Mr. Hepburn, of Iowa, in exceedingly strong language, urged against the practice, charging by indirection the habits of tyranny and oppression formed by the officers of the army and navy at their academies were responsible for the refusal of graduates in the navy and for the large number of desertions from the army.

Moreover, he alleged that officers stood by each other in trouble, saying that the record of twenty-five vessels of the navy since the civil war had, with one exception, escaped with slight punishment. Mr. Cannon, of Illinois, Mr. Dayton, of West Virginia, and others defended the navy.

The stir caused by Mr. Hepburn's speech, however, was mild compared with the row which was kicked up later over some items in the bill for extra compensation to employes of the house. Mr. Dinsmore, of Arkansas, exposed the fact that one of the employees of the house, while holding one position, was drawing pay for another and the difference between the salaries was to be made up by one of the items in the bill.

This led to a general ventilation of the domestic affairs of the house, during which Mr. Baily, of Texas, said the situation was a scandal upon the integrity of the house. He charged that there were employees about the house who were dividing their pay with others who performed no work and challenged any one on the other side to deny his allegations. He offered to produce charges if any investigating committee were appointed.

It was explained by Mr. Hepburn, of Missouri, and others, that the house had no law concerning the employes of the house. Mr. Bailey offered a resolution to appoint an investigating committee, which was referred to the committee on rules, upon the assurance of Mr. Payne, the majority leader, that it would be reported early.

The general deficiency appropriation bill, the last of the appropriation bills, was passed, and Mr. Sherman's amendment to prevent hazing at the naval academy was taken up.

At the suggestion of Mr. Mahon Mr. Sherman modified the amendment so as to make a cadet dismissed on account of hazing ineligible to appointment as a cadet at Annapolis or West Point.

Mr. Hepburn, of Iowa, who had created a sensation. He recalled the contract that when the Booz case attracted the attention of the world the superintendent of the naval academy rushed into print to say that hazing had ceased at Annapolis. Yet the committee of the house found forty-one cases where under officers had been called out to engage in brutal prize fights. When he charged that he favored a "certain, severe punishment" for the cowardly browbeating of the younger men at the academies his statement received a round of applause.

Why, Mr. Hepburn asked, should the navy department 8,000 men above its complement? Why had there been 4,000 desertions from the army? Because the men were Americans and were compelled to serve under men who delighted in tyranny and oppression towards officers, Mr. Hepburn said, and towards each other.

"I have in my pocket," he said, "a list of twenty five vessels of the United States cast away upon the rocks and shoals by incompetent officers since the close of the civil war. In many cases the ships were totally lost, but with a solitary exception my brother officers let the commander off with a slight punishment."

KIDNAPER BOUND OVER.

Callahan, at Preliminary Trial, Held in $7,500 Bond.

The courtroom at Omaha was crowded Thursday when James Callahan, the alleged kidnaper of Edward Cudahy, Jr., was arraigned for preliminary hearing before Judge Vinsonhaler.

In all three complaints against him, grand larceny, robbery and false imprisonment, he pleaded not guilty.

The hearing was then continued until Monday to enable Callahan to secure counsel and prepare his defense. His bail was fixed at $7,500 on each count, which he did not furnish.

VICTORY FOR UNION MEN.

A Foundry Strike Started in Ohio Just Been Settled.

The strike in the Fair & Co. foundry company, at Knoxville, Ohio, which has been on since [illegible] was settled Thursday. The company granted increase in wages which union men claim, average about [illegible] cent, while they only asked [illegible] cent in 1899. The non-union men employed will be succeeded by union men as fast as possible.

FOR DISPOSITION OF CUBAN AFFAIRS

Senate Committee Holds an Important Meeting.

LIST OF DEMANDS OUTLINED.

Uncle Sam Wants Naval Stations and Control of Foreign Affairs of the Islanders.

A Washington special says: The senate committee on relations with Cuba met Saturday to consider a proposed amendment to the army appropriation bill providing for the disposition of Cuban affairs. The proposition was prepared by the Republican members of the committee and is said to be satisfactory to most of them.

The proposed amendment recites the so-called Teller amendment to the war resolution and then gives the president authority to withdraw from Cuba when, in his judgment, the provisions of the Teller amendment are realized.

The propositions embodied in the proposed amendment include the following points:

That the United States shall have assumption of all treaties with foreign powers made by the republic of Cuba.

That Cuba shall not undertake to contract a debt incurred by Spain in the island with Cuba prior to or after the ratification of the United States.

That Cuba shall agree either to lease or sell to the United States such coaling or naval stations as in the judgment of the president of the United States may be necessary to the protection of the interests of this country.

That the United States shall have the supervision of the laws of Cuba relating to sanitation to protect the country from epidemics liable to originate there.

The idea is that these provisions be included in a treaty to be made with Cuba, but that they need not be a part of the constitution. It is understood that the draft of the amendment containing these provisions will be submitted to the president, the secretary of war, and that they have expressed themselves as being in favor of their wording.

The minority members of the committee expressed themselves willing to come to an understanding upon these general lines. Indeed, some of the important suggestions were made by the minority. Senator Butler, of North Carolina, being one of the foremost movers in the matter. They insisted, however, upon many verbal amendments, thus evincing a determination to aid in giving form to the action as well as suggesting its general tenor.

When the committee adjourned there were still important differences to be reconciled, and the members separated with the understanding that another meeting would be held on Monday.

Members on both sides of the committee expressed the hope that an agreement would be reached, but also that the proceedings had not gone far enough to render it certain that the result would be attained.

One prominent point to which the committee is giving special attention, although that point may not be embodied or even mentioned in the proposed amendment, is the relation of Cuba to the Isle of Pines. There is some disposition among the Cubans to lay on to that island so near their coast, while there is apparently no disposition on the part of the United States to release that possession, on the ground that the island was acquired as a result of the Spanish war.

DOUBLE PAY QUESTION.

Charges Made in Regard Thereto Brings On An Investigation.

The house Saturday adopted a resolution to investigate the pay of its employees as a result of the condition of affairs ascertained during the recent debate on the deficiency bill, and the speaker appointed a committee consisting of Mr. Moody, of Massachusetts; Mr. Overstreet, of Indiana; Mr. Long, of Kansas; Mr. Bailey, of Texas, and Mr. Newlands, of Nevada, to make the investigation.

Amendments to Naval Bill.

Among the senate amendments to the naval bill, on which there was disagreement, were the following: Reducing from $500,000 to $300,000 the contingent account of the navy department. Detailing commanding officers of the navy to be assistant chiefs of the bureaus of the navy department. Increasing from $400,000 to [illegible] the appropriation for coaling stations; for a naval station at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii; allow the president to appoint ten more naval cadets.

Prominent Capitalist Dead.

A special from Providence, R. I., says: William B. Banigan died Sunday afternoon of pneumonia. He was superintendent of the Marvel and other rubber companies and agent of the Banigan estate, which has large business interests in Ga.

Destroys Railroad Bridge.

A western span of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad at Johnsonville, Tenn., burned Thursday, entailing a loss of $25,000.

IVELY DOINGS IN THE CONGRE

nsational Speeches Indulge By Our Lawmakers.

EPBURN USES STRONG W

estions of Hazing and D Pay of House Employes Inc A Wordy War.

A Washington special says: T y was another field day in the h o distinct sensations occa ring the consideration of an am t to the deficiency appropri l to prevent hazing at the n demy. Mr. Hepburn, of Iowa, eeling y strong language whi ghing against the practice of g changing by indirection the nts of tyranny and oppre med by the officers of the army y at their academies was resp for the refusal of sailors to d the navy and for the large nu desertions from the army.

More ter, it alleged that the s ly on another wh saying that the comma t the vessels of the navy ce the civil war had, with on ption, agreed with slight pu nt. M of Illinois, r. Davis of West Virginia, wa f the navy.

The stir caused by Mr. Hepb ce h, however, was mild com th the row which was kicke ter over some items in the bil xtra compensation to employes e house. Mr. Dinsmore, of Ar s, exposed the fact that one of mployees of the house, while oc g one position, was drawing s r another and the difference bet e salaries was to be made up in the items in the bill.

This led to a general ventilati e domestic affairs of the house, g which Mr. Baily, of Texas, he situation was a scandal upo tegrity of the house. He ch hat there were employees of ouse who were dividing their s ith others who performed no d challenged any one on the fl le to deny his allegations. H ered to produce charges if any gating committee were appoint

It was explained by Mr. Jo Missouri, and others, that there o law concerning the employ he house. Mr. Bailey offered a ution to appoint an investig committee, which was referred t committee on rules, upon the nce of Mr. Pavne, the majority r, that it would be reported at

The general deficiency app tion bill, the last of the appropr bills, was passed, and Mr. Sher amendment to prevent hazing n naval academy was taken up.

At the suggestion of Mr. Ma Sherman modified the amendm s to make a cadet dismissed a count of hazing ineligible fo pointment as a cadet at Annapo West Point.

Mr. Hepburn, of Iowa, who fi created a sensation. He recall ract that when the Booz case tracted the attention of the the superintendent of the n academy rushed into print to that hazing had ceased at West Yet the committee of the house forty-one cases where under c had been called out to engage tal prize fights. When he that he favored a "certain, fi vere punishment" for the cowa browbeating of the younger cla academies his statement rec round of applause.

Why, Mr. Hepburn asked, navy department 8,000 men its complement? Why had th 4,000 desertions from the army cause the men were American compelled to serve under men ed in tyranny and oppression. officers, Mr. Hepburn said, each other.

"I have in my pocket," he list of twenty five vessels of the States cast away upon the shoals by incompetent officer the close of the civil war. cases the ships were totally d but with a solitary exceptio brother officers let the comma with a slight punishment."

KIDNAPER BOUND OVE

Callahan, at Preliminary Trial, In $7,500 Bond.

The courtroom at Omaha wa ed Thursday when James C the alleged kidnaper of Edw dahy, Jr., was arraigned for a before Judge Vinsonhaler.

In all three complaints agai grand larceny, robbery and imprisonment, he pleaded not gu

The hearing was then c until Monday to enable Callah to secure counsel and prepare His bail was fixed at $2,500 count, which he did not furni

VICTORY FOR UNION M

A Foundry Strike Started in Just Been Settled.

The strike in the Fair & D dry company, at Knoxville, which has been on since M was settled Thursday. The granted increase in wages union men claim, average abo cent, while they only asked cent in 1899. The non-union employed will be succeeded men as fast as possible.

R DISPOSITION OF CUBAN AFFAIRS

nate Committee Holds n Important Meeting.

T OF DEMANDS OUTLINED.

le Sam Wants Naval Stations d Control of Foreign Affairs of the Islanders.

Washington special says: The committee on relations with met Saturday to consider a pro amendment to the army appro bill providing for the dispo of Cuban affairs. The propo was prepared by the Republican members of the committee and is said be satisfactory to most of them.

The proposed amendment recites the Teller amendment to the Cuban war resolution and then gives the president authority to withdraw the forces of Cuba when in his judg it the purposes of the Teller amendment are realized.

It is contained in the pro that it will include the follow

That the United States shall have control of relations with foreign tries made by the republic of Cuba.

That Cuba shall not undertake to incur obligations to Spain in the war, nor prior to or after the ratification of the United States.

That Cuba shall agree either to lease to the United States such naval stations as in the president of the United necessary to the protec of this country.

That the United States shall have supervision of the laws of Cuba relating to protect from epidemics liable to

That those provisions be adopted by Cuba to be part of the constitution. It is not intended that they need be a part of the constitution. It is intended that those provis the exception of the present war, and that they be carried into effect as being in fav

The members of the com themselves are willing to upon these amendments. Indeed, some of the more extreme suggestions were made the majority, Senator Butler, of Carolina, being one of the fore movements on the matter. They in however, upon many verbal amendments, thus evincing a determi not to stand in the way of giving form to the sentiment as well as to testing its gen tenor.

When the committee adjourned there still important differences to be reconciled, and the members separated with the understanding that another meeting would be held on Monday.

Members on both sides of the com ittee expressed the hope that an agreement would be reached, but all felt that the proceedings had not gone enough to render it certain that result would be attained.

The prominent point to which the committee is giving special attention, though that point may not be em bodied or even mentioned in the proposed amendment, is the relation of Cuba to the isle of Pines. There seems to be no disposition among the Cubans hold on to that island so near their shores, while there is apparently no opposition on the part of the United States to release that possession, on the ground that the island was ac quired as a result of the Spanish war.

DOUBLE PAY QUESTION.

rges Made In Regard Thereto Brings On An Investigation.

The house Saturday adopted a reso tion to investigate the pay of its officers as a result of the condition of affairs ascertained during the re cent debate on the deficiency bill, and the speaker announced a committee consisting of Mr. Moody, of Massachusetts, Mr. Overstreet, of Indiana; Mr. Long, of Kansas; Mr. Bailey, of Texas, and Mr. Newlands, of Nevada, to make the investigation.

Amendments to Naval Bill.

Among the senate amendments to the naval bill, on which there was disagreement, were the following: Re ing from $500,000 to $300,000 the contingent account of the navy de partment. Detailing commanding officers of the navy to be assistant chiefs of the bureaus of the navy depart ment. Increasing from $400,000 to $1,000,000 the appropriation for coal ing stations; for a naval station at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii; allow the pres ident to appoint ten more naval cadets.

Prominent Capitalist Dead.

A special from Providence, R. I., says: William B. Banigan died Sunday of pneumonia. He was superintendent of the Marvel and other rubber mills and agent of the Banigan estate. He also has large business interests in Atlanta, Ga.

Fire Destroys Railroad Bridge.

The eastern span of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad bridge at Johnsonville, Tenn., burned Friday, entailing a loss of $25,000.

FLOATING BODIES

Victims of Rio Wreck Are Washed Back and Forth on Billows at Golden Gate.

A San Francisco special says: Rain and fog hung like a pall over the ocean and during Friday night a rainstorm of unusual proportions visited the vicinity making the work of searchers for the Rio's dead very difficult. Bodies were frequently seen floating in and out of the harbor, but the roughness of the water partly hindered the work of recovery. It is possible that some of the survivors may have been washed up on the shore at obscure points.

Some fishermen early Friday morning found a packet containing the papers of Purser Rooney. Among them was the passenger list and a bunch of cancelled passenger tickets and as there were names on the list whose canceled passenger tickets did not appear among those recovered, it is assumed that they laid over either at Yokohama, Kobe or Honolulu. That they were not on the vessel at the time she went down is certain.

Up to a late hour Friday night only eleven bodies had been recovered, six whites, four Chinese and one Japanese.

Surveyor of the Port Spear has established a patrol along the ocean near Baker's Beach and along bay shore inside Fort Point. Thus far his men have picked up four mail bags, one of them washing near Baker's and the others near the Fort Point life saving stations. The surveyor has given orders that all the fishing boats must report at the customs office.

All bodies brought in by them and all wreckage and floatsam picked up by fishermen must be accounted for to the officials at the barge office. In this way it is thought that the looting of mail bags and trunks may be stopped. Among other effects picked up by fishermen was the box containing Captain Ward's papers. The police have established a patrol outside the beach south of Fort Winfield Scott.

The value of the cargo of the Rio de Janeiro has not been determined, owing to the absence of important papers, but it is variously estimated at from $750,000 to $900,000. Among some papers found floating near the scene of the disaster was a copy of the manifest, showing all the consignees with the exception of the Chinese firms. The cargo consisted principally of silk, tea, rice and other oriental products. There was no treasure aboard as was at first reported.

Of the 200 sacks of mail carried by the Rio de Janeiro only twelve have so far come to the surface.

The wreck of the Rio, which for a while hung on a pinnacle of the rock where she struck in the Golden Gate, so that parts of the upper works were visible, has slid off into deep water and is now entirely out of sight.

Pilot Captain Jordan has been a master mariner on the Pacific coast for over twenty years and declares the loss of the steamer could not have been foreseen. According to his story, the vessel drifted half a mile broadside in the fog that enveloped the home bound steamer like a pall and no man could have judged either the direction or the velocity of the invisible current that changed her course and sent her on the Port Point rock.

MORGAN'S DIPLOMACY.

Results In Getting Canal Bill Temporarily Before Senate.

During Saturday's session of the senate, by a skillful parliamentary move, Senator Morgan forced the Nicaranga canal bill to the front after that measure had been asleep for many weeks. By a close reading of the proceedings Friday, Mr. Morgan discovered that the oleomargarine bill had lost its position as the unfinished business of the senate, and with the calendar thus cleared the Nicaranga canal bill regained the status it held over two months ago as the unfinished business of the senate.

Mr. Morgan's discovery created something of a sensation, and this was heightened when the presiding officer sustained his position and laid the canal bill before the senate. Mr. Morgan's success was short-lived, however, as the fortification bill was taken up, thus displacing the canal bill, which, with the oleomargarine bill and shipping bill, takes its place on the calendar. The day was given to the fortification and the army appropriation bills, the former being passed.

"LET ME OUT OF THIS."

Mrs. Nation Makes Sarcastic Plea to Judge For Liberation.

Mrs. Carrie Nation, tiring of jail life, has written Judge Hazen a letter demanding release.

"I want you to quit your fooling," she writes, "and let me out of here. If you cause me to miss my engagements I won't feel like a ministering angel unto you. It is time for you to recover yourself before the devil, your master, makes a clean sweep with you into hell. You know you are persecuting God's children who loves you for Jesus' sake. Let me out that I may go about my business of saving such poor devils as you."

Negro Cremated.

The jail at Alphia, Ga., was burned Wednesday night and a negro prisoner was cremated in it. The negro had been arrested for fighting with another sawmill hand, and opinion is divided as to whether friends of the negro with whom he had quarreled fired the structure or whether the prisoner himself turned incendiary in an effort to escape.

MOB SHOOTS TOLBERT.

Exiled South Carolinian Dares to Return to His Old Home At McCormick.

A Columbia, S. C., special says: James W. Tolbert, one of the men driven from the Phenix section at the time of the election riots in November, 1898, was shot down in the street of McCormick at noon Thursday by a party of masked men.

James Tolbert, with R. Ed Tolbert, his nephew, were exiled at the same time, the trouble arising because "Red" was a candidate for congress, and his connection stirred up the negroes.

At that time James Tolbert was postmaster at McCormick, and on leaving, his wife was appointed postmaster. Tolbert had half a dozen citizens tried in the United States court for conspiracy, one of them eighty-six years old. They were all acquitted, but the feeling against him became more bitter.

A year ago he visited his wife at McCormick, but was chased from the house at night, and escaped through the woods. He has considerable property in Greenwood county, and has made flying visits to Greenwood during the last year, each time being run away as soon as it was discovered that he was in the neighborhood.

Several days ago Tolbert arrived at McCormick, and has been engaged in renting his property, much of which has been untenanted. The people of the town did not molest him, and he paid no attention to an anonymous letter advising him to leave at once.

At noon Thursday a party of masked men rode into town from the country, and encountered Tolbert, who was having some repairs done to one of his buildings. Accounts of eye witnesses are conflicting, one saying that on being ordered to surrender, Tolbert began shooting. Another, that he attempted to argue with the crowd, and then fired on a young man who was walking by and had nothing to do with the matter. Tolbert emptied his pistol, the masked men also firing, both parties backing away from each other until Tolbert fell.

A young man, named Martin, who was visiting in the town, is said to be mortally shot, and Tolbert's condition is more serious. He was shot through the left lung, and one arm. The first heard of the trouble was a telegram to the governor saying:

"I have been shot to death; send protection for my family."

The governor immediately telegraphed the sheriff, and intendant.

FIVE TO HANG.

Negroes Who Killed Two Officers Sentenced to Die on the Gallows.

In Screven superior court at Sylvania, Ga., Arnold Augustus, Richard Sanders, Andrew Davis, William Hudson and Sam Baldwin, all colored, charged with the murder of Milton Mears and Filmore Herrington last summer, were convicted of murder and sentenced to be hanged March 29th.

Mears and Herrington were murdered by a crowd of negroes one night last summer at the house of Jesse Alexander, on Mobley Pond. They had gone to the house to make an arrest, and were accompanied by Captain J. T. Wade and George Daniels. Just as they were walking up to the cabin they were ambushed. Herrington and Mears were killed and Captain Wade was badly wounded. Six of those supposed to have been in the conspiracy escaped and have not been caught. The other six were arrested and all of them, with the exception of one, were put on trial and quickly convicted.

CUBAN CONSTITUTION SIGNED.

Senor Cisneros Refuses to Attach His Name and Gives Reasons.

A special from Havana says: The Cuban constitution, first submitted by the central committee to the convention at the public session of January 21, was signed Thursday. One copy was sent to Governor General Wood and the other placed among the records of the convention. The attendance was not large.

At 5 o'clock the members affixed their signatures, the president and vice president leading off, the two secretaries signing last. Senor Cisneros created a sensation by refusing to sign it. He said:

"Cuba is now independent, and I can see no reason for sending this constitution to the United States for acceptance. The United States government has no right to pass upon it, for it is a distinctly Cuban document and was drawn up by this convention which has assembled the responsibility of establishing the republic."

Death of Ex-Senator White.

Former United States Senator Stephen M. White died at his home in Los Angeles, Cal., Thursday morning after a short illness. He had been suffering from ulceration of the stomach.

MRS. NATION AS EDITOR.

Kansas Smasher Will Publish Paper in the Interest of Negroes.

A dispatch from Topeka, Kan., says: Mrs. Carrie Nation is to enter politics and to become the editor of The Smashers' Mail, a paper to be run in behalf of negroes. The newspaper that Mrs. Nation intends to edit will be published by "Nick" Chiles, the Negro saloon keeper who signed one of Mrs. Nation's bonds last week. David Nation will help his wife with the enterprise.

FOR WOMAN'S BENEFIT

A Love of a Toque.

A charming hat seen the other day in New York City was flat and round in shape, with large full-blown roses of black velvet, each petal rimmed with a narrow line of frosted gold, and with golden hearts, massed closely round the crown and covering the brim, lightly veiled and black lace. The hat was lifted off the head by a few white tea roses underneath the brim at the left side.

The Belt Fashionable.

The new broad elastic-webbed belts, thickly studded with steel facets, and fastened with a deep narrow oblong buckle in front should prove welcome, for they clip the waist so trimly and close, and give just that neatness to a blouse that it wants.

Belts of gold ribbon tissue are apt to be spoiled by not being properly mounted. It is quite useless to drag this soft, loose fabric round the waist like one would ordinary ribbon. It should be pinned to the figure, properly pinned and adjusted, and well boned and mounted on a foundation, then one secures a well-shaped corselet belt.

Sure Signs of Old Age in Woman.

1. When letters to girl friends are mostly addressed "Mrs."
2. When she begins to care a great deal about the supper at an entertainment.
3. When she feels a sudden interest in church and charity work.
4. When she is attractive to very young men.
5. When she realizes the folly of dressing in sober colors.
6. When she compares the new way of wearing the hair with that when she first put hers up.
7. When—most fatal of all—the gravity of youth gradually gives way to incipient kittenishness.—New York Sun.

Neck-wear for Mourning.

Some very smart arrangements for neckwear are shown in the best shops now for mourning. The stocks are very high, built up with soft folds of crepe and chiffon, and trimmed with ruches of crepe across the ends. Some dull-finish silk is used, too, in their make-up.

There are many new styles of neckwear intended solely for mourning which are unusually attractive. Mousseline de soie and chiffon are the favorite materials, and far more becoming than the dull silk ties or the peau de soie. A smart stock is finished with a narrow ruching of chiffon, and the tie is of folds of chiffon with only the narrowest ruching as a finish. Sheer white linen collars and cuffs are worn in the deepest mourning by widows, while the narrow collar and cuffs of hem-stitched linen are appropriate for any one to wear who wears mourning, whether for a near or distant relative. —Harper's Bazar.

Helen Keller Makes a Speech.

Helen Keller made her first public speech at the freshmen luncheon at Radcliffe college on the Saturday preceding Christmas. Her words were heard quite clearly through the hall, a remarkable trimuph over natural infirmity in one who was once dumb. What she said was:

"Classmates—It is a great pleasure, and I esteem it a great honor, to be present here and speak to you. I am glad to have an opportunity to thank the class for their kindness in electing me their vice-president, and I hope that I may become acquainted with many of you. Although I cannot see you, I will soon know you by touching your hands."

There was long and enthusiastic applause for the girl who has overcome so many obstacles in the course of her college preparation. One sophomore who can use the sign language quickly communicated to Helen the warm reception her speech had received, and the girl's expressive face quivered with the joy of her achievement.—Cambridge Letter in Baltimore American.

Hints on Lace-making.

Too much stress cannot be laid on this. Make all your leaves alike, flowers the same, buds and filling. Many lacemakers use such a variety of stitches, which cheapens the work. The beauty of the intricate labor is lost in this endless variety, which is a hodge-podge, standing for really nothing. Take a rose leaf, bud and background; the centre of the rose naturally is a cobweb, the leaves one fine stitch, after the valenciennes school, the background a cobweb. Now fancy, as I saw today, the daintiest collar imaginable, each thread so carefully done, a piece of elaborate work; every leaf had a different stitch, each petal might have stood for a rose or a cabbage, and the background was a little of every stitch in the calendar of needlework. The poor soul who had exhausted months of patient labor "to have a real lace collar to hand down to her grandchildren," had succeeded in handing down a sampler of stitches, but nothing to show whether she had a guipure, valenciennes, or a point-lace collar. She was triumphant over the fact that "she could make stitches with the best of them." So do, do, if you wish to put any value into your work, keep within the confines of a certain type.—Harper's Bazar.

Table Tennis.

Table tennis is the name of a new game which was introduced in England a short time ago, and has already become one of the most popular of indoor amusements. It is the game of lawn tennis in miniature, played on an ordinary dining table. The net is a tiny one, made of gauze stretched between two uprights, which rest on a bar laid across the table. The balls are made of the thinnest kind of pyroxyline material, and are consequently very light. The racquet has a slender handle and a blade with a frame about one-half inch thick, which is covered on both sides with thin drumhead material.

The play and counting are practically the same as in lawn tennis, but according to the rules "the player serving must not put his racquet over the table nor have it about his wrist." That is, he must serve underhand and never overhand, but after service he may hit the ball as he likes, but he must not volley.

The contact of the light ball with the drumhead racquet produces a pleasant sound, and because of this sound the game received the name "pompom."

Among the rules for playing the game are the following

No faults are allowed; if a fault is served, that is, the ball does not go over the net or goes off the table without touching the opposite side to the server, a point is counted to the nonserver.

If the net is touched by the ball, and the ball goes over, and otherwise the service is correct, it is a let, and counts nothing to either side. If a volley is taken, a point is counted against the person volleying.—New York Tribune.

Suggestions for a Paper Wedding.

The paper wedding, the first anniversary of a wedding day, is occasionally observed among a group of young folks, who turn it into a merry-making. They come adorned with grotesque paper caps extracted from motto crackers and sometimes in entire costumes evolved from gorgeous crepe paper. The paper wedding offers an excellent chance for a masquerade party, when paper of all sorts may be utilized, from pert, pretty Yum-Yum with a Japanese parasol to a frolicsome youth representing the yellow kid in an impromptu suit made from yellow journals.

There is the greatest latitude when it comes to gifts. The offering may be a dainty box of stationary or a book in the most artistic of bindings. For table decorations paper can be used lavishly, with paper table napkins, and even one of those beautiful tablecloths in paper which can be found in Japanese stores. Globes for gas and electricity, or lamps, can revel for that one night in wonderful paper shades, and where an artistic taste would demand flowers and wreathings of smilax or the delicate asparagus vines, it yields to the harmony of things and substitutes paper blossoms as true to nature as they can be found, with Japanese lanterns and lengths of paper ribbon for draping. If the decorator has fine taste, a house can be made really charming with paper decorations, if they are kept in delicate colors which harmonize.

At the paper wedding as in all other celebrations, the bride ought to wear her wedding gown, and after the passing of only 12 months, it is possible for her to be surrounded by her bridesmaids in their year-old frocks.—Good Housekeeping.

FASHION NOTES

Chenille is coming to the fore as a possibility for coiffure ornaments.

There are new evening gloves with silk lacings and jewel-button fastenings.

Silk petticoats are being supplanted to a great extent by the wash skirts of dainty white lawn trimmed elaborately with lace and embroidery.

Gaily colored feather eyes are dotted all over different kinds of furs in boas, capes and muffs, and make elaborate and showy furs.

Black velvet is the material for a stylish little bolero, with revers embroidered in gold thread. A wide belt of folded gold tissue should be worn with this.

Angora felts are becoming popular, especially in the gray and brown shades. A pretty example of khaki brown, trimmed with bronze brown velvet and biscuit color liberty, with a shaded ostrich plume that combines all the browns in the toque.

Among the novelties in veiling are gold dotted and gold bordered veils, red and royal blue. These are, of course, only for ultra tastes and occasions, and black, browns and white continue the ordinary wear. The green veil has disappeared absolutely.

One of the handsomest winter toilettes imaginable has a gray broadcloth skirt, with inset bands of chinchilla in fan fashion at the two side seams. The jacket of the chinchilla is in bolero shape, with a wide belt of dull blue velvet, on which are sewn rows of narrow gold braid. The revers are of the same velvet, edged with the braid, and the novel collar is of the same cut, very high, lined with the fur and decorated with braid on the inside.

SCIENCE AND INDUSTRY.

The fuse wire used in electric lighting systems and trolley cars is a composition of lead and bismuth. The proportions are varied somewhat to alter the hardness of the wire.

It is asserted that the electric furnace has been adapted to glass manufacture. The raw materials are fed through a funnel to an electric arc in the highest part of the furnace. After being reduced to a molten condition it is successively passed between two other electric arcs lower down in the furnace, finally issuing in a purified condition.

Drs. Mactayden and Rowland in their experiments on the influence of low temperatures on bacteria have found that though a certain degree of heat is destructive to bacteria they flourish vigorously and show no alteration in their appearance after being subjected to the very low temperatures attained by the use of liquid air and liquid hydrogen, even though exposed to them for a week. The selection of micro-organisms experimented on included germs of typhoid, cholera and diphtheria.

An interesting exploration of Lake Tanganyika and the country north of it, finished recently, revealed the fact that while certain sea mollusks are found in the lake, it the the only one of all the large African lakes in which such phenomena are observed. This lake is only a short distance, some 80 miles, from the great Congo basin, much of which, without doubt, was once covered by the sea. The haloilmnic fauna appeared to extend into the Congo valley, and it is believed that the lake at one time extended considerably to the west. Lake Nyassa, on the other hand, has every characteristic of a fresh water lake, and the geological fauna does not indicate that this lake is of any great age.

The discovery has just been made that camphor, known only as a vegetable product, or made synthetically, is produced by a small worm-like creature known as a diplopod with the scientific name of polyzoniium rosalbium. The animal is found in this country, and by careful examination it has been found that the substance which gives the odor of camphor is a milky fluid which is exuded from the dorsal pores. This fluid, in addition to possessing the odor of camphor, has a similar taste. Enough of the camphor has not as yet been obtained for chemical analysis, but it is considered a physiological substitute for the prussic acid secreted as a means of defense by a species of myriapod.

The changing of certain growing flowers from red to blue on applying alum, etc., to the roots of the plants has been long known; but it has remained for the late systematic researches of Minyoshi, a Japanese botanist, to open up remarkable new possibilities of coloration by the florist. The experimenter prepared watery extracts of 73 different flowers of lilac, purple and red colors, and of a number of red leaves, treating these solutions in turn with acids, alkalies and salts. What seemed to be the same coloring matter in different solutions gave greatly varying results. In most cases alum turned lilac to blue, pink or deeper lilac; hydrochloric acid changed lilac or pale red to deep red, seldom producing lilac, green or brown; and caustic potash changed lilac to green, or sometimes yellow. In practice these color transformations should follow the application of the chemicals to the plant roots, of course in extremely weak solutions.

VALUE OF TELEPHONE NUMBERS.

Many Firms Pay Heavy Mileage Rates to Retain an Old "Hello" Address.

"Telephone numbers have an actual money value," said an officer of the telephone company. "The assertion has a strange sound, but if you think for a moment of the advantage a business house derives from having its location well known, the thing seems only natural.

"In the course of time people's minds begin to associate a firm with its telephone number, and if, when they start to call up an old friend, they find masquerading under a new number, it is as much of a shock as if they had called at a house with whom they were in the habit of doing business and found it had moved away. It all comes under the legal head of "good-will," a very elusive commodity, but one which has its market value.

"So much is this fact appreciated by some of our old patrons that they are willing to pay heavy mileage, if they move away from the neighborhood of their exchange, in order to retain their old telephone address. Many important houses have followed the northward trend of business in the last few years, and there are several cases of a firm's office address being in the up-town district, while its telephone number remains 9 and so Cortlandt or Broad. The firm's line to the exchange may be several miles long."—New York Mail and Express.

Russian Bells.

The manufacture of bells has for centuries been carried on in Russia. On account of the immense number of churches throughout the empire, the demand for bells has always been great. As far back as 1653 the celebrated bell, called "Tsar Kolokol," was made. It is the largest bell in the world, being 16 feet in diameter and 19 feet high. No less than 171 tons of copper were used in its manufacture.

THE BANNER.

Printed and Published Every Thursday at Clanton, Chilton County, Ala.

Entered at the postoffice at Clanton, Ala., as second-class mail matter.

"Here shall the press the people's rights maintain,
Unawed by influence and unbribed by gain,
Here patriot truth his glorious precepts draw
Pledged to religion, liberty and law."

Subscription, yearly - - - $1.00
Invariably in Advance.

Address all communications to
THE BANNER,
Clanton, Ala.

OUR NEW CENTURY OFFER

THE BANNER finished the last century in excellent condition, but we wish to commence the new with a large number of new subscribers, and for that purpose have much pleasure in making the following offer:

The Banner one year (52 papers) for 75 cents

The Banner one year and the N. Y. World Almanac and Encyclopedia for 1901, over 600 pages, $1.00

The Banner and Home & Farm, both papers one year for $1.00

The Banner and Birmingham Age Herald, both papers one year for $1.25

The Banner and Thrice-a-Week World—four papers every week for one year for $1.50

The Banner and Montgomery Advertiser, both papers one year for $1.50

The Banner and Atlanta Constitution and Home & Farm—all three for one year for $1.50

The Banner and Atlanta Constitution and your choice of a number of other periodicals—all three for 1 year for $1.50

The Banner and American Monthly Review of Reviews—both one year for $2.75

A CALL has been issued for a meeting of the Populist Executive Committee of this county at Clanton on Tuesday next. It is only reasonable to presume the Committee will take some action in reference to the forthcoming constitutional convention. There is no doubt but that the Populists of Chilton will take up the challenge of the Democratic State Committee, who declared the convention to be a party measure, and will nominate, and very possibly elect, the representative from this county. It was unfortunate, in the first place, that the convention should ever have been included in party politics, it would have been much better to have let the people choose their own men without regard to party. And we believe that that is what the people of Alabama would have done—chosen their best men for this particular occasion without regard to party affiliations, if the convention had not been made a party measure.

In this county, for years past, there has been strong opposition to the Democratic party, and while this opposition had somewhat moderated during the last year or so, the recent unwise action of the Legislature in regard to certain purely local matters, has again revived the old spirit of antagonism, which is intensified from the fact that many Democrats feel they are being punished by a Democratic Legislature for that which they could not possibly help, viz.: for living in a Populist county.

It will take wise and conservative council on both sides to keep Chilton from a fierce campaign to elect a representative to the convention.

A BILL was passed in the House yesterday "To provide for holding elections in stock law districts in Chilton county for the purpose of discontinuing and annulling laws preventing stock from running at large therein."

THE bill to prevent stock running at large in certain portions of Chilton county, passed yesterday, only nineteen voting against it. Mr. Pounds opposed the measure, but Mr. Tunstall, of Hale, said the bill had been prepared by the Speaker after fully investigating the matter and that Mr. Pettus desired its passage.

CORRESPONDENCE

(continued from 1st col. page 1)

say in this connection I hear that some are disposed to blame me with the matter. Now, all I have to say to such as talk or think that way, that none but a knave or a fool can make any such charge, for everyone who has anything like a correct understanding of the way that some measures are railroaded through as partisan measures, that no sort of plea or petition will affect anything.

Now, in conclusion, I want to thank my many friends who have been urging me to become a candidate for the constitutional convention, and I will say that I have never been a candidate in that sense, and after fully considering the matter, and my own private interests, I have fully decided not to enter the race, but my services are fully tendered the Populist party in the election of any good man that may be selected by the party.

Most respectfully,
L. B. POUNDS.

Randolph, Feb. 24, 1901

Editor Banner—I noticed in your last issue that Chilton has a stock law. I am much surprised at this run over that the lawmakers have done for our lovely county. The farmers were having too good a time for those who think we are not worthy of any voice or freedom of our own. We held beat and county meetings and made ourselves known as to what we needed, and they did not listen to us, but carried out their scheme by having the defeated candidate come and say what to do.

This is a shame on any people and an outrage. Can we expect anything good out of an unclean thing?

Look at the Reynolds case. You see they did not even try the case because they knew that Oliver would lose his seat. Anything to carry out their unrighteous deal. Some said it would be submitted back to the people for a vote, but this they knew would not do, for the people would vote it out. No, that would have been fair, instead they say let's run over them for they are Pops, and we don't like them. Talk about disfranchisement! Were we not disfranchised in this matter? Now, let us take a look in the Bible on those men. Psalms 37:10-21; Matt. 27:4; Daniel 7:5.

Now comes the constitutional convention. Brethren, can't you see it plain? Let us look at the other side of the promise. Read the following: Daniel 7:26, 27; Psalm 37 through; Rev. 2:26; Matt. 19:8; Luke 22:30; 1 Cor. 6:1-4. For fear that I will be too tedious I will ask all the good people to come out of any such party and not help them in their unfair doings. You see the Dems. will stoop to anything to carry out their dirty deeds.

FOR THE RIGHT.

Jumbo, Feb. 18, 1901

Editor Banner—I saw a signal star in the south and also saw it last year just about this time. It is just about a half-hour high at 8 o'clock. It goes up and down, then back and forth towards the east and then west. Would be glad you would put this in The Banner. It reminds me of a signal car light. Yours to please

E. W. WILLIS.

Hon. H. W. Caffey, a most prominent Democrat, is the first Democrat to announce for delegate from Chilton county to the convention. He was formerly probate judge of Lowndes county and has many friends in this county who would like to see him elected. Judge Caffey is a man of experience, and well informed as to the best interests of the people. He is conservative and will make a fit representative for all classes and reflect honor upon his adopted county.—Selma Morning Times.

We note from the Clanton Banner that Dr. W. H. Caffey, of Verbena is a candidate for delegate from Chilton to the Constitutional convention. The Doctor is well qualified for the place and no better choice could be made. He was the first Democratic probate judge of Lowndes county after the civil war. —Prattville Progress.

Will Boom His Business.

S. Laval, a merchant of Dallas, Tex. writes: "I thought I would have to give up business, after two years of suffering from general debility brought on by overwork and long hours, but four bottles of Electric Bitters gave me a new life. I can now eat anything, sleep well and feel like working all the time. It's the best medicine on earth." It's a wonderful tonic and health builder for tired, weak sickly and run-down people. Try it. Satisfaction guaranteed. Only 50c at Clanton drug store.

Resolutions of Respect.

Clanton Lodge, No. 423.
Feb. 2, 1901

Your Committee appointed to draft suitable resolutions in memory of our Brother, John Richard Kemp, beg leave to submit the following:

Whereas, it has pleased the Grand Master of the universe to call from labor below to refreshment above our esteemed Brother, J. R. Kemp, who was born on the 24th day of June, 1839, and departed this life on the 17th day of January, 1901, being at the time of his death 61 years old. He was made an Entered Apprentice in Benson Lodge, A. F. & A. M. No. 103, passed July 6th, 1878, in Clanton Lodge, A. F. & A. M. No. 423, and raised to the sublime degree of Master Mason, by Clanton Lodge No. 423, December 7th, 1898, and

Whereas, Brother Kemp was a kind and affectionate husband, a loving and indulgent father, a good and accommodating neighbor, a charitable and constant friend, an honest and honorable citizen, and a true and tried Mason, beloved by all and loved most by those who knew him best, therefore be it resolved,

First, That with sad hearts we humbly bow to this Divine mandate, feeling that our loss is his great gain, and that He who doeth all things well is too good to do wrong and too wise to err, resolved,

Second, That we, as members and brethren of this Lodge, while we bow in humble submission to the will of the great Architect of the universe, do indulge the hope that when our Brother's work was called to pass the test of an unerring square, it was found well formed, true and trusty, a perfect ashler, worthy a place in the Temple above, whose maker and builder is God, and that we will strive to emulate his virtues and profits by them, covering his faults, whatever they may have been, with the broad mantle of a Mason's charity, remembering that it human to err, but Divine to forgive, resolved,

Third, That in the death of Bro. Kemp, his wife has lost a kind and true husband, his children a loving and devoted father, and to all the relatives of the deceased, we tender the condolence of our sincerest and heartfelt sympathy, and would in this hour of sad bereavement point them for comfort to our Heavenly Father, who careth for the widow and orphan, resolved,

Fourth, That a copy of these resolutions be furnished the bereaved family of our dear Brother, and a copy sent to The Banner for publication.

W. D. SARTOR
J. W. MOORE } Committee.
W. I. MULLINS

To Jno. W. A. Sanford Camp, United Confederate Veterans:

Your Committee to whom was referred the matter of the death of our late comrade J. R. Kemp, have had the same under consideration, and beg leave to report

First in the death of our late comrade, this Camp has lost one of its most worthy and respected members. Comrade Kemp was a true and faithful soldier, a good citizen and a loyal friend.

That a page of the minutes of this Camp be set apart to the memory of our dead comrade.

Respectfully submitted,
ROB'T H. KNOX
JNO. F. FULLER

Working Overtime.

Eight hour laws are ignored by those tireless, little workers—Dr King's New Life Pills. Millions are always at work, night and day, curing Indigestion, Biliousness, Constipation, Sick Headache and all Stomach, Liver and Bowel troubles. Easy, pleasant, safe, sure. Only 25c at Clanton drug store.

Hon. J. H. Parker of Wetumpka, was in the city yesterday on business before the Supreme Court. He was formerly State Senator from his Senatorial District and last year was nominated by the Senatorial District for the proposed Constitutional Convention he is very warmly urged for renomination and from present appearances he will be called on to aid in forming a new State Constitution.—Advertiser.

Cheaper Than Ever

SPRING GOODS COMING

ALL WINTER GOODS MUST BE SOLD UNDER COST.

BIG LINE OF CLOTHING:

Men's Suits : : : from $3 up
Boys' " : : : : " 98c up

SHOES, DRY GOODS, etc.

NOW IS YOUR TIME TO BUY.

H. TOURO, Clanton.

W. H. Sartor, Clanton

Dealer in Everything for Everybody

NOTICE

To the taxpayers of Beat Four.

Those of you who have failed to assess your taxes for the year 1901 will please call at the circuit Clerk's office when in clanton, where you will find me and my books at any time up to March 20, 1901.

M. F. LETT, Dep. Tax As'r.

Shoos the cough and Works off the Cold.

Laxative Bromo-Quinine Tablets cure a cold in one day. No Cure No Pay. Price 25 cents.

Do you want a mounted map of Alabama in five colors, size 24x34, giving census of every county and town? Also, a complete and correct map of the world, same size? You can get the same by sending 75 cents for one year's subscription to the Birmingham Weekly Age-Herald: Or, $2 for three months' subscription to The Daily Age-Herald. The map and the paper will be promptly sent upon receipt of P. O. or express money order. Address

AGE-HERALD,
Birmingham, Ala.

The claim of other cough medicines to be as good as Chamberlain's are effectually set at rest in the following testimonial of Mr. C. D. Glass, an employe of Bartlett & Dennis Co., Gardiner, Me. He says: "I had kept adding to a cold and cough in the winter of 1897, trying every cough medicine I heard of without permanent help, until one day I was in the drug store of Mr Honlehan and he advised me to try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and offered to pay back my money if I was not cured. My lungs and bronchial tubes were very sore at this time, but I was completely cured by this remedy, and I have since always turned to it when I got a cold, and soon find relief. I also recommend it to my friends and am glad to say it is the best of all cough medicines." For sale by Clanton Drug Co., and P. I. Dearmus, Verbena

Administrator's Notice.

The State of Alabama } Probate Court.
Chilton County }

The 5th day of February 1901.

This day came O. S. Welch, the administrator of the Estate of L. A. Welch, deceased, and filed his statements, accounts, vouchers and evidences for an annual statement of his administration of said estate according to law.

It is therefore ordered by the Court that the 4th day of March, 1901, be and it is hereby appointed a day on which to make such settlement, at which time all persons interested can appear and contest the said settlement if they think proper.

S. M. ADAMS, Judge of Probate.

Final Proof Notice.

Notice No. 3171.
Department of the Interior,
Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
January 18th 1901.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Clerk of the Circuit Court, at Clanton, Ala., on March 2nd, 1901, viz: John W. Oaks. Homestead entry, No. 20673, for the N½ of Section 32, Township 22 north of Range 16 east.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz.: J. W. Jones, W. C. B. Wyatt, T. J. Wyatt W. L. Bates, all of Clanton, Ala.

ROBERT BURKE, Register.

C. R. MULLINS

AGENT FOR THE LIVERPOOL & LONDON & GLOBE FIRE INSURANCE OF ENGLAND, THE LONDON & LANCASHIRE FIRE INSURANCE CO. OF NEW YORK, formerly represented by W. L. Samples.

THE ÆTNA ACCIDENT INSURANCE CO. OF HARTFORD, CONN. THE OLD MUTUAL BENEFIT LIFE INSURANCE CO. OF NEWARK, N. J. AND THE SINGER MANUFACTURING CO., the largest Sewing Machine Company in the world.

We know you are interested in the problem of getting full value for the money you spend no matter what the outlay is for. I will not presume to advise you along all lines, but when it comes to buying a Sewing Machine for yourself and family I am in a position to give some valuable suggestions. For over fifty years the Company has done nothing but study the needs and requirements of the people in the matter of Sewing Machines, and our large business is proof that we are making and furnishing what they want. The styles are the very latest, unsurpassed in lasting qualities and, best of all, the prices are reasonable, and the terms within the reach of all. We are placing our machines in the leading families all over the land and if you want the best lonzing, the lightest running and the best set of attachments ever bought, call for the High Arm Singer. You will find a complete stock of these machines at the Singer Office, Clanton.

Machines from $5.00 to $05.00 for cash or on time. Needles, Bands, Oils, Shuttles and Attachments, and the best and only genuine Machine Oil manufactured, every bottle bearing the above trade mark. 10, 15 and 20 cent bottles.

My regular office days are Saturdays and Mondays. For further particulars call on or address

C. R. MULLINS,
SINGER OFFICE CLANTON

A WHOLESALE HOUSE FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE CONSUMER

We save you the Retailer's profit. We sell direct to the People at the same price that your Retailer pays for his goods. We buy direct from the Manufacturer and pay cash for our goods. You can buy one bottle from us at the same price your Retailer pays per dozen. $1 preparations, 50 to 75c. 50c preparations, 25 to 40c. 25c preparations, 10 to 20c. 15c preparations, 7 to 12c. 10c preparations, 6 to 8c.

OUR WHISKEY DEPARTMENT

Is the best in the State. All whiskey sold 25 per cent less than you can buy from any other firm. Try a quart of our J. MARTIN'S 5 YEAR OLD VIRGINIA RYE at 75c, if you are not satisfied that it is equal to any brand you buy elsewhere for $1, we will refund your money. Send us your orders. We are your friend and guarantee everything we sell.

COLLIER DRUG CO. 1926 First Avenue BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

NEW AND BIGGER STOCK!

To meet the increasing demands of our business we are now laying in a NEW and full line of

CLOTHING, HATS, SHOES, ETC.

all in the Latest styles and Newest Fashions.

Our GROCERIES and GENERAL MERCHANDISE are of the finest grade and always fresh.

OUR PRICES ARE BASED ON THE SMALLEST MARGIN OF PROFIT.

WE SHALL BE PLEASED TO SERVE YOU

KEMP & GILES, Clanton, Ala.

$10,000 TO BE GIVEN AWAY

WOULD YOU LIKE TO TRY FOR IT

If so, write THE WEEKLY ADVERTISER, Montgomery, Ala., for a sample copy and they will send you the list of prizes, and the conditions upon which you may get one of their great prizes to be given away during next May.

TOWN ITEMS

[illegible] court [illegible] to February, not Monday in [illegible] Monday in June [illegible] Monday in November.

CLANTON COTTON MART

[illegible] to-day 8¾ cents.

[illegible] same date last year-8 5/8 cents

RECEIVED TO DATE:	1900	1899
[illegible]kard & Co.	2806	2820
[illegible]lins	1984	1967
[illegible]	872	321
[illegible]	385	324
Total	5017	5502

[illegible] J. B. Pounds, we are glad [illegible], although far from well, [illegible]ficiently recovered to be [illegible] to resume his duties in the [illegible]ature on Monday.

[illegible] R. L. Martin of Big Springs, [illegible] was a welcome visitor here [illegible]ek.

[illegible] L. H. Reynolds was in [illegible] Monday.

[illegible] Tom Evans, of Birmingham, [illegible] relatives here Sunday.

[illegible] W. M. Martin, of Russell[illegible] visited his cousin, Mr. W. [illegible]dams this week.

[illegible] G. L. Phillips is visiting [illegible]ughter at Prattville.

[illegible] Pletcher, of Pletcher, was [illegible] Tuesday.

[illegible] Evans Pinckard went to [illegible]ngham Saturday.

[illegible] E. C. McMorries spent Sun[illegible] with friends in Birmingham.

[illegible] Tipton Mullins was in Mont[illegible]ry this week.

[illegible] Geo. A. Dennis, of Mont[illegible], was a visitor here Sunday.

[illegible]NOW WHAT YOU ARE TAKING [illegible] you take Grove's Tasteless [illegible] Tonic because the formula is [illegible]y printed on every bottle [illegible]ng that it is simply Iron and [illegible]ne in a tasteless form. No [illegible] No Pay. 50c.

[illegible] Friday last nine members of [illegible]asonic fraternity of Clanton [illegible] over to Montevallo and were [illegible]ed in the mysteries of Royal [illegible] Master, by the Chapter [illegible] of Montevallo. A chapter [illegible] will now be formed at Clan[illegible]sisting of those who were [illegible]ed, viz: Guy Higgins, W. [illegible]ridge, A. C. Smith, Dr. O. [illegible]ichart, J. P. VanDerveer, [illegible] Sartor, W. I. Mullins, Dr. [illegible] Matthews, C. J. Stewart.

[illegible]—For the present I have [illegible]ed to W. Kanter's store. [illegible]nd see me. L. D. Popwell.

[illegible] T. J. Duncan, of Nashville, [illegible] been spending several days [illegible] the family of Dr. Stewart.

[illegible] J. W. Edwards went to the [illegible]l city Monday on business.

[illegible] R. H. Knox went to Mont[illegible]y Tuesday.

[illegible]LTON county has a new tax [illegible]issioner, Mr. W. M. Adams, [illegible]nton, was appointed yester[illegible]

[illegible] N. A. Logan has removed [illegible]ily from Strasburg to Clan[illegible]

[illegible] K. BOY. The pedigree of [illegible]ne bull, owned by Mr. W. [illegible] Wilson, is as follows: Sire, [illegible]; dam, Golden Sue, drop[illegible] March 5 1898. Its registered [illegible]er is 57988.

[illegible] Clinton Drug Co., will re[illegible] your money if you are not [illegible]ed after using Chamberlain's [illegible]ach and Liver Tablets. They [illegible] orders of the stomach, bil[illegible]ess, constipation and head[illegible]. Price 25 cents. Samples [illegible]

[illegible]arriage licenses have been issued [illegible]eek by the Probate Judge to [illegible] following persons.

[illegible] J. F. Durden and Miss Julia [illegible]ley; Mr. J. W. Walker and [illegible] Annie Bowman; Mr. E. H. [illegible]gate and Miss Mary C. Caffey, [illegible]olored; John S. Nully and [illegible]e May Campbell; Eddie Shel[illegible]nd Mary Steele.

THE [illegible]ITAE ORE PREPARATIONS

[illegible]on sale by [illegible]ampbelle Drug Co., Clanton, [illegible] Horn, Thorsby. [illegible] A. Avers, Clanton. N. A. LOGAN, [illegible]eral Agent for Chilton and [illegible]helby counties, Thorsby, Ala.

[illegible] O. K. Lunch Counter

[illegible]LS AND LUNCHES SERVED AT ALL HOURS AT POPULAR PRICES

[illegible] and Oysters during the Season [illegible]pay highest market price for [illegible]kens and Eggs.

[illegible]NCHES PUT UP FOR TRAVELERS

[illegible]E O. K. LUNCH COUNTER [illegible]T THE RAILROAD, CLANTON. W. H. STACY, Proprietor.

FALL GOODS

Now on sale and daily arriving a large and varied stock of goods. Prices as low as can be made on reliable merchandise and we spare no efforts to please you. Give us a call and let us figure with you on anything you want to buy. Coffins kept in stock and also trimmings for home made coffins.

E. M. PINCKARD & CO

Why try to stick things with something that doesn't stick? Buy MAJOR'S CEMENT; you know it sticks. Nothing breaks away from it. Stick to MAJOR'S CEMENT. Buy once, you will buy forever. There is nothing as good; don't believe the substitutes.

MAJOR'S RUBBER and MAJOR'S LEATHER. Two separate examples, the best. Insist on having them. ESTABLISHED 1876. 15 and 25 cents per bottle at all druggists.

MAJOR CEMENT CO., NEW YORK CITY.

BACK ACHE and Rheumatism relieved by Dr. Miles' Nerve Plasters. What stops Neuralgia? Dr. Miles' Pain Pills.

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS DESIGNS COPYRIGHTS &C.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York. Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

NEW ROYAL.

High-arm Light running. Warranted 10 years. $28 and $30.

FIVE DRAWER $32.

The New Royal is not a cheap machine, but a high-class machine made out of good material, all parts adjustable and ball bearing; has a good set of steel attachments and all of them work well.

I will exchange the New Royal for old machines and allow the full value of the old machine. Come and see me. I can sell you a machine as cheap as you can buy in Clanton.

Some secondhand machines from $5 up. Send me 25 cents in silver or stamps and an old needle for sample and I will send you 1 doz. needles to fit your machine.

REPAIR WORK GUARANTEED.

L. D. POPWELL, CLANTON.

"KRUMP'S KORNER."

The owner of this Korner has again returned to it, after wandering many days in foreign lands older, uglier and we trust a little wiser in some respects. He rejoices at his return, and would be glad to see all of the good and bad people of Chilton county. I only ask don't all of you come same day, as I have not got enough to go round for dinner. I have enough yarns however to make up shortness in grubb. Come to see me anyhow and we will talk it over, and no charge for the yarns. Please remember I keep all things the farmer needs, and I will sell him

A sewing machine, a wagon, or a buggy,
A suit, a hat, a pair shoes or a knife,
Or he can call himself very lucky,
If he will just bring his wife.

Yours for health,

T. U. CRUMPTON

MAPLESVILLE, ALA.

HELP WANTED

to reduce my big stock of goods.

I have just returned from the Northern markets, where I purchased some Extraordinary Bargains

and am now offering the good People of Chilton such values as they have never known before.

READ THESE PRICES:

Dry Goods

Calicoes	from 4 cts up
Sheeting	from 5 cts up
Percale, one yard wide	7c
Black Sateen	8½c
Bleaching	from 5 cts up
Cotton Checks	5c
Ducking	per yard 5c
Gingham, best	per yard 5c

Clothing

The biggest line for the least money ever known.

Hats

Men's first-class Hats, $1.50 hat for	$1.00
Men's	75 ct hat for 49c
Men's	50 ct hat for 34
Men's	25 ct hat for 15
Caps	10

Shoes

Ladies' Shoes, Spring heel, Tan	$1.00
Ladies' Oil grain	$1.00
Ladies' Fine Shoes, a $2.00 shoe	$1.35

Men's Shoes, a $2.00 shoe for	$1.40

Trunks, Valises, &c.

Gent's Furnishings

Shirts, White Linen bosom	each 25c
Linen Collars, any shape	each 8c
Celluloid Collars	each 5c
Hosiery	from 5 cts up
Suspenders	from 5 cts up
Handkerchiefs	3 for 5 cts and up
Neckwear, 250 styles, a 50 c Tie for	25c
Umbrellas, 50 c value for	39c

Notions

Best Assorted Ribbons at half price
Lace, 5 c value	2c
Corsets, 50 c value	35
Corsets, 35 c value	22
Ladies' Belts	from 5 cts up
Scissors, a 50 c pair	20
Towels	from 10 cts up
Pearl Buttons	1 dozen for 5c
Garterwear	per yard 5c

GROCERIES

Come and select what you want from this mammoth stock.

First Come, First Served!

YOURS TO PLEASE,

W. KANTER, Clanton

Wamben & Peterson

CONTRACTORS AND BUILDERS

HOUSE MOVING A SPECIALTY

—DEALER IN—

ALL BUILDING MATERIALS--SASH, DOORS, BLINDS, MANTELS, ETC.

OFFICE ON JONES ST OPPOSITE BICK'S

THORSBY.

—CALL AT THE—

CASH STORE

FOR BARGAINS,

THORSBY, ALA.

OUR CASH PRICES SUBJECT TO CHANGE WITHOUT NOTICE.

15 lbs. Granulated Sugar	$1.00	12 bushel sack Meal	1.20
1 bbl Red Seal Patent Flour	4.50	1 gal water white 150 fire test oil	18
½ bbl " " "	2.25	1 lb Ham	15
24 lb sack " " "	60	Whole Ham, per pound	13
1 bbl Straight Family Flour	3.50	Bacon and Bulk	10-12
14 lb sk Family Flour	50	1 lb Lard	10
100 lbs Bran	1.10	50 lbs Lard	4.50

We are handling Minneapolis Flour. Soda Crackers and Sweet Crackers, Ginger Snaps, Cheese, Lemons, Irish Potatoes always in stock. Also best Dried Fruits in the market. Also handle Roller Champion and I. E. M. Flour.

Dry Goods, Clothing, Hardware and the very best Staple and Fancy Groceries.

Fresh Fish and Oysters every Saturday.

We take Eggs, Butter, Corn, Meal, Fruit and Chickens at the highest market price in exchange for goods.

Yours to please,

A. M. JOHNSON, Manager

Everyone to His Taste.

And I am pleased to say that your taste and Everyone's taste can be suited at my Store, where you will find the

choicest Line of Fancy Groceries

AND CANNED GOODS

Always Fresh and New. I have no old Stock. Dry Goods, Hats, Shoes, Gents Furnishing Goods, Fancy line of Shirts and Underwear, Notions, Hardware and General Merchandise.

Yours to serve faithfully and well,

B. E. JONES CLANTON

BILL ARP'S LETTER.

Long Lost Autograph Album Is Returned to Bartow Man.

ITS CONTENTS REVIVE OLD MEMORIES

List Begins With Verses Written By Bill To a School Girl Fifty-Four Years Ago.

"An album's pages tell of many a friend
Lost to the sight, but to the memory dear."

Those lines are the beginning of some verses I wrote in a school girl's album fifty-four years ago. The little book is near me now. It is old and war-worn and it makes me sad to turn its leaves and read the pretty verses that adorn its pages. The authors were her best friends and are all dead but one—the one now writing this letter. "Friend after friend departs—who has not lost a friend?" This album was captured during the uncivil war and carried away to Babylon and kept a prisoner in a strange land for twenty-one years and then was returned, through the mail. It takes conscience a long time to bring repentance to some people.

That school girl is my wife—she is now sitting by her window sewing, making a little dress for a grandchild. Will she never stop making little garments? I asked Jessie last night how many garments it took for her little Caroline in each and every year, and she counted them up—eight little dresses, ten petticoats, four pair day drawers, two pair night drawers, and one cloak—say twenty-five garments for winter and as many more for summer, and she makes most all of them herself. My wife has done all this for ten children until they were fifteen years old. Fifty times ten makes 500, and 500 times 15 makes 7,500 garments and she still keeps working on. But she is not worn out nor thin nor pale nor haggard nor is her eye dimmed when she has on her gold-bound glasses.

Oh, these good old mothers! Mine did the same thing for her flock and my wife's mother the same for hers, and so do they all—except some.

loved my mother dearly, but it grieves me sometimes that I did not love her better, for I did not realize how much she did for me and how her very soul was wrapped up in her children. Stop, young man, stop and think, when you are far away from home rollicking and frolicking with your gay companions—stop sometimes, stop and think of your good mother and write to her a loving letter. Hopeful and sad she waits for every mail and never despairs.

But about albums. A friend has left his with me for perusal—one of these old time mental photographic albums with about twenty questions to be answered. I have seen them before and was amused at the answers, but this one interested me for its pages contain an autobiography of many noble and notable men. It tells a condensed story of their emotional and mental character. When a man of thought is asked to write an answer to a question he is both cautious and sincere. He knows that he is making an exhibit of his inner life to every one who reads it.

This album begins with Alex Stephens in 1874 and then follows with Robert Toombs, Herschel V. Johnson, General Kirby Smith, James R. Randall, Richard Malcom Johnson, L. Q. C. Lamar, Richard H. Clark, John B. Gordon, Thomas M. Norwood, Rev. B. M. Palmer, Henry S. Foote, Logan E. Bleckley, Robert J. Burdette, Paul H. Hayne, Joel Chandler Harris, Wallace P. Reed, Mrs. Octavia Walton Le Vert, Judge Hook, Richard A. Proctor, the great astronomer, and others. Every name is noble and notable, and their answers are indexes to their characters. Stephen's favorite books are Milton, Pope and Shakespeare, his heroine Rebecca in "Ivanhoe," his hero Washington; his occupation reading, and farming; his best trait in man is truth, and in woman modesty.

Toombs' favorites are Shakespeare and Tom Moore, Gibbons and Macauley; his characters in fiction Rienzi, in history Socrates; his favorite occupation building air castles; best trait in man justice, in woman charity; the sum of human happiness is to make others happy.

Governor Johnson likes Pope, Milton and Byron and Swedenborg, knows nothing of romance; his best characters Washington and Jefferson; his occupation reading and writing; the highest traits truth and benevolence; his watchword duty.

Kirby Smith likes Gray, Young and Tennyson, Scott, Irving and Macauley; his favorite characters Sir Gallahad and St. Paul; his favorite occupation "making love to my wife;" his best traits in man are truth and honesty; the sum of happiness contentment.

James R. Randall likes Shakespeare and Byron, Bulwer, Thackery and Macauley; his favorite character in romance is Warington in "Pendennis;" in history Fenelon; occupation reading and writing; the highest trait in man devotion to principles, in woman modesty; the sum of human happiness is resignation.

R. M. Johnson likes Byron, Scott, Keats and Mrs. Heamans, Macauley, Bulwer and Goldsmith, historic character Aurelius; occupation scribbling; sum of happiness consciousness of God's favor.

L. Q. C. Lamar liked best Byron and Burns, Macauley, Bulwer and Plutarch; best characters Greatheart in "Pilgrim's Progress;" in history Washington and Hampden; his favorite occupation teaching in college; the sum of human happiness the love of God.

Rev. B. M. Palmer preferred Shakespeare, Milton and Wordsworth, Bacon, Bulwer, Scott and Goldsmith; best characters William Prince of Orange, Washington and Lee; his favorite occupation preaching the gospel; best trait truth; sum of human happiness a good conscience.

R. J. Burdette liked Mrs. Browning, Carlyle, Thackeray; his favorite character Colonel Newcome and Cromwell; best trait sincerity; sum of happiness a home full of friends.

Henry S. Foote liked Shakespeare and Byron, Macauley and Tacitus; his favorite characters Old Mortality and Washington; the sum of happiness, conjugal felicity.

L. E. Bleckley chose Shakespeare, Byron and Tennyson, Hamilton, Mill and Pascal; his favorite characters Don Quixote and Marcus Aurelius.

John B. Gordon preferred Shakespeare, Macauley and Carlyle; his favorite characters Washington and Cato; his favorite occupation raising fine stock; best trait in man, integrity, in woman tenderness.

T. M. Norwood, Shakespeare and Byron; best trait in man honor.

Wallace P. Reed likes Shakespeare and Macauley; best character is Napoleon; best trait justice; sum of all happiness is a happy home.

Joel Chandler Harris prefers Shakespeare, Scott and Thackeray; best characters Jefferson and Lincoln; favorite occupation looking after my roses; best trait in man is honesty, in woman modesty; sum of human happiness to be at home.

All of these men name the sweetest words in our language and also the saddest. Among the last are lost—forever lost—it might have been—friendless—hopeless—forlorn, and one says most of them begin with the letter D, as disappointment, dismay, destruction, despair, debt, duns, damnation and the devil.

There are other writers in this album, but space forbids. These are enough for a young man to choose from. From these he can make up a good library, for there is not a questionable book among them.

Shakespeare and Macauley are in the lead for authors and Washington for character, truth for the best trait in man and modesty in woman. About half these men liked the early morn and the other half the twilight, except, however, L. Q. C. Lamar, who says his favorite hour is 1 o'clock at night. (I never knew before that he played poker.) Of these sixteen notable men just half are dead. Their record is made up and the book is closed. Their influence upon the present generation cannot be estimated nor over-estimated. No great or good man or woman has an adequate idea of what he or she is worth to mankind.

Last Sabbath we heard a very grand discourse upon environment from Rev. Mr. Mumford, who has established that industrial school near Macon for the rejected children of the state, those who are under the ban and whom nobody wants and nobody cares for, the children of drunken or disreputable parents and whom no orphanage will receive. The eloquent and earnest preacher declared in words that burned: "Men and women are not born, they are made! Made by their environments, their parents or their early associates."

He is going over the state gathering up the friendless and pleading with the good people to give these children a chance. "Give every friendless child a chance," he earnestly exclaimed. His text was "bear ye one another's burdens and so fulfill the law of Christ." It is a hardened heart who can listen to him and not give something. There should be another question in that album, what is the worst and most prevalent trait in mankind? And I would answer, "selfishness."—BILL ARP in Atlanta Constitution.

Gifts and bequests for public purposes are an item of increasing value in the account of American progress. During last year they aggregated $62,461,204, of which nearly $35,000,000, or considerably more than one-half, went to universities, colleges and other educational institutions. Of the remaining $27,000,000 a little more than a half went to charities, while nearly $9,000,000 went to churches. The remainder of $5,000,000 was divided about evenly among museums, art galleries and libraries. Andrew Carnegie was the largest public giver of the year, his benefactions footing up $4,225,000, of which all but $525,000 went to Pittsburgh's institute and library. The next largest public benefactors were Samuel Cupples and R. A. Brookings of St. Louis, who gave $5,000,000 to Washington university. But the list of these public givers of millions includes less than 20 names, and is quite short when the number of our multi-millionaires is considered.

Angora cats have been turned to a curious use. Mrs. Ballington Booth is breeding and trading in them to establish and maintain a reform home for convicts. This gives a practical and philanthropic form to a society fad.

And now a scientist has declared the gulf stream a myth. There are so few "real" things left to us now that the scientists will soon have to take to disproving their own theories.

AMERICA'S OLDEST CITY?

It Is Asserted That Tucson Was Settled as Early as 1550.

It will be of interest to all our Northern and Western neighbors in the sisterhood of States which Arizona is soon to enter to learn that we have in our Territory a city not only far antedating the American Revolution, but also the oldest city in the United States.

George G. H. Hilzinger, in his "Treasure Land," presents the facts in sprightly verse and prose:

"Ancient in years, but her long life well spent,
She smiles serenely at the face of time.
Sphinx like, she sat, while ages came and went,
The oldest city and the gentlest clime."

"The struggle between Santa Fe and San Augustine on the question of priority of settlement has about worn them out. San Augustine pants upon her sandy shore, while poor old Santa Fe grins disconsolately from amid her ruins. Tucson has not, heretofore, claimed anything but climate and prosperi but now she rises to explain that these two hoary-headed sinners have been wasting their declining years in trying to prove private property in what belongs to neither."

Mr. Hilzinger concedes, for the sake of argument, the claim of Santa Fe that it was settled in 1605. His description of the settlement of San Augustine is noteworthy for its sparkling originality.

"In 1562 Admiral Coligni obtained from Charles IX. of France the privilege of planting a French Protestant colony in the new world, and finally succeeded in establishing one on the River St. Johns, in Florida. The colonists had just become comfortably settled when the Spaniards, who classified heretics with agitators, pounced upon them.

"On August 28, 1565, (the same year the Spaniards entered New Mexico to Christianize the Indians), Pedro Menendez, with a company of 2400, descended upon the Huguenots and exterminated them, but left the alligators and mosquitoes.

"Philip II. was then proclaimed monarch of North America, or whatever it might thereafter be called, and * * * San Augustin (as it was then spelled) was founded with due pomp and ceremony."

Mr. Hilzinger gives the date of settlement of Tucson as 1555, some half a century earlier than the founding of Santa Fe or San Augustine. He bases his claim upon authentic documents, including a parchment discovered among the records of the old mission of San Xavier, dated 1552, when the settlement was ordered to be established, and attached to which is an account of the founding of Tucson, written in the hand of Marcos de Nina, who explored Arizona in 1539.—Phoenix Republican.

Story of "Nearer, My God, to Thee."

"As a writer, as a poet, there were few in the literary world of London (in the forties) who had not heard of Sarah Flower Adams, the gifted woman to whom all Chistendom to-day pays homage in its love for her immortal hymn 'Nearer, my God, to Thee,'" writes Clifford Howard in the Ladies' Home Journal. "It was written in 1840, and had subsequently been set to music by Eliza Flower, and included in a collection of hymns written and composed by the two sisters. Only within that year had their book of 'Hymns and Anthems, been published, and the hymn that was destined to inspire the world had then been heard but once or twice, and within the walls of a single church—South Palace Chapel, London.

"It was not, however, until after the year 1860, when the present well-known tune was composed for it by Dr. Lowell Mason, of New York, that the hymn attained it widespread popularity. Up to that time it had attracted but little notice. Through the spirit of Dr. Mason's sympathetic music it was quickened into glorious life and brought within the reach of every congregation and every Christian soul. But this was long after the author the hymn had passed away. She died in 1848, without knowing of the triumph and the glory that awaited her work. Her grave in the little village of her birth is unmarked by any monument to her fame."

Maple Sugar Getting Purer.

"You will find this season's crop of maple sugar better than ever," said the man who dealt in such things to his friend, the real estate agent, as they rode into town for the day's business.

"And why is that?" he asked. "Are the trees improving with age, or are they grafting something into them?"

"The sugar will be better because they are keeping something out of it," he began. "Butternut sugar is worth more than ever before, and the growers can't afford to mix it with their maple. You know there is a good bit more saccharine in butternut sap than in maple, and ever since there was a particularly short crop about ten years ago the farmers have been pouring the sap into their maple vats, in spite of its bitter, nutty flavor. The drug trade has found a market for butternut sugar under its own name, and this year the price is away up, while maple sugar prices will range rather low."—New York Tribune.

Electricity at St. Helena.

The Governor of St. Helena in his annual report just published expresses the belief that when the new barracks are finished it would pay a small company to erect a plant for lighting Ledder Hill and the town by electric light, worked by windmills. There is always a steady wind from the southeast traders, only nine days having been calm in 1900.

REV DR. TALMAGE

DISCOURSE BY THE EMINENT DIVINE LAST SUNDAY.

Subject: Welfare of the Body—Simple Life Conduces to Longevity—Religion the Great Renewer—Worry Hastens the Advance of Age.

(Copyright 1901.)

WASHINGTON, D. C.—In this discourse Dr. Talmage shows how any one can conquer the effect of years and grow younger in spirit; text, Psalms ciii, 5, "So that thy youth is renewed like the eagle's."

There flies out from my text the most majestic of all the feathered creation—an eagle. Other birds have more beauty of plume and more sweetness of voice, but none of them has such power of beak, such clutch of claw, such expansion of wing, such height of soaring, such wideness of dominion. Its appetite rejects the carrion that invites the vulture, and in most cases its food is fresh and clean. Leveling its neck for flight, in spiral curve, it swings itself toward the noonday sun. It has been known to live a hundred years. What concentration of all that is sublime in the golden eagle, the crested eagle, the imperial eagle, the martial eagle, the booted eagle, the Jean le Blanc eagle! But after awhile in its life comes the moulting process, and it looks ragged and worn and unattractive, and feels like moping in its nest on the high crags. But weeks go by and the old feathers are gone and new ornithological attire is put on, and its beak, which was overgrown, has the surplus of bone beaten off against the rocks, and it gets back its old capacity for food, and again it mounts the heavens in unchallenged and boundless kingdoms of air and light. David, the author of the text, had watched these monarchs of the sky, and knew their habits, and one day, exulting in his own physical and spiritual rejuvenescence, he says to his own soul: "You are getting younger all the time. You make me think of an eagle which I saw yesterday, just after its molting season, swinging through the valley of Jehoshanhat and then circling around the head of Mount Olivet. O my soul, 'thy youth is renewed like the eagle's.'"

The fact is that people get old too fast. They allow the years to run away with them. The almanac and the family record discourage them. Some of you are older than you have any business to be. You ought to realize that as the body gets older the soul ought to get younger. Coming on toward old age you are only in the molting season, and after that you will have better wings, take higher flight and reign in clearer atmosphere. Our religion bids us to look after the welfare of the body as well as of the soul, and the first part as well as the latter part of my subject is appropriate for the pulpit.

Many might turn the years backward and get younger by changing their physical habits. The simpler life one lives the longer he lives. Thomas Parr, of Shropshire, England, was a plain man and worked on a farm for a livelihood. At 120 years of age he was at his daily toil. He lived under nine kings of England. When 152 years of age he was heard of in London. The king desired to see him, and ordered him to the palace, where he was so richly and royally treated that it destroyed his health, and he died at 152 years and nine months of age.

When Dr. Harvey, the discoverer of the circulation of the blood, made post mortem examination of Thomas Parr, he declared there were no signs of senile decay in the body. The man must have renewed his youth, like the eagle, again and again.

All occupations and professions have afforded illustrations of rejuvenescence. Hippocrates, the father of medicine, lived 109 years, and among those eminent in the medical profession who became septuagenarians and octogenarians and nonagenarians were Darwin, Gall, Boerhaave, Jenner and Ruysch, observing themselves the laws of health that they taught their patients.

In art and literature and science among those who lived into the eighties were Plato and Franklin and Carlyle and Goethe and Buffon and Halley. Sophocles reached the nineties.

You cannot tell how old a man is from the number of years he has lived. I have known people actually boyish in their dispositions at eighty years of age, while Louis II., King of Hungary, died of old age at twenty.

Haydn's oratoria, "The Creation," was composed at seventy years of age. Humboldt wrote his immortal work, "The Cosmos," at seventy-five. William Cullen Bryant, at eighty-two years of age, in my house, read without spectacles "Thanatopsis," which he had composed when eighteen years of age. Isocrates did illustrious work at ninety-four.

Liontinus Gorgias was busy when death came to him at 107 years of age. Herschel at eighty years of age was hard at work in stellar exploration. Masinissa, king of Numidia, at ninety years of age, led a victorious cavalry charge against the Carthaginians.

Titian was engaged on his greatest painting when he died in his one hundredth year. How often they must have renewed their youth!

But the average longevity of those in private life, and with less mental strain and no conspicuous success, is much larger than the average longevity of the renowned. There are hundreds of thousands of men and women now renewing their youth like the eagle's, so that the possibility of such a turning back of the years is all around us being demonstrated.

Bismarck, the greatest of German statesmen, a long while before his decease, passed his eightieth milestone. When Gladstone was eighty-three years of age, I ran with him up and down the hills of Harwarden. We started for a walk, but it got to be a run. All those men again and again renewed their youth.

Some one writes me, "Is not threescore and ten the bound of human life, according to the Bible?" My reply is that Moses (not David), who wrote that psalm, was giving a statistic of his own day.

Through better understanding of the laws of health and advancement of medical science the statistics of longevity have mightily changed since the time of Moses, and the day is coming when a nonagenarian will no longer be a wonder. Phlebotomy shortened the life of whole generations, and the lancet that bled for everything is now rarely taken from the doctor's pocket.

Dentistry has given power of healthy mastication to the human race, and thus added greatly to the prolongation of life. Electric lights have improved human sight, which used to be strained by the dim tallow candle. The dire diseases which under other names did their fatal work, and were considered almost incurable now in a majority of cases are conquered.

Vaccination, which has saved millions of lives and balked the greatest scourge of nations, and surgery, which has advanced more than any other science, have done more than can be told for the prolongation of human life.

The X-ray has turned the human body, which was opaque, into a lighted castle. It is easier in this age to renew one's youth than in any other age.

But the body is the smallest and least important part of you. It is your soul that most needs rejuvenation, but that will also help bodily vivification. In order to do this I advise you to banish as far as possible all fretfulness out of your life. The doing of that will make you ten years younger. I know many good, Christian people who are worrying themselves out in managing the affairs of the universe. They have undertaken too big a job. They are trying to drive too long and fiery a team. They have all the affairs of church and state on hand, and they fret about this and fret about that and fret about the other thing. They fear that China will be divided up among the nations and there will be an entanglement causing wars such as we have never heard of. They fear that Edward VII. will not be as wise a king as his mother was a queen. They are appalled at the accumulated national debt. They fear society is going to pieces by reason of immoralities. They apprehend that America will be overcrowded with foreigners. They say the newspapers are getting so bad that this country is going to be utterly demoralized. They are all the time apprehensive of social and religious and political calamity, and it is telling on their mental health, depressing their physical health, and, instead of renewing their youth like the eagle's, they are imitating the eagle who would sit in his nest of sticks lined with grass on the rock, mourning about the woes of the ornithological world, the loneliness of the pelican, the filthiness of the vulture, the croak of the raven, the recklessness of the albatross. Would that improve things? No. It would be a molting process for that eagle which would never close, and it would only get thinner and more gloomy and less able to gain food for its young and less able to enjoy a land scape as it appears under a twenty mile flight on a summer morning under the blue heavens.

I do not advise you to be indifferent to these great questions that pertain to church and state and nations, but not to fret about them. Realize that it is not an anarchy that has charge of affairs in this world, but a divine government. At the head of this universe is a King whose eye is omniscience and whose heart is infinite love. His government is not going to be a failure. He cannot be defeated. Better trust Him in the management of this world and of all worlds. All you and I have to do is to accomplish the work that is put in our hands. That is all we have to be responsible for. In a well managed orchestra the players upon stringed and wind instruments do not watch each other. The cornetist does not look to see how the violinist is drawing the bow over the strings, nor does the flute player scrutinize the drum. They all watch the baton of the leader. And we are all carrying our part, however insignificant it may be, in the great harmony.

My text suggests that heaven is an eternal youth. A cycle of years will not leave any mark upon the immortal nature. Eternity will not work upon the soul in heaven any change unless it be more radiance and more wisdom and more rapture. A rolling on from glory to glory! In anticipation of that some of the happiest people on earth are aged Christians. The mightiest testimonies have been given by the veterans in the gospel army. While some of the aged have allowed themselves to become morose and cynical and impatient with youth and pessimistic about the world and have become possessed with the spirit of scold and fault finding, and are fearful of being crowded out of their sphere many of the aged have been glad to step aside that others may have a chance and are hopeful about the world, expecting its redemption instead of its demolition, and they are inspiration and comfort and helpfulness to the household and to the neighborhood, and to the church. The children hail the good old man as he comes down the road. His smile, his words, his manner, his whole life, make the world think better of religion.

What a good thing it is, all ye aged Christians, that you can soon get rid of dulled ear and sight that requires strong eyeglasses and infirmities which make you hold on to the banister, leaving you panting at the head of the stairs, and enter a land of eternal health, where the most rubicund cheek of robust life on earth would be emaciation compared with the vigor of the immortals. What a good thing to get beyond being misunderstood and blamed for what you could not help, and picked at by a hard world, and then pass into a heavenly society where all think well of each other, and friendships are eternal, depreciation and slander and backbiting unknown, for the gate of heaven was shut against them in the statement, "Without are dogs." What a good thing to have satisfying and glorious explanation of things that puzzled you twenty or forty or eighty years, to have the interrogation point abolished and all mystery solved and God's government vindicated, and you will see why He allowed sin and sorrow to come into the world, and why the bad were permitted to live so long and the good were cut off in the time of their greatest usefulness, and why so many of the consecrated find life a struggle, while many of the infamous ride prosperously, princes afoot and beggars a-horseback, and the last honest question shall have been answered.

Gibbon in his history says that Mohammed had a dream in which he thought that, mounted on the horse Borak, he ascended the seven heavens and approached within two bow shots of the throne and felt a cold that pierced him to the heart when his shoulder was touched by the hand of God. That might do for Mohammed's heaven, but not for a Christian heaven. No cold hand put upon your shoulder there, no cold hand of repulse or doubt, but the warm hand of welcome, the warm hand of saintly communion, the warm hand of God.

I congratulate all Christians who are in the eventide. Good cheer to all of you. Your best days are yet to come. You are yet to hear the best songs, see the grandest sights, take the most delightful journeys, form the most elevating friendships, and after 10,000 years of transport you will be no nearer the last rapture than when you were thrilled with the first.

In heaven you will have what most pleases you. Archbishop Leighton's desire for heaven was a desire for Christ and purity and love, and he has found there what he wanted. John Foster rejoiced at the thought of heaven, because there he could study the secrets of the universe without restraint, and he has been regaling himself in that search. Southey thought of heaven as a place where he would meet with the learned and the great—Chaucer and Dante and Shakespeare. He no doubt has found that style of communion. That great and good Dr. Dick was fond of mathematics, and he said he thought much of the time in heaven would be given to that study, and I have no doubt that since ascension he has made advancement in that science. The "twelve manner of fruits" spoken of in Revelation means all kinds of enjoyment in heaven, for twelve manner of fruits includes all the chief fruits that are grown on trees. I suppose there will be as many kinds of enjoyment as there will be inhabitants.

You will have in heaven just what you want. Are you tired? Then heaven will be rest. Are you passionately fond of sweet sounds? Then it will be music. Are you stirred by pictures? There will be all the colors on the new heavens, on the jasper sea, and the walls imbedded with what splendors! Are you fond of great architecture? There you will find the temple of God and the Lamb and the uplifted thrones. Are you longing to get back to your loved ones who have ascended? Then it will be reunion. Are you a home body? Then it will be home. Here and there in this world you will find some one who now lives where he was born, and three or four generations may have dwelt in the same house, but most people have had several homes—the home of childhood, the home they built or rented for their early manhood, the home of riper and more prosperous years. But all homes put together, precious as they are in remembrance, or from present occupancy, cannot equal the heavenly home in the house of many mansions. No sickness will ever come there, for it is promised "there shall be no more pain." No parting at the front door, no last look at faces never to be seen again, but home with God, home with each other, home, forever.

THE SABBATH SCH

INTERNATIONAL LESSON COM FOR MARCH 3.

Subject: Jesus Betrayed, John xviii, 14—Golden Text, Matt. xxvi, Memory Verses, 9-11—Comm on the Day's Lesson.

1. "Had spoken these words" discourse and prayer recorded in Jo 15, 16 and 17. "Went the brook Cedron." Or Kedron. This was stream that flowed to the east jerusalem, through the valley of Jo and divided the city from the Mount Olives. "Where was a garden" mane, which means "oil press" near the foot of the western slope yet, and was probably an enclosed vineyard, containing a press and tower. "He entered and his disciples." John passes over the circumstances nected with the entering and agony of Christ in the garden, probably it was so fully described by the evangelists. Also last been.

2. "Judas knew the place" us that this very week they had their nights on the Mount of Olives 21: 37), and having been there with the Master Judas was familiar His resting places; yet he was able to meet Him in that sacred place there betray Him. What a picture fallen nature!

3. "Having received a band of Judas received the Roman cohort consisted of from 300 to 600 men, tered in the tower of Antonia and the peace of the city. "Lanterns and weapons." The ordinary equipment for night duty. The Roman soldiers armed with swords, the Jewish officers with stones. With the Romans came also a great multitude. Men in

4. "Knowing all things." He was taken unaware, but voluntarily gave Himself up. "Whom seek ye?" He wishes have them own distinctly their purpose design. He speaks to make them state their object, and then to show that can attain it only by His permission. Christ "went forth" from the company of the disciples, and facing the man soldiers asked them, "Whom ye?"

5. "Jesus of Nazareth." The answer may perhaps reveal the light in which Judas had represented Jesus to the man authorities; "of Nazareth," a place lean prone to revolt. "I am He" no farther; I am the One for whom are searching. "Judas stood with them." That is, with the band of soldiers. Judas had been agreed upon as a signal to the person they were seeking. The band reached the garden Judas went what in advance of them (Luke 22: and reached Jesus just as He had the three—Peter, James and John was preparing to go and meet His tors. Judas saluted Him, "Hail, so as to be heard by the rest, and Him repeatedly, loudly, effusively 26: 49. The Saviour submitted to dignity, not stopping, but only saying He passed on: "Friend" (not the ing word, but "companion"), "for which thou art here" (Matt. and then, perhaps in answer to His tioning gesture, "Judas, with a kiss credest thou up the Son of Man" 22: 48.

6. "Went backward and fell" was the manifestation of superhuman power. The divine majesty of Jesus from His intimate communion with the unexpected boldness of inspired smote terror into hearts conscious of

7. "Whom seek ye?" The question repeated, perhaps in irony. Why the hibition of power? 1. To show that surrendered Himself willingly, as to plans and not to man's power. 2. To attention away from His disciples to self. 3. It gave courage and faith disciples in after days, to know the of Jesus, and that He could use would. See Matt. 26: 53, 54.

8. "I have told you." An intimate the armed crowd what plaything might be in His hand. "Let these way." Let the disciples go their was necessary that they should carry on the work, and Christ prophesied protect them from all harm. These words of authority, not of entreaty.

9. "Which He spake." This has ence to the prayer just offered. John 12. "I have lost none." This is applied to the preservation of their lives; even the body is a part of Christ's charge and care. He had kept them three years. Jesus perished.

10. "Peter having a sword drew" From Luke 22: 49, we see that the disciples asked Jesus if they should strike Him with the sword. Peter did not wait for an answer, but at once begins the fense. Probably he wished by this to prove his readiness to risk his life his Lord, and to fulfill his vow (Matt. 27:31); in all probability it was also design to give a signal to the friends the Lord Himself to rise in arms against the foe. "Cut off his right ear." was a very rash act, for it compromised Jesus in His teaching that His kingdom was not of this world, but a spiritual kingdom. The external ear, though wounded, was apparently hanging on a cheek; for our Lord is said, in Luke 51, to have touched His ear in performing the healing. This was Christ's last miracle before His death.

11. "Put up thy sword." He was doing the divine plan and Christ rebuked him. "The cup which My Father hath given." What God hath arranged for us in making atonement for sin is represented as a bitter medicine put in a cup for us to drink. Exactly the amount ordained to be drunk was placed in the cup. "Shall I not drink it?" The fact that the cup was given Him by the Father was sufficient. We learn from Matt. 26: 52-54 that Jesus gave three other reasons for resisting.

12. "Then the band—took Jesus." Some of the more eager ones had taken hold of Jesus before the attempt of Peter (Matt. 26: 50); now the guard took possession of Him and led Him away. At this time not only Peter, but all the disciples forsook Jesus and fled. Peter and John alone followed Him to His place of trial.

13. "To Annas first." Because this man had formerly been high priest he was still the legitimate high priest according to the law of Moses, the office being for life (Num. 20: 28; 35: 25), and he had been so regarded by the Jews. Annas, as father-in-law to Caiaphas, doubtless exerted a strong influence over him.

14. "Caiaphas." He was a cruel self-seeking man. He was willing to destroy even an innocent person to save a nation from what he considered a great peril.

The tip-to-the-waiter agitation is not down in New York City. The latest contribution to the discussion of the subject goes to show that a large number of the best customers of the hotel restaurants have been driven away from the hotels and clubs, and thousands more will soon unless the hotel and restaurant managers shall make rules and regulations similar to those which prevail in clubs.

THANKFUL TO

Letters Proving there is No Me
Equal to Vegetable Con

(ALL LETTERS ARE PUB

I cannot say enough in regard to what it has done me. More good than all other medicine. Female weakness in its worst form. I was so weak that I could not do my work. I also had falling of the womb and suffered at menstrual periods I suffered very hard. I could not lift anything without bearing on my feet long at a time. Medicines but they did me no good. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for her, and I think it would do me any good. After taking it I can say it does all that is claimed. I have taken seven packages of Sanative Wash and have no womb trouble since taking it. For years; can do all my own housework and feel that life is worth living. I owe my health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I feel that I cannot say too much in its favor. I will do anything. I am always ready to speak for it if they will follow Mrs. Pinkham's advice.
Gratefully yours, MRS. A

CHANGE OF LIFE.

I was taken sick years ago with "La Grippe," and had a relapse and was given up by my doctor and my friends. Change of Life began to work on me. I suffered very badly until a year ago, when my stomach and lungs got so I suffered terribly; the blood backed up in my lungs and stomach, and I vomited it up. I could not digest anything. I cannot tell what I suffered with my head. My husband got me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and before I had taken half of it I began to improve, and to-day I am another woman. Lydia E. Pinkham's medicine has saved my life. I cannot praise it enough.
M. A. DENSON, Millport, N

$5000 REWARD.—We have deposited with the Publisher of this paper $5000, which will be paid to any person who shall prove that the testimonials published in our advertisements are not genuine, or were published without our authority or consent.

DYSPEPSIA
should not be endured a day longer if you can obtain Kodol. Digests what you eat. Allows the stomach to rest and recuperate. Restores the digestive organs to healthy action. Makes the stomach strong. Kodol is the strongest known digestive tonic. A specific for Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Sour Stomach, Flatulence, Heartburn, Nausea, Sick Headache, Gastralgia, Cramps, and all other results of imperfect digestion. Prepared by E. C. DEWITT & CO., CHICAGO, ILL.

A natural mineral water, unsurpassed for Kidney, Liver, Stomach and Bowel Disorders, including Gravel, Rheumatism, Gout, Malaria, Blood Diseases, Skin Diseases, Dropsy, Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Catarrh, Piles, Chronic Constipation, Etc. Kidney Complaints, Etc. Crab Orchard Water is the most active of the purer mineral waters; unsurpassed for Gravel, Stone in the Bladder, Etc. The genuine is sold by all druggists with Crab Orchard trade mark on every bottle. CRAB ORCHARD WATER CO., Louisville, Ky.

DROPSY NEW DISCOVERY quick relief and cures worst cases. 10 days' treatment free. DR. H. H. GREEN SONS, Box B, Atlanta, Ga.

Thompson's Eye W

E SABBATH SCHO

RNATIONAL LESSON COMM
FOR MARCH 3.

...ort: Jesus Betrayed. John xviii. ... — Golden Text, Matt. xxvi. ... emory Verses, 8-11 — Commentary ... the Day's Lesson.

...

Relics from University.

...F. Hickey, special agent of the ...sconsin commissioners of the Pan ...merica exposition, is arranging with ...an W. A. Henry of the agricultural ...llege of the University of Wisconsin ... an exhibit of the results of the ...rk of that college at Buffalo next ...mer. Fred Warren of Fox Lake, who ...d President McKinley a fine span of ...ing horses, will exhibit some of ...fancy stock. He has recently pur...sed a number of animals from Gen. ...orge E. Bryant, chairman of the ...te central committee, who for years ...s been breeding fine horses.

Tenements for Colored People.

...A ... in New York ... is the proposal ... tenement's for colored ... at the same price ... Heretofore colored ... obliged to pay from ... more for inferior ... than white people.

Gift $20,000 to a Negro School.

For the erection of a library building for Tuskegee institute, the school for colored pupils at Tuskegee, Ala., over which Booker T. Washington presides, Andrew Carnegie has donated $20,000. The building is to be erected entirely by student labor, and when completed will rank with the finest college libraries in the country.

About the Same Old Feeling.

"No, married life is not so different," explained the young father. "When I have been having an all-night session arguing with the baby on the question whether it is better to yell over the advent of new teeth or to sleep it off, I have much the same feeling the next morning that I used to have after a bachelor dinner."

Medical consultation. "How do you find me, doctor?" "Very bad. You are worn out and it is necessary that you give up all head work." "That would ruin me, doctor. Don't you know I'm a barber?"

THANKFUL TO MRS. PINKHAM

Letters Proving Positively that there is No Medicine for Woman's Ills Equal to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

(ALL LETTERS ARE PUBLISHED BY SPECIAL PERMISSION.)

"I cannot say enough in regard to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It has done me more good than all the doctors. I have been troubled with female weakness in its worst form for about ten years. I had leucorrhœa and was so weak that I could not do my housework.

I also had falling of the womb and inflammation of the womb and ovaries, and at menstrual periods I suffered terribly. At times my back would ache very hard. I could not lift anything or do any heavy work; was not able to stand on my feet long at a time. My husband spent hundreds of dollars for doctors but they did me no good. My husband's sister wrote what the Vegetable Compound had done for her, and wanted me to try it, but I did not then think it would do me any good. After a time, I concluded to try it, and I can truly say it does all that is claimed for it. Ten bottles of the Vegetable Compound and seven packages of Sanative Wash have made a new woman of me. I have had no womb trouble since taking the fifth bottle. I weigh more than I have in years, can do all my own housework, sleep well, have a good appetite, and now feel that life is worth living. I owe all to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I feel that it has saved my life and would not be without it for anything. I am always glad to recommend it to all my sex, for I know if they will follow Mrs. Pinkham's directions, they will be cured."

Gratefully yours, MRS. ANNIE THOMPSON, South Hot Springs, Ark.

CHANGE OF LIFE.

"I was taken sick ... years ago with ... The trouble ... had a relapse and ... was given up by ... the doctor and my ... friends. Change ... of life began to ... work on me. I ... loved very badly ... until a year ago, ... when my stomach ... and lungs got so ... bad. I suffered terribly; the blood went up in my lungs and stomach, and ... from 2 to 4 at night. I could not eat ... scarcely anything. I cannot tell what I suffered with my head. My husband got me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and before I had taken half of it I began to improve, and to-day I am another woman. Mrs. Pinkham's medicine has saved my life. I cannot praise it enough."

M. A. DENSON, Millport, N.Y.

PROFUSE PERIODS.

"I commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound about 3 months ago, and cannot express the wonderful good it has done me. Menstruations were so profuse as to leave me very weak for some time after. Was also troubled with leucorrhœa, tired feeling, bearing down sensation, pain across the back and thighs. I felt as though there was a heavy weight in my stomach all the time. I have taken two bottles of the medicine, and now have better health than I have had for four years."

MRS. LIZZIE DICKSON HODGE, Avalon, Ohio.

$5000 REWARD.—We have deposited with the National City Bank of Lynn, $5000, which will be paid to any person who can find that the above testimonial letters are not genuine, or were published before obtaining the writer's special permission.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO.

DYSPEPSIA

need not be endured a day longer if you use

A natural medicinal water—concentrated. A mild laxative tonic. A specific for all forms of stomach and bowel disorders. Torpid Liver, Biliousness, Jaundice, Chronic Diseases of the Kidneys, Dyspepsia, Heartburn, Sick Headache, Obstinate Constipation, Piles.

Crab Orchard Water is the most efficacious of the natural mineral waters; most convenient to take; most economical.

The genuine should be ordered with Crab Apple trade mark on every bottle.

CRAB ORCHARD WATER CO., Louisville, Ky.

DROPSY NEW DISCOVERY; gives quick relief and cures worst forms. Dr. H. H. GREEN'S SONS, Box B, Atlanta, Ga.

Afflicted with sore eyes, use Thompson's Eye Water

LIBBY'S EXTRACT of BEEF

Made without regard to economy. We use the best beef, get all the essence from it, and concentrate it to the uttermost.

In an ounce of our extract there is all the nutrition of many pounds of beef. To get more nutriment to the ounce is impossible. Few extracts have as much.

Our booklet, "How to Make Good Things to Eat," tells many ways to use beef extract. It gives recipes for lunches and the chafing dish. Send your address for it.

LIBBY, McNEILL & LIBBY
Chicago

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION 25 CTS.

BEST SPRING MEDICINE.

The Palm Given to Dr. Greene's Nervura.

That Grand Jury, the People, Have So Decided.

Used by Hundreds of Thousands in Spring as a Blood Medicine.

Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy is indeed "The World's Great Spring Medicine." It has come to be recognized by almost everybody as the best possible spring medicine to take, and hundreds of thousands of our people use it during the trying spring months, to tone up anew the relaxed nerves and re-invigorate and enrich the blood.

A spring medicine is a necessity if one wishes to keep in perfect health and vigor during the changes from winter to summer. This grand spring tonic, this perfect spring medicine, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, is exactly what the system needs at this season. It not only purifies, but makes rich, red blood; it not only strengthens and invigorates the nervous system, but re-energizes and revitalizes the nerves by feeding them with renewed nerve force and power. It is not only an aid to digestion, but it creates a regular, natural and healthy action of the bowels, liver, kidneys, which in the spring are always sluggish and inactive.

In fact, it is just what people need to make them well and keep them well during these months, so threatening to the health of all, and when it is considered that Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy is made entirely from pure, health-giving vegetable remedies, and that people give it more testimonials of cure than any other remedy on earth, no one can doubt that it is the very best spring remedy for everybody to use.

Mr. Gustave Leibach, of 337 First street, Jersey City, N. J., says:—

"I was troubled with sick headaches, and could not sleep on account of the pains in my head. I was suffering night and day with dyspepsia, could not eat anything, my stomach would sour so. I had to starve myself to have any ease. I had to give up work at last, I was so nervous and miserable, and I was falling away in flesh so that my friends hardly knew me. I tried several remedies, but without avail. At last someone recommended Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. I tried one bottle and began to improve. I started in to eat all right; then I picked up my health; my headaches disappeared, and my weakness and sour stomach went away. I used three bottles, and could sleep all night with ease; I used six bottles, and felt like a new man. I can now do a hard day's work without any trouble, and I am as happy as a bird in spring. I was so miserable, always suffering, always in pain, but now I am like a new man."

Use Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy this spring, for it is the discovery and prescription of a well-known physician, Dr. Greene, of 35 W. 14th St., New York City, who is responsible for its beneficial action, and who can be consulted free of charge, personally or by letter.

White blackberries and green roses have been propagated in Louisiana.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c a bottle.

There are about 17,000 novels in the Paris national library and nearly 69,000 volumes of French poetry.

Notice—Two traveling salesmen wanted in each state. Salary and expenses; experience unnecessary. Pocahontas Tobacco Wks, Bedford City, Va.

The Siamese government has asked for American bids for the construction of a plant for the manufacture of ammunition in that country.

Crab Orchard Water

is used and recommended by physicians all over the world as one of the most reliable laxatives and purgatives. It is sure in its action, and has wonderful curative properties.

Like all the male members of the royal house of Germany, the crown prince is about to learn a trade, which will probably be that of a compositor.

Sweat and fruit acids will not discolor goods dyed with PUTNAM FADELESS DYES. Sold by all druggists.

It has been figured out that the United States produces 2,200 pounds of grain for each inhabitant; England 360 pounds.

Have you ever experienced the joyful sensation of a good appetite? You will if you chew Adams' Pepsin Tutti Frutti.

The difference between the shortest and the tallest races in the world is one foot and one-half inch, the average height is five feet five inches.

I am sure Piso's Cure for Consumption saved my life three years ago.—MRS. THOS. ROBBINS, Maple St., Norwich, N. Y., Feb. 17, 1900.

The will of the late Jarvis Ford, of St Joseph, Mo., gives $20,000 for a free memorial library in that place, and $10,000 to the municipal hospital.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Twenty-five Victoria crosses have been awarded so far in the South African war.

The unspeakable Turk once more exhibits to the world his demoniac fanaticism. From Salonica comes the report that hundreds of Christians in Macedonia have been massacred by Mohammedans in the village of Bitsch, in northern Albania, a horde of Mohammedans crucified every Christian male in the place, pinning them to the trees with stakes driven through the hands and feet. Many of the women were outraged and all were carried off to Mohammedan harems. Children were chopped up before their parents' eyes. At Gruma, south of Bitsch, women were violated in front of their husbands and fathers. The men were terribly mutilated, having their ears, fingers, toes and limbs cut off. Many children were drowned.

At Riberitz the entire population was massacred after the victims' flesh had been sliced off. At Binashkia a bonfire was made of twenty Christians.

At Genevitza a priest of the Melumkovics was tied in a sack and thrown into the river. The ringleader of the Mohammedans is the fanatic Islam, who boasts of having slaughtered 200 "Giaours" (infidels) with his own hands.

The Servian consul at Metrovitza estimates the number of Christians killed at 407 men, 110 women and 430 children. He places the number of Christian women outraged at 385.

No crop can be grown without Potash. Supply enough Potash and your profits will be large; without Potash your crop will be "scrubby."

Our books, telling about composition of fertilizers best adapted for all crops, are free to all farmers.

GERMAN KALI WORKS, 93 Nassau St., New York.

Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup Safest, surest cure for all throat and lung troubles. People praise it. Doctors prescribe it. Quick cure results. Refuse substitutes. Get Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

USE CERTAIN CROUP CHILL CORN CURE. 25 50 1.0

150 KINDS For 16 Cents

JOHN A. SALZER SEED CO. La Crosse, Wis.

FREE WITH SEEDS.

T. J. KING CO., Southern, Richmond, Va.

AGENTS WANTED FOR THE "LIFE OF Booker T. Washington,"

Written by himself. Everybody buys; agents are now making over $200 per month; have took to sell to educated people over published. Write for terms, or send 50 cents for outfit and begin at once. Please mention this paper. Address

J. L. NICHOLS & CO., Atlanta, Georgia.

Am. N. U. No. 9, 1901.

LION COFFEE

A LUXURY WITHIN THE REACH OF ALL!

Watch our next advertisement.

If you went to buy a lion whelp you would'nt accept a kitten as a substitute, even if the dealer urges you.

Now, don't accept a substitute for

LION COFFEE.

It is bound to turn out a common yellow cat, with none of the strength of the lion.

You want LION COFFEE because it is LION COFFEE.

If, on the other hand, you want a coffee which, in order to hide imperfections, is "highly polished" with eggs and other preparations, then do not buy

LION COFFEE.

If LION COFFEE were common, ordinary stuff, coffee drinkers would'nt insist on having it. It is used in millions of homes because it is the best coffee in the world for the price. If you doubt this, take a single package home and try it.

In every package of LION COFFEE you will find a fully illustrated and descriptive list. No housekeeper, in fact, no woman, man, boy or girl will fail to find in the list some article which will contribute to their happiness, comfort and convenience, and which they may have by simply cutting out a certain number of Lion Heads from the wrappers of our one pound sealed packages (which is the only form in which this excellent coffee is sold).

WOOLSON SPICE CO., TOLEDO, OHIO.

Fight on for wealth, old "Money Bags," your liver is drying up and bowels wearing out, some day you will cry aloud for health, offering all your wealth, but you will not get it because you neglected Nature in your mad rush to get gold. No matter what you do, or what ails you, to-day is the day—every day is the day—to keep watch of Nature's wants—and help your bowels act regularly—CASCARETS will help Nature help you. Neglect means bile in the blood, foul breath, and awful pains in the back of the head with a loathing and bad feeling for all that is good in life. Don't care how rich or poor you are, you can't be well if you have bowel trouble, you will be regular if you take CASCARETS—get them to-day—CASCARETS—in metal box; small box 10c, whole month's treatment 50c; take one, eat it like candy and it will work gently while you sleep. It cures; that means it strengthens the muscular walls of the bowels and gives them new life; then they act regularly and naturally; that is what you want—it is guaranteed to be found in

THE TONIC LAXATIVE

Cascarets

LIVER TONIC

BEST FOR THE BOWELS

10c. 25c. 50c.

ALL DRUGGISTS.

NEVER SOLD IN BULK.

CURE all bowel troubles, appendicitis, biliousness, bad breath, bad blood, wind on the stomach, bloated bowels, foul mouth, headache, indigestion, pimples, pains after eating, liver trouble, sallow complexion and dizziness. When your bowels don't move regularly you are getting sick. Constipation kills more people than all other diseases together. It is a starter for the chronic ailments and long years of suffering that come afterwards. No matter what ails you, start taking CASCARETS to-day, for you will never get well and be well all the time until you put your bowels right. Take our advice; start with CASCARETS to-day, under an absolute guarantee to cure or money refunded.

GUARANTEED To CURE. Five cures are the best test of CASCARETS ever sold. Now it is over six million boxes a year, a phenomenal record. This is absolute proof of great merit, and our best testimonial. We have faith and will sell CASCARETS absolutely upon this basis, to be cured or money refunded. Get your druggist to-day, take one box, give them a fair, honest trial, on our simple directions, and if you are not satisfied, after using one box, return the empty box and the empty box will be by mail, or the druggist from whom you purchased it, and get your money back for the box returned. Take our advice, take CASCARETS to-day. Sample and booklet free by mail. Address STERLING REMEDY CO., NEW YORK or CHICAGO.

THE BANNER

OUR CLUBBING RATES

For $1.50 we will send you THE BANNER and either of the following papers for one year:

Atlanta Constitution	$1.50
New York World (3 papers every week)	$1.50
Cosmopolitan (America's Leading magazine)	$1.50
Silver Knight National Watchman	$1.50
Birmingham Age-Herald	$1.25
Home and Farm	$1.10

Job Printing cheap at THE BANNER office

AT REDUCED PRICES

THE CLANTON DRUG CO.

CARRIES A LARGE LINE OF

Drugs, Medicines, Patent Medicines and Stationery and is prepared to serve you in a nice way.

PRESCRIPTIONS CAREFULLY COMPOUNDED

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS is the one important magazine in the world giving in its pictures, its text, in its contributed articles, editorials and departments, a comprehensive, timely record of the world's current history. Not the enumeration of mere bare facts, but a comprehensive picture of the month, its activities, its notable personalities, and notable utterances. The best informed men and women in the world find it indispensable.

There are many readers in your locality who have yet to learn of its usefulness. We wish to establish active agents in every city and township in the country. We will pay liberally for energetic effort in the subscription field. Leisure moments can be utilized with substantial increase of income. Make a list of the persons in your locality who should have the "Review of Reviews" and send to us for agent's terms, sample copies, and working outfit. Then solicit their subscriptions. It is a compliment to approach a person with a subscription proposition for the "Review of Reviews," and consequently orders are easily secured. This is the active subscription season. Make application at once, naming your references.

Price, 25 cents a number. $2.50 a year.

THE REVIEW OF REVIEWS COMPANY,

13 Astor Place, New York City.

Everything New.

NEW STOREHOUSE

BRAND NEW STOCK

We positively will carry none of our old stock into our new building, and for the next Thirty Days we are offering

BARGAINS IN EVERYTHING

now in our old storehouse. We are determined to clear out the last piece of old stock. Come and see us.

WILSON & BRO.

CLANTON.

W. I. MULLINS

—DEALER IN—

GENERAL MERCHANDISE, PLANTATION SUPPLIES AND COUNTRY PRODUCE.

Dry Goods, Clothing, Hats, Boots and Shoes.

FURNITURE AND COFFINS

A. B. A full line of Burial Clothes and all necessary Undertakers' Goods constantly kept in stock.

CLANTON, : : : : ALA.

Subscribe for The Banner. $1.00 a year.

Stanton.

Mr. M. E. Dunmore went to Ridgeville Sunday evening.

We regret to state that Mr. R. E. Lester is quite sick.

We all enjoyed a hearty game of snow ball recently.

Mr. R. H. Nelson spent the day in Dixie with friends Sunday.

Miss Minnie Lassiter, of Plantersville, is visiting her sister, Mrs. J. P. Gantt.

Miss Eva Parnell paid relatives a pleasant visit in Dixie Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Tyer visited relatives at Ridgeville Sunday.

Mr. Claud Culver in Selma Saturday and Sunday.

STAN

Death of Mrs. Headley

Died at her home near Kitchen, Feb. 21, Mrs. Headley, age about 72 years. She has been a consistent member of the M. E. church since a girl; after a severe illness of about four months, she passed away on the 21st inst. We extend our sympathy to the bereaved family. God knows best and makes all things work together for good to them that love him.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve

Has world-wide fame for marvellous cures. It surpasses any other salve, lotion, ointment or balm for Cuts, Corns, Burns, Boils, Sores, Felons, Ulcers, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Chapped Hands, Skin Eruptions; Infallible for Piles. Cure guaranteed. Only 25c at Clanton drug store.

The Banner is the leading paper of Chilton county and has the largest circulation. Advertisers should take notice of this fact.

Subscribe for the Banner.

Alabama Fertilizer the Standard.

Our most reckless competitor will only claim that what he is selling is "Just as good" as the celebrated ALABAMA FERTILIZER, but it is not so. For 21 years the ALABAMA has stood at the head of the fertilizer class. With cotton at current good prices it is more important than ever to use the best fertilizer. The ALABAMA is the standard of excellence, and only those whose interest dictate the statement assert otherwise.

Without extra cost to the consumer we ship all ALABAMA FERTILIZER in the CELEBRATED MUMMIA VEGETABLE FIBRE PRESERVED BAGS, which are acid and weather proof, thus avoiding any loss in handling. These bags, after thorough investigation and practical tests, have been indorsed by the Alabama Agricultural Department, who recommend their use by the farmers of our State. Steamer agents on certain water routes have given notice that they will only receive for shipment fertilizer sacked in these celebrated bags, thereby insuring both themselves and their consignees from loss in handling.

One of the exhibits of the recent Good Roads Procession which attracted the attention of all was a wagon drawn by six well fed oxen containing 24 bales of cotton produced on 24 acres of land, made from Russell Improved big boll cotton by the use of ALABAMA FERTILIZER.

Customers Protected by Trade Mark.

The law requires every sack of fertilizer sold in the State to have the word ALABAMA branded on each sack offered for sale in the State.

To protect both ourselves and our customers we have our trade mark on every sack of ALABAMA FERTILIZER, we also tag each MUMMIA VEGETABLE FIBRE PRESERVED BAG. Our Trade Mark is copyrighted, the tag is patented and we will prosecute any infringement on either. See that the Trade Mark and Tag are on each sack. Be certain to get what you pay for.

Pure high grade Acid Phosphate and Cottonseed Meal always on hand and sold at no higher price than other goods of the same grade.

A Testimonial From High Authority.

Captain S. B. Trapp, President of the Board of Inspectors of the Alabama Convict Bureau, who is well and favorably known throughout the South (particularly in Alabama), whose able management of the convict system of our State has met with the approval of all, himself a farmer of twenty years' experience, has the following words of commendation to say in regard to the Celebrated Alabama Fertilizer:

Executive Department of Alabama,
Convict Bureau,
Montgomery, Nov. 30, 1900.

I consider the ALABAMA FERTILIZER the best manufactured. I have raised and seen others raise large crops of cotton and corn by its use.

In my opinion the farmer who invests in it, will succeed in making larger crops of cotton and corn at less cost for fertilizers than one who buys and uses acid phosphate, Kainit and cottonseed meal in any proportion or quantity whatsoever.

My conclusions are arrived at after an experience of twenty years in the use of fertilizers—during which long period I have tried many kinds of fertilizers.

The MUMMIA VEGETABLE FIBRE PRESERVED BAGS, in which the ALABAMA FERTILIZER is put up, is one of the greatest blessings to all, and none better than the farmer can appreciate and value the cessation of loss in wasting, rotting of bags and retention by having to rewack fertilizers put up in the ordinary bag. I have seen some Mummie Bags used two seasons, which is the strongest possible proof of their singular and superior merit.

S. B. TRAPP, President.

The Record of Alabama Fertilizer.

It has produced nearly four bales of cotton on one acre of poor sandy upland.
One hundred and thirty-two bushels of corn on one acre of poor sandy upland.
Two thousand and forty-one bushels of corn on twenty acres of poor upland.
Land and corn accurately surveyed and measured by competent disinterested and honorable men.
It is the oldest brand now sold in Alabama, and is just the same as it always has been. Every one of the 48 premiums given during a series of years, through the COMMERCIAL AND INDUSTRIAL ASSOCIATION, for the greatest yield of cotton and corn on a specified area of land, was awarded to farmers who used exclusively the ALABAMA FERTILIZER.

THE ALABAMA FERTILIZER COMPANY,

Montgomery, Ala.

THE NEW ENGLAND W[illegible] nickle case, stem wind and [illegible] warranted for 12 months [illegible] ed anywhere with a six [illegible] plate chain for $2.75. Try [illegible] you want a good time piece [illegible]

The New England Watch [illegible] giving good satisfaction. [illegible] poor man's time piece.

L. D. POPWELL, Cl[illegible]

BLOOD POISON CURED BY B. B. B.

Bottle Free to Sufferers.

Deep-seated, obstinate cases of blood poison of a kind that have resisted doctors, hot springs and patent medicines for years, yield to B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm) this wonderful blood remedy has been tested for 30 years. Have you Eczema, Pimples, Ulcerous patches in the mouth? Sore Throat? Eruptions? Eating Sores? Bone Pains? Itching Skin? Swollen Glands? Stiff Joints? Copper Colored Spots? Chancres? Inflammation on the body? Hair and eyebrows fall out? Is the skin a mass of boils, pimples and ulcers? If so, this wonderful B. B. B. will completely change the entire body into a clean, perfect condition, free from eruptions, and as smooth with the glow of perfect health. B. B. B. drains the poison out of the system so the symptoms cannot return. B. B. B. builds up the broken down constitution and improves the digestion. Sufferers may test B. B. B. a trial bottle free, will be given away free of charge.

B. B. B., for sale by druggists at $1 per large bottle, or 6 large bottles (full treatment) $5. Complete directions with each bottle. To secure the bottle reads Botanic Blood Balm. For trial bottle, address BLOOD BALM CO., Atlanta, Ga. Describe trouble and Free medical advice given.

THE BEST WAY TO [illegible]

SOUTH AND SOUTH-WEST.

NORTH AND NORTH-WEST.

—IS VIA THE—

L. & N.

LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE R. R.

The Through Cars

Of this line pass Calera daily, running through Montgomery, Mobile and New Orleans.

Connecting with all points in

TEXAS AND THE WEST.

Also running through to Nashville, Evansville, Louisville, Cincinnati and St. Louis.

Connecting for all points in

NORTH AND NORTH-WEST.

Before purchasing tickets to any point write the Agent of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad at Clanton, Ala. C. P. Atkins, G. P. A., Louisville, Ky.

VOL. IX

THE MAN ON THE CORNER

Sees of the Sights He Saw, and Some He Saw Not.

The Constitutional Convention [illegible] up to the good people of [illegible] county. The Dem. com[illegible] has called a county convention for March 14, when it looks [illegible] that Dr. Caffey will receive the nomination without opposition. The Pop. committee has called a county convention for March 23, while one or two names have been mentioned as probable candidates, there is at present no candidate definitely out for the office.

I had a long talk with Dr. Caffey [illegible] or two ago, and his platform is right and I like his ideas. He [illegible] not endorse running stock or [illegible] over a people who don't [illegible] them, and he is not a believer [illegible] defeated Democratic candidates of legislation. It would [illegible] good idea for the Doctor to [illegible] and give his views to the [illegible]. Whether he can convince [illegible] of the votes to elect him [illegible] to be seen.

[illegible] Sunday-School Convention

[illegible] 1 and 2, to be held at [illegible] Baptist church, March [illegible], 1901.

[illegible] a.m. Prayer, J. M. Scott.

[illegible] Origin and object of the [illegible] Convention, P. C. [illegible]

[illegible] Origin and growth of Sunday-schools in Chilton county, W. [illegible] Mims.

[illegible] Model Sunday-school, [illegible] Langston.

[illegible] Who should attend Sunday-school? J. P. Gentry, C. M. [illegible]

[illegible] Why should parents attend Sunday-school? C. L. Glass, W. [illegible] Reynolds.

[illegible] p.m. Relation of Sunday-school to the church, Miss Minnie [illegible] R. F. Reynolds.

[illegible] Secretaries, Miss Anna Lowery [illegible] Duties of Superintendent, [illegible] Scott, P. C. Smith.

J. M. COLLIER President.
LIZZIE LOWERY, Sec.

Best Medicine for La Grippe.

[illegible] W. Waitt, of South Gardiner, Me., says: "I have had the [illegible] cough, cold, chills and grip [illegible] taken lots of trash of no [illegible] but profit to the vendor. [illegible] Cough Remedy is the [illegible] that has done any good [illegible]. I have used one bottle of [illegible] the chills, cold and grip have [illegible] me. I congratulate the manufacturers of an honest medicine." [illegible] by the Clanton Drug Co, [illegible] I. Deresmus Verbena.

[illegible] Sunday-school Best Meeting

[illegible] 4, to be held at Concord [illegible] church, March 17, 1901.

[illegible] Devotional Exercise—W. [illegible]

[illegible] Address, E. H. Parrish.

[illegible] of the Sunday-school [illegible] Judson Strock. Organization.

[illegible] Sunday-school

[illegible] Teaching, W. J. Armstrong.

[illegible] for dinner.

[illegible] p.m. Devotional Exercise

[illegible] What is a successful Sunday-school? V. J. Gragg.

[illegible] Who is responsible for success [illegible] Sunday-school, E. L. Smith.

[illegible] Sunday-school in the Beat [illegible] expected to send two or more delegates to represent them.

E. R. DRAGON
JUDSON STROCK

Strikes A Rich Find.

[illegible] troubled for several years [illegible] chronic indigestion and nervousness," writes F. J. Green of [illegible], N. H. "No remedy helped [illegible] until I began using Electric [illegible], which did me more good [illegible] the medicine I ever used. [illegible] also kept my wife in excellent health for years. She says [illegible] Bitters are just splendid for [illegible] troubles; that they are a grand [illegible] invigorator for weak, run [illegible] women. No other medicine [illegible] its place in our family." [illegible]. Only 50c. Satisfaction [illegible] by Clanton, Drug Co.

E NEW ENGLAND WA
le case, stem wind and ste ranted for 12 months. Ind anywhere with a silk cord e chain for $2 75 Try o want a good time piece ch
he New England Watch is ng good satisfaction. It is r man a time piece
L. D. POPWELL, Chart

OD POISON CURED BY B
Bottle Free to Sufferers.
eep-seated, obstinate cases,
that have resisted doctors, ngs and patent medicine b
t, quickly cured to B. B. anic Blood Balm), thoroug
d for 30 years. Have you s patches in the mouth?
at? Eruptions? Eating S e Pains? Itching Skin? S Glands? Stiff Joints? Co
red Spots? Ulcers? U n on the body? Hair and s fall out? Is the skin a tle, pimples and ulcers? T wonderful B. B. B. spe completely change the wh into a clean, perfect co free from eruptions, and ch with the glow of per h B. B. B. drains the po of the system so the sympto t return. B. B. B. build broken down constitution rove the digestion. S: sal ay test B. B. B. a trial be e given away free of charg
B. B., for sale by druggist r large bottle, or 6 large b full treatment) $5 Compl tions with each bottle.
he bottle reads Botanic Bl
For trial bottle, addr
OD BALM CO., Atlanta,
he trouble and Free med given ealthy Mothers

w mothers are healthy, becau duties are so exacting. The anxie regnancy, the shock of childbirth, the care of young children, a e trials on any woman. But wit of Cardui within her grasp, every er—every woman in the land—fits debt of personal health sh
her loved ones. Do you want d health with all its privileges and ures? Wine of Cardui will give it e.

INE OF CARDUI
Makes the female organs and living weakened functions. For every ll or weakness it is the best me made. Ask your druggist for bottle Wine of Cardui, and take no ute under any circumstances.

BEST WAY TO TH
AND SOUTH-WEST,
NORTH AND NORTH-WE
—IS VIA THE—
L. & N.
VILLE & NASHVILLE R.
he Through Cars
ne pass Calera daily, run
ugh Montgomery, Mobile
and New Orleans.
ecting with all points in
XAS AND THE WEST.
ing through to Nashv
ville, Louisville, Cincinnati
and St. Louis,
ecting for all points in the
AND NORTH-WEST
urchasing tickets to any p
Agent of the Louisville a Railroad at Clanton, Ala.
ress, G. P. A., Louisville, Ky.

Judge of Probate

THE BANNER.

LET THE PEOPLE RULE.

L. IX | CLANTON, ALA. THURSDAY MARCH 7, 1901 | NO. 20

E MAN ON THE CORNER of the Sights He Saw, and Some He Saw Not.

e Constitutional Convention
w up to the good people of ton county. The Dem. come has called a county conven-for March 14, when it looks that Dr. Caffey will receive nomination without opposition.
Pop. committee has called a ty convention for March 25.
while one or two names have mentioned as probable candis, there is at present no candicidately out for the office.

had a long talk with Dr. Caffey y or two ago, and his platform right and I like his ideas. He not endorse running stock or laws over a people who don't t them, and he is not a believer he defeated Democratic candiideas of legislation. It would good idea for the Doctor to out and give his views to the ple. Whether he can convince gh of the votes to elect him ains to be seen.

gram Sunday-School Convention

Meets 1 and 2, to be held at nson Baptist church, March
, 1901.

80 a.m. Prayer, J. M. Scott.
:35. Origin and object of the day-school Convention, P. C. th.
0. Origin and growth of Sun-school in Chilton county, W.
Conway. W. A. Mims.
:30. Model Sunday-school,
Laura Langston.
:50. Who should attend Sun-school? J. P. Gentry, C. M. theutt.
:20. Why should parents at-
Sunday-school? C. L. Glass, W.
Reynolds.
30 p.m. Relation of Sunday ol to the church, Miss Minnie e, B. F. Reynolds.
Recitation, Miss Anna Lowery
:15. Duties of Superintendent,
. Scott, P. C. Smith.

J. M. COLLIER President.
Miss LIZZIE LOWERY, Sec.

Honest Medicine for La Grippe.

George W. Watt, of South Gar-er, Me., says: "I have had the st cough, cold, chills and grip have taken lots of trash of no ount but profit to the vendor.
mberlain's Cough Remedy is the y thing that has done any good ever. I have used one bottle of d the chills, cold and grip have ft me. I congratulate the mancturers of an honest medicine."
sale by the Clanton Drug Co, D. I. Deramus Verbena.

gram Sunday-school Beat Meeting

Beat 4, to be held at Concord Baptist church, March 17, 1901.

a.m. Devotional Exercise—W.
Edwards.
Welcome Address, E. H. Parrish.
Purpose of the Sunday-school vention, Judson Strock. Organ-tion
0. Sunday-school
1. Teaching, W. J. Armstrong.
Journment for dinner.
:30 p.m. Devotional Exercise
1. What is a successful Sundayool? V. J. Gragg.
Who is responsible for success
the Sunday-school, E. L. Smith.
Every Sunday-school in the Beat expected to send two or more del-tes to represent them.

E. B. DEASON
JUDSON STROCK

Strikes A Rich Find.

I was troubled for several years
h chronic indigestion and nerv-debility," writes F. J. Green of nchester, N. H. "No remedy help-me until I began using Electric tters, which did me more good n all the medicine I ever used.
y have also kept my wife in ex-ent health for years. She says ectric Bitters are just splendid for ale troubles; that they are a grand c and invigorator for weak, run n women. No other medicine take its place in our family."
them. Only 50c. Satisfaction aranteed by Clanton, Drug Co.

CORRESPONDENCE.

[We are willing to publish our subscribers views at any time, but it must be distinctly understood we do not hold ourselves responsible for these opinions.—EDITOR.]

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY

Take Laxative Bromo-Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. E. W. Grove's signature is on each box. 25c.

Editor Banner—As we are soon to vote on convention, and perhaps a new constitution, it is in order that every voter give expression to his views, though it is generally claimed that the constitution has already been framed and ratified by the politicians and their henchmen, and that our voting will be a mere formality. My position briefly stated is:

1. Believing suffrage to be the birth-right of the Anglo-Saxon race, I oppose the disfranchisement of any white voter of the State, except for crime. I oppose a wholesale disfranchisement of the negro. Some have shown themselves to be honest, intelligent, worthy citizens, and it would not be right to disfranchise such, especially where they have acquired property and therefore tax-payers. In conferring the ballot upon the negro I could be more influenced by his general character and common sense than by his so called educational qualifications.

3. I oppose increasing the power of the judiciary both in civil and criminal cases. I believe in trial by jury.

4. I oppose giving to the legislature power to enact any local law except upon the expressed wish of the majority of real estate owners affected by such legislation.

5. Railroads, factories, banks, etc., are a blessing to any country. I am therefore opposed to any discrimination against them. I am equally opposed to the legislature having power to grant subsidies, special rights or privileges to any individual or corporation, or allowing any trust to do business in the State.

6. I favor increased appropriations for our common schools, and am opposed to the establishment of any more agricultural or normal schools or of any other school for higher education at the expense of the common school fund.

7. I favor appropriation sufficient to provide the absolute necessaries of life for every indigent Confederate soldier and sailor, their widows and orphans within our borders, when found worthy. It is to Alabama's shame that this sacred obligation has been so long disregarded.

8. I favor prohibiting from the State the manufacture, sale or otherwise disposal of intoxicants. This position is not necessarily inconsistent with giving protection to the grape industry, to which our climate and soil have been shown so wonderfully adapted.

9. I favor the present constitutional limit of taxation.

Most of the foregoing is simply repitition of our present constitution. It is repeated for emphasis. The elimination of the vicious, ignorant vote of the negro is really the only change demanded by the people. It was so publicly declared when our present governor and legislature were elected. But it is plain now to all, as it was then to every descerning man, that negro suffrage was the pretext for a new organic law, while more important and vital matters were in view by the politicians. I shall not prejudge the document. We shall see under existing conditions in Alabama it will be difficult to frame a constitution that the people will endure for ten years. We endured the constitution of the carpet bag government not quite so long.

E. Y. MCMORRIES.

A Horrible Outbreak

"Of large sores on my little daughter's head developed into a case of scald head" writes C. D. Isbill of Morgantown, Tenn., but Bucklen's Arnica Salve completely cured her. It's a guaranteed cure for Eczema, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Pimples, Sores, Ulcers and Piles. Only 25c. Satisfaction guaranted by Clanton Drug Co.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

I hereby announce myself as a candidate to represent Chilton County in the Constitutional Convention, subject to the action of the Democratic County Convention. H. W. CAFFEY, Febv. 12, 1901.

Jemison.

Prof. J. M. Collier and several of his pupils attended the closing exercises of Prof. J. H. Anderson's school at Providence last Friday night. The program was excellent and well rendered.

Mr. C. W. Adams went to Birmingam last week on business.

Mr. D. L. Langston and family spent Sunday at South Calera.

Messrs. Atkinson and Langston went to Clanton last Saturday night.

Mr. Bill Shaw, of Klondike, was in our city Sunday.

Quite a number of Jemison's young people spent last Sunday eve at Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Atkinson's. Messrs. Skaggs and Lowery were among the young gents present.

Mr. J. M. Beasley paid a pleasant visit to Hard Town last Sunday.

Mr. W. C. Mooney has returned home from Ensley.

Mrs. Moore and children, of Deatsville are visiting Mrs. Hunt.

I have not had a boiled egg in a long time. CRITIC.

Valley Creek

We have had evidence that winter had passed and lovely spring clad in sunshine, bedismoned with due and fragrant with the breath of flowers would sweetly glauden our hearts. Alas! Vain hope for to-day is cold, very cold, which makes us keep close companionship with the fire.

Miss Lily Chisolm has returned to her home at Birdeye to the regret of her many friends.

Miss Matilda Harris has left us for Glendon, where she is teaching music and literature.

We have put a new dress on our church here which adds greatly to the appearance of things. Our Sunday school is still progressing nicely.

Mrs. Gay and Mrs. Milling have returned from a visit to Centreville and Sixmile. They report having had a most enjoyable time.

Mrs. Jesse Eaves, of Birmingham, has returned to her home, after quite a pleasant stay among us.

Miss Lula Mitchell was the guest of the Misses Gay on last Sunday.

Mr. Wylie Mitchell is just smiling this week; it seems that Uncle Sam has been kind to somebody.

We are glad to say that Mr Frank Harris is convalescent.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Reynolds—a fine baby girl.

NOBODY'S SWEETHART.

Kincheon.

On Febuary 25 Mr. Albert Wright split 1004 rails ten feet long three-quarters of a day, the timber being ready cut. It was a wonderful day's work,

Jasmine.

Miss Lula Rawlinson spent Sunday at Maplesville.

Miss Maud Warren spent Sunday at Pietchers.

Mrs Moats of Montgomery was a pleasant visitor here Sunday.

Mr J. P Mills went to Billingsley Saturday.

Mrs Pletcher and daughter visited friends here Sunday Mrs T J Marcus has been ill for several days

Mr W M courtney spent Saturday in Billingsley WILD BILL

A Good Cough Medicine for Children

"I have no hesitancy in recommending Chamberlain's Cough Remedy", says F. P. Morgan, a well known and popular baker, of Petersburg, Va. "We have given it to our children, when troubled with bad coughs, also whooping cough, and it has always given perfect satisfaction. It was recommended to me by a druggist as the best cough medicine for children as it contained no opium or other harmful drug." Sold by Clanton Drug Co, and D. I. Deramus, Verbena.

Thorsby.
LANDS FOR SALE.

$2.50 PER ACRE.

We have for sale a small farm containing 40 acres, of which 30 acres are now under cultivation. Some houses on the place; land fenced; a good spring of running water. If this land was located in the Thorsby colony it would be worth $1200.00. The land is located about four miles west of Thorsby and you may take it for $100. (Sold February 16, 1900.)

General Farming Lands for sale, $5.00 to $15.00 per acre.

Unimproved Orchard and Vineyard Lands at $15.00 per acre.

Improved Orchard and Vineyard Lands from $40 to $60 per acre.

Two small farms for Rent; a 7 room Cottage for sale.

Special inducements to merchants and manufacturers in the progressive town of Thorsby, the market center of Chilton county. For further particulars call at the offices of

THE CONCORDIA LAND AND IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION.
THORSBY, ALA.

Poplar Springs.

Messrs. W. D. Driver, Arthur Dupree, Misses Clara, Mattie, and Dora Dupree visited friends at Liberty Hill Sunday.

Mr. Lonza Taylor and sisters, Misses Ella and Margaret, visited relatives at Coopers Saturday.

Messrs. J. N. Goss, John Parrish and Edgar Patterson attended church at Chestnut Creek Sunday.

Mr. T. E. Goss visited Mr. W. D. Drivers Sunday.

Mr W. A. Goss is now working with Mr. W. D. Driver.

Some of young boys are going to stand the examination; we wish them success.

We anticipate a good time at the Sunday-school convention at Concord, third Sunday.

SAME OLD IKE

When you get hurt apply Dr. Tichenors' Anti-eptic It will do the rest. Your druggist, will take pleasure in selling you a bottle for 50c.

Administrator's Sale.

Under and by virtue of an order and decree of the Honorable S. M. Adams, Judge of the Probate Court of Chilton county, I, Arrie Robinson, administratrix of the estate of W. R. Robinson, deceased, will sell at public outcry to the highest bidder, in front of the Court House door of Chilton county, Alabama, on MONDAY, MARCH 18th, 1901.

at 12 o'clock noon, for cash, the following described real property belonging to said estate, to-wit:

Fraction No. 3 of section 12, township 20, north of range 16, east, containing sixty-one and 50-100 acres, situated in Chilton county, Alabama.

ARRIE ROBINSON,
Administratrix of the estate of W. R. Robinson, deceased.

Commissioner's Sale.

State of Alabama, Chilton county. | In Probate Court.

Under and by virtue of the mandate of a certain commission issued out of the Probate Court of said county, directed to me, I will proceed to sell for partition and division among Lula M. Day, et al, parties in interest, the following described real estate situated in said county, to-wit:

W ½ of Se ¼, Ne ¼ of Sw 1-4, Se 1-4 of Sw 1-4, Sec 3, and Nw 1-4 of Ne 1-4, Sec 4, all in T 21, R 14, and N ½ of Sw 1-4, Sec 43, Tp. 22, R 14. Said sale is to be for cash and is to be held on the 15th DAY OF MARCH, 1901.

in front of the Court House door in Clanton, Alabama.

This, the 27th day of February, 1901.

E. H. ADAMS, Commissioner.

Sheriff's Sale.

By virtue of an execution issued out of the Circuit Court of Chilton County, and State of Alabama, and to me directed, whereby I am commanded to make the amount of a certain judgment recently obtained against James A. Wiseman out of the goods, chattels, lands and tenements of the said James A. Wiseman, I have levied on the following property, to wit:

The Sw ¼ of the Sw ¼ of Section 1, Township 22, Range 13, in Chilton County, Alabama.

Therefore, according to said command, I shall expose for sale, at Public Auction, all the right, title and interest of the above named James A. Wiseman, in and to the above described property, on Monday, the 25th day of March, 1901, during the legal hours of sale, at the Court House door in Clanton, Alabama.

Dated at Clanton, Ala., this 18th day of February 1901.

M. A. KILLOUGH, Sheriff.

WANTED.

200 ACRES at $6.00 per acre. Titles perfect. Plenty of water on the place. Fine reed brake for pasture. One mile north of Thorsby. J. A. SKAGGS, Jemison, Ala.

FOR SALE. A complete entertainment outfit, consisting of 1 Stereoptican, 1 Optograph or moving picture machine, 1 Calcium light apparatus, 1 gas making outfit, 1 set Views Spanish-American war, 5 50 ft. Films for Optograph. All new. Also 1 horse and spring wagon. Full particulars of C. Nally, Randolph, Ala.

FOR SALE—Ten head of Oxen medium size; good work oxen. Apply to J. BICE, Thorsby, Ala.

MONEY to Loan on good real estate. Apply to X. Y. Z., care of the Banner, Clanton, Ala.

A BONA FIDE SALARY—$12 Weekly. Men and women to appoint agents and represent us, some to travel, others for local work. $12 weekly salaty and expenses. Old established house, pleasant permanent positions, rapid advancement and increase of wages. Write at once. Address BUTLER & ALGER, Dept. E, New Haven, Conn.

The Best Prescription for Malaria

Chills and Fever is a bottle of GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC. It is simply iron and quinine in a tastless form. No cure—no pay. Price 50c.

FOR SALE.

A few hundred bushels of Russell's Improved prolific, BIG BOLL COTTON SEED. It is claimed for this Cotton that it is the most Prolific variety on earth, that it is never troubled with boll worm, rust or the insect known as sharp shooters. Stands extremes of wet and dry weather. Less than half the labor required for picking.

MARKS & GAYLE,
Montgomery, Ala.

Yellow-Leaf Poultry Farm
THORSBY, ALA.

We breed White Plymouth Rocks and Light Brahmas. A few Cockerels for sale $2 each. Eggs in season.

BARRETT & KERNEN, Props.

CHESTNUT LION

A Fine Tennessee Jack 15 Hands high, Full of Life, a Fine Breeder and Sure Foal-Getter, will stand at JEMISON, ALA, this Season.

W. C. EVANS, Proprietor,
JEMISON, ALA.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

TIPTON MULLINS
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW
CLANTON - ALA

WILLIAM H. ADAMS
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW
Practice in all Courts.
Office at the Advance place
CLANTON - - - ALA

JOHN C. DENNIS
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW
Practice in the Supreme Court of Alabama, and all Inferior Courts.
CLANTON, - - ALA.

ROBERT H. HICK,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,
CLANTON, ALA.
Will practice in all the State and Federal Courts of Alabama.

Dr. OTTO M. WISEHART,
DENTIST.
OFFICE HOURS. 9 to 12 a.m. and 1 to 5 p.m.
Office over Wright's Store CLANTON

Dr. GEO. A. DENNIS,
SPECIALIST
Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat
OFFICE 22 S. PERRY ST.
Office Hours: 9 to 12 and 2 to 4.
Telephone 494—2 Rings
MONTGOMERY, ALA.

CHURCH DIRECTORY

BAPTIST—Preaching on the first and third sundays at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.

sunday-school every sunday at 10 a.m.

Prayer-meeting every thursday evening at 7 o'clock.

F. M. WOODS, Pastor.

METHODIST—Preaching every second sunday at 7 p.m., and every fourth sunday at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.

sunday-school at 10 a.m. every sunday.

Prayer-meeting at seven o'clock every Wednesday night.

D. F. ELLISON, Pastor.

CLANTON BARBER SHOP
W. H. TAYLOR, Proprietor,
HAIR CUTTING
SHAVING
SHAMPOOING
In all the Latest City Styles. Reasonable Charges. Prompt Attention.
HOT AND COLD BATHS,
CLANTON

E. W. Grove
This signature is on every box of the genuine Laxative Bromo-Quinine Tablets the remedy that cures a cold in one day

The BANNER office is the only Job Printing establishment in Chilton and Coosa counties. We give you best work at lower prices than you can get elsewhere. Give us trial

The Farmers' Mutual Insurance Association of Alabama.

CHARTERED BY SPECIAL ACT OF THE LEGISLATURE.

"BY THE PEOPLE AND FOR THE PEOPLE."

CHILTON COUNTY BRANCH

PRESIDENT: N. J. CALLOWAY, Clanton.
SEC'Y & TREAS.: P. D. WILSON, Clanton.
GENERAL AGENT: WALLACE C. EDLER, Clanton.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

1. H. C. Young
2. Thomas Harrison
3. R. S. McCary
4. D. F. Jacks
5. W. H. Thomas
6. A. T. Hathcock
7. C. J. Cobern
8. John R. Parnell
9. D. N. Riggins

Insures farmer's dwellings, outbuildings and contents, and live stock against loss by fire, wind and lightning.

The assessments for the year just closed was only 23c on the $1000 policy.

The cheapest, safest and most sensible method of insurance known to man. For full particulars call on or address the General Agent WALLACE C. EDLER, Clanton, Ala.

THE BANNER.

Published Weekly.

ELANTON, - - - ALABAMA.

The United States has now become possessed one-fifth of the entire gold and silver money of the world.

The additional bad things they are finding out about mosquitoes will at least tend to increase the sale of netting in the summer.

Sir Thomas Lipton, coming gayly after "that bit of family plate," as he describes the America's Cup, will find it on Uncle Sam's shelf marked "personal."

Perhaps it is a sign of the sudden growth of the United States as a world power that the European papers are disposed to regard the utterances of our statesmen so seriously.

Professor Clark, of the University of Chicago, says too many preachers back dignity. Unless the preachers resent this and cause further talk the professor will probably be disappointed.

After Victoria but one actually ruling Queen remains—Wilhelmina of Holland. Of seventy-four rulers on the earth twenty-two are Presidents, fifteen are Kings and six are Emperors. This is one of the things which will not "be the same in 100 years," comments the New York World.

In the new Australian Federation the Senators are made elective directly by the people for a term of six years. The Federation has copied pretty closely American forms of government, and in this particular has probably improved upon our plan of selection, thinks the Philadelphia Record.

M. Camille Flammarion, the French astronomer, does not place the slightest credence in the idea that the inhabitants of Mars are trying to signal to our earth. He considers that the lights observed in the Icarium Mare were, in his opinion, simply the reflection of the rays of the setting sun on the clouds over that sea.

The navy of Spain now consists of one battleship, two coast defense vessels, four cruisers of the first class, five of the second class and four of the third class, with an auxiliary fleet of sixty gunboats and twenty-seven torpedo boats. Eight ships are under construction—two second class and one third class cruisers, one gunboat and four torpedo boats of the highest type.

A well-known cattle dealer who recently wrote a review of the cattle market in 1900 expressed the opinion that, before many years, nearly all the beef cattle of the country would come from the corn belt States. He said that over-cropping was rapidly destroying the grasses on the great plains, and that their importance as a source of beef was constantly diminishing.

When men so diverse as Mr. Chamberlain and Lord Rosebery, and financial and commercial organs of opinion of all shades, publicly warn English men that their trade has passed its perihelion, and that rivals are more and more outstripping them in the race for industrial supremacy, it is no strange that nervousness and even pessimism mark the attitude of England confronting the new century.

The Victorian era has witnessed the first installation and the stupendous extension of railways; the inauguration and the gigantic development of transoceanic navigation; the annihilation of distance by the invention of the electric telegraph and the multiplication one hundredfold of the productive power of mankind by the devices of labor-saving machinery. It has seen the downfall of autocratic government and the establishment of more or less perfect representative parliamentary systems in every country of Europe but one.

It has been only in recent years that the medical profession has fully recognized the importance of dietary in the treatment of the sick. Of course, in a general way the physician has always kept a supervision of the food of the patient, usually by prohibiting most articles, but now the preparation of nourishment has become a matter of direct medical concern. In Berlin Frau Heyl has started a cooking school for doctors, and more than 100 prominent physicians from France, Russia, Italy and Germany have taken the course. Branch schools will be established in every capital of Europe.

MINERS' WAGES UNCHANGED.

J. H. White, a Leading Alabamian, Passes Away.

MUTILATED AFTER IT PASSED

Alabama Federation of Labor Will Hold Convention in Birmingham.

J. H. WHITE DEAD.

Leading Alabamian Passes Away at Uniontown.

The town of Uniontown and state of Alabama lost a valuable citizen Tuesday night when Mr. J. H. White breathed his last, after an illness of several months. Mr. White was born in Uniontown in 1849 and had spent his life there. In early manhood he entered the mercantile business and made a success.

In 1898 he organized the Uniontown Cotton Oil company, and in 1900 he organized the Ella White Cotton Mills, of both of which he was president at the time of his death, and in all of which he was the principal stockholder. He has been a member and the treasurer of the Uniontown school board since its organization in 1899, and for many years was a member of the city council. In 1892 he was elected mayor of the city during his absence, but resigned the position because his numerous business interests prevented his giving it proper attention.

Miners Wages Will Remain Unchanged.

The wages of coal miners during the month of March will remain at the same figure that they were at during the past month. Tuesday morning the committee of the miners examined the books of the Tennessee Coal, Iron & Railroad company for the purpose of ascertaining the price of pig iron as sold during the past month, so as to strike the basis for wages. It was ascertained that while there was considerable iron sold at an advanced price during the latter part of the month, the sales the first part of the month offset it and the average does not warrant any increase in wages. The Pratt Mines scale for March in mining will be 50 cents per ton.

It is stated that more than 100,000 tons of pig iron were sold last month by the Tennessee company.

Was Mutilated After It Had Passed.

It is reported that the Montgomery city charter bill, which was passed by both branches of the general assembly and signed by the speaker of the house and the president of the senate Saturday night, has been greatly mutilated.

The enrolled bill, it seems, does not contain many of the amendments placed upon it in the house. Efforts to find these amendments have proven unavailing. They were attached to the bill when it went to the senate, and here all trace of them is lost.

Convention of Federation of Labor

President Edward Flynn has called the first annual convention of the Alabama Federation of Labor to be held in Birmingham on April 17. The federation was organized on September 1, 1900, in Birmingham, with a very creditable membership. David U. Williams is secretary-treasurer.

Has Changed Hands.

The Herald-Journal, of Bessemer, which appears weekly on Tuesdays, has changed hands, the former editor, George W. Price, having returned to Blocton, where he will open an office and publish a paper. The Herald-Journal, which was the property of A. Wade, has been purchased by W. G. Hurd, of Bessemer, and will be edited by Elder W. H. Parker, a well known Christian evangelist, a well informed man and good writer. The Herald-Journal, which was first known as the Journal, was established in 1888.

Tuesday afternoon A. A. Hardy, of Tallapoosa county, took from the Birmingham city prison fifteen men, women and boys, convicted in the inferior criminal court, and carried them to a farm and saw mill works operated by him. Mr. Hardy paid the fines of the prisoners, and they signed a contract to work for him at his works in Tallapoosa county. He is after a large number of these hands and says that he can work them well.

GOULD'S OPINION.

He Thinks There Will Be Other and Greater Railroad Consolidations.

A Memphis, Tenn., dispatch, dated March 5, says: President George Gould, of the Missouri Pacific system, accompanied by his wife and two children, spent most of the forenoon here, inspecting the terminal facilities of the Iron Mountain road.

Mr. Gould was asked: "Do you think the tendency to consolidate railway interests has spent its force, and what, in your opinion, will be the ultimate effect of the community of great railway interests?"

He replied: "To the first question I will answer no. The consolidation tendency will continue for some time yet. I predict other and greater mergings than any that have taken place. As to the effect of such concentration of interests, I believe the public will be benefited thereby. I am satisfied that no detriment to the great shipping interests will or can result. The community of interests among railroads is desirable, primarily for the reason that a uniform and equitable table rate basis can be maintained. All shippers will then be upon an equal footing."

"What about the rumor to the effect that the Missouri Pacific was backing the 'Frisco in its new accessions?" was asked.

"The Missouri Pacific has no interest whatever in the 'Frisco or in its new accessions and all reports that the Missouri Pacific is financially interested in the 'Frisco are without foundation."

FOR THIRD TERM

Carter Harrison is Named for Mayor of Chicago. The Platform.

Carter H. Harrison was placed in nomination for Mayor of Chicago for the third term by the Democratic City Convention Tuesday. There was no opposition to his renomination, either at the primaries or in the convention, and there was no ballot taken, the nomination being made by acclamation amid great cheering.

The platform as adopted strongly favors "the ultimate municipal ownership of all public utilities," including street railways and lighting plants, and included a resolution of sympathy for the Boers. The extension of street railway franchises is expected to be the most important question of the campaign.

Will Not Affect Pan-American Exposition.

Replying to an inquiry regarding the refusal of the house of representatives to concur in the senate amendment to the sundry civil bill granting a loan of $500,000 to the Pan-American Exposition, William T. Buchanan, director general of the exposition, said Monday that the result would in no way affect the exposition. "All the principal exposition buildings," he added, "are completed and mostly paid for. The people of the state of New York, while not realizing the discrimination made against the state, are abundantly able to carry forward a work that will not only be highly creditable to the state but to the United States and to the world."

Cortelyou Holds On.

The president issued a new commission to Mr. George B. Cortelyou as secretary to the president Tuesday.

Big Paper Company Insolvent.

A decree ordering the sale of the property of the Columbia Straw Paper Company, located in Xenia, Defiance, Massillon, Coshocton and Sandusky, Illinois, to satisfy the holders of $1,000,000 worth of mortgage bonds, has been filed in the United States District Court. The decree designates George W. Dupee, of Chicago, as special master commissioner to conduct the sale at Xenia. The bonds were issued December 1, 1892, to secure funds with which to improve and extend the company's business.

Preparing Memphis Plant.

A large number of workmen are engaged in putting in order the buildings and machinery of the car works at Binghamton, a suburb of Memphis, which plant was recently acquired by the Southern Car & Foundry Company. The works will be started on the 15th inst. with a force of about 1,000 men and will have a capacity of twenty cars a day.

TREATY IS DEAD.

Hay-Pauncefote Compact Expires From Time Limit.

The Hay-Pauncefote treaty, intended to replace the Clayton-Bulwer treaty, relative to the construction of Isthmian water-ways, died at noon Tuesday. The death was caused technically by the fact that the last clause of the treaty allowed only the period of time up to March 5 for its ratification. Neither the government of the United States nor of Great Britain appears to have made any formal effort to extend the period.

Although the treaty is dead from the point of international law, it may still serve a purpose. It is understood that the British government either has or is preparing a communication to the United States government based upon the senate amendments, analyzing them carefully, pointing out their probable effect upon the original proposition as seen from the British side, and perhaps suggesting some modifications.

While it is impossible to predict in advance of the receipt of this communication just what attitude the state department will assume toward it, there is reason to believe that it will be taken in good faith and that negotiations will be resumed for the construction of a new treaty with a view to meeting, if possible, the objections raised by the senate to the original treaty.

A Russian Count Kills an American in a Duel.

A Paris dispatch dated March 5th says: John MacWilson Durant, of New York, who has been living for the past two years in Paris with his mother at the hotel LeFonde Tremoille, has been killed at Ostend in a duel with a Russian Count. According to the best information obtainable, Mr. Durant had written letters to the wife of the Russian Count. The latter's nephew came to Paris to settle the matter where he met Mr. Durant in a restaurant, where a vicious fight resulted in which Mr. Durant lost his front tooth. He struck the Russian with a heavy glass water bottle and the latter died, but the doctor's certificate gave congestion of the brain as the cause of death. This occurred during January. Later the Count took the matter up, sending his seconds to Mr. Durant.

The latter went to Ostend with his mother who afterwards departed, and who is still at Glasgow. A duel was arranged and probably fought Sunday with pistols. Durant was killed and the Count was seriously wounded.

Durant registered as Charles Neville Carter. His mother has been notified. Durant was well known in the American colony here. He was a frequent attendant at official receptions given by the American officials. His engagement to a young French lady was recently announced. They were to be married this month. The names of the Russians in the case have not been ascertained.

Insane Man Escape.

While a deputy sheriff of Huntsville was taking a patient to the Tuskaloosa Insane Asylum Monday, the man in some way managed to elude the deputy when within twelve miles of Tuskaloosa, and jumping from the train disappeared in the woods before he could be recaptured.

Tuskaloosa will very likely have an up-to-date hospital at an early date. Dr. Williamson is contemplating establishing one shortly.

Hichborn and Colby Retired.

Two prominent naval officers were placed on the retired list Monday by operation of the law on account of age. They are Rear Admiral Philip C. Hichborn, who has been chief of the bureau of construction and repair for the past eight years, and Paymaster Inspector H. G. Colby, one of the ranking officers of the pay corps. Paymaster Inspector Colby is a native of Vermont and entered the navy as an acting assistant paymaster in 1863. He reached the high grade in the corps in April, 1899. His last service was at the naval pay office in Baltimore.

The Albert Fischer Manufacturing Company of Hamilton, O., has been sold to the Tin Can Trust. The price is said to have been a half million dollars. The concern was the last in the country of any importance to be taken in.

In an edict the Emperor of China has annuled all decrees and reports rendered from June 20 to August 14, 1900, in order that no trace of them be preserved in history.

NONE OF THE CREW ESCAPED

Four Trainmen Killed and Several Wounded in a Disastrous Railroad Wreck.

A disastrous freight wreck occurred one and a half miles west of Lenoir City, Tenn., at an early hour Saturday morning. Both trains were through freights and were running at a high rate of speed and had a head-end collision. Four trainmen were killed and several wounded. Not a member of the crew escaped. The dead are: C. F. Madden, engineer; J. M. Stephenson, fireman; Joseph Copeland, conductor; W. L. Cash, foreman. The injured: L. M. Vance, engineer; J. M. Snyder, conductor; Thomas Colbert, colored, brakeman; J. M. Dean, flagman; P. L. Williams, flagman; Peter Hurley, brakeman; John Stars, section foreman, all from Knoxville except Hurley, who lives at Cleveland, Tenn. Colbert will die. Orders to pass at Lenoir City and later received orders to pass at Loudon.

The cause of the wreck, it is said, was due to the east-bound failing to run under the second order and expecting to meet the west-bound train at Lenoir City.

LIBEL SUIT SETTLED.

Case Against the Confederate Veteran is Ended.

In the Federal Court at Nashville, Tenn., Saturday afternoon, the jury in the Underwood-Cunningham libel suit was discharged, having failed to reach an agreement. The suit grew out of a publication in the Confederate Veteran, of which defendant, Sumner A. Cunningham, is editor and proprietor. Because of certain statements in an article in that paper concerning the Battle Abbey fund, Gen. John C. Underwood sued Cunningham for $50,000 damages and made the Methodist Publishing House of Nashville party to the suit, that concern having done the press work for the Veteran. The jury was unanimous in the opinion that damages should be awarded plaintiff, but disagreed on the question of holding the publishing house jointly liable, four members refusing to consent to its release. The measure of damages considered by the jury was $10,000.

LAKE OF FIRE.

Sparks from Locomotive Set Pond of Oil Ablaze.

News from Beaumont, Tex., states that about 1 o'clock Saturday sparks from a locomotive set fire to the oil in a large pond near the great Lucas geyser, and in a short time the pond or lake was a seething mass of flames. The fire spread to the oil banked up alongside the railroad track and the flames increased in fury. The big boarding house, which housed some eighty workmen, fell a victim to the flames and the occupants lost a great many of their effects. Beyond the loss of the boarding houses and the fences the financial loss is so far light, as the oil is not of any commercial value.

Killed by Live Wire.

Charles Bellew, aged 12, living at Kokomo, Ind., was killed by a live wire Sunday. With four other boys he was climbing on top of Main street bridge and was bantered to touch the trolley wire, which he did. Immediately 2300 volts of electricity passed through him, and the body fell lifeless to the floor below.

Two Men Fatally Injured By Falling From a Balloon.

Professor Coleman and Clarence Boyne, both from near Brunswick, Mo., were fatally injured at El Reno, O. T., Saturday by falling from a balloon while attempting to make a double ascension. When about seventy-five feet from the ground the balloon tore away and both men were hurled to the ground with frightful force. Coleman's back is broken, as are Boyne's shoulder and legs. A traveling man was badly injured by being struck by one of the men and a small boy was seriously hurt in the same way.

Credit for Sunday Closing.

The success of the movement to have congress declare that the gates of the St. Louis Exposition should be closed on Sundays was due in a great measure to the energetic work of Rev. Dr. J. W. Hathaway, general secretary of the American Sabbath Union, of New York, assisted by Senator Teller and Representative Grout.

Activity in the Philippines.

A dispatch from Manila, March 5, says: In an interview the correspondent of the Associated Press, Mr. D. M. Carman, the American contractor, who is charged with aiding the insurgents and who recently released on $10,000 bail that sickness prevented his making an extended statement now asserted that he had done so with the authorized and that he was hopeful of securing complete vindication. He said: "Whenever I made a dollar others made money too."

Captain Hand, of the Forty-first United States Volunteer Infantry, and Captain McLean, of the Forty-second Volunteer Infantry, co-operating with the gunboat Don Juan de Austria, surprised a body of insurgents at Pasacao, near the town of Pasacao, on the coast of Camarines province. Lieutenant Lyons captured an insurgent colonel and general and a quantity of supplies.

Protesico Montejar, leader of the insurgent forces in the island of Panay, with seven officers, twenty-men and thirty-eight rifles, has surrendered to Captain Baker, Twenty sixth.

Fifteen of the insurgent leaders with 500 followers took the oath of allegiance to the United States at Concepcion, Island of Panay, and more promise to soon swear allegiance. This extinguishes the rebellion in that district.

Four thousand five hundred insurgent prisoners are now held at Manila. The new prison on Corregidor Island, in Subig bay, sixty miles from of Manila, has been completed and thousand prisoners will be sent from Manila on the seventh of this month.

The provincial officers of the provinces of Balacan and Batangas have taken the oath of office before the commission.

McKinley Renominates His Cabinet.

The president on Tuesday sent the following nominations to the senate:

John Hay, of the District of Columbia, to be secretary of state.

Lyman J. Gage, of Illinois, to be secretary of the treasury.

Elihu Root, of New York, to be secretary of war.

John W. Griggs, of New Jersey, to be attorney-general.

Charles Emery Smith, of Pennsylvania, to be postmaster-general.

John D. Long, of Massachusetts, to be secretary of the navy.

Esthon A. Hitchcock, of Missouri, to be secretary of the interior.

James Wilson, of Iowa, to be secretary of agriculture.

The senate confirmed all the above nominations.

A Dog's Devotion.

During a fire in the Sutliffe block in Warren, Ohio, Saturday, Mrs. Lucilla Schoenburger was rescued from a third-story window by firemen just in time to save her life. Mrs. Schoenburger was asleep when the fire started. Her little dog bit her on the heel and by barks led her to another apartment where she discovered the flames. The dog was burned and was rescued too late to save his life.

The general deficiency, executive, legislative, judicial and the bill of appropriations have been approved by the president.

Attempted to Wreck a Train.

There was an attempt to wreck a crowded excursion train Saturday night nine miles west of DeFuniak, Fla. The attempt was discovered before any damage was done. The bloodhounds the sheriff set out captured two negroes charged with the crime. It is supposed robbery was the motive.

Sudden Death at Bessemer.

B. D. Givens, a Tuscaloosa county farmer, fell in his chair dead while eating in Mrs. Byer's restaurant in Bessemer Thursday morning. He was about 55 years of age. Heart trouble is presumably the cause of his death. He was conversing merrily with a number of companions seated at the same table when death came.

The general merchandise store of Sam Trum on Dexter avenue, opposite the postoffice, Montgomery, was gutted by fire and water Thursday night. The loss will be about $[illegible] partially covered by insurance.

Lee Alley, of Jasper, Tenn., while riding a horse was struck by an electric car Thursday last in Knoxville, and probably fatally injured. Alley fell on his head and the horse was thrown on him.

It is now intimated that telephones without wires is among the possibilities. The rumor is not sufficiently credible to cause any reduction of [illegible]

A Definition of Home.

A beautiful definition of home was given by Lady Aberdeen in the address delivered by her before the recent meeting at Toronto of the National Council of Women. "What is home? It is something that makes itself felt; that reveals itself in the pictures, in the arrangement of the rooms, in the preparation for a meal, in the tones of the children, in the expression of husbands and wives. I cannot describe it, but we recognize it at once when it is present, and we can be truly a home with some measure of it. We do not want houses where we can eat and sleep well, but we want homes full of rest and peace and love and refreshment."

New Occupation for Women.

A new field of employment for women has recently sprung up, but be subservient to Dame Fortune's whim, it may be of only a temporary character. It is the arranging and mending of quaint chains and neck pieces. A pretty one purchased from an English woman was composed of blue and emerald green Venetian beads intermingled with others of various sizes. At night the beads light up prettily and are almost indistinguishable from real gems. Another made of rough, uncut and beautifully polished amber. No two chains are made alike and old gems and pearls are introduced into them. Pale blue and coral are particularly fetching for young girls. Muff chains are made of Venetian beads strung on twisted gold braid.

The New Large Waist.

Small waists are going out of fashion. They are doomed soon to be extinct. Broad waists are henceforth to be the fashion, and in their honor to be sung in verse and prose. We will rejoice at this, but the question? Well, let them think of the graceful Josephine's waist and of the exhilarating quoted Venus of Medicis, and they will become reconciled to the new broad waist fashion that means that is soon to be.

This explains the present rage for the Josephine "boudoir gown," as they are now called. It is made of soft Indian cashmere, gathered on to a yoke, formed like a bolero, and the Japanese scarf is tied around the waist as high as possible. Japan silk "boudoir gowns" are also fashionable and lovely at the same time.

Fashions for Brides.

"Call the world loves a lover," correctly. It is, too, that all womanly women are interested in brides and their gowns. The interest that is bestowed upon brides in general seems to be never-failing. The trousseau of the present day is, however, a much more sensible affair than that of old. Many women have wisely come to the conclusion that a great mistake was that old-fashioned idea of having a trousseau outfit, even if by so doing the bride were a physical and mental wreck from the consequent fatigue and worry. Those brides of years ago are not to be compared with the present perfectly healthy, contented young woman who has not devoted all the years and months of her engagement to laying in a supply of clothes sufficient to last her for years. The original purpose of a trousseau is in it an excellent one, and that a bride should start on her married life with a sufficient amount of clothing to last her a twelvemonth, no one can question, but it is not necessary to buy clothes for a year ahead, particularly when fashions change so constantly. A sum of money, large or small, as the case may be, put in the bank for the year's expenses, and only what is necessary for the season of the year when one is married purchased at once, is a far more practical plan.—Harper's Bazar.

Sewing Hints.

A teacher of sewing writes to the Boston Cooking School magazine that a great improvement can be made on the old way of basting on ruffles that are to be sewed by hand, by pinning the ruffle to the garment every inch or two, using fine needles or pins, and basting them vertically (up and down) between the gathers. This does away with the irregular arrangement of the gathers often seen on ruffles.

All buttonholes for underwear should have a bar on the outside as well as on the inside ends. Without them they will tear out and ruin the garment.

When pulling threads for hemstitching—especially on fine cloth—cut one thread the entire length, then draw out, for an inch, the required number of threads; by this means no mistake can be made in the number drawn.

Scotch embroidery may be inserted in the seam of underwear by first cutting the hem (this is to be used afterward as a facing), and placing the right side of the garment and the right side of the edging together. Put the facing and baste the three together and stitch; then turn the facing and hem to the garment. Many people fell the facing at the top and bottom; the work looks better done by the first method and there is one less felling to be made.

Activity in the Philippines.

A dispatch from Manila, March 5, says: In an interview the correspondent of the Associated Press, Mr. D. M. Carman, the American contractor, who is charged with furnishing the insurgents and who was recently released on $10,000 bail, that sickness prevented his making an extended statement now, but stated that he had done nothing unauthorized and that he was hoping for a speedy and complete vindication. He said: "Whenever I made a contract I lost. Others made money too."

Captain Hand, of the Forty-second United States Volunteer Infantry, and Captain McLean, of the Forty-second Volunteer Infantry, co-operating with a gunboat Don Juan de Austria, attacked a body of insurgents in the town of Pasacao on the Camarines province, Luzon, and captured an insurgent commissary general and a quantity of supplies. Protosico Montejar, leader of the insurgent forces in the island of Luzon, with seven officers, forty-nine and thirty-eight rifles, have surrendered to Captain Baker, of the Forty-sixth Infantry.

Fifteen of the insurgent leaders of Albay province, Island of Panay, and their families have taken the oath of allegiance to the United States after having promised to swear fealty to the United States if the war continued and if the United States should succeed in the attempt to establish a government in the Philippines. The United States Commission has received a cablegram from Aguinaldo, the insurgent chief, in which he says that he will be ready to discuss the question of the cessation of hostilities.

Twenty-four hundred and five hundred insurgent prisoners are now held at Manila. The new prison on Grande island, in Subig bay, sixty miles from Manila, has been completed, and the prisoners will be sent there. Manila on the seventh of March.

The provincial officers of the province of Balacan and Bataan have taken the oath of office before the Commission.

Hanley Renominates His Entire Cabinet.

The president on Tuesday sent the following nominations to the senate: John Hay, of the District of Columbia, to be secretary of state. Lyman J. Gage, of Illinois, to be secretary of the treasury. Elihu Root, of New York, to be secretary of war. William W. Griggs, of New Jersey, to be attorney-general. Charles Emory Smith, of Pennsylvania, to be postmaster general. William D. Long, of Massachusetts, to be secretary of the navy. Ethan A. Hitchcock, of Missouri, to be secretary of the interior. James Wilson, of Iowa, to be secretary of agriculture. The senate confirmed all the cabinet nominations.

A Dog's Devotion.

During a fire in the Sutliffe block, Barren, Ohio, Saturday, Mrs. Schoenburger was rescued from a second-story window by firemen at the risk of their lives to save her life. Mrs. Schoenburger was asleep when the fire started. Her little dog bit her on the heel and by barks led the firemen to her apartment where she discovered the flames. The dog was burned to death and Mrs. Schoenburger was rescued too late to save her life.

General debility, executive, judicial and the Indian appropriations have been approved by the president.

Attempted to Wreck a Train.

There was an attempt to wreck a crowded excursion train Saturday night nine miles west of DeFuniak. The attempt was discovered before any damage was done. The sheriff hounds the sheriff Sunday arrested two negroes charged with the crime. It is supposed robbery was the motive.

Sudden Death at Bessemer.

D. Givens, a Tuscaloosa county man, fell in his chair dead while at Mrs. Byer's restaurant in Bessemer Thursday morning. He was about 55 years of age. Heart failure is presumably the cause of his death. He was conversing merrily with a number of companions seated at the table when death came.

A general merchandise store belonging to Drum on Dexter avenue, opposite the postoffice, Montgomery, was burned by fire and water Thursday night. The loss will be about $8,000, fully covered by insurance.

In Alley, of Jasper, Tenn., while a horse was struck by a car Thursday last in the head and probably fatally injured. He fell on his head and the horse fell on him.

It is now intimated that telephone and telegraph wires is among the possibilities. The rumor is not sufficiently strong to cause any reduction of stock.

A Definition of Home.

A beautiful definition of home was given by Lady Aberdeen in the address delivered by her before the recent meeting at Toronto of the National Council of Women. "What is home? An indefinable something that makes home, that reveals itself in the books and pictures in the arrangement of the rooms, in the preparation for a meal, in the tones of the children, in the expression of husbands and wife? We cannot describe it, but we recognize it at once when it is present, and home can be truly a home without some measure of it. We do not want just houses where we can eat comfortably and sleep well, but we want homes full of rest and peace and joy and refreshment."

New Occupation for Women.

A new field of employment for women has recently sprung up, but because it is evident to Dame Fortune's minions it may be of only a temporary character. It is the arranging and hanging of quaint chains and necklaces. A pretty one purchased from an English woman was composed of blue and emerald green Venetian beads intermingled with others of larger size. At night the beads light up brilliantly and are almost indistinguishable from real gems. Another was made of rough, uncut and beautifully polished amber. No two chains are made alike, and old gems and relics are introduced into them. Pale green jade and coral are particularly pretty for young girls. Muff chains are made of Venetian beads strung on twisted gold braid.

The New Large Waist.

Small waists are going out of fashion. They are doomed soon to be extinct. Broad waists are henceforth to be the fashion, and in their honor to be sung in verse and prose. Doctors will rejoice at this, but the fair women will think of the beautiful dresses, so varied and of the graceful lines of Venus of Medicis, and will become reconciled to the new broad waist fashion that for that is coming.

This explains the present craze for "Josephine boudoir gown," as tea gowns are now called. It is made of soft India cashmere, gathered on to a silk yoke, fitted like a bolero, and a soft Japanese scarf is tied around the waist as high as possible. Japanese silk "boudoir gowns" are also fashionable and lovely at the same time.

Fashions for Brides.

"If all the world loves a lover," certainly it is, too, that all womanly women are interested in brides and trousseaux. The interest that is bestowed upon brides in general seems to be never failing. The trousseau of the present day is, however, a much more sensible affair than that of old. Young women have wisely come to the conclusion that a great mistake was that old fashioned idea of having a thorough outfit, even if by so doing a bride were a physical and mental wreck from the consequent fatigue and worry. Those brides of years ago are not to be compared with the prosaic perfectly healthy, contented young woman who has not devoted all the weeks and months of her engagement to laying in a supply of clothes sufficient to last her for years. The original purpose of a trousseau is in itself an excellent one, and that a bride should start on her married life with a sufficient amount of clothing to last for a twelvemonth, no one can question, but it is not necessary to buy clothes for a year ahead, particularly now when fashions change so constantly. A sum of money, large or small, as the case may be, put in the bank for the year's expenses, and merely what is necessary for the season of the year when one is married purchased at once, is a far more practical plan.—Harper's Bazar.

Sewing Hints.

A teacher of sewing writes to the Boston Cooking School magazine that great improvement can be made on the old way of basting on ruffles that are to be sewed by hand, by pinning the ruffle to the garment every inch or two, using fine needles or pins, and placing them vertically (up and down) between the gathers. This does away with the irregular arrangement of the gathers often seen on ruffles.

All buttonholes for underwear should have a bar on the outside as well as on the inside ends. Without this they will fray out and ruin the garment.

When pulling threads for hemstitching—especially on fine cloth—pull out one thread the entire length, then draw out for an inch, the required number of threads; by this means a straight line can be made in the number drawn.

Hamburg may be inserted in the seams of underwear by first cutting off the hem (this is to be used afterward as a facing), and placing the right side of the garment and the right side of the edging together. Put in the facing and baste the three parts together and stitch; then turn up the facing and hem to the garment. Many people fell the facing at the top and bottom; the work looks better done by the first method and there is one less felling to be made.

How to Put That Sleeve In.

What home dressmaker hasn't worried herself almost into nervous prostration over setting the sleeves into a bodice? The pesky thing wouldn't come right. If it drew too lightly over the arms at the first attempt, it twisted all out of shape when laboriously taken out and put in again, so that a wearer would have to turn herself into a human corkscrew to get into it. If the latter defect developed first, the other followed with a sureness and regularity unbeautifully suggestive of clock work. There was the young mother who experienced this trouble in an infant's robe, and who on the third setting in of the sleeve found that it turned just half around. "The little soft arms will twist anyway," said she at last, and let it stay. But it won't work that way with grown-ups, and many a bodice well in hand has been turned over to a dressmaker to complete just because of this difficulty. Sure avoidance comes from following this simple rule: Place the inside seam of the sleeve from an inch and a half to two inches forward of the waist's under-arm seam. The exact distance depends on the size of the wearer of the bodice, and as the dimensions given are, respectively, for a small and for a large woman, it can be determined very readily. The rule applies generally from calico to satin, from infant's robe to bride's gown, and the result will be as satisfactory as could be gotten from the highest-priced dressmaker.

How Mrs. Grant Spends Her Time.

Time has dealt gently with Mrs. U. S. Grant. In appearance she is still only "elderly." In her manner she is kind and motherly, showing a wonderful simplicity and naturalness when one stops to think of the artificial atmosphere in which she has lived so long.

She has recently been engaged in adding the finishing touches to a journal of her trip to California in 1894, which she intends to present as a New Year gift to her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Ulysses Grant.

"When I am in the vein for it," Mrs. Grant says, "I write with great ease. My eyes have failed almost entirely, however, and spectacles being of no assistance, I can't read what I write. This makes revision difficult, and I decline many overtures from magazines and newspapers for articles. My poor sight, too, deprives me of the pleasure of going in to society, which I should very much enjoy. It is embarrassing not to know people, and so I accept no invitations. Still, time doesn't hang heavy upon my hands. Mary reads the newspaper to me every morning, and I knit and take drives, and loll about, and Nellie and I play patience and other games of cards."

Mrs. Sartoris and her family live with Mrs. Grant, and when they are all at home there are only two spare rooms. The house is not elaborately furnished, Mrs. Grant having used in it just what she happened to have when she moved in four years ago. All objects associated with her husband, except his pictures, which are scattered everywhere, have been placed in the National Museum.—Washington Special, in Philadelphia Record.

The Daughter's Place.

After a young woman has finished her school education, when she takes her place in society and enters on her kingdom as the princess royal of the home, she discovers that she need have no sinecure. Without the slightest interference with her mother's prerogative, she may assume a number of lesser and larger cares, which have hitherto been borne by the matron, unaided. She will relieve her mother of much of the formal correspondence incidental to social intercourse, will send cardson the several occasions when they are necessary, write and answer invitations, and attend to the various small courtesies which are incumbent on families who maintain friendship with others in the same or neighboring cities. Servants usually adore the daughter of the house, and receive her suggestions with a ready acquiescence not invariable when they fall from the lips of authority. If there are younger children the daughter aids in their supervision, and she is the comrade and confidante of her brothers next in age. What she may be to her father depends almost wholly on her tact, unselfishness and sweetness of manner and disposition. Fathers are wont to hold their daughters in very tender regard; to accord them many indulgences, to deny them nothing in their power to bestow. When a father is in middle life, bearing the burden and the heat of the day, possibly carrying a heavy load of business anxieties, and losing the elasticity of youth, his daughter may give him something of sympathy, companionship and pleasure which no other person can. Her mother stands on the self-same plane of age and experience, and has too great a realization of the difficulties in the way; the daughter's ignorance natural to her age, and her youthful outlook, give her an immense advantage. Father and daughter may be the closest of friends, if the daughter so elect, to the mutual good of both.—Collier's Weekly.

Mrs. P.'s Orders.

Grimes—What an observing woman your wife is! Tetlow was way across the room, and she spied out at once that one of the buttons was off his coat.

Pilgarlic—Yes; but all the buttons might be off my coat and every other garment, and she never would find it out. In the matter of buttons she is far sighted, you see.—Boston Transcript.

PROFIT FROM A DAIRY HERD.

The profit from a dairy herd is due to the yields of the best cows. It is possible for a dairyman to sell one-half of his cows and make a larger profit on fewer animals than on the original number. There are hundreds of herds where a few good cows not only give a profit, but also support the unprofitable ones.

KEEPING QUALITIES OF ROOT CROPS.

There is a difference in the keeping qualities of root crops. Carrots and beets seem to lose their sweetness after being frozen, but parsnips and salsify can be left in the rows all winter. The parsnip is a more valuable crop than some others. Freezing does not injure its quality and it is excellent for stock and on the table. It can be cooked in various ways.

WHAT TREES TO PLANT.

The best trees to plant for forestry purposes depend largely on location and the character of the soil. Black walnut, butternut, wild cherry, curly ash and bird's eye maple are all valuable woods for making furniture. For bent woods and many farm implements, elm is most in demand. For railroad ties, telegraph poles, spars and masts, the sweet chestnut, Scotch larch, ailanthus and eucalyptus are good. Oaks and hickories are slow-growing trees, but may be planted among other varieties to be thinned out for hoop poles, while the main plantation is allowed to grow.

HOGS FOLLOWING CATTLE.

Corn is fed on the ear to cattle, there is considerable waste, and two hogs to each steer is not too many to consume this. When fed shelled in tight boxes, the waste will be smaller and consequently fewer hogs will be fattened. About one to every two steers is then the rule. When ground feed is given to the steers, there is considerable less to be consumed by hogs.

ADVANTAGES OF DEEPER PLOWING.

It has long been an expression in England that the best way to increase the size of a farm was by going down deeper, instead of widening out from the sides. Those who cultivate only the six inches of the surface soil are limiting their operations. While the cold sub-soil should not be turned over so as to be placed on the surface, yet the plow can encroach a little on the sub-soil every year, and if a sub-soil plow is used, then the lower soil may be loosened so as to permit of the easier penetration of the roots of plants. The subsoil is rich in plant foods that can be made available for crops, and as long as clover and other crops are grown and turned under, there will be added to the surface soil portions of the fertilizing elements that are taken up by the growing crops and returned to the land.

THE TRAP NEST.

The trap nest is an individual nest. It should be so constructed as to be inviting to the laying hen and yet exclude the non-layer. The laying hen loves to spend considerable time on the nest, undisturbed by her mates or the attendant, hence the individual nest is in perfect accord with nature. As the hen remains on the nest until removed by the attendant, an accurate record of her produce is obtained and we are able to weed out the drones and perpetuate the best by breeding from the prolific layers. At least one-third of the hens of an average flock do not lay eggs enough in one year to pay for their food. The good layers are undervalued, while the poor layers are given undeserved credit. They may lay fairly well in the spring, yet do little or nothing the rest of the year.

By the use of the trap nests we learn the egg value of each hen in the flock and are enabled to handle the layers frequently, thus taming them and keeping constantly informed as to their individual condition and requirements. Beginning a number of years ago as a fad, the individual nest system has gradually developed until now its adoption presents a practical business proposition to the market poultryman and the farmer as well as to the fancier and pedigree breeder. The practical, simple, inexpensive yet scientific trap nest enables every poultry keeper to adopt the individual system.—F. O. Wellcome, in New England Homestead.

SELLING FANCY POULTRY.

In order to be successful with fancy poultry we are told that we must never misrepresent any fowl when offering it for sale. That we must be candid with our customers and deliver them exactly what they buy. True, and so far as the seller goes, there is no question about the justice due the buyer. But are buyers so considerate with the sellers? Do they not ask, even demand, more than they purchase—far more than their money's worth?

For example a beginner, even often an experienced breeder, will ask for price of fowls for breeding purposes, and when they are delivered to them they send up a howl, claiming they are not what they expected, being poor in one way or another, and totally unfit for show purposes, when, as a matter of fact, show birds were never mentioned in the inquiry.

It is totally impossible to satisfy such purchasers, and the man who starts out expecting to hear only words of praise about the magnificent fowls he sends every customer, will find soon that his hair is prematurely turning gray from worry, or he will find himself making application to the almshouse. Don't expect every customer to praise your generosity. A great many really do not know when they get what they pay for.—Home and Farm.

CLEAN MILK AND BUTTER.

The first essential to securing clean and healthful milk is a clean and healthful cow. It is next to impossible to secure clean and pure milk from a dirty cow; it is impossible to get healthful milk from an unhealthy cow. Given a clean and healthy cow, she must be provided with a sufficient quantity of clean, healthful and nutritious food and water. This is the second essential. The third essential is that the person who does the milking and the place where the milking is done shall also be clean and healthful. A dirty milker, one with dirty hands, cannot do clean milking. No person who is suffering from or who attends upon others suffering from any contagious disease can milk without contaminating the milk. Scarlet fever, measles and diphtheria are especially liable to transmission by a milker.

The fourth essential is keeping the milk clean until it is to be used. Much more milk is damaged before it gets out of the cowhouse than after; nevertheless, eternal vigilance is necessary from the milk pail to the butter plate. Wash, rinse, scald, scour and sun all the milk vessels is the only programme that assures success.

Clean and pure butter can only come from clean and pure milk. Once filth of any kind gets into milk, its essence stays there. Straining, aeration, separation, each does something, and all may do much toward cleaning milk, but the only safe or satisfactory way is never to let it get in. Purity is indeed cleanliness, and cleanliness is health.—N. B. Franklin, in Jersey Bulletin.

WINTERING HALF-HARDY PLANTS.

It should be well known to advanced gardeners, by this time, that light is as great an agent in destruction by frost as frost alone. But little practical advantage has been taken of this knowledge, except by gardening folk generally, of what the advanced gardeners know. The latter shades his greenhouse when he finds the plants frozen—and he plants rhododendrons and similar plants where the sun does not strike them in frosty weather, if he should have any choice in the selection of a site. In the extra cold region of the northwest, the advanced gardener shades the trunks of his fruit trees by placing boards, fastened together like tree boxes, up against them. And thus the trees escape sunscald arising from being under the sunlight, and similar troubles.

Surely, orange growers in Florida might profit by this experience of their Northern brethren. It would not be a very expensive thing to make an arbor of lath over an orange grove, the lath being an inch or so apart. With such a partial shade the plants would probably endure ten or twelve spasmodic degrees of frost without injury—and the shade in summer would doubtless be all the better for the trees—at least the trunks of the trees might be boxed, and even filled with earth if the weight could be supported. If the tops should suffer from frost, the strong trunks would sooner recover than when the whole tree was killed to the ground. —Meehan's Monthly.

TEMPER AND TEMPERATURE.

I have observed that the weather has a marked influence on dairy cows. A dry hard wind makes them nervous. Severe cold has the same effect. Step on a corn or a cold foot and you will quickly have a chance to look into the eyes of an angry man. Speak roughly to your cow on a cold morning, or strike her, and you may be thankful if you do not get a kick as well as an unusually small quantity of milk. If you and your cow are high strung and the morning is unusually cold, or the night has been windy, be careful, and hold your tongue, your feet, and your hands, or Bossy may hurt you. It might be well, and profitable, to prepare more carefully than you do to keep up the temperature of your stable, for temper and temperature go by contraries—sometimes temperature down, temper up. Sometimes they agree, as on a blustry day, when the kick of the brindle heifer may be "passed around" the cow yard.

It is a problem to secure an even temperature for milk cows. It involves quantity of feed consumed as well as quantity of milk secured. Excessive cold not only causes waste of feed, but it reduces the vital power of the animal, turning aside from their ordinary use the products of digestion and assimilation. That which should go to make milk and butter must be used for fuel. The digestive powers of the animal are overtaxed. Every observant farmer or stockman knows that any animal that is exposed to severe cold will eat much more hay than one that is kept in a warm stable. To digest this extra amount, which serves only to keep the animal warm, is waste of feed as well as of power. And the problem of temperature is no less. Keep your cows quiet by treating them kindly, by dehorning at least the unruly ones, by keeping them in warm stables in cold weather and on wet days, and by keeping them always where their feet will be dry. Every thinking man knows it will pay.—D. W. Working, in Agricultural Epitomist.

When Buying Table Linen.

In purchasing table linen the cream weave will be found more durable than the white or half bleached. While pattern tablecloths are more desirable for "best" than those cut from the web, the latter will be found much cheaper for everyday use. Cheap, sleazy damask is never advisable, the loose weave rendering it a poor investment, in point of service. The medium grades of either Scotch or Irish make will be found unequaled for satisfactory wearing qualities. Before hemming a tablecloth see that it is cut by the pattern. The thread makes the pattern, and if one follows the pattern it takes less time than pulling the thread. While hemstitching makes a pretty finish, it cannot endure hard usage, and is, therefore, inappropriate for cloths that have to be frequently laundered. The best way to hem everyday linen is to turn and baste a narrow hem, then folding the hem back again on the right side of the cloth, sew the hem to the cloth by hand in an over-and-over seam. Then flatten and press the hem in place. The monogram or initial of the house mistress should be wrought diagonally in one corner in white linen or outline silk.—Washington Star.

A Window-Garden.

Of course, a window-garden should be planned the latter part of October or November, but if you have omitted to do so consult your florist, and he will have some suggestions to offer you for a garden as late as February. The box itself should be made to fit the window of the living-room, where it can be enjoyed by every member of the family. A southern exposure is always preferable, but if you are not so fortunate as to have a choice of windows, and are blessed with patience and ever so small a stock of gumption, you can grow plants at any window in the house. However, choose the one that lets in the most sunlight, for plants as a rule are like the human family, and need a reasonable amount of light and air.

The box proper should not be less than six inches deep, and will look much better if painted green. Put some bits of broken crockery and pieces of charcoal in the bottom to insure perfect drainage, then fill with good, rich soil. Select those bulbs which will do well under the same conditions of heat, air and moisture, such as Roman, Dutch and Italian hyacinths, Chinese sacred narcissi, paper white and double Von Sion, tulips and Chinese sacred lilies.—Hesper A. Bassett, in the Woman's Home Companion.

Tomato Bouillon—One pint tomatoes, one pint stock, one small onion, one blade mace, one bayleaf, simmered together for ten minutes. Strain and return to stove; add a paste made by rubbing together one tablespoonful butter and one tablespoonful flour; season with salt and pepper, and serve in bouillon cups with whipped cream.

Buckwheat Shortcake—Take two cupfuls of nice sour milk (freshly churned buttermilk is the best), and half a level teaspoonful of soda (more if the milk is very sour) and a level teaspoonful of salt; add sufficient buckwheat flour to make a very stiff batter. Pour this into a buttered tin and bake immediately for about thirty minutes. Serve with butter and maple syrup.

Prunes—Should be washed, soaked over night, then simmer slowly for hours until tender; add more water if needed. In this way they are very rich and delicious. The value of the fruit is too often impaired through the erroneous use of sugar in its preparation for the table. Not only is this detrimental to its nutritive qualities, but unnecessary, as the prune, when perfectly cured, contains an amplitude of native saccharine matter.

Orange-Butter Sandwiches—Take two hard-boiled eggs, put in a mortar with an ounce of butter, a tablespoonful of thick cream, an ounce of blanched chopped almonds, two ounces sugar, the grated rind of an orange. Pound all and moisten with orange juice until a soft paste is formed. Put in cool place until you want to use. Serve on thin bread and butter in the form of a sandwich.

Cream of Pea Soup—One quart of seasoned stock boiled slowly for thirty minutes, with three cloves, two bay leaves and five drops burned onion juice. Strain and add one large cupful of flaked peas and cook ten minutes, then add one large cupful of cream and milk mixed, one heaping tablespoonful of butter, one-half teaspoonful of salt and a pinch of cayenne pepper. When it boils up it is ready to serve.

Stanislaus County, Cal., has one of the largest concrete dams in existence, diverting the waters of the Stanislaus River for the irrigation of 170,000 acres in the Turlock district.

SCIENCE AND INDUSTRY.

Corpses or other masses of coal often take fire spontaneously. The popular belief is that this is due to the action of moisture on the pyrites and other impurities in the coal. The Mining Review, however, now quotes the results of Professor Threlfall's experiments on the subject, and claims that popular tradition is again wrong. The investigations showed that dry coal is more likely to take fire than wet.

A lecturer at the London Polytechnic declared at a recent meeting that the progress of leprosy could be arrested if sufferers would abstain wholly from eating fish. He cited several cases in his own experience. One was that of a man who was blind from leprosy and who had had muscular atrophy for 15 years. After 18 months' abstinence, taking at the same time small doses of arsenic, all traces of patches had disappeared from his hands and feet.

An extensive botanical garden has recently been laid out at Dahlem, a village within easy distance of Berlin, which possesses some novel features. It is situated in very rough country, and unique advantage has been taken of this fact by reproducing, as far as possible, the natural scenery from which the various specimens of flora have been collected from all parts of the world. By this means a more comprehensive idea is obtainable of the native habitat of the plants and trees, and the conditions under which they thrive.

An outbreak of typhoid fever has occurred in Lambeth, Eng., owing to infected mangles. Forty-one cases occurred in 24 houses, all within a restricted area. There was much intercommunication between places and families living in different houses. Many of the inhabitants after washing their clothes in their own homes took them to some neighbor to be mangled. Owing to this custom, bedding and clothing of those ill with typhoid fever were mangled in the same machine, thus spreading the disease. Four different infected mangles were traced.

Professor Koch, in describing his experiences with the government expedition in Java and New Guinea, stated that he had reached the conclusion that gnat bites introduced and developed parasites into the human body. The germs are passed by a gnat from one human body to another, but they develop in the body of the gnat during the passage. Children are specially liable to impregnation. In a village in New Guinea, 137 inhabitants out of 700 were infected by the disease. All inoculations have hitherto proved to be failures, but the success of quinine is very gratifying.

The liquid crystals with which O. Lehmann so startled the world a few years ago have now been proven to lack no quality that can be logically made part of the definition of a crystal. The only general characteristics of crystals are that they are not isotropic, and that they possess a molecular directive force that governs their shape and the disposition of their particles. The directive force is preserved by surface tension, so that crystals may be liquid or solid but not gaseous. Liquid crystals may be produced by depositing solid crystals from a mother liquor on the cover glass of a microscope and gently heating them above the fusing point.

A Scientific Violin.

The science of the violin, as may be supposed, is but imperfectly understood. The present form of the instrument was worked out more than 200 years ago by the Italian makers, but resulted from experiment rather than an intelligent application of acoustic principles, and gives varying results. When the curves of the ribs or sides are uneven or incorrect the sound waves interfere, causing some tones to be imperfect. After much study of the subject, Dr. Alfred Stelzner, a German, has brought out a new model, in which sections of ellipses are adopted for the ribs and the opposite sides are made carefully symmetrical, so that the sound waves from each side are reflected to the same foci, in the middle. Whether the theory of the violin has been fully mastered or not the new model is said to produce a remarkably fine tone.

Sea Currents and Migrations.

A French scientific journal calls attention to a recent report of the French consul at Hawaii which it thinks, throws light on some problems of ethnography. Not long ago a little schooner, dismantled and with its rudder gone as the result of a tempest, was drifted by winds and ocean currents from Tahiti to Hawaii after 81 days of helpless wandering. Hawaiian traditions declare that in ancient days people came from Tahiti, drifting with the currents, and settled Hawaii. The adventure of the dismantled schooner seems to prove the possibility of such a migration, and it is suggested that the currents of the Pacific, which have not yet been sufficiently studied, may throw much light on the distribution of the native races among the island groups.—Youth's Companion.

To Surmount the Difficulty.

"And if your party came suddenly to a stream," said the story teller, "too deep for your horse to wade over, too wide for it to jump over, and too swift flowing for it to swim over, what would you do?"

"Why, that's easy," said one of the party; "we'd all down and think it over."—Yonkers Statesman.

THE BANNER.

Printed and Published Every Thursday at Clanton, Chilton County, Ala.

Entered at the postoffice at Clanton, Ala., as second-class mail matter.

"Here shall the press the people's rights maintain,
Unawed by influence and unbribed by gain,
Here patriot truth her glorious precepts draw,
Pledged to religion, liberty and law."

Subscription, yearly . . . $1.00
Invariably in Advance.

Address all communications to
THE BANNER,
Clanton, Ala.

OUR NEW CENTURY OFFER

THE BANNER finished the last century in excellent condition, but we wish to commence the new with a large number of new subscribers, and for that purpose have much pleasure in making the following offer:

The Banner one year (52 papers) for 75 cents

The Banner one year and the N. Y. World Almanac and Encyclopedia for 1901, over 600 pages, $1.00

The Banner and Home & Farm, both papers one year for $1.00

The Banner and Birmingham Age Herald, both papers one year for $1.25

The Banner and Thrice-a-Week World—four papers every week for one year for $1.50

The Banner and Montgomery Advertiser, both papers one year for $1.50

The Banner and Atlanta Constitution and Home & Farm—all three for one year for $1.50

The Banner and Atlanta Constitution and your choice of a number of other periodicals—all three for 1 year for $1.50

The Banner and American Monthly Review of Reviews—both one year for $2.75

WE are informed by Mr. Tipton Mullins that he has decided to become a candidate for delegate to the Constitutional Convention from this, the Fifteenth Senatorial District. We understand his prospects are exceedingly good, and we hope Chilton will roll him up a good majority.

POPULIST EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

The Populist Executive Committee met at the court house Tuesday morning. In the absence of Chairman L. B. Pounds, who was detained by his legislative duties at Montgomery, the committee elected Judge S. M. Adams temporary chairman.

The roll was called, and all beats, except beat 8, responded.

Judge Adams read a letter from L. B. Pounds, and stated the committee was now ready for business. The first business was to provide means for the election of a delegate to the constitutional convention. He thought it would be easiest and quickest to call Beat meetings and have a county convention.

A. T. Hathcock moved that Beat meetings be held on Saturday, March 23, at 2 p.m. for the purpose of electing delegates to a county convention to be held at Clanton on Monday, March 25, at 10 a.m. to nominate a delegate to the constitutional convention.

A motion was made and carried that the number of delegates from each Beat should be one for every twenty votes, or majority fraction thereof, cast for L. B. Pounds for Representative at the last August election. Following is a list of delegates to be electrd from each Beat:

Beat 1			7	Beat 5	Box 2	2
" 2	Box 1		1	" 6		6
" 2	" 2		8	" 7	" 1	4
" 3	" 1		2	" 7	" 2	2
" 3	" 2		2	" 8	" 1	5
" 4			12	" 8	" 2	2
" 5	" 1		7	" 9		7

making a total of 66 delegates.

A committee of three, S. M. Adams, L. H. Reynolds and A. T. Hathcock, was appointed to prepare an address to the people of Chilton county.

L. H. Reynolds offered the following resolution:

Resolved. That we, the Executive Committee of the People's Party of Chilton county, are opposed to the holding of a constitutional convention, for we believe that many white men will be disfranchised if the convention is held.

The resolution was unanimously adopted and the committee adjourned to meet again on Monday, March 25, at 9 a.m.

TO THE PEOPLE OF CHILTON COUNTY:

The approaching election of a Representative to the Constitutional Convention is of such vast importance to every man, woman and child in this county, that we feel impelled to ask you to earnestly consider what course you should pursue. We, therefore appeal to you, First: to vote against the holding of the Convention, and Second: to vote for a Representative in whom you can place implicit trust.

The Populist party of this county has always shown good judgment in electing their several officers, and it is now, more than ever, necessary that the people should send a Representative to the Convention whose past experience has been such that he will be able to make his presence known in the Convention.

The Democratic party has declared that the Convention is a party measure. We contend that the Convention should be free from party influences, and we invite everyone who opposes the Convention, and who is in favor of local self-government, to participate in our Beat meetings and county convention, so that the people may unite upon the man best fitted to represent them in the Constitutional Convention.

The recent action of the Democratic party in the General Assembly of Alabama impresses us with the idea that they have altogether ignored original Democratic principles, viz.: the right of the people to local self government, and forces upon us the conviction that it is more than ever necessary that the people themselves should be represented in the Convention by those opposed to the present demoralizing policy of the Democratic party.

Modern Democracy advocates principles and practices unknown to original Democracy. It does this by putting in its platform a recommendation that the defeated candidate, if a Democrat, shall represent the county in matters of local legislation. This kind of legislation leads to corruption and the ultimate downfall and overthrow of the people's rights. This is proven by the enactment of a stock law by a Democratic Senator, a defeated Democratic candidate and a Democratic Legislature, against the wishes and express desires of the majority of the people, both Populists and Democrats, in Beat 5.

The Democratic party, in our judgment, can do more and mean less than any political party now in existence. For instance, after a Democratic senator, through a Democratic legislature, has put upon free white people a law like the stock law of Beat 5, they come together in their Executive Committee in this county, and publish to the world that they are unalterably opposed to stock law, when they know that it is too late for their recommendation to have an effect at this late hour.

We appeal to every patriotic, liberty-loving citizen in Chilton county, to come to our Beat meetings on Saturday, March 23, 1901, and vote for delegates to our County convention which will meet at Clanton on Monday, March 25, for the purpose of nominating a candidate to represent the people of this county in the Constitutional Convention.

This, in many particulars, is the most important election ever held, or that will ever be held during your lifetime, for the simple reason that a Constitutional Convention will deal directly with the people's liberty in the right to vote, and upon the ballot every intelligent American citizen knows depends his freedom and the right to pursue happiness according to the dictates of his own conscience.

Each member of the Executive Committee is authorized to call the meetings for his beat, and in the event of his absence any one or more Populists who assemble at their several meeting places in each beat on Saturday, March 23, at 2 p.m., can call the meeting to order and proceed to the election of delegates to the county convention.

S. M. ADAMS
L. H. REYNOLDS } Committee.
A. T. HATHCOCK

DEMOCRATIC EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

At a meeting of the Democratic executive committee of Chilton county held on the 4th day of March, 1901, a county convention of the party was called to meet in Clanton on the 14th day of March, 1901, for the purpose of nominating a candidate delegate from Chilton county to the Constitutional Convention and for the purpose of selecting a delegation to represent said county in the state convention of the party which convenes in Montgomery, Alabama, on the 19th day of March, 1901. Beat meetings are hereby called to meet at the several voting places in the county as heretofore at 10 o' clock on the 9th day of March, 1901, for the purpose of selecting delegates to the said county convention. Each beat and voting place shall be entitled to the same number of delegates that it had in the last county convention. The qualifications of participants in said beat meeting shall be the same as that fixed by the State executive committee of the party. Beat meeting may be conducted in the form of a primary at any box in the county, if the committeeman in the beat so orders.

The following resolutions were adopted, to wit; First. That in the opinion of this committee a large majority of Democrats in Chilton county are opposed at a stock Law Resolved; Second. That we earnestly request Honorable Walter R. Oliver, our representative in the Senate, to do all in his power to pass House Bill number 1573, which submits the question of discontinuing Stock Laws in Stock Law districts of Chilton county, to a vote of the people effected by Stock Laws.

TIPTON MULLINS, Chm.
JOSEPH A. MITCHELL, Sec.

Night Was Her Terror.

"I would cough nearly all night long," writes Mrs Chas. Applegate, of Alexandria, Ind., "and could hardly get any sleep. I had consumption so bad that if I walked a block I would cough frightfully and spit blood; but when all other medicines failed, three $1.00 bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery wholly cured me and I gained 54 pounds." It's absolutely guaranteed to cure Coughs, Colds, La Grippe, Bronchitis and all Throat and Lung Troubles. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at Clanton Drug Co.

Mrs. C. E. VanDeusen, of Kilbourn, Wis, was afflicted with stomach trouble and constipation for a long time. She says "I have tried many preparations but none have done me the good that Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets have." These Tablets are for sale at Clanton Drug Co. and D. I. Deramus, Verbena. Price, 25 cents. Samples free.

We observed in the Chilton county Banner of last week the announcement of Dr. H. W. Caffey as a candidate for the constitutional convention of that county. The News would be glad to see him so honored for as ex-Judge of Lowndes county is highly esteemed both in that relation and as an honored, intellectual and christian gentleman. Chilton, in our opinion, would furnish an able representative in selecting Dr. Caffey.—Lowndes News.

Dr. Caffey's Candidacy.

We are glad to note that our esteemed friend, Dr. H. W. Caffey, of Chilton county, is a candidate for delegate to the constitutional convention. He is in every sense worthy and well qualified to aid in revising our constitution and we hope that the good people of Chilton will elect him.—Tuskegee News.

Dr. Tichenor's Antiseptic makes friends of every one who gives it a fair trial. Clean pleasant, harmless, reliable. Use externally for Wounds, Burns Sprains, etc. Internally for Colic, Pain and derangements of the Stomach and Bowels. Little wonder of the world. Household favorite wherever known. Ask Your Druggist for it. He likes to sell it, you know.

Cheaper Than Ever

SPRING GOODS COMING
ALL WINTER GOODS MUST BE SOLD UNDER COST.
BIG LINE OF CLOTHING:
Men's Suits . . . from $3 up
Boys' " . . . " 98c up
SHOES, DRY GOODS, etc.
NOW IS YOUR TIME TO BUY.
H. TOURO, Clanton.

W. H. Sartor, Clanton

Dealer in Everything for Everybody

NOTICE

To the taxpayers of Beat Four.

Those of you who have failed to assess your taxes for the year 1901 will please call at the circuit clerk's office when in Clanton, where you will find me and my books at any time up to March 20, 1901.

M. F. LETT, Dep. Tax As'r.

Stops the cough and Works off the cold.

Laxative Bromo-Quinine Tablets cure a cold in one day. No Cure No Pay. Price 25 cents.

Do you want a mounted map of Alabama in five colors, size 24x34 giving census of every county and town? Also, a complete and correct map of the world, same size? You can get the same by sending 75 cents for one year's subscription to the Birmingham Weekly Age-Herald. Or, $2 for three months' subscription to The Daily Age Herald. The map and the paper will be promptly sent upon receipt of P. O. or express money order. Address

AGE-HERALD,
Birmingham, Ala.

Remarkable Cures of Rheumatism

From the Vindicator, Rutherfordton, N.C.

The editor of the Vindicator has had occasion to test the efficacy of Chamberlain's Pain Balm twice with the most remarkable results in each case, First with rheumatism in the shoulder from which he suffered excruciating pain for ten days, which was relieved with two applications of Pain Balm, rubbing the parts affected and realizing instant benefit and entire relief in a very short time. Second, in rheumatism in a high joint, almost prostrating him with severe pain, which was relieved by two applications, rubbing with the liniment on retiring at night and getting up free from pain. For sale by Clanton Drug Co, and D. I. Deramus, Verbena

Mortgage Sale.

By virtue of a power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by Wm. T. Smith, and his wife Kate B. Smith, to Roberts A. Mullins guardian, on the 27th day of February 1900, and recorded in Mortgage Record Book 58, page 329 in the office of the Probate Judge of Chilton county Alabama, and which said mortgage has been transferred and assigned to the undersigned, I will proceed to sell, in front of the Court House door at Clanton, in said county of Chilton, on MONDAY, APRIL the 8th. 1901, at 12 o'clock noon, the following described real estate to-wit:

The north half of the northeast fourth, (less four acres in the northeast corner thereof) and the north half of the northwest fourth of section thirty-five; and the north half of the northwest fourth of section thirty-six, all in township twenty-three, range thirteen, east, containing 236 acres, more or less, and lying and being in Chilton county, Alabama.

Also, the following personal property, to wit. One dark bay mare named "Molly," One dark bay mare known as the "Cain mare," one two-horse wagon and harness.

MARY L. CURRY.
Assignee of said Mortgage,
ROBT. H. KNOX, Attorney.

Indeed you would be cruel to let your sweet, helpless Baby suffer with Colic or Pain in Stomach or Bowels when there is such a pleasant, safe and reliable Remedy to be obtained so easily. Any good Druggist will tell you a bottle of Dr. Tichenor's Antiseptic for 50c.

C. R. MULLINS

AGENT FOR THE LIVERPOOL & LONDON & GLOBE FIRE INSURANCE CO. OF ENGLAND. THE LONDON & LANCASHIRE FIRE INSURANCE CO. OF NEW YORK, formerly represented by W. L. Sampey.
THE ETNA ACCIDENT INSURANCE CO. OF HARTFORD, CT.
THE OLD MUTUAL BENEFIT LIFE INSURANCE CO. OF NEWARK, N.J.
AND THE SINGER MANUFACTURING CO., the largest Sewing Machine Company in the world.

We know you are interested in the problem of getting full value for the money you spend no matter what the outlay is for. I will not presume to advise you along all lines, but when it comes to buying a Sewing Machine for yourself and family I am in a position to give some valuable suggestions. For over fifty years the Company have done nothing but study the needs and requirements of the people in the matter of Sewing Machines, and our large business is proof that we are making and furnishing what they want. The styles are the very latest, unsurpassed in lasting qualities and, best of all, the prices are reasonable, and the terms within the reach of all. We are placing our machines in the leading families all over the land and if you want the best looking, the lightest running and the best of all attachments ever bought, call for the High Arm Singer. You will find a complete stock of these machines at the Singer Office, Clanton.

Machines from $5.00 to $65.00 for cash or on time. Needles, Parts, Oils, Shuttles and Attachments, and the best and only genuine Machine Oil manufactured, every bottle bearing the signature and trade mark. 10, 15 and 20 cent bottles.

My regular office days are Saturdays and Mondays. For further particulars call on or address

C. R. MULLINS.
SINGER OFFICE CLANTON

A WHOLESALE HOUSE FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE CONSUMER

We save you the Retailer's profit. We sell direct to the People at the same price that your Retailer pays for his goods. We buy direct from the Manufacturer and pay cash for our goods. You can buy one bottle from us at the same price you Retailer pays per dozen. $1 preparations, 50 to 75c. 50c preparations, 25 to 40c. 25c preparations, 10 to 20c. 15c preparations, 7 to 12c. 10c preparations, 6 to 8c.

OUR WHISKEY DEPARTMENT

Is the best in the State. All whiskey sold 25 per cent less than you can buy from any other firm. Try a quart of our J. MARTIN'S 5 YEAR OLD VIRGINIA RYE at 75c, if you are not satisfied that it is equal to any brand you buy elsewhere for $1, we will refund your money. Send us your orders. We are your friends and guarantee everything we sell.

COLLIER DRUG CO. 1926 First Avenue BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

NEW AND BIGGER STOCK!

To meet the increasing demands of business we are now laying in a NEW full line of

CLOTHING, HATS, SHOES, ETC.

all in the Latest styles and Newest Fashions.

Our GROCERIES and GENERAL MERCHANDISE are of the finest grade and always fresh.

OUR PRICES ARE BASED ON THE SMALLEST MARGIN OF PROFIT.

WE SHALL BE PLEASED TO SERVE YOU

KEMP & GILES, Clanton, Ala.

$10,000 TO BE GIVEN AWAY

WOULD YOU LIKE TO TRY FOR IT

If so, write THE WEEKLY ADVERTISER, Montgomery, Ala., and they will send you the list of prizes, and the conditions upon which you may get one of their great prizes to be given away during next May.

TOWN ITEMS

Congressional count started Monday in February, and Monday in March, and Monday in April, and Monday in May, and Monday in June, and Monday in July, and Monday in August, and Monday in September, and Monday in October, and Monday in November.

CLANTON COTTON MART

Price to-day 8 1-16 cents.
Same date last year 9 cents

Gins ginned to date:	1900	1899
Pinchard & Co.	2918	2890
Mullins	1984	2019
Wilson	372	3[illegible]
Downs	417	326
Total . . .	5691	5332

Dr. H. W. Caffey, of Verbena, was in town Tuesday.

Mr. John Garner is in town visiting with his Clanton friends.

Rev. F. M. Woods preached two fine sermons last Sunday at the Baptist church.

Mr. Jim Hewer, of Tennessee, is among his Clanton friends this week.

Mr. W. T. Callen visited Columbiana the past week.

Mrs. G. L. Phillips, after having been burned out by the late fire, has resumed her millinery business next door to Abe Karter's. Call and see her when you need anything in the millinery line.

Mr. John H. Anderson, of Clear Creek, was in town Thursday.

Mrs. Walter Johnson, of Birmingham, has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Fonza Culp.

Headache often results from a disordered condition of the stomach and constipation of the bowels. A dose or two of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets will correct these disorders and cure the headache. Sold by Clanton Drug Co and D. I. Deramus, Verbena.

We regret to say that Miss Maggie Jackson has been quite sick at the home of Mr. W. I. Mullins.

Mrs. Anderson, of Montgomery, is visiting the family of Mr. L. A. Thornton.

Miss Minnie Muse, of Jemison, is visiting friends in town.

Mrs. E. J. Phillips, of Bessemer, has returned home after a pleasant visit to friends here.

Mr. A. W. Middleton, of Shortcut, is visiting relatives here.

YOU KNOW WHAT YOU ARE TAKING when you take Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic because the formula is plainly printed on every bottle showing that it is simply Iron and Quinine in a tasteless form. No Cure, No Pay. 50c.

Mrs. O. R. Bell has returned home from Birmingham.

Mrs. D. F. Ellison has returned home from Lowndesboro, where she had gone to visit her parents, Rev. and Mrs. Hood.

Mrs. Tipton Mullins visited Montgomery this week.

Judge Craig, of Selma, gave us a pleasant call Monday.

Mr. E. R. Popwell, of Energy, was in town Tuesday.

Rev. W. J. Ruddick, of Stanton, was in town on business Tuesday.

Mr. W. H. Rouse, of Stanton, was among our visitors Tuesday.

K. BOY. The pedigree of the bull, owned by Mr. W. [illegible] Wilson, is as follows: Sire, Scraps; Dam, Golden Sue; dropped March 5 1898. Its registered number is 57958.

Marriage licenses have been issued this week by the Probate Judge to the following persons.

Mr. E. L. Burnett and Miss Mary [illegible]

Colored, P. H. Cleveland and C. [illegible]

Did you get a sample of Dr. Tichenor's Antiseptic? If so, don't throw it away. It is too good to be wasted. You need it when you cut yourself or somebody shoots you just to see you jump. If not, write Sherrouse Med. Co., New Orleans, La., for free sample.

THE VITAE ORE PREPARATIONS
For sale by
Campbelle Drug Co., Clanton,
A. Horn, Thorsby.
A. A. Ayers, Clanton.
N. A. LOGAN,
General Agent for Chilton and Shelby counties, Clanton, Ala.

O. K. Lunch Counter

MEALS AND LUNCHES SERVED AT ALL HOURS AT POPULAR PRICES
Game and Oysters during the Season
Highest market price for Chickens and Eggs.
LUNCHES PUT UP FOR TRAVELERS
O. K. LUNCH COUNTER
NEXT TO THE RAILROAD, CLANTON.
W. H. STACY, Proprietor.

RTH"
ING
PANY

IP.
S.

anton ybody

LINS
ON & GLOBE FIRE INS
& LANCASHIRE FIRE
formerly represented by
OF HARTFORD, CONN
ANCE CO. OF NEWARK
CO., the largest Newark
e world.
oblem of getting full va
the outlay is for. I will when it comes to buying an in a position to vices the Company h uirements of the people
a ge business is proof th work. The styles are ties and, best of all, the reach of all. We ves all over the land and ing and the best set
A. O. Sogers. For
ins Sugar Dist. Cure, ish in one time. N
d the best and only g bottle bearing the Sig and Morphine. For furth
NS,
ER OFFICE CLANTON.

THE BENEFIT
MER
We sell direct to the ailer pays for his goods,
r and pay cash for our s at the same price your ons, 50 to 75c. 50c pro
, 10 to 20c. 15c prepar
o 80c.
ARTMENT
old 25 per cent less than a quart of our J. Mas
if you are not satisfied isewhere for $1, we will
ers. We are your friend.
1926 First Avenue
BIRMINGHAM, AL

STOCK!
ncreasing demands of now laying in a NEW
ING, HATS
ES, ETC.
styles and Newest Fashi
ES and GENERAL M e of the finest grade always fresh.
E SMALLEST MARG TO SERVE YOU
Clanton, Ala.
IVEN AWAY
TRY FOR IT
TISER, Montgomery,
prizes, and the cond
est prizes to be given

TOWN ITEMS

Chancery court meets second Monday in February, first Monday in April, third Monday in June, second Monday in August and third Monday in November.

CLANTON COTTON MART

Price to-day 8 1-16 cents.
Same date last year 9 cents

BALES RECEIVED TO DATE:	1900	1899
Pinckard & Co.	2318	2890
Mullins	1984	2019
Wilson	372	321
Dewitt	417	326
Total	5091	5556

Dr. H. W. Caffey, of Verbena, was in town Tuesday.

Mr. John Garner is in town visiting with his Clanton friends.

Rev. F. M. Woods preached two fine sermons last Sunday at the Presbyterian church.

Mr. Jim Hewer, of Tennessee, is among his Clanton friends this week.

Mr. W. T. Cullen visited Columbiana the past week.

Mrs. G. L. Phillips, after having been burned out by the late fire, has resumed her millinery business next door to Abe Karter's. Call and see her when you need anything in the millinery line.

Mr. John H. Anderson, of Clear Creek, was in town Thursday.

Mrs. Walter Johnson, of Birmingham, has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Fonza Culp.

Headache often results from a disordered condition of the stomach and constipation of the bowels. A dose or two of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets will correct these disorders and cure the headache. Sold by Clanton Drug Co and D. L. Desmus, Verbena.

We regret to say that Miss Maggie Jackson has been quite sick at the home of Mr. W. T. Mullins.

Mrs. Anderson, of Montgomery, is visiting the family of Mr. L. A. Thornton.

Miss Minnie Muse, of Jemison, is visiting friends in town.

Mrs. L. J. Phillips, of Bessemer, has returned home after a pleasant visit to friends here.

Mr. A. W. Middleton, of Shortus, is visiting relatives here.

YOU KNOW WHAT YOU ARE TAKING
When you take Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic because the formula is plainly printed on every bottle showing that it is simply Iron and Quinine in a tasteless form. No Cure, No Pay. 50c.

Mr. C. R. Bell has returned home from Birmingham.

Mrs. D. F. Ellisor has returned home from Lowndesboro, where she had gone to visit her parents, Rev. and Mrs. Hood.

Mrs. Tipton Mullins visited Montgomery this week.

Judge Craig, of Selma, gave us a pleasant call Monday.

Mr. E. B. Popwell, of Energy, was in town Tuesday.

Rev. W. J. Ruddick, of Stanton, was in town on business Tuesday.

Mr. W. H. Rouse, of Stanton, was among our visitors Tuesday.

O. K. B. Y. The pedigree of this bull, owned by Mr. W. L. Wilson, is as follows: Sire, Newport Duke, Golden Sue; dropped March 5 1898. Its registered number is 57938.

Marriage licenses have been issued this week by the Probate Judge to the following persons.

Mr. E. L. Burnett and Miss Mary Mullins.

Colored, P. H. Cleveland and C. L. Baker.

Did you get a sample of Dr. Bonner's Antiseptic? If so, don't throw it away. It is too good to be wasted. You need it when you hurt yourself or somebody shoots you just to see you jump. If not, write Sherrouse Med. Co., New Orleans, La., for free sample.

THE VITAE ORE
PREPARATIONS are on sale by
Campbelle Drug Co., Clanton,
A. Horn, Thorsby.
A. A. Ayers, Clanton.
N. A. LOGAN,
General Agent for Chilton and Shelby counties, Clanton, Ala.

The O. K. Lunch Counter
MEALS AND LUNCHES SERVED AT ALL HOURS AT POPULAR PRICES
Fish and Oysters during the Season
I pay highest market price for Chickens and Eggs.
LUNCHES PUT UP FOR TRAVELERS
THE O. K. LUNCH COUNTER
NEXT TO THE RAILROAD, CLANTON.
W. H. STACY, Proprietor.

FALL GOODS
Now on sale and daily arriving a large and varied stock of goods. Prices as low as can be made on reliable merchandise and we spare no efforts to please you. Give us a call and let us figure with you on anything you want to buy. Coffins kept in stock and also trimmings for home made coffins.
E. M. PINCKARD & CO

Why try to stick things with something that doesn't stick? Buy MAJOR'S CEMENT; you know it sticks. Nothing breaks away from it. Stick to MAJOR'S CEMENT. Buy once, you will buy forever. There is nothing as good; don't believe the substitute.
MAJOR'S RUBBER and MAJOR'S LEATHER.
Two separate concrete, the best. Insist on having them.
ESTABLISHED 1876.
15 and 25 cents per bottle at all druggists.
MAJOR CEMENT CO., NEW YORK CITY.

BACK Aches and Rheumatism relieved by Dr. Miles' Nerve Plasters.
What stops Neuralgia? Dr. Miles' Pain Pills.

60 YEARS' EXPERIENCE
PATENTS
TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &C.
Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents.
Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.
A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.
MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

NEW ROYAL.
High-arm Light running. Warranted 10 years. $28 and $32.
FIVE DRAWER $24.
The New Royal is not a cheap machine, but a high-class machine made out of good material, all parts adjustable and ball bearing; has a good set of steel attachments and all of them work well.
I will exchange the New Royal for old machines and allow the full value of the old machine. Come and see me. I can sell you a machine as cheap as you can buy in Clanton.
Some secondhand machines from $4 up. Send me 25 cents in silver or stamps and an old needle for sample and I will send you 1 doz. needles to fit your machine.
REPAIR WORK GUARANTEED.
L. D. POPWELL,
CLANTON.

PURINA FEED
KEEPS MULES UP
FEED BILLS DOWN
CAPACITY:
25 CARS
PER DAY.
PURINA
MILLS
ST. LOUIS, MO.

HELP WANTED

to reduce my big stock of goods.
I have just returned from the Northern markets, where I purchased some Extraordinary Bargains
and am now offering the good People of Chilton such values as they have never known before.
READ THESE PRICES:

Dry Goods
Calicoes ..... from 4 cts up
Sheeting ..... from 5 cts up
Percale, one yard wide 7c
Black Sateen 8½c
Bleaching ..... from 5 cts up
Cotton Checks 5c
Ducking ..... per yard 5c
Gingham, best ..... per yard 5c

Clothing
The biggest line for the least money ever known.

Hats
Men's first-class Hats, $1.50 hat for $1.00
Men's ..... 75 ct hat for 50
Men's ..... 50 ct hat for 35
Men's ..... 25 ct hat for 15
Caps 10

Shoes
Ladies' Shoes, Spring heel, Tan ..$1.00
Ladies' Oil grain $1.00
Ladies' Fine Shoes, a $2.00 shoe ..$1.25

Men's Shoes ....a $2.00 shoe for ..$1.45

Trunks, Valises, &c.

Gent's Furnishings
Shirts, White Linen bosom ..... each 35c
Linen Collars, any shape ..... each 5c
Celuloid Collars ..... each 5c
Hosiery ..... from 5 cts up
Suspenders ..... from 5 cts up
Handkerchiefs ..... 3 for 5 cts and up
Neckwear, 250 styles, a 50c Tie for 25c
Umrellas, $1 value for 89c

Notions
Best Assorted Ribbons at half price
Lace, 5c values 2c
Corsets, 50c value 35
Corsets, 35c value 22
Ladies' Belts ..... from 5 cts up
Scissors, a 50c pair 20
Towels ..... from 10 cts up
Pearl Buttons ..... 1 dozen for 5c
Garter web ..... per yard 5c

GROCERIES
Come and select what you want from this mammoth stock.
First Come, First Served!
YOURS TO PLEASE,

W. KANTER, Clanton

"KRUMP'S KORNER."
The owner of this Korner has again returned to it, after wandering many days in foreign lands older, uglier and we trust a little wiser in some respects. He rejoices at his return, and would be glad to see all of the good and bad people of Chilton county. I only ask don't all of you come same day, as I have not got enough to go round for dinner. I have enough yarns however to make up shortness in grubb. Come to see me anyhow and we will talk it over, and no charge for the yarns. Please remember I keep all things the farmer needs, and I will sell him

A sewing machine, a wagon, or a buggy,
A suit, a hat, a pair shoes or a knife,
Or he can call himself very lucky,
If he will just bring his wife.

Yours for health,
T. U. CRUMPTON
MAPLESVILLE, ALA.

Wamben & Peterson
CONTRACTORS AND BUILDERS
HOUSE MOVING A SPECIALTY
—DEALER IN—
ALL BUILDING MATERIALS—SASH, DOORS, BLINDS, MANTELS, ETC.
OFFICE ON JONES ST OPPOSITE BICKS
THORSBY.

—CALL AT THE—
CASH STORE
FOR BARGAINS,
THORSBY, ALA.
OUR CASH PRICES SUBJECT TO CHANGE WITHOUT NOTICE.

15 lbs. Granulated Sugar	$1.00	2 bushel sack Meal	1.20
1 bbl Red Seal Patent Flour	4.50	1 gal water white 150 fire test oil	18
½ bbl " " "	2.25	1 lb Ham	15
24 lb sack " " "	60	Whole Ham, per pound	13
1 bbl Straight Family Flour	3.50	Bacon and Bulk	10-12
14 lb sk Family Flour	50	1 lb Lard	10
100 lbs Bran	1.10	50 lbs Lard	4.50

We are handling Minneapolis Flour. Soda Crackers and Sweet Crackers, Ginger Snaps, Cheese, Lemons, Irish Potatoes always in stock. Also best Dried Fruits in the market. Also handle Roller Champion and I. E. M. Flour.
Dry Goods, Clothing, Hardware and the very best Staple and Fancy Groceries.
Fresh Fish and Oysters every Saturday.
We take Eggs, Butter, Corn, Meal, Fruit and Chickens at the highest market price in exchange for goods.
Yours to please,
A. M. JOHNSON, Manager

Everyone to His Taste.
And I am pleased to say that your taste and Everyone's taste can be suited at my Store, where you will find the choicest Line of Fancy Groceries
AND CANNED GOODS
Always Fresh and New. I have no old Stock.
Dry Goods, Hats, Shoes, Gents Furnishing Goods, Fancy line of Shirts and Underwear, Notions, Hardware and General Merchandise.
Yours to serve faithfully and well.
B E JONES CLANTON

BILL ARP'S LETTER.

Long Lost Autograph Album Is Returned to Bartow Man.

ITS CONTENTS REVIVE OLD MEMORIES

List Begins With Verses Written By Bill To a School Girl Fifty-Four Years Ago.

"An album's pages tell of many a friend
Lost to the sight, but to the memory dear."

Those lines are the beginning of some verses I wrote in a school girl's album fifty-four years ago. The little book is near me now. It is old and war-worn and it makes me sad to turn its leaves and read the pretty verses that adorn its pages. The authors were her best friends and are all dead but one—the one now writing this letter. "Friend after friend departs—who has not lost a friend?" This album was captured during the uncivil war and carried away to Babylon and kept a prisoner in a strange land for twenty-one years and then was returned through the mail. It takes conscience a long time to bring repentance to some people.

That school girl is my wife—she is now sitting by her window sewing, making a little dress for a grandchild. Will she never stop making little garments? I asked Jessie last night how many garments it took for her little Caroline in each and every year, and she counted them up—eight little dresses, ten petticoats, four pair day drawers, two pair night drawers, and one cloak—say twenty-five garments for winter and as many more for summer, and she makes most all of them herself. My wife has done all this for ten children until they were fifteen years old. Fifty times ten makes 500, and 500 times 15 makes 7,500 garments and she still keeps working on. But she is not worn out nor thin nor pale nor haggard nor is her eye dimmed when she has on her gold-bound glasses.

Oh, these good old mothers! Mine did the same thing for her flock and my wife's mother the same for hers, and so do they all—except some. I loved my mother dearly, but it grieves me sometimes that I did not love her better, for I did not realize how much she did for me and how her very soul was wrapped up in her children. Stop, young man, stop and think, when you are far away from home rollicking and frolicking with your gay companions—stop sometimes, stop and think of your good mother and write to her a loving letter. Hopeful and sad she waits for every mail and never despairs.

But about albums. A friend has left his with me for perusal—one of these old time mental photographic albums with about twenty questions to be answered. I have seen them before and was amused at the answers, but this one interested me for its pages contain an autobiography of many noble and notable men. It tells a condensed story of their emotional and mental character. When a man of thought is asked to write an answer to a question he is both cautious and sincere. He knows that he is making an exhibit of his inner life to every one who reads it.

This album begins with Alex Stephens in 1874 and then follows with Robert Toombs, Herschel V. Johnson, General Kirby Smith, James R. Randall, Richard Malcom Johnson, L. Q C. Lamar, Richard H. Clark, John B. Gordon, Thomas M. Norwood, Rev. B. M. Palmer, Henry S. Foote, Logan E. Bleckley, Robert J. Burdette, Paul H. Hayne, Joel Chandler Harris, Wallace P. Reed, Mrs. Octavia Walton Le Vert, Judge Hook, Richard A. Proctor, the great astronomer, and others. Every name is noble and notable, and their answers are indexes to their characters. Stephen's favorite books are Milton, Pope and Shakespeare, his heroine Rebecca in "Ivanhoe," his hero Washington; his occupation reading, and farming; his best trait in man is truth, and in woman modesty.

Toombs' favorites are Shakespeare and Tom Moore, Gibbons and Macauley; his characters in fiction Rienzi, in history Socrates; his favorite occupation building air castles; best trait in man justice, in woman charity; the sum of human happiness is to make others happy.

Governor Johnson likes Pope, Milton and Byron and Swedenborg, knows nothing of romance; his best characters Washington and Jefferson; his occupation reading and writing; the highest traits truth and benevolence; his watchword duty.

Kirby Smith likes Gray, Young and Tennyson, Scott, Irving and Macauley; his favorite characters Sir Gallahad and St. Paul; his favorite occupation "making love to my wife;" his best traits in man are truth and honesty; the sum of happiness contentment.

James R. Randall likes Shakespeare and Byron, Bulwer, Thackery and Macauley; his favorite character in romance is Warington in "Pendennis;" in history Fenelon; occupation reading and writing; the highest trait in man devotion to principles, in woman modesty; the sum of human happiness is resignation.

R. M. Johnson likes Byron, Scott, Keats and Mrs. Heamans, Macauley, Bulwer and Goldsmith, historic character Aurelius; occupation scribbling; sum of happiness consciousness of God's favor.

L. B. C. Lamar liked best Byron and Burns, Macauley, Bulwer and Plutarch; best characters Greatheart in "Pilgrim's Progress;" in history Washington and Hampden; his favorite occupation teaching in college; the sum of human happiness the love of God.

Rev. B. M. Palmer preferred Shakespeare, Milton and Wordsworth, Bacon, Bulwer, Scott and Goldsmith; best characters William Prince of Orange, Washington and Lee; his favorite occupation preaching the gospel; best trait truth; sum of human happiness a good conscience.

R. J. Burdette liked Mrs. Browning, Carlyle, Thackeray; his favorite character Colonel Newcome and Cromwell; best trait sincerity; sum of happiness a home full of friends.

Henry S. Foote liked Shakespeare and Byron, Macauley and Tacitus; his favorite characters Old Mortality and Washington; the sum of happiness, conjugal felicity.

L. E. Bleckley chose Shakespeare, Byron and Tennyson, Hamilton, Mill and Pascal; his favorite characters Don Quixote and Marcus Aurelius.

John B. Gordon preferred Shakespeare, Macauley and Carlyle; his favorite characters Washington and Cato; his favorite occupation raising fine stock; best trait in man, integrity, in woman tenderness.

T. M. Norwood, Shakespeare and Byron; best trait in man honor.

Wallace P. Reed likes Shakespeare and Macauley; best character is Napoleon; best trait justice; sum of all happiness is a happy home.

Joel Chandler Harris prefers Shakespeare, Scott and Thackeray; best characters Jefferson and Lincoln; favorite occupation looking after my roses; best trait in man is honesty, in woman modesty; sum of human happiness to be at home.

All of these men name the sweetest words in our language and also the saddest. Among the last are lost—forever lost—it might have been—friendless—hopeless—forlorn, and one says most of them begin with the letter D, as disappointment, dismay, destruction, despair, debt, duns, damnation and the devil.

There are other writers in this album, but space forbids. These are enough for a young man to choose from. From these he can make up a good library, for there is not a questionable book among them.

Shakespeare and Macauley are in the lead for authors and Washington for character, truth for the best trait in man and modesty in woman. About half these men liked the early morn and the other half the twilight, except, however L. Q. C. Lamar, who says his favorite hour is 1 o'clock at night. (I never knew before that he played poker.) Of these sixteen notable men just half are dead. Their record is made up and the book is closed. Their influence upon the present generation cannot be estimated nor over-estimated. No great or good man or woman has an adequate idea of what he or she is worth to mankind.

Last Sabbath we heard a very grand discourse upon environment from Rev. Mr. Mumford, who has established that industrial school near Macon for the rejected children of the state, those who are under the ban and whom nobody wants and nobody cares for, the children of drunken or disreputable parents and whom no orphanage will receive. The eloquent and earnest preacher declared in words that burned: "Men and women are not born, they are made! Made by their environments, their parents or their early associates."

He is going over the state gathering up the friendless and pleading with the good people to give these children a chance. "Give every friendless child a chance," he earnestly exclaimed. His text was "bear ye one another's burdens and so fulfill the law of Christ." It is a hardened heart who can listen to him and not give something. There should be another question in that album, what is the worst and most prevalent trait in mankind? And I would answer, "selfishness."—BILL ARP in Atlanta Constitution.

The practice of raising heavy buildings by means of jackscrews has been in vogue in this country for many years, but has never been imitated by Europeans until recently, and only then when an Austrian who had resided in this country several years prompted a resort to it. No one will retort that Americans are equally slow to adopt foreign practices that have had their usefulness demonstrated. Perhaps this difference in methods may explain why the United States is making such astonishing industrial progress. It certainly makes clear one fact, and that is that if Europeans traveled as much in this country as Americans do in theirs, and at the same time observed as closely here as our people do when abroad, there would be less talk of "Yankee ingenuity" and a larger exhibition of the quality in other lands.

Two young people of Jersey City, desiring to marry and not having enough money, have entered into an agreement, which was duly drawn up before a Justice of the Peace, to contribute weekly to the raising of a fund of $1500. If in two years the sum shall not have been completed the idea of marriage is to be forever abandoned. It is provided that the woman is to contribute $10 a week and the man only $5. This is not because his incidental expenses will be greater than those of the woman during the two years, but because he is making only $10 a week, while she makes $14.

An Enduring Curse.

The attempt of the Midhurst District Council to convert the famous "Close Walks"—four old yew avenues—at Cowdray, in Sussex, into an arrangement of sewage tanks recalls a creepy story of a fulfilled curse.

At the dissolution of the monasteries Sir Anthony Browne obtained a grant of Battle Abbey and the Priory of Easebourne, the parish in which the ruins of Cowdray are situated, and according to a picturesque tradition one of the monks cursed him to his face and prophesied that "by fire and water" his race should perish out of the land. What foundation there may be for the story no man can say, but unquestionably the Brownes did so perish.

George Samuel Browne, eighth Viscount Montague and owner of Cowdray, who was engaged to Miss Coutts, sister to Lady Burdette-Coutts's mother, was drowned in the falls of Laufenburg in 1793. The messenger who brought the news to England met one going to Germany to inform Lord Montague that Cowdray had been burned! He was succeeded by a distant relative, a Roman priest, who was dispensed from his vows that he might marry and continue the line, but he died a few months afterward and the title became extinct. The estates went to the drowned viscount's sister, whose two sons were drowned together at Bognor in 1815. It is a weird story.—London Chronicle.

A Pathetic Scene.

"These trousers, sir," began the the gaunt-faced, gray-haired woman, as she deposited the bundle on the counter, "belonged to my son, Willie, I never expected to sell them—but, oh, sir—"

"You want to take advantage of the cheap excursion to Niagara Falls?"

"Not that—not that! How could I think of going to Niagara Falls when my Willie is where he is? I want to raise seventy-five cents. I must raise it. If I don't get the money I will commit suicide."

"A patch on each knee and two on the seat, but they might do for a millionaire. Fifteen cents.

"Only fifteen cents for Willie's trousers!" she moaned, as the tears sprang to her eyes. "Oh, man, man, but you cannot be so heartless! Think of the sentiment connected with those trousers."

"And the patches."

"But there is a sentiment even in patches. Those patches were sewed on with black thread and a mother's tears."

"Going at—fifteen—fifteen cents."

"Never, never! I will starve first—that is, I will take the fifteen cents and buy potted chicken with it and live on. I must live on. Some day I will get up to Sing Sing and see my dear Willie and ask him if he really was guilty of that burglary, or if His Honor gave him seven years as a joke."—Washington Post.

Spiritualists in the Congress.

Almost any day may be heard in the House cloakroom some rare and inexplicable tale of spirits. Among the Representatives are many deeply interested in the theories of spiritualism, themselves often taking part in seances. The talk is often very full of "mediums," "trances," "materializations," "spirit world," "control" and other terms peculiar to the spiritualistic doctrines. Chief among those interested in the spiritualist manifestations is Representative Gaston, of Pennsylvania. He has made a life study of them and ranks as one of the most learned men on the subject. He has pursued his investigations so far as to admit being a believer in some phases of the question. Mr. Gaston's knowledge of the spiritualist doctrine and his investigations have made him known over almost the whole world. He has made contributions to the literature of the subject which are recognized as unprejudiced. He is the leader of the Tilydale Chautauqua, in New York, where the spirtualists of the United States have their annual gatherings. Representative Brownlow, of Tennessee, is also interested in the subject, and confesses to having had several strange experiences with spirits that he frequently recites to cloakroom listeners very effectively.—Washington Times.

Cat Came Back One Hundred Miles.

Not long ago F. M. Howard moved from New Hampton to Stratham, N. H., the towns being about one hundred miles apart. In the car with other goods was placed the household cat, an angora, which upon arrival at Stratham was quickly released. She soon disappeared and was seen no more. In a few days Mr. Howard received a letter from his mother in New Hampton, saying that the cat had returned to her old home, the date of her arrival being four days after her disappearance from Stratham.

The cause of the cat's long journey was revealed when she sought out a family of kittens, of whose existence the Howard family were in ignorance. She was seen carrying them, one after another, from one barn to another nearby.—New York Sun.

A Modern Patrol Wagon.

The patrol wagons of Allegheny, Penn., have been equipped with medical outfits, and the sergeants of the police have been instructed how to render aid to the sufferings of victims of accidents. The equipment includes antidotes for poisoning, dressing for burns and almost everything that is used in emergency cases.

REV. DR. TALMAGE.

DISCOURSE BY THE EMINENT DIVINE LAST SUNDAY.

Subject: Christian Heroism—Those Who Bear Scars Won in the Service of Jesus Christ Shall Be Richly Recompensed—God Will Honor Them.

(Copyright 1901.)

WASHINGTON, D. C.—In this discourse Dr. Talmage praises Christian heroism and tells of great rewards. The text is Galatians vi. 17, "I bear in my body the marks of the Lord Jesus."

We hear much about crowns, thrones, victories, but I now tell the more quiet story of scars, honorable and dishonorable. There are in all parts of the world people bearing dishonorable scars. They went into the battle of sin and were worsted, and to their dying day they will have a sacrification of body or mind or soul. It cannot be hidden. There are tens of thousands of men and women now consecrated to God and living holy lives who were once corrupt, but they have been regenerated, and they are no more what they once were than rubescence is emaciation, than balm is vitriol, than noonday is midnight. But in their depleted physical health or mental twist or style of temptation they are ever and anon reminded of the obnoxious past. They have a memory that is deplorable. In some twinge of pain or some tendency to surrender to the wrong which they must perpetually resist they have an unwholesome reminiscence. They carry scars, deep scars, ignoble scars.

But Paul in my text shows us a scarification which is a badge of honorable and self-sacrificing service. He had in his weak eyes the result of too much study, and in his body, bent and worn, the signature of scourgings and shipwrecks and maltreatment by mobs. In my text he shows those scars as he declares, "I bear in my body the marks of the Lord Jesus." Notice that it is not wounds, but scars, and a scar is a healed wound. Before the scar is well defined upon the flesh the inflammation must have departed, and right circulation must have been restored, and new tissue must have been formed. It is a permanent indentation of the flesh—a cicatrix. Paul did well to show these scars. They were positive and indisputable proofs that with all his body, mind and soul he believed what he said; they were his diploma, showing that he had graduated from the school of hardship for Christ; they were credentials proving his right to lead in the world's evangelization.

Men are not ashamed of scars got in battle for their country. No American is embarrassed when you ask him, "Where did you get that gash across your forehead?" and he can answer, "That was from a sabre cut at San Juan." When you ask some German, "Where did you lose your right arm?" he is not ashamed to say, "I lost it at Sedan." When you ask an Italian, "Where did you lose your eye?" he is not annoyed when he can answer, "I suffered that in the last battle under our glorious Garibaldi." But I remind you of the fact that there are scars not got in war which are just as illustrious. We had in this country years ago an eminent advocate who was called into the Presidential Cabinet as Attorney General. In midlife he was in a Philadelphia courtroom engaged in an important trial. The attorney on the opposite side of the case got irritated and angry, and in most brutal manner referred to the distinguished attorney's disfigured face, a face more deeply scarred than any face I ever saw. The legal hero of whom I am speaking in his closing argument said: "Gentlemen of the jury, when I was a little child I was playing with my sister in the nursery, and her clothes caught fire, and I ran to her to put out the fire. I succeeded, but I myself took fire, and before it was extinguished my face was awfully burned and as black as the heart of the scoundrelly counsel on the other side of the case who has referred to my misfortune." The eminent attorney of whom I speak carried all his life the honorable scar of his sister's rescue.

A young college student in England found all the artistic world in derisive pursuit of William Turner, the painter. The young graduate took up his pen—in some respects the most brilliant pen that was ever put to paper—and wrote those five great volumes on modern painting, the chief thought of which was his defense of the abused painter.

The heroic author by some was supposed in his old days to be cynical and fault finding, and when I saw him a little while before his death he was in decadence, but I know that over his face and all over his manner were the scars of heroic defense.

In the seventies of his lifetime he was suffering from the wounds and fatigues of the twenties. Long after he had quit the battle with author's pen and painter's pencil he bore the scars of literary martyrdom.

But why do we go so far for illustration when I could take right out of the memories of some whom I address instances just as appropriate? To rear aright for God and heaven a large family of children in that country home was a mighty undertaking. Far away from the village doctor, the garret must contain the herbs for the cure of all kinds of disorders. Through all infantile complaints the children of that family went. They missed nothing in the way of childish disorders. Busy all day was that mother in every form of housework, and twenty times a night called up by the children, all down at the same time with the same contagion. Her hair is white a long while before it is time for snow; her shoulders are bent long before the appropriate time for stooping.

Spectacles are adjusted, some for close by and some for far off, years before you would have supposed her eyes would need re-enforcement. Here and there is a short grave in her pathway, this headstone bearing the name of this child and another headstone bearing the name of another child. Hardly one bereavement lifts its shadow than another bereavement drops one.

After thirty years of wifehood and motherhood the path turns toward the setting sun. She cannot walk as far as she used to. Colds caught hang on longer than formerly. Some of the children are in the heavenly world, for which they were well prepared through maternal fidelity, and others are out in this world doing honor to a Christian ancestry.

When her life closes and the neighbors gather for her obsequies, the officiating clergyman may find appropriate words in the last chapter of Proverbs: "Her price is far above rubies. The heart of her husband doth safely trust in her, so that he shall have no need of spoil. She will do him good, and not evil, all the days of her life; she stretcheth out her hand to the poor; she is not afraid of the snow for her household, for all her household are clothed with scarlet. Her husband is known in the gates when he sitteth among the elders in the land; her children arise up and call her blessed; her husband also, and he praiseth her. Many daughters have done virtuously, but thou excellest them all."

Then after the Scripture lesson is read let all come up, and before the casket is closed look for the last time at the scars of her earthly endurance.

She never heard the roll of a gun carriage or saw a banner hoisted upon a parapet, but she has in all the features of that dear old face the marks of many a conflict—scars of toil, scars of maternity, scars of self-sacrifice, scars of bereavement.

She is a heroine whose name has never been heard of ten miles from the old homestead, but her name is inscribed high up among the enthroned immortals.

People think they must look for martyrs on battlefields or go through a history to find burnings at the stake and tortures on racks when there are martyrs all about us. At this time in this capital city there are scores of men wearing themselves out in the public service.

In ten years they will not have a healthy nerve left in their body. In committee rooms, in consultations that involve the welfare of the nation, under the weight of great responsibilities, their vitality is being subtracted. In almost every village of the country you find some broken down State or National official.

There is a woman who has suffered domestic injustice of which there is no cognizance. She says nothing about it. An inquisitor's machine of torture could not wring from her the story of domestic woe. Ever since the day of orange blossoms and long white veil she has done her full duty and received for it harshness and blame and neglect. The marriage vow, that was supposed to be a sign of unending affection, has turned out to be one link of a chain of horrible servitude. A wreath of nettle and nightshade of brightest form would have been a more accurate prophecy. There are those who find it hard to believe that there is such a place as hell, but you could go right out in any community and find more than one hell of domestic torment. There is no escape for that woman but the grave, and that, compared with the life she now lives, will be an arbor of jasmine and of the humming bird's song poured into the ear of the honeysuckle. Scars! If there be none on the brow showing where he struck her arriving home from midnight carousal, nevertheless there are scars all up and down her injured and immortal soul which will be remembered on the day when these shall leap forth for her avengement the live thunderbolts of an incensed God.

When we see a veteran in any land who has lost a limb in battle, our sympathies are stirred; but, oh, how many have in the domestic realm lost their life and yet are denied a pillow of dust on which to slumber! Better enlarge your roll of martyrs; better adopt a new mode of counting human sacrifications. A broken bone is not half as bad as a broken heart.

There are many who can in the same sense that Paul uttered it say, "I bear in my body the marks of the Lord Jesus;" that is, for the sake of Christ and His cause they carry scars which keep their indenture through all time and all eternity. Do you think that Paul was accurate when he said that? If you have studied his career you have no doubt of it. In his youth he learned how to fashion the hair of the Cilician goat into canvas, a quiet trade, and then went to college, the President of which was Gamaliel, an institution which scholars say could not have been very thorough because of what they call Paul's imperfect command of Greek syntax. But his history became exciting on the road to Damascus, where he was unhorsed and blinded. His conversion was a convulsion. Whether that fall from the horse may have left a mark upon him I know not, but the mob soon took after him and flogged and imprisoned and maltreated him until he had scars more than enough to assure the truthfulness of his utterance, "I bear in my body the marks of the Lord Jesus."

All ye who bear in your body the marks of the Lord Jesus, have you thought what use those marks will be in the heavenly world? What source of glorious reminiscence! In that world you will sit together and talk over earthly experiences. "Where did you get that scar?" saint will say to saint, and there will come back a story of hardship and struggle and persecution and wounds and victory through the grace of the gospel.

"Where did you get that mark?" says another spirit to listening spirit, and the answer comes: "That is a reminder of a great bereavement, of a desolated household, of a deep grave, of all the heartstrings at one stroke snapped altogether. But you see it is no longer a laceration, for the wound has been healed, and my once bereft spirit is now in companionship with the one from whom for awhile I was separated."

"Where did you get that long, deep scar?" says another immortal to listening immortal, and the answer comes: "That was the awful fatigue of a lifetime struggle in attempting amid adverse circumstances, to achieve a livelihood. For thirty years I was tired—oh, so tired! But you see it is a healed wound, for I have found rest at last for body and soul, the complete rest, the everlasting rest that I heard of before I came here as the rest that remaineth for the people of God."

Some one in heaven will say to Martyr John Rogers, "Where did you get that scar on your foot?" and the answer will come, "Oh, that was a burn I suffered when the flames of martyrdom were kindled beneath me." "Ignatius, what is that mark on your cheek?" "Oh, that was made by the paw of the lion to which I was thrown by the order of Trajan."

Some one will say to Paul, "Great apostle, that must have been a deep cut once—the mark which I see on your neck." And Paul says, "That was made by the sword which struck me at my beheadment on the road to Ostia." But we all have scars of some kind, and those are some of the things we will talk over in the heavenly world while we celebrate the grace that made us triumphant over all antagonism.

Now, what is the practical use of this subject? It is the cultivation of Christian heroics. The most of us want to say things and do things for God when there is no danger of getting hurt. We are all ready for easy work, for popular work, for compensating work, but we all greatly need more courage to brave the world and brave satanic assault when there is something aggressive and bold and dangerous to be undertaken for God and righteousness. And if we happen to get hit what an ado we make about it! We all need more of the stuff that martyrs are made out of. We want more sanctified grit, more Christian pluck, more holy recklessness as to what the world may say and do in any crisis of our life. Be right and do right, and all earth and hell combined cannot put you down.

The same little missionary who wrote my text also uttered that piled up magnificence to be found in those words which ring like battleaxes on splitting helmets: "In all these things we are more than conquerors, through Him that loved us, for I am persuaded that neither death nor life nor angels nor principalities nor powers nor things present nor things to come nor height nor depth nor any other creature shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord."

How do you like that, you cowards, who shrink back from aggressive work, and if so much as a splinter pierce your flesh cry out louder than many a one torn in auto-da-fe. Many a soldier has gone through a long war, been in twenty battles, led a regiment up a hill mounted by cannon and swept by musketry, and yet came home without having been once hit and without a mark upon him. But it will not be so among those who pass in the grand review of heaven. They have all in the holy wars been wounded, and all bear scars. And what would the newly arrived in heaven do with nothing to show that he had ever been struck by human or diabolic weaponry? How embarrassed and eccentric such a one in such a place! Surely he would want to be excused awhile from the heavenly ranks and be permitted to descend to earth, crying, "Give me another chance to do something worthy of an immortal! Show me some post of danger to be manned, some fortress to be stormed, some difficult charge to make. Like Leonidas at Thermopylae, like Miltiades at Marathon, like Marlborough at Blenheim, like Godfrey at Jerusalem, like Winkelried at Sempach gathering the spears of the Austrian knights into his bosom, giving his life for others; show me some place where I can do a brave thing for God. I cannot go back to heaven until somewhere I bear in my body the marks of the Lord Jesus." My hearer, my reader, quit complaining about your misfortunes and disappointments and troubles and through all time and all eternity thank God for scars.

THE SABBATH SCH

INTERNATIONAL LESSON COM FOR MARCH 10.

Subject: Jesus and Caiaphas. Matt. 27-65—Golden Text, xvi., 16—Memory Verses, 63-64—Commentary on Day's Lesson.

57. "They—led Him away." The of soldiers, led on by Judas. Jesus "To the house of Caiaphas" (R. V.) John 18: 13, we are told that He taken to Annas first. It is supposed Annas and Caiaphas occupied apartments in the same palace, which probably situated on Mount Zion, David's tomb, in the southwestern the city. It was Annas and Caiaphas sent the band to arrest Jesus, and leaders wanted the sanction of fore they proceeded against scribes," etc. Scribes, that learned in the literature of and elders, who were chosen the most influential of the priests (v. 59), that is, the twenty-four priestly classes membled." Annas sent Jesus Caiaphas (John 18: 24), and all haste summoned the San time between 2 and 4 o'clock morning, but this was irregular mal, because it was contrary to carry on the trial by night. is probably the one recorded by and Mark. The usual place Sanhedrin was at the council temple precincts, but this being lar meeting is held in the high priest.

58. "Peter followed Him." Jesus; he could not help but he was anxious "to see the end what they did with his Lord Peter followed from "afar off." the cause of his downfall. "And John also went with Peter, and was John who succeeded in getting admitted in to the court of John 18: 15, 16. "Sat with the This was another great mistake. stayed by the side of John he have denied his Master, for to have had no such temptation.

59. "All the council." The great sedrim, the highest in the Jewish composed of seventy-two members, founded, it is supposed, by Moses 21), and was continued a long the days of our Lord on earth. false witness." They have without a crime. They dared tence Jesus to death without factory charge, and thus they were to search for witnesses.

60. "They found it not." had great difficulty in making against Jesus. According to (Deut. 19: 15) there must be nesses, and, out of the many nesses who came before the council impossible to find two who agreed 14: 56. "At the last came Mark 14: 57-59 we see that the of these witnesses did not points, and this accusation would not be sufficient for a tence. False hoods seldom agree truth is harmonious. "False Their testimony was false facts were not correctly stated 14: 58), and because Christ's been misapplied. This is still a mon way of injuring others.

61. "This fellow said." Here they obliged to go back to the Christ's public ministry and statement that He had made after cleansed the temple. John 2: able," etc. Jesus had never What He did say was that if they destroy this temple in three would raise it up, but He had to the temple of His body.

62. "Said unto Him." Their failed, and now the high priest tried to force Jesus to criminate "Answerest Thou nothing?" nothing to say. The witnesses dicted themselves. Give the and opportunity and he will own cause.

63. "Held His peace." Thus the prophecy in Isa. 53: 7. they were determined to put and a reply would have been adjure Thee." The high priest emn oath to Him. The difficulty question consisted in this: if that He was the Son of God, ready to condemn Him for He denied it, they were prepared demn Him for being an impostor, deluding the people under being the Messiah.

64. "Thou hast said." A expression for "Yes, it is." Mark 14: 62. Christ felt no remain silent when questioned a truth for which He came into to shed His blood. "On the right power." This is a reference to 14. The prophet is describing coming into the presence of He be invested with all power. fillment took place at the (Matt. 28: 18), but the same come at the judgment day in glory. What a contrast will His present position! "The heaven." This evidently has to the judgment executed on the Jewish nation (Matt. 16: 27, 28; (2) to the final judgment; (3) to triumph of His kingdom.

